(4) As soon as may be after making their draft Provisional Order, the Inclosure Commissioners (e) shall cause a copy thereof to be deposited in the parish or parishes in which the common is situate to which such order relates, in order that the same may be considered by the parties interested therein, and they shall give notice, in such manner as they think best calculated to secure publicity, of such deposit having been made, and of their intention to certify the expediency of such order if the necessary consents are obtained thereto:

(e) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a), ante, p. 1455.

(f) In addition to these provisions, the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries may insert in the Order a provision for the raising and payment of expenses of and incidental to the regulation of the common, either wholly or partly, by a sale of a portion of the common, specifying the situation and maximum quantity sold; the expenses to be raised and paid in manner provided by the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868 (see the Commons Expenses Act, 1878, s. 2). He may also specify in any Provisional Order for the regulation of a common, as one of the terms and conditions of the regulation, the appropriation of an allotment for the neighbouring poor, in which case the provisions of the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1876, as to allotments made on enclosure of a common, are to apply (ibid., s. 4).

Consents before Provisional Order certified to be expedient.

(5) The Inclosure Commissioners (g) shall not certify the expediency of a draft Provisional Order unless they are satisfied that persons representing at least two-thirds in value of such interests in the common as are affected by the order consent thereto; and when the common to which the order relates is the waste land of any manor, or land within any manor to the soil of which the lord of such manor is entitled in right of his manor, then, unless there is more than one person interested in such manor according to the definition of the Inclosure Act, 1845, the Commissioners shall not certify the expediency of the same, unless the person interested in the common in right of such manor, or his substitute under the said Inclosure Act, 1845, consent to such order; and where there is more than one person interested in such manor the Commissioners shall not certify the expediency of the order, in case such persons or the majority of such persons in respect of interest signify their dissent within a time to be limited by the Commissioners (h):

8 & 9 Vict. c. 118.

Reservation in favour of freemen interested in common.

(6) Where the freemen, burgesses, or inhabitant householders of any city borough or town are entitled to rights of common or other interest in the common to which the draft Provisional Order relates, the Inclosure Commissioners (g) shall not certify the expediency of such Order unless it appears to the Commissioners that two-thirds in number of such of the freemen and burgesses so entitled as may be resident in such city borough or town, or within seven miles thereof, or of such inhabitant householders, as the case may be, have consented to the Order; and in case two-thirds in number of such resident freemen and burgesses, or of such inhabitant householders have so consented, such consent shall be deemed the consent of the class of freemen, burgesses, or inhabitant householders, as the case may be, so entitled:

Means of obtaining consents.

(7) The Inclosure Commissioners (g) may cause a meeting or meetings to be held by an Assistant Commissioner for the purpose of obtaining the necessary consents, or of ascertaining the interests of consenting or dissenting parties, or they may cause such consents or dissents to be ascertained in such other manner as they may think fit:

Power to modify Provisional Order before expediency certified.

(8) The Inclosure Commissioners (g) may, at any time before certifying the expediency of a draft Provisional Order, modify the same, of their own mere notion, or on the suggestion of any parties interested, but such modifications shall not be of any validity unless they are consented to in the same manner as if they formed part of the draft Provisional Order originally deposited by the Commissioners:

Certificate of expediency of Provisional Order.

(9) When the necessary consents have been obtained to any draft Provisional Order as originally deposited, or as modified in pursuance of this Act, such Order shall be deemed to be final; and the Inclosure Commissioners (g) shall in a report or reports to be made from time to time, as respects each Provisional Order which has become final as aforesaid, certify that it is expedient that such Provisional Order should be confirmed by Parliament, together with their reasons for certifying such expediency, and specially, as respects each Provisional Order, they shall, in such manner as they think best adapted to enable Parliament to judge of the expediency of such Order, state the information furnished to them as to the several particulars in respect of which the applicants for a Provisional Order are by this Act required to furnish information to the Commissioners; also the result of the local inquiry, and of the number and description of the persons who attended the meetings held during such inquiry, and the nature of the objections (if any) made to the application, and the suggestions (if any) made in relation to the provisions to be inserted for the benefit of the neighbourhood or for the protection of private interests by the persons so attending, and any other circumstances which the Commissioners may think it expedient to state for such purposes as aforesaid:

(g) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a), ante, p. 1455.

Confirmation of Provisional Order.

(10) Every report made by the Inclosure Commissioners (i) certifying the expediency of any Provisional Order under this Act shall be presented to Parliament, and if at any time thereafter it is enacted by Act of Parliament that any Order for the regulation or inclosure of a common, the expediency of which has been so certified by the Commissioners, shall be confirmed, the regulation or inclosure of any common to which any such Order relates shall be proceeded with and completed according to the terms of the Provisional Order relating to such common, and to the provisions of the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868, as amended by this Act, and any Act of Parliament containing such enactments as aforesaid shall be deemed to be a public general Act, but a Provisional Order, until such Act of Parliament as aforesaid has been passed in relation thereto, shall not be of any validity whatever:

Supplemental power to modify Provisional Order after expediency certified.

(11) If, after the presentation to Parliament of a report made by the Inclosure Commissioners (i) certifying the expediency of any Provisional Order for the regulation or inclosure of a common, and before a Bill has been brought in for the confirmation of such Order, such report is referred to a committee of either House of Parliament for consideration, and such committee recommend that such Provisional Order should not be confirmed by Parliament except subject to certain modifications, the Inclosure Commissioners may modify the Provisional Order accordingly, but such modifications shall not be of any validity unless they are consented to in the same manner as if they had formed part of the draft Provisional Order originally deposited by the Commissioners:

And it shall be the duty of the Commissioners (i) to take the necessary steps for ascertaining whether such consent as aforesaid can be obtained or not, and if such consent be obtained, the Commissioners shall make a special report to the effect that the Order has been modified as aforesaid and such consent duly obtained, and such report shall be presented to Parliament; and thereupon the Order so modified shall be deemed to be in the same position in all respects as if it were an Order in respect of which a report had been made by the Commissioners certifying the expediency thereof, and such report had been presented to Parliament.

Partial application of procedure under Inclosure Acts.

13. The Inclosure Commissioners (i) may insert in any Provisional Order for the regulation of a common any provisions they may deem necessary for the purpose of carrying such Order into effect; but, subject as aforesaid, when an Act of Parliament has been passed as aforesaid, enacting that the regulation of a common shall be proceeded with, the subsequent proceedings for carrying into effect the regulation of such common shall be the same, so far as is practicable, as they would be in case such common were to be inclosed instead of being regulated, and the provisions of the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868, as amended by this Act, shall apply accordingly.

Power to raise money for improvement of common.

14. A Provisional Order for the regulation of a common may provide for the raising from time to time by such persons interested in the common, and for such amounts as the Commissioners (j) think fit, of money to be applied towards the improvement or protection of such common, either by means of rates to be levied on the persons and in respect of the property who and which respectively will be benefited or principally benefited by such improvement or regulation, or by means of the sale of any outlying or other small portion not exceeding in the whole one-fortieth part of the total area of such common (k).

Supplemental Provisions.

Owners may make byelaws. 8 & 9 Vict. c. 118.

15. The majority in value of the owners of stints (l) or rights of pasture in any regulated pasture created under the provisions of the General Inclosure Act, 1845 (m), in addition to the powers they now possess are hereby authorised at any annual meeting for the election of field reeves (n) to make byelaws and regulations for the prevention of or protection from nuisances or for keeping order on the regulated pasture, and for general management (o), occupation, and enjoyment of the regulated pasture, provided the consent of the lord of the manor is given to such byelaws.

Provision as to byelaws.

16. Any byelaw made in pursuance of this Act, and any alteration made therein, and any revocation of a byelaw, shall not be of any validity until it has been confirmed by one of her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State.

Pecuniary penalties (to be recovered summarily before any two justices) may be imposed by any such byelaws on persons breaking the same, provided that no penalty exceeds for any one offence the sum of forty shillings (p).

(j) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a), ante, p. 1455.

(k) The Provisional Order must specify the situation and maximum quantity so sold. The Order may provide for the sale of part of the common in order to raise the expenses necessary for the regulation of the portion retained (41 & 42 Vict. c. 56, s. 2). The proceeds may, if the Order so provides, be invested, and the income applied towards the improvement or protection of the common; and the Order may also provide for the sale of all or part of the investment and the application of the proceeds for the like purpose (ibid., s. 3).

(l) Stints or cattlegaits are rights of pasture for a stinted or limited number of beasts in a common close. See Fitzherbert's Extenta Manerii, 12, 13; Elton on Commons, ed. 1868, pp. 34, 35.

(n) See 8 & 9 Vict. c. 118, s. 117, as to the election of field reeves.

(o) The Commons Act, 1908, enables regulations to be made as to turning out entire animals on commons.

(p) M. had premises adjoining a common regulated by byelaws under this Act, and at such premises she let ponies for hire. M. at her premises let ponies to be used by two persons on the common, and they used them there: Held, that this was no offence against a byelaw which forbade the letting for hire of ponies on the common (Macey v. Morris (1888), 52 J. P. 168). Where a local improvement Act authorised conservators of a common to make byelaws for the prevention of and protection from nuisances and for keeping order, N. was charged with placing a boat-van for pleasure on the common contrary to the byelaw without a licence and without payment of the prescribed fee: Held, that the byelaw was not ultra vires merely because it prohibited vans being brought on the common without leave without expressly confining such prohibition to cases amounting to nuisances (Nash v. Manning (1894), 58 J. P. 718). In Scott v. Baring (1894), 11 T. L. R. 175, a person was convicted of a contravention of a byelaw against digging loam, etc., made by the conservators of a common under the provisions of a local Act. He set up a claim of right under the authority of the lord of the manor, but it was contended that the question had been already decided in Robertson v. Hartopp (1890)

17. No such confirmation shall take place unless notice of the intention to apply therefor, stating the effect of this section, has been published by the conservators one month at least before the application. Notice of application for confirmation of byelaws.

During one month at least before the application a copy of every byelaw, the making, alteration, or revocation of which is submitted for confirmation, shall be kept at the office of the person or body of persons making, altering, or revoking such byelaw open for inspection by persons interested, and such person or body of persons shall furnish a printed copy thereof to every person applying for the same on payment of a sum not exceeding one shilling for each copy.

18. Subject to the terms of the Provisional Order the amount of any compensation to be paid for any restriction modification or abolition of rights in pursuance of an Order for the regulation of a common shall be deemed to be expenses of and incidental to the regulation of the common, and may be defrayed accordingly. Provision as to certain expenses under order for regulation of a common.

19. Whereas by several awards made under the authority of Inclosure Acts prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and forty-five, fuel allotments for the poor have been set out and awarded, and vested in divers persons and bodies of persons as trustees of such allotments : Definition of power of Charity Commissioners in certain cases.

And whereas under the provisions of the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868, and the several Acts of Parliament and awards made thereunder, allotments for recreation grounds and field gardens have been set out and awarded to the churchwardens and overseers of parishes and other persons :

And whereas power exists or is claimed under divers Acts of Parliament, to divert such allotments from the uses declared by Parliament respecting the same : Be it enacted, that notwithstanding anything in any other Act contained, it shall not be lawful (save as hereinafter mentioned) to authorise the use of or to use any such allotment, or any part thereof, for any other purpose than those declared concerning the same by the Act of Parliament and award, or either of them, under which the same has been set out : Provided, that it shall be lawful for the Charity Commissioners for England and Wales in the exercise of their ordinary jurisdiction under the Charitable Trusts Acts, upon the application of the trustees of any fuel allotment, to authorise the use of such fuel allotment as a recreation ground and field gardens, or for either of those purposes, and to make an order under the provisions of the Charitable Trusts Act, 1860, for the establishment of a scheme for the administration of such fuel allotment accordingly ; and provided that it shall be lawful for the said Charity Commissioners, on such application as aforesaid, to authorise the exchange of any fuel allotment, or any part thereof, for land of equal value situate within the parish or district for the benefit of the poor of which such allotment was set out, if the Commissioners are of opinion that by means of such exchange land better suited for the purpose for which such allotment was set out will be obtained. 23 & 24 Vict. c. 136.

20. Where any common is regulated pursuant to this Act by a Provisional Order of the Inclosure Commissioners (q) confirmed by Parliament, or is the subject of a scheme confirmed by Parliament under the provisions of the Metropolitan Commons Act, 1866, or the Metropolitan Commons Amendment Act, 1869, or (being situate within the metropolitan police district) is the Gravel digging 29 & 30 Vict. c. 122. 32 & 33 Vict. c. 107.

subject of any private or local Act of Parliament having for its object the preservation of such common as an open space, no surveyor of highways or highway board constituted in pursuance of the Highway Acts (r), . . . shall search for, dig, get, or carry away gravel sand stone or other materials in or from any part of such common which has not been set apart for that purpose with the sanction of Parliament, without the consent of the person or persons having the regulation or management of the same, or in default of such consent, without an order of two or more justices in petty sessions assembled, and acting in and for the petty sessional division in which such common is situate, who may in their order prescribe such conditions as to mode of working and restitution of the surface as to them shall seem expedient (s).

PART II.

AMENDMENT OF THE INCLOSURE ACTS.

Field Gardens and Recreation Grounds.

Expenses of clearing, draining, and fencing field gardens.

21. Whereas it is expedient that the expenses of clearing any allotments made for field gardens may be included in the expenses of an inclosure: Be it enacted that the valuer shall, unless the Inclosure Commissioners (t) otherwise direct, cause every allotment made for a field garden to be cleared drained fenced levelled and otherwise made fit for immediate use and occupation; and the expenses incurred by the valuer under this section shall be paid as part of the general expenses of the inclosure.

Substituted allotments for recreation grounds and field gardens.

22. The provisions (u) of the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868, which authorise the Inclosure Commissioners (t) to allow an equal quantity of the land proposed to be inclosed to be allotted for the purpose of a recreation ground or field garden, or for any other public purpose, in lieu of that directed to be allotted by any Provisional Order, shall extend to authorise them to allow the allotment of land of equal value although it may not be of equal quantity.

Situation of allotments for recreation grounds and field gardens.

23. Every allotment made for the purpose of a recreation ground or field garden shall be in such part of the land proposed to be inclosed as is best suited for the purpose for which it is appropriated; and where any land proposed to be inclosed consists partly of common being waste land of a manor (in this section referred to as the first-mentioned land), and partly of common not being waste land of a manor (in this section referred to as the second-mentioned land), and the Commissioners are satisfied that it would be advantageous that the allotment for a recreation ground or a field garden, or any part thereof, should be made out of the second-mentioned land instead of out of the first-mentioned land, the Commissioners may, in the Provisional Order relating to such land, specify as one of the terms and conditions of the inclosure thereof that the said allotments or the said part thereof shall be made accordingly out of the second-mentioned land, and shall out of the first-mentioned land allot land of equal value by way of exchange to the persons interested in the second-mentioned land.

(s) This section is applied to any common regulated by scheme under Part I. of the Commons Act, 1899, post, p. 1838, by s. 8 of that Act.

The justices have an absolute discretion to make or to refuse to make an order under this section (Hayes Common Conservators v. Bromley R. D. C., [1897] 1 Q. B. 321; 61 J. P. 104).

(t) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a), ante, p. 1455.

(u) See 8 & 9 Vict. c. 118, ss. 30, 73; 9 & 10 Vict. c. 70, s. 4.

24. There shall be repealed so much (x) of the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868, as relates to the charging of an allotment made for the purpose of a field garden with a rent-charge; and every such allotment made after the passing of this Act shall be made free of any such rent-charge. Field gardens to be free of rent-charge.

25. [Allotments for recreation grounds to be vested in churchwardens and overseers] (y).

26. (z) . . . Allotment wardens, if they are unable to let the allotments under their management, or any portion thereof, to the poor inhabitants of the parish in gardens not exceeding a quarter of an acre, may let the same, or any unlet portion thereof, in gardens not exceeding an acre each to such inhabitants as aforesaid; Further, it shall be the duty of allotment wardens to offer the gardens under their management to the poor inhabitants of the parish at a fair agricultural rent, if from time to time sufficient to satisfy all rates taxes tithes tithe rent-charge and the rent-charge charged on the said allotments under the provisions of the General Inclosure Act, 1845, but not otherwise, instead of at such rent as is required by the said Act. Moreover, if in any parish the allotment wardens are unable to let the allotments under their management, or any portion thereof, to the poor inhabitants of the parish in such quantities and at such rents as aforesaid, they may let the same, or such portion as may be unlet to any person whatever at the best annual rent which can be obtained for the same, without any premium or fine, and on such terms as may enable the allotment wardens to resume possession thereof within a period not exceeding twelve months, if it should at any time be required for such poor inhabitants as aforesaid. Amendment of law as to letting field gardens. 8 & 9 Vict. c. 118.

This section shall apply to all land allotted to the poor for the purpose of cultivation under any Inclosure Act whatever, whether public or private, whether under the management of allotment wardens, feoffees, trustees, rector, or vicar and churchwardens, overseers, managers, or any other person or persons whatever, and whether at present cultivated or uncultivated, so that all such persons as aforesaid shall have like powers and duties as are hereinbefore given to and imposed upon allotment wardens (a).

27. (z) . . . The surplus rents arising from recreation grounds shall be applied to all or any of the following purposes, and to no other purpose; that is to say, in improving the recreation grounds or any or them in the same parish or neighbourhood, or maintaining the drainage and fencing thereof, or in hiring or purchasing additional land for recreation grounds in the same parish or neighbourhood (b); and the surplus rents arising from field gardens shall be applied to all or any of the following purposes, and to no other purpose (c); that is to say, in improving the field gardens or any of Application of surplus rents of recreation grounds and field gardens.

(y) Repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. As to the holding and management of allotments whether for recreation grounds or for gardens or otherwise for the benefit of the inhabitants by the parish council instead of by the overseers, see s. 6 (1) (c) (iii) of the L. G. A., 1894.

(a) In parishes where there is a parish council, the powers and duties of allotment wardens are now exercised and performed by the parish council (56 & 57 Vict. c. 73, s. 6 (1) (c) (iii)).

(b) And also in the improving of any of the field gardens to which this section applies in the same parish or neighbourhood, or maintaining the drainage and fencing thereof (42 & 43 Vict. c. 37, s. 2).

(c) But they may also be applied for any of the purposes for which surplus rents arising from recreation grounds may be applied (62 & 63 Vict. c. 30, s. 16, post, p. 1841). And under the same section surplus rents arising from any field garden or recreation ground may be applied towards the redemption of any land tax, tithe rent-charge, or other charge on the garden or ground.

them in the same parish or neighbourhood, or maintaining the drainage and fencing thereof, or in hiring or purchasing additional land for field gardens in the same parish or neighbourhood.

The trustees of any recreation ground and the allotment wardens of any field gardens may, with the approval of the Inclosure Commissioners (d), sell all or any part of the allotment vested in them, and out of the proceeds of such sale purchase any fit and suitable land in the same parish or neighbourhood: Provided that the land so purchased shall be held in trust for the purposes for which the allotment so sold as aforesaid was allotted, and for no others; and provided that the Inclosure Commissioners (d) shall not sanction any such sale as aforesaid unless and until it shall be proved to their satisfaction that land more suitable for the purposes for which the allotment proposed to be sold was allotted may and will be forthwith purchased; and the proceeds of any such sale shall be paid to the Inclosure Commissioners (d), and shall remain in their hands until such purchase of other land as aforesaid.

Reports by managers of recreation grounds and field gardens.

28. The trustees of recreation grounds, where such trustees are the overseers or churchwardens of a parish, and the allotment wardens of field gardens (e) shall, from time to time, and at such intervals of not less than three years nor more than five years, as the Inclosure Commissioners (d) direct, make such reports to the said Commissioners in respect of the recreation grounds and field gardens under their management, with such particulars of the rents received by them, as the Commissioners may require.

Town and village greens.

29. (f) . . . An encroachment on or inclosure of a town or village green, also any erection thereon or disturbance or interference with or occupation of the soil thereof which is made otherwise than with a view to the better enjoyment of such town or village green or recreation ground, shall be deemed to be a public nuisance, and if any person does any act in respect of which he is liable to pay damages or a penalty under section twelve of the Inclosure Act, 1857, he may be summarily convicted thereof upon the information of any inhabitant of the parish in which such town or village green or recreation ground situate, as well as upon the information of such persons as in the said section mentioned (g).

20 & 21 Vict. c. 31.

This section shall apply only in cases where a town or village green or recreation ground has a known and defined boundary.

Jurisdiction of county court in respect of illegal inclosures.

30. (h) A county court within whose jurisdiction any common or part of a common is situate shall have jurisdiction to hear any case relating to any

(f) The recital of s. 12 of the Inclosure Act, 1857, as to town and village greens was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. Town or village greens cannot be taken for light railways without the consent of the Board of Agriculture. They are also "commons" within the meaning of the Commons Act, 1899, though apparently not "commons" within the meaning of this Act. As to parish councils, see s. 8 of the L. G. A., 1894.

(g) The Inclosure Act, 1857, s. 12, provides a summary remedy for injury or damage to the fences of or for other nuisances to a town or village green. The penalty for each offence is forty shillings, which with the damage is recoverable summarily before justices. Under that section, however, the proceedings could only be instituted by a churchwarden or overseer, or the person in whom the soil was vested.

(h) Sections 30 and 31 are extended to metropolitan commons by the Metropolitan Commons Act, 1878, s. 3. For procedure in the county court, see County Court Rules, Order L., r. 9. No special procedure as to appeals is prescribed by the Rules of the Supreme Court, therefore the usual practice under s. 120 of the County Courts Act, 1888, is applicable in such appeals. See R. S. C., Order LIX., rr. 10, 18. See also the jurisdiction given to county courts as regards the restriction of inclosure of commons given by s. 103 of the Law of Property Act, 1922.

illegal inclosure or encroachment of or upon such common or part of a common respectively made after the passing of this Act, or to any nuisance impeding the exercise of any right of common arising after the passing of this Act, and to grant an injunction against such inclosure encroachment or nuisance, or to make an order for the removal or abatement of such inclosure encroachment or nuisance.

Any person aggrieved by any injunction granted or order made or refusal to grant an injunction or make an order by a county court in pursuance of this section may, on giving security for costs to the satisfaction of the county court, appeal to the High Court of Justice in a summary manner, or by special case or otherwise, as may be prescribed by rules of court to be made by the Supreme Court of Judicature in manner provided by the seventeenth section of the Supreme Court of Judicature Act, 1875. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 77.

The appellate court may on hearing the appeal reverse modify or confirm the injunction or order complained of, or remit the case to the county court from which the appeal lay, with instructions to deal with the case according to the directions given by the appellate court.

Where an appeal is lodged against the order of a county court directing the removal or abatement of any inclosure encroachment or nuisance, such order shall be suspended during such time as such appeal is pending.

Nothing in this Act contained shall abridge or interfere with any existing right of abating or otherwise preventing any illegal inclosure of or encroachment of any common, or any nuisance interfering with any right of common.

Until rules of court are made for the purposes of this section, an appeal may be had from the decision of any county court under this section in the same manner in which an appeal from the decision of a county court may be had in a case within its ordinary jurisdiction.

Three months' notice of claim to inclose to be given in the local papers.

31. Any person intending to inclose or approve a common or part of a common otherwise than under the provisions of this Act shall give notice to all persons claiming any legal right in such common or part of a common, by publishing, at least three months beforehand, a statement of his intention to make such inclosure, for three successive times, and in two or more of the principal local newspapers in the county, town, or district in which the common or part of a common proposed to be inclosed is situate; but the provisions of this section shall not apply to any commons or waste lands whereon the rights of common are vested solely in the lord of the manor (i).

A production of a newspaper containing such advertisement as aforesaid shall be evidence of the same having been issued, and the inclosure shall, until the contrary is proved, be deemed to have taken place at the time specified in such advertisement.

Appointment of valuer to be confirmed by Commissioners.

32. An appointment of a valuer shall not be valid until it has been confirmed by the Commissioners (j). The Commissioners (j) may disapprove of a valuer on the ground of his incompetency, interest, want of impartiality, or any reasonable cause, and where they so disapprove of a valuer may call a meeting, and a meeting may be held to appoint, and another person appointed (subject to the approval of the Commissioners (j)) to be valuer in like manner as if no previous meeting had been held and no valuer had been previously appointed, and so on until a valuer approved by the Commissioners is appointed.

(i) This exception is hardly worded with due legal accuracy. Where all rights of common are released or conveyed to the lord of the manor, the land formerly common becomes freed from them and ceases to be common at all. A person inclosing a common without advertising his intention as required by this section might be indicted for misdemeanor in disobeying the statute, or be restrained by injunction from continuing his inclosure and ordered to remove it on an information filed by the Attorney-General in the name of a person interested.

(j) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a), ante, p. 1455.

General Amendment.

As to exchanges and partitions. 8 & 9 Vict. c. 118, s. 105.

33. The provisions of section one hundred and five of the Inclosure Act, 1845, relating to the validity after confirmation of an award of inclosure of the exchanges, and partitions set forth in such award, shall apply to orders of exchange partition and division of intermixed lands carried into effect in pursuance of the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868, by separate orders, and not included in an award of inclosure.

PART III.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Amendment of law as to reports.

34. There shall be repealed so much of section thirty of the Inclosure Act, 1845, as prescribes a limit to the quantity of land to be allotted to recreation grounds; also the twenty-fourth, twenty-fifth, twenty-sixth, and twenty-seventh sections of the Inclosure Act, 1845, and (k) the Inclosure Commissioners (l) shall not be required to repeat, in their general annual report, any of the particulars in relation to the regulation or inclosure of commons which they may have stated in any other reports made by them in pursuance of this Act, in relation to such commons, but they may refer to such other reports, or give a summary thereof, or otherwise deal with the same as may be thought expedient.

Metropolitan commons. 29 & 30 Vict. c. 122. 32 & 33 Vict. c. 107.

35. This Act, save as herein expressly provided (m), shall not apply to any metropolitan common within the meaning of the Metropolitan Commons Acts, 1866 and 1869.

A common regulated under Act not to be inclosed without sanction of Parliament.

36. Where an Act of Parliament has been passed confirming a Provisional Order under this Act for the regulation of a common, then, subject to and without prejudice to the provisions of that Order, such common shall not, nor shall any part thereof, be inclosed without the sanction of Parliament subsequently obtained.

36. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

"A common" means any land subject to be inclosed under the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868 (n):

"Waste land of a manor" means and includes any land consisting of waste land of any manor on which the tenants of such manor have rights of common, or of any land subject to any rights of common which may be exercised at all times of the year for cattle levant and couchant, or to any rights of common which may be exercised at all times of the year, and are not limited by number or stints:

"Person" includes a body corporate (o):

(m) See s. 20, ante, p. 1467; note (r) to s. 8, ante, p. 1458; and note (h) to ss. 30 and 31, ante, p. 1470.

(n) See s. 4, ante, p. 1456.

(o) The definition of "Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1868," and the schedule to this Act to which that definition referred, are repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. See now the Short Titles Act, 1896.

"Municipal borough" means any place for the time being subject to the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, and the Acts amending the same (p);
"Improvement Act district" means any area subject to the jurisdiction of any commissioners, trustees, or other persons invested by any local Act of Parliament with powers of improving, cleansing, lighting, or paving any town:
"Local government district" has the same meaning as it has in the Public Health Act, 1875 (q). 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

THE RIVERS POLLUTION PREVENTION ACT, 1876.

(39 & 40 VICT. c. 75.)

An Act for making further Provision for the Prevention of the Pollution of rivers (r). [15th August 1876.]

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876 (s). Short title.

PART I.

LAW AS TO SOLID MATTERS.

2. Every person (t) who puts or causes to be put or to fall or knowingly permits (u) to be put or to fall or to be carried into any stream (x), so as Prohibition as to putting solid matters into streams.

(p) Now the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882; see s. 242 of that Act.

(q) See s. 4 of that Act, ante, p. 4.

(r) See also the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1893, and the Rivers Pollution Prevention (Border Councils) Act, 1898, post, pp. 1772, 1804. The provisions of the Act exceed this title, inasmuch as they not only provide against the pollution of rivers, but also against their obstruction by the placing of solid matters therein. The preamble to this Act was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. See also s. 4 of that Act as to the omission of the clause of enactment.

(s) Sanitary authorities will derive considerable assistance in construing this Act from the circular of the L. G. B., issued August 6th, 1877, and set out at p. 481 of Glen's Local Government Orders.

(t) Note that the definition in s. 20, post, p. 1489, extends this word to any body of persons corporate or unincorporate. Hence associations, or companies, or partners may be answerable as well as individuals.

(u) In Hipkins v. Birmingham and Staffordshire Gaslight Co. (1861), 24 J. P. 438; 6 H. & N. 250, the word "suffer," which has much the same signification as permit, was held to apply to involuntary omission to prevent. Here there is a limitation, as, by this section, the permission must be with knowledge which implies will, but see now the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1893, post, p. 1772. The predecessors of the appellants had made an agreement with the owner of a margarine factory, that he should be entitled, subject to certain conditions, to discharge the effluent from the factory into their sewers. Owing to a breach of this agreement, the soil of a sewage farm, the property of the appellants, became clogged, and consequently offensive matter found its way into the river Brent:—Held, that it was the appellants who "caused or suffered to flow or pass" sewage or other injurious matter into the river within s. 13 of the Middlesex County Council Act, 1898 (Southall-Norwood U. D. C. v. Middlesex C. C. (1901), 65 J. P. 215; 83 L. T. 742). In 1863 some vacant land adjacent to a river was laid out by the owner for the purpose of erecting woollen mills. A main sewer was constructed which emptied into the river. Six mills were subsequently erected on the land and large quantities of liquid were carried away from them through the sewer. Water-closets for the use of employees had been added to the mills between 1863 and 1913 and were also connected with the sewer; and it was not disputed that noxious and polluting liquid was proceeding from the mills and falling or flowing into the river within the meaning of s. 4 of this Act. There was no evidence that the landowner had laid out the land as an ordinary building estate, and no dwelling-houses were shown to be connected with the either singly or in combination (y) with other similar acts of the same or any other person to interfere with its due (z) flow, or to pollute (a) its waters, the solid refuse of any manufactory, manufacturing process or quarry (b), or any rubbish or cinders, or any other waste (c) or any putrid solid matter (d), shall be deemed to have committed an offence (e) against this Act (f).

sewer save one which had acquired such a right by special agreement in 1864 for a payment of 5*s.* a year. In 1891 the local authority by agreement with the owners of the sewer, took a licence to use it, and gave consideration for using it, and agreed that their user was to be postponed to the user of the mill-owners. Held, that the sewer had been made by the landowner "for his own profit" within the meaning of s. 13 (1) of the P. H. A., 1875, and did not vest in the local authority of the district, the primary and main object of the sewer being to obtain increased value from the land by giving a facility for its use for manufacturing purposes and not for sanitation; and held, further, that by entering into the agreement of 1891 the local authority had not permitted the unlawful user of the sewer; namely, the user of it for polluting the river contrary to s. 4 (West Riding of Yorks Rivers Board v. Linthwaite U. D. C. (No. 2), (1915), 79 J. P. 433; 13 L. G. R. 772. See as to the meaning of the word "caused" used in the Salmon Fishery Act, 1861, Moses v. Midland Rail. Co. (1915), 79 J. P. 367.

(y) It is not intended by this word to imply any conspiracy or joint action. It is apparently intended to refer to simultaneous action, so that if one manufacturer cast his refuse into the stream with little effect, yet if at the same time other manufacturers cast their refuse therein, the mischief would arise and each would be responsible. See Blair v. Deakin, post, p. 1475.

(z) These words require attention. The flow of a stream raises two considerations: first, as to the velocity of the stream; secondly, as to its course or channel. The velocity and the channel must not be impeded. That is, the stream must not be made to run slower, neither must it be diverted from its proper channel. The word "due" signifies its natural flow. In the case of a pure undisturbed stream, the natural flow would be ascertained easily, but the case will be different where a stream has long been the subject of impediment. Does the statute contemplate the existing state of things, prohibiting any further impediment, or does it refer back to the original state of the stream, and require the original flow to be restored and kept up? This latter alternative will generally be so impracticable that the former seems the preferable construction.

(a) See in s. 20, post, p. 1490, as to what is not polluting. It will be remembered that s. 68 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 143, provides for the pollution of water by gas washings.

It appears from the cases of Filbey v. Combe (1837), 2 M. & W. 677; 1 Jur. 721, and Law v. Dodd (1848), 1 Exch. 845; 17 L. J. M. C. 65, that the refuse of a manufactory is that which the manufacturer himself contemplates as rubbish.

(b) Section 4, post, p. 1478, provides for mines.

(c) Does this word waste apply to the following word matter? Apparently not.

(d) See in s. 20, post, p. 1490, the limitation to be put upon the words "solid matter." A putrid effluent of 97·6 per cent. water and only 2·4 per cent. solids is not "putrid solid matter" (River Ribble Committee v. Halliwell, [1899] 2 Q. B. 385; 63 J. P. 708, followed in West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board v. Rawson (1903), 67 J. P. 407; 89 L. T. 363). See as to the construction of a section of a local Act prohibiting the throwing or emptying into any dock of any "ballast, rubbish, dust, ashes, shingle, stones, or other refuse or things or the doing of any other act to prejudice the works of the board," Gray v. Heathcote (1918), 82 J. P. 211.

(e) Although this section creates this offence, the statute does not make the commission criminal so as to render the party subject to any penalty. It is provided merely that the county court may restrain the continuance of the offence, and make an order, and if such order be disobeyed the offender will be liable to a penalty.

Where a statute prohibits an act and provides no penalty, the person who commits the act is liable to be indicted for a common law misdemeanor, but the rule cannot be held to apply here, as the statute contains a remedy.

The acts mentioned in the section when committed in navigable rivers will generally be such nuisances as will subject the person committing them to prosecutions for nuisances, and such prosecutions may still be instituted though they afford but indifferent remedies, and are generally very costly.

(f) Reference must be made to s. 17, post, p. 1488, which prevents the Act from applying to the lawful exercise of any rights of impounding or diverting water.

Thus, in Smith v. Barnham (1876), 34 L. T. 775, a local Act having prohibited persons from wilfully throwing rubbish into a stream, the Court of Appeal were disposed to hold that where a person exercised a right claimed by many years' enjoyment to cast the refuse of a tannery into the stream, he was not to be considered to be wilfully casting rubbish therein within the operation of the clause. The point was not, however, distinctly decided.

In proving interference with the due flow of any stream, or in proving the pollution of any stream, evidence may be given or repeated acts which together cause such interference or pollution, although each act taken by itself may not be sufficient for that purpose (g).

PART II.

Law as to Sewage Pollutions.

Prohibition as to drainage into streams of sewers.

3. Every person (h) who causes to fall or flow or knowingly permits (i) to fall or flow or to be carried into any stream (k) any solid or liquid sewage

(g) This would be lawful in prosecutions for nuisances. The principle that the acts of several persons may, together, constitute a nuisance which may be restrained by injunction, though the damage occasioned by the act of any one of such persons, taken by itself, would be inappreciable, was laid down in Thorpe v. Brumfitt (1873), L. R. 8 Ch. 650, and recognised in Lambton v. Mellish, [1894] 3 Ch. 163 ; 58 J. P. 835. So where several manufacturers had their works upon a stream and caused a nuisance to a riparian owner below them by discharging offensive matter into the stream, it was held no answer to an action for nuisance brought against one of them by such owner to say that the share the defendant contributed to the nuisance was infinitesimal (Blair v. Deakin (1887), 57 L. T. 522 ; 4 T. L. R. 757).

(i) See note (u) to s. 2, ante, p. 1473. And note that now by the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1893, post, p. 1772, it is enacted that where any sewage matter falls or flows or is carried into any stream after passing through or along a channel which is vested in a sanitary authority, the sanitary authority shall, for the purposes of s. 3 of the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, be deemed to knowingly permit the sewage matter so to fall, flow, or be carried.

Two local sanitary authorities appointed a joint drainage committee consisting of members from each board, and gave to such joint committee the exclusive control and management of the sewage and sewage works, and henceforward the disposal and treatment of the sewage of both districts were carried out under the control of the said committee. The sewage works continued to remain the property of the local board to which the said works belonged prior to the appointment of the said joint committee. Sewage or other offensive or injurious matter was allowed to flow from the said sewage works into an adjoining river, thereby polluting it. The conservancy board thereupon served a notice in writing upon the local board to which the sewage works belonged to discontinue the flow of sewage matter into the river. The local board having failed to comply with the terms of the notice, were summoned before the magistrates to compel them to discontinue the nuisance, or to render them liable to the penalty for not doing so : —Held, that the local board were not liable as they had ceased to have control over the sewers, and so could not have "caused" or "suffered" the outflow into the river (Lea Conservancy Board v. Tottenham L. B. (1891), 55 J. P. 343 ; 64 L. T. 198).

The plaintiffs, under s. 10 of this Act, post, p. 1484, applied to a county court for and obtained an order to restrain the defendants from causing the sewage to flow into a stream. On appeal against this order it appeared to the court that, upon the facts of the case, the plaintiffs were themselves in default in not having made any provision for dealing with the sewage in these sewers, as required by the P. H. A., 1875 :—Held, that the making of the order was discretionary, and although the defendants had offended against this Act, as a matter of discretion, under the circumstances of the case, an order ought not to be made against them at the instance of the plaintiffs, who were themselves offenders against this Act, and were seeking to avoid performance of their duty under the P. H. A., 1875 :—Held, also, that an appeal on the above-mentioned ground was correctly brought by way of motion (Kirkheaton District L. B. v. Ainley & Co., [1892] 2 Q. B. 274 ; 56 J. P. 374).

The conservators of the river T. having indicted the local board of S., as the urban sanitary authority, for having in contravention of s. 63 of the Thames Navigation Act, 1866, "caused, or, without lawful excuse, suffered," sewage matter to flow into the river T. within their district, in connection with which certain points of law were necessarily involved, it was held that the proper course to follow was to take a special verdict, prepared by both sides, from the jury, after formal evidence of the matters alleged in the special verdict had been given, and that the points of law arising thereon should be subsequently discussed in the Court for Crown Cases Reserved (R. v. Staines L. B. (1888), 52 J. P. 215).

matter (l), shall (subject as in this Act mentioned) (m) be deemed to have committed an offence against this Act (n).

A local board under the P. H. A., 1875, have only a qualified property in the sewers within their district, and cannot prevent persons who had acquired a prescriptive right to use them from so doing, unless they provide other sewers equally effectual. Where a local board have not themselves constructed sewers which are a nuisance, but have only permitted them to be used by inhabitants who have acquired a prescriptive right to use them, the local board do not "cause or suffer" sewage to flow into the Thames within the meaning of s. 64 of the Thames Navigation Act, 1866, and cannot be convicted of a misdemeanor under that Act (R. v. Staines L. B. (1889), 53 J. P. 358; 60 L. T. 261). The predecessors of a local sanitary authority had made an agreement with the owner of a margarine factory that he should be entitled, subject to certain conditions, to discharge the effluent from the factory into their sewers. Owing to a breach of this agreement, the soil of a sewage farm, the property of the local authority, became clogged, and consequently offensive matter found its way into the river Brent. It was held that the local authority "caused or suffered to flow or pass" sewage or other injurious matter into the river within the meaning of s. 13 of the Middlesex County Council Act, 1898 (Southall-Norwood U. D. C. v. Middlesex C. C. (1901), 65 J. P. 215; 83 L. T. 742). And see Brown v. Dunstable Corporation, [1899] 2 Ch. 378; 63 J. P. 519. The case of R. v. Staines L. B. (1889), supra, was followed in two subsequent cases. In Thames Conservators v. Gravesend Corporation, [1910] 1 K. B. 442; 73 J. P. 381, sewage passed from the premises of private persons and from premises belonging to the corporation into a sewer which was vested in the corporation, and thence flowed into the river Thames. It was held that as regards the sewage which came from their own premises, the corporation had "caused or suffered" the sewage to flow into the river within the meaning of s. 94 of the Thames Conservancy Act, 1894, but as regards the sewage coming from the premises of private persons, they had not done so. In Waltham Holy Cross U. D. C. v. Lea Conservancy Board (1910), 74 J. P. 253; 103 L. T. 192, it was held that where a person has acquired the right to send sewage into the sewers of a local authority, and that sewage passes into a river, the local authority cannot be convicted of causing or suffering the sewage to pass into the river. See, however, Rochford R. D. C. v. Port of London Authority, [1914] 2 K. B. 916, where the above cases are distinguished if not overruled as being inconsistent with the decisions of the C. A. in Kirkheaton L. B. v. Ainley, [1892] 2 Q. B. 274, and Yorkshire W. R. C. C. v. Holmfirth U. D. C., p. 1477, post. See as to the meaning of the word "caused" used in the Salmon Fishery Act, 1861, Moses v. Midland Rail. Co. (1915), 79 J. P. 367.

(k) See the definition in s. 20, post, p. 1489, where it will be seen how far sewers draining into the sea or tidal waters are affected by those enactments.

(l) There is no definition of "sewage matter" in this Act nor in the P. H. A., 1875, nor elsewhere. It appears to be properly the matter which is contained in a sewer. In Sutton v. Norwich Corporation (1858), 27 L. J. Ch. 739; 6 W. R. 432, KINDERSLEY, V.-C., observed that "in the common sense of the term a sewer means a large and generally underground passage for fluid and feculent matter from a house or houses to some other locality." Hence sewage matter appears to be feculent matter, and this is supported by s. 17 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 59, where the words used are "sewage or filthy water." See also Durrant v. Branksome U. D. C., ante, p. 58.

It will be observed that it is not necessary to prove that any injurious effect has followed from the act referred to.

The occupier of any premises will be answerable for the acts of his household if he knowingly permits the sewage to fall into the stream, and this knowledge will be readily presumed from the state of the premises.

(m) The saving in s. 17, post, p. 1488, can have no operation upon the section. Hence no prescriptive right or licence under grant will be available against this statutory prohibition (Lanarkshire C. C. v. Airdrie Magistrates; Lanarkshire C. C. v. Coatbridge Magistrates (1907), 44 Sc. L. R. 915; Midlothian C. C. v. Oakbank Oil Co. (1904), 6 F. 387). The words "subject as in the Act mentioned" in this section and in s. 4 refer to the latter part of each section and do not qualify the first part of the section by introducing into it the provisions of the Act relating to legal proceedings and make the offence incomplete unless and until an order has been made against the offender to abstain from the commission of the offence (Hulley v. Silversprings Bleaching Co. (1922), 86 J. P. 30; see also Neaverson v. Peterboro' R. D. C., [1902] 1 Ch. 557; 66 J. P. 404.

At common law a person cannot gain a prescriptive right to pollute the water of a river to such an extent and under such circumstances as to create a public nuisance (R. v. Cross (1812), 3 Camp. 224). But apart from this Act a riparian owner may, under s. 2 of the

Where any sewage matter falls or flows or is carried into any stream along channel used, constructed, or in process of construction at the date of the assing of this Act for the purpose of conveying such sewage matter, the erson (n) causing or knowingly permitting the sewage matter so to fall or ow or to be carried shall not be deemed to have committed an offence gainst this Act if he shows to the satisfaction of the court having cognizance f the case (o) that he is using the best practicable and available means to nder harmless the sewage matter so falling or flowing or carried into the ream (p).

Where the Local Government Board are satisfied after local inquiry hat further time ought to be granted to any sanitary authority, which t the date of the passing of this Act is discharging sewage matter into any ream, or permitting it to be so discharged, by any such channel as foresaid, for the purpose of enabling such authority to adopt the best racticable and available means for rendering harmless such sewage matter, he Local Government Board may by order declare that this section shall ot, so far as regards the discharge of sewage matter by such channel, be in peration until the expiration of a period to be limited in the order.

Any order made under this section may be from time to time renewed y the Local Government Board, subject to such conditions, if any, as they ay see fit (r).

A person other than a sanitary authority shall not be guilty of an offence nder this section in respect of the passing of sewage matter into a stream (t) escription Act, 1832, obtain, as against other riparian owners, a right to discharge olluting matter into a river (Wright v. Williams (1836), 1 M. & W. 77; 1 Gale 410; urlyon v. Lovering (1857), 1 H. & N. 797; 29 L. J. Ex. 251). The burden, however, nnot be increased (Crossley v. Lightowler (1867), L. R. 2 Ch. 478; Hulley v. Silversprings eaching Co., Ltd. (1922), 86 J. P. 30), and if an increase cannot be separated from the gal user, there may be a total prohibition (Blackburne v. Somers (1879), 5 L. R. Ir. 1; echette v. Compagnie Manufacturière de Ste. Hyacinthe (1883), 9 App. Cas. 170). But mere variation in the process of manufacture which alters the constituents of washings scharged without increasing the burden does not give a cause of action (Baxendale v. cMurray (1867), L. R. 2 Ch. App. 790), although the substitution of a totally different ass of business might do so (Clarke v. Somersetshire Drainage Commissioners (1888), L. J. M. C. 96; 59 L. T. 670).

(n) Here also no penalty is imposed, but the application must be made to the county urt to prevent the continuance of the offence. It must be noticed, however, that the rson who thus acts may be liable to prosecution under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 91, ante, 165, and thereby rendered liable to a penalty.

(o) He cannot have the benefit of this provision until he is taken before the court, but he l be entitled to notice of the intended proceedings under s. 13, post, p. 1487.

(p) The county court judge must consider whether this is the fact or not, and it is not fficient to hold merely that nothing has been done to aggravate the nuisance (West ding of Yorkshire C. C. v. Holmfirth L. B., [1894] 2 Q. B. 842; 59 J. P. 213). A certificate m the inspector, under s. 12, post, p. 1486, will prove this fact. In an appeal under this t, the case stated that a sanitary authority was and had been, for a long period before e passing of the Act, sending a large quantity of sewage into a watercourse which joined arger stream, the water in which above the junction was available for most primary rposes, and that the combined stream fell into the sea three miles below the junction. e effect of this flow of sewage was, that in the summer months the greater part of the ntents of the combined stream was foully polluted. The case, while it contained the tement that the combined stream had been for more than forty years carrying more or s polluted matter into the sea, also stated that the pollution had been largely increased hin the last twenty years:—Held, that although the tributary stream was, at the date he Act, "mainly used as a sewer" (see s. 20, post, p. 1489), and was therefore exempted m the operation of the Act, the stream into which it flowed was not so used, and that refore the pollution of the latter must be prevented (Portobello Magistrates v. Edinburgh agistrates (1882), 10 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) 130).

(r) Many orders were made during the years succeeding the Act. The section is now, wever, spent.

along a drain (u) communicating with any sewer belonging to or under the control of any sanitary authority, provided he has the sanction of the sanitary authority for so doing (x).

PART III.

LAW AS TO MANUFACTURING AND MINING POLLUTIONS.

Prohibition as to drainage into streams from manufactories.

4. Every person (y) who causes to fall or flow or knowingly permits (z) to fall or flow or to be carried into any stream (a) any poisonous, noxious, or (u) See the definition of a drain in the P. H. A., 1875, s. 4, ante, p. 24.

(x) It is presumed that these words have a retrospective operation and apply to the sanction given tacitly or actually to communications made before the Act, as well as to cases where drains are made hereafter to communicate with sewers. The sanitary authority will be responsible for the sewer itself (Ferrand v. Hallas Land and Building Co., ante, p. 46). See also note (i), ante, p. 1475, and the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1893, post, p. 1772, and cf. the case of Leeds and District Worsted Dyers and Finishers Association v. West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board (1906), 70 J. P. 480; 5 L. G. R. 72.

It will be remembered that the communication of the drain with the sewer has often been the result of compulsion authorised by the statutes.

(y) See the definition in s. 20, post, p. 1489, which includes bodies of persons as well as individuals.

(z) See note (u) on s. 2, ante, p. 1473. Proceedings can be taken against a local authority under this section for causing or permitting polluting liquid proceeding from a factory or manufacturing process to fall or flow or be carried into a stream (West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board v. Linthwaite U. D. C., [1915] 2 K. B. 436).

(a) See the definition in s. 20, post, p. 1489. A stream does not become a sewer within the meaning of the P. H. A., 1875, by reason of the discharge of manufacturing effluent into it in contravention of this section (West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board v. Gaunt (1903), 67 J. P. 183; 1 L. G. R. 133). In proceedings taken under s. 3, supra, a county court judge found that the beck in question was a "stream" within the meaning of s. 20, but did not expressly find that it was not a "sewer." The Divisional Court held that the question was in fact raised before the judge and was in terms decided by him (West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board v. Yorkshire Indigo Scarlet and Colour Dyers, Ltd. (1903), 67 J. P. 80). The case of West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board v. Gaunt, supra, was considered in West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board v. Preston (1905), 69 J. P. 1; 92 L. T. 24, the facts of which were as follows:—The defendants sent polluting liquids from their factory into a channel. This channel was said to have originally carried down water from a well above the factory, but the defendants diverted this water supply above their factory, took it into their mill and discharged it in a polluted state into the channel close to their factory. The channel ran from the factory past certain cottages, then joining a stream, fell with the stream into a river. Fifty or sixty cottages emptied their sewage into the channel below the factory till 1892, when a sewerage scheme was put into operation for the district. Two cottages still discharged slop water into the channel, and two or three small watercourses fell into it below the factory. A county court judge held that the channel was a stream within the meaning of s. 20, and that the defendants had committed an offence under this section. The Divisional Court held that a stream within the meaning of the Act may be either a natural or an artificial one; and that the court was not prepared to differ from the conclusion of the county court judge that the channel was a stream, since (apart from the existing watercourses below) pure water would still flow along the course but for the acts of the defendants. It has since been held that the discharge of sewage into the channel of an intermittent stream may have the effect of converting it into a sewer although the natural flow of the pure water is not cut off, and that no rule to the contrary is established by West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board v. Gaunt, supra, or West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board v. Preston, supra (Att.-Gen. v. Lewes Corporation, [1911] 2 Ch. 495; 76 J. P. 1). A county council applied for an order under this Act to restrain the appellants "from causing to fall or flow or to be carried into certain streams "any solid or liquid sewage matter." The appellants alleged that the streams in question were not streams within the meaning of the Act in respect that at the date of the passing of the Act they were mainly used as sewers. There was a definite finding of fact that the appellants discharged all their sewage into the streams in question. It was held that the streams were "streams" and not "watercourses mainly used as sewers" within the meaning of the Act. In the course of his judgment Lord HALSBURY said, "I wish to add that Gaunt's Case," supra, "appears to me to have been perfectly rightly decided" (Airdrie Magistrates v. Lanarkshire C. C., [1910] A. C. 291).

polluting (b) liquid proceeding from any factory or manufacturing process shall (subject as in this Act mentioned (c)) be deemed to have committed an offence against this Act (d).

Where any such poisonous, noxious, or polluting liquid as aforesaid falls or flows or is carried into any stream along a channel used, constructed, or in process of construction at the date of the passing of this Act, or any new channel constructed (e) in substitution thereof, and having its outfall at the same spot, for the purpose of conveying such liquid, the person causing or knowingly permitting the poisonous, noxious, or polluting liquid so to fall or flow or to be carried shall not be deemed to have committed an offence against this Act if he shows (f) to the satisfaction of the court having cognizance of the case that he is using the best practicable and reasonably (g) available means to render harmless the poisonous, noxious, or polluting liquid so falling or flowing or carried into the stream.

Prohibition as to drainage into streams from mines.

5. Every person (h) who causes to fall or flow or knowingly permits (i) to fall or flow or to be carried into any stream (h) any solid matter (h) from any mine in such quantities as to prejudicially (k) interfere with its due flow, or any poisonous, noxious, or polluting (l) solid or liquid matter proceeding

(b) These three words must have separate meanings: "poisonous" implies destruction of life, human or animal; "noxious" is lower in degree, and signifies some injury, but not of necessity immediately dangerous to life; "polluting" will include both the other qualities and also what is foul and offensive to the senses, except innocuous discoloration, as to which see s. 20, post, p. 1490.

This section applies to a liquid only, as there is no reference here to the obstruction of the stream. See as to throwing cinders, etc., into streams, the P. H. A., 1890, s. 47, ante, p. 858.

(c) See note (m) under s. 3, ante, p. 1476.

(d) See note (u) on s. 2, ante, p. 1473. Manufacturers caused polluting liquid to flow into a sewer which discharged into a stream. The sewer existed at the date of this Act, and was vested in and under the control of the local sanitary authority. The manufacturers used no means to render the polluting liquid harmless. It was held that, even assuming that there was a prescriptive right to discharge their polluting liquid into the sewer, the manufacturers had committed an offence under the section by discharging into a sewer through which the liquid found its way into the stream (Butterworth v. West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board, [1909] A. C. 45; 73 J. P. 89).

Proceedings cannot be commenced under this section until the consent of the Minister of Health has been obtained under s. 6, post, p. 1480, and due notice given under s. 13, post, p. 1487, and that consent must be obtained before the notice required under s. 13 can be given (West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board v. Robinson, [1907] 1 K. B. 431; 71 J. P. 137).

(e) This channel may be constructed at any time hereafter; but it must be carefully noticed that the new channel must be a substituted one. No exemption is given to any other new channel (Midlothian C. C. v. Pumpherston Oil Co. (1904), 6 F. 388).

(f) See note (o) on s. 3, ante, p. 1477.

(g) This word is not in s. 3. There is so much difficulty in dealing with these subjects that the manufacturer is not required to guarantee the absolute success of the means which he has adopted. He will be protected if he uses means which, in the judgment of skilled persons, may reasonably be expected to remove the mischief although they in fact do not do so. Cf. also note (d) to s. 10, post, p. 1485.

(i) See note (u) on s. 2, ante, p. 1473, and note (z) on s. 4, ante, p. 1478.

(k) It is to be observed that this word does not occur in s. 2. What is its force here? Can the due flow of the stream be interfered with otherwise than prejudicially? In mining districts this may be the case. It may be of no importance that the course of the stream is slackened, or that the channel is widened or changed. Hence it will be necessary to prove some actual prejudice to individuals from the interference. See note (z) on s. 2, ante, p. 1474, as to the due flow.

(l) See note (b), supra, with reference to these words, and the limitation as to polluting in s. 20, post, p. 1490.

In s. 20 it is provided that solid matter shall not include particles of matter in suspension, but such matters would appear to fall under the term liquid matters, and, if so, they would from any mine (m), other than water in the same condition as that in which it has been drained or raised from such mine (n), shall be deemed to have committed an offence against this Act, unless in the case of poisonous, noxious, or polluting matter he shows (o) to the satisfaction of the court having cognizance of the case that he is using the best practicable and reasonably (p) available means to render harmless the poisonous, noxious, or polluting matter so falling or flowing or carried into the stream (q).

Restriction on proceedings under this Part of the Act.

6. Unless and until Parliament otherwise provides (r) the following enactments shall take effect: Proceedings shall not be taken against any person under this Part of this Act (s) save by a sanitary authority (t), nor shall any such proceedings be taken without the consent of the Local Government Board (u): Provided always, that if the sanitary authority, on the application of any person interested (x) alleging an offence to have been committed, shall refuse to take proceedings or apply for the consent by this section provided, the person so interested may apply to the Local Government Board (y), and if that Board on inquiry (z) is of opinion that the sanitary authority should (a) take proceedings, they may direct the sanitary authority accordingly, who shall thereupon commence proceedings.

The said Board in giving or withholding their consent shall have regard be within the provision of this section. See United Alkali Co., Ltd. v. Simpson, [1894] 2 Q. B. 116; 58 J. P. 607.

(m) It must be noticed that s. 2 applies to quarries. And the term mine applies to some underground work. This was the meaning given to the word in the decisions of the court upon the rating of mines.

(n) It will be immaterial how poisonous or polluted this water may be, so long as its original condition remains unchanged. If it come into contact with other substances in the mine which may affect its condition, the exemption will cease, and if in an altered state it flows into any stream with the knowledge and permission of the mine-owner an offence will be committed.

(q) Reference should be made to the saving in s. 17, post, p. 1488.

(r) These words indicate that this provision is of a tentative character, because future legislation could, of course, prevent the continuance of this enactment, and the words have in themselves no definite legal operation.

(s) It must be noticed that this section is limited to the cases of manufacturing pollutions and mining obstructions and pollutions.

(t) See the definition in s. 20, post, p. 1490.

(u) The Minister of Health has now superseded the L. G. B. If proceedings are dropped, this consent must be obtained every time fresh proceedings are taken, although in respect of a continuance of the same pollution (Ex parte Mersey and Irwell Watershed Joint Committee (1893), 59 J. P. 756).

(x) What will constitute an interest is a question of some nicety. A riparian owner or occupier will be interested, so also will an inhabitant who draws water from the polluted stream; and it seems that if the stream be polluted within the district, the complainant need not be an inhabitant, or a ratepayer within it. But is an inhabitant of the district, as such, a person interested? Seeing the effect of polluted streams upon the general health of a district, it will probably be held that he is.

If the object of the complainant is to obtain only a settlement of a disputed private right, the Minister of Health will doubtless refuse to interfere.

(y) Now the Minister of Health. This application should be made on folio foolscap paper, addressed to the Minister under cover addressed to the Secretary. It should set forth the circumstances of the case, the applicant's interest, his complaint to the sanitary authority, and their refusal. It should also communicate reasonable means of proving the alleged offence.

(z) The P. H. A., 1875, Part IX., ante, p. 626, provides for inquiries by the Minister of Health.

(a) This implies that an offence has been committed, and that there is sufficient means of proving it. The sanitary authority are compellable to commence proceedings, but if they should refuse to do so, alleging and showing that they have not adequate means of prosecuting them with success, the High Court of Justice would probably refuse to enforce this direction.

to the industrial interests involved in the case and to the circumstances and requirements of the locality (b).

The said Board shall not give their consent to proceedings by the sanitary authority of any district which is the seat of any manufacturing industry (c), unless they are satisfied, after due inquiry, that means for rendering harmless the poisonous, noxious, or polluting liquids proceeding from the processes of such manufactures are reasonably (d) practicable and available under all the circumstances of the case, and that no material injury will be inflicted by such proceedings on the interests of such industry (e).

Any person (f) within such district as aforesaid (g), against whom proceedings are proposed to be taken under this Part of this Act, shall, notwithstanding any consent of the Local Government Board, be at liberty to object before the sanitary authority to such proceedings being taken, and such authority shall, if required in writing by such person, afford him an opportunity of being heard against such proceedings being taken, so far as the same relate to his works or manufacturing processes (h). The sanitary authority shall thereupon allow such person to be heard by himself, agents, and witnesses (i), and after inquiry such authority shall determine, having regard to all the considerations to which the Local Government Board are by this section directed to have regard, whether such proceedings as aforesaid shall or shall not be taken; and where any such sanitary authority has taken proceedings under this Act, it shall not be competent to other sanitary authorities (k) to take proceedings under this Act till the party against whom such proceedings are intended shall have failed in reasonable time to carry out the order of any competent court under this Act.

The following part of this section shows that, notwithstanding the direction of the Minister, the sanitary authority may, under certain circumstances, abstain from taking proceedings.

The consent of the Minister must, however, be obtained before the notice that proceedings will be taken has been given to the party against whom they will be taken, in order to give him the opportunity of being heard against the proceedings being taken (West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board v. Robinson Brothers, [1907] 1 K. B. 431; 71 J. P. 137, overruling West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board v. Scarr End Mill Co. (1901), 65 J. P. 776, and following Midlothian C. C. v. Oakbank Oil Co., Ltd. (1903), 5 F. 700).

(b) This is only a guide to the Minister, pointing out how he is to exercise his discretion, but the direction is very vague. See also note (c), infra.

(c) These words also are vague. What is the definition of a "manufacturing industry"? Though only manufacturing industry is mentioned, doubtless mining industry falls within the meaning of this part of the section. Would one very large works or mine constitute a "seat"? It might be reasonable to hold that it did. A further defect in the section is that it contemplates that proceedings will always be proposed by the sanitary authority of the district where the pollution takes place, whereas the injury may conceivably be to a district into which the river flows. The special protection intended to be given to a seat of industry may amount to very little in practice, for in any case the department is required to have regard to the industrial interests involved and to the circumstances of the locality.

(d) It will be noticed that this adverb is placed before "practicable," and, therefore, governs both adjectives, but probably the effect will be the same as in the last section, upon which see note (g) on p. 1479.

(e) This consideration may be expected to cause embarrassment to the Minister, as the materiality of the injury will be difficult to measure. It seems to be intended that if material injury would be inflicted by the proceedings they are not to be allowed under any circumstances. See also note (c), supra.

(g) This district must be one which is the seat of a manufacturing industry.

(h) See note (c), supra.

(i) No power is given to the sanitary authority to examine these witnesses on oath; but see the Evidence Act, 1851, s. 16, which may possibly confer the power of administering oaths to witnesses upon an inquiry such as this.

(k) This prohibition does not apply to persons aggrieved, because they cannot take proceedings under this Part of the Act. See, however, s. 13, post, p. 1487.

PART IV.

ADMINISTRATION OF LAW.

Sanitary authority to afford facilities for factories draining into sewers.

7. Every sanitary or other (l) local authority having sewers under their control shall (m) give facilities for enabling manufacturers within their district to carry the liquids proceeding from their factories or manufacturing processes into such sewers:

Provided, that this section shall not extend to compel any sanitary or other local authority to admit into their sewers any liquid which would prejudicially affect such sewers or the disposal by sale, application to land, or otherwise, of the sewage matter conveyed along such sewers, or which would from its temperature or otherwise be injurious in a sanitary point of view (n).

(l) Quære, who are here referred to? The P. H. A., 1875, s. 13, ante, p. 45, exempts from vesting in sanitary authorities sewers made under local or private Acts of Parliament, and such as are under the authority of Commissioners of Sewers. These are probably referred to.

(m) Though this word is peremptory, it is presumed that the authority must have some discretion in the matter. They will, doubtless, be entitled to impose conditions and regulations as to the communications to be made with the sewers.

Moreover, it is only a liquid which is to be received. They cannot be required to receive any solid refuse, and should steadfastly refuse to do so.

No mandamus will be granted to compel the performance of this duty, there being a sufficient and appropriate remedy under s. 10, post, p. 1484. As to the extent of this obligation, see the notes to the P. H. A., 1875, s. 15, ante, p. 52.

The giving of facilities will not exempt the persons to whom facilities are given from the provisions of s. 4, ante, p. 1478 (Butterworth v. West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board, ante, p. 1479). And see generally on this subject the notes to s. 15 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, pp. 50—55.

(n) These words, though not such as are usually to be found in a statute, appear to mean injurious to health. Having regard to the provisions of s. 16, post, p. 1488, the local authority cannot cut off a connection discharging trade effluent into their sewer even though the effluent prejudicially affects the disposal of the sewage matter conveyed by the sewer (Eastwood Brothers, Ltd. v. Honley U. D. C., [1900] 1 Ch. 781; 64 J. P. 792, judgment of BYRNE, J., affirmed on other grounds by the Court of Appeal, [1901] 1 Ch. 645. And see generally notes to s. 21 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, pp. 78—81). In an action for an injunction, it is a question of fact whether the effluent does prejudicially affect the disposal of the sewage (Att.-Gen. v. Whitmore, Times, May 2nd, 1901). See also Guthrie Craig, Peter & Co. v. Brechin Magistrates (1888), 15 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.), p. 385, where it was also decided that the words "application to land" were used in a general, not a special, sense, and that "sewers" meant the pipes alone, consequently the measure of the local authority's capacity is not their ability to dispose of the sewage but the capacity of the pipes to receive it. But the decision on the latter point has not been approved by the House of Lords—see Jonas Brook and Bros., Ltd. v. Meltham U. D. C., post, p. 1483.

In a Scotch case under this section, where the court found as a fact that the quality of the effluent which the manufacturer proposed to discharge into the sewers was such that although in itself capable of being applied to land in certain quantities and intermittently at certain seasons with beneficial result, it would, if applied as it issued from the sewers, after mixing with the other ordinary sewage, continuously and in the quantities which the manufacturers wanted the local authority to receive, "prejudicially affect," the disposal of the sewage "by application to land," it was held that the local authority were not bound to prove that it was scientifically impossible to treat the effluent in question so as to render it innocuous to land, or by a course of experiments to discover and apply some method of treatment which would effect that object, and that upon the facts as found by the court they were entitled to refuse to receive the discharge into their sewers (Cowie & Son v. Dufftown Commissioners (1901), 3 F. 257).

The plaintiffs, a sanitary authority, alleged that the defendants, who carried on the business of borax manufacturers, established in 1836, were discharging into the sewers chemical refuse which passed through the sewers and on to the plaintiffs' sewage farm, causing, as the plaintiffs alleged, a nuisance, and rendering a part of the farm sterile. Damage first became manifest in 1908. The defendants denied that they had injuriously affected the farm, and alleged that the chemical solution formed part of the trade effluent from their borax works. Further, that they had acquired a right by prescription by discharging by themselves or their predecessors in the business without interruption for twenty Provided also, that no sanitary authority shall be required to give such facilities as aforesaid where the sewers (o) of such authority are only sufficient for the requirements of their district (p), nor where such facilities would interfere with any order of any court of competent jurisdiction respecting the sewage of such authority.

Power of sanitary authority to enforce Act.

8. Every sanitary authority (r) shall, subject to the restrictions in this Act contained (s), have power to enforce the provisions of this Act in relation to any stream (r) being within or passing through or by any part of their district, and for that purpose to institute proceedings in respect of any offence against this Act which causes interference with the due flow within their district of any such stream, or the pollution within their district of any such stream, against any other sanitary authority or person, whether such offence is committed within or without the district of the first-named sanitary authority (t).

Any expenses incurred by a sanitary authority in the execution of this Act shall be payable as if they were expenses properly incurred by that authority in the execution of the Public Health Act, 1875 (u). 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

Proceedings may also, subject to the restrictions in this Act contained (x), for forty years sewage effluent of the same nature as that discharged at the commencement of the action in May, 1917. The waste liquor was discharged from the defendants' tanks through a syphon temporarily employed, and the drain at present in use for the discharge was first used about three years before action. It was held, that if the plaintiffs had power to confer a right of the nature claimed the enjoyment which had been exercised by the defendants had been secret, intermittent, and unknown to the plaintiffs. It was not productive of actionable damage until the year 1908, and was not capable of interruption by them. Therefore the defendants claim to do the acts complained of by prescription failed. The evidence on the facts that damage had been caused to the crops by the defendants' noxious effluent being supported by the scientific witnesses, the plaintiffs were entitled to an injunction against the defendants and an inquiry as to damages (Liverpool Corporation v. Coghill & Son, Ltd., [1918] 1 Ch. 307 ; 82 J. P. 129).

It may be well to refer to the case of St. Helen's Chemical Co. v. St. Helen's Corporation (1876), 1 Ex. D. 196 ; 40 J. P. 471. There the refuse of chemical works, harmless in itself, passed through drains into the common sewer and generated therein noxious gases. The owners of the works were held liable for the nuisance thereby caused.

(o) The word "sewers" means the sewage system of the district and not merely the pipes into which the sewage is received, and where sewage is passed by sewers into bacterial purification works, and such works are only sufficient for the requirements of the district, the sanitary authority cannot be required to afford a manufacturer facilities under the section (Jonas Brook and Bros., Ltd. v. Meltham U. D. C., [1909] A. C. 438 ; 73 J. P. 353).

(p) These words prevent a manufacturer from coming into a small district, and establishing there a large new factory, and then throwing upon the rates the burden of getting rid of the trade effluent which he creates. See per Lord Halsbury, L.C., in Pasmore v. Oswaldtwistle U. D. C., [1898] A. C., on p. 396, and see further, Jonas Brook and Bros., Ltd. v. Meltham U. D. C., supra.

(r) See the definition in s. 20, post, p. 1490, and the restriction as to the authority in the next section.

(s) See s. 13, post, p. 1487. See the L. G. A., 1888, s. 14, ante, p. 749, under which the county councils and joint committees constituted by Provisional Order under that section have also power to enforce the provisions of this Act. And see also 61 & 62 Vict. c. 34, s. 1, post, p. 1804, as regards Border councils.

(t) There may be an obstruction or pollution out of the district which will produce mischief within the district, and there may be the same within the district which may produce mischief without the district. In both of these cases the sanitary authority of the district in which the mischief is produced, subject to the proviso in s. 6, which prevents contemporaneous action by separate authorities, may take proceedings.

(u) See the P. H. A., 1875, Part VI., ante, p. 469. As regards urban authorities these expenses will be chargeable on the general district rate ; as regards rural sanitary authorities they will be chargeable as general expenses.

(x) See s. 6, ante, p. 1480, which restricts proceedings with reference to offences under Part III. to sanitary authorities, and see the other restrictions contained in s. 13, post, p. 1487. It does not appear that the consent of the M. of H. is required to the proceedings to be taken by any person aggrieved.

be instituted in respect of any offence against this Act by any person aggrieved (y) by the commission of such offence.

Power of Lee Conservancy Board to enforce Act. 31 & 32 Vict. c. cliv.

9. The Conservancy Board constituted under the Lee Conservancy Act, 1868, shall within the area of their jurisdiction, have, to the exclusion of any other authority, the powers for enforcing the provisions of this Act which sanitary authorities have under this Act.

The said Conservancy Board may also enforce the provisions of the Lee Conservancy Act, 1868, under the head or division "Protection of Water," by application to the county court having jurisdiction in the place in which any offence is committed against those provisions, and such court may by summary order require any person to abstain from the commission of any such offence, and the provisions of this Act with respect to summary orders of county courts and appeal therefrom shall apply accordingly.

LEGAL PROCEEDINGS. SAVING CLAUSES. DEFINITIONS.

(1) Legal Proceedings.

Offences to be restrained by summary order of county court.

10. The county court having jurisdiction in the place (z) where any offence against this Act is committed may by summary order (a) require any person to abstain from the commission of such offence, and where such offence

(y) Who will be a person aggrieved? In s. 6, there is a provision for a person interested. Persons living near a steam-engine, and affected by the smoke, were held to be persons aggrieved within the meaning of 5 & 6 Will. 3, c. 11, s. 3 (R. v. Dewsnap (1812), 16 East, 194); so also a person annoyed by offensive smells and vapours (R. v. Williams (1845), 6 Q. B. 273; 15 L. J. Q. B. 98 n).

It seems that these proceedings may be taken in addition to those taken by the sanitary authority because the person aggrieved may require some special provision for his benefit. At the same time such person is not prevented from resorting to the remedies which the law otherwise provides. See s. 16, post, p. 1488.

(z) It may become necessary in some cases to determine this place where there are separate jurisdictions. Thus, the act of putting something in the stream may cause the obstruction in a different district, and in a different jurisdiction. All the liquid cast into the stream may be innocuous until it reaches a spot in a different jurisdiction. It seems, however, that reference must be made to the place where the act was done. See, upon this point, R. v. Cotton (1858), 1 El. & El. 203; Brown v. Bussell; Francombe v. Freeman (1868), L. R. 3 Q. B. 251; 32 J. P. 196.

(a) Although these words point to an injunction only, it appears from the rest of the clause that the order may be something more. The order is in the nature of an injunction, and is in the discretion of the court (Kirkheaton District L. B. v. Ainley & Co., ante, p. 1475). And see Butterworth v. West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board, ante, p. 1479. The order is equivalent to a judgment for the purposes of estoppel, and the defendants against whom it is made cannot in further proceedings for the enforcement of the order dispute the commission of the offence, or contend that the order, so far as it applies to the locus in quo, was made without jurisdiction (River Ribble Joint Committee v. Croston U. D. C., [1897] 1 Q. B. 251).

The county court is not justified in the exercise of its judicial discretion under this section in refusing to make an order restraining the discharge of sewage into a stream in contravention of s. 3, where the discharge would appreciably pollute the stream were it otherwise pure, merely because the pollution of the stream from other sources prevents the pollution due to the particular discharge from being appreciable (Staffordshire C. C. v. Seisdon R. D. C. (1907), 71 J. P. 185; 96 L. T. 328. See also Hainesworth v. West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board (1902), 5 L. G. R. 356 n).

A summary order was made in the county court under this section requiring the offender to abstain from the commission of an offence against this Act. On an application for penalties for making default in complying with a requirement of the order, it was held that two months' written notice, under s. 13, post, of the intention to take proceedings need not be given to the offender (West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board v. Heckmondwike U. D. C. (1914), 78 J. P. 190).

As to costs, see County Court Rules, Order LIII., rr. 8, 45; and Bates v. Gordon Hotels Ltd., [1913] 1 K. B. 631.

consists in default to perform a duty under this Act (b) may require him to perform such duty in manner in the said order specified; the court may insert in any order such conditions as to time or mode of action as it may think just, and may suspend or rescind any order on such undertaking being given or condition being performed as it may think just, and generally may give such directions for carrying into effect any order as to the court seems meet. Previous to granting such order the court may if it think fit, remit to skilled parties (c) to report on the "best practicable and available means" and the nature and cost of the works and apparatus required, who shall in all cases take into consideration the reasonableness of the expense involved in their report (d).

Any person making default in complying with any requirement of an order of a county court made in pursuance of this section (e) shall pay to the person complaining, or such other person as the court may direct, such sum, not exceeding fifty pounds a day for every day during which he is in default, as the court may order; and such penalty shall be enforced in the same manner as any debt adjudged to be due by the court; moreover, if any person so in default persists in disobeying any requirement of any such order for a period of not less than a month (f) or such other period less than a month as may be prescribed by such order, the court may in addition to any penalty it may impose appoint any person or persons to carry into effect such order; and all expenses incurred by any such person or persons to such amount as may be allowed by the county court shall be deemed to be a debt due from the person in default to the person or persons executing such order, and may be recovered accordingly in the county court (g).

Appeal from county court and removal of case into High Court.

11. If either party in any proceedings before the county court under this Act feels aggrieved by the decision of the court in point of law or on

(b) No part of this Act assigns any duty to be performed unless the provision in s. 7, ante, p. 1482, can be brought within the terms. But the provision of the section contemplates that the judge of the county court will not always absolutely prohibit the act complained of, but may, in some cases, make an order prescribing that the works may be carried on in such manner as will prevent the recurrence of the evil. He may give a limited time during which the defendant may provide for the removal of his works, or adopt such means as will, according to the judgment of the court, remove the nuisance.

(c) I.e., to special referees, such as chemists, engineers, or other scientific persons. This remission is optional with the court, and as the section makes no provision for the costs of this report, which will be usually for the benefit of the defendant, the court, before the matter is remitted, may probably require the defendant to undertake to pay those expenses.

(d) The precise meaning of these words is, perhaps, not altogether obvious, but it appears to be intended that the referees shall report that the expenses will be such that the defendant might reasonably be called upon to incur them, or that they would be such that it would be unreasonable that he should be required to undertake them. Indeed, the expenses might in some cases render it impossible for the manufacturer to continue his business.

It must be noticed that the word "reasonably" introduced in s. 4 before "available," and in s. 5 before "practicable," is omitted here, but doubtless the referees will be guided by a consideration of what is reasonable in regard to the works.

(e) This will occur where the judge of the county court either makes an order directing an absolute abstention from the continuance of the offence, or makes an order specifying certain works to be executed.

This part of this section sets out the means of prohibiting the offences which have been described in the former Parts of the Act. The penalty is incurred when an order of the court is disobeyed.

(f) This means calendar month. See the Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 3.

(g) This amount will in many cases far exceed the amount imposed as the limit of the jurisdiction of the county court; nevertheless the action may be brought therein. See R. v. Harden (1854), 2 El. & Bl. 189; 22 L. J. Q. B. 299; Hertford Union Guardians v. Kimpton (1855), 11 Ex. 295; 25 L. J. M. C. 41.

the merits (h), or in respect of the admission or rejection of any evidence, he may appeal from that decision to the High Court of Justice.

The appeal shall be in the form of a special case to be agreed upon by both parties or their attorneys (i), and, if they cannot agree, to be settled by the judge of the county court upon the application of the parties or their attorneys.

The court of appeal may draw any inferences from the facts stated in the case that a jury might draw from facts stated by witnesses.

Subject to the provisions of this section, all the enactments rules and orders relating to proceedings in actions in county courts (k), and to enforcing judgments in county courts and appeals from decisions of the county court judges, and to the conditions of such appeals, and to the power of the superior courts on such appeals, shall apply to all proceedings under this Act, and to an appeal from such action, in the same manner as if such action and appeal related to a matter within the ordinary jurisdiction of the court.

Any plaint (l) entered in a county court under this Act may be removed into the High Court of Justice by leave of any judge of the said High Court (m), if it appears to such judge desirable in the interests of justice (n) that such case should be tried in the first instance in the High Court of Justice and not in a county court, and on such terms as to security for and payment of costs, and such other terms (if any) as such judge may think fit.

Certificate of inspector of [Minister of Health] as to best practicable means.

12. A certificate granted by an inspector of proper qualifications (o) appointed for the purposes of this Act by the Local Government Board to the effect that the means used for rendering harmless any sewage matter or poisonous, noxious, or polluting solid or liquid matter falling or flowing or carried into any stream, are the best or only practicable and available means under the circumstances of the particular case, shall in all courts

(h) These words appear to apply to the facts of the case as shown by the evidence, and probably also to the requirement made by the judge of the county court. It may be contended before the High Court that the facts proved did not justify the finding of the judge, or if he shall have made an order requiring anything to be done, that such order would not be resonable or practicable.

Again, the complaining party may urge that their complaint has been improperly dismissed.

(i) This alternative appears to be given, because in the county court the parties may appear in person, and the provision is copied from 26 & 27 Vict. c. 74, s. 14, but it is not likely that the parties will often appear in these proceedings in person. Indeed, the sanitary authorities cannot do so.

The appeal is, by s. 124 of the County Courts Act, 1888, brought within the operation of s. 120 of that Act, and is properly brought by way of motion (Kirkheaton District L. B. v. Ainley & Co., ante, p. 1475).

(k) A proceeding under s. 10 for a summary order is civil, not criminal, and therefore discovery and interrogatories may be allowed (Derby Corporation v. Derbyshire C. C., [1897] A. C. 550; 62 J. P. 4).

(l) This word explains how the proceedings are to be taken in the county court.

(m) Apparently one of the parties only make the application to the judge, though the other party must be summoned to appear at the hearing.

(n) These are rather indefinite words. They seem to imply that by reason of prejudice or undue interest in the court, either on the part of the judge or the jury, the case cannot be fairly tried in the county court. But it is presumed that the judge would also be moved by the gravity of the question at issue, or its difficulty.

The section does not proceed to declare what can be done by the High Court, but doubtless it will be the same as can be done by the county court.

In West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board v. Ravensthorpe U. D. C. (1907), 71 J. P. 209, an application for transfer was refused on the ground of expense and because a local investigation would be precluded by acceding to it.

(o) The Minister of Health has now superseded the L. G. B. The inspector must be specially appointed by him, and it is believed that few such certificates have been granted.

This certificate would be available under ss. 3—5.

nd in all proceedings under this Act be conclusive evidence of the fact (p) ; uch certificate shall continue in force for a period to be named therein, ot exceeding two years, and at the expiration of that period may be renewed or the like or any less period (q).

All expenses incurred in or about obtaining a certificate under this section hall be paid by the applicant for the same.

Any person aggrieved by the grant or the withholding of a certificate nder this section may appeal (r) to the Local Government Board against he decision of the inspector ; and the Board (s) may either confirm, reverse, r modify his decision, and may make such order as to the party or parties y whom the costs of the appeal are to be borne as to the said Board may ppear just.

Restriction on proceedings for offences.

13. Proceedings shall not be taken under this Act against any person for ny offence against the provisions of Parts II. and III. of this Act until the xpiration of twelve months after the passing of this Act (t) ; nor shall proceedings in any case be taken under this Act for any offence against this Act until the expiration of two months after written notice (u) of the intention o take such proceedings has been given to the offender, nor shall proceedngs under this Act be taken for any offence against this Act while other proceedings in relation to such offence are pending (y).

Orders as to costs of inquiries.

14. The Local Government Board may make orders as to the costs incurred by them in relation to inquiries instituted by them under this Act, and as o the parties by whom such costs shall be borne (z) ; and every such order nd every order for the payment of costs made by the said Board under ection twelve of this Act may be made a rule of her Majesty's High Court f Justice.

(p) It must be carefully noted that the certificate will only have this effect in proeedings under this Act, though it is to be available to some extent in other proceedings. See s. 16, post, p. 1488.

(q) It does not appear that it can be revoked or recalled before the expiration of the period.

(r) The Minister of Health has now superseded the L. G. B. This appeal should be made n writing upon folio foolscap paper addressed to the Minister or Secretary of the Ministry. No special form has been prescribed.

If the local authority appeal, the same may be made under their common seal or under he hand of their clerk.

No time is prescribed for the appeal, but it should be made promptly after the decision.

(s) No precise rule of action is prescribed, and the Minister will follow his usual practice f receiving the appeal in writing, communicating it to the other party, and having received n answer, and also communicated with the inspector, will give his decision. There is no eed of an order for this decision, though there must be one for the costs if awarded. It is resumed that the costs here referred to are those of the parties. As to the recovery of such osts, see s. 14, infra.

(t) This paragraph being temporary in its application was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1883.

(u) In the case of proceedings under Part III. of this Act this notice cannot be given ntil the consent of the M. of H. under s. 6, ante, p. 1480, has first been obtained. See West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board v. Robinson, ante, p. 1481. Care must be taken o secure the proper service of this notice, as the statute does not supply any statement f what shall be sufficient service. In general the notice should be signed by the clerk f the sanitary authority proposing to proceed where such authority proceeds. In the ase of a proceeding by a person aggrieved the notice will be sufficient if given by his solicitor or agent.

(y) See West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board v. Heckmondwike U. D. C. (1914), 78 J. P. 190. This prohibition is in addition to that in s. 6, ante, p. 1480, which refers to proceedings under this Act, and the object of this enactment is to prevent the party rom being oppressed by a variety of proceedings. But quære, what proceedings are referred to ?

(z) The Minister of Health has now superseded the L. G. B. See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 294, ante, p. 627. It will be observed that this part of the section is confined to the costs incurred by the Minister.

Power of inspectors of Local Government Board.

15. Inspectors of the Local Government Board shall, for the purpose of any inquiry directed by the Board under this Act, have in relation to witnesses and their examination, the production of papers and accounts, and the inspection of places and matters required to be inspected, similar powers to those which the inspectors of the said Board have under the Public Health Act, 1875, for the purposes of that Act (a).

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

(2) Saving Clauses.

Powers of Act cumulative.

16. The powers given by this Act shall not be deemed to prejudice or affect any other rights or powers now existing or vested in any person or persons by Act of Parliament, law, or custom, and such other rights or powers may be exercised in the same manner as if this Act had not passed (b); and nothing in this Act shall legalise any act or default which would but for this Act be deemed to be a nuisance or otherwise contrary to law: Provided nevertheless, that in any proceedings for enforcing against any person such rights or powers the court before which such proceedings are pending shall take into consideration any certificate granted to such person under this Act (c).

Saving of rights of impounding and diverting water.

17. This Act shall not apply to or affect the lawful exercise of any rights of impounding or diverting water (d).

Saving of certain Conservancy Acts.

18. Nothing in or done under this Act shall extend to interfere with, take away, abridge, or prejudicially affect any right, power, authority, jurisdiction, or privilege given by the Thames Conservancy Acts, 1857 and 1864, or by the Thames Navigation Act, 1866 (e), or by the Lee Conservancy

(a) The Minister of Health has now superseded the L. G. B. See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 296, ante, p. 629. The powers are such as were given to poor law inspectors under 10 & 11 Vict. c. 109, ss. 20, 21.

(b) Hence persons specially aggrieved by any acts which would of themselves constitute the offences herein described may pursue the remedies which the law provides for them, as by injunction or indictment. In many cases also such offences are the subject of specific provisions in local Acts. The Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, ss. 61—67, ante, pp. 1248—1250, relating to waterworks, incorporated with the P. H. A., 1875, by s. 57, ante, p. 131, also contains provisions prohibitory of some of them, and the customs of certain ancient courts and of the Commissioners of Sewers also apply to them. All these provisions are preserved. See also the provisions of the P. H. A., 1875, s. 69, which enables local authorities to take proceedings to prevent the pollution of streams, and s. 117 which enables them to bring actions in respect of nuisances.

Whether the pursuit of these remedies will prevent the adoption of the remedies given by this Act will depend upon the construction of the last proviso in s. 13, ante, p. 1487.

This section only saves rights to prevent pollution and not rights to pollute as against other riparian owners (Midlothian C. C. v. Oakbank Oil Co. (1904), 6 F. 388).

(c) See s. 12, ante, p. 1486. Although this certificate is to be thus considered, the court are not bound to give any particular weight to it. Probably without this enactment it could have been brought under the notice of the court by affidavit or otherwise. However, it cannot now be rejected as irrelevant.

(d) This is an important section, and prevents the operation of the prohibitory clauses of the Act to the extent which the generality of the language would have effected. If the general terms of those sections were considered it might have been found that rights relating to water would be improperly and unnecessarily interfered with.

Thus, a miller or other person may throw rubbish or waste into a stream to divert the course where he has a right to such diversion, or where he desires to impound the water, and if the act be done with any such object this section appears to exempt him from the provisions of the Act. The right to impound implies the right to return the water after impounding, although it may have become putrid by the impounding (River Ribble Committee v. Halliwell, [1899] 2 Q. B. 385; 63 J. P. 708).

It is, however, to be carefully noticed that it is only where there is the right described that this exception takes effect; and further, that no excessive deposit nor any negligence or unnecessary action in this respect will be excused.

(e) The Thames Conservancy Acts, 1857 and 1864; and the Thames Navigation Act, 1866, are now wholly repealed and replaced by the Thames Conservancy Act, 1894.

Act, 1868 (f), or any Act or Acts extending or amending the said Acts or either of them, or affect any outfall or other works of the Metropolitan Board of Works (although beyond the metropolis) executed under the Metropolis Management Act, 1855 (g), and the Acts amending or extending the same, or take away abridge or prejudicially affect any right power authority jurisdiction or privilege of the Metropolitan Board of Works. 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120.

Saving of works of certain local authorities.

19. Where any local authority or any urban or rural sanitary authority has been empowered or required by any Act of Parliament to carry any sewage into the sea or any tidal waters, nothing done by such authority in pursuance of such enactment, shall be deemed to be an offence against this Act (h).

(3) Definitions.

Definitions.

20. In this Act, if not inconsistent with the context, the following terms have the meanings hereinafter respectively assigned to them; that is to say,

"Person" includes (i) any body of persons, whether corporate or unincorporate (k):

"Stream" includes (l) the sea to such extent, and tidal waters to such point, as may, after local inquiry and on sanitary grounds (m), be determined by the Local Government Board, by order published in the London Gazette. Save as aforesaid, it includes rivers streams canals lakes and watercourses, other than watercourses at the passing of this Act mainly used as sewers (n), and emptying directly into the (f) 31 & 32 Vict. c. cliv.: see now also 37 & 38 Vict. c. xcvi., 49 & 50 Vict. c. cix., 55 & 56 Vict. c. cli., and 63 & 64 Vict. c. cxvii.

(g) See 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120. The powers and duties of the Metropolitan Board of Works were transferred to the London C. C. by 51 & 52 Vict. c. 41, s. 40.

(h) It is presumed that the Act referred to has made due provision for the prevention of the pollutions herein dealt with; but, independently of this section, this Act would not have applied to these, unless the L. G. B. or their successor the Minister of Health acted under the next section, which would hardly have occurred against a statutory licence. And see Somersetshire Drainage Commissioners v. Bridgwater Corporation (1898), 81 L. T. 729.

(i) This word has an extending meaning, and does not exclude the other significations of the term defined (R. v. Kershaw (1856), 6 El. & Bl. 1007; Doe v. Benham (1845), 7 Q. B. 979).

(k) Hence partnerships and associations are included.

(l) This is not so much a definition as an enactment that the Minister of Health shall determine how much of the sea and of tidal waters shall be brought within the operation of this Act. See also next note.

Tidal waters appear to signify those parts of rivers in which the tide ebbs and flows, as estuaries are covered by the term sea. It would seem that the expression tidal waters is not confined to those waters where there is a horizontal ebb and flow only, but may include waters in which there is only a vertical rise (West Riding of Yorkshire Rivers Board v. Tadcaster U. D. C. (1907), 71 J. P. 429; 97 L. T. 436). Cf. Reece v. Miller (1882), 8 Q. B. D. 626; 47 J. P. 37. As to depositing solid matter in harbours, etc., see United Alkali Co., Ltd. v. Simpson, ante, p. 1480.

As to the rights of riparian owners in tidal rivers, see Lyon v. Fishmongers' Co. (1876), 1 App. Cas. 662.

Water percolating through the ground in no defined or visible channel is not a stream (McNab v. Robertson, [1897] A. C. 129; 61 J. P. 468).

(m) By these words it is probably intended that the Minister of Health is not to have any consideration of the Customs, Admiralty, or other regulations, except so far as they coincide with the sanitary necessities of the districts. The following are instances of orders made by the L. G. B. under the section dealing with tidal portions of rivers, viz.: in 1902, Willington Gut, Willington Burn, and Wallsend Burn; in 1897, parts of the rivers Avon and Stour (Hants); in 1890, part of the Medway.

It will be well to refer to the provisions respecting port sanitary districts in the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 622.

sea or tidal waters which have not been (o) determined to be streams within the meaning of this Act by such order as aforesaid :

"Solid matter" shall not include particles of matter in suspension in water (p) :

"Polluting" shall not include innocuous discoloration :

"Sanitary authority" means—

18 & 19 Vict. c. 120. 18 & 19 Vict. c. 121.

In the metropolis as defined by the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, any local authority acting in the execution of the Nuisances Removal for England Act, 1855, and the Acts amending the same (q) :

THE LIMITED OWNERS RESERVOIRS AND WATER SUPPLY FURTHER FACILITIES ACT, 1877.

(40 & 41 VICT. c. 31) (s).

An Act to give further facilities to Landowners of limited interests in England and Wales and Ireland to charge their estates with the expenses of constructing Reservoirs for the Storage of water, and other similar purposes.

[2nd August 1877.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Limited Owners Reservoirs and Water Supply Further Facilities Act, 1877.

Extent.

2. This Act shall not extend to Scotland (t).

Construction. 27 & 28 Vict. c. 114.

3. This Act shall be incorporated with the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, and the two Acts shall be read together as one Act.

Certain provisions of 26 & 27 Vict. c. 93, incorporated.

27 & 28 Vict. c. 114.

4. The provisions of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1863, with respect to the security of the reservoirs constructed by the undertakers (u) are incorporated with this Act ; and in that Act, as incorporated with this Act, the expression "the special Act" shall mean and include the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, and this Act ; and the expression "the undertakers"

(o) Or rather "which shall not be."

(p) It is believed that these words have a technical meaning in chemistry. However, disintegrated matters which do not sink, but float in water, such as the fibres of the pulp of paper, appear to fall within this definition. But if they coagulate in water and cease to be particles, they will lose the exemption. And see River Ribble Committee v. Halliwell, ante, p. 1474.

(q) These Acts are all repealed and re-enacted by the P. H. (London) A., 1891.

(r) See the P. H. A. 1875, ss. 5, 6, 9, ante, pp. 37, 40. Parts V. and VI. of this Act, relating only to the application of the Act to Scotland and Ireland, are here omitted.

(s) The preamble to this Act has been repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. See also s. 4 of that Act as to the omission of the clause of enactment. The effect of this Act and its bearing upon the subject of public health have already been stated in the notes to s. 51 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 121. It has been thought advisable to set out here the full text of the Act. See also 60 & 61 Vict. c. 44, post, p. 1793.

shall mean any person who constructs or erects any reservoir or dam under the authority of either of the last-mentioned Acts.

What to be deemed improvements within 27 & 28 Vict. c. 114.

5. The construction or erection of reservoirs or other works of a permanent character for the supply of water to persons residing or engaged in labour on the lands on which such works are situate, or on any other lands settled to the same uses, or for the more convenient or profitable user of such lands, or for the supply of water to any sanitary or other local authority or water company, or to any manufacturer or other person, or for any one or more of such purposes, shall be deemed to be an improvement of land within the meaning of the ninth section of the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, and shall be sanctioned by the Commissioners (x), if it can be shown to their satisfaction that such reservoirs or works for the supply of water will for any purpose effect a permanent yearly increase in the value of the lands on which they are situate, or any other lands settled to the same uses, or will be permanently productive of a yearly revenue to the owner of such lands exceeding the yearly amount proposed to be charged thereon (y); and the construction of any such works shall be deemed to include the purchase by the landowner of any water right or other easement which might otherwise interfere with or prevent the construction of the same or any such supply of water as aforesaid. 27 & 28 Vict. c. 114.

In calculating whether the improvement is likely to effect a permanent increase of the yearly value of the land, or be productive of a yearly revenue to the landowner exceeding the yearly amount proposed to be charged thereon, it shall be lawful for the Commissioners (x) to take into account the value of any contract, the terms of which have been agreed upon between the landowner and any sanitary or other local authority, or water company, or manufacturer or other persons, for the purpose of supplying such authority company person or persons with water, as well as the effect on such value or revenue of any sum expended by the landowner in the construction of the works over and above the sum proposed to be charged upon the land.

When the improvement will afford a supply of water to persons residing or engaged in labour on the lands on which the proposed works will be situate, or on any other lands settled to the same uses, the Commissioners (x) may, if they think fit, sanction the improvement, although it may not be shown that the same will effect a direct yearly increase in the value of the lands, or be productive of a yearly revenue to the owner of the lands exceeding the yearly amount proposed to be charged thereon (z).

Supply of water to local authority, etc.

6. Any landowner charging or proposing to charge (y) his estate with the cost of the construction of reservoirs or other works for the supply of water under this Act may enter into any agreement for the supply of water to any sanitary or other local authority, water company, manufacturer, or other person, for any term not exceeding the number of years during which the cost of the improvement, or any part of it, is made a charge upon the estate: Provided that every such agreement be approved by the Commissioners (x), and that no premium or benefit in the nature of a premium be reserved thereby by the landowner.

Power to contract for execution of reservoir, etc.

7. Any company now authorised to contract with landowners in England or Wales . . . (a) for the execution of any works for the improvement of land, or to make advances for the purpose of executing or assisting in the execution of such works, may, with the approval of the Commissioners (x), contract with any such landowner for the execution of any reservoirs or works of water supply, the cost of which may by this Act be charged upon the estates of such landowner, and may, with the like approval, make advances for the purpose of executing or assisting in the execution of such reservoirs or works; and for this purpose the execution of any such reservoirs or works shall be deemed to be an improvement of land within the meaning of any Act of Parliament or articles of association relating to any such company.

Subscriptions to waterworks.

8. Any landowner desiring to charge (b) his estates with subscriptions for the construction of waterworks by a water company (c) may charge his estates with such moneys on the same terms and conditions as he may under the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, charge his estates with moneys subscribed for the construction of railways or navigable canals; and for this purpose the provisions contained in sections seventy-eight to eighty-nine, both inclusive, of the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, shall apply, mutatis mutandis, to such subscriptions, as if the same had been subscribed for the construction of a railway or navigable canal.

27 & 28 Vict. c. 114.

Protection of rights.

9. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to authorise any landowner, or any water company, local authority, person or persons authorised by any landowner, to injuriously affect any reservoir canal river stream or navigation, or the feeders thereof, or the supply quality or fall of water contained in any reservoir canal river stream or navigation, or in the feeders thereof, or any other water rights or easements in cases where any body of persons or person would, if this Act had not passed, have been entitled by law to prevent or be relieved against the injuriously affecting such reservoir canal river stream navigation feeders, or such supply quality or fall of water, or other water rights or easements, unless the landowner, water company, local authority, person, or persons first obtain the consent in writing of the body of persons or person so entitled as aforesaid (d).

Definitions

10. In this Act the following words and expressions shall have the following meanings; that is to say,

"The Commissioners" means the Inclosure Commissioners of England and Wales . . . (e):

"Works for the supply of water" includes wells, pumps, reservoirs, cisterns, ponds, tanks, aqueducts, cuts, sluices, mains, pipes, culverts, machinery, and things for supplying or used in supplying water:

"Water company" means any person or body of persons, corporate or unincorporate supplying or who may hereafter supply water for his or their own profit:

"Local authority" means any authority having jurisdiction for any public local purpose:

The several words and expressions to which by the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, meanings are assigned, shall in this Act have the same respective meanings as in that Act.

(b) See note (y), ante, p. 1491.

(c) As to charging the estate with contributions towards expenses incurred by any district council in supplying water, see the District Councils (Water Supply Facilities) Act, 1897, post, p. 1793.

(d) Compare the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, s. 46.

(e) Words relating to Ireland only are here omitted. The Inclosure Commissioners became, under the Settled Land Act, 1882, s. 48, the Land Commissioners for England, and the powers and duties of the Land Commissioners for England under this Act were together with their other powers and duties transferred to the Board of Agriculture by the Board of Agriculture Act, 1889, s. 2, and now to the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 91.

THE CANAL BOATS ACT, 1877.

(40 & 41 VICT. c. 60.) (f).

n Act to provide for the Registration and Regulation of Canal Boats used as Dwellings. [14th August 1877.]

Registration of canal boat as a dwelling.

1. After the expiration of twelve months after the commencement of this Act, if the regulations of the Local Government Board hereinafter mentioned have yt at that time come into fo ce, then after the expiration of six months from the ate at which they have come into force (g), a canal boat shall not be used as dwelling unless it has been registered in accordance with this Act.

The owner of a canal boat may register that boat with the registration uthority hereinafter mentioned (h) as a dwelling for such number of persons the specified age and sex as may be allowed under the provisions of this ct; and the boat shall be used as a dwelling only for the number of persons the age and sex for which it is registered.

If a canal boat is used as a dwelling in contravention of this Act, the ster of the boat, and also the owner of the boat, if he is in fault, shall each liable to a fine not exceeding twenty shillings for each occasion on which e boat is so used.

Local Government Board to make regulations.

2. The Local Government Board (hh) shall make regulations (i), and may m time to time revoke and vary such regulations—

(1) For the registration of canal boats under this Act, including certificates of registration, and the fees in connection with such registration; and

(2) For lettering, marking, and numbering of such boats; and

(3) For fixing the number age and sex of the persons who may be allowed to dwell in a canal boat, having regard to the cubic space, ventilation, provision for the separation of the sexes, general healthiness, and convenience of accommodation of the boat; and

(4) For promoting cleanliness in and providing for the habitable condition of canal boats; and

(5) For preventing the spread of infectious disease by canal boats (j).

The registration authority shall register every canal boat which conforms the conditions of registration provided by the said regulations for the nber of persons allowed by those regulations to dwell therein.

Certificate of registry and lettering and numbering of boats.

3. Upon the registry of a boat under this Act, the registration authority ll give to the owner thereof two certificates of registry, identifying the ner and the boat, and stating the place to which the boat is registered belonging, and the number age and sex of the persons allowed to dwell he boat, and such other particulars as may be provided by regulations der this Act, or may seem fit to the registration authority, and the master ll have the care of one of such certificates (k).

Every canal boat when registered shall be lettered marked and numbered

(g) The words in italics at the commencement of this section have been repealed by S. L. R. A., 1894.

(h) See s. 7, post, p. 1495. It will be observed that the owner has the choice of several horities with whom to register. For the definition of owner, see s. 14, post, p. 1497.

(hh) The powers of the L. G. B. were transferred to the Minister of Health by 9 & 10 . 5, c. 21, and orders made thereunder.

(i) Regulations have been made under this section, and will be found in App. II., . As to default in compliance with these regulations, see the Canal Boats Act, , s. 2, post, p. 1619.

(j) See s. 4, post, p. 1497.

(k) This certificate is made void by structural alterations in the boat. See the Canal ts Act, 1884, s. 1, post, p. 1619.

in some conspicuous manner (as directed by the regulations made under this Act), and such lettering marking and numbering shall include the word "registered" and the name of the place to which the boat is registered as belonging, and the registered number (l).

Any boat not lettered marked and numbered in conformity with this section, or having the letter mark or number altered defaced or obliterated, shall be deemed, for the purposes of this Act, to be an unregistered canal boat (m).

Power of sanitary authority for prevention of infectious disease in canal boats.

4. Where any sanitary authority within whose district a canal or any part of a canal is situate is informed by the master of a canal boat or otherwise that a person on a canal boat is suffering from an infectious disorder, the authority shall cause such steps to be taken as may by the certificate of their medical officer of health, or of any other legally qualified practitioner, appear requisite for preventing the said disorder from spreading, and for that purpose may exercise the power of removing a person suffering as aforesaid, and all other powers in relation to provisions against infection conferred by the Public Health Act, 1875 (n), and may also, if need be, detain the boat; but such boat shall not be detained a longer time than is necessary for cleansing and disinfecting the same.

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

Authorised person may enter boat, etc.

5. Where any person duly authorised by a registration or sanitary authority, or by a justice of the peace, has reasonable cause to suppose, either that there is any contravention of this Act on board a canal boat, or that there is on board a canal boat any person suffering from an infectious disorder, he may, on producing (if demanded) either a copy of his authorisation purporting to be certified by the clerk or a member of the sanitary authority or some other sufficient evidence of his being authorised as aforesaid, enter by day (o) such canal boat and examine the same and every part thereof in order to ascertain whether on board such boat there is any contravention of this Act, or a person suffering from an infectious disorder, and may, if need be, detain the boat for the purpose, but for no longer time than is necessary.

The master of the boat shall, if required by such person, produce to him the certificate of registry (if any) of the boat, and permit him to examine and copy the same, and shall furnish him with such assistance and means as such person may require for the purpose of his entry and examination of and departure from the boat in pursuance of this section.

A refusal to comply with the requisition of such person under this section shall be deemed to be an obstruction of such person.

If such person is obstructed in the performance of his duty under this Act in the case of any boat, the person so obstructing shall be liable to a fine not exceeding forty shillings.

Education of children. 33 & 34 Vict. c. 75. 36 & 37 Vict. c. 86. 39 & 40 Vict. c. 79.

6 (p). A child in a canal boat registered in pursuance of this Act, and his parent, shall for the purposes of the Elementary Education Acts, 1870, 1873, and 1876, be deemed, subject as hereinafter mentioned, to be resident in the place to which the boat is registered as belonging, and shall be subject accordingly to any byelaw in force under the said Acts, in that place.

Provided, that if the parent satisfies the school board or school attendance

(l) The name of the school district referred to in s. 7, post, need not be painted on the boat.

(m) The boat must be lettered on both sides or on the stern, so as to be visible from both sides of the canal. See the Canal Boats Act, 1884, s. 7, post, p. 1620.

11 & 12 Vict. c. 43, etc.

Definitions.

14. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires—

The expression "sanitary authority" means an urban sanitary authority, a rural sanitary authority, or port sanitary authority: Provided, that in the case of the parishes mentioned in Schedule A. and the districts mentioned in Schedule B. to the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, so far as they are not within the jurisdiction of a port sanitary authority, the vestry of any such parish and the district board of any such district elected under the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, and the Act amending the same, shall be deemed to be sanitary authorities, and where other sanitary authorities are by this Act empowered to exercise powers conferred by the Public Health Act, 1875, may exercise similar powers conferred by any Act of Parliament extending to such parishes or districts:

18 & 19 Vict. c. 120.

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

The expression "parent" includes guardian, and every person who is liable to maintain or has the actual custody of any child (xx):

The expression "urban sanitary authority" and "rural sanitary authority" and "port sanitary authority" have the same meaning as in the Public Health Act, 1875 (y):

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

(u) See s. 8, ante, p. 1495.

(x) Sic in the second edition of the Statutes Revised, but it ought to be "the Summary Jurisdiction (England) Acts," because in the original statute not only is the Act of 1848 referred to by its long title, but also "the Acts amending the same." See the Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 13 (7). Fines are to be paid to the registration or sanitary authority. See the Canal Boats Act, 1884, s. 8, post, p. 1620.

(xx) This definition is now repealed by s. 172 and Sched. VII., Education Act, 1902, and re-enacted by s. 170 (12) of that Act.

(y) Ante, pp. 37, 622.

The expression "canal" includes any river, inland navigation, lake, or water being within the body of a county, whether it is or not within the ebb and flow of the tide:

The expression "canal boat" means any vessel, however propelled, which is used for the conveyance of goods along a canal as above defined, and which is not a ship duly registered under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, and the Acts amending the same (z): 17 & 18 Vict. c. 104.

The expression "owner" includes a person who, though only the hirer of a canal boat, appoints the master and other persons working such boat.

The expression "master" in relation to a canal boat means the person having for the time being command or charge of the boat.

4. . . . Where upon any examination made in pursuance of section thirty-six of the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, with reference to a loan advanced by the Public Works Loan Commissioners for any purpose on the security of a rate, it appears to the Local Government Board that any sum, being the whole or part of the money raised by the loan, has not been applied for the said purpose, the Local Government Board may order that sum to be, within the time named in the order, applied either for the said purpose or towards the repayment to the Public Works Loan Commissioners of the principal of the loan, or partly in one of such ways and partly in the other, and further, if it appears to them that the sum, or any part thereof, has been applied for some purpose other than that for which it was advanced, may by the same or any other order direct a sum equal to the amount so misapplied to be raised within the time and out of the fund or rate named in the order and to be applied as directed by the above-mentioned order (q).

An order made by the Local Government Board in pursuance of this section may be enforced by writ of mandamus.

THE HIGHWAYS AND LOCOMOTIVES (AMENDMENT) ACT, 1878.

(41 & 42 Vict. c. 77) (t).

An Act to amend the Law relating to Highways in England and the Acts relating to Locomotives on Roads; and for other purposes. [16th August 1878.]

Preliminary.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878." Short title.

2. This Act shall not apply to Scotland or Ireland; and, save as is by this Act expressly provided, Part I. of this Act shall not apply . . . (u) to any part of the metropolis . . . (x). Extent.

(q) The unapplied balance may now be applied to any purpose to which moneys borrowed on the security of the rate are properly applicable. See the Public Works Loans Act, 1881, s. 9, post, p. 1528. The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Ministry of Health.

(s) Part II. related to Ireland only, and was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1883.

(t) The several statutes relating to highways are not included in this Work. This Act, however, contains the provisions as to main roads, which are referred to in the L. G. A., 1888, s. 11, ante, p. 736. See also the Locomotives on Highways Act, 1896, and the Locomotives Act, 1898, post, p. 1796. The preamble to this Act is repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. See also s. 4 of that Act as to the omission of the clause of enactment.

(x) The remainder of this section, which excluded highways in South Wales from its operation, was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1898, having been rendered obsolete by the L. G. A., 1888, s. 13, ante, p. 747.

PART I.

AMENDMENT OF HIGHWAY LAW.

Highway Districts (y).

* * * * * *

Power of county authority to enforce performance of duty by defaulting highway authority.

10. Where complaint is made to the county authority (z) that the highway authority of any highway area within their jurisdiction has made default in maintaining or repairing all or any of the highways within their jurisdiction, the county authority (z), if satisfied after due inquiry and report by their surveyor that the authority has been guilty of the alleged default, shall make an order limiting a time for the performance of the duty of the highway authority in the matter of such complaint (a).

If such duty is not performed by the time limited in the order, and the highway authority fail to show to the county authority (z) sufficient cause why the order has not been complied with, the county authority may appoint some person to perform such duty, and shall by order direct that the expenditure of performing the same, together with the reasonable remuneration of the person appointed for superintending such performance, shall be paid by the authority in default, and any order made for payment of such expenses and costs may be removed into the High Court of Justice, and be enforced in the same manner as if the same were an order of such court.

Any person appointed under this section to perform the duty of a defaulting highway authority shall, in the performance and for the purpose of such duty, be invested with all the powers of such authority other than the powers of making rates or levying contributions by precept, and the county authority (z) may from time to time, by order, change any person so appointed.

Where an order has been made by a county authority (z) for the repair of a highway on a highway authority alleged to be in default, if such authority, within ten days after service on them of the order of the county authority (z), give notice to the clerk of the peace that they decline to comply with the requisitions of such order until their liability to repair the highway in respect to which they are alleged to have made default has been determined by a jury, it shall be the duty of the county authority either to satisfy the defaulting authority by cancelling or modifying in such manner as the authority may desire the order of the county authority, or else to submit to a jury the question of the liability of the defaulting authority to repair the highway (b).

If the county authority (z) decide to submit the question to a jury they (y) Sections 3—9 inclusive of this Act (with the exception of part of s. 7, as to which see s. 29 (c) of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 942, and notes) have become inoperative by reason of the provisions of s. 25 of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 933, by which the rural district councils are made the highway authorities in their districts. It has not been thought worth while to set out here in full the provisions of s. 7, because the only material part of it is set out in full in the notes to s. 29 (c) of the L. G. A. 1894.

(z) The county authority are now the county council. See note (z), p. 1517, post. There is a similar provision in s. 16 of the L. G. Act, 1894 (ante, p. 920), which enables a parish council to prefer a complaint.

(a) This order may be made notwithstanding a bonâ fide dispute as to whether the road in question is a highway at all (R. v. Cheshire JJ. (1884), 48 J. P. 262; 50 L. T. 483). But the county authority are not bound to make the order if they are satisfied that the road is not a highway (Ex parte Johnson (1886), 50 J. P. 313). The procedure to compel the county council to make an order is by rule nisi for a mandamus (R. v. Dorset C. C. (1902), 67 J. P. 19). See also R. v. West Sussex C. C. (1921), 85 J. P. 162.

(b) If the county authority do not cancel or modify their order they are bound to order an indictment, though the fact that the road is a highway as well as the liability to repair is in dispute. See R. v. Cheshire JJ. (1884), 48 J. P. 262; 50 L. T. 483; and R. v. Bedfordshire C. C., Times, February 4th, 1895, where a rule for mandamus to the county authority to prefer an indictment was made absolute without opposition in a case where the county authority refused to cancel or modify their order after notice from the highway authority that they declined to comply with such order until their liability had been determined by a jury, whereupon the county council had resolved not to direct an indictment to be preferred.

shall direct a bill of indictment to be preferred to the next practicable assizes to be holden in and for their county, with a view to try the liability of the defaulting authority to repair the highway (c). Until the trial of the indictment is concluded the order of the county authority (d) shall be suspended. On the conclusion of the trial, if the jury find the defendants guilty, the order of the county authority (d) shall forthwith be deemed to come into force; but if the jury acquit the defendants the order of the county authority (d) shall forthwith become void.

The costs of the indictment, and of the proceedings consequent thereon, shall be paid by such parties to the proceedings as the court before whom the case is tried may direct. Any costs directed to be paid by the county authority (d) shall be deemed to be expenses properly incurred by such authority, and shall be paid accordingly out of the county rate; and any costs directed to be paid by the highway authority shall be deemed to be expenses properly incurred by such authority in maintenance of the roads within their jurisdiction, and shall be paid out of the funds applicable to the maintenance of such roads.

Main Roads (f).

Disturnpiked roads to become main roads.

13. For the purposes of this Act, and subject to its provisions, any road which has, within the period between the thirty-first day of December one thousand eight hundred and seventy (g) and the date of the passing of this Act, ceased to be a turnpike road (h), and any road which, being at the time

(c) Although a highway authority cannot be indicted at common law for non-repair of a highway (R. v. Poole Corporation (1887), 19 Q. B. D. 602; 52 J. P. 84), yet they may be indicted if proceedings are taken under this section (R. v. Wakefield Corporation (1888), 20 Q. B. D. 810; 52 J. P. 422). As to the form of the indictment, see R. v. Biggleswade R. D. C. (1900), 64 J. P. 422; R. v. Southport Corporation (1901), 65 J. P. 184. See also R. v. Crompton U. D. C. (1902), 66 J. P. 566; 86 L. T. 762.

(d) The county authority are now the county council. See note (z), p. 1517, post.

(f) See the provisions of the L. G. A., 1888, s. 11, ante, p. 736, as to main roads.

(g) A provision in the Turnpike Acts coming into operation before December 31st, 1870, that turnpike trustees should not spend money or levy toll upon certain portions of turnpike roads did not prevent such portions of the roads from being still turnpike roads on December 31st, 1870, within the meaning of s. 13 of the Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878. So held as to an agreement under the L. G. A., 1858, s. 41, made on December 31st, 1870, between turnpike trustees and a corporation, under which the turnpikes upon certain portions of turnpike roads were removed, and the repair of such portions was undertaken by the corporation (West Riding JJ. v. R. (1884), 8 App. Cas. 781; 48 J. P. 228).

(h) The corporation of the borough of Rochdale was the highway authority of the Rochdale highway area. Under ss. 47—50 of the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, the obligation to repair all public highways within a "town" was imposed upon the corporation, and the trustees of certain turnpike roads were forbidden to collect any toll or lay out any money on any road within that area. By a local Act of 1872 the boundaries of the borough were enlarged, and all the provisions of the Acts relating to the "town" were made applicable to the enlarged area of the borough. The effect was that further portions of turnpike roads were for the first time brought within the area of the borough, and within the operation of the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847:—Held, reversing the decision of the Court of Appeal, that these further portions being only parts of turnpike roads, had not "ceased to be turnpike roads" and were not to be deemed to be "main roads" within the above section (Lancashire JJ. v. Rochdale Corporation (1883), 8 App. Cas. 494; 48 J. P. 20). In 1855 a portion of a turnpike road was included in an improvement district under a local Act incorporating the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847. Thereupon, by virtue of ss. 47—51 of the latter Act the maintenance of this portion of the road became vested in the improvement com-of the passing of this Act a turnpike road, may afterwards cease to be such, shall be deemed to be a main road. . . . (i).

Description of highway areas.

14. The following areas shall be deemed to be highway areas for the purposes of this Act; (that is to say),

(1) Urban sanitary districts (k):

(2) Highway districts:

(3) Highway parishes not included within any highway district or any urban sanitary district (l).

Power to declare ordinary highway to be a main road.

15. Where it appears to any highway authority that any highway within their district ought to become a main road by reason of its being a medium of communication between great towns, or a thoroughfare to a railway station, or otherwise, such highway authority may apply to the county authority (m) for an order declaring such road, as to such parts as aforesaid, to be a main road; and the county authority (m), if of opinion that there is probable cause for the application, shall cause the road to be inspected, and, if satisfied that it ought to be a main road, shall make an order accordingly.

A copy of the order so made shall be forthwith deposited at the office of the clerk of the peace of the county, and shall be open to the inspection of persons interested at all reasonable hours; and the order so made shall not be of any validity unless and until it is confirmed by a further order of the county authority (m) made within a period of not more than six months after the making of the first-mentioned order.

Power to reduce main road to status of ordinary highway.

16. (n) . . . where it appears to a county authority (m) that any road within their county which has become a main road in pursuance of this Act ought to cease to be a main road and become an ordinary highway, such missioners, and the turnpike trustees ceased to have power to collect toll or lay out money upon it. In 1877 the turnpike trust expired. The commissioners were the highway authority for the district, and the district was a highway area within the meaning of the above section:—Held, that notwithstanding the operation of ss. 47—51 of the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, the road only ceased to be a turnpike road and became a main road within the above section upon the expiration of the turnpike trust (Lancashire JJ. v. Newton-in-Makerfield Improvement Commissioners (1887), 11 App. Cas. 416).

(k) The expression as defined by s. 38, post, p. 1517, did not include quarter sessions boroughs. But these boroughs are now included by virtue of the L. G. A., 1888, s. 35 (4), ante, p. 762, and s. 38 (3), ante, p. 764:

(l) Where the quarter sessions had for many years paid half the expenses of maintaining a road under the belief that it was a main road for which they were liable, and it was afterwards discovered that they were not liable by reason of the road being within a borough, it was held that an action would not lie in the name of the justices to recover the sums so paid to the highway authority (Kent JJ. v. Sandgate L. B. (1892), 7 T. L. R. 571).

(m) The county council are now the county authority. See note (z), p. 1517, post. In the case of a proposal to declare all the roads in a county to be main roads, the L. G. B. pointed out that the county authority are only empowered by the Act to make an order declaring a road to be a main road on the application of the highway authority under the circumstances specified in s. 15. In considering such application the county authority must have regard to the circumstances of each particular road to which the application relates. It appeared to the Board that it was doubtful whether an order dealing with all the roads in a county would be in accordance with the purpose of the Act. It should be noted, however, that the L. G. B. has since been superseded by the Ministry of Transport as the central department for highway purposes, also that there is a disposition by certain county councils to comply with applications under s. 15 somewhat freely.

(n) Parts of this section were repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894, and are here omitted. The remainder of the section is amended by s. 4 of the Highways and Bridges Act, 1891, post, p. 1754, whereby it is provided that s. 16 of the Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878, shall apply to any part of a main road in any county, and so much of that section as requires that any order made thereunder shall be provisional, and shall be confirmed as in the said Act mentioned, shall be repealed, but no such order shall be made in respect of any main road within a municipal borough without the assent of the council of the said borough having been first obtained.

authority may apply to the Local Government Board for a Provisional Order declaring that such road has ceased to be a main road and become an ordinary highway (o).

The Local Government Board, if of opinion that there is probable cause for an application under this section, shall cause the road to be inspected, and if satisfied that it . . . ought to cease to be a main road and become an ordinary highway shall make a Provisional Order accordingly to be confirmed as hereinafter mentioned.

All expenses incurred in or incidental to the making or confirmation of any Order under this section shall be defrayed by the county authority (p) applying for such Order.

17. [Turnpike road in several counties] (q).

Accounts of expenses of maintenance of main roads.

18. Every highway authority shall keep, in such form as may be directed by the county authority (r), a separate account of the expenses of the maintenance of the main roads within their jurisdiction, and shall forward copies thereof to the county authority (r) at such time or times in every year as may be required by the county authority (r), and the accounts so kept shall, where the accounts of the highway authority are audited under this Act or under section two hundred and forty-seven of the Public Health Act, 1875, be audited in the same manner as the other accounts of such authority, and where the accounts of the highway authority are not so audited shall be subject to such audit as the county authority (r) may direct. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

If any highway authority makes default in complying with the provisions of this section, or with any directions given in pursuance thereof by the county authority (r), the county authority may withhold all or any part of (o) The L. G. B. was superseded by the Ministry of Health, but the powers of the department relating to highways are now vested in the Ministry of Transport. See Ministry of Transport Act, 1919, and the Ministry of Transport (Ministry of Health) (Exception of Powers) Order, 1919. A road which ceased to be a turnpike within the period specified by the first paragraph of this section, and had become a main road, as no application for a Provisional Order was made before February 1st, 1879, is not excluded from the operation of this paragraph, and the Ministry of Transport has, therefore, jurisdiction to make an Order declaring such road an ordinary highway upon an application made subsequently to February 1st, 1879 (R. v. L. G. B. (1885), 15 Q. B. D. 70; 49 J. P. 580).

The L. G. B. required an application from a county council under this section to be supported by a copy of the resolution directing it, a statement of the grounds upon which it is made, and an ordnance map showing by colour the road to which the application relates.

If the road proposed to be dismained was a disturnpiked road, the Board required to be informed of the name of the turnpike trust in which it was comprised, and to be furnished with a reference to the local Act and with the precise description of the road in that Act. If, however, the road was constituted a main road by the county authority, a copy of the provisional and final orders declaring such main road were required to be forwarded.

The Board's practice was to direct a local inquiry to be held after public notice in addition to the inspection required by the section.

In response to a proposal of a county council that an order should be issued dismaining all the roads in a county, the Board stated that they were not prepared to entertain an application of such comprehensive scope. The Board pointed out that the section required that before taking action to reduce a main road to the status of an ordinary highway they must be satisfied that the road ought to cease to be a main road, and that they were of opinion that it was intended that in coming to a decision in such a case they should have regard to the special circumstances of the particular road proposed to be dismained. For the Board to decide that all the roads in a county should be dismained on the sole ground that the county council considered the system introduced by the L. G. A., 1888, as regards the maintenance, etc. of main roads to be open to objection, would, in their opinion, be in direct opposition to the evident intention of the Acts bearing on the question, even if it could be shown that all the highway authorities concerned concurred in the scheme.

(q) Section 17 is now repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1898, as obsolete since the extinction of all turnpike trusts.

the contribution payable by them under this Act towards the expenses of the maintenance of main roads by such highway authority for the year in which such default occurs.

Highway district situate in more than one county.

19. Where a highway district is situate in more than one county, the provisions of this Act, with respect to the expenses of the maintenance of main roads, shall apply as if the portion of such district situate in each county were a separate highway district in that county.

Repair of main roads in certain cases.

20. Notwithstanding the provisions of this Act, in the case of any county in which certain of the bridges within the county are repairable by the county at large, and others are repairable by the several hundreds within the county in which they are situate, it shall be lawful for the county authority (s) from time to time, by order, to declare any main road or part of a main road within their district to be repairable to the extent only and in manner provided by section thirteen of this Act, either by the county or by the hundred in which such main road or part is situate, as they think fit; and where a main road or part thereof is declared to be repairable by a hundred, the expense of repairing the same shall, to the extent to which but for this section the expense or any contribution towards the expense of repairing the same would be repayable out of the county rate, be repayable out of a separate rate which shall be raised and charged in the like manner as the expenses of repairing the hundred bridges in the same hundred would have been raised and charged (t).

Bridges.

Certain existing bridges may be accepted by county authority. 43 Geo. 3, c. 59.

21. Any bridge erected before the passing of this Act in any county without such superintendence as is provided in section five of the Bridges Act, 1803, and which is certified by the county surveyor or other person appointed in that behalf by the county authority (s) to be in good repair and condition, shall, if the county authority see fit so to order, become and be deemed to be a bridge which the inhabitants of the county shall be liable to maintain and repair (u).

Contribution out of county rates towards erecting bridges. 43 Geo. 3, c. 59.

22. The county authority (s) may make such contribution as it sees fit out of the county rates towards the cost of any bridge to be hereafter erected (x), after the same has been certified in accordance with the provisions of section five of the Bridges Act, 1803, as a proper bridge to be maintained by the inhabitants of the county; so always that such contribution shall not exceed one-half the cost of erecting such bridge.

Extraordinary Traffic (y).

Power of road authority to recover expenses of extraordinary traffic.

23. Where by a certificate of their surveyor (z) it appears to the authority which is liable or has undertaken to repair any highway (a), whether a main

(s) The county authority are now the county council. See note (z), post, p. 1517.

(t) The meaning of this section has already been explained in the note to the L. G. A., 1888, s. 11 (13), ante, p. 746.

(u) By s. 6 of the L. G. A., 1888, the county council shall have power to purchase, or take over on terms to be agreed upon, existing bridges not being at present county bridges, and to erect new bridges, and to maintain, repair, and improve any bridges so purchased, taken over, or erected. See also the Highways and Bridges Act, 1891, and s. 6 of the Crown Lands Act, 1906, enabling the Commissioner of Works to convey bridges to local authorities.

(x) The county authority may for this purpose borrow on mortgage of the county rate under 4 & 5 Vict. c. 49. See the County Bridges Loans Extension Act, 1880.

(y) This section refers to traffic or weight which is extraordinary or excessive, having regard to the ordinary user of the road, e.g., to the use of the road by traction engines (Lord Aveland v. Lucas (1880), 5 C. P. D. 211, 351; 43 J. P. 830; Savin v. Oswestry Highway Board (1881), 44 J. P. 766). See Tonbridge Highway Board v. Sevenoaks Highway Board (1885), 49 J. P. 340; 33 W. R. 306, where the use of traction engines and road or not, that, having regard to the average expense of repairing highways in the neighbourhood, extraordinary expenses (z) have been incurred by heavy waggons upon an agricultural road for drawing stone from a new quarry was held to be within the section.

The question whether traffic is extraordinary or not is one of fact. It was held that traffic arising out of a recognised industry in a district was not within this section (Wallington v. Hoskins (1882), 6 Q. B. D. 206; 45 J. P. 173; Lower Strafforth Highway Board v. Hatfield Chase Co. (1893), 57 J. P. 567); though it was greater than the other traffic on the road, and was not continuous (Raglan Highway Board v. Monmouth Steam Co. (1883), 46 J. P. 598); but if it were proved that the traffic complained of was a recognised industry in the district and was carried on in the manner usual in the trade of that district it is still open to the court to find that the traffic in question is extraordinary as regards any particular road in the district (Gcirionydd R. D. C. v. Green, [1909] 2 K. B. 845; 73 J. P. 137). Traffic is not extraordinary merely because the defendant sends over the road many more carts than any one else (R. v. Williamson (1882), 45 J. P. 505; Ledbury R. D. C. v. Somerset (Lady) (1915), 79 J. P. 327). The carting of materials for building along a road used generally for agricultural traffic was held not to be extraordinary in Pickering Highway Board v. Barry (1883), 8 Q. B. D. 59; 46 J. P. 215, but that case was disapproved in Hill v. Thomas, infra. The expenses and traffic referred to in this section mean expenses and traffic which are extraordinary with reference to the particular road in question. The appellant was summoned by a highway board to recover expenses incurred by the board in consequence of stone having been carted by the appellant from a quarry along a road, which was an ordinary country road used for light country traffic and had never been adapted for or made to bear heavier traffic. Stone traffic was a recognised business in the neighbourhood, but was not the ordinary or recognised traffic of the road in question:—Held, that under these circumstances the expenses and traffic were extraordinary within the meaning of this section (Whitebread v. Sevenoaks Highway Board, [1892] 1 Q. B. 8; 56 J. P. 214). Extraordinary traffic within the meaning of this section is not confined to the carriage of unusual materials, nor to carriage for unusual purposes, but it includes all traffic which is so exceptional as regards the ordinary user of the road in respect of quality, quantity, or frequency, as substantially to increase the burden imposed on the road by ordinary traffic, and cause damage and expense thereby beyond what is common. The object of the section is not to prohibit extraordinary traffic, but to throw the expense of causing the damage done thereby on those who cause it (Hill v. Thomas, [1893] 2 Q. B. 233; 57 J. P. 628). In determining what is extraordinary traffic the court should not take into account the ordinary traffic of the district, but only that of the particular road in question (Etherley Grange Coal Co. v. Auckland District Highway Board, [1894] 1 Q. B. 37; 58 J. P. 102). The appellants, who were quarry owners in the neighbourhood of a residential town, had for many years conveyed lime and coal to and from the town by a country road. In 1913 they substituted a steam waggon and trailer, which, when loaded, weighed in the aggregate twenty tons, for horse-drawn waggons of a maximum weight of three tons, and in 1916 they introduced on to the road a second steam waggon and trailer. There had been no abnormal increase in the volume of the appellants' traffic. In recent years the substitution of mechanical for horse traction by quarry owners had become general in the district. In February, 1917, the respondents brought an action against the appellants to recover extraordinary expenses alleged to have been incurred by them during the previous twelve months in repairing damage caused to the road in question by excessive weight and extraordinary traffic. The road in question was not a main thoroughfare and was not made up so as to bear the excessive concentrated weight of the appellants' steam waggon and trailer, and, apart from the appellants' traffic, heavy motor traffic had not become part of the ordinary uses of the road:—Held, that, having regard to the character of the particular road, the use by the appellants of the steam waggon and trailer constituted extraordinary traffic thereon in 1913, and that the continuance by the appellants of that mode of traction since 1913 had not altered the character of the traffic (Henry Butt & Co., Ltd. v. Weston-super-Mare U. D. C., [1922] 1 A. C. 340). In deciding whether the expenses incurred were extraordinary regard must be had to the average expense of repairing similar highways in the neighbourhood (Billericay R. D. C. v. Poplar Union Guardians, [1911] 2 K. B. 801; 75 J. P. 497). In estimating the extraordinary expenses to which a highway authority is put by extraordinary traffic with a view to ascertaining the liability of the person responsible for leading that traffic the following deductions should be made: (1) a deduction for the ordinary expenses of repair, ascertained by taking the average cost of repairing that and comparable roads in the district; (2) a deduction for betterment, being the value of the extent to which the structure or general condition of the road is improved as a result of the repairs rendered necessary by the extraordinary traffic. The fact that the road was "granited" or widened or provided with a thicker such authority in repairing such highway by reason of the damage caused by excessive weight passing along the same, or extraordinary traffic thereon, crust may be taken into account in this connection per CHANNELL, J., in Colchester Corporation v. Gepp (1912), 76 J. P. 337; 10 L. G. R. 930. Where a claim is made for extraordinary expenses under this section, the facts (i.) that the road in question was initially weak in some places, (ii.) that some part of the traffic may be fairly looked upon as ordinary, (iii.) that in consequence of the repairs carried out in order to make good the damage the road is a better road than it would have been had there been no extraordinary traffic and no consequent repairs, may all be taken into account to reduce the amount payable to the highway authority (Cambridgeshire C. C. v. Pepper and Hollis (1912), 76 J. P. 393; 10 L. G. R. 759). In deciding whether extraordinary traffic has been led it is not material to consider (a) the motive of the persons who lead extraordinary traffic; (b) whether there is or is not an alternative route; (c) whether a way or road theretofore used has been rendered impossible to use by the action of the highway authority. The court has simply to look at the phenomena as they occur on the road in question, to see what the road is, and to decide whether the traffic brought to it is extraordinary (Barnsley British Co-operative Society, Ltd. v. Worsborough U. D. C., [1916] A. C. 291; 80 J. P. 114). See also Norfolk C. C. v. Green (1904), 68 J. P. 223; 90 L. T. 451; Abingdon R. D. C. v. City of Oxford Electric Tramways, Ltd. (1917), 81 J. P. 189; and the county court cases of Wycombe R. D. C. v. Smith (1903), 67 J. P. 75; High Wycombe R. D. C. v. Palmer (1905), 69 J. P. 167.

Where it is pleaded that the sum claimed is arrived at by deduction from the extraordinary expenses of the average expense of similar highways in the neighbourhood, the plaintiffs must, if required, deliver particulars of the names of such highways and the average expense of repairing each of them (Colchester Corporation v. Gepp, [1912] 1 K. B. 477; 76 J. P. 97). And see Morpeth R. D. C. v. Bullock's Hall Colliery Co., Ltd., [1913] 2 K. B. 7; 77 J. P. 188.

In Hemsworth R. D. C. v. Micklethwaite (1904), 68 J. P. 345; 2 L. G. R. 1084, it was held that although the fact that a local authority had been in default in failing to keep a road in proper repair affords no complete answer to a claim by them to recover under this section, it is an essential element for consideration in estimating the amount of damage caused by the extraordinary traffic. Everything which bears upon the question of whether there has been excessive weight upon a road has to be taken into consideration, not only the amount of pressure per square inch of the wheels of the particular vehicles, but also the concentration of that weight upon a comparatively small space.

A road in a district in which for many years stone had been quarried and hauled was damaged by the haulage thereon by the defendants of stone in trucks drawn by a traction engine. Haulage by traction engines had been carried on over other roads, but this mode of haulage, although it had been adopted for a period by the defendants, was not the accustomed mode over the road in question, haulage having previously been done in carts or waggons drawn by horses. It was held that the traffic was extraordinary (Shepton Mallet R. D. C. v. Wainwright & Co. (1908), 72 J. P. 459; 24 T. L. R. 894). See also Ledbury R. D. C. v. Somerset (Lady), ante, p. 1507.

By the Locomotives Act, 1898, s. 1 (3), any damage arising from the user of any waggon carrying only one block, plate, cable, roll, vessel of stone or metal, or other single article, being of greater weight than sixteen tons, such waggon not having the fellies, tires, or shoes less than eight inches in breadth, shall be deemed to be damage caused by excessive weight within the meaning of this section.

(z) J. was not appointed under seal to be district surveyor, but only by minute of the board signed by their chairman, but not countersigned by the clerk of the board. L. being summoned for damage under this section, set up the defence that the appointment of J. and his certificate and the proceedings were void:—Held, that as J. had acted de facto as surveyor the objection could not be sustained (Lancaster v. Harlech Highway Board (1888), 52 J. P. 805). The certificate may include other roads besides the road which is the subject of the particular proceedings (Wirral Highway Board v. Newell, [1895] 1 Q. B. 827; 59 J. P. 183). As to the form of the certificate, and the principles to be considered in arriving at "extraordinary expenses," see Ledbury R. D. C. v. Colwall Park Quarries Co., Ltd. (1913), 77 J. P. 198; 108 L. T. 1002; Perth C. C. v. Rattray, [1913] S. C. 794; Billericay R. D. C. v. Poplar Union Guardians, ante, p. 1507. It is immaterial whether the certificate of the surveyor is given at the sole instance of the surveyor or at the request of the road authority (Barnsley British Co-operative Society v. Worsborough U. D. C., supra).

(a) The use of a traction engine which by reason of its excessive weight does substantial and abnormal damage to a public road adequate for ordinary traffic, is a public nuisance, even though the engine be constructed in compliance with the provisions of the Locomotive Acts, 1861 and 1865. In such a case the duty cast upon a county council to repair such damage, and the liability of a district council to provide the funds for such repair, amount to special damage, so as to make the owner of the engine civilly liable at the suit of either body or of both bodies suing jointly, for the cost of repairing the road (Cavan C. C. and Bailieborough R. D. C. v. Kane, [1913] 2 I. R. 250).

(b) By the Locomotives Act, 1898, s. 12, post, p. 1801, expenses are now not recoverable in a summary manner, but may be recovered if not exceeding £250 in the county court, and if exceeding that sum in the High Court, and s. 17 (2) of that Act has not the effect of preserving the jurisdiction of justices in extraordinary traffic cases where a light locomotive" is concerned (R. v. Bath County Court Judge, [1908] 1 K. B. 958; 72 J. P. 67). But in a proper case, although the action be brought to recover less than £250, it may be removed from the county court into the High Court by certiorari under s. 126 of the County Courts Act, 1888. See Godmanchester U. D. C. v. Hooley, Times, August 5th, 1901, where an application for removal was refused.

Where the amount certified by the surveyor exceeded £250, and an action was brought in the High Court in which the verdict of the jury was for £60 only, and judgment was entered for that amount with costs on the High Court scale, it was held that the High Court had jurisdiction, and that the taxation was rightly made on the High Court scale Chesterfield R. D. C. v. Newton, [1904] 1 K. B. 62; 68 J. P. 33). No action lies in the High Court when the amount claimed is less than £250 (Ripon R. D. C. v. Armitage (1919), 83 J. P. 112).

As to inspection of books in such actions, see Bromley R. D. C. v. Chittenden (1906), 70 J. P. 409; 4 L. G. R. 967; Colchester Corporation v. Gepp, [1912] 1 K. B. 477; 76 J. P. 97.

In any case no action can be brought until the expenses alleged to be extraordinary have been actually incurred (Little Hulton U. D. C. v. Jackson (1904), 68 J. P. 451; 1 L. G. R. 986).

In an action to recover expenses in respect of extraordinary traffic the court will not order the plaintiffs to give the defendants particulars of the average expense of repairing the road in question. The court will only order particulars of the average expense of repairing similar roads in the neighbourhood (Morpeth R. D. C. v. Bullock's Hall Colliery Co., [1913] 2 K. B. 7; 77 J. P. 188).

Further, by the Locomotives Act, 1898, s. 12, such proceedings must be commenced within twelve months of the time at which the damage has been done, or where the damage is the consequence of any particular building contract or work extending over a long period, they must be commenced not later than six months after the completion of the contract or work.

This last enactment gets rid of the decision in Whitebread v. Sevenoaks Highway Board, ante, p. 1507, that there was no limit to the expenditure recoverable under the principal Act. See Epsom U. D. C. v. London C. C., [1900] 2 Q. B. 751; 64 J. P. 726; and per Eve, J., in Weston-super-Mare U. D. C. v. Henry Butt & Co., [1919] 1 Ch. at p. 21. It does not, however, seem to affect the decision in Story v. Sheard, [1892] 1 Q. B. 515; 56 J. P. 760, that proceedings cannot be taken against the executors of the person by whose order the traffic was conducted.

In Norfolk C. C. v. Green (1904), 68 J. P. 223; 90 L. T. 451, about 1,500 tons of timber, the produce of the country, was felled and hauled under several separate contracts extending over two years. Walton, J., held that this was not a particular work extending over a long period within the meaning of this last-mentioned enactment. A municipal corporation, requiring road material for the general purpose of the maintenance and construction of roads within their district, entered into contracts with two contractors, whereby the contractors agreed to supply and deliver to the corporation during the twelve months from March 31st, 1904, to March 31st, 1905, flints and ragstone in such quantities and numbers, at such times and in such manner as the corporation should from time to time by order in writing direct. The plaintiffs, as the authority liable for the repair of highways in their district, incurred extraordinary expenses in repairing a highway in consequence of damage done to it by extraordinary traffic conducted over it in the haulage of stones by the contractors for the fulfilment of their contract with the corporation. The last load of stones was carried on March 31st, 1905, and on August 22nd, 1905, the plaintiffs commenced an action against the corporation for the recovery of the extraordinary expenses: —Held, by the Court of Appeal that the damage was not the consequence of "any particular building contract or work extending over a long period" within the meaning of this enactment, and that, therefore, the plaintiffs could recover only the expenses incurred within twelve months before the commencement of the action (Bromley R. D. C. v. Croydon Corporation, [1908] 1 K. B. 3; 72 J. P. 17).

The "completion of the contract" within the meaning of the Locomotive Acts, 1861 and 1865, means the completion of the contract so far as it relates to the work causing the damage which gives rise to the action, and does not mean its completion in regard to a subsequent period of maintenance by the contractor after completion of the work (Lancaster R. D. C. v. Fisher and Le Fanu, [1907] 2 K. B. 516; 71 J. P. 401). In another case it was held that the term "building contract" means a contract for the building of any physical construction, and the term "completion of the contract" means completion so far as concerns the constructional work comprised therein; and, where the constructional work consists of several component parts so closely connected that which would be useless without the others, the period of six months begins to run from whose order (c) such weight or traffic has been conducted the amount of such expenses as may be proved to the satisfaction of the court having the completion of the whole work, notwithstanding that the damage to the roads may have been caused exclusively by the haulage of materials in connection with some or one only of the component parts of the work. Sed quære whether different considerations may not apply to contracts comprising several independent works, and to contracts comprising work in several different districts where it is shown that all the work within the district of the plaintiff authority has been completed more than six months before the commencement of the action. Thus where the work comprised in a contract included the construction of a reservoir and the laying of a line of pipes therefrom within the plaintiffs' district, and the damage was caused to the roads of the district by haulage in connection with the laying of the pipes but not in connection with the construction of the reservoir, the Court of Appeal held that the contract was a building contract for one compound work extending over a long period within the meaning of the subsection, and that the action for the recovery of the expenses commenced more than six months after the completion of the line of pipes but before the completion of the reservoir was in time (Carlisle R. D. C. v. Carlisle Corporation, [1909] 1 K. B. 471; 73 J. P. 121). And where a contract provided for the construction of a watertight reservoir, and the reservoir was so far completed that the water was let into it more than six months before the commencement of the action, but was not made watertight until within the six months, it was held that the county court judge was justified in finding that the reservoir was not completed within the meaning of the subsection until it was made watertight, and that the action was in time (Reigate R. D. C. v. Sutton District Water Co. (1909), 78 L. J. K. B. 315; 73 J. P. 161).

The six months' limitation under the Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893, ante, p. 890, applies to an action brought against a public authority under this section where the damage has been done by their servants, but not where the damage has been done by contractors under a contract with the public authority to deliver stone for an improvement scheme in course of execution by the authority (Kent C. C. v. Folkestone Corporation, [1905] 1 K. B. 620; 69 J. P. 125).

(c) By the Locomotives Act, 1898, s. 12 (1) (c), post, p. 1802, the words "by or in consequence of whose order" are substituted for "by whose order." As the section now stands there is no reason why two or three persons should not be held liable in respect of the damage done to a particular road. The words "by whose order" bring in the contractor, and the words "in consequence of whose order" bring in the building owner—per SCRUTTON, J., in Windlesham U. D. C. v. Seward (1913), 77 J. P. 161. In some of the earlier cases under the original enactment, it was held that either the owner or his contractor may be proceeded against (Williams v. Davies (1880), 44 J. P. 347; Northumberland Whinstone Co. v. Alnwick Highway Board (1880), 44 J. P. 360); and see Barnet v. Hoo Highway Board (1882), 46 J. P. 805, where it was also held that this section applied, though the railway company for whom the work was done might also be liable under the Railways Clauses Act, 1845, s. 58. A person who let traction engines to move manure for a farmer was held to be liable, in R. v. Ellis (1882), 8 Q. B. D. 466; 46 J. P. 295. But in Lapthorn v. Harvey (1885), 49 J. P. 709, where a contractor employed a sub-contractor to cart stone, and the latter used traction engines which caused injury to the highway, it was held that the sub-contractor alone was liable, as he was under no obligation to cart the stone in any particular manner. And see to the same effect the judgment of Lord BRAMWELL in Hobbs v. Tunbridge Wells L. B. (1885), 49 J. P. 679. In Kent C. C. v. Vidler, [1895] 1 Q. B. 448; 59 J. P. 548, the appellants were under obligation to supply a large quantity of ballast for the construction of a new line of railway, and in order to fulfil this obligation they contracted with three proprietors of traction engines for the carriage of the ballast along a highway, and it was held that the appellants were the persons by whose orders the extraordinary traffic caused by the use of these engines had been conducted. In Colchester, Wemyss & Co. v. Gloucestershire C. C. (1897), 66 L. J. Q. B. 290, where contractors had the direction and regulation of traffic upon a highway which they carried out by using traction engines, regulating the number of waggons attached to each engine, and the weight of each waggon, and giving orders as to the time the vehicles should start, they were held to be persons by whose order such traffic was conducted, notwithstanding that their employers indicated the times during which they would be ready to receive the goods which the contractors had undertaken to deliver. And where a landed proprietor contracted with several persons for the delivery to him of building materials required for improvements at his residence at prices including carriage, the property in the materials to pass on delivery and acceptance at the residence, it was held that he was not liable, although he knew that the contractors intended to send the materials by the particular highway which was damaged by means of traction engines and trucks, because he did not employ or pay the carriers, or give directions as to the route or mode of conveyance (Kent C. C. v. Lord Gerard, [1897] A. C. 633; 61 J. P. 804). So, also, where contractors for the erection of a county lunatic asylum made a sub-contract for haulage of goods, plant, and materials cognizance of the case to have been incurred by such authority by reason of the damage arising from such weight or traffic as aforesaid :

Provided, that any person against whom expenses are or may be recoverable under this section may enter into an agreement with such authority as is mentioned in this section for the payment to them of a composition in respect of such weight or traffic, and thereupon the persons so paying the same shall not be subject to any proceedings under this section.

Discontinuance of unnecessary Highways.

Unnecessary highways may be declared not repairable at the public expense.

24. If any authority liable to keep any highway in repair is of opinion that so much of such highway as lies within any parish situate in a petty to the works, to be delivered as required, either by carts or trucks drawn by traction engines, but no special route was prescribed, it was held that they were not liable (Pethick Brothers v. Dorset C. C. (1898), 62 J. P. 579). By the order of two companies subsidiary to the defendant company, extraordinary traffic had been conducted over a road in respect of which the plaintiffs were the highway authority. It was held upon the facts and the construction of certain agreements between the companies that the orders given by the subsidiary companies were given by them as agents for the defendant company and therefore that the defendant company was liable in respect of the extraordinary expenses incurred by the plaintiffs (Kent C. C. v. Kent Coal Concessions, Ltd. [1909), 73 J. P. 305 ; 25 T. L. R. 479).

The effect of the amendment introduced by the Locomotives Act, 1898, s. 12 (1) (c), ost, p. 1802, appears to be that under it defendants in the position of the defendants in Lapthorn v. Harvey, Colchester, Wemyss & Co. v. Gloucestershire C. C., Kent C. C. v. Lord Gerard, and Pethick Brothers v. Dorset C. C., would now be held liable. See Epsom U. D. C. v. London C. C., [1900] 2 Q. B. 751 ; 64 J. P. 726.

The defendant being about to build a house entered into a contract with a brick company to supply him with a quantity of bricks, to be delivered at the place where he proposed to build. He gave no instructions as to the manner, time, or amount in which the bricks were to be delivered, and the company, without his knowledge, delivered them by means of a traction engine and trucks, the excessive weight of which damaged the roads :—Held, that the defendant was not the person by or in consequence of whose order such weight had been conducted (Egham R. D. C. v. Gordon, [1902] 2 K. B. 120 ; 66 J. P. 359). The visiting committee of a county lunatic asylum, acting by the defendant, their clerk, entered into a contract with a third party under which the third party agreed to erect a lunatic asylum and to indemnify the visiting committee against liability in respect of damage done by extraordinary traffic. The building operations necessitated the conveyance of large quantities of material over certain roads in the plaintiffs' borough, in consequence of which extraordinary traffic was caused and extraordinary expense incurred by the plaintiffs. In an action brought against the clerk to the committee to recover the extraordinary expenses the contractor was made a third party. It was held, following Egham R. D. C. v. Gordon, supra, that the visiting committee were persons in "consequence of whose order" the traffic was led (Colchester Corporation v. Gepp (1912), 76 J. P. 337 ; 10 L. G. R. 930). On appeal the case was settled ; see 77 J. P. 181. S., a building owner, contracted with L. to deliver bricks by traction haulage. L. sub-contracted with E. to carry them in this way. L. knew the size and weight of the engines to be employed, but he did not determine the particular road over which they would go. It was held that L. was a person "by or in consequence of whose order" the traffic was conducted (Windlesham U. D. C. v. Seward (1913), 77 J. P. 161).

By a contract made between the defendants and a third party, the latter agreed to make a reservoir in four calendar months, the contract being silent as to the method or route of haulage for any material that might be required. From May 4th to December 30th, 1905, the contractor employed traction engines with trucks to haul materials from the railway station to the site of the reservoir, a distance of about one and a quarter miles. In an action against the defendants for the recovery of the extraordinary expenses incurred in repairing the highways alleged to have been damaged by this extraordinary traffic, a witness for the defendants stated that if, during the period in question, the same weight of material had been carried by carts no damage would have been caused to the roads ; and the defendants' engineer, who was also called by the plaintiffs, said that he thought the contractor would have laid a light railway across the fields for the purpose of the haulage of materials :—Held, that there was evidence of the traffic having been conducted in the way it was in consequence of the defendants' order (Reigate R. D. C. v. Sutton District Water Co. (1907), 71 J. P. 405 ; 5 L. G. R. 917) ; and in Bromley R. D. C. v. Croydon Corporation, ante, p. 1509, it was held that under the circumstances of that case set out in the note the traffic was conducted in consequence of the orders of the corporation.

sessional division is unnecessary for public use, and therefore ought not to be maintained at the public expense, such authority (in this section referred to "as the applicant authority") may apply to the court of summary jurisdiction of such petty sessional division to view by two or more justices, being members of the court, the highway to which such application relates, and on such view being had, if the court of summary jurisdiction is of opinion that the application ought to be proceeded with, it shall by notice in writing to the owners or reputed owners and occupiers of all lands abutting upon such highway, and upon public notice, appoint a time and place not earlier than one month from the date of such notice, at which it will be prepared to hear all persons objecting to such highway being declared unnecessary for public use, and not repairable at the expense of the public.

On the day and at the place appointed, the court shall hear any person objecting to an order being made by the court that such highway is unnecessary for public use and ought not to be repairable at the public expense, and shall make an order either dismissing the application or declaring such highway unnecessary for public use, and that it ought not to be repaired at the public expense.

If the court make such last-mentioned order as aforesaid, the expenses of repairing such highway shall cease to be defrayed out of any public rate.

Public notice of the time and place appointed for hearing a case under this section shall be given by the applicant authority as follows; (that is to say,)

(1) By advertising a notice of the time and place appointed for the hearing and the object of the hearing, with a description of the highway to which it refers, in some local newspaper circulating in the district in which such highway is situate once at least in each of the four weeks preceding the hearing; and

(2) By causing a copy of such notice to be affixed, at least fourteen days before the hearing, to the principal doors of every church and chapel in the parish in which such highway is situate, or in some conspicuous position near such highway.

And the application shall not be entertained by the court until the fact of such public notice having been given is proved to its satisfaction.

If at any time after an order has been made by a court of summary jurisdiction under this section, upon application of any person interested in the maintenance of the highway in respect of which such order has been made, after one month's previous notice in writing thereof to the applicant authority, it appears to the court of quarter sessions that from any change of circumstances since the time of the making of any such order as aforesaid such highway has become of public use, and ought to be maintained at the public expense, the court of quarter sessions may direct that the liability of such highway to be maintained at the public expense shall revive from and after such day as they may name in their order, and such highway shall thenceforth be maintained out of the rate applicable to payment of the expenses of repairing other highways repairable by the applicant authority; and the said court of quarter sessions may by their order direct the expenses of and incident to such application to be paid as they may see fit.

Any order of a court of summary jurisdiction under this section shall be deemed to be an order from which an appeal lies to a court of quarter sessions (d).

(d) This appeal will still be open to quarter sessions, for the L. G. A., 1888, s. 3 (viii) only transferred to the county council the powers of quarter sessions as the county authority. See also s. 78 (2) of that Act.

Appointment of Surveyors in certain Parishes.

25. [Removal of doubt as to appointment of surveyors in certain parishes] (e).

Byelaws by County Authority (f).

26. A county authority (f) may from time to time make, with respect to all or any main roads or other highways within any highway area in their county, and when made alter or repeal, byelaws for all or any of the purposes following; (that is to say,) Power of county authority to make byelaws

(1) For prohibiting or regulating the use of any waggon wain cart or carriage drawn by animal power and having wheels of which the fellies or tires are not of such width in proportion to the weight carried by, or to the size of, or to the number of wheels of such waggon wain cart or carriage as may be specified in such byelaws; and

(2) For prohibiting or regulating the use of any waggon wain cart or other carriage drawn by animal power not having the nails on its wheels counter-sunk in such manner as may be specified in such byelaws, or having on its wheels bars or other projections forbidden by such byelaws; and

(3) For prohibiting or regulating the locking of the wheel of any waggon wain cart or carriage drawn by animal power when descending a hill, unless there is placed at the bottom of such wheel during the whole time of its being locked a skidpan slipper or shoe in such manner as to prevent the road from being destroyed or injured by the locking of such wheel; and

(4) For prohibiting or regulating the erection of gates across highways, and prohibiting gates opening outwards on highways; and

(5) [For regulating the use of bicycles] (g).

Fines to be recovered summarily may be imposed by any such byelaws on persons breaking any byelaw made under this section, provided that no fine exceeds for any one offence the sum of two pounds, and that the byelaws are so framed as to allow of the recovery of any sum less than the full amount of the fine.

Saving for Materials.

27. Notwithstanding anything contained in section sixty-eight of the Public Health Act, 1848, or in section one hundred and forty-nine of the Public Health Act, 1875 (h), all mines and minerals of any description whatsoever under any disturnpiked road or highway which has or shall become vested in an urban sanitary authority by virtue of the said sections, or either of them, shall belong to the person who would be entitled thereto in case such road or highway had not become so vested, and the person entitled to any such mine or minerals shall have the same powers of working and of getting the same or other minerals as if the road or highway had not become vested in the urban sanitary authority; but so nevertheless that in such working and getting no damage shall be done to the road or highway (i). To whom minerals under disturnpiked roads to belong. 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

PART II.

AMENDMENT OF LOCOMOTIVE ACTS, 1861 AND 1865 (k).

Weight of locomotives and construction of wheels. 24 & 25 Vict. c. 70. 28 & 29 Vict. c. 83.

28. (l) . . . it shall not be lawful to use on any . . . highway a locomotive constructed otherwise than in accordance with the following provisions; (that is to say,)

(1) A locomotive not drawing any carriage, and not exceeding in weight three tons, shall have the tires of the wheels thereof not less than three inches in width, with an additional inch for every ton or fraction of a ton above the first three tons; and

(2) A locomotive drawing any waggon or carriage shall have the tires of the driving wheels thereof not less than two inches in width for every ton in weight of the locomotive, unless the diameter of such wheels shall exceed five feet, when the width of the tires may be reduced in the same proportion as the diameter of the wheels is increased, but in such case the width of such tires shall not be less than fourteen inches; and

(3) A locomotive shall not exceed nine feet in width or fourteen tons in weight, except as hereinafter provided; and

(4) The driving wheels of a locomotive shall be cylindrical and smooth-soled, or shod with diagonal cross-bars of not less than three inches in width nor more than three-quarters of an inch in thickness, extend-

L.J., in Rolls v. St. George's, Southwark, Vestry (1880), 14 Ch. D., at p. 799. A railway company constructed a railway on the level across a highway in the district of which the relators were the urban sanitary authority. Subsequently the defendants worked coal mines in a proper and usual manner beneath the highway, with the result that a gradual and uniform subsidence of the highway, railway, and surrounding land to the extent of about ten feet vertically took place. No actual damage was done to the highway thereby, nor was it rendered less convenient, but the railway company placed ballast under their line so as to maintain it at its original level, thus forming an embankment obstructing the use of the highway:—Held, in an action against the defendants, that upon the facts there was no case for an injunction or for substantial damages; but per COLLINS, J., that, assuming the highway to be vested in the relators under s. 149 of the P. H. A., 1875, they were entitled to judgment with nominal damages for the injury to their proprietary right (Att.-Gen. v. Conduit Colliery Co., [1895] 1 Q. B. 301; 59 J. P. 70). See also Lodge Holes Colliery Co., Ltd. v. Wednesbury Corporation, [1908] A. C. 323. The remainder of this section extending it to the Isle of Wight and to South Wales is repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1898, as having been rendered unnecessary by the L. G. A., 1888, ss. 12, 13, ante, p. 747.

(k) This Part of this Act does not apply to light locomotives. See the Locomotives on Highways Act, 1896, s. 1, and Schedule. By s. 1 (1) of that Act a light locomotive is defined as including (1) any vehicle propelled by mechanical power if it is under five tons in weight unladen, and is not used for the purpose of drawing more than one vehicle (such vehicle with its locomotive not to exceed in weight unladen six and a half tons), and is so constructed that no smoke or visible vapour is emitted therefrom except from any temporary or accidental cause; and (2) the vehicle so drawn by such locomotive. To this general rule there are two exceptions: (1) military motor cars, and (2) motor cars registered before 1st September, 1904, if properly re-registered. See the Heavy Motor Car Order, 1904, art. 17 (a); Heavy Motor Car (Amendment) Order, 1911, art. 1; Heavy Motor Car Order, 1904, arts. 4 (5) and 15 (2). See Pilgrim v. Simmonds (1911), 75 J. P. 427. And all self-propelled vehicles, whether light or heavy motor cars, are "light locomotives" if their weight unladen does not exceed five tons (Evans v. Nicholl, [1909] 1 K. B. 778; 73 J. P. 154). Section 6 of the Act enables the L. G. B. to make regulations with respect to the use of light locomotives on highways and their construction, and the conditions under which they may be used. And s. 7 makes the breach of such regulations punishable on summary conviction by a fine not exceeding ten pounds. See further the Heavy Motor Car Order, 1904, art. 3. It has been held that a steam roller is a locomotive within the meaning of s. 12 of the Locomotive Act, 1861 (Waters v. Eddison Steam Rolling Co., Ltd., [1914] 3 K. B. 818).

ing the full breadth of the tire, and the space intervening between each such cross-bar shall not exceed three inches (m).

The owner of any locomotive used contrary to the foregoing provisions hall for every such offence be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds: rovided, that the mayor, aldermen, and commons in the city of London, nd the Metropolitan Board of Works in the metropolis, exclusive of the ty of London, and the council of any borough which has a separate court quarter sessions, and the county authority of any county, may, on the pplication of the owner of any locomotive exceeding nine feet in width or ourteen tons in weight, authorise such locomotive to be used on any . . . ighway within the areas respectively above mentioned, or part of any uch . . . highway, under such conditions (if any) as to them may appear esirable: Provided also, that the owner of a locomotive used contrary to he provisions of sub-section two of this section shall not be deemed guilty f an offence under this section if he proves to the satisfaction of the court aving cognizance of the case that such locomotive was constructed before he passing of this Act, and that the tires of the wheels thereof are not less han nine inches in width (n).

29. [Amendment of 28 & 29 Vict. c. 83, s. 3.] (o)

30. (p) . . . every locomotive used on any . . . highway shall be constructed on the principle of consuming its own smoke; and any person using any locomotive not so constructed, or not consuming, so far as practicable, its own smoke, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds for every day during which such locomotive is used on any such . . . highway (q). Steam locomotives to be constructed so as to consume their smoke.

31. [Power to local authorities to make orders as to hours during which locomotives may pass over roads] (o).

32. [Power of county authorities to license locomotives] (o).

33. This Part of this Act shall remain in force so long only as the Locomotive Act, 1865, continues in force (r). Duration of Part II. of Act. 28 & 29 Vict. c. 83.

(m) See Stringer v. Sykes (1876), 2 Ex. D. 240. By s. 9 of the Locomotives on Highways Act, 1896, the requirements of this sub-section may be from time to time varied by the Ministry of Health. See Orders of the L. G. B. dated November 26th, 1897 (Stat. R. & O., 1897, p. 450; 61 J. P. 778), and November 4th, 1898 (Stat. R. & O., 1898, p. 571; 28th Rep. L. G. B. App. 59).

(n) It is to be observed that this section does not in any way protect a person who uses a locomotive constructed as here provided and properly managed, having regard to the provisions of the Locomotive Acts, if damage results from its use (Powell v. Fall (1879), 5 Q. B. D. 597; Gunter v. James (1908), 72 J. P. 448; 24 T. L. R. 868; and see Galer v. Lawson (1889), W. N. 180; 6 T. L. R. 17; Bantwick v. Rogers (1890), 7 T. L. R. 542; Clyre v. Paddington Vestry, Times, June 5th, 1891). Thus, where a traction engine weighing over ten tons in passing through a street broke one of the water mains laid under the street, and being the property of a corporation in whom also, as road authority, was vested the duty of maintaining the roads, the owner of the engine was held liable although there was no negligence or want of skill or care on the part of him or his servants in the care and construction of the engine, there being also no default or neglect by the plaintiffs as road authority, and the mains being sufficiently strong and well laid to withstand the ordinary traffic of the district (Chichester Corporation v. Foster, [1906] 1 K. B. 167; 70 J. P. 73). The owner of a locomotive who has let it on hire is not liable for injuries caused by the negligence of the hirer, though his name is on it (Smith v. Bailey, [1891] 2 Q. B. 403; 56 J. P. 116). As to the liability to be indicted for using a traction engine on a highway, see R. v. Chittenden (1885), 49 J. P. 403. As to liability to be restrained by an injunction from causing a public nuisance, see Att.-Gen. v. Scott, [1905] 2 K. B. 160; 69 J. P. 109. And see Cavan C. C. and Bailieborough R. D. C. v. Kane, ante, p. 1508.

(o) Sections 29, 31 and 32 are repealed by the Locomotives Act, 1898, s. 18, post, p. 1804, but see the provisoes to that section as to byelaws and local Acts. See also ss. 5, 6, 9 and 17 of that Act.

(r) That Act is continued by the Expiring Laws Continuance Acts.

PART III.

PROCEDURE AND DEFINITIONS.

Confirmation of Provisional Order.

34. It shall be lawful for the Local Government Board to submit any Provisional Order made by them under this Act to Parliament for confirmation, and without such confirmation a Provisional Order shall not be of any validity (s).

Confirmation of byelaws.

35. A byelaw made under this Act, and any alteration made therein and any repeal of a byelaw, shall not be of any validity until it has been submitted to and confirmed by the Local Government Board (ss).

A byelaw made under this Act shall not, nor shall any alteration therein or addition thereto or repeal thereof, be confirmed until the expiration of one month after notice of the intention to apply for confirmation of the same has been given by the authority making the same in one or more local newspapers circulating in their county or district.

Recovery of penalties and expenses.

36. All offences fines and expenses under this Act, or any byelaw made in pursuance of this Act, may be prosecuted, enforced, and recovered before a court of summary jurisdiction in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts (t).

The expression "court of summary jurisdiction" means and includes any justice or justices of the peace, metropolitan police magistrates, stipendiary or other magistrate, or officer, by whatever name called, to whom jurisdiction is given by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts: Provided that the court, when hearing and determining an information or complaint under this Act, shall be constituted either of two or more justices of the peace in petty sessions, sitting at a place appointed for holding petty session or of some magistrate or officer sitting alone or with others at some court or other place appointed for the administration of justice, and for the time being empowered by law to do alone any act authorised to be done by more than one justice of the peace.

Form of appeal to quarter sessions.

37. If any party thinks himself aggrieved by any conviction or order made by a court of summary jurisdiction on determining any information or complaint under this Act, the party so aggrieved may appeal therefrom . . . to the next practicable court of quarter sessions . . . (u).

Interpretation. 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61. 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101.

38. In this Act—

"County" has the same meaning as it has in the Highway Acts, 1862 and 1864 (x), except that every liberty (y) not being assessable to the county rate of the county or counties within which it is locally situate shall, for the purposes of this Act other than those relating to the

(t) The definition of this expression here following is repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. See now the Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 13 (10).

With regard to the liability of servants to penalties and the exoneration of the owner in certain cases, see the Locomotives Act, 1898, s. 13, post, p. 1802.

(u) The remainder of this section is repealed by the S. J. A., 1884.

(x) Although for the purposes of the Highway Act, 1862, boroughs are not to be considered parts of counties, yet for the purposes of s. 13 it was held that the word "county" was used geographically, and so, therefore, as to include a borough within the county (Over Darwen Corporation v. Lancashire JJ. (1884), 15 Q. B. D. 20; 48 J. P. 437).

(y) The recorder of such a liberty is a county authority so as to be able to hear an application under s. 15, ante, p. 1504, to have certain roads declared main roads (R. v. Dover Recorder (1884), 48 J. P. 420; 32 W. R. 876).

formation and alteration of highway districts, and the transfer of the powers of a highway board, be deemed to be a separate county:

"County authority" means the justices of a county in general or quarter sessions assembled (z):

"Borough" means any place for the time being subject to the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, and the Acts amending the same (a):

"Highway district" (b) means a district constituted in pursuance of the Highway Act, 1862, and the Highway Act, 1864, or one of such Acts: 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61.

"Highway board" means the highway board having jurisdiction within a highway district: 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101.

"Highway parish" means a parish or place included or capable of being included in a highway district in pursuance of the Highway Acts, 1862 and 1864, or one of such Acts: 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61. 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101.

"Highway authority" means as respects an urban sanitary district the urban sanitary authority, and as respects a highway district the highway board, and as respects a highway parish the surveyor or surveyors or other officers performing similar duties (c):

"Rural sanitary district" and "rural sanitary authority" mean respectively the districts and authorities declared to be rural sanitary districts and authorities by the Public Health Act, 1875 (d): 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

"Urban sanitary district" (e) and "urban sanitary authority" mean respectively the districts and authorities declared to be urban sanitary districts and authorities by the Public Health Act, 1875 (f), except that for the purposes of this Act no borough having a separate court of quarter sessions, and no part of any such borough, shall be deemed to be or to be included in any such district; and where part of a parish is included in such district for the purpose only of the repairs of the highways such part shall be deemed to be included in the district for the purposes of this Act: 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

"The metropolis" means the parishes and places mentioned in the Schedules A., B., and C., annexed to the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, and any parish to which such Act may be extended by Order in Council in manner in the said Act provided; also the city of London and the liberties of the said city: 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120.

"Quarter sessions" includes general sessions:

"Petty sessional division" means any division for the holding a special sessions formed or to be formed under the provisions of the Division of Counties Act, 1828, or any Act amending the same; also any division of a county, or of a riding, division, parts, or liberty of a county, having a separate commission of the peace, in and for which petty sessions or special sessions are usually held, whether in one or more place or places, in accordance with any custom, or otherwise than under the said last-mentioned Act; but does not include any city, borough, town corporate or district constituted a petty sessional division by the Petty Sessions Act, 1849: 9 Geo. 4, c. 43. 12 & 13 Vict. c. 18.

"Locomotive" means a locomotive propelled by steam or by other than animal power (g):

"Person" includes a body of persons corporate or unincorporate.

(z) The powers and duties of the quarter sessions as the county authority are now transferred to the county council by the L. G. A., 1888, s. 3 (viii).

THE DISTRICT AUDITORS ACT, 1879.

(42 & 43 VICT. c. 6) (h).

An Act to amend the Law with respect to District Auditors.

[28th March 1879.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as "The District Auditors Act, 1879."

Payment of district auditors.

2. (i) The whole of the salaries or remuneration and of the expenses of district auditors, to such amount as may be sanctioned by the Treasury, shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament; and for the purpose of contributing to the amount required for the payment of such salaries, remuneration, and expenses, there shall be charged on every local authority whose accounts are audited by a district auditor a stamp duty for the use of her Majesty, according to the scale contained in the First Schedule to this Act, and such duty shall be levied by a stamp on the certificate of the auditor hereinafter mentioned.

Financial statement with stamped certificate of district auditor. 29 & 30 Vict. c. 113, s. 6.

3. Where the accounts of the receipts and expenditure of a local authority are audited by a district auditor, the local authority shall prepare and submit to the district auditor at every audit (other than an extraordinary audit (j) held in pursuance of section six of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1866) a financial statement in duplicate in the prescribed form and containing the prescribed particulars (k); one of such duplicates shall have the stamp charged under this Act affixed thereon, and the auditor at the conclusion of the audit shall cancel that stamp, and certify on each duplicate, in the prescribed form, the amount in words at length of the expenditure so audited and allowed, and further, that the regulations with respect to such statement have been duly complied with, and that he has ascertained by the audit the correctness of the statement.

He shall forthwith send the duplicate so stamped and certified by him to the Local Government Board (l); and in such case a return of the receipts or expenditure comprised in such statement need not, unless the Local Government Board so require, be sent to the Board in pursuance of the Local Taxation Returns Acts, 1860 and 1877.

23 & 24 Vict. c. 51. 40 & 41 Vict. c. 66.

Appointment and districts of district auditor.

4. The Local Government Board (l) may from time to time appoint such number of district auditors as they may, with the sanction of the Treasury, think necessary for the performance of the duties of auditing the accounts which are for the time being by law subject to be audited by district auditors, and may from time to time remove such auditors.

The Board may from time to time assign to district auditors their duties, and the districts in which such auditors respectively are to act, and may (h) See the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 247, 248, ante, pp. 541, 548: also 7 & 8 Vict. c. 101; 11 & 12 Vict. c. 91; 12 & 13 Vict. c. 103; 29 & 30 Vict. c. 113, ante, pp. 1132, 1304, 1308, 1324. The preamble of this Act reciting s. 24 of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1868, was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of the same Act.

(i) Words at the commencement of this section were repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894.

(j) By the Audit (Local Authorities, etc.) Act, 1922, the Minister of Health is enabled to direct an extraordinary audit. The submission of a financial statement is unnecessary in such cases.

(k) The Orders now regulating the form of the financial statements of sanitary authorities are set out in App. II., post.

m time to time change wholly or in part such duties or districts; and ery district so assigned to a district auditor, whether originally or upon y change, shall be deemed to be an audit district within the meaning of y enactment relating to district auditors or their districts, and the auditor whom any district is assigned shall be deemed to be the district auditor for at district.

The Board may also, with the consent of the Treasury, appoint from time time a person or persons, either temporarily or otherwise, to assist a district ditor in the performance of his duties, and any person so appointed shall, oject to any exceptions made by the terms of his appointment, have the ne powers and duties and be subject to the same obligations as the district ditor whom he is appointed to assist.

The Board, with the like consent, may assign to a person so appointed such ary or remuneration and such sum for his expenses as may seem fit, and h salary, remuneration, and expenses shall be paid out of moneys provided Parliament.

Regulations as to audit.

5. Where any accounts of the receipts and expenditure of a local authority e subject by law to be audited by a district auditor, the Local Government ard (ll) may from time to time by Order make, and when made revoke and y, such regulations as seem to the Board necessary or proper respecting e audit of such accounts, including the form of keeping the accounts of e local authority and their officers, the day or days to which the accounts e to be made up, the time within which they are to be examined by the al authority, the mode in which, if it is so prescribed, they are to be certified the local authority or any officer of that authority, the mode of publishing e time and place of holding the audit, the persons by whom such accounts e to be produced for audit, and the mode of conducting the audit, and an der under this section shall be deemed to be an Order within the meaning section ninety-eight of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1834 (m).

4 & 5 Will. 4, c. 76.

Stamp duties under Inland Revenue.

6. The duties charged under this Act shall be deemed to be stamp duties der the management of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, and all e Acts relating to stamp duties, particularly those relating to forgery, udulent dies, and other offences in connection with stamp duties, shall ply accordingly; and such duties may, if the commissioners so direct, denoted by adhesive stamps, to be cancelled by the auditor as provided this Act.

Failure to submit financial statement.

7. If a local authority fail to comply with the provisions of this Act with pect to a financial statement, such local authority, or if a clerk to the al authority is appointed, that clerk, and if no clerk is appointed, but ere is a treasurer or other officer keeping the accounts which should be mprised in such financial statement, that treasurer or other officer, shall liable to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds for each offence, to be recovered action on behalf of her Majesty in the High Court (n).

Definitions.

8. In this Act,—

The expression "local rate" means the poor rate, the general district rate, and every rate the proceeds of which are applicable to public local purposes, and which is leviable on the basis of a poundage assessment of the value of property, and includes any sum which, though obtained in the first instance by a precept, certificate, or other instrument requiring payment from some authority or officer, is or can be ultimately raised out of a rate as before defined.

(ll) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Minister of Health.
(m) For these Orders reference should be made to App. II., post.
(n) Probably only by the Crown (Bradlaugh v. Clarke (1883), 8 App. Cas. 354; 47 P. 405).

The expression "local authority" means any person or body of persons who receive and expend any local rate, but does not include overseers of the poor.

The expression "prescribed" means prescribed from time to time by the Local Government Board (o).

* * * * * *

11. . . .

(2) Any auditor appointed in pursuance of any enactment hereby repealed shall (save as may be prescribed) have the same powers and duties and be subject to the same obligations as if such enactment had not been repealed.

Saving of certain fees and expenses.

12 Nothing in this Act shall prevent a district auditor from recovering . . . any expenses which he may incur, in any proceedings which he is authorised or required to take or defend under the statutes in that behalf (p).

FIRST SCHEDULE (q).

SCALE OF STAMP DUTIES PAYABLE BY LOCAL AUTHORITIES.

THE SALE OF FOOD AND DRUGS ACT AMENDMENT ACT, 1879.

(42 & 43 VICT. C. 30) (r).

An Act to amend the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875. [21st July 1879.]

38 & 39 Vict. c. 63.

WHEREAS conflicting decisions have been given in England and in Scotland in regard to the meaning and effect of section six of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, in this Act referred to as the principal Act, and it is expedient, in this respect and otherwise, to amend the said Act:

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as the Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 1879.

In sale of adulterated articles no defence to allege purchase for analysis.

2. In any prosecution under the provisions of the principal Act for selling to the prejudice of the purchaser any article of food or any drug which is not of the nature, substance, and quality of the article demanded by such purchaser, it shall be no defence to any such prosecution to allege that the purchaser, having bought only for analysis, was not prejudiced by such sale. Neither shall it be a good defence to prove that the article of food or drug in question, though defective in nature or in substance or in quality, was not defective in all three respects (s).

(o) The remainder of this section, and ss. 9, 10, and parts of 11 and 12 and the Second Schedule were repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Minister of Health.

(q) The provisions of this Act were applied to county councils by the L. G. A., 1888, s. 71 (3), and this schedule was repealed by s. 61 of the Finance Act, 1921. The scale was replaced by a scale prescribed by the Audit Stamp Duty (Local Authorities) Order, 1921. See App. II., post.

(r) See the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, ante, p. 1402, and the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, post, p. 1854. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see the S. L. R. A., 1894, s. 4.

(s) See the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, s. 6, ante, p. 1403, and the notes thereon. The last clause of this section was passed to meet the decision in Davidson v. Macleod (1878), 42 J. P. 43, 50.

3. Any medical officer of health, inspector of nuisances, or inspector of weights and measures, or any inspector of a market, or any police constable under the direction and at the cost of the local authority appointing such officer, inspector, or constable, or charged with the execution of this Act, may procure at the place of delivery any sample of any milk in course of delivery (t) to the purchaser or consignee in pursuance of any contract for the sale to such purchaser or consignee of such milk; and such officer, inspector or constable, if he suspect the same to have been sold contrary to any of the provisions of the principal Act, shall submit the same to be analysed, and the same shall be analysed, and proceedings shall be taken, and penalties on conviction be enforced in like manner in all respects as if such officer, inspector, or constable had purchased the same from the seller or consignor under section thirteen of the principal Act (u).

Officer, inspector or constable may obtain a sample of milk at the place of delivery to submit to analysis.

(t) As to the meaning of these words, see Telford v. Fyfe, [1908] S. C. (J.) 83.

(u) Ante, p. 1411. This section and s. 4 following are by the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, s. 14, post, p. 1861, applied to every article of food other than milk subject to the request or consent of the purchaser or consignee for the taking of samples. As to forwarding to the consignor a portion of the sample of milk taken, see the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, s. 10, post, p. 1861. It is not necessary to state the intention and to divide the sample of milk thus taken, as required by 38 & 39 Vict. c. 63, s. 14 (Rouch v. Hall, ante, p. 1412; Chappell v. Emson (1884), 48 J. P. 200).

It is not necessary for an inspector to prove that he is a duly authorised officer; so held by Channell and Avory, JJ., in Ross v. Helm, [1913] 3 K. B. 462; 77 J. P. 13. Cf. Kates v. Jeffery, [1914] 3 K. B. 160.

An inspector having taken a sample of milk, under s. 3, divided it, retained one part, and submitted the other part to be analysed:—Held, following Rouch v. Hall, that he was not bound to submit for analysis the whole of the sample taken by him (Rolfe v. Thompson, [1892] 2 Q. B. 196). And see Harris v. Williams, the facts of which are stated, ante, p. 1411.

The appellant, who lived at C., contracted with a dairy company for the sale to them of the milk from his dairy, to be delivered at London, or at such other station as the purchasers should from time to time appoint; the carriage of the milk from C. to be paid by the purchasers. The purchasers appointed H. as a station for the delivery of milk under the contract. The appellant consigned milk from C. to the purchasers at H.; immediately on its arrival at the latter station, and before possession was taken of it by the purchasers, a sample was taken by the respondent, which, upon analysis, was found to be adulterated by the addition of water:—Held, that, notwithstanding the provision for payment of the carriage by the purchasers, H. was the place of delivery of the milk to the purchasers within the meaning of the section; and the appellant was, therefore, rightly convicted of an offence under the Act (Filshie v. Evington, [1892] 2 Q. B. 200; 56 J. P. 312). And see Lush v. Wilson (1890), 54 J. P. 73, a decision by the Recorder of Reading as to the place of delivery.

The appellant contracted to supply milk to a workhouse at a certain price. By the contract the milk was to contain a certain percentage of cream, it was to be tested on each delivery, and a reduction was to be made in the price in respect of any deficiency of cream. While the daily supply, contained in five cans, was being delivered at the workhouse, the respondent, acting under the above section, procured a sample from each of the five cans. There being a large deficiency of cream in two of the samples, the respondent subsequently laid two separate informations against the appellant, in respect of those two samples, under s. 9 of the principal Act. The justices convicted the appellant in a separate penalty upon each information:—Held, that the procuring of each sample was a separate transaction; that the appellant had committed a separate offence as to each can in respect of which an information was laid; that the separate informations were therefore properly laid, and the convictions were right. It was also held that the provisions in the contract as to deficiency of cream were immaterial in the determination of the question whether the appellant had committed an offence under the Act (Fecitt v. Walsh, [1892] 2 Q. B. 304; 55 J. P. 726).

The servant of the defendant, a wholesale milk dealer, in pursuance of a contract between his master and a retail milk seller, took milk from his master's cart in cans belonging to his master into the retail milk seller's shop, and there poured it into empty cans belonging to the retail milk seller. An inspector and his assistant were present while this was being done, and immediately after the milk had been poured into the retail milk seller's cans the inspector took a sample of it, and it was held that the milk was still in course of delivery when the sample was taken (Semple v. Dunbar (1905), 7 F. (Just. Cas.) 65).

Penalty for refusal to give milk for analysis.

4. The seller or consignor or any person or persons entrusted by him for the time being with the charge of such milk, if he shall refuse to allow such officer, inspector, or constable to take the quantity which such officer, inspector, or constable shall require for the purpose of analysis, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds

Sale in streets, etc.

5. Any street or open place of public resort shall be held to come within the meaning of section seventeen of the principal Act (x).

The sample must be fairly taken and fairly represent the bulk of the milk in course of delivery. Where a dairy farmer supplied a dairyman with 22 gallons of milk in pursuance of a contract to supply 40 gallons of milk daily, and the 22 gallons were supplied in three cans, of which two contained 8 gallons each, and the other 6 gallons, and the whole of the two cans of 8 gallons each, together with 4 gallons from the can containing 6 gallons, were poured into one vessel, and the remaining 2 gallons into another, and an inspector took a sample from each of these vessels, which, when analysed, showed 3·05 per cent. milk fat in the sample from the vessel containing 20 gallons, but only 2·8 per cent. in the other sample, it was held that this latter sample was not a fair sample of the 6 gallons contained in the original can (Longwell v. Hobson, 1907, S. C. (J.) 11). A consignment of milk was delivered in sixteen cans which were cylindrical in shape and about two feet deep. Each can was taken into a store room by the consignee's servant, where it was opened by him. An inspector then agitated the milk in the can with a wooden spoon about a foot in length, and a sample was taken by dipping a measure into the milk just under the surface and removing about 14 ounces. Samples were thus taken from fourteen of the cans. The court were of opinion that the method of sampling was not unfair or improper, and that it afforded a fair test of the contents of each can (Bulmer v. Flyn, 1906, S. C. (J.) 56). An inspector saw the respondent deliver milk to a woman by pouring it into a jug. As soon as she had paid for the milk she went into her house and shut the door. The inspector then knocked at the door, and it was opened by the woman, who still had the jug in her hand, the milk being in the same condition as when she received it. The respondent was under a contract to deliver to the woman pure milk from the cow. Upon analysis it was found that the milk contained 50 per cent. of added water. It was held by Pickford and Lush, JJ., Lord Alverstone C.J. dissenting, that there was evidence upon which the justices could find that delivery was complete before the sample had been taken (Bennett v. Hopkins, [1911] W. N. 150; 75 J. P. 446). The appellant, who was a milk vendor, made a written contract with one L. for the supply of pure milk to C. The contract provided that "the milk shall be delivered to the purchaser at Bethnal Green railway station of the Great Western Railway Co., and arrival of the milk at the said railway station shall constitute delivery to the vendor to the purchaser. Under this contract the appellant consigned a churn of milk to C. at the above station. On the arrival the consignee was present at the station, but the police took possession of the churn as it was removed from the train, and prevented the consignee from receiving it. About twenty minutes later the respondent an inspector under the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts, arrived at the station and took a sample of the milk from the churn. On an information by the respondent against the appellant which alleged that the respondent had purchased at the place of delivery a sample of milk then in course of delivery, and that it was part of the nature, substance and quality of the article demanded by the purchaser, the justices found that the sample was procured at the place of delivery and in course of delivery, and they convicted the appellant. It was held that there was evidence to support the finding of the justices, that the sample was taken when the milk was in course of delivery, and the conviction must be affirmed (Cox v. Hewitt, [1913] 1 K. B. 275; 81 J. P. 59). A dairyman delivered a consignment of 42 gallons of milk in six barrels which were sampled thus. Four barrels were poured out separately and a sample taken of each. The fifth and sixth were poured together and a sample taken. An average of the five samples was then taken as representing the quality of the entire consignment. It was held that the method adopted was fair and proper and would be prejudice to the defendant (Lawson v. Rodger, [1911] S. C. (J.) 24).

The defendant may be convicted upon a summons alleging an offence under s. 6 of the principal Act, although it is proved that there was a sample under this section, unless he applies for an amendment or adjournment under s. 1 of the S. J. A., 1848 (Hunt v. Wallis, [1894], 58 J. P. 461; 70 L. T. 374).

The power given by this section cannot be exercised by an inspector of nuisances outside the district for which he was appointed (Wallace v. Clare, [1899] 1 Q. B. 94; 67 L. J. Q. B. 61).

The sample may be procured by the assistant of an analyst and in such case [illegible] proceedings will be properly instituted and carried on by and in the name of the inspector himself (Tyler v. Dairy Supply Co. (1908), 72 J. P. 132; 98 L. T. 867).

(x) Ante, p. 1413.

Reduction of spirit allowed.

6. In determining whether an offence has been committed under section x of the said Act by selling, to the prejudice of the purchaser, spirits not ulterated otherwise than by the admixture of water, it shall be a good fence to prove that such admixture has not reduced the spirit more than renty-five degrees under proof for brandy, whisky, or rum, or thirty-five grees under proof for gin (y).

Extension of meaning of "county."

7. Every liberty having a separate court of quarter sessions, except a berty of a cinque port, shall be deemed to be a county within the meaning the said Act.

8. [Quarter sessions boroughs not to contribute to county analyst] (z).

Provision for boroughs with separate police.

9. The town council of any borough having under any general or local ct of Parliament, or otherwise, a separate police establishment, and being ble to be assessed to the county rate of the county within which the rough is situate, shall be paid by the justices of such county the proportion- e amount contributed towards the expenses incurred by the county in the ecution of the principal Act by the several parishes and parts of parishes thin such borough in respect of the rateable value of the property assessable erein, as ascertained by the valuation lists for the time being in force (a).

10. [Special provision as to time for proceedings] (b).

(y) This section was passed in consequence of the decisions in Pashler v. Stevenitt 877), 41 J. P. 136; 35 L. T. 862; Webb v. Knight (1876), 2 Q. B. D. 530; 41 J. P. 726. Where the appellant sold to the respondent gin more than thirty-five degrees under oof, but at the time of sale brought to his knowledge a printed notice hanging up in e room to the effect that all spirits were sold "as diluted spirits, no alcoholic strength aranteed," it was held that this section did not deprive the appellant of his ground of fence under 38 & 39 Vict. c. 63, s. 6, that the sale was not to the prejudice of the rchaser (Gage v. Elsey (1883), 10 Q. B. D. 518; 47 J. P. 391). See Newby v. Sims, te, p. 1414; Morris v. Johnson, Morris v. Askew, and Dawes v. Wilkinson, ante, 1409.

(z) This section is repealed by the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, as to boroughs which that Act applies, and is altogether repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894, being perseded by ss. 31—39 of the L. G. A., 1888, ante, p. 760.

(a) See the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, s. 29, ante, p. 1420. In a borough ving a population of less than 10,000 the power of appointing analysts is transferred the county council by s. 39 of the L. G. A., 1888, ante, p. 766. By s. 1 of the Weights d Measures Act, 1893, when the amount received by the county council from the ecution of the Weights and Measures Acts, 1878—1892, is in excess of the expendi- re thereupon, a proportionate part of such excess amount shall be deducted from any m due to such borough as is mentioned in s. 1 of the Weights and Measures Act, 1893, a recoupment under the Contagious Diseases (Animals) Acts (now see the Diseases of imals Act, 1894), or the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts respectively.

(b) This section is repealed by the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, s. 27, and hedule, post, p. 1866. See now as to time for proceedings, s. 19 of that Act, and tt v. Mattinson (1900), 64 J. P. 615; 82 L. T. 800.

THE PETROLEUM ACT, 1879.

(42 & 43 VICT. c. 47) (c).

An Act to continue and amend the Petroleum Act, 1871.

[11th August 1879.]

Short title and construction of Act. 34 & 35 Vict. c. 105.

1. This Act may be cited as the Petroleum Act, 1879.

This Act shall be construed as one with the Petroleum Act, 1871, and together with that Act may be cited as the Petroleum Acts, 1871 and 1879.

Definition of petroleum. 34 & 35 Vict. c. 105.

2. (d) . . . In the Petroleum Act, 1871, the term "petroleum to which this Act applies" shall mean such of the petroleum defined by section three of that Act as, when tested in manner set forth in Schedule One to this Act, gives off an inflammable vapour at a temperature of less than seventy-three degrees of Fahrenheit's thermometer.

Every reference in the Petroleum Act, 1871, to Schedule One to that Act shall be construed to refer to Schedule One to this Act.

Verification of test apparatus.

3. A model of the apparatus for testing petroleum, as described in Schedule One to this Act, shall be deposited with the Board of Trade, and the Board of Trade shall, on payment of such fee, not exceeding five shillings, as they from time to time prescribe, cause to be compared with such model and verified every apparatus constructed in accordance with Schedule One to this Act which is submitted to them for the purpose, and if the same is found correct shall stamp the same with a mark approved of by the Board and notified in the London Gazette.

An apparatus for testing petroleum purporting to be stamped with the said mark shall, until the contrary is proved, be deemed to have been verified by the Board of Trade.

All fees under this section shall be paid into the Exchequer (e).

FIRST SCHEDULE.

MODE OF TESTING PETROLEUM SO AS TO ASCERTAIN THE TEMPERATURE AT WHICH IT WILL GIVE OFF INFLAMMABLE VAPOUR.

Specification of the Test Apparatus.

The following is a description of the details of the apparatus:

The oil cup consists of a cylindrical vessel 2″ diameter, $2\frac{2}{10}$″ height (internal), with outward projecting rim $\frac{5}{10}$″ wide, $\frac{3}{8}$″ from the top, and $1\frac{7}{8}$″ from the bottom of the cup. It is made of gun metal or brass (17 B.W.G.) tinned inside. A bracket, consisting of a short stout piece of wire bent upwards and terminating in a point, is fixed to the inside of the cup to serve as a gauge. The distance of the point from the bottom of the cup is $1\frac{1}{2}$″. The cup is provided with a close-fitting overlapping cover made of brass (22 B.W.G.), which carries the thermometer and test lamp. The latter is suspended from two supports from the side by means of trunnions, upon which it may be made to oscillate, it is provided with a spout, the mouth of which is one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter. The socket which is to hold the thermometer is fixed at such an angle and its length is so adjusted that the bulb of the thermometer when inserted to its full depth shall be $1\frac{1}{2}$″ below the centre of the lid.

(e) Sections 4—6 were repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. Section 4 related to the continuance of 34 & 35 Vict. c. 105, s. 5 to the commencement of this Act, and s. 6 to the repeal of certain parts of 34 & 35 Vict. c. 105.

The cover is provided with three square holes, one in the centre, $\frac{5}{10}$" by $\frac{4}{10}$", and o smaller ones, $\frac{3}{10}$" by $\frac{2}{10}$", close to the sides and opposite each other. These three les may be closed and uncovered by means of a slide moving in grooves, and having rforations corresponding to those on the lid.

In moving the slide so as to uncover the holes, the oscillating lamp is caught by a n fixed in the slide, and tilted in such a way as to bring the end of the spout just low the surface of the lid. Upon the slide being pushed back so as to cover the les, the lamp returns to its original position.

Upon the cover, in front of and in line with the mouth of the lamp, is fixed a white ad, the dimensions of which represent the size of the test flame to be used.

The bath or heated vessel consists of two flat-bottomed copper cylinders (24 B.W.G.), inner one of 3" diameter and $2\frac{1}{2}$" height, and an outer one of $5\frac{1}{2}$" diameter and " height; they are soldered to a circular copper plate (20 B.W.G.) perforated in the ntre, which forms the top of the bath, in such a manner as to enclose the space tween the two cylinders, but leaving access to the inner cylinder. The top of the th projects both outwards and inwards about $\frac{3}{8}$"; that is, its diameter is about $\frac{6}{8}$" eater than that of the body of the bath, while the diameter of the circular opening the centre is about the same amount less than that of the inner copper cylinder. the inner projection of the top is fastened, by six small screws, a flat ring of onite, the screws being sunk below the surface of the ebonite, to avoid metallic ntact between the bath and the oil cup. The exact distance between the sides and ttom of the bath and of the oil lamp is one-half of an inch. A split socket similar that on the cover of the oil cup, but set at a right angle, allows a thermometer to inserted into the space between the two cylinders. The bath is further provided th a funnel, an overflow pipe, and two loop handles.

The bath rests upon a cast-iron tripod stand, to the ring of which is attached a per cylinder or jacket (24 B.W.G.) flanged at the top, and of such dimensions that bath, while firmly resting on the iron ring, just touches with its projecting top the ward-turned flange. The diameter of this outer jacket is $6\frac{1}{2}$". One of the three legs the stand serves as support for the spirit lamp attached to it by means of a small ing bracket. The distance of the wick holder from the bottom of the bath is 1".

Two thermometers are provided with the apparatus, the one for ascertaining the nperature of the bath, the other for determining the flashing point. The thermo- ter for ascertaining the temperature of the water has a long bulb and a space at the . Its range is from about 90° to 190° Fahrenheit. The scale (in degrees of hrenheit) is marked out on an ivory back fastened to the tube in the usual way. is fitted with a metal collar, fitting the socket, and the part of the tube below the le should have a length of about $3\frac{1}{2}$" measured from the lower end of the scale to end of the bulb. The thermometer for ascertaining the temperature of the oil is ed with collar and ivory scale in a similar manner to the one described. It has a nd bulb, a space at the top, and ranges from about 55° F. to 150° F.; it measures m end of ivory back to bulb $2\frac{1}{4}$".

Note.—A model apparatus is deposited at the Weights and Measures Department he Board of Trade.

Directions for applying the Flashing Test.

1. The test apparatus is to be placed for use in a position where it is not exposed to rrents of air or draughts.

2. The heating vessel or water bath is filled by pouring water into the funnel until egins to flow out at the spout of the vessel. The temperature of the water at the mmencement of the test is to be 130° Fahrenheit, and this is attained in the first tance either by mixing hot and cold water in the bath, or in a vessel from which bath is filled, until the thermometer which is provided for testing the temperature he water gives the proper indication; or by heating the water with the spirit lamp ich is attached to the stand of the apparatus) until the required temperature is icated.

If the water has been heated too highly, it is easily reduced to 130° by pouring in l water little by little (to replace a portion of the warm water) until the thermo- ter gives the proper reading.

When a test has been completed, this water bath is again raised to 130° by placing lamp underneath, and the result is readily obtained while the petroleum cup is ng emptied, cooled, and refilled with a fresh sample to be tested. The lamp is then ued on its swivel from under the apparatus, and the next test is proceeded with.

3. The test lamp is prepared for use by fitting it with a piece of flat plaited candle-wick, and filling it with colza or rape oil up to the lower edge of the opening of the spout or wick tube. The lamp is trimmed so that when lighted it gives a flame of about 0·15 of an inch diameter, and this size of flame which is represented by the projecting white bead on the cover of the oil cup is readily maintained by simple manipulation from time to time with a small wire trimmer.

When gas is available it may be conveniently used in place of the little oil lamp, and for this purpose a test-flame arrangement for use with gas may be substituted for the lamp.

4. The bath having been raised to the proper temperature, the oil to be tested is introduced into the petroleum cup, being poured in slowly until the level of the liquid just reaches the point of the gauge which is fixed in the cup. In warm weather the temperature of the room in which the samples to be tested have been kept should be observed in the first instance, and if it exceeds 65° the samples to be tested should be cooled down (to about 60°) by immersing the bottles containing them in cold water, or by any other convenient method. The lid of the cup, with the slide closed, is then put on, and the cup is placed into the bath or heating vessel. The thermometer in the lid of the cup has been adjusted so as to have its bulb just immersed in the liquid, and its position is not under any circumstances to be altered. When the cup has been placed in the proper position, the scale of the thermometer faces the operator.

5. The test lamp is then placed in position upon the lid of the cup, the lead line or pendulum, which has been fixed in a convenient position in front of the operator, is set in motion, and the rise of the thermometer in the petroleum cup is watched. When the temperature has reached about 66° the operation of testing is to be commenced, the test-flame being applied once for every rise of one degree, in the following manner:

The slide is slowly drawn open while the pendulum performs three oscillations, and is closed during the fourth oscillation.

NOTE.—If it is desired to employ the test apparatus to determine the flashing points of oils of very low vitality, the mode of proceeding is to be modified as follows:

The air chamber which surrounds the cup is filled with cold water, to a depth of 1½ inches, and the heating vessel or water bath is filled as usual, but also with cold water. The lamp is then placed under the apparatus and kept there during the entire operation. If a very heavy oil is being dealt with, the operation may be commenced with water previously heated to 120°, instead of with cold water (f).

THE PUBLIC WORKS LOANS ACT, 1879.

(42 & 43 VICT. c. 77) (g).

An Act to amend the Acts relating to the Public Works Loan Commissioners and the Commissioners of Public Works in Ireland, and to grant money for the purpose of Loans by the said Commissioners; and for other purposes in relation thereto. [15th August 1879.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Public Works Loans Act, 1879."

PART I.

AMENDMENT OF ACTS.

Minimum rate of interest for loans.

2. Where a loan is granted by the Public Works Loan Commissioners, or by the Commissioners of Public Works in Ireland, and the rate of interest for such loan, fixed by the special Act which authorises the Commissioners to grant the loan, is a special rate less than five per cent., such loan shall, notwithstanding anything in the special Act, bear interest at a rate not less than the rate in the special Act, and such other rate as may be necessary

(f) The Second Schedule, containing the repealed parts of the Petroleum Act, 187[illegible] was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894.

(g) See the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, ante, p. 1435. The preamble to this Act was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. As to the omission of the clause of enactment see s. 4 of that Act.

n the judgment of the Treasury, in order to enable the loans to be made vithout loss to the Exchequer (h).

3. [Restrictions on amount of loan to one borrower] (i).

4. Nothing in this Act shall apply to any loan granted before the passing f this Act, nor to any instalments subsequently advanced in respect of such oan . . . (k). Act not to apply to old loans.

Provided, that where though a loan has not been actually granted before he passing of this Act, negotiations for the same have proceeded so far as o make it in the opinion of the Treasury inequitable for such loan to be ubject to the provisions of this Act or any of them, such loan shall, for the urposes of those provisions, be deemed to be a loan granted before the assing of this Act.

THE PUBLIC WORKS LOANS ACT, 1881.

(44 & 45 VICT. C. 38) (o).

n Act to grant money for the purposes of Loans by the Public Works Loan Commissioners and the Commissioners of Public Works in Ireland; and for other purposes relating to Loans by those Commissioners.

[22nd August 1881.]

1. This Act may be cited as "The Public Works Loans Act, 1881." Short title.

PART I.

Grants of Money for Public Works Loan Commissioners during the period ending 30th June, 1882.

(h) In the application of this Act to loans granted after June 28th, 1892, the above ection is to have effect as if 4 per cent. were therein substituted for 5 per cent. See the ublic Works Loans Act, 1892, s. 2.

(i) This section is repealed by the Public Works Loans Act, 1897, ss. 3, 12 (4), and ched. II.

(k) The remainder of this paragraph relating to local matters or Irish matters only is ere omitted.

(m) This section was repealed by the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890, s. 102. e now s. 67 of that Act.

(n) These sections were repealed by the National Debt and Local Loans Act, 1887, as om the date when an Act passed in the year 1887, authorising the advance of money r local loans (the Public Works Loans Act, 1887), came into operation, and without rejudice to any charge on the Consolidated Fund of any advance until the security r such advance should be exchanged in pursuance of the repealing Act. Section 9 nd merely a local application, and is now repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1894. Section 10 elating to the provision of money for the purpose of loans), s. 11 (relating to Ireland nly), and the Schedule (containing certain repealed enactments), are also repealed by he same Act.

PART II.

Grant of Money for Public Works Commissioners, Ireland, during the period ending 30th June, 1882.

PART III.

Remission, etc. of Loans in various cases.

* * * * * *

AMENDMENT OF ACTS.

Amendment of 38 & 39 Vict. c. 89, s. 22, as to rate of interest for loan.

7. Where the Public Works Loan Commissioners have, either before or after the passing of this Act, in pursuance of the Public Works Loans Act, 1875 (p), or of any enactment repealed by that Act, taken possession of any mortgaged property, and after the passing of this Act advance any sum for the completion, repair, improvement or security of that property, the rate of interest on such sum shall, notwithstanding anything in section twenty-two of the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, or any like enactment repealed by that Act, be not less than five per cent. per annum.

Expenses of ascertaining (under 38 & 39 Vict. c. 89, s. 36) that loans advanced by the Public Works Loan Commissioners have been properly applied.

8. The Local Government Board (qq) may make orders as to the expenses incurred by them or by any officer appointed by them in making or conducting any examination in pursuance of section thirty-six (q) of the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, for the purpose of ascertaining that any loan or part of a loan advanced by the Public Works Loan Commissioners either before or after the passing of this Act, on the security of a rate, has been applied to the purpose for which the same was advanced.

Any such order may contain directions as to the parties by whom, and the rates out of which such expenses shall be borne, and on the application of the Local Government Board may be made a rule of the High Court of Justice in England, or of High Court of Session in either division of the Inner House thereof in Scotland.

Application of surplus balances of loans made by the Public Works Loan Commissioners.

9. The unapplied balance of any loan advanced by the Public Works Loan Commissioners, either before or after the passing of this Act, on the security of a rate, may, with the consent of the said commissioners, and of the central authority or department, if any, with whose sanction or consent such loan was authorised to be raised, be applied to any purpose to which moneys borrowed on the security of such rate are properly applicable; and in construing section thirty-six (q) of the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, and section four (r) of the Public Works Loans Act, 1878, the purpose to which any such unapplied balance as aforesaid is so applied, shall be deemed to be the purpose for which that portion of the loan was advanced (s).

41 Vict. c. 18.

* * * * * *

(p) See s. 22, ante, p. 1441.
(q) See the section, ante, p. 1446.
(qq) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Ministry of Health.
(r) See this section, ante, p. 1501.
(s) It will be observed that the present section applies only to unapplied balances loans advanced by the Public Works Loan Commissioners. If, therefore, a loan sanctio issued by the L. G. B. or Ministry of Health has been only partially acted upon, t section will not facilitate an advance of the balance by the Commissioners for t purposes of works not at first contemplated.
Section 10 relates to local matters only; and the remaining sections of the Act apply only to Ireland.

THE PETROLEUM (HAWKERS) ACT, 1881.

(44 & 45 VICT. c. 67) (t).

An Act to regulate the Hawking of Petroleum and other substances of a like nature. [27th August 1881.]

Power to hawk petroleum. 34 & 35 Vict. c. 105.

1. Any person who is licensed in pursuance of the Petroleum Act, 1871, to keep petroleum to which that Act applies may, subject to the enactments for the time being in force with respect to hawkers and pedlars, hawk such petroleum by himself or his servants (u).

Regulations for hawking petroleum.

2. With respect to the hawking of petroleum to which the Petroleum Act, 1871, applies, the following regulations shall be observed:

(1) The amount of petroleum conveyed at one time in any one carriage shall not exceed twenty gallons:

(2) The petroleum shall be conveyed in a closed vessel so constructed as to be free from leakage:

(3) The carriage in which the vessels containing the petroleum are conveyed shall be so ventilated as to prevent any evaporation from the petroleum mixing with the air in or about the carriage in such proportion as to produce or be liable to produce an explosive mixture:

(4) Any fire or light or any article of an explosive or highly inflammable nature shall not be brought into or dangerously near to the carriage in which the vessels containing the petroleum are conveyed:

(5) The carriage in which the vessels containing the petroleum are conveyed shall be so constructed or fitted that the petroleum cannot escape therefrom in the form of liquid, whether ignited or otherwise:

(6) Proper care shall be taken to prevent any petroleum escaping into any part of a house or building, or of the curtilage thereof, or into a drain or sewer:

(7) The petroleum shall be stored in some premises licensed for keeping of petroleum and in accordance with the licence for such premises both every night, and also when the petroleum is not in the course of being hawked:

(8) All due precautions shall be taken for the prevention of accidents by fire or explosion, and for preventing unauthorised persons having access to the vessels containing the petroleum, and every person concerned in hawking the petroleum shall abstain from any act whatever which tends to cause fire or explosion, and is not reasonably necessary for the purpose of such hawking:

(9) No article or substance of an explosive or inflammable character other than petroleum, nor any article liable to cause or communicate fire or explosion, shall be in the carriage while such carriage is being used for the purpose of hawking petroleum.

In the event of any contravention of this section with reference to any (t) See the Petroleum Acts, 1871 and 1879, ante, p. 1382, ante, p. 1524; and the Locomotives on Highways Act, 1896, s. 5. As to hawking petroleum in a cart before the passing of this Act, see Coleman v. Goldsmith (1879), 43 J. P. 718. As to the omission of the clause of enactment to this Act, see s. 4 of the S. L. R. A., 1894.

(u) A hawker's licence will be necessary. See the Hawkers Act, 1888. As to what constitutes hawking petroleum, see s. 6, post, p. 1530. Where a shopkeeper was in the habit of calling on certain days by request with a horse and cart at the houses of customers to supply petroleum which he brought in the cart, not knowing before he reached the house how much, or if any, oil was required, it was held that he was a hawker, and must be licensed as such (O'Dea v. Crowhurst (1899), 68 L. J. Q. B. 655; 63 J. P. 424. See also Holland v. Hall (1902), 66 J. P. 424; 86 L. T. 355).

petroleum, the petroleum, together with the vessels containing and the carriage conveying the same, shall be liable to be forfeited, and in addition thereto the licensee by whom or by whose servants the petroleum was being hawked shall be liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

Provided that—

(1) Where some servant of the licensee or other person has in fact committed the offence, such servant or other person shall be liable to the same penalty as if he were the licensee:

(2) Where the licensee is charged with a contravention of this section, he shall be entitled upon information duly laid by him to have any other person whom he charges as the actual offender brought before the court at the time appointed for hearing the charge, and if the licensee proves to the satisfaction of that court that he had used due diligence to enforce the execution of this section, and that the said other person had committed the offence in question without his knowledge, consent, or connivance, the said other person shall be summarily convicted of such offence, and the licensee shall be exempt from any penalty.

Any petroleum other than that to which the Petroleum Act, 1871, applies while in any carriage used for the hawking of petroleum to which the Petroleum Act, 1871, applies, shall for the purposes of this section be deemed to be petroleum to which the Petroleum Act, 1871, applies.

Modification of conditions licence under 34 & 35 Vict. c. 105.

3. Any conditions annexed to a licence granted in pursuance of the Petroleum Act, 1871 (x) . . . shall, so far as they are inconsistent with this Act, be void, but save as aforesaid nothing in this Act shall affect the application to a licensee of the provisions of the Petroleum Act, 1871, or of any licence granted thereunder.

Power of constable as to prevention of offences.

4. Where a constable or any officer authorised by the local authority has reasonable cause to believe that a contravention of this Act is being committed in relation to any petroleum, he may seize and detain such petroleum and the vessels and carriage containing the same, until some court of summary jurisdiction has determined whether there was or not a contravention of this Act, and section thirteen of the Petroleum Act, 1871, shall apply to such constable and officer as if he were the person named in the warrant mentioned in that section, and as if the seizure were a seizure in pursuance of that section.

Saving of rights of municipal boroughs.

5. Nothing in this Act contained shall extend to authorise the hawking of petroleum within the limits of any municipal borough in which, by any lawful authority, such hawking shall have been or may hereafter be forbidden.

Definitions.

6. For the purposes of this Act—

The expression "carriage" includes any carriage, waggon, cart, truck, vehicle, or other means of conveyance by land, in whatever manner the same may be drawn or propelled; and

A person shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to hawk petroleum if by himself or his servants he goes about carrying petroleum to sell, whether going from town to town or to other men's houses, or selling it in the streets of the place of his residence or otherwise, and whether with or without any horse or other beast bearing or drawing burden.

7. This Act may be cited as the Petroleum (Hawkers) Act, 1881. This Act shall be construed as one with the Petroleum Acts, 1871 and 1879, and together with those Acts may be cited as the Petroleum Acts, 1871 to 1881. Short title and construction of Act. 34 & 35 Vict. c. 105. 42 & 43 Vict. c. 47.

THE COMMONABLE RIGHTS COMPENSATION ACT, 1882.

(45 & 46 VICT. c. 15) (y).

An Act to provide for the better application of moneys paid by way of Compensation for the compulsory acquisition of Common Lands and extinguishment of Rights of Common. [19th June 1882.]

1. This Act may be cited as the Commonable Rights Compensation Act, 1882. Short title.

2.—(1) With respect to any money which has been or hereafter may be paid by any railway or other public company or corporate body or otherwise under the provisions of the Lands Clauses Act (z) and any Act incorporated therewith, or of any other Act of Parliament to a committee of commoners (a) as compensation for the extinguishment of commonable or other rights or for lands being common lands or in the nature thereof the right to the soil of which may belong to the commoners, the committee (or a majority in number thereof) or, after the expiration of twelve months from the payment of such money to the committee, any three of the persons claiming to be interested in such money may make application in writing to the Commissioners (b) to call a meeting of the persons interested in such money to consider the application thereof, and the Commissioners shall call a meeting accordingly, and at such meeting the majority in number and the majority in Application of compensation money for common lands.

(y) This Act is included in this Appendix by reason of the provision which it contains in s. 2 (5), vesting recreation grounds in urban sanitary authorities when these are purchased out of moneys paid for the extinction of commonable rights under the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, and special Acts which authorise the taking or interfering with common lands. The preamble is repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1898.

(a) As to this Committee, see the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, s. 103, ante, p. 1181, and the case of Salmon v. Edwards, [1910] 1 Ch. 552; 74 J. P. 177, there set out. Before 1802 the occupiers of certain cottages were accustomed to cut turf on large tracts of commonable and waste lands of a manor. In that year an Inclosure Act was passed by which commissioners were empowered to allot lands in severalty to the lord and other persons interested, and to allot to the lord in trust for the occupiers of the cottages portions of the waste for a turf common, to be managed as the lord and the churchwardens and overseers should order, and not to be depastured. The commissioners by their award, made in 1806, allotted to the lord of the manor, in trust for the occupiers for the time being of the cottages, 425 acres of waste for a turf common for the use of the cottagers. The commissioners also allotted to the lord and other persons interested portions of the enclosed lands in severalty in lieu of their rights and interests. A railway company took for the purposes of their undertaking part of the land allotted as a turf common, and the purchase money was paid into court. On a petition by the freeholder of the cottages for the distribution of the fund, it was held that the owners of the cottages had no claim on the fund; and that the lord of the manor was entitled to such part of the fund as represented the value of the soil in the land taken by the company. It was also held that the remainder of the fund was to be held as a charitable trust for the benefit of the occupiers of the cottages (Att.-Gen. v. Meyrick; In re Christchurch Inclosure Act, [1893] A. C. 1; 57 J. P. 212). See this case commented on in Simcoe v. Pethick, [1898] 2 Q. B. 555. Where the relative values of commonable rights could not be strictly ascertained by reason of the land being built over, a fund was ordered to be divided equally among the commoners (Weatherley v. Layton (1892), W. N., p. 164).

respect of interest of the persons present may decide by resolution that such money shall be applied and laid out in one or more of the following ways :

(a) In the improvement of the remainder of the common land in respect of a portion of which such money has been paid ;

8 & 9 Vict c. 118, etc.

(b) In defraying the expense of any proceedings under the Metropolitan Commons Acts or under the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1878, with reference to a scheme for the local management, or a Provisional Order for the regulation, of such common land, or of any application to Parliament for a private Bill or otherwise for the preservation and management of such common land as an open space ;

(c) In defraying the expense of any legal proceedings for the protection of such common land, or the commoners' rights over the same ;

(d) In the purchase of additional land to be used as common land ;

(e) In the purchase of land to be used as a recreation ground for the neighbourhood (c) ;

and any such resolution shall bind the minority and all absent parties, and the Commissioners (d) shall make an order under their seal for the payment to them of any expenses incurred by them in relation to the matter, and (subject to such payment) for the application of the money according to such resolution, and the committee or the persons in whose names such money stands or is invested, or the survivors or survivor in account of such persons or the legal personal representative of such survivor, shall, upon service of any such order of the Commissioners (d) as aforesaid upon them or any of them or any person on their behalf as the Commissioners (d) may direct, pay and apply the said money or realise any security in which the same is invested, and pay and apply the proceeds thereof in manner directed by the said order.

(2) Any land so purchased as aforesaid for use as common land shall be conveyed to and vest in trustees upon trusts for the persons interested, such trustees to be appointed, and such trusts, and the powers and duties of the trustees, and provisions for the appointment of new trustees from time to time to be declared and provided by an order under the seal of the Commissioners (d), pursuant to resolutions to be passed at a special meeting of the persons interested, convened by the said Commissioners (d) by such majorities as aforesaid.

(3) Every appointment of a new trustee or of new trustees, in pursuance of this Act, shall be subject to confirmation by the Commissioners (d) under their seal, and upon such confirmation the land shall vest in the remaining and the newly-appointed trustees without any conveyance.

(4) The Commissioners (d) shall publish such notice of any meeting held under this Act, and frame such rules and give such directions for the conduct of such meetings and the service of orders made by them under this Act as they may deem fit, and may, if they think fit, direct an assistant commissioner appointed by them to preside at any such meeting, and any such meeting may be adjourned from time to time.

(5) Any land so purchased as aforesaid for use as recreation ground shall be conveyed to and vest in the local authority as specified in the Schedule to this Act (e) for the district within which such land is situate, and shall be held and managed by such local authority, subject to and in accordance with the provisions relating to recreation grounds respectively contained in the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1878 (f).

(c) It is only in this case that the urban district council have any interest. See sub-s. (5), infra.

(d) See note (a), ante, p. 1455.

(e) In urban districts this local authority is the urban sanitary authority. See the Schedule, post, p. 1533.

(f) 8 & 9 Vict. c. 118, ss. 34, 72—74, 92 ; 9 & 10 Vict. c. 70, s. 4 ; 15 & 16 Vict. c. 79

Application of compensation money for recreation grounds and field gardens.

3. Any moneys heretofore paid or hereafter to be paid by any railway or other public company or body corporate or otherwise under the provisions of the Lands Clauses Act, 1845, and any Act incorporated therewith, or of any other Act of Parliament, to any local authority as specified in the Schedule to this Act, or to the churchwardens and overseers of a parish in respect of any recreation ground or allotment for field gardens taken under the powers of any such Act or Acts of Parliament shall be applied in manner provided by the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1878, as amended by the Commons Act, 1879, with respect to the surplus rents arising from recreation grounds and field gardens respectively (g). 42 & 43 Vict. c. 37.

Provision for cases where money paid by way of compensation has already been applied in the manner authorised by this Act.

4. In any case where money paid by way of compensation as aforesaid has, before the passing of this Act, been applied in any one or more of the ways authorised by this Act, a resolution may be passed, at any meeting of the persons interested, called by the Commissioners in manner provided by this Act (h), by such majorities as aforesaid approving of such application, and such application shall, upon the allowance of such resolution by the Commissioners under their seal, be deemed to have been lawfully made under the provisions of this Act; and the committee or other persons by whom such money has been so applied shall thereupon be discharged from all liability in respect of such money so applied. And the provisions in this Act contained with respect to the declaration of trusts, and the powers and duties of trustees, and the appointment of new trustees, from time to time, shall apply in every case in which such money has, before the passing of this Act, been laid out in the purchase of land.

Deposit of orders.

5. Copies of all orders made by the Commissioners under this Act shall be deposited and kept in like manner as copies of an award are by the Inclosure Act, 1845, directed to be deposited and kept (i).

Exception of the New Forest.

6. This Act shall not extend to the New Forest (j).

THE BATHS AND WASHHOUSES ACT, 1882.

(45 & 46 VICT. c. 30) (k).

An Act to amend the Baths and Washhouses Acts. [24th July 1882.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as "The Baths and Washhouses Act, 1882," and shall be read as one with the Act of the ninth and tenth years of the reign of her present Majesty, chapter seventy-four, in this Act called "the principal Act."

Amendment of 9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 27.

2. Section twenty-seven of the principal Act (l) shall be amended by the addition of the words "or in the immediate neighbourhood of such borough or parish" to the words "in any such borough or parish" wherever such last-mentioned words occur in the said section.

Amendment of 9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 24.

3. The power conferred by section twenty-four of the principal Act to purchase or rent lands for the purposes of that Act shall extend to lands in the immediate neighbourhood of such borough or parish as is therein referred to.

THE MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS ACT, 1882.

(45 & 46 VICT. c. 50) (m).

An Act for consolidating, with amendments, enactments relating to Municipal Corporations in England and Wales. [18th August 1882.]

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882.

Division of Act into Parts.

2. This Act is divided into Parts, as follows:

Part I.—Preliminary.
Part II.—Constitution and government of borough.
Part III.—Preparations for and procedure at elections.
Part IV.—Corrupt practices and election petitions.
Part V.—Corporate property and liabilities.
Part VI.—Charitable and other trusts and powers.
Part VII.—Borough fund: borough rate: county rate.
Part VIII.—Administration of justice.
Part IX.—Police.
Part X.—Freemen.
Part XI.—Grant of charters.
Part XII.—Legal proceedings.

(m) A large portion of this Act has been applied with adaptations by the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 902, to the district councils of urban districts not being boroughs to which this Act of itself applies, and to rural district councils. Certain portions have also a close connection with some of the enactments set out in the body of this Work so far as those enactments apply to the councils of boroughs to which this Act applies in respect of their functions as sanitary authorities. All these portions of the Act have been more or less fully referred to in the notes to those enactments, including the L. G. A., 1894. It seems, therefore, unnecessary, and would also for want of space be almost impossible

3. This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland. Extent.

4. [Commencement, 31*st December*, 1882.]

5. [Repeals.]

6. This Act shall apply to every city and town to which the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, applies at the commencement of this Act, and to any town, district, or place whereof the inhabitants are incorporated after the commencement of this Act, and whereto the provisions of the Municipal Corporations Acts are under this Act extended by charter, but to no other place. Application.

7.—(1) In this Act— Interpretation and construction.

"Municipal corporation" means the body corporate constituted by the incorporation of the inhabitants of a borough:

"Municipal Corporations Act, 1835," means the recited Act of King William the Fourth, the date of the passing whereof is the ninth of September one thousand eight hundred and thirty-five:

"Municipal Corporations Acts" means this Act and any Act to be passed amending this Act:

"Burgess" includes citizen:

"Corporate seal" means the common seal of a municipal corporation:

"Corporate office" means the office of mayor, alderman, councillor, elective auditor . . . (n):

"Corporate land" means land belonging to or held in trust for a municipal corporation:

"Municipal election" means an election to a corporate office:

"Parliamentary borough" means any borough, city, county of a city, county of a town, place, or combination of places, returning a member to serve in Parliament, and not being a county at large, or a riding, parts, or division of a county at large:

"Parliamentary election" means an election of a member to serve in Parliament:

"Parish" means any place for which a separate poor rate is or can be made (o):

"Overseers" means overseers of the poor of a parish, township, or place, and includes all persons who execute the duties of overseers:

"County" does not include a county of a city or county of a town, but includes a riding, parts, division, or liberty of a county:

"Trustees" means trustees, commissioners, or directors, or the persons charged with the execution of a trust or public duty, however designated:

to set out in full all parts of this Act having a bearing upon the subject of this Work. Accordingly only such parts are herein set out as have not already been sufficiently referred to.

For purposes of convenience a list is here subjoined of the sections already sufficiently referred to as above stated:

Section 11, ante, p. 924, note (d): s. 12, ante, p. 924, note (d), and p. 952, note (a); ss. 25—27, ante, p. 540, note (a) to s. 246 of the P. H. A., 1875; ss. 34, 35, ante, p. 963, note (b); s. 37, ante, p. 963, note (d); s. 39, ante, p. 959, note, and note to s. 46 (6) of the L. G. A., 1894; s. 40, ante, p. 963, note (e); s. 56, ante, p. 964, note (f); s. 62, ante, p. 540, note (a) to s. 246 of the P. H. A., 1875; ss. 74, 75, ante, p. 962, notes to s. 48 (3) of the L. G. A., 1894.

The preamble to this Act and s. 4 are repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1898. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of the S. L. R. A., 1894.

(n) Revising assessors, who were also here originally included, were abolished by 51 & 52 Vict. c. 10, s. 4.

(o) See 52 & 53 Vict. c. 63, s. 5.

"Justice" means one of her Majesty's justices of the peace:

"Borough civil court" means an inferior court of record for the trial of civil actions which by charter, custom, or otherwise, is or ought to be holden in a borough, but does not include a county court:

"Schedule" means Schedule to this Act, and "Part" means Part of this Act:

. . . . . .

(2) Words in this Act referring to a borough, municipal corporation, authority, officer, or office, shall be construed distributively as referring to each borough, corporation, authority, officer, or office to which or to whom the provision is applicable.

(3) Words in this Act referring to a parish shall be construed, unless a contrary intention appears, as referring to every parish situate wholly or in part in a borough.

(4) The Schedules shall be read and have effect as if they were part of this Act.

PART II.

CONSTITUTION AND GOVERNMENT OF BOROUGH (p).

* * * * * *

Byelaws (q).

Power of council to make byelaws.

23.—(1) The council may, from time to time, make such byelaws as to them seem meet for the good rule and government of the borough (r), and for prevention and suppression of nuisances not already punishable in a summary manner by virtue of any Act in force throughout the borough, and may thereby appoint such fines, not exceeding in any case five pounds, as they deem necessary for the prevention and suppression of offences against the same.

(2) Such a byelaw shall not be made unless at least two-thirds of the whole number of the council are present.

(3) Such a byelaw shall not come into force until the expiration of forty days after a copy thereof has been fixed on the town hall.

(4) Such a byelaw shall not come into force until the expiration of forty days after a copy thereof, sealed with the corporate seal, has been sent to the Secretary of State; and if within those forty days the Queen, with the advice of her Privy Council, disallows the byelaw or part thereof, the byelaw or part disallowed shall not come into force; but it shall be lawful for the Queen, at any time within those forty days, to enlarge the time within which the byelaw shall not come into force, and in that case the byelaw shall not come into force until after the expiration of that enlarged time.

(5) Any offence against such a byelaw may be prosecuted summarily (s).

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

(6) Nothing in this section shall interfere with the operation of section one hundred and eighty-seven of the Public Health Act, 1875 (t); and that

(p) By s. 15 of the Interpretation Act, 1889, the expression "borough" when used in relation to local government means any place for the time being subject to the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, and any reference to the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses of a borough shall include a reference to the mayor, aldermen, and citizens of a city, and any reference to the powers, duties, liabilities, or property of a borough shall be construed as a reference to the powers, duties, liabilities, or property of the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses of the borough acting by the council.

(r) See particularly ss. 47, 50, 171 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, pp. 116, 118, 393.

(t) See this section, ante, p. 445.

section shall have effect as if this section were therein referred to, instead of section ninety of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835; but nothing in the Public Health Act, 1875, shall be construed as having restricted the meaning or scope of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, or as restricting the meaning or scope of this section, with respect to prevention or suppression of nuisances.

Evidence of byelaws.

24. The production of a written copy of a byelaw made by the council under this Act, or under any former or present or future general or local Act of Parliament, if authenticated by the corporate seal shall, until the contrary is proved, be sufficient evidence of the due making and existence of the byelaw, and, if it is so stated in the copy, of the byelaw having been approved and confirmed by the authority whose approval or confirmation is required to the making or before the enforcing of the byelaw (u).

PART IV. (x).

Corrupt Practices and Election Petitions.

Corrupt Practices.

77. In this Part—

"Bribery," "treating," "undue influence," and "personation" include respectively anything done before, at, after, or with respect to a municipal election, which if done before, at, after, or with respect to a parliamentary election would make the person doing the same liable to any penalty, punishment, or disqualification for bribery, treating, undue influence, or personation, as the case may be, under any Act for the time being in force with respect to parliamentary elections (y):

. . . . . .

"Candidate" means a person elected, or having been nominated (z), or having declared himself a candidate for election, to a corporate office:

. . . . . .

"Voter" means a burgess or a person who votes or claims to vote at a municipal election:

"Election court" means a court constituted under this Part for the trial of an election petition:

"Municipal election petition" or "election petition" means a petition under this Part complaining of an undue municipal election.

(u) See s. 186 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 444, and Drew v. Harlow, ante, p. 445. Upon a proceeding before a court of summary jurisdiction to recover a penalty for a breach of a byelaw under this section, the production of a written copy of the byelaw authenticated by the corporate seal is sufficient evidence until the contrary is proved, not merely that the byelaw has been duly made, but also that all conditions precedent to its becoming a valid operative byelaw, such as the fixing of a copy of the byelaw for forty days on the town hall before it can come into force, having been complied with (Robinson v. Gregory, [1905] 1 K. B. 534; 69 J. P. 161). A copy of the byelaws of a county council having a copy of the corporate seal of the council printed upon it is not sufficient evidence of the byelaws, which must be proved by production of a copy sealed with the corporate seal of the council (Timothy v. Fenn (1910), 74 J. P. 123; 102 L. T. 283).

(x) It is necessary to include this Part in the present Work, as by s. 48 (3) of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 962, it now applies to elections of urban district councillors for districts not being boroughs and of rural district councillors. The rules made under this Act are also appended.

(z) Although in fact disqualified for election (Harford v. Lynskey, [1899] 1 Q. B. 852; 63 J. P. 263).

31 & 32 Vict. c. 125.

"Parliamentary election petition" means a petition under the Parliamentary Elections Act, 1868:

"Prescribed" means prescribed by general rules made under this Part:

"Borough" and "election" when used with reference to a petition mean the borough and election to which the petition relates (a).

* * * * * *

Avoidance of election for general corruption.

81. A municipal election shall be wholly avoided by such general corruption, bribery, treating, or intimidation at the election as would by the common law of Parliament avoid a parliamentary election.

* * * * * *

Striking off votes.

85. The votes of persons in respect of whom any corrupt practice is proved to have been committed at a municipal election shall be struck off on a scrutiny (b).

Personation.

86. The enactments for the time being in force for the detection of personation and for the apprehension of persons charged with personation at a parliamentary election shall apply in the case of a municipal election (c).

Election Petitions.

Power to question municipal election by petition.

87.—(1) A municipal election may be questioned by an election petition on the ground—

(a) That the election was as to the borough or ward wholly avoided by general bribery (d), treating (e), undue influence, or personation; or

(b) That the election was avoided by corrupt practices or offences against this Part committed at the election; or

(c) That the person whose election is questioned was at the time of the election disqualified (f); or

(d) That he was not duly elected by a majority of lawful votes (g).

(a) For the application of these definitions to elections of urban district councillors for districts not being boroughs and of rural district councillors, see the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 36, post, p. 1612, and the L. G. A., 1894, s. 48 (3), ante, p. 962.

(b) As to the striking off of the votes of persons guilty of illegal practices or payments, see the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 22, post, p. 1605.

(c) See ss. 85—89 of the Parliamentary Registration Act, 1843, and s. 24 of the Ballot Act, 1872.

(d) A single case of bribery avoids an election (Norwich Election Petition (1886), 54 L. T. 625). To offer a voter his travelling expenses if he will come and vote for a particular candidate is bribery (Packard v. Collings (1886), 54 L. T. 619).

(e) "Treating" is not the entertainment of equals by equals, but of an inferior by a superior with the object of securing the goodwill of the inferior (Norwich Election Petition, supra).

(f) At an election of councillors in a borough the returning officer does not decide upon the qualification of the candidate; that can only be done by petition under this section (Pritchard v. Bangor Corporation (1888), 13 App. Cas. 241; 52 J. P. 564). The disqualification here mentioned is one which existed at the time of the election. If a person becomes disqualified after election the proper remedy is by quo warranto (Howes v. Turner (1876), 1 C. P. D. 670; 40 J. P. 680. See also R. v. Beer, post, p. 1539).

(g) An election may also be questioned for illegal practices. See the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 25, post, p. 1606. A petition may be presented under this section against some only of the persons returned, though the ground of the petition is one affecting the validity of the election as a whole; and the court can in such petition declare the persons so petitioned against not to have been duly elected (Line v. Warren (1884), 14 Q. B. D. 548; 49 J. P. 516).

A petition presented under sub-s. (1) (d) involves a scrutiny. Where a returning officer improperly allowed an objection to a nomination, it was held that a petition would lie under this head, for if the nomination had not been rejected, the votes might have been differently given (Budge v. Andrews (1877), 3 C. P. D. 510). And a writ of prohibition or mandamus does not lie for the purpose of determining whether a returning officer has wrongly and illegally rejected the nomination paper of a candidate for a municipal election. The proper mode of determining this question is by petition

(2) A municipal election shall not be questioned on any of those grounds except by an election petition (h).

Presentation of petition.

88.—(1) An election petition may be presented either by four or more persons who voted or had a right to vote at the election or by a person alleging himself to have been a candidate at the election (i).

(2) Any person whose election is questioned by the petition, and any returning officer of whose conduct a petition complains, may be made a respondent to the petition (k).

(3) The petition shall be in the prescribed form and shall be signed by the petitioner, and shall be presented in the prescribed manner to the High Court in the Queen's Bench Division, and the prescribed officer (l) shall send a copy thereof to the town clerk, who shall forthwith publish it in the borough.

(4) It shall be presented within twenty-one days after the day on which the election was held (m), except that if it complains of the election on the

R. (O'Lehane) v. Dublin Town Clerk (1909), 43 Ir. L. T. 169). If an elector having notice or knowledge of the disqualification of a candidate wilfully votes for him, his vote is thrown away, but knowledge of the fact which creates a legal disqualification does not involve knowledge that the candidate is legally disqualified. In the case of Beresford-Hope v. Lady Sandhurst (1889), 23 Q. B. D. 79; 53 J. P. 805, it was held that votes given for a woman at a county council election were thrown away. Votes given in favour of a candidate before the voters have notice of any facts disqualifying him for election cannot be treated by the returning officer as thrown away, and unless notice of disqualification has been given the candidate who obtains the minority cannot on petition claim the seat (Hobbs v. Morey, [1904] 1 K. B. 74; 68 J. P. 132). In Boyce v. White (1905), 92 L. T. 240; 53 W. R. 430, the petitioner and respondent were the only candidates for the office of town councillor. Both were nominated, but the respondent at the time of his nomination was absent from the United Kingdom, and no written consent by him to such nomination given one month before such nomination was ever produced. The petitioner was not aware of this fact till the day of the poll, when it was too late to print and circulate in the constituency a notice of the objection to the respondent's nomination. The respondent was declared elected. On petition it was held that the court could only declare the election void and not that the petitioner was elected.

(h) Where this section applies there is no remedy by quo warranto (R. v. Morton, [1892] 1 Q. B. 39; 56 J. P. 105; and see R. v. Miles; Ex parte Cole (1895), 64 L. J. Q. B. 420; 59 J. P. 407). But a bankrupt although disqualified by s. 32 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, may, notwithstanding the text, still be ousted from holding or exercising office by means of a quo warranto (R. v. Beer, [1903] 2 K. B. 693; 67 J. P. 326). There must be the clearest evidence against a relator of animus on his part or acquiescence in a member acting while disqualified to make such objections good ground for the exercise of the discretion of the court in refusing to grant a writ of quo warranto to such a relator (R. (McCowen) v. Kelleher (1909), 43 Ir. L. T. 270).

(i) If duly nominated a person may petition although in fact disqualified for election and nomination (Harford v. Lynskey, ante, p. 1537).

(k) An unsuccessful candidate at an election cannot be made a respondent to a petition, although he coalesced for the purposes of the election with two successful candidates, so as to be responsible equally with them for any acts done by any of the three in furtherance of the common purpose (Lovering v. Dawson (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 726).

At a municipal election A. and B. were candidates for the office of councillor. A. obtained a majority of votes over B., and was declared elected, but refused to serve. B. thereupon claimed to have been elected, and having made the necessary declaration, acted on several occasions as councillor. A petition was presented against both A. and B., and both of them gave notice of their intention not to oppose the petition. No notice of A.'s disqualification was given to the electors. On an application by B. to the court that his name might be struck out of the petition, the court refused the application, holding that he was properly made a respondent (Yates v. Leach (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 605). As to making the returning officer a respondent, see Harmon v. Park (1880), 6 Q. B. D. 323; 45 J. P. 436; Wilson v. Ingham (1895), 64 L. J. Q. B. 775; 59 J. P. 614; Cirencester, Day's El. Cas. 3.

(m) The premature presentation of a petition does not nullify the petition, but is an irregularity which is capable of being waived by the person raising the objection (Re Grangemellon Election Petition, [1909] 2 I. R. 90).

ground of corrupt practices (n), and specifically alleges that a payment of money or other reward has been made or promised since the election by a person elected at the election, or on his account or with his privity, in pursuance or furtherance of such corrupt practices, it may be presented at any time within twenty-eight days after the date of the alleged payment or promise, whether or not any other petition against that person has been previously presented or tried.

Security for costs.

89.—(1) At the time of presenting an election petition or within three days afterwards, the petitioner shall give security for all costs, charges, and expenses which may become payable by him to any witness summoned on his behalf, or to any respondent.

(2) The security shall be to such amount, not exceeding five hundred pounds, as the High Court, or a judge thereof, on summons, directs, and shall be given in the prescribed manner (o), either by a deposit of money, or by recognizance entered into by not more than four sureties, or partly in one way and partly in the other.

(3) Within five days after the presentation of the petition the petitioner shall in the prescribed manner (o) serve on the respondent a notice of the presentation of the petition, and of the nature of the proposed security, and a copy of the petition.

(4) Within five days after service of the notice the respondent may object in writing to any recognizance on the ground that any surety is insufficient or is dead, or cannot be found or ascertained for want of a sufficient description in the recognizance, or that a person named in the recognizance has not duly acknowledged the same.

(5) An objection to a recognizance shall be decided in the prescribed manner (p).

(6) If the objection is allowed, the petitioner may, within a further prescribed time not exceeding five days, remove it by a deposit in the prescribed manner of such sum of money as will, in the opinion of the court or officer having cognizance of the matter, make the security sufficient.

(7) If no security is given, as prescribed, or any objection is allowed and is not removed, as aforesaid, no further proceedings shall be had on the petition.

Petition at issue.

90. On the expiration of the time limited for making objections, or, after objection made, on the objection being disallowed or removed, whichever last happens, the petition shall be at issue.

Municipal election list.

91.—(1) The prescribed officer (q) shall as soon as may be make a list, in this Act referred to as the municipal election list, of all petitions at issue, (n) For the corresponding provision as to illegal practices, see the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 25, post, p. 1606. That section also provides that any election petition presented within the time limited by the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, may, for the purpose of complaining of the election upon an allegation of an illegal practice, be amended with the leave of the High Court, within the time within which a petition complaining of the election on the ground of that illegal practice can, under that section, be presented. The court cannot after the period of twenty-one days here mentioned allow an amendment which would practically amount to a new petition, as by adding a charge of treating (Clark v. Lowley (1883), 52 L. J. Q. B. 321; 47 J. P. 551).

(o) See note (l), ante, p. 1539, and r. 26, post, p. 1551. Security need not be given for more than £500, although there are several respondents (Pease v. Norwood (1869), L. R. 4 C. P. 235). By r. 36, post, p. 1552, the petitioner or his agent must file an affidavit of the time and manner of the service immediately after such service. The observance of these provisions as to service of the petition is a condition precedent to the trial of the petition (Williams v. Tenby Corporation (1879), 5 C. P. D. 185; 44 J. P. 348).

placing them in the order in which they were presented, and shall keep at his office a copy of this list, open to inspection in the prescribed manner (r).

(2) The petitions shall, as far as conveniently may be, be tried in the order in which they stand in the list.

(3) Two or more candidates may be made respondents to the same petition, and their cases may be tried at the same time, but for the purpose of this Part the petition shall be deemed to be a separate petition against each respondent (s).

(4) Where more petitions than one are presented relating to the same election, or to elections held at the same time for different wards of the same borough, they shall be bracketed together in the list as one petition, but shall, unless the High Court otherwise directs, stand in the list in the place where the last of them would have stood if it had been the only petition relating to that election.

Constitution of election court.

92.—(1) An election petition shall be tried by an election court consisting of a barrister qualified and appointed as in this section provided, without a jury.

(2) A barrister shall not be qualified to constitute an election court if he is of less than fifteen years standing, or is a member of the Commons House of Parliament, or holds any office or place of profit under the Crown, other than that of recorder.

(3) A barrister shall not be qualified to constitute an election court for trial of an election petition relating to any borough for which he is recorder, or in which he resides, or which is included in a circuit of her Majesty's judges on which he practices as a barrister.

(4) As soon as may be after a municipal election list is made out the prescribed officer shall send a copy thereof to each of the judges for the time being on the rota for the trial of parliamentary election petitions . . . (t).

(5) If a commissioner to whom the trial of a petition is assigned, dies, or declines or becomes incapable to act, the said judges or two of them may assign the trial to be conducted or continued by any other of the commissioners appointed under this section.

(6) The election court shall for the purposes of the trial have the same powers and privileges as a judge on the trial of a parliamentary election petition, except that any fine or order of committal by the court may on motion by the person aggrieved be discharged or varied by the High Court, or in vacation by a judge thereof, on such terms, if any, as the High Court or judge thinks fit (u).

Trial of election petitions.

93.—(1) An election petition shall be tried in open court, and notice of the time and place of trial shall be given in the prescribed manner not less than seven days before the day of trial (v).

(2) The place of trial shall be within the borough (x), except that the High Court may, on being satisfied that special circumstances exist rendering it

(u) The election court is a court of record. See R. v. Maidenhead Corporation, post, p. 1548. Orders under the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 28, post, p. 1607, cannot be varied under this sub-section. See sub-s. (7) of that section.

(x) That is, the urban district not being a borough, or the rural district. Where the allegations of fact in a petition are not in dispute, but are specifically admitted by the respondent, so as to render it unnecessary at the trial to call witnesses from the district in which the election took place, the court may order the petition to be tried in London, desirable that the petition should be tried elsewhere, appoint some other convenient place for the trial.

(3) The election court may in its discretion adjourn the trial from time to time (y), and from any one place to any other place within the borough or place where it is held.

(4) At the conclusion of the trial the election court shall determine whether the person whose election is complained of, or any and what other person, was duly elected, or whether the election was void, and shall forthwith certify in writing the determination to the High Court, and the determination so certified shall be final to all intents as to the matters at issue on the petition.

(5) Where a charge is made in a petition of any corrupt practice or offence against this Part having been committed at the election the court shall, in addition to the certificate, and at the same time, report in writing to the High Court as follows:

(a) Whether any corrupt practice or offence against this Part has or has not been proved to have been committed by or with the knowledge and consent of any candidate at the election, and the nature of the corrupt practice or offence;

(b) The names of all persons (if any) proved at the trial to have been guilty of any corrupt practice or offence against this Part;

(c) Whether any corrupt practices have, or whether there is reason to believe that any corrupt practices have, extensively prevailed at the election in the borough or in any ward thereof (z).

(6) The election court may at the same time make a special report to the High Court as to any matters arising in the course of the trial, an account of which ought, in the judgment of the election court, to be submitted to the High Court.

(7) If, on the application of any party to a petition made in the prescribed manner to the High Court, it appears to the High Court that the case raised by the petition can be conveniently stated as a special case, the High Court may direct the same to be stated accordingly, and any such special case shall be heard before the High Court, and the decision of the High Court shall be final (a).

(8) If it appears to the election court on the trial of a petition that any question of law as to the admissibility of evidence, or otherwise, requires further consideration by the High Court, the election court may postpone the granting of a certificate until the question has been determined by the

on the ground that special circumstances exist which render it desirable that the petition should be tried elsewhere than in the county or division where the election took place (Arch v. Bentinck (1887), 18 Q. B. D. 548). The facts that a scrutiny is the only question to be tried, or that it would be less expensive to try elsewhere, are not "special circumstances" (Lawson v. Master, [1893] 1 Q. B. 245; 57 J. P. 806; see also Collins v. Price (1878), 4 C. P. D. 544).

(y) See, however, the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 27, post, p. 1607.

A formal adjournment is not necessary. See r. 45, post, p. 1553.

(z) The court must further report as to illegal practices in manner prescribed by the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 8 (2), post, p. 1597. As to the form of the report, see Grant v. Pagham Overseers (1877), 3 C. P. D. 80; 42 J. P. 884; and as to its exclusive effect, see cases cited in the note to 46 & 47 Vict. c. 51, s. 38, post, p. 1616.

(a) As to the mode of application, see r. 48, post, p. 1554. Notwithstanding this subsection, appeal, if leave be given, lies from a judgment of the King's Bench Division to the Court of Appeal (Line v. Warren, ante, p. 1538; and see Beresford-Hope v. Lady Sandhurst, ante, p. 1539). If no leave be given no appeal lies (Unwin v. MacMullen, 1893, 1 Q. B. 694; 55 J. P. 582; Shaw v. Reckitt, [1893] 2 Q. B. 59; 57 J. P. 805).

If leave to appeal be refused by the High Court, possibly it may be given by the Court of Appeal under Judicature Act, 1894, s. 1 (5).

High Court, and for this purpose may reserve any such question, as questions may be reserved by a judge on a trial at nisi prius (b).

(9) On the trial of a petition, unless the election court otherwise directs, any charge of a corrupt practice or offence against this Part may be gone into, and evidence in relation thereto received before any proof has been given of agency on behalf of any candidate in respect of the corrupt practice or offence.

(10) On the trial of a petition complaining of an undue election and claiming the office for some person, the respondent may give evidence to prove that that person was not duly elected, in the same manner as if he had presented a petition against the election of that person (c).

(11) The trial of a petition shall be proceeded with notwithstanding that the respondent has ceased to hold the office his election to which is questioned by the petition.

(12) A copy of any certificate or report made to the High Court on the trial of a petition, and, in the case of a decision by the High Court on a special case, a statement of the decision, shall be sent by the High Court to the Secretary of State.

(13) A copy of any such certificate and a statement of any such decision shall also be certified by the High Court, under the hands of two or more judges thereof, to the town clerk of the borough.

Witnesses.

94.—(1) Witnesses at the trial of an election petition shall be summoned and sworn in the same manner, as nearly as circumstances admit, as witnesses at a trial at nisi prius, and . . . (d).

(2) On the trial the election court may, by order in writing, require any person who appears to the court to have been concerned in the election to attend as a witness, and any person refusing to obey the order shall be guilty of contempt of court.

(3) The court may examine any person so required to attend or being in court although he is not called and examined by any party to the petition.

(4) A witness may, after his examination by the court, be cross-examined by or on behalf of the petitioner and respondent or either of them (e).

(9) The reasonable expenses incurred by any person in appearing to give evidence at the trial of an election petition, according to the scale allowed to witnesses on the trial of civil actions at the assizes, may be allowed to him by a certificate of the election court or of the prescribed officer, and if the witness was called and examined by the court, shall be deemed part of the expenses of providing a court, but otherwise shall be deemed costs of the petition.

Withdrawal of petition.

95.—(1) A petitioner shall not withdraw an election petition without the leave of the election court or High Court on special application, made in the prescribed manner, and at the prescribed time and place (f).

(b) See Stepney (1886), 4 O'M. & H. 36; Thornbury (1886), ibid. 68; Isaacson v. Durant (1887), 17 Q. B. D. 54; Ackers v. Howard (1886), 16 Q. B. D. 739; 50 J. P. 519; Londonderry (1886), 4 O'M. & H. 103; Re Pembroke Election Petition, [1908] 2 I. R. 33.

(c) In this case the respondent must deliver to the Master six days before the day appointed for trial, a list of the objections to the election upon which he intends to rely, and the Master is to allow inspection and office copies of such list to all parties concerned; and no evidence is to be given by the respondent of any objection not specified in the list, except by leave of the High Court. See r. 8, post, p. 1550.

(d) See also r. 54, post, p. 1554. The concluding words of the sub-section were repealed by the Perjury Act, 1911.

(e) Sub-sections (5)—(8), inclusive, of this section were repealed by the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 38, post, p. 1613.

(f) See further as to the withdrawal of a petition, the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 26, post, p. 1606.

(2) The application shall not be made until the prescribed notice of the intention to make it has been given in the borough.

(3) On the hearing of the application any person who might have been a petitioner in respect of the election may apply to the court to be substituted as a petitioner, and the court may, if it thinks fit, substitute him accordingly.

(4) If the proposed withdrawal is in the opinion of the court induced by any corrupt bargain or consideration, the court may by order direct that the security given on behalf of the original petitioner shall remain as security for any costs that may be incurred by the substituted petitioner, and that to the extent of the sum named in the security, the original petitioner and his sureties shall be liable to pay the costs of the substituted petitioner.

(5) If the court does not so direct, then security to the same amount as would be required in the case of a new petition, and subject to the like conditions, shall be given on behalf of the substituted petitioner before he proceeds with his petition and within the prescribed time after the order of substitution.

(6) Subject as aforesaid, a substituted petitioner shall, as nearly as may be, stand in the same position and be subject to the same liabilities as the original petitioner.

(7) If a petition is withdrawn, the petitioner shall be liable to pay the costs of the respondent.

(8) Where there are more petitioners than one, an application to withdraw a petition shall not be made except with the consent of all the petitioners.

Abatement of petition.

96.—(1) An election petition shall be abated by the death of a sole petitioner or of the survivor of several petitioners.

(2) The abatement of a petition shall not affect the liability of the petitioner or of any other person to the payment of costs previously incurred.

(3) On the abatement of a petition the prescribed notice thereof shall be given in the borough, and, within the prescribed time after the notice is given, any person who might have been a petitioner in respect of the election may apply to the election court or High Court in the prescribed manner and at the prescribed time and place to be substituted as a petitioner; and the court may, if it thinks fit, substitute him accordingly (g).

(4) Security shall be given on behalf of a petitioner so substituted, as in the case of a new petition (h).

The form of notice of application to withdraw a petition is prescribed by r. 58, post p. 1555. The notice of application is to be left at the Master's office, and copies are to be served on the respondent and on the town clerk or clerk of the council, as the case may be, and published in the county or borough to which the petition relates. See rr. 59, 60, post, p. 1555.

The petitioners, who had presented a petition and subsequently found out their agent's report upon which the petition was based was untrustworthy, were allowed by the court to withdraw the petition, the Treasury having ascertained by special inquiry that there was no reliable evidence to support it, and having received from the petitioners copies of the reports and details of the subsequent inquiries. On a motion for leave to withdraw a petition, the court has a discretion as to the costs of the parties, and may order them to be paid by the petitioners on the higher scale, and taxed as between solicitor and client. They cannot give costs to the Public Prosecutor (Pascoe v. Pulesto (Devonport Election Petition) (1886), 50 J. P. 135; 54 L. T. 733).

After a municipal election a petition was presented by an unsuccessful candidate claiming that he was returned by a majority of lawful votes. The mayor, to save expense, induced the petitioner and the returned candidate to submit the question to the arbitration of the town clerk, who was to recount the votes. On the award being against the petitioner, he asked leave to withdraw the petition, and the court allowed him to do so on payment of the costs, the Public Prosecutor not opposing (Mallam v. Bean (1887), 51 J. P. 230; 3 T. L. R. 516). See also Lichfield Election Petition (1893), 9 T. L. R. 92; and Halifax Election Petition (1893), 9 T. L. R. 563.

(h) See s. 89, ante, p. 1540.

Withdrawal and substitution of respondents.

97.—(1) If before the trial of an election petition a respondent other than a returning officer—

(a) Dies, resigns, or otherwise ceases to hold the office to which the petition relates; or

(b) Gives the prescribed notice that he does not intend to oppose the petition;

the prescribed notice thereof shall be given in the borough, and within the prescribed time after the notice is given any person who might have been a petitioner in respect of the election may apply to the election court or High Court to be admitted as a respondent to oppose the petition, and shall be admitted accordingly, except that the number of persons so admitted shall not exceed three (i).

(2) A respondent who has given the prescribed notice that he does not intend to oppose the petition shall not be allowed to appear or act as a party against the petition in any proceedings thereon.

Costs on election petitions.

98.—(1) All costs, charges, and expenses of and incidental to the presentation of an election petition, and the proceedings consequent thereon, except such as are by this Act otherwise provided for, shall be defrayed by the parties to the petition in such manner and proportions as the election court determines; and in particular any costs, charges, or expenses which in the opinion of the court have been caused by vexatious conduct, unfounded allegations, or unfounded objections on the part of either of the petitioner or of the respondent, and any needless expense incurred or caused on the part of petitioner or respondent, may be ordered to be defrayed by the parties by whom it has been incurred or caused, whether they are or not on the whole successful (k).

(2) The costs may be taxed in the prescribed manner but according to the same principles as costs between solicitor and client in an action in the High Court, and may be recovered as the costs of such an action, or as otherwise prescribed (l).

(3) If a petitioner neglects or refuses for three months after demand to

(i) See rr. 64—67, post, p. 1555, relating to the prescribed notice, time, etc. The returning officer may be a respondent if the petition complains of his conduct.

A respondent may cease to hold office through disqualification. The name of a respondent will not be struck out of a petition merely because he has given the prescribed notice under this section. See Yates v. Leach, ante, p. 1539.

(k) An overloaded petition will be visited with costs, even if it is successful (Birkbeck v. Bullard (1886), 54 L. T. 625). When a petition is wholly unfounded the court may order the petitioner to pay the costs of the Public Prosecutor (Crossman v. Gent-Davis (1886), 54 L. T. 628). In certain cases the parties may be ordered to pay the expenses of the election court. See s. 101, post, p. 1547.

The barrister appointed to try the petition has an absolute discretion over the costs. In a case where the petitioners had improperly made an unsuccessful candidate a respondent, it was held that they could not object that he was not a party to the petition so as to deprive the barrister of jurisdiction to make an order upon them for his costs (Lovering v. Dawson (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 726).

As to the costs on withdrawal of a petition, see Pascoe v. Puleston (Devonport Election Petition), ante, p. 1544.

A mistake occurred in the counting of votes in a parish council election in which there were nineteen candidates of whom nine were declared to be duly elected. Two of the defeated presented a petition against the return of two of the successful candidates, and the returning officer and his deputy were joined as respondents to the petition. The petition was not opposed. By order, a recount was held and a special case stated for the decision of the High Court. The Court made a declaration that the petitioners were duly elected and ordered the deputy returning officer to pay £10 towards the cost of the petition and the subsequent proceedings (Rainham Parish Council Election Petition (1919), 83 J. P. 267).

(l) So much of this sub-section as relates to the principles of taxation is repealed by the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices Act, 1884, Sched. II. See now s. 29 (3) of that Act, post, p. 1610. As to the mode of taxation and recovery of the cost, see r. 68, post, p. 1556, and Pare v. Hartshorn (1875), 31 L. T. 486; 23 W. R. 138.

pay to any person summoned as a witness on his behalf, or to the respondent, any sum certified to be due to him for his costs, charges, and expenses, and the neglect or refusal is, within one year after the demand, proved to the satisfaction of the High Court, every person who has under this Act entered into a recognizance relating to the petition shall be held to have made default in the recognizance, and the prescribed officer shall thereon certify the recognizance to be forfeited, and it shall be dealt with as a forfeited recognizance relating to a parliamentary election petition (m).

Reception of and attendance on the election court.

99.—(1) The town clerk (n) shall provide proper accommodation for holding the election court; and any expenses incurred by him for the purposes of this section shall be paid out of the borough fund or borough rate.

(2) All chief and head constables, superintendents of police, head-boroughs, gaolers, constables, and bailiffs shall give their assistance to the election court in the execution of its duties, and if any gaoler or officer of a prison makes default in receiving or detaining a prisoner committed thereto in pursuance of this Part, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds for every day during which the default continues.

(3) The election court may employ officers and clerks as prescribed.

(4) A shorthand writer (o) shall attend at the trial of an election petition, and shall be sworn by the election court faithfully and truly to take down the evidence given at the trial. He shall take down the evidence at length. A transcript of the notes of the evidence taken by him shall, if the election court so directs, accompany the certificate of the election court. His expenses, according to a prescribed scale, shall be treated as part of the expenses incurred in receiving the court.

Rules of procedure and jurisdiction.

100.—(1) The judges for the time being on the rota for the trial of parliamentary election petitions may from time to time make, revoke, and alter general rules for the effectual execution of this Part, and of the intention and object thereof, and the regulation of the practice, procedure, and costs of municipal election petitions, and the trial thereof, and the certifying and reporting thereon (p).

(2) All such rules shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament within three weeks after they are made if Parliament is then sitting, and if not, within three weeks after the beginning of the then next session of Parliament, and shall, while in force, have effect as if enacted in this Act.

(3) Subject to the provisions of this Act, and of the rules made under it, the principles, practice, and rules for the time being observed in the case of parliamentary election petitions, and in particular the principles and rules with regard to agency and evidence, and to a scrutiny, and to the declaring any person elected in the room of any other person declared to have been not duly elected, shall be observed, as far as may be, in the case of a municipal election petition.

(4) The High Court shall, subject to this Act, have the same powers, jurisdiction, and authority with respect to a municipal election petition and the proceedings thereon as if the petition were an ordinary action within its jurisdiction (q).

(m) The prescribed officer is the Master. See r. 1, post, p. 1548. A forfeited recognizance relating to a parliamentary election petition is dealt with in manner provided by the Parliamentary Elections Act, 1868, s. 42.

(5) The duties to be performed by the prescribed officer under this Part shall be performed by the prescribed officer of the High Court.

(6) The general rules in force at the commencement of this Act with respect to matters within this Part shall, until superseded by rules made under this section, and subject to any amendment thereof by rules so made, have effect, with the necessary modifications, as if made under this section.

Expenses of election court.

101.—(1) The remuneration and allowances to be paid to a commissioner for his services in respect of the trial of an election petition, and to any officers, clerks, or shorthand writers employed under this Part, shall be fixed by a scale made and varied by the election judges on the rota for the trial of parliamentary election petitions, with the approval of the Treasury. The remuneration and allowances shall be paid in the first instance by the Treasury, and shall be repaid to the Treasury, on their certificate, out of the borough fund or borough rate (r).

(2) But the election court may in its discretion order that such remuneration and allowances, or the expenses incurred by a town clerk (s) for receiving the election court, shall be repaid, wholly or in part, to the Treasury or the town clerk, as the case may be, in the cases, by the persons, and in the manner following (namely):

(a) When in the opinion of the election court a petition is frivolous and vexatious by the petitioner;

(b) When in the opinion of the election court a respondent has been personally guilty of corrupt practices at the election, by that respondent.

(3) An order so made for the repayment of any sum by a petitioner or respondent may be enforced as an order for payment of costs; but a deposit made or security given under this Part shall not be applied for any such repayment until all costs and expenses payable by the petitioner or respondent to any party to the petition have been satisfied (t).

except on points of law reserved for its decision by way of a case stated by the commissioner (Ex parte Ayres (1886), 54 L. T. 296). A petition against the election of members of a local board alleged undue influence by the respondents and their agents, and that corrupt and illegal practices extensively prevailed. The commissioner reported to the High Court that no corrupt practice had been proved against the respondents or otherwise, that illegal practices extensively prevailed, and that the respondents had been guilty of illegal practices; and he certified that the respondents had not been duly elected. (s) See note (n), ante, p. 1546.

(t) Upon the trial of a petition against the return of a borough councillor under the Municipal Elections (Corrupt Practices) Act, 1872, the barrister in delivering judgment said that he found the councillor guilty of personal bribery, and that all the costs of the inquiry were to be borne by him, and made an order in writing for the payment by the councillor of certain costs under s. 19 of that Act. The written order made no provision for the remuneration and allowances to the barrister and other persons under s. 22 (corresponding to the text). The Treasury paid the amount of such remuneration and allowances, and certified the payment to the borough treasurer, and required him to repay them the amount out of the borough fund. A rate was accordingly made and levied. The Treasury afterwards, on receiving from the barrister a letter that he had always intended to visit all the costs upon the councillor, and had said so in giving judgment, cancelled their certificate, and the borough corporation abandoned the rate and returned the sums levied to the ratepayers. Afterwards the Treasury, finding that

Where a candidate who has been elected to a corporate office is, by a certificate of an election court or a decision of the High Court, declared not to have been duly elected, acts done by him in execution of the office, before the time when the certificate or decision is certified to the town clerk, shall not be invalidated by reason of that declaration.

Provisions as to elections in the room of persons unseated on petition.

103. Where on an election petition the election of any person to a corporate office has been declared void, and no other person has been declared elected in his room, a new election shall be held to supply the vacancy in the same manner as on a casual vacancy (u); and for the purposes of the election any duties to be performed by a mayor, alderman, or other officer, shall, if he has been declared not elected, be performed by a deputy, or other person who might have acted for him if he had been incapacitated by illness.

Prohibition of disclosure of vote.

104. A person who has voted at a municipal election by ballot shall not in any proceeding to question the election be required to state for whom he has voted.

GENERAL RULES.

The following is the text of the general rules for the effectual execution of Part IV. of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, made by Sir Charles Edward Pollock, Knight; Sir Henry Manisty, Knight; and Sir Henry Charles Lopes, Knight, the judges for the time being on the rota for the trial of parliamentary election petitions:

1. The presentation of a Municipal Election Petition shall be made by leaving it at the office of the Master for the time being nominated as prescribed officer, under the Parliamentary Elections Act, 1868, and such Master or his clerk shall (if required) give a receipt which may be in the following form:

> Received on the day of at the Master's office a petition touching the election of A. B., alderman, councillor [etc., as the case may be], for the borough of , purporting to be signed by [insert the name of petitioners].
>
> C. D., Master's Clerk.

With the petition shall also be left a copy thereof for the Master to send to the town clerk, pursuant to section 88, sub-section (3) of the Act.

2. A municipal election petition shall contain the following statements:

(1) It shall state the right of the petitioner or petitioners to petition within section 88, sub-section (1), of the Act.

(2) It shall state the holding and result of the election, and shall briefly state the facts and grounds relied on to sustain the prayer.

3. The petition shall be divided into paragraphs, each of which, as nearly as may be, shall be confined to a distinct portion of the subject, and every paragraph shall be numbered consecutively, and no costs shall be allowed of drawing or copying any petition not substantially in compliance with this rule, unless otherwise ordered by the High Court or a judge thereof.

the barrister had made no written order for the payment of remuneration and allowances, issued a fresh certificate requiring the borough treasurer to pay them the amount out of the borough fund or rates. These facts being found upon a return to a mandamus commanding the treasurer to repay the Treasury, it was held that no valid order had been made by the barrister for the payment of the remuneration and allowances by the councillor; that the election court was a court of record, and that neither the High Court nor the Court of Appeal on the return could amend the order so as to make it include such payment; that the act of the Treasury in certifying was not a judicial act, and that they had the power to make a second certificate, and were entitled to a peremptory mandamus compelling the treasurer to repay to them the amount of such remuneration and allowances out of the borough fund or rates, and compelling the corporation to order such amount to be levied by a borough rate (R. v. Mayor &c. of Maidenhead Corporation (1882), 9 Q. B. D. 494; 46 J. P. 724).

(u) In the case of urban district councils for districts not being boroughs or of rural district councils there must be a new election. See the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, s. 36, post, p. 1612.

4. The petition shall conclude with a prayer, as for instance, that some specified person should be declared duly returned or elected, or that the election should be declared void, or that a return may be enforced, (as the case may be,) and shall be signed by all the petitioners.

5. The following form, or one to the like effect, shall be sufficient:

In the High Court of Justice,
The Municipal Corporations Act, 1882.
Election for [state the place and office for which election held] holden on the day of A.D.
The petition of A. of [or of A. of , and B. of , as the case may be] whose names are subscribed.

1. Your petitioner A. is a person who voted [or had a right to vote, as the case may be,] at the above election [or was a candidate at the above election]; and your petitioner B. [here state in like manner the right of each petitioner].

2. And your petitioners state that the election was holden on the day of A.D. , when A. B., C. D., and E. F. were candidates, and that A. B. and C. D. have been in the usual manner declared to be duly elected.

3. And your petitioners say that [here state the facts and grounds on which the petitioners rely].

Wherefore your petitioners pray that it may be determined that the said A. B. was not duly elected, and that the election was void [or that the said E. F. was duly elected, and ought to have been returned, or as the case may be].

(Signed)
A.
B.

6. Evidence need not be stated in the petition, but the High Court or a judge thereof may order such particulars (x) as may be necessary to prevent surprise and unnecessary expense, and to insure a fair and effectual trial in the same way as in ordinary proceedings in the said High Court, and upon such terms as to costs and otherwise as may be ordered.

7. When a petitioner claims the office for an unsuccessful candidate, alleging that he had a majority of lawful votes, the party complaining of or defending the election shall, six days before the day appointed for trial, deliver to the Master and also at the address, if any given by the petitioners and respondent, as the case may be, a list of the votes intended to be objected to, and the heads of objection to each such vote, and the Master shall allow inspection and office copies of such lists to all parties concerned; and no evidence shall be given against the validity of any vote, nor upon any head of objection not specified in the list, except by leave of the High Court or a judge thereof, upon such terms as to amendment of the list, postponement of the inquiry, and payment of costs, as may be ordered (y).

(x) An order for particulars of the corrupt practices alleged in a municipal election petition was made at chambers in the following form: That the petitioners do within a week deliver to the respondents particulars of all the persons alleged to have been bribed or treated, by whom, and when and where; and of all persons alleged to have been retained or employed as canvassers and by whom, and when and where; and of all persons to whom money was paid or agreed to be paid on account of the conveyance of voters to the poll, and by whom, and when and where such moneys were paid or agreed to be paid (Maude v. Lowley (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 165; 38 J. P. 280). Where a judge in chambers ordered a petitioner to furnish particulars of his charges against the respondent ten clear days before the hearing of the petition, the Divisional Court refused to interfere with the order (Barrow-in-Furness Election Petition (1885), 2 T. L. R. 356). The ordinary time for delivery of particulars is seven days before the trial (Lenham v. Barber (1884), 10 Q. B. D. 293; 48 J. P. 23). See also Clarke v. Wallond (1884), 52 L. J. Q. B. 321. But this is not a hard and fast rule, and in determining whether there are special circumstances upon which it will act in extending the time the court will take into consideration the size and nature of the constituency, the population and the number of voters, and also the number of witnesses whom it is proposed to call (Rushmere v. Isaacson, [1893] 1 Q. B. 118; 57 J. P. 790). The respondent to a petition in which the seat is claimed upon a scrutiny is not entitled to obtain particulars under this rule, but r. 7 applies exclusively to such a case (Munro v. Balfour, [1893] 1 Q. B. 113; 57 J. P. 789; Furness v. Beresford, [1898] 1 Q. B. 495).

(y) The trial of a municipal election petition was appointed for January 20th. A list of objections was tendered at the Rule Office of the Common Pleas on January 13th, and refused on the ground that it was too late, and it was taken away by the person tendering it. On the 14th a list of objections was left at the Rule Office, and one was

8. When the respondent in a petition under the Act complaining of an undue election and claiming the office for some person, intends to give evidence to prove that the election of such party was undue, pursuant to the 93rd section of the Act, sub-section (10), such respondent shall, six days before the day appointed for trial, deliver to the Master, and also at the address, if any, given by the petitioner, a list of the objections to the election upon which he intends to rely, and the Master shall allow inspection and office copies of such list to all parties concerned; and no evidence shall be given by a respondent of any objection to the election not specified in the list, except by leave of the High Court or a judge thereof, upon such terms as to amendment of the list, postponement of the inquiry, and payment of costs, as may be ordered.

9. With the petition the petitioner or petitioners shall leave at the office of the Master a writing, signed by him or them or on his or their behalf, giving the name of some person entitled to practise as a solicitor in the High Court of Justice, whom he or they authorise to act as his or their agent, or stating that he or they act for himself or themselves, as the case may be, and in either case giving an address, within three miles of the General Post Office, at which notices addressed to him or them may be left; and if no such writing be left or address given, then notice of objection to the recognizances, and all other notices and proceedings may be given by sticking up the same at the Master's office.

10. Any person elected to any municipal office may at any time after he is elected send to or leave at the office of the Master a writing signed by him or on his behalf, appointing a person entitled to practise as a solicitor in the High Court of Justice, to act as his agent in case there should be a petition against him, or stating that he intends to act for himself, and in either case giving an address within three miles from the General Post Office at which notices may be left, and in default of such writing being left in a week after service of the petition, notices and proceedings may be given and served respectively by sticking up the same at the Master's office.

11. The Master shall keep a book or books at his office in which he shall enter all addresses and the names of agents given under either of the preceding rules, which book shall be open to inspection by any person during office hours.

12. The Master shall upon the presentation of the petition, forthwith send a copy of the petition to the town clerk, pursuant to section 88 of the Act, sub-section (3), and shall therewith send the name of the petitioner's agent, if any, and the address, if any, given as prescribed, and also the name of the respondent's agent, and the address, if any, given as prescribed, and the town clerk shall forthwith publish those particulars along with the petition.

The cost of publication of this and any other matter required to be published by the town clerk shall be paid by the petitioner or person moving in the matter, and shall form part of the general costs of the petition.

13. The time for giving notice of the presentation of a petition and of the nature of the proposed security shall be five days, exclusive of the day of presentation.

14. When the respondent has named an agent or given an address, the service of a municipal election petition may be by delivery of it to the agent, or by posting it in a registered letter to the address given at such time that, in the ordinary course of post, it would be delivered within the prescribed time.

In other cases the service must be personal on the respondent, unless a judge of the High Court, on an application made to him not later than five days after the petition is presented on affidavit, showing what has been done, shall be satisfied that all reasonable effort has been made to effect personal service and cause the matter to come to the knowledge of the respondent, in which case the judge may order that what has been done shall be considered sufficient service, subject to such conditions as he may think reasonable. An agent employed for the petitioner or respondent shall forthwith leave written notice at the office of the Master of his appointment to act as such agent, and service of notices and proceedings upon such agent shall be sufficient for all purposes.

15. In case of evasion of service the sticking up a notice in the office of the Master of the petition having been presented, stating the petitioner, the prayer, and the nature also delivered to the respondent:—Held, that the list was not delivered in due time according to the rule, and that the court had no jurisdiction to order delivery nunc pro tunc under the last clause of the rule (Nield v. Batty (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 104; 38 J. P. 264).

the proposed security, shall be deemed equivalent to personal service if so ordered by a judge.

16. The deposit of money by way of security for payment of costs, charges, and expenses payable by the petitioner, shall be made by payment into the Bank of England to an account to be opened there by the description of "The Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, Security Fund," which shall be vested in and drawn upon from time to time by the Lord Chief Justice of England for the time being, for the purposes for which security is required by the said Act, and a bank receipt or certificate for the same shall be forthwith left at the Master's office.

17. The Master shall file such receipt or certificate, and keep a book open to inspection of all parties concerned, in which shall be entered from time to time the amount and the petition to which it is applicable.

18. All claims at law or in equity to money so deposited or to be deposited in the Bank of England shall be disposed of by the High Court of Justice or a judge thereof.

19. Money so deposited shall, if, and when the same is no longer needed for securing payment of such costs, charges, and expenses, be returned or otherwise disposed of as justice may require, by rule of the High Court, or order of a judge thereof.

20. Such rule or order may be made after such notice of intention to apply, and proof that all just claims have been satisfied or otherwise sufficiently provided for, as the court or judge may require.

21. The rule or order may direct payment either to the party in whose name the same is deposited, or to any person entitled to receive the same.

22. Upon such rule or order being made, the amount may be drawn for by the Lord Chief Justice of England for the time being.

23. The draft of the Lord Chief Justice of England for the time being shall in all cases be a sufficient warrant to the Bank of England for all payments made thereunder.

24. The recognizance as security for costs may be acknowledged before a judge of the High Court or the Master in town, or a justice of the peace in the country.

There may be one recognizance acknowledged by all the sureties, or separate recognizances by one or more, as may be convenient.

25. The recognizance shall contain the name and usual place of abode of each surety, with such sufficient description as shall enable him to be found or ascertained, and may be as follows:

Be it remembered that on the day of , in the year of our Lord, 18 , before me [name and description] came A. B., of [name and description as above prescribed] and acknowledged himself [or severally acknowledged themselves] to owe to our Sovereign Lady the Queen the sum of five hundred pounds [or the following sums], (that is to say) the said C. D. the sum of £ , the said E. F. the sum of £ , the said G. H. the sum of £ , and the said J. K. the sum of , to be levied on his [or their respective goods and chattels, lands and tenements, to the use of our said Sovereign Lady the Queen, her heirs and successors.

The condition of this recognizance is that if [here insert the names of all the petitioners, and if more than one, add or any of them] shall well and truly pay all costs, charges, and expenses in respect of the election petition signed by him [or them] relating to the [here insert the name of the borough] which shall become payable by the petitioner [or petitioners, or any of them] under the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, to any person or persons, then this recognizance to be void, otherwise to stand in full force.

Taken and acknowledged by the above-named [names of sureties] on the at , before me,

C. D.

A justice of the peace [or as the case may be].

26. The recognizance or recognizances shall be left at the Master's office, by or on behalf of the petitioner, in like manner as before prescribed for the leaving of a petition forthwith after being acknowledged.

The security may (unless the High Court or a judge thereof shall otherwise order on summons) be given to any amount not less than £300; but the High Court or a judge thereof may, on summons taken out within five days from the service of the notice of the nature and amount of the security, order that the same shall be increased within a time to be fixed in the order by further security to be given in the manner directed by the Act, for a further amount, not exceeding with the amount for which security shall have been already given £500. And in default of compliance with such order, no further proceedings shall be had on the petition.

27. The time for giving notice of any objection to a recognizance under the 89th section of the Act, sub-section (4), shall be within five days from the date of service of the notice of the petition and of the nature of the security, exclusive of the day of service, or in case of further security within five days after service of notice of the nature thereof, exclusive of the day of such service.

28. An objection to the recognizance must state the ground or grounds thereof, as that the sureties, or any and which of them, are insufficient, or that a surety is dead, or that he cannot be found, or that a person named in the recognizance has not duly acknowledged the same.

29. An objection made to the security shall be heard and decided by the Master, subject to appeal within five days to a judge, upon summons taken out by either party to declare the security sufficient or insufficient.

30. Such hearing and decision may be either upon affidavit or personal examination of witnesses, or both, as the Master or judge may think fit.

31. If an objection be allowed and the security be declared insufficient, the Master or judge shall in his order state what amount he deems requisite to make the security sufficient, and the further prescribed time to remove the objection by deposit shall be within five days from the date of the order, not including the day of the date, and such deposit shall be made in the manner already prescribed.

32. The costs of hearing and deciding the objections made to the security given shall be paid as ordered by the Master or judge, and in default of such order shall form part of the general costs of the petition.

33. The costs of hearing and deciding an objection upon the ground of insufficiency of a surety or sureties, shall be paid by the petitioner, and a clause to that effect shall be inserted in the order declaring its sufficiency or insufficiency, unless at the time of leaving the recognizance with the Master there be also left with the Master an affidavit of the sufficiency of the surety or sureties sworn by each surety before a justice of the peace, which affidavit any justice of the peace is hereby authorised to take, or before some person authorised to take affidavits in the High Court of Justice that he is seised or possessed of real or personal estate, or both, above what will satisfy his debts, of the clear value of the sum for which he is bound by his recognizance, which affidavit may be as follows:

In the High Court of Justice.

Municipal Corporations Act, 1882.

I, A. B., of [as in recognizance] make oath and say that I am seised or possessed of real [or personal] estate above what will satisfy my debts, of the clear value of £ Sworn, etc.

34. The order of the Master for payment of costs shall have the same force as an order made by a judge, and may be enforced in like manner as a judge's order in an ordinary proceeding in the High Court of Justice.

35. A copy of every order (other than an order giving further time for delivering particulars, or for costs only), or, if the Master shall so direct, the order itself or a duplicate thereof, also a copy of every particular delivered, shall be forthwith filed with the Master, and the same shall be produced at the trial by the registrar, stamped with the official seal. Such order shall be filed by the party obtaining the same, and such particular by the party delivering the same.

36. The petitioner or his agent shall, immediately after notice of the presentation of a petition and of the nature of the proposed security shall have been served, file with the Master an affidavit of the time and manner of service thereof (z).

37. The days mentioned in Rules 7 and 8, and in any rule of court or judge's order whereby particulars are ordered to be delivered, or any act is directed to be done, so many days before the day appointed for trial, shall be reckoned exclusively of the day of delivery, or of doing the act ordered and the day appointed for trial, and exclusively also of Sunday, Christmas Day, Good Friday, and any day set apart for a public fast or public thanksgiving.

38. When the last day for presenting petitions, or filing lists of votes or objections under Rules 7 and 8, or recognizances, or any other matter required to be filed within given time, shall happen to fall on a holiday, the petition or other matter shall be emed duly filed if put into the letter box at the Master's office at any time during ch day; but an affidavit, stating with reasonable precision the time when such elivery was made, shall be filed on the first day after the expiration of the holidays.

39. The Master shall make out the municipal election list. In it he shall insert the mes of the agents of the petitioners and respondents, and the addresses to which otices may be sent, if any. The list may be inspected at the Master's office at any ne during office hours, and shall be put up for that purpose upon a notice board propriated to proceedings under the said Act, and headed "Municipal Election List."

40. The time of the trial of each municipal election petition shall be fixed by the ection judges on the rota or any one of them, who shall signify the same to the aster, and notice thereof shall be given in writing by the Master by sticking notice p in his office, sending one copy by post to the address given by the petitioner, nother to the address given by the respondent, if any, and a copy by the post to the wn clerk of the borough to which the petition relates, fifteen days before the day ppointed for the trial.

The town clerk shall forthwith publish the same in the borough.

41. The sticking up of the notice of trial at the office of the Master shall be deemed id taken to be notice in the prescribed manner within the meaning of the Act, and ich notice shall not be vitiated by any miscarriage of or relating to the copy or copies ereof to be sent as already directed.

42. The notice of trial may be in the following form:

Municipal Corporations Act, 1882.

Election petition of .
Borough of .

Take notice that the above petition [or petitions] will be tried at on the day of , and on such other subsequent days as may be needful.

Dated the .

Signed, by order,
A. B.,
The Master appointed under the above Act.

43. A judge may from time to time, by order made upon the application of a party to the petition, or by notice in such form as the judge may direct to be sent to the town clerk, postpone the beginning of the trial to such day as he may name, and such notice when received shall be forthwith made public by the town clerk.

44. In the event of the barrister to whom the trial of the petition is assigned not having arrived at the time appointed for the trial, or to which the trial is postponed, the commencement of the trial shall ipso facto stand adjourned to the ensuing day, and so from day to day.

45. No formal adjournment of the court for the trial of a municipal election petition shall be necessary, but the trial is to be deemed adjourned, and may be continued from day to day until the inquiry is concluded.

46. After receiving notice of the petitioner's intention to apply for leave to withdraw, or of the respondent's intention not to oppose, or of the abatement of the petition by death, or of the happening of any of the events mentioned in the 97th section of the Act, if such notice be received after notice of trial shall have been given, and before the trial has commenced, the Master shall forthwith countermand the notice of trial. The countermand shall be given in the same manner, as near as may be, as the notice of trial.

47. If all the respondents shall give notice of their intention not to oppose the petition, and no other person shall be admitted as a respondent, the High Court of Justice, or a judge, may either declare the election void or direct the trial to proceed (a). Notice of such order shall be forthwith given by the Master to the town clerk, and if the election be declared void the office shall be deemed to be vacant from the first day (not being a dies non) after the date of such order.

The court or judge may also make such order as to costs as may be just.

(a) See Re Linthwaite School Board Election, Lockwood v. Whittell (1899), 43 Sol. J. 532, where the election was declared void.

48. The application to state a special case may be made by motion in the High Court of Justice, or by a summons before a judge thereof.

49. The title of the court held for the trial of a municipal election petition, may be as follows:

"Court for the trial of a municipal election petition for the borough of [or as may be] between the petitioner and respondent," and it shall be sufficient so to entitle all proceedings in that court.

50. An officer shall be appointed for each court for the trial of a municipal election petition by the election judges, at the time that they resign the petition to the barrister; such officer shall attend at the trial in like manner as the clerks of assize and of arraigns attend at the assizes.

Such officer may be called the registrar of that court. He, by himself, or in case of need, his sufficient deputy, shall perform all the functions incident to the officer of a court of record, and also such duties as may be prescribed to him.

51. The Commissioner may appoint a proper person to act as crier and officer of the court.

52. The shorthand writer to attend at the trial of a petition shall be the shorthand writer to the House of Commons for the time being or his deputy, and the Master shall send a copy of the notice of trial to the said shorthand writer to the House of Commons.

53. The amount to be paid to any witness whose expenses shall be allowed by the Commissioner trying the petition shall be ascertained and certified by the registrar; or in the event of his becoming incapacitated from giving such certificate, by the Commissioner.

54. The order of the court to compel the attendance of a person as a witness may be in the following form:

Court for the trial of a municipal election petition for [complete the title of the court] the day of .

To A. B. [describe the person]. You are hereby required to attend before the court above at [place] on day of , at the hour of [or forthwith, as the case may be], to be examined as a witness in the matter of the said petition, and to attend the said court until your examination shall have been completed.

As witness my hand, A. B.,
The Commissioner to whom the trial of the said petition is assigned.

55. In the event of its being necessary to commit any person for contempt, the warrant may be as follows:

At a court holden on at for the trial of a municipal election petition for the borough of before A. B., one of the barristers appointed for the trial of municipal election petitions, pursuant to the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882.

Whereas C. D. has this day been guilty, and is by the said court adjudged to be guilty, of a contempt thereof. The said court does therefore sentence the said C. D. for his said contempt to be imprisoned in the gaol for calendar months [or as may be], and to pay to our Lady the Queen a fine of £ , and to be further imprisoned in the said gaol until the said fine be paid, and the court further orders that the sheriff of the borough [if any, or as the case may be], and all constables and officers of the peace of any county, borough, or place where the said C. D. may be found, shall take the said C. D. into custody and convey him to the said gaol, and there deliver him into the custody of the gaoler thereof, to undergo his said sentence; and the court further orders the said gaoler to receive the said C. D. into his custody, and that he shall be retained in the said gaol in pursuance of the said sentence.

Signed the day of . A. B.

A. B.

56. Such warrant may be made out and directed to the sheriff or other person having the execution of process of the High Court as the case may be, and to all constables and officers of the peace of the county, borough, or place where the person adjudged guilty of contempt may be found, and such warrant may be sufficient without further particularity, and shall and may be executed by the person to whom it is directed or any or either of them.

57. All interlocutory questions and matters, except as to the sufficiency of the security, shall be heard and disposed of before a judge, who shall have the same control over the proceedings under the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, as a judge in the ordinary proceedings of the High Court, and such questions and matters shall be heard and disposed of by any judge of the High Court.

58. Notice of an application for leave to withdraw a petition shall be in writing and signed by the petitioners or their agent.

It shall state the ground on which the application is intended to be supported.

The following form shall be sufficient :

Municipal Corporations Act, 1882.

Borough of Petition of [state petitioners] presented day of .

The petitioner proposes to apply to withdraw his petition upon the following ground [here state the ground], and prays that a day may be appointed for hearing his application.

Dated this day of .

(Signed)

59. The notice of application for leave to withdraw shall be left at the Master's office.

60. A copy of such notice of the intention of the petitioner to apply for leave to withdraw his petition shall be given by the petitioner to the respondent, and to the town clerk, who shall cause the same to be published in the borough to which it relates.

The following may be the form of such notice :

Municipal Corporations Act, 1882.

In the election petition for in which is petitioner and respondent.

Notice is hereby given, that the above petitioner has on the day of lodged at the Master's office notice of an application to withdraw the petition, of which notice the following is a copy [set it out].

And take notice, that by the rule made by the judges, any person who might have been a petitioner in respect of the said election may, within five days after publication by the town clerk of this notice, give notice in writing of his intention on the hearing to apply for leave to be substituted as a petitioner.

(Signed)

61. Any person who might have been a petitioner in respect of the election to which the petition relates, may, within five days after such notice is published by the returning officer give notice in writing, signed by him or on his behalf, to the Master of his intention to apply at the hearing to be substituted for the petitioner, but the want of such notice shall not defeat such application if in fact made at the hearing.

62. The time and place for hearing the application shall be fixed by a judge, and whether before the High Court, or before a judge, as he may deem advisable, but shall not be less than a week after the notice of the intention to apply has been given to the Master as hereinbefore provided, and notice of the time and place appointed for the hearing shall be given to such person or persons, if any, as shall have given notice to the Master of an intention to apply to be substituted as petitioners, and otherwise in such manner and at such time as the court or judge directs.

63. Notice of abatement of a petition, by death of the petitioner or surviving petitioner, under section 96, sub-section (1) of the said Act, shall be given by the party or person interested in the same manner as a notice of an application to withdraw a petition, and the time within which application may be made to the High Court, or a judge thereof, by motion or summons at chambers, to be substituted as a petitioner, shall be one calendar month, or such further time as upon consideration of any special circumstances the High Court or a judge thereof may allow.

64. If the respondent dies, any person entitled to be a petitioner under the Act in respect of the election to which the petition relates, may give notice of the fact in the borough by causing such notice to be published in at least one newspaper circulating therein, if any, and by leaving a copy of such notice signed by him or on his behalf with the town clerk, and a like copy with the Master.

65. The manner of the respondent's giving notice that he does not intend to oppose the petition shall be by leaving notice thereof in writing at the office of the Master signed by the respondent.

66. Upon such notice being left at the Master's office, the Master shall forthwith send a copy thereof by the post to the petitioner or his agent, and to the town clerk, who shall cause the same to be published in the borough.

67. The time for applying to be admitted as a respondent in either of the events mentioned in the 97th section of the Act shall be within ten days after such notice is given as hereinbefore directed, or such further time as the High Court or a judge thereof may allow.

68. Costs shall be taxed by the Master, or at his request by any Master of the superior court upon the rule of court or judge's order by which the costs are payable, and costs when taxed may be recovered in like manner as if payable under a rule of court, judgment, or order of a judge in the ordinary proceedings in the High Court of Justice, or in case there be money in the bank available for the purpose, then to the extent of such money by order of the Lord Chief Justice of England for the time being.

The office fees payable for inspection, office copies, enrolment, and other proceedings under the Act and these rules, shall be the same as those payable, if any, for like proceedings according to the present practice of the High Court of Justice.

69. No proceedings under the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, shall be defeated by any formal objection.

70. Any rule made or to be made in pursuance of the Act shall be published by a copy thereof being put up at the Master's office.

Dated the 17th day of April, 1883.

C. E. POLLOCK,
H. MANISTY,
HENRY C. LOPES,
The judges for the time being on the rota for the trial of parliamentary election petitions.

PART V.

CORPORATE PROPERTY AND LIABILITIES.

* * * * * *

Working Men's Dwellings.

Working Men's Dwellings (b).

Sites for working men's dwellings.

111.—(1) If a municipal corporation determines to convert any corporate land into sites for working men's dwellings, and obtains the approval of the Treasury (c) for so doing, the corporation may, for that purpose, make grants or leases for terms of nine hundred and ninety-nine years, or any shorter term, of any parts of the corporate land (d).

(2) The corporation may make on the land any roads, drains, walls, fences, or other works requisite for converting the same into building land, at an expense not exceeding such sum as the Treasury (c) approve.

(3) The corporation may insert in any grant or lease of any part of the land (in this section referred to as the site) provisions binding the grantee or lessee to build thereon as in the grant or lease prescribed, and to maintain and repair the building, and prohibiting the division of the site or building, and any addition to or alteration of the character of the building, without the consent of the corporation, and for the re-vesting of the site in the corporation, or its re-entry thereon, on breach of any provision in the grant or lease (d).

(4) Every such provision shall be valid in law to all intents, and binding on the parties.

(b) See the Housing of the Working Classes Acts, 1890 and 1894, post, pp. 1681, 1782, and particularly s. 91 of the former Act. post, p. 1733.

(c) Now the M. of H. The L. G. B. superseded the Treasury (see the L. G. A. 1888, s. 72), and the L. G. B. has in turn been superseded by the Ministry of Health.

(d) See forms of grants, leases and transfers in the Eighth Schedule, Forms L., M., N., and O., post, pp. 1561–1563. It will be remembered that s. 14 of the Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881, affords relief against forfeiture in certain cases. As to notices under that section, see Pannell v. City of London Brewery Co., [1900] 1 Ch. 496.

(5) All costs and expenses incurred or authorised by a corporation in carrying into execution or otherwise in pursuance of this section, shall be paid out of the borough fund and borough rate, or by money borrowed by the corporation under this Part.

(6) In this section the term working men's dwellings means buildings suitable for the habitation of persons employed in manual labour and their families; but the use of part of a building for purposes of retail trade or other purposes, approved by the council, shall not prevent the building from being deemed a dwelling.

* * * * * *

Borough Bridges.

Borough Bridges.

Maintenance of borough bridges.

119.—(1) Every bridge which is either wholly or in part in a borough and which the borough and not the county wherein the borough is situate is legally bound to maintain or repair shall, as to the whole of the bridge if it is wholly in the borough, or as to such part only as is in the borough, be maintained, altered, widened, repaired, improved, or rebuilt under the sole management and control of the council (e).

(2) For that purpose the council shall have all the powers which the justices of a county have with respect to a county bridge (f), but the notices required in the case of a county bridge shall not be required in the case of a borough bridge.

(3) All expenses incurred for the purposes of this section shall be paid out of the borough fund or borough rate, or out of money borrowed on the security thereof.

(4) The council, with the consent of the Treasury (ff), may from time to time borrow on that security such sums as they deem requisite for any of those purposes, and may mortgage the borough fund and borough rate for the purpose of securing the repayment, with interest, of any money so borrowed (g).

PART VI.

Charitable and other Trusts and Powers.

* * * * * *

Local Acts.

Local Acts.

Transfer of powers of local authorities to municipal corporations.

136.—(1) The trustees appointed or acting by or under any local Act of Parliament for the time being in force, for paving, lighting, supplying with water or gas, cleansing, watching, regulating, or improving, a borough, or any part thereof, or for providing or maintaining a cemetery or market in or for a borough, or any part thereof, whether in any such case their powers under the local Act do or do not extend beyond the borough, may, if they think fit, at a meeting called for this purpose, transfer to the municipal corporation of the borough, with the consent of the council but not otherwise, all the rights, powers, estates, property, and liabilities for the time being vested in or imposed on the trustees under the local Act.

(e) Such a bridge is a street within the definition contained in s. 4 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 15.

(f) Transferred to county councils by s. 3 (viii) of the L. G. A., 1888, and see the Highways and Bridges Act, 1891, post, p. 1753. See also note (e) on p. 273, ante.

(ff) See note (c), ante, p. 1556.

(g) See forms of mortgage and transfer in the Eighth Schedule, Forms P. and Q., post, p. 1563.

(2) The transfer shall be made in writing under the common seal of the trustees if they are a corporation, and if not, then by deed executed by the trustees, or by any two of them acting by their authority and on their behalf.

(3) On the transfer being made, the municipal corporation shall become and be the trustees for executing by the council the powers and provisions of the local Act; and all the rights, powers, estates, and property vested in the transferring trustees shall vest in the corporation; and all the liabilities and obligations of the transferring trustees shall be transferred to and borne by the corporation, and the transferring trustees shall be discharged therefrom (h).

Power for council to extend local lighting Act.

137.—(1) Where at the passing of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, there was a local Act of Parliament for lighting part of a borough then incorporated, the council may, if they think fit, make an order that any specified part of the borough not within the provisions of any such local Act shall, after a day fixed in the order, be within those provisions; and after that day the part so specified shall be within those provisions, as far as relates to lighting, or to any rate authorised to be levied for lighting.

(2) But the part so specified shall be lighted in like manner as those parts of the borough which before the making of the order were within those provisions; and any rate raised for the purpose of defraying the expenses of lighting the part so specified shall not exceed the average expense in the pound of lighting the other parts of the borough (i).

Exercise of powers under local Acts.

5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 76.

138. Everything provided under any local Act of Parliament in force on the twentieth of August, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-six, to be done exclusively by a particular or limited number, class, or description of the members of any body corporate named in the Schedules to the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, the continuance of which was not inconsistent with the provisions of that Act, and everything provided in any such local Act to be done by the justices, or by some particular class or description, of members of such body corporate, being justices, at a court of quarter sessions which did not relate to the business of a court of criminal or civil judicature (k) if the same respectively has been lawfully continued to be done up to the commencement of this Act by the council, or a committee thereof, shall be continued thereafter to be done by the council at a quarterly meeting, or by any three of a committee of the council appointed at such a meeting.

PART VII.

BOROUGH FUND: BOROUGH RATE: COUNTY RATE.

Borough Fund.

Borough Fund.

* * * * * *

Application of surplus of borough fund.

143.—(1) If the borough fund is more than sufficient for the purposes to which it is applicable under this Act (l), or otherwise by law, the surplus thereof shall be applied under the direction of the council for the public benefit of the inhabitants and improvement of the borough (m).

(h) See also ss. 10 and 310 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, pp. 41, 651.
(i) See ss. 161—163 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, pp. 364—369.
(k) E.g., the regulation of the fees of a local Court of Requests (Palmer v. Pea... (1840), 6 M. & W. 627).

Substitution in former Acts.

Provision for references in unrepealed enactments to 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 76, etc.

242.—(1) In the several enactments described in Part I. of the Ninth Schedule, a reference to this Act shall be deemed to be substituted for a reference to the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, and any Act amending it.

(2) In each of the enactments described in Part II. of the Ninth Schedule there shall be substituted for the respective provisions of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, in that part mentioned in connection therewith, such provision of this Act as is also mentioned in connection therewith.

(3) Where any Act passed before this Act, and not specified in the First or in the Ninth Schedule, refers to the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, or any Act amending it, or to boroughs or corporations subject to that Act or any Act amending it, the reference shall be deemed to be to this Act or to the corresponding provision of this Act, or to boroughs or corporations subject to this Act (as the case may require).

(4) All enactments to which this section relates shall, except as in this section provided, continue to operate as if this Act had not been passed.

(p) A town council is not entitled to pass a resolution directing their clerk not to show a document which has been read at a meeting of the council to one of the councillors who bonâ fide desires to see it, merely because he may make some use of the information he may obtain from the document in a manner antagonistic to the policy of the majority of the council (R. v. Southwold Corporation, Ex parte Wrightson (1907), 71 J. P. 351; 97 L. T. 431). Though a member of a borough council has prima facie a common law right to inspect the documents of the council, yet the court will not grant a mandamus to enable him to obtain such inspection where he is inspired by the indirect motive of assisting a person who is engaged in litigation with the council (R. v. Hampstead Borough Council, Ex parte Woodward (1917), 33 T. L. R. 157).

THE ELECTRIC LIGHTING ACT, 1882.

(45 & 46 VICT. c. 56) (h).

An Act to facilitate and regulate the supply of Electricity for Lighting and other purposes in Great Britain and Ireland. [18th August 1882.]

Short title. 1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as "The Electric Lighting Act, 1882."

Application of Act. 2. The provisions of this Act shall apply to every local authority (i), company, or person who may by this Act or any licence or Provisional Order (ii) granted under this Act, or by any special Act to be hereafter passed, be authorised to supply electricity within any area (in this Act referred to as "the undertakers") and to every undertaking so authorised, except so far as may be expressly provided by any such special Act; and every such licence, Provisional Order, and special Act, is in this Act included in the expression "licence, Order, or special Act."

Granting of licences authorising the supply of electricity. 3. The Board of Trade (iii) may from time to time license any local authority as defined by this Act (i), or any company or person, to supply (h) This Act is included in this Appendix, as it confers important powers upon urban and rural district councils. It and two amending Acts of 1888, post, p. 1636, and 1909, post, p. 2001, constitute "The Electric Lighting Acts, 1888 to 1909"; they are supplemented by the Electric Lighting Clauses Act, 1899, post, p. 1806. Important amendments in the law as to the supply of electricity have been made by the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919 (9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 100), post, p. 2227.

By s. 39 of this Act and the Ministry of Transport (Electricity Supply) Order, 1920, all the powers and duties of the Board of Trade under the said Act of 1919 or the Electric Lighting Acts, or the orders and regulations made thereunder, or any local Act relating to the supply of electricity, or any enactment relating to matters incidental to such supply have been transferred to the Ministry of Transport. By s. 1 of the Act provision was made for the appointment of Electricity Commissioners for promoting, regulating, and supervising the supply of electricity. Power is given to the Electricity Commissioners to provisionally determine that separate electricity districts shall be formed, and to approve or make schemes for the improvement of the existing organisation for the supply of electricity in such districts. Such a scheme may provide for the establishment of a joint electricity authority representative of authorised undertakers, and, subject as in this Act provided, for the exercise by that authority of all or any of the powers of the authorised undertakers within their district, and for the transfer to the authority of the whole or any part of the undertakings of any of those undertakers. Any such scheme must be confirmed by the Minister of Transport and must be approved by resolution of each House of Parliament. Important amendments are made in the law as to the provision of new generating stations, and as to the use of land for such stations. The Act empowers authorised undertakers to render mutual assistance to one another pending the establishment of a joint electricity authority. Important amendments of the Electric Lighting Acts are also made. An endeavour has been made to draw attention to all these alterations in the law in the notes to the various sections of the existing Acts, the provisions of which are affected by such alterations.

Further important amendments in the law as to the supply of electricity have been made by the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, post, p. 2303.

By s. 40 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 to 1909, and the Act of 1919, may be cited together as the Electricity (Supply) Acts, 1882 to 1919, and by s. 31 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, the Electricity (Supply) Acts, 1882 to 1919, and the Act of 1922 are to be construed together as one Act, and may be cited as the Electricity (Supply) Acts, 1882 to 1922.

(i) See the definition of this term in s. 31, post, p. 1579. It includes urban and rural sanitary authorities. Licences are practically obsolete. It became usual to apply for a Provisional Order under s. 4, but see now the next note.

(ii) Anything which could be effected by a Provisional Order may now be effected by a Special Order or (in the case of a joint electricity authority) by an order, and references in this Act to provisional orders now include references to such a special order or order except as regards paragraphs (1) to (4) of s. 4 (see s. 26 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, post, p. 2242).

(iii) Now Ministry of Transport, see note (h), supra.

electricity under this Act for any public or private purposes (k) within any area (l), subject to the following provisions:

(1) The consent of every local authority (ll) having jurisdiction within the area or any part of the area within which a supply is licensed to be furnished shall be required to the application for a licence, which consent such local authority is hereby authorised to give, with such conditions (if any) as, subject to the approval of the Board of Trade (lll), the local authority may prescribe:

(2) A licence shall be for any period not exceeding seven years, but may, at or after the expiration of such licence, be renewed from time to time for a like period with such consent as above mentioned upon such terms and conditions as the Board of Trade (lll) may determine:

(3) "Public purposes" shall mean lighting any street or any place belonging to or subject to the control of the local authority, or any church or registered place of public worship, or any hall or building belonging to or subject to the control of any public authority, or any public theatre, but shall not include any other purpose to which electricity may be applied:

(4) "Private purposes" shall include any purposes whatever to which electricity may for the time being be applicable, not being public purposes, except the transmission of any telegram (m):

(5) Every local authority, company, or person applying for a licence shall publish notice of their application by public advertisement in such manner and including such particulars as the Board of Trade (lll) may from time to time direct or approve (n); and such licence shall not be granted by the Board of Trade (lll) until after the expiration of a period of three months from the date of the first publication of such advertisement, nor until opportunity has been given to all parties interested to make representations or objections to the Board of Trade (lll) with reference to the application:

(6) No application for a licence shall be made by any local authority except in pursuance of a resolution to be passed at a special meeting of the local authority, and such special meeting shall only be held after one month's previous notice of the same and of the purpose thereof has been given in the manner in which notices of meetings of such local authority are usually given (o):

(7) A licence may, subject to the provisions of this Act, be granted to a local authority authorising them to supply electricity within any area although the same or some part thereof may not be included within their own district:

(8) The licence may make such regulations as to the limits within which and the conditions under which a supply of electricity is to be compulsory or permissive, and for enforcing the performance by the licensees of their duties in relation to such supply, and for the revocation of the licence where the licensees fail to perform such duties, and generally may contain such regulations and conditions as the Board of Trade (lll) may think expedient:

A., 1894, ante, p. 974.

(9) Where in any area or part of an area in which any undertakers are authorised to supply electricity under any licence the undertakers are not themselves the local authority, the licence may contain any provisions and restrictions for enabling the local authority within whose jurisdiction such area or part of an area may be to exercise any of the powers of the undertakers under this Act with respect to the breaking up of any street repairable by such local authority within such area or part of an area (p), and the alteration of the position of any pipes or wires being under such street (q), and not being the pipes or wires of the undertakers, on behalf and at the expense of the undertakers, and for limiting the powers and liabilities of the undertakers in relation thereto, which the Board of Trade (qq) may think expedient (r).

Granting of Provisional Orders authorising the supply of electricity.

4. The Board of Trade (qq) may, from time to time, by Provisional Order (rr) authorise any local authority (s), company, or person to supply electricity (t) for any public or private purposes (u) within any area (x) without requiring such consents as are required to the granting a licence under this Act (y), and for such period, whether limited or unlimited, as the Board of Trade (qq) may think proper, but in all other respects subject to the like provisions as in the last section contained with respect to licences, and subject also to the following provisions:

(1) No Provisional Order (rr) shall authorise the supply of electricity by any undertakers within the district of any local authority (not being themselves the undertakers), unless notice that such Provisional Order (rr) has been or is intended to be applied for has been given to such local authority by the applicants in such manner as the Board

(s) Two or more authorities may be empowered to supply jointly in certain cases: see s. 8 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1909, post, p. 2004. And see now the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, post, p. 2227, under which joint electricity authorities may be set up. See also s. 19 of the last-mentioned Act as to the power of authorised undertakers to render mutual assistance to one another.

(t) This does not include the supply of lamps and fittings (Leicester Corporation v. Hill (1898), 62 J. P. 232, and see also Att.-Gen. v. Ilford U. D. C. (1915), 13 L. G. R. 441). But some special Acts do authorise the supply of lamps and fittings. (See Attorney-General v. Liverpool Corporation, [1922] 1 Ch. 211.) And see now s. 23 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, post, p. 2242. See also note (q) to s. 10, post, p. 1571.

(x) The usual prohibition contained in Provisional Orders against the undertakers supplying electrical energy or erecting or laying down any lines or works beyond their statutory areas of supply was of universal application so that they could be restrained by injunction from carrying on business and supplying energy in any other place whatsoever however far removed from the statutory area of supply, and although such business be carried on and supply furnished quite independently of any special statutory powers (Att.-Gen. v. Metropolitan Electric Supply Co., [1905] 1 Ch. 757; 69 J. P. 169). But see ss. 4, 5, 6 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1909, post, p. 2002, authorising in certain cases a supply outside the area; and see now the power which a joint electricity authority may obtain under s. 12 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, post, p. 2232.

Undertakings authorised since 1909 are protected from competition by unauthorised undertakers by s. 23 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1909, post, p. 2007. See also Newcastle-on-Tyne Electric Supply Co., Ltd. v. Newcastle-on-Tyne (1911), 75 J. P. 97; 9 L. G. R. 61; but see now s. 25 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, giving to persons not being undertakers a power in some cases to supply electricity.

(y) These words were practically repealed by the Electric Lighting Act, 1888, s. 1, which provided that the consent of the local authority should be required save as therein provided, but reference should now be made to s. 12 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, post, p. 2232.

of Trade (yy) may direct or approve on or before the first day of July in the year in which such application is made (z); . . .

(2) The Board of Trade (yy) may submit to Parliament for confirmation any Provisional Order (yyy) granted by it in pursuance of this Act, but any such Order shall be of no force unless and until it is confirmed by Act of Parliament:

(3) If, while the Bill confirming any such Order is pending in either House of Parliament, a petition is presented against any Order comprised therein, the Bill, so far as it relates to such Order, may be referred to a Select Committee, and the petitioner shall be allowed to appear and oppose as in the case of private Bills:

(4) Any Act confirming any Provisional Order (yyy) granted in pursuance of this Act may, on the application of the undertakers thereby authorised to supply electricity, be repealed, altered, or amended by any subsequent Provisional Order (yyy) granted by the Board of Trade (yy) and confirmed by Parliament.

Making of rules as to application, etc. under Act.

5. The Board of Trade (yy) may from time to time make, and when made may rescind, alter, or repeal rules in relation to the applications for licences or Provisional Orders, and to the payments to be made in respect thereof, and to the publication of notices and advertisements, and the manner in which and the time within which representations or objections with reference to any application are to be made, and to the holding of local inquiries in such cases as they may think it advisable, and to any other matters arising under this Act.

Any rules made in pursuance of this section shall be deemed to be within the powers conferred by this Act, and shall be of the same force as if enacted in this Act, and shall be judicially noticed.

Any rules made in pursuance of this section shall be laid before Parliament within three weeks after they are made if Parliament be then sitting, and if Parliament be not then sitting, within three weeks after the beginning of the next session of Parliament (a).

Regulations to be inserted in licences, etc.

6. The undertakers shall be subject to such regulations and conditions as may be inserted in any licence, Order, or special Act (b) affecting their undertaking with regard to the following matters:

(a) The limits within which and the conditions under which a supply of electricity is to be compulsory or permissive;

(b) The securing a regular and efficient supply of electricity;

(c) The securing the safety of the public from personal injury, or from fire or otherwise;

(d) The limitation of the prices to be charged in respect of the supply of electricity;

(e) The authorising inspection and inquiry from time to time by the Board of Trade (yy) and the local authority;

(f) The enforcement of the due performance of the duties of the undertakers in relation to the supply of electricity by the imposition of

(a) The rules must provide for (inter alia) the notices required by s. 1 (3) of the Electric Lighting Act, 1909. For the current Rules of the Electricity Commissioners, see post, p. 1584.

(b) The usual regulations and conditions on these matters formerly inserted at length are now collectively incorporated by the Electric Lighting Clauses Act, 1899, post, p. 1806, in every Provisional Order and special Act made or passed on or since October 1st, 1899, except so far as expressly varied or excepted thereby.

penalties (c) or otherwise, and the revocation of the licence, Order, or special Act where the undertakers have, in the opinion of the Board of Trade (cc), practically failed to carry the powers granted to them into effect within a reasonable time, or discontinued the exercise of such powers; and

(g) Generally with regard to any other matters in connection with the undertakings.

Provided always, that the Board of Trade (cc) may, from time to time, make such regulations as they may think expedient for securing the safety of the public from personal injury or from fire or otherwise (d), and may from time to time amend or repeal any regulations which may be contained in any such licence, Order, or special Act in relation thereto; and any regulations so made or amended by the Board of Trade (cc) shall, from and after the date thereof, have the like effect in every respect as though they had been originally inserted in the licence, Order, or special Act authorising the undertaking, and every regulation so repealed shall, from and after the date thereof, be repealed accordingly, but such repeal shall not affect any liability or penalty incurred in respect thereof prior to the date of such repeal or any proceeding or remedy which might have been had in relation thereto.

Any local authority within any part of whose district electricity is authorised to be supplied under any licence, Order, or special Act, may, in addition to any regulations which may be made under the preceding provisions of this section for securing the safety of the public, from time to time make, rescind, alter, or repeal byelaws (e) for further securing such safety; and there may be annexed to any breach of such byelaws such penalties to be recovered in a summary manner as they may think necessary: Provided always, that no such byelaws shall have any force or effect unless and until they have been confirmed by the Board of Trade (cc) and published in such manner as the Board of Trade (cc) may direct.

Expenses of local authority.

7. Any expenses incurred by a local authority under this Act (ee), and not otherwise provided for (f), including any expenses incurred in connection with the obtaining by them, or any opposition to the obtaining by any other local authority, company, or person, of any licence, Order, or special Act under this Act, may be defrayed out of the local rate as defined in the Schedule to this Act (g), and the local authority may from time to time cause such

(c) By a local Act, a corporation were empowered to make agreements with regard to the supply of electrical energy to consumers and were liable to a penalty for default in supplying energy to any owner or occupier of premises to whom they might be and were required to supply energy under the Act. The plaintiffs, who were not entitled to require a supply under the Act, made an agreement with the corporation for the supply of electrical energy. It was held that an action would lie at the suit of the plaintiffs against the corporation to recover damages for an alleged breach of the agreement, there being no clear words in the statute confining the remedy of the plaintiffs to proceedings to recover the penalty under the section which rendered the corporation liable to such penalty (Morris and Bastert, Ltd. v. Loughborough Corporation, [1908] 1 K. B. 205; 71 L. P. 521).

(d) See these regulations in App. II., post.

(e) These byelaws will not be subject to the provisions of the P. H. A., 1875, as to byelaws. Byelaws made under Part II., ss. 13 et seq., of the P. H. A., 1890, do not apply to the posts, wires, etc., of electrical undertakings. See s. 15 of that Act, ante, p. 829.

(ee) Expenses incurred by a local authority under an agreement with a joint electricity authority are deemed to be expenses incurred under the Electric Lighting Acts, and this and the next section are to apply accordingly (s. 32 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, post, p. 2244). See also the borrowing power conferred by s. 5 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, post, p. 2305.

(g) See the Schedule, post, p. 1582. In urban districts the local rate is the general district rate (ante, p. 469); in rural districts it is the rate out of which special expenses rates to be levied as may be necessary for the purpose of defraying such expenses; provided that where such local authority is a rural sanitary authority such expenses shall be deemed to be special expenses within the meaning of the Public Health Act, 1875 (h).

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

Power of local authority to borrow money.

8. A local authority authorised to supply electricity by any licence, Order, or special Act may from time to time borrow (i) money on such security, with such consent and subject to such provisions and restrictions with respect to borrowing and the repayment of loans, as are in the Schedule to this Act in that behalf mentioned (k), and the money so borrowed shall be deemed to be borrowed under the enactments subject to the provisions and restrictions of which it is borrowed, and the accounts of all receipts and expenditure by the local authority in pursuance of this Act, or any licence, Order, or special Act, shall be subject to such audit as is in the said Schedule in that behalf mentioned (l): Provided always, that any moneys borrowed under this section by the local authority of any district to which the Local Loans Act, 1875 (m), extends, may, if it is thought fit, be borrowed in manner provided by that Act; and in the construction of the said Act for the purposes of this Act the expression "prescribed" means prescribed by any conditions imposed by the authority whose consent is required to borrowing under this section.

38 & 39 Vict. c. 83.

Where any local authority is authorised by any Act to raise any money which they may be empowered to borrow for certain purposes by the issue of corporation or other stock, any money which a local authority may be authorised to borrow under this section may, if it is thought fit, be raised by them by the issue of such stock as aforesaid (n).

This section shall not apply to the mayor, commonalty, and citizens of the city of London or to the Metropolitan Board of Works, except in so far as the Metropolitan Board of Works may be concerned in the borrowing of any money by any vestry or district board (nn).

(see ante, p. 510) are payable. No sanction is required to the payment of such costs, as is the case with Orders to which s. 298 of the P. H. A., 1875, applies. It will be observed that no power of borrowing is conferred by the section.

(i) See note (ee), ante, p. 1569. Money borrowed under the Electricity Supply Acts is not to be reckoned as part of the authority's total debt for the purpose of any limitation on borrowing powers: see s. 21 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1909, post, p. 2007, and s. 5 (2) of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, post, p. 2306. As to suspension of sinking fund payments in respect of new works, see s. 2 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, post, p. 2304.

(k) These provisions are contained in the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 233, 234, 236—239, ante. The L. G. B. was formerly the Government Department concerned with borrowing. The Board was superseded by the Ministry of Health, but now by s. 20 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, the powers of the Ministry of Health to sanction borrowing under this Act have been transferred to the Electricity Commissioners set up by the Act of 1919.

(n) A local authority authorised to supply electricity by Provisional Order entered into an agreement with a company by which the local authority were to purchase a site and erect buildings for the generating station, and the company were to fit up the plant and apparatus and carry on the undertaking and receive the profit for their own benefit. It being contemplated that it would be necessary for the local authority to borrow money to enable the company to construct and fit up apparatus, a clause in the agreement provided that the company should pay half-yearly to the local authority sums equal to the sums paid by the local authority in the preceding half-year for interest and sinking fund on money borrowed. It was held that the sums payable half-yearly by the company were an "annual payment" within the meaning of s. 40 of the Income Tax Act, 1853, and the company in making the payment were entitled to deduct income tax accordingly (Surbiton U. D. C. v. Callender's Cable and Construction Co., Ltd. (1910), 8 L. G. R. 244).

(nn) The powers of the London County Council (as successors to the Metropolitan Board of Works) have been transferred to the Electricity Commissioners set up by the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919 (see s. 20 of that Act, post, p. 2238).

9. The undertakers shall on or before the twenty-fifth day of March (o) in every year fill up an annual statement of accounts of the undertaking made up to the thirty-first day of December (o) then next preceding; and such statement shall be in such form and shall contain such particulars and shall be published in such manner as may from time to time be prescribed in that behalf by the Board of Trade (p). Accounts.

The undertakers shall keep copies of such annual statement at their office, and sell the same to any applicant at a price not exceeding one shilling a copy.

In case the undertakers make default in complying with the provisions of this section, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each day during which such default continues.

10. The undertakers may, subject to and in accordance with the provisions and restrictions of this Act, and of any rules made by the Board of Trade (pp) in pursuance of this Act and of any licence, Order, or special Act authorising or affecting their undertaking, and for the purpose of supplying (q) electricity, acquire such lands (r) by agreement (s), construct such works (t), acquire General powers of undertakers under licence or Provisional Order.

(o) In the case of local authorities these dates are varied by s. 12 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1909, post, p. 2005, but see next note.

(p) The Board of Trade has now, for most of the purposes of this Act, been superseded by the Ministry of Transport, see note (h) on p. 1565, ante, but by s. 27 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, it is provided that (inter alia) authorised undertakers under the Act or the text shall furnish to the Electricity Commissioners at such times and in such form and manner as the Commissioners may direct such accounts, statistics, and returns as they may require for the purposes of their powers and duties under that Act.

(q) A municipal corporation were the undertakers for the supply of electricity within their area, and purporting to exercise their statutory powers, supplied every description of electrical fittings and apparatus to consumers of electricity. It was held that the statutory powers of the undertakers ceased with the delivery of electricity at the terminals, i.e., the meter, on the consumers' premises, and were complete at that point, and that the general power to do "all such acts and things as were necessary and incidental to such supply" was limited to the generation and delivery of such supply; that the analogy of the supply of gas under the Gasworks Clauses Acts did not apply to the supply of electricity under the Electric Lighting Acts; and that the supply of electrical fittings and apparatus for the use of consumers was ultra vires the corporation (Att.-Gen. v. Leicester Corporation, [1910] 2 Ch. 359; 74 J. P. 385). In a case of a municipal corporation alleged to have in excess of their powers under the Electric Lighting Acts and a confirmed Provisional Order installed and repaired electric light fittings and wires within and without their area of supply on the consumers' sides of the terminals and also electric bell fittings and wires, the facts were held to have been brought within the judgment in Att.-Gen. v. Leicester Corporation, supra, where an injunction was granted, and that this would be followed unless the defendants (1) had power as a chartered corporation to carry on the business complained of, or (2) were so empowered by a private Act enabling them to supply mains but not manufacture things for cooking, heating, ventilating and motive power, and also to repair such things. It was held that the first point, not having been raised until the trial, was not open to the defendants, and that if it were, the impugned acts were continuous acts partly intra vires and partly ultra vires the corporate powers, and could not be dissected, and could not, therefore, be justified; also that the further powers under the Act were confined to the area of supply and to electric motors and apparatus used as sources of power for the specified purposes and did not extend to the objects to which the power was transmitted (Att.-Gen. v. Sheffield Corporation (1912), 76 J. P. 185; 106 L. T. 367). See also Att.-Gen. v. Ilford U. D. C. (1915), 13 L. G. R. 441. But see now s. 23 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, post, p. 2242, and Attorney-General v. Liverpool Corporation, [1922] 1 Ch. 211; 20 L. G. R. 547.

(r) As to purchase by local authority, see the Electric Lighting Clauses Act, 1899, Sched., clause 8, post, p. 1810; and see now also ss. 6, 8, 9, 13, and 32 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, post, pp. 2229, 2230, 2231, 2233, 2244. A local authority having acquired land for the purpose of erecting thereon works for generating electricity were restrained from using part of such land for the erection of a refuse destructor, although they proposed to use the surplus heat produced by the destruction of refuse in aid of their machinery for generating electricity (Att.-Gen. v. Pontypridd U. D. C., [1906] 2 Ch. 257; 70 J. P. 394). The case is an illustration of the general principle that it is ultra vires for a local such licences for the use of any patented or protected processes, inventions, machinery, apparatus, methods, materials, or other things, enter into such contracts, and generally do all such acts and things as may be necessary and incidental to such supply (u).

Power for local authority to contract in certain cases and restrictions on assignments of powers, etc. of undertakers.

11. Any local authority who have obtained a licence, Order, or special Act for the supply of electricity, may contract with any company or person for the execution and maintenance of any works needed for the purposes of such supply, or for the supply of electricity within any area mentioned in such licence, Order, or special Act, or in any part of such area; but no local authority, company, or person shall by any contract or assignment transfer to any other company or person or divest themselves of any legal powers given to them, or any legal liabilities imposed on them by this Act, or by any licence, Order, or special Act, without the consent of the Board of Trade (x).

Incorporation of certain provisions of Clauses Consolidation Acts.

12. The provisions of the following Acts shall be incorporated with this Act; that is to say,

(1) The Lands Clauses Acts (y), except the enactments with respect to the purchase and taking of lands otherwise than by agreement (z), authority having acquired land for particular purposes under the powers of one statute to use the land so acquired or any part of it for another purpose, although such other purpose may be within the powers given to them under some other statute. And see the similar case of Att.-Gen. v. Bradford Corporation (1911), 75 J. P. 553; 55 Sol. J. 715.

(s) Land for a generating station may now be acquired compulsorily. See s. 1 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1909, post. See also as to generating stations, ss. 9, 10, and 11 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919.

(t) Defined by s. 32, post, p. 1580. But as to restrictions on the construction of generating stations, see ss. 1 and 2 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1909, and s. 11 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919.

(u) See note (q), ante, p. 1571. By s. 6 of the Telegraph Act, 1892, the undertakers may agree with the Postmaster-General for placing telegraphs in the trenches, tubes, or pipes used for the purposes of laying their own electric line. In the case of In re St. Nicholas Cole Abbey and St. Benet Fink, [1893] P. 58, an electric lighting company obtained a faculty for constructing chambers for the storage and transformation of electricity under two disused churchyards in the city of London, and it was held that the vesting of one of such churchyards by local Acts in the corporation to the intent that it might for ever remain unbuilt upon and unused for any purpose, except such ornamental purpose as the bishop should approve, did not preclude the court from granting the faculty. As to sale of lamps and fittings, see note (t) to s. 4, ante, p. 1567. As to liability for nuisance, see s. 17 and notes, post, p. 1575. As to liability of contractors to the local authority, being the undertakers, see Fulham Borough Council v. National Electric Construction Co. (1906), 70 J. P. 55; 4 L. G. R. 115.

(x) The first part of the section deals with cases where the local authority remains the party supplying electricity, though it may contract for the execution of works or buy electricity from some other person or company. The second part, now repealed and replaced by a different provision in s. 14 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1909, post, p. 2005, as to which see now the provisions contained in the Electricity (Supply) Acts, 1919 and 1922, dealt with cases of transfer by the local authority or some other company or person of the legal powers for supplying electricity. Where the effect of a contract between a local authority having statutory powers and a company was to place the company in the position of the authority as regards their statutory powers and duties without the consent of the Board of Trade, the contract was held void, notwithstanding a clause intended to prevent the contract from being as between the parties an assignment or transfer of the statutory powers of the authority (Sudbury Corporation v. Empire Electric Light and Power Co., [1905] 2 Ch. 104; 69 J. P. 321). A collateral agreement containing terms of transfer not approved by the Board of Trade, but made a condition of the execution of a transfer deed approved by that Board, was held ultra vires and unenforceable (Lambeth Borough Council v. South London Electric Supply Corporation, Ltd. (1906), 70 J. P. 27; 22 T. L. R. 78). See also London Electric Supply Corporation, Ltd. v. Westminster Electric Supply Corporation, Ltd. (1913), 11 L. G. R. at p. 1052.

(y) These Acts are 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18; 23 & 24 Vict. c. 106; 32 & 33 Vict. c. 18; 46 & 47 Vict. c. 15, and are (except 32 & 33 Vict. c. 18, which so far as still unrepealed relates only to lands in Westminster) included in this Appendix.

and except the enactments with respect to the entry upon lands by the promoters of the undertaking; and

(2) The provisions of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847 (a), with respect to breaking up streets (b) for the purpose of laying pipes, and with respect to waste or misuse of the gas or injury to the pipes and other works, except so much thereof as relates to the use of any burner other than such as has been provided or approved of by the undertakers; and 10 & 11 Vict. c. 15.

(3) Sections thirty-eight to forty-two inclusive, and sections forty-five and forty-six, of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871. 34 & 35 Vict. c. 41.

For the purposes of this Act, in the construction of all the enactments incorporated by this section, "the special Act" means this Act inclusive of any licence, Order, or special Act; and "the promoters" or "undertakers," and "the undertaking," as the case may be, mean the undertakers and the undertaking respectively under this Act.

In the construction of the said Lands Clauses Acts, "land" includes easements in or relating to lands.

In the construction of the said Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, and the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, the said Acts shall be construed as if "gas" meant "electricity," and as if "pipe" meant electric line, and "works" meant "works" as defined by this Act, and as if "the limits of the special Act" meant the area within which the undertakers are authorised to supply electricity under any licence, Order, or special Act.

All offences, forfeitures, penalties, and damages under the said incorporated provisions of the said Acts or any of them may be prosecuted and may be recovered in manner by the said Acts respectively enacted in relation thereto, provided that sums recoverable under the provisions of section forty of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, shall not be recovered as penalties, but may be recovered summarily as civil debts (d).

Restriction on breaking up of private streets, railways and tramways.

13. Nothing in this Act or in any Act incorporated therewith shall authorise or empower the undertakers to break up any street which is not repairable by such local authority, or any railway or tramway, without the consent of the authority, company, or person by whom such street, railway, or tramway is repairable, unless in pursuance of special powers in that behalf inserted in the licence, Order, or special Act, or with the written consent of the Board of Trade (e), and the Board of Trade (e) shall not in any case insert any such special powers in any licence or Provisional Order, or give any such consent until notice has been given to such authority, company, or person by advertisement or otherwise, as the Board of Trade (e) may direct, and an opportunity has been given to such authority, company, or person to state any objections they may have thereto (f).

(d) That is to say, in manner provided by the S. J. A., 1879, ss. 6, 35. See the note to s. 251 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 551.

(e) See note (h), ante, p. 1565.

(f) See r. V. of the Electricity Commissioners Rules, post, p. 1586, and the Electric Lighting Clauses Act, 1899, Sched., clause 21 (3), post, p. 1820, as to obtaining the consent of the Ministry of Transport as successor of the Board of Trade. Restrictions as to above-ground works.

14. Notwithstanding anything in this Act or in any Act incorporated therewith, the undertakers shall not be authorised to place any electric line above ground, along, over, or across any street, without the express consent of the local authority (g), and the local authority may require the undertakers to forthwith remove any electric line placed by them contrary to the provisions of this section, or may themselves remove the same, and recover the expenses of such removal from the undertakers in a summary manner; and where any electric line has been placed above ground by the undertakers in any position, a court of summary jurisdiction, upon complaint made, if they are of opinion that such electric line is or is likely to become dangerous to the public safety, may, notwithstanding any such consent as aforesaid, make an order directing and authorising the removal of such electric line by such person and upon such terms as they may think fit.

Power to undertakers to alter position of pipes and wires.

15. Subject to the provisions of this Act and of the licence, Order, or special Act authorising them to supply electricity, and to any byelaws made under this Act (h), the undertakers may alter the position of any pipes or wires being under any street or place authorised to be broken up by them which may interfere with the exercise of their powers under this Act, on previously making or securing such compensation to the owners of such pipes or wires, and on complying with such conditions as to the mode of making such alterations as may before the commencement of such alterations be agreed upon between the undertakers and owners, or in case of difference as may be determined in manner prescribed by the licence or Provisional Order authorising the undertakers to supply electricity, or where no such manner is prescribed as may be determined by arbitration, and any local or other public authority, company, or person may in like manner alter the position of any electric lines or works of the undertakers, being under any such street or place as aforesaid, which may interfere with the lawful exercise of any powers vested in such local or other public authority, company, defendants proposed to connect up their areas of supply on the north and south sides of the Thames by laying electric mains along streets, including London Bridge, outside their areas of supply, in pursuance of the powers conferred upon them by the London Electric Supply Act, 1908. London Bridge is not a bridge repairable by the local authority, but is repairable by the corporation of the city of London as trustees of the Bridge House estates. The corporation sought an injunction to restrain the defendants from laying the proposed mains, and a declaration that the Act of 1908 did not entitle them to break up or carry the mains over London Bridge without the corporation's consent. It was held that the defendants had power, subject to the provisions of the Acts therein referred to, to lay electric mains over London Bridge, that is subject to the consent either of the corporation or, if that were refused, of the Board of Trade. In Andrews v. Abertillery U. D. C., [1911] 2 Ch. 398; 75 J. P. 449, it was held (KENNEDY, L.J., dissentiente) that where there was no person by whom the street was repairable the section operated as an absolute prohibition against the breaking up of the street by the undertakers, and that therefore where a strip of land adjoining a street repairable by the local authority had been dedicated to the public by the owner and had become part of the street, but was not repairable either by the local authority or by the owner or by any other person, the local authority, as undertakers for the supply of electric light in their district, had no power to break up that portion of the street. See also now s. 22 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, as to wayleaves.

(g) Therefore the case of Wandsworth Board of Works v. United Telephone Co., ante, p. 278, will not apply to such wires. See also National Telephone Co. v. Constables of St. Peter Port, Guernsey, ante, p. 279, and Finchley Electric Light Co., Ltd. v. Finchley U. D. C., Times, October 17th, 1901. Further restrictions are contained in the Electric Lighting Act, 1888, s. 4, and the Electric Lighting Clauses Act, 1899, Sched., clause 10 (b), post, p. 1810. However, by s. 21 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, the consent of the Ministry of Transport (as successor to the Board of Trade) now suffices for the placing of any electric line above ground. Wires to which this Act applies are not subject to the P. H. A., 1890, ss. 13, 14. See s. 15 of that Act, ante, p. 829. As to London, see 54 & 55 Vict. c. lxxvii.

r person in relation to such street or place, subject to the like provisions, onditions, and restrictions as are in this section contained with reference to he alteration of the position of any pipes or wires by the undertakers.

Clause for protection of canals.

16. If at any time after the undertakers have placed any works under, n, upon, over, along or across any canal (i), any person having power to onstruct docks, basins or other works upon any land adjoining to or near ich canal, constructs any dock, basin or work on such land, but is prevented y the works of the undertakers from forming a communication for the onvenient passage of vessels with or without masts between such dock, basin r other work, and such canal; or if the business of such dock, basin or other ork is interfered with by reason or in consequence of any such works of the ndertakers, then the undertakers at the request of such person, and on aving reasonable facilities afforded them by him for placing works round ich dock, basin or other work, under, in, upon, over, along or across land elonging to or under his control, shall remove and place their work accordngly. If any dispute arises between the undertakers and such person as o the facilities to be afforded to the undertakers, or as to the direction in hich the works are to be placed, it shall be determined by arbitration.

Compensation for damage.

17. In the exercise of the powers in relation to the execution of works iven them under this Act, or any licence, Order, or special Act, the underakers shall cause as little detriment and inconvenience and do as little amage (j) as may be, and shall make full compensation to all bodies and ersons interested for all damage sustained by them by reason or in consequence of the exercise of such powers, the amount and application of such ompensation in case of difference to be determined by arbitration (k).

Undertakers not to prescribe special form of lamp or burner.

18. The undertakers shall not be entitled to prescribe any special form f lamp or burner to be used by any company or person, or in any way to ontrol or interfere with the manner in which electricity supplied by them nder this Act, and any licence, Order, or special Act, is used: Provided ways that no local authority, company, or person shall be at liberty to use ny form of lamp or burner or to use the electricity supplied to them for any purposes, or to deal with it in any manner so as to unduly or improperly interfere with the supply (l) of electricity supplied to any other local authority, company, or person by the undertakers (m), and if any dispute or difference arises between the undertakers, and any local authority, company, or person entitled to be supplied with electricity under this Act, or any licence, Order, or special Act, as to the matters aforesaid, such dispute or difference shall be determined by arbitration.

A serious annoyance to adjoining occupiers by vibration, noise, and smell, is not to be xcused on the ground that it is temporary and occasional (Knight v. Isle of Wight lectric Light and Power Co. (1904), 73 L. J. Ch. 299; 68 J. P. 266). This is the case though the defendants are a local authority having under a Provisional Order a power o supply electricity (Colwell v. St. Pancras Borough Council, [1904] 1 Ch. 707; 68 J. P. 36). No special consideration is due to the fact that the complaint is made in respect f a place of worship, but the general character of the neighbourhood and all the arrounding circumstances must be considered, and an injunction will be refused unless here is a serious annoyance (Heath v. Brighton Corporation (1908), 72 J. P. 225).

Obligation on undertakers to supply electricity.

19. Where a supply of electricity is provided in any part of an area for private purposes, then except in so far as is otherwise provided by the terms of the licence, Order, or special Act authorising such supply, every company or person within that part of the area shall, on application, be entitled to a supply on the same terms on which any other company or person in such part of the area is entitled under similar circumstances to a corresponding supply (n).

Charges for electricity.

20. The undertakers shall not, in making any agreements for a supply of electricity, show any undue preference to any local authority, company, or person, but save as aforesaid, they may make such charges for the supply of electricity as may be agreed upon, not exceeding the limits of price imposed by or in pursuance of the licence, Order, or special Act authorising them to supply electricity (o).

(m) See also the Electric Lighting Clauses Act, 1899, Sched., clause 27 (4), post, p. 1823.

(n) No one is entitled to demand a supply of energy under this section unless and until he has made a contract with the undertakers for the supply. Thus a receiver for debenture-holders taking possession of a hotel for the lighting of which the company, who were proprietors, were in debt to an electric supply company, was held not to be entitled to a further supply, as he refused to pay the arrears which the electric supply company demanded payment of as a condition for continuing the light (Husey v. London Electric Supply Corporation, [1902] 1 Ch. 411).

See s. 23 (1) of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, post, as to standby supplies of electricity; and see s. 18 of Electric Lighting Act, 1909, post, p. 2006, as to their right to refuse a supply to a person who is in their debt for electricity previously supplied.

In Metropolitan Electric Supply Co., Ltd. v. Ginder, [1901] 2 Ch. 799, at p. 811, it was held by BUCKLEY, J., that the words "a supply on the same terms" used in this section bear their natural meaning, and include price. In Att.-Gen. for Victoria v. Melbourne Corporation, [1907] A. C. 469, at p. 475, the Privy Council approved this construction with regard to the same words as used in s. 38 of the Victorian Electric Lighting and Power Act, 1896, that section being practically identical with this. But s. 39 of that Act dealing with preference differs in its wording from s. 20 of this Act, relating to the same subject. The Privy Council held that on the true construction of ss. 38 and 39 of the Victorian Act the corporation were authorised to supply electricity under two different systems of charge—one at a fixed rate and the other at a rate varying with the amount consumed, the system adopted being at the choice of the customer and no preference being given within each system to one consumer over another.

(o) See also the Electric Lighting Clauses Act, 1899, Sched., clauses 31—34, post, p. 1824, and the Electric Lighting Act, 1909, s. 17, post, p. 2006. A form of agreement is given in Key and Elphinstone's Precedents in Conveyancing, 8th ed.; but from the consumer's point of view the agreement should always contain a provision that no change should be made in the pressure of the supply. A contract containing a clause that the consumer agrees to take the whole of the electric energy required for his premises from the company for a period of not less than five years at a fixed charge not exceeding the limit under this section, does not contravene this or the preceding section, and may be enforced by injunction (Metropolitan Electric Supply Co. v. Ginder, [1901] 2 Ch. 799; 65 J. P. 519). Where undertakers issued a circular with reference to the price proposed to be charged for electricity to power consumers, the effect of which was in certain cases to make a lower charge for power purposes to consumers who in addition to a supply for power took exclusively a supply of electricity for lighting purposes, and a higher charge to consumers of electricity for power only or for power and partial lighting, it was held that the differentiation proposed by the circular was a breach of both ss. 19 and 20 (Att.-Gen. v. Long Eaton U. D. C., [1915] 1 Ch. 124. The principle of the last-mentioned decision was applied in Att.-Gen. v. Ilford U. D. C. (1915), 13 L. G. R. 441, and in Att.-Gen. v. Hackney Corporation, [1918] 1 Ch. 372, which last-mentioned case was, how Recovery of charges, etc.

21. If any local authority, company, or person neglect to pay any charge or electricity or any other sum due from them to the undertakers in respect of the supply of electricity to such local authority, company, or person, the undertakers may cut off such supply, and for that purpose may cut or disconnect any electric line or other work through which electricity may be supplied, and may, until such charge or other sum, together with any expenses incurred by the undertakers in cutting off such supply of electricity as aforesaid, are fully paid, but no longer, discontinue the supply of electricity to such local authority, company, or person (p).

Injuring works with intent to cut off supply of electricity.

22. Any person who unlawfully and maliciously cuts or injures any electric line or work with intent to cut off any supply of electricity shall be guilty of felony, and be liable to be kept in penal servitude for any term not exceeding five years, or to be imprisoned with or without hard labour for any term not exceeding two years; but nothing in this section shall exempt a person from any proceeding for any offence which is punishable under any other provision of this Act, or under any other Act, or at common law, so that no person be punished twice for the same offence.

Stealing electricity.

23. Any person who maliciously or fraudulently abstracts, causes to be wasted or diverted, consumes, or uses any electricity shall be guilty of simple larceny and punishable accordingly.

Power to enter lands or premises for ascertaining quantities of electricity consumed, or to remove fittings, etc.

24. Any officer appointed by the undertakers may at all reasonable times enter (q) any premises to which electricity is or has been supplied (r) by the undertakers, in order to inspect the electric lines, meters, accumulators, fittings, works, and apparatus for the supply of electricity belonging to the undertakers (s), and for the purpose of ascertaining the quantity of electricity consumed or supplied, or where a supply of electricity is no longer required, or where the undertakers are authorised to take away and cut off the supply of electricity from any premises, for the purpose of removing any electric lines, accumulators, fittings, works, or apparatus belonging to the undertakers (s), repairing all damage caused by such entry, inspection, or removal.

Electric lines, etc. not to be subject to distress in certain cases.

25. Where any electric lines, meters, accumulators, fittings, works, or apparatus belonging to the undertakers (s) are placed in or upon any premises not being in the possession of the undertakers for the purpose of supplying electricity under this Act, or any licence, Order, or special Act, such electric lines, meters, accumulators, fittings, works, or apparatus shall not be subject to distress or to the landlord's remedy for rent of the premises where the same may be, nor to be taken in execution under any process of a court of law or equity, or any proceedings in bankruptcy against the person in whose possession the same may be (t).

ber, distinguished from the Long Eaton case on facts). By a contract for electric lighting installation, it was provided that the work should be completed in all respects before November 26th, 1898, subject to a penalty of £15 a day, and the plant by December 10th, subject to a penalty of £3 per day for every day the work remained unfinished to the satisfaction of the authorities or engineers:—Held, that although the word "penalties" was used, the amounts incurred owing to the default of the contractors were, in fact, "liquidated damages" (Re White and Arthur (1901), 84 L. T. 594). For the construction of an agreement for the supply of electricity and as to the finality of meter readings, see Gravesend and Northfleet Electric Tramways, Ltd. v. Gravesend Corporation (1910), 74 J. P. 156; 8 L. G. R. 445.

(r) See note (q), ante, p. 1571.

(s) As to lines, etc., let on hire, or sold on the instalment principle, see s. 16 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1909, post, p. 2006.

(t) A somewhat similar provision was contained in the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, Provision for protection of the Postmaster-General. 41 & 42 Vict. c. 76.

26. (tt) No alteration in any telegraph line of the Postmaster-General shall be made by the undertakers except subject to the provisions of the Telegraph Act, 1878.

The undertakers shall not in the exercise of the powers conferred by this Act, or by any licence, Order, or special Act, lay down any electric line or do any other work for the supply of electricity whereby any telegraphic line of the Postmaster-General is or may be injuriously affected, and before any such electric line is laid down or work is done within ten yards of any part of a telegraphic line of the Postmaster-General (other than repairs or the laying of connexions with mains where the direction of the electric lines so laid down crosses the line of the Postmaster-General at right angles at the point of shortest distance and continues the same for a distance of six feet on each side of such point) (ttt) the undertakers or their agents not more than twenty-eight nor less than seven clear days [one month, or, in the case of the laying of service lines to consumers' premises, seven clear days] (tttt) before commencing such work shall give written notice to the Postmaster-General specifying the course and nature of the work, including the gauge of any electric lines, and the undertakers and their agents shall conform with such reasonable requirements either general or special as may from time to time be made by the Postmaster-General for the purpose of preventing any telegraphs of the Postmaster-General from being injuriously affected by the said work.

Any difference which arises between the Postmaster-General and the undertakers or their agents with respect to any requirements so made, shall be determined by arbitration.

In the event of any contravention of or wilful non-compliance with this section by the undertakers or their agents the undertakers shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten pounds for every day during which such contravention or non-compliance continues, or, if the telegraphic communication is wilfully interrupted, not exceeding fifty pounds for every day on which such interruption continues.

Provided that nothing in this section shall subject the undertakers or their agents to a fine under this section, if they satisfy the court having cognizance of the case that the immediate execution of the work was required to avoid an accident, or otherwise was a work of emergency, and that they forthwith served on the postmaster or sub-postmaster of the postal telegraph office nearest to the place where the work was done a notice of the execution thereof, stating the reason for executing the same without previous notice.

For the purposes of this section a telegraphic line of the Postmaster-General shall be deemed to be injuriously affected by a work if telegraphic communication by means of such line is, whether through induction or otherwise, in any manner affected by such work, or by any use made of such work.

For the purposes of this section, and subject as therein provided, sections two, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven, and twelve of the Telegraph Act, 1878, shall be deemed to be incorporated with this Act, as if the undertakers were undertakers within the meaning of those sections, without prejudice never-

A person who procures possession of a house under an agreement between him and the owner for a lease thereof, with the fraudulent intention of stealing the fixtures thereto belonging, and upon obtaining possession severs and steals the fixtures was held to be guilty of larceny under the Larceny Act, 1861, s. 31 (R. v. Richards, 1911, 1 K. 27. [Purchase of undertaking by local authority.] (x)

28. Where any matter is by this Act, or any licence, Order, or special Act (y), directed to be determined by arbitration, such matter shall, except as otherwise expressly provided, be determined by an engineer or other fit person to be nominated as arbitrator by the Board of Trade (yy), on the application of either party, and the expenses of the arbitration shall be borne and paid as the arbitrator directs. Arbitration.

Any licence or Provisional Order granted under this Act shall be deemed to be a special Act within the meaning of the Board of Trade Arbitrations, etc., Act, 1874. 37 & 38 Vict. c. 40.

29. Where a supply of electricity is authorised in any area by any licence, Order, or special Act, and a supply of gas by any gas undertakers is also authorised within such area or any part thereof by any Provisional Order or special Act under the provisions of which such gas undertakers are under any general or limited obligation to supply gas upon demand (z), the Board of Trade (yy) may, upon the application of such gas undertakers, inquire into the circumstances of the case, and if they are satisfied that any specified part of such area is sufficiently supplied with electric light, and that the supply of gas in such specified part has ceased to be remunerative to the gas undertakers, and that it is just that such gas undertakers should be relieved from the obligation to supply gas upon demand as aforesaid, the Board of Trade (yy) may in their discretion make an Order relieving the gas undertakers from such obligation, within such specified part of such area, either wholly or in part, and upon such terms and conditions as they may think proper; and from and after the date of such Order such gas undertakers shall be so relieved accordingly. All expenses of the Board of Trade (yy) in connection with any such inquiry or Order shall be borne and paid by the gas undertakers upon whose application the inquiry or Order was made. Power for Board of Trade to relieve gas undertakers from obligation to supply gas in certain cases.

30. Not later than the first day of July in each year the Board of Trade (yy) shall lay before both Houses of Parliament a report respecting the applications to and proceedings of the Board of Trade (yy) under this Act during the year then last past (a). Annual report by Board of Trade (yy).

31. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires, the expressions "local authority" and "local rate" mean, as respects each district set Definition of local authority, etc.

(u) Section 2 of the Telegraph Act, 1878, contains certain definitions of expressions used in that Act, and is amended by the Light Railways Act, 1896, s. 25. Section 7 makes provision as to work done in pursuance of special Acts of Parliament which involves alteration in any telegraphic line. Section 8 deals with compensation and fines for injury to any telegraphic line of the Postmaster-General, and for interruption of telegraphic communication. Section 9 enacts a penalty for obstruction. Section 10 provides for the prosecution of offences. See further, as to the protection of the Postmaster-General, note (h), post, p. 1638, and the Electric Lighting Clauses Act, 1899, Sched., clauses 14, 79, post, pp. 1812, 1835.

(x) This section was repealed by the Electric Lighting Act, 1888, s. 2, post, p. 1636, which contained substituted provisions as to purchase by the local authority, but see now also s. 7 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1909, post, p. 2004, and s. 13 (2) and (3) of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, post.

Interpretation.

32. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires—

The expression "electricity" means electricity, electric current, or any like agency (b):

The expression "electric line" means a wire or wires, conductor, or other means used for the purpose of conveying, transmitting, or distributing electricity with any casing, coating, covering, tube, pipe, or insulator enclosing, surrounding, or supporting the same, or any part thereof, or any apparatus connected therewith for the purpose of conveying transmitting, or distributing electricity or electric currents:

The expression "works" means and includes electric lines, also any buildings, machinery, engines, works, matters, or things of whatever description required to supply electricity and to carry into effect the object of the undertakers under this Act (c):

The expression "company" means any body of persons corporate or unincorporate:

8 & 9 Vict. c. 18. 23 & 24 Vict. c. 106. 32 & 33 Vict. c. 18.

The expression "Lands Clauses Acts" means the Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts, 1845, 1860, and 1869:

The expression "street" includes any square, court, or alley, highway, lane, road, thoroughfare, or public passage, or place, within the area in which the undertakers are authorised to supply electricity by this Act or any licence, Order, or special Act (d):

32 & 33 Vict. c. 73.

The expression "telegram" has the same meaning as in the Telegraph Act, 1869 (e).

For the protection of mines.

33. Nothing in this Act shall limit or interfere with the rights of any owner, lessee, or occupier of any mines or minerals lying under or adjacent to any road along or across which any electric line shall be laid to work such mines and minerals.

Provision as to general Acts.

34. Nothing in this Act shall exempt the undertakers or their undertaking from the provisions of any general Act relating to the supply of electricity which may be passed in this or any future session of Parliament (f).

Saving for privileges of Postmaster-General.

35. Nothing in this Act or in any licence, Order, or special Act, shall affect the exclusive privileges conferred upon the Postmaster-General by the Telegraph Act, 1869, or authorise or enable any local authority, company, or person to transmit any telegram or to perform any of the incidental services of receiving, collecting, or delivering telegrams, or give to any local authority,

(d) See a further definition of this expression for the purposes of the Electric Lighting Act, 1888, s. 4, in sub-s. (5) of that section, post, p. 1639.

(e) By s. 3 of the Telegraph Act, 1869, the term "telegram" shall mean any message or other communication transmitted or intended for transmission by telegraph. And the term "telegraph" shall, in addition to the meaning assigned to it in the Telegraph Act, 1863, mean and include any apparatus for transmitting messages or other communications by means of electric signals. These definitions include the telephone and telephonic messages (Att.-Gen. v. Edison Telephone Co. of London (1880), 6 Q. B. D. 244).

mpany, or person, any power, authority, or facility of any kind whatever, connection with the transmission of telegrams, or the performance of any the incidental services of receiving, collecting, or delivering telegrams (g).

STATUTORY RULES AND ORDERS,

1920, No. 1461.

ELECTRICITY.

APPLICATIONS FOR SPECIAL ORDERS.

THE ELECTRICITY COMMISSIONERS' RULES, 1920, DATED AUGUST 10, 1920, MADE BY THE ELECTRICITY COMMISSIONERS IN PURSUANCE OF SECTION 34 OF THE ELECTRICITY (SUPPLY) ACT, 1919 (9 & 10 GEO. 5, C. 100), WITH RESPECT TO APPLICATIONS FOR SPECIAL ORDERS.

Mode of making application.

As to form of application.

Rule I.—Every application for a special order (hereinafter in this part of these Rules referred to as "an Order") to authorise the distribution of electricity in any area or the acquisition or use of any land for the purpose of a generating station, must be made by memorial addressed to the Secretary, Electricity Commission, Gwydyr House, Whitehall, S.W.1.

Notices which must be given.

Public notices.

Rule II.—Applicants for an Order must publish notice by advertisement (hereinafter referred to as "the advertisement") of their intended application and the advertisement must contain the following particulars:—

1. The objects of the application.
2. The address and description of the applicants.
3. A description of the proposed area of supply (if any).
4. The names of the roads (if any) in which it is proposed that electric lines shall be laid down within a specified time.
5. A list of the roads not repairable by a local authority and of the railways and tramways (if any) which the applicants propose to take special powers by the Order to break up.
6. In the case of an Order to authorise the acquisition or use of any land for the purpose of a generating station, a description of such land.
7. An intimation that every local or other public authority, company or person being desirous of bringing before the Electricity Commissioners any objection respecting the application, may do so by registered letter, addressed to the Secretary of the Commission as aforesaid and despatched within thirty days from the date of the publication of the advertisement in the local newspaper, and that a copy of such objection must also be forwarded to the Parliamentary Agents or Solicitors for the Order.
8. The address of an office in London and of an office within the proposed area of Supply, or, in the case of an application for an Order for the acquisition or use of land for the purpose of a generating station, within the district of the local authority in which such land is situate, at which printed copies of the draft Order, as applied for, and of the Order, as made, can be obtained at a price of not more than two shillings each.

The advertisement must be inserted once in a local newspaper circulating in the district or districts to which the application relates and once in the London, Edinburgh Dublin Gazette, as the case may require, as soon as possible after the publication in local newspaper.

No part of the month of August shall be included in calculating the above-mentioned period of thirty days.

Notices to owners, &c.

Rule III.—On or before the date of the publication of the advertisement the applicants for an Order to authorise the distribution of electricity must serve a notice their intended application on the joint electricity authority (if any) and on any company or person authorised under statutory powers to distribute electricity within area to which the draft Order relates; and in case the draft Order proposes to authorise the acquisition or use of any land for the purpose of a generating station, applicants must on or before the same date give notice as follows:—

(i) To every owner or reputed owner, lessee or reputed lessee, and occupier of any such land, such notice being as nearly as possible in the form A set out in the Schedule hereto.

(i) To every owner or reputed owner, lessee or reputed lessee, of any lands or houses situate within 300 yards of such land, such notice being as nearly as possible in the form B set out in the Schedule hereto; and

(ii) To the joint electricity authority (if any) and to the local authority of the district in which such land is situate, such notice being as nearly as possible in the form C set out in the Schedule hereto.

All such notices must be in writing and must be despatched by registered post on or before the date aforesaid.

Preparation of the Order.

Applicants must prepare the Order.

Rule IV.—(1) The applicants must in each case prepare a draft of the Order.

(2) The draft Order must be printed on one side of the paper only, and each schedule annexed must begin a new page.

(3) The names and addresses of the Parliamentary Agents or Solicitors for the er must be printed on the outside of the draft Order.

(4) There must be a notice at the end of the draft Order stating that any objections st be made by letter sent by registered post addressed to the Secretary, Electricity mmission, as aforesaid, on or before a certain date (to be specified in such notice) ng thirty days from the date of the publication of the advertisement, and that a y of any such objections must at the same time be forwarded to the Parliamentary ents or Solicitors for the Order.

(5) The draft Order must contain amongst other things:—

(i) The address and description of the applicants.

(ii) A description of the proposed area of supply and, where any land is proposed to be acquired or used for the purpose of a generating station, a description of such land.

(iii) The names of the roads (if any) in which it is proposed that electric lines shall be laid down within a specified time.

(iv) A list of the roads not repairable by a local authority and of the railways and tramways (if any) which the applicants propose to take special powers by the Order to break up.

Proof of compliance with Electricity (Supply) Acts and Rules.

Rule VII.—The Parliamentary Agents or Solicitors for the Order must be prepared to prove compliance with the provisions of the Acts and the foregoing rules when required by the Electricity Commissioners. Six days' notice will be given of the day and hour at which such Agents or Solicitors are to attend for the purpose at the office of the Electricity Commission, and printed forms of proof will accompany the notice. These forms must be filled up and brought with the requisite documents to the office of the Electricity Commission at the time fixed for receiving proof.

Steps to be taken after Order is granted.

Deposits and publication and proof thereof.

Rule VIII.—When an Order has been granted by the Electricity Commissioners and delivered to the applicants, they must forthwith deposit printed copies for public inspection at the offices where the draft Order was deposited, and must supply copies to all persons applying for the same, at a price of not more than two shillings each, and must further publish the same as the Electricity Commissioners may direct.

Proof of compliance with this Rule must be made within fourteen days from the grant of the Order in such manner as the Electricity Commissioners may direct.

Deposit of published map with Electricity Commission.

Rule IX.—Where in an Order granted by the Electricity Commissioners a deposited map is referred to, the promoters must within fourteen days from the confirmation of the Order deposit at the office of the Electricity Commission a published map on a scale of not less than six inches to a mile, or if there is no published map, then the best map procurable showing the area of supply or the land referred to in the Order. The map must be mounted on linen, and must be certified as correct as regards its district by the clerk or surveyor to every local authority within whose jurisdiction such area of supply, or any part thereof, or any such land is situate.

Short title.

Rule X.—These Rules may be cited as "The Electricity Commissioners Rules, 1920," and shall come into operation from the date hereof.

THE PUBLIC WORKS LOANS ACT, 1882.

(45 & 46 VICT. c. 62) (t).

An Act to grant Money for the purpose of Loans by the Public Works Loan Commissioners and the Commissioners of Public Works in Ireland and the Irish Land Commission; and for other purposes relating to Loans by those Commissioners. [18th August 1882.]

1. This Act may be cited as "The Public Works Loans Act, 1882." Short title.

2. This Act may be cited, together with the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, and the Public Works Loans Act, 1879 (u), as the Public Works Loans Acts, 1879 to 1882. Citation of Acts. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 89. 42 & 43 Vict. c. 77.

PART I.

GRANT OF MONEY FOR PUBLIC WORKS LOAN COMMISSIONERS DURING THE PERIOD ENDING JUNE 30TH, 1883.

PART II.

GRANT OF MONEY FOR PUBLIC WORKS COMMISSIONERS, IRELAND.

* * * * * *

PART III.

GRANT OF MONEY FOR IRISH LAND COMMISSION.

PART IV.

AMENDMENT OF ACTS.

7. (x) . . .

(1) Where a Provisional Order under the General Pier and Harbour Act, 1861, authorises any public body to raise a loan for the construction of any works as defined by that Act in any place, the same or any other order may authorise any rating authority as hereinafter defined in that place, under the circumstances and subject to the conditions specified in the order, to charge, if they think it expedient for the inhabitants at large of such place, any fund or rate under their control for the purpose of aiding the public body in raising the said loan, or any part thereof, from the Public Works Loan Commissioners, and to give such aid by guaranteeing the principal and interest of Amendment of 24 & 25 Vict. c. 45, as to provision for loans in Provisional Order respecting harbours.

(t) See the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, ante, p. 1435.

the loan or by borrowing the sum required and advancing it to the public body, or partly in one way and partly in the other, or otherwise in manner provided by the order.

(3) The order shall provide for the time within which and the mode in which any money borrowed by the rating authority is to be repaid, and for the effectual recovery out of the said fund or rate of any sum payable under the guarantee, and of the principle and interest of any money borrowed by the said authority, and for the reimbursement of the fund or rate out of the income of the said works, or otherwise by the said public body, and shall contain such incidental provisions as seem necessary or proper for carrying this section into effect.

(4) The promoters of an order proposing to confer power under this section on any rating authority shall, a reasonable time before they apply to the Board of Trade to settle the order, submit to the Local Government Board . . . a statement of such proposal, and if the Local Government Board . . . declare that in their opinion, having regard to the financial condition of the rating authority, or to the necessity for such rating authority to provide a water supply or drainage for the inhabitants of the said place, or otherwise to fulfil the original duties of such authority, it is inexpedient to burden such rating authority with any such charge as is mentioned in such proposal, the Board of Trade in settling the order shall omit any provision conferring power on the rating authority under this section (y).

In this section—

The expression "public body" means any rating authority, also any commissioners, or trustees, or other body or person who manage or undertake the works without any view to the payment of any dividend or profits out of the revenue from such works:

The expression "rating authority" means—

(1) As regards England, any authority being an urban sanitary authority under the Public Health Act, 1875 (z), and the Acts amending the same; and (a)

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

Account in case of loan on security of rate. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 89.

8. Where after the passing of this Act any money is advanced by the Public Works Loan Commissioners on the security of a rate as defined by the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, the borrowers shall cause their treasurer to keep a separate account under the title of the Public Works Loan Commissioners Loan Account, or such other title as may be approved by the Local Government Board, and shall cause all the said advances to be carried t (y) Words relating to Scotland only are omitted from this sub-section.

(z) See s. 6 of that Act, ante, p. 37. This definition is extended by the Public Works Loans Act, 1887, s. 4, post, p. 1635, to rural sanitary authorities, quarter sessions, and county councils.

(a) The remainder of this section relates to Scotland and Ireland only, and is, therefore, omitted.

ne credit of that account, and all orders or other documents directing payents out of such account shall show on the face of them that the payment to be made out of that account (b), and an order or other document for payment out of the said account shall not be made or given except the ayment is for a purpose for which the said advances were made (c).

THE LANDS CLAUSES (UMPIRE) ACT, 1883.

(46 & 47 VICT. c. 15.)

n Act to amend the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845.

1. . . . section twenty-eight of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 845 (d), shall be read and have effect as follows: Amendment of s. 28 of 8 Vict. c. 18, extending the powers of appointment of umpire by Board of Trade.

28. If in either of the cases aforesaid the said arbitrators shall refuse or shall for seven days after request of either party to such arbitration neglect to appoint an umpire, the Board of Trade shall, on the application of either party to such arbitration, appoint an umpire, and the decision of such umpire on the matters on which the arbitrators shall differ, or which shall be referred to him under this or the special Act, shall be final.

T his Act may be cited as the Lands Clauses (Umpire) Act, 1883. Short title.

THE SUMMARY JURISDICTION ACT, 1884.

(47 & 48 VICT. c. 43) (e).

n Act to repeal divers Enactments rendered unnecessary by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts and other Acts relating to Proceedings before Courts of Summary Jurisdiction, and to make further provision for the uniformity of Proceedings before those Courts. [7th August 1884.]

1. This Act may be cited as the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1884. Short title.

* * * * * *

(b) This prevents any such order from being a bill of exchange within the meaning of he Bills of Exchange Act, 1882. See s. 3 (3) of that Act.

(c) Section 13 repealed the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, s. 13, and the Public Works oans (Ireland) Act, 1877, s. 11, and is itself repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1898. Section) relates to Ireland only, and s. 11 makes provision with regard to certain local loans, nd are therefore omitted.

(e) Section 11 of this Act here set out is supplemental to s. 247 of the P. H. A., 1875, nte, p. 541. The remedy hereby provided appears to be alternative to and not in substitution for the remedy provided by the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1844, s. 32, ante, . 1132, incorporating the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1834, s. 99. The payment of sums ue in respect of the poor rate is enforced likewise by warrant of distress under the ands of two justices under s. 2 of the Poor Relief Act, 1601, and in default of distress y imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months under s. 2 of the Distress for tates Act, 1849. But there would seem to be certain points of difference between the ld procedure for enforcing auditors' certificates and the procedure under this Act which re worthy of observation. They are as follows:

1. It is doubtful whether the limitation of time for taking proceedings prescribed by Recovery of payments certified by district auditors. 7 & 8 Vict. c. 101.

11. The payment of any sum certified by a district auditor to be due in accordance with the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1844, and the Acts amending the same, or with any other Act, may, together with the costs of the proceedings for the recovery thereof, be enforced in like manner as if it were a sum due in respect of the poor rate.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS (CORRUPT AND ILLEGAL PRACTICES) ACT, 1884.

(47 & 48 VICT. c. 70) (f).

An Act for the better Prevention of Corrupt and Illegal Practices at Municipal and other Elections. [14th August 1884.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884.

CORRUPT PRACTICES.

Definition and punishment of corrupt practices at municipal election.

2.—(1) The expression "corrupt practice" in this Act means any of the following offences, namely, treating, undue influence, bribery, and personation as defined by the enactments set forth in Part One of the Third Schedule to this Act, and aiding, abetting, counselling, and procuring the commission of the offence of personation (g).

(2) A person who commits any corrupt practice in reference to a municipal election shall be guilty of the like offence, and shall on conviction be liable to the like punishment, and subject to the like incapacities, as if the corrupt practice had been committed in reference to a parliamentary election (h).

12 & 13 Vict. c. 103, s. 9, ante, p. 1306, is applicable to proceedings under this Act. If not, there is no limit.

2. There may be a question whether the last-mentioned section is applicable to proceedings under this Act. Probably it would be held to be so if ever the question arises for decision.

3. The provisions of 7 & 8 Vict. c. 101, s. 70, as to compelling witnesses to attend and give evidence, do not extend to proceedings under this Act. But they can, if necessary, be compelled to attend and give evidence and produce documents, by means of a Crown Office subpœna (see R. v. Greenaway (1847), 7 Q. B. 126; 9 J. P. 837).

4. Commitment in default of distress under 7 & 8 Vict. c. 101, s. 32, and 4 & 5 Will. 4, c. 76, s. 99, is apparently compulsory, but under this Act and 12 & 13 Vict. c. 14, s. 2, merely discretionary.

5. The distress warrant under 7 & 8 Vict. c. 101, s. 32, and 4 & 5 Will. 4, c. 76, s. 99, is properly handed to the police for execution, but a distress warrant under this Act is properly handed to the complainant, who may execute it by deputy, and it may be indorsed for execution beyond the jurisdiction under 17 Geo. 2, c. 38, s. 7, and 54 Geo. 3, c. 170, s. 12, which do not seem applicable to the other kind of warrant. Moreover, a bill of sale is no protection against a warrant under this Act (see 45 & 46 Vict. c. 43, s. 14).

6. Under 7 & 8 Vict. c. 101, s. 32, and 4 & 5 Will. 4, c. 76, s. 99, the defendant may be detained until return to the warrant of distress, unless he gives security for his re-appearance, but there is no similar power under this Act.

(f) This statute applies to elections of urban district councillors for districts not being municipal boroughs and of rural district councillors under s. 48 (3) of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 962. It is, therefore, set out here. It was made a permanent Act by s. 35 of the Representation of the People Act, 1918. The notes, of course, have reference only to the application of the Acts to elections of sanitary bodies, such as councillors for urban districts not being boroughs, and of rural district councils. For an amending Act of 1911, see post, p. 2060.

(g) This provision takes the place of a repealed clause in s. 77 of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882. The offence of aiding, etc. the commission of the offence of personation is new. See further the East Kerry Case (1910), 6 O'M. & H. 58.

(h) By the Corrupt and Illegal Practices Prevention Act, 1883, s. 6, corrupt practice Incapacity of candidate reported guilty of corrupt practice. 45 & 46 Vict. c. 50.

3.—(1) Where upon the trial of an election petition (i) respecting a municipal ction (k) for a borough or ward of a borough it is found by the report of election court made in pursuance of section ninety-three of the Municipal rporations Act, 1882 (l), that any corrupt practice, other than treating d undue influence, has been proved to have been committed in reference such election by or with the knowledge and consent of any candidate at h election, or that the offence of treating or undue influence has been oved to have been committed in reference to such election by any candidate such election, that candidate shall not be capable of ever holding a corporate ice (m) in the said borough, and if he has been elected his election shall be id; and he shall further be subject to the same incapacities as if at the date the said report he had been convicted of a corrupt practice (n).

ier than personation, or aiding, etc. in the commission of personation, are declared to misdemeanors, and any person convicted of any of them is liable to be imprisoned, h or without hard labour, for a term not exceeding two years, or to be fined any sum t exceeding £200. A person who commits the offence of personation or of aiding, etc. e commission of that offence, is guilty of felony, and liable on conviction to be prisoned, with or without hard labour, for a period not exceeding two years. In addion to these punishments, a person who is convicted on indictment of any corrupt actices shall not be capable for a period of seven years from that date of his conviction of being registered as an elector or voting at any election in the United Kingdom ether it be a parliamentary election or an election for any public office (see infra); or of holding any public or judicial office (see infra), and if he holds any such office the ice shall be vacated. Any person so convicted of a corrupt practice in reference to y election shall also be incapable of being elected to and of sitting in the House of mmons during the seven years next after the date of his conviction, and if at that date has been elected to the House of Commons his election shall be vacated from the ne of such conviction. By s. 64, the expression "public office" means any office der the Crown or under the charter of a city or a municipal borough, or under the Acts ating to municipal corporations, or to the poor law, or under the Elementary Educan Act, 1870, or under the P. H. A., 1875, or under any Acts amending the abovementioned Acts, or under any other Acts for the time being in force (whether passed fore or after the commencement of this Act) relating to local government, whether e office is that of mayor, chairman, alderman, councillor, guardian, member of a ard, commission, or other local authority in any county, city, borough, union, sanitary trict, or other area, or is the office of clerk of the peace, town clerk, clerk or other officer der a council, board, commission, or other authority, or is any other office to which a rson is elected and appointed under any such charter or Act as above mentioned, and cludes any other municipal or parochial office; and the expressions "election," lection petition," "election court," and "register of electors," shall, where expressed refer to an election for any such public office, be construed accordingly. The pression "judicial office" includes the office of justice of the peace and revising rrister.

As to the form of indictment for corrupt practices, see R. v. Stroulger (1886), 17 Q. B. D. 7; 51 J. P. 278.

Each act of bribery is a distinct offence for which separate penalties are incurred Vilnes v. Bale (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 327; 39 J. P. 743).

(i) As to election petitions in respect of corrupt practices, see the Municipal Corporans Act, 1882, s. 87, ante, p. 1538; and in respect of illegal practices, see s. 25 of this t, post, p. 1606. For the application of these sections to elections of urban district uncillors for districts not being boroughs and of rural district councillors, see s. 36, st, p. 1612.

(k) This includes for the purposes of this Work, the election of urban district councillors districts not being boroughs and of rural district councillors. See s. 36, post, and e Urban District Councillors Election Order, 1898, and Rural District Councillors ection Order, 1898, in App. II., post.

(m) This means the office of an urban or rural district councillor, as the case may be. e s. 36, post, p. 1612, and the Urban District Councillors Election Order, 1898, and ural District Councillors Election Order, 1898, in App. II., post. But where he is ilty of a corrupt practice by his agents only and not personally, he is not deprived of s right to vote at a parliamentary election (Morris v. Shrewsbury Town Clerk, [1909] K. B. 342; 73 J. P. 28).

(n) These incapacities are set forth in note (h), ante, p. 1594. A single act of bribery an agent will render an election void (Norwich Election Petition (1886), 54 L. T. 625; O'M. & H. 84).

(2) Upon the trial of an election petition (o) respecting a municipal election (p) for a borough or ward of a borough in which a charge is made of any corrupt practice having been committed in reference to such election, the election court shall report in writing to the High Court whether any of the candidates at such election has been guilty by his agents of any corrupt practice in reference to such election, and if the report is that any candidate at such election has been guilty by his agents of a corrupt practice in reference to such election, that candidate shall not be capable of being elected to or holding any corporate office (pp), in the said borough, during a period of three years from the date of the report, and if he has been elected, his election shall be void.

ILLEGAL PRACTICES (q).

Certain expenditure to be illegal practice.

4.—(1) No payment or contract for payment shall, for the purpose of promoting or procuring the election of a candidate at a municipal election, be made—

(a) on account of the conveyance of electors to or from the poll, whether for the hiring of horses or carriages, or for railway fares, or otherwise; or

(b) to an elector on account of the use of any house, land, building, or premises for the exhibition of an address, bill, or notice, or on account of the exhibition of any address, bill, or notice; or

(c) on account of any committee room in excess of the number allowed by this Act (that is to say), if the election is for a borough one committee room for the borough, and if the election is for a ward one committee room for the ward (r), and if the number of electors in such borough or ward exceeds two thousand, one additional committee room for every two thousand electors and incomplete part of two thousand electors, over and above the said two thousand.

(2) Subject to such exception as may be allowed in pursuance of this Act, if any payment or contract for payment is knowingly made in contravention of this section either before, during, or after a municipal election (s), the person making such payment or contract shall be guilty of an illegal practice, and any person (t) receiving such payment or being a party to any such contract knowing the same to be in contravention of this Act, shall also be guilty of an illegal practice.

(3) Provided that where it is the ordinary business of an elector as an advertising agent to exhibit for payment bills and advertisements, a payment to or contract with such elector if made in the ordinary course of business shall not be deemed to be an illegal practice within the meaning of this section (u).

5. [Expense in excess of maximum to be illegal practice] (v).

(o) See note (i), ante, p. 1595.

(p) See note (k), ante, p. 1595.

(pp) See note (m), ante, p. 1595.

(q) The Act must be "taken to be amended as if the illegal practice defined by" the amending Act of 1911 "had been contained therein." The illegal practice referred to (see the Act, post, p. 2060) is the making or publishing of certain false statements with regard to a candidate.

(r) In applying this clause to elections of urban district councillors for districts not being boroughs, the word borough or ward must be read to mean urban district or ward of such district, or parish or united parishes in the case of elections of rural district councillors (s. 36 (1) (a), post, p. 1612).

(s) See note (k), ante, p. 1595.

(t) The word person here is presumed to mean elector in cases falling within clause (b), as it does not appear to be illegal to make payments such as those mentioned in that clause to any person other than an elector.

(u) This proviso qualifies the provisions of clause (b).

(v) This section cannot apply to elections of urban district councillors for districts not

Voting by prohibited persons and publishing of false statements of withdrawal to be illegal.

6.—(1) If any person votes or induces or procures any person to vote a municipal election, knowing that he or such person is prohibited, whether this or any other Act, from voting at such election, he shall be guilty an illegal practice (x).

(2) Any person who before or during a municipal election knowingly iblishes a false statement of the withdrawal of a candidate at such election r the purpose of promoting or procuring the election of another candidate all be guilty of an illegal practice.

(3) Provided that a candidate shall not be liable, nor shall his election e avoided, for any illegal practice under this section committed without s knowledge and consent (y).

Punishment on conviction of illegal practice.

7. A person guilty of an illegal practice in reference to a municipal election all on summary conviction be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred unds and be incapable during a period of five years from the date of his nviction of being registered as an elector or voting at an election (whether be a parliamentary election or an election for a public office (z) within the eaning of this Act) held for or within the borough (a) in which the illegal actice has been committed.

Incapacity of candidate reported guilty of illegal practice. 45 & 46 Vict. c. 50.

8.—(1) An illegal practice within the meaning of this Act shall be deemed be an offence against Part Four of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882 (b), d a petition alleging such illegal practice may be presented and tried cordingly.

(2) Upon the trial of an election petition respecting a municipal election r a borough or ward of a borough (a) in which a charge is made of any legal practice having been committed in reference to such election, the ection court shall report in writing to the High Court whether any of the ndidates at such election has been guilty by himself or his agents (c) of illegal practice in reference to such election, and if the report is that a ndidate at such election has been guilty by himself or his agents (c) of an legal practice in reference to such election, the candidate shall not be capable being elected to or of holding any corporate office (d) in the said borough ring the period for which he was elected to serve, or for which if elected he ight have served, and if he was elected, his election shall be void; and, if e report is that such candidate has himself been guilty of such illegal actice, he shall also be subject to the same incapacities as if at the date of e report he had been convicted of such illegal practice (e).

Illegal Payment, Employment, and Hiring.

Providing of money for illegal practice or payment to be illegal payment.

9. Where a person knowingly provides money for any payment which is ntrary to the provisions of this Act, or for any expenses incurred in excess ing boroughs or of rural district councillors. See s. 37, post, p. 1612. So far as it was erative, it was amended by s. 1 of the Local Elections (Expenses) Act, 1919, which bstituted "twopence for each elector" for "threepence for each elector."

(x) As to the persons prohibited from voting by this Act, see ss. 7, 8, 13, 18, 22, 23, d Sched. III., Part II., post. A convicted felon is disqualified to vote at any election til he has undergone his punishment or been pardoned (33 & 34 Vict. c. 23, s. 1).

(y) But quære, if the illegal practice has been committed by his agents. It would pear from s. 8 (2), infra, that the election would be avoided in that event.

(z) As to what is a public office, see note (h), ante, p. 1594.

(a) See note (r), ante, p. 1596.

(b) This part of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, is set out, ante, p. 1537.

(c) But in the case of the illegal practice defined by the amending Act of 1911, st, a candidate is not necessarily to be held responsible for the act of his agent: e s. 1 (4).

(d) See note (m), ante, p. 1595.

(e) These incapacities are stated in s. 7, supra.

of any maximum amount allowed by this Act (f), or for replacing any money expended in any such payment, except where the same may have been previously allowed in pursuance of this Act to be an exception (g), such person shall be guilty of illegal payment (h).

Employment of hackney carriages, or of carriages and horses kept for hire (i).

10.—(1) A person shall not let, lend, or employ for the purpose of the conveyance of electors to or from the poll at a municipal election, any public stage or hackney carriage, or any horse or other animal kept or used for drawing the same, or any carriage, horse, or other animal which he keeps or uses for the purpose of letting out for hire, and if he lets, lends, or employs such carriage, horse, or other animal, knowing that it is intended to be used for the purpose of the conveyance of electors to or from the poll, he shall be guilty of illegal hiring.

(2) A person shall not hire, borrow, or use for the purpose of the conveyance of electors to or from the poll any carriage, horse, or other animal which he knows the owner thereof is prohibited by this section to let, lend, or employ for that purpose, and if he does do so he shall be guilty of illegal hiring.

(3) Nothing in this Act shall prevent a carriage, horse, or other animal being let to or hired, employed, or used by an elector, or several electors at their joint cost, for the purpose of conveying him or them to or from the poll.

(4) No person shall be liable to pay any duty or to take out a licence for any carriage by reason only of such carriage being used without payment or promise of payment for the conveyance of electors to or from the poll at an election.

Corrupt withdrawal from a candidature.

11. Any person who corruptly induces or procures any other person to withdraw from being a candidate at a municipal election (k), in consideration of any payment or promise of payment (l), shall be guilty of illegal payment, and any person withdrawing in pursuance of such inducement or procurement shall also be guilty of illegal payment.

Certain expenditure to be illegal payment.

12.—(1) No payment or contract for payment shall, for the purpose of promoting or procuring the election of a candidate at a municipal election, be made on account of bands of music, torches, flags, banners, cockades, ribbons, or other marks of distinction (m).

(2) Subject to such exception as may be allowed in pursuance of this Act (n), if any payment or contract for payment is made in contravention of this section, either before, during, or after an election, the person making

(f) The provisions of this Act as to maximum expenses do not apply to elections of urban district councillors for districts not being boroughs, or of rural district councillors. See s. 37, post, p. 1612.

(g) See ss. 19, 20, post, pp. 1601, 1602.

(h) Employment for payment of persons to keep order at meetings is an illegal employment (Packard v. Collings (1886), 54 L. T. 619). Gratuitous refreshments to workers render their employment illegal within this section (Barrow Election Petition (1886), 5 L. T. 618).

(k) See note (h) to s. 2, ante, p. 1594.

(l) Note that the consideration must be payment or promise of payment. Withdrawal for other considerations is not within this section. By s. 34, post, p. 1611, and s. 64 of the Corrupt and Illegal Practices Prevention Act, 1883, therein referred to, the expression "payment" includes any pecuniary or other reward, and the expressions "pecuniary reward" and "money" include any office, place or employment, and any valuable security or other equivalent for money, and any valuable consideration, and expressions referring to money must be construed accordingly.

(m) Cards to be worn in voters' hats bearing a likeness of the candidate and an invitation to vote for him, are marks of distinction within the meaning of this section (Walsall (1892), 4 O'M. & H. 126).

h payment shall be guilty of illegal payment, and any person being a ty to any such contract or receiving such payment shall also be guilty llegal payment, if he knew that the same was contrary to law (o).

3.—(1) No person shall, for the purpose of promoting or procuring the ction of a candidate at a municipal election, be engaged or employed payment, or promise of payment for any purpose or in any capacity atever (p), except as follows (that is to say), Certain employment to be illegal.

a) a number of persons may be employed, not exceeding two for a borough or ward (q), and if the number of electors in such borough or ward exceeds two thousand one additional person may be employed for every thousand electors and incomplete part of a thousand electors over and above the said two thousand, and such persons may be employed as clerks and messengers, or in either capacity; and

b) one polling agent may be employed in each polling station:

Provided that this section shall not apply to any engagement or employ- nt for carrying into effect a contract bonâ fide made with any person he ordinary course of business (r).

2) Subject to such exception as may be allowed in pursuance of this (s), if any person is engaged or employed in contravention of this section, ner before, during, or after an election, the person engaging or employing shall be guilty of illegal employment (s), and the person so engaged or loyed shall also be guilty of illegal employment if he knew that he was aged or employed in contravention of this Act (rr).

3) A person legally employed for payment under this section may or may not n elector, but may not vote (ss).

4. Every bill, placard, or poster having reference to a municipal election (t) ll bear upon the face thereof the name and address of the printer and blisher thereof; and any person printing, publishing, or posting, or causing be printed, published, or posted, any such bill, placard, or poster as afore- d, which fails to bear upon the face thereof the name and address of the nter and publisher, shall, if he is a candidate, be guilty of an illegal practice, if he is not the candidate, shall be liable on summary conviction to a not exceeding one hundred pounds (u). Name and address of printer on placards.

q) See note (q) to s. 4, ante, p. 1596.

r) This appears to be intended to meet the case of a person who contracts for the poses of the election, e.g., for printing. The employees of such persons are not to be ned to be employed within the meaning of this section.

rr) See ss. 19, 20, post, pp. 1601, 1602.

s) Note that ignorance of the law will not be an excuse for the party employing.

ss) This sub-section was repealed by s. 47 and the 8th Schedule to the Representation e People Act, 1918, and by s. 9 (4) of that Act it is provided that a person shall not isqualified from voting by reason that he is employed for payment so long as the loyment is legal.

u) The appellant was a candidate for a seat on a local board. The respondent ived from his own servant at his residence a printed address and letter having refer- e to the election, and purporting to be signed by the appellant, but having no ter's name thereon. Saving for creditors.

15. The provisions of this Act prohibiting certain payments and contracts for payments, and the payment of any sum, and the incurring of any expense, in excess of a certain maximum, shall not affect the right of any creditor who, when the contract was made or the expense was incurred, was ignorant of the same being in contravention of this Act (x).

Use of certain premises for committee rooms or meetings to be illegal hiring.

16.—(1) (a) Any premises, which are licensed for the sale of any intoxicating liquor for consumption on or off the premises, or on which refreshment of any kind (whether food or drink) is ordinarily sold for consumption on the premises (y), or who sent the copy to the printer, were proved to have been posted about the district at E.'s expense. The court doubted whether this was evidence of the printing and posting by an agent of the appellant, but the justices having convicted the appellant in one penalty for both offences, and the conviction being bad as to the first:—Held, that it was bad altogether (Bettesworth v. Allingham (1886), 16 Q. B. D. 44; 50 J. P. 55).

(b) Any premises where any intoxicating liquor is supplied to members of a club, society or association, or any part of any such premises, shall not, for the purpose of promoting or procuring the election of a candidate at a municipal election, be used either as a committee room or for holding a meeting, and if any person hires or uses any such premises or any part thereof in contravention of this section he shall be guilty of illegal hiring, and the person letting or permitting the use of such premises or part thereof, if he knew it was intended to use the same in contravention of this section, shall also be guilty of illegal hiring.

In the above case the court seemed to assume that a circular containing an election address was a bill, placard, or poster within the meaning of the section. In some cases which came before the courts subsequently, it was held that such a circular was not a bill, placard, or poster. See per Lord COLERIDGE, C.J., and MANISTY, J., in the case reported in 5 T. L. R. 160; and per FRY, L.J., and MANISTY, J., ibid., 170. In other cases, however, the court granted relief under s. 20 (e.g., Ex parte Bartlett, Times, October 30th, 1900), so that the point is still in doubt.

In Alcott v. Emden (1904), 68 J. P. 434; 20 T. L. R. 487, it was held that a circular sent out in August with reference to the possible candidature in November of a certain alderman for the office of mayor, such circular being headed "Shall he be our next mayor?" and six copies marked private being sent in sealed envelopes to certain persons interested in the election, was a bill with reference to a municipal election within the meaning of this section and should have borne the printer's name and address.

The name and address of the publisher must appear as well as those of the printer if they are different persons. It has not yet been expressly decided whether a candidate is liable to penalties under this section if he publishes a placard, etc. on which his name and address appear, but which does not explicitly describe him as the publisher; but in the year 1889 the High Court excused a number of candidates in respect of such omissions.

A person other than a candidate is not by this section declared to be guilty of an illegal practice, payment, employment, or hiring. He cannot, therefore, be excused under s. 20 (Ex parte Lenanton (1889), 53 J. P. 263).

(x) Hence in the case of an expense incurred in contravention of the Act, the illegality of the expense will be no defence to an action by a creditor who, when the expense was incurred, was ignorant of its being in contravention of the Act. This provision is necessary for the protection of creditors who have no means of knowing what other expenses have been incurred by a candidate. The provisions of the Act as to maximum expenses do not, however, apply to elections of district councillors for urban districts not being boroughs or of rural district councillors. See s. 37, post, p. 1612. See ss. 19, 20, post.

(y) It should be noticed that this section applies to any premises on which refreshment is sold for consumption on the premises, or on which liquor is sold, whether for consumption on or off the premises. It applies even where the door of communication between the part used for the election and the part used for the sale of intoxicating liquors is kept locked (Ex parte Payne, Times, November 2nd, 1894). Thus a place where sandwiches are sold for consumption at the counter was in one case which came before the court in 1894 held to be within this provision; but the section does not apply to a club unless liquor is supplied in it.

Note, that under the Rural District Councillors Election Order, 1898, in App. I, post, r. 26 (7), nothing in this Act shall render it unlawful to hold a meeting for the purpose of promoting or procuring the election of a candidate to the office of rural district councillor on any licensed or other premises not situate in an urban district in the administrative county of London.

(2) Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to any part of such mises which is ordinarily let for the purpose of chambers or offices or holding of public meetings or of arbitrations, if such part has a separate rance and no direct communication with any part of the premises on ich any intoxicating liquor or refreshment is sold or supplied as aforesaid.

17.—(1) A person guilty of an offence of illegal payment, employment, hiring shall, on summary conviction, be liable to a fine not exceeding hundred pounds. Punishment of illegal payment, employment, or hiring.

(2) Where an offence of illegal payment, employment, or hiring is com- ted by a candidate, or with his knowledge and consent, such candidate ll be guilty of an illegal practice (z).

18. Where upon the trial of an election petition respecting a municipal ction for a borough or ward of a borough it is found by the election court t illegal practices or offences of illegal payment, employment, or hiring, mitted in reference to such election for the purpose of promoting the ction of a candidate at that election, have so extensively prevailed (a) t they may be reasonably supposed to have affected the result of that ction (b), the election court shall report such finding to the High Court, l the election of such candidate, if he has been elected, shall be void, and shall not, during the period for which he was elected to serve, or for which, elected, he might have served, be capable of being elected to or holding y corporate office (c) in the said borough. Avoidance of election for extensive illegal practices, etc.

Excuse and Exception for Corrupt or Illegal Practice or Illegal Payment, Employment, or Hiring.

19. Where, upon the trial of an election petition respecting a municipal ction, the election court reports that a candidate at such election has n guilty by his agents of the offence of treating and undue influence, l illegal practice, or of any of such offences (d), in reference to such election, l the election court further report that the candidate has proved to the rt— Report exonerating candidate in certain cases of corrupt and illegal practice by agents.

a) that no corrupt or illegal practice was committed at such election by the candidate or with his knowledge or consent, and the offences mentioned in the said report were committed without the sanction or connivance of such candidate (b); and

b) that all reasonable means for preventing the commission of corrupt and illegal practices at such election were taken by and on behalf of the candidate; and

c) that the offences mentioned in the said report were of a trivial, unimportant, and limited character; and

d) that in all other respects the election was free from any corrupt or illegal practice on the part of such candidate and of his agents;

n the election of such candidate shall not, by reason of the offences men- ned in such report, be void, nor shall the candidate be subject to any apacity under this Act.

(z) And punishable as provided by s. 7, ante, p. 1597.
(a) Note that this section may apply, although the practices in question have been mitted by persons other than the candidate or his agents; but in such a case the didate could protect himself under ss. 19, 20.
(b) See also s. 1 (4) of the amending Act of 1911, post, p. 2061.
(c) See note (h) to s. 2, ante, p. 1594.
(d) Note that the offences of bribery, personation, and aiding and abetting in the mission of personation are not included here.

Power of High Court and election court to except innocent act from being illegal practice, etc.

20. Where, on application made, it is shown to the High Court or to a municipal election court by such evidence as seems to the court sufficient—

(a) that any act or omission of a candidate at a municipal election for a borough or ward of a borough, or of any agent or other person, would, by reason of being in contravention of any of the provisions of this Act, be but for this section an illegal practice, payment, employment, or hiring (f); and

(b) that such act or omission arose from inadvertence or from accidental miscalculation or from some other reasonable cause of a like nature, and in any case did not arise from any want of good faith; and

(c) that such notice of the application has been given in the said borough as to the court seems fit; and under the circumstances it seems to the court to be just that the said candidate, agent and person, or any of them, should not be subject to any of the consequences under this Act of the said act or omission, the court may make an order allowing such act or omission to be an exception from the provisions of this Act which would otherwise make the same an illegal practice, payment, employment, or hiring, and thereupon such candidate, agent, or person shall not be subject to any of the consequences under this Act of the said act or omission (g).

(f) Note that corrupt practices are not mentioned here.

(g) Relief may be given under this section by the High Court, on application for that purpose, or by an election court. As to the election court, see s. 92 of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, ante, p. 1541.

From the refusal of the High Court to grant relief under this section appeal lies to the Court of Appeal. See Ex parte Walker (1889), 22 Q. B. D. 384; 53 J. P. 261. See also Ex parte Thomas (1889), 60 L. T. 728; 5 T. L. R. 234; Ex parte Birtwhistle (1889), 5 T. L. R. 321.

In order to support an application under this section, it will not be sufficient that notice of intention to make the application has been advertised in the local papers, but such notice should be published in such a manner as will ensure a reasonable certainty that persons interested had notice; and it will also be insufficient if the affidavits upon which the application is made merely state that the act in respect of which the relief is sought arose from inadvertence, and not from any want of good faith, without showing some reasonable excuse for such inadvertence (Ex parte Perry (1884), 48 J. P. 824). In the cases which came before the court in 1889 it was laid down that "inadvertence" means negligence or carelessness where the circumstances showed an absence of bad faith. The court also required notice to be given to the opposing candidates and to the returning officer. The court also required that notices should be posted up throughout the district and advertised in the local papers, that application would be made for relief. Notice need not, however, be given to the Attorney-General (Ex parte Lenanton (1889), 53 J. P. 263; 5 T. L. R. 173). Where an application for relief under similar circumstances is made by several candidates, a joint affidavit of the facts upon which the application is based ought to be made by all the applicants (Re Andrews (Streatham Vestry Election) (1889), 68 L. J. Q. B. 283).

There have been numerous applications to the High Court for excuse under this section, especially in the beginning of the year 1889, with reference to the first elections of county councillors. These cases will be found reported in 5 T. L. R., pp. 173, 183, 195, 198, 205, 206, 220, and 272. They must not, however, be regarded as precedents, for the court granted relief almost as a matter of course where it was shown that the applicant had acted in ignorance of the law, but at the same time expressed an opinion that such an excuse would not afterwards be accepted. See the observations in Ex parte Darling (1889), 53 J. P. 71; Ex parte Lenanton, supra. Since then see Ex parte Payne, Times, November 2nd, 1894; Ex parte Hughes, Times, November 24th, 1900.

Among the cases reported before 1889 may be mentioned the following: Ex parte Cl... (1884), 52 L. T. 260, where placards had been issued without the printer's name; Ex parte Perry (1884), 48 J. P. 824, where a room in a club had been used contrary to s. 16; South Shropshire Election (1886), 2 T. L. R. 347, where payments were made after the proper time (and see Ipswich Election (1887), 3 T. L. R. 397); Ex parte Rob... (1887), 18 Q. B. D. 336; 51 J. P. 199, where a candidate who had incurred no expenses was allowed to make a return and declaration under s. 21 after the prescribed time; Ex parte Matthews (1886), 2 T. L. R. 548, where a candidate had acted as his own agent, and had omitted to make a declaration of expenses. See also Ex parte Groom (1920), 42 M. C. C. 175. In Ex parte Touche (1915), 37 M. C. C. 219, relief was granted where the statute Sending in claims and making payments for election expenses.

21. (h)—(1) Every claim against any person in respect of any expenses curred by or on behalf of a candidate at an election of a councillor on count of or in respect of the conduct or management of such election (i) hall be sent in within fourteen days after the day of election, and if not sent in shall be barred and not paid, and all expenses incurred as aforeid shall be paid within twenty-one days after the day of election, and not herwise, and any person who makes a payment in contravention of this ction, except where such payment is allowed as provided by this section, all be guilty of an illegal practice (j), but if such payment was made without e sanction or connivance of the candidate, the election of such candidate all not be void, nor shall he be subject to any incapacity under this Act r reason only of such payment having been made in contravention of this ction.

(2) Every agent of a candidate at an election of a councillor shall, within enty-three days after the day of election, make a return to the candidate writing of all expenses incurred by such agent on account of or in respect the conduct or management of such election, and if he fails to do so shall liable, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds.

(3) Within twenty-eight days after the day of election of a councillor ery candidate at such election shall send to the town clerk (k) a return all expenses incurred by such candidate or his agents on account of or respect of the conduct or management of such election, vouched (except the case of sums under twenty shillings) by bills stating the particulars d receipts, and accompanied by a declaration by the candidate made before ustice in the form set forth in the Fourth Schedule to this Act, or to the e effect.

(4) After the expiration of the time for making such return and declaration

In the case of Essex outh-West Division) Election (1886), 2 T. L. R. 388, where a person voted, and afterrds accepted payment for services rendered as an agent, the court refused to relieve n. Ex parte Robson, ante, p. 1602, was followed in Ex parte Pennington (1884), W. R. 415.

In Ex parte Gale (1905), 69 J. P. 281, the candidate had postcards printed and issued, xing for the support of the electors, in ignorance that this was an illegal expense under 5 of the Act of 1884. He was relieved under this section.

Where a person had obtained an excuse for a late return of expenses, and subsequently the same day, but after the order had been drawn up, a voter appeared to oppose the plication, it was held that the application of the voter must be dismissed in the absence any sufficient explanation of the delay (Wigan Election (1886), 2 T. L. R. 159).

If the application is made by a person against whom a petition is pending, the court ll order the application to stand over till after the trial of the petition (Ex parte ilks (1886), 16 Q. B. D. 114; 50 J. P. 487; Ex parte Evans (1889), 5 T. L. R. 207). t this course will not be followed merely because a petition is threatened (Ex parte ephens (1889), ibid., 203). Even where a petition is pending, if the facts are not in pute and the subject-matter of the application for relief was the sole ground of the ition, the application will be dealt with immediately (Ex parte Forster (1903), 67 J. P. 2; 89 L. T. 18).

Relief will not be granted to a successful candidate unless he satisfies the court that illegal practice cannot have affected the result of the election (Re Droitwich Borough lection of Auditors) (1907), 71 J. P. 236; 23 T. L. R. 372).

(h) This section does not apply to elections of urban district councillors for districts it being boroughs or of rural district councillors. See s. 37, post, p. 1612.

(i) Money paid by an agent of a candidate for the employment of persons to keep order meetings connected with the election is within this provision (Packard v. Collings 886), 54 L. T. 619).

(j) And therefore punishable as provided by s. 7, ante, p. 1597.

(k) This return and declaration must be made even in the case of an unopposed ction, when the candidate has incurred no expenses. In such a case, however, the art granted relief under s. 20, ante, p. 1602 (Ex parte Robson, ante; Ex parte Penington, ante). If the return is posted to the town clerk within the twenty-eight days, is sufficient, although it does not reach him until after the expiration of that time (Mackinnon v. Clark, [1898] 2 Q. B. 251).

the candidate, if elected, shall not, until he has made the return and declaration (in this Act referred to as the return and declaration respecting election expenses), or until the date of the allowance of such authorised excuse, as is mentioned in this Act, sit or vote in the council, and if he does so shall forfeit fifty pounds for every day on which he so sits or votes to any person who sues for the same (l).

(5) If the candidate without such authorised excuse as is mentioned in this Act fails to make the said return and declaration he shall be guilty of an illegal practice (m), and if he knowingly makes the said declaration falsely he shall be guilty of an offence, (n) . . . and such offence shall also be deemed to be a corrupt practice within the meaning of this Act.

(6) The county court for the district in which the election was held, or the High Court, or an election court, may, on application either of the candidate or a creditor, allow any claim to be sent in and any expense to be paid after the time limited by this section, and a return of any sum so paid shall forthwith after payment be sent to the town clerk (o).

(7) If the candidate applies to the High Court or an election court, and shows that the failure to make the said return and declaration, or either of them, or any error or false statement therein, has arisen by reason of his illness or absence, or of the absence, death, illness, or misconduct of any agent, clerk, or officer, or by reason of inadvertence, or of any reasonable cause of a like nature and not by reason of any want of good faith on the part of the applicant, the court may, after such notice of the application and on production of such evidence of the grounds stated in the application, and of the good faith of the applicant, and otherwise as the court seems fit, make such order for allowing the authorised excuse for the failure to make such return and declaration, or for an error or false statement in such return or declaration, as the court seems just (p).

(8) The order may make the allowance conditional upon compliance with such terms as to the court seems calculated for carrying into effect the objects of this Act, and the order shall relieve the applicant from any liability or consequences under this Act in respect of the matters excused by the order.

(9) The date of the order, or if conditions and terms are to be complied with, the date at which the applicant fully complies with them, is referred to in this Act as the date of the allowance of the excuse.

(10) The return and declaration sent in pursuance of this Act to the town clerk shall be kept at his office, and shall at all reasonable times during the twelve months next after they are received by him be open to inspection by any person (q) on payment of the fee of one shilling, and the town clerk shall, on demand, furnish copies thereof or of any part thereof at the price of twopence for every seventy-two words.

(11) After the expiration of the said twelve months the town clerk may use the return and declaration to be destroyed, or if the candidate so quire shall return the same to him.

Disqualification of Electors.

22. Every person guilty of a corrupt or illegal practice or of illegal employ- nt, payment, or hiring at a municipal election (r) is prohibited from voting such election, and if any such person votes his vote shall be void, and shall struck off on a scrutiny. Prohibition of persons guilty of offences from voting.

23. So much of sections thirty-seven and thirty-eight of the Corrupt and egal Practices Prevention Act, 1883, as is set forth in Part Two of the ird Schedule to this Act, shall apply as part of this Act. Application of ss. 37 and 38 of 46 & 47 Vict. c. 51.

24.—(1) The town clerk in every municipal borough shall annually in ly make out a list containing the names and description of all persons who, ough otherwise qualified to be enrolled as burgesses of such borough, have der this Act, or under the Corrupt and Illegal Practices Prevention Act, 83, or under any other Act for the time being in force relating to a rliamentary election or an election to any public office, become after the nmencement of this Act, by reason of conviction of a corrupt or illegal actice, or of the report of any election court or election commissioners, capable of voting at a municipal election in such borough or any ward ereof, and the town clerk shall state in the list (in this Act referred to as e corrupt and illegal practices list), the offence of which each person has en found guilty. List in burgess roll of persons incapacitated for voting by corrupt or illegal practices.

(2) For the purpose of making out such list he shall examine the report any election court or election commissioners who have respectively tried election petition or inquired into an election where the election (whether barliamentary election or an election to any public office) was held in the d borough or in the county in which the said borough is situate.

(3) The town clerk of any municipal borough shall, not less than fourteen ys before the first day appointed by law for the publication of the parish rgess lists in such borough, send the corrupt and illegal practices list to e overseers of every parish wholly or partly within the borough, and the erseers shall publish that list together with the parish burgess lists, and all also, in the case of every person in the corrupt and illegal practices list, it his name from the list of persons entitled to be enrolled as burgesses to be elected councillors, or, as circumstances require, add "objected" fore his name in the list of claimants published by them, in like manner as required by law in any other cases of disqualification.

(4) Any person named in the corrupt and illegal practices list may claim have his name omitted therefrom, and any person entitled to object to y parish burgess list may object to the omission of the name of any person m such first-mentioned list. Such claims and objections shall be sent in thin the same time and be dealt with in like manner, and any such objection all be served on the person referred to therein in like manner, as nearly circumstances admit, as other claims and objections under the enactments ating to the enrolment of burgesses.

(5) The revising authority shall determine such claims and objections and all revise such list in like manner, as nearly as circumstances admit, as in e case of other claims and objections and of any parish burgess list and t of persons entitled to be elected councillors.

(6) Where it appears to the revising authority that a person not named the list is subject to have his name inserted in the corrupt and illegal actices list, he shall (whether an objection to the omission of such name from the list has or has not been made, but) after giving such person an opportunity of making a statement to show cause to the contrary, insert his name in that list and expunge his name from any list of burgesses or of persons entitled to be elected councillors.

(7) A revising authority in acting under this section shall determine only whether a person is incapacitated by conviction or by the report of any election court or election commissioners, and shall not determine whether a person has or has not been guilty of any corrupt or illegal practice.

(8) The corrupt and illegal practices list shall be appended to the burgess roll, and shall be printed and published therewith wherever the same is printed or published.

(9) Any town clerk or overseer who fails to comply with the provisions of this section shall be liable to the like fine as he is liable to under section seventy-five of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, for any neglect or refusal in relation to a parish burgess list as therein mentioned.

45 & 46 Vict. c. 50.

PROCEEDINGS ON ELECTION PETITIONS.

Petition for illegal practice.

25.—(1) A municipal election petition complaining of the election on the ground of an illegal practice (s) may be presented at any time before the expiration of fourteen days after the day on which the town clerk receives the return and declaration respecting election expenses by the candidate to whose election the petition relates, or where there is an authorised excuse for failing to make the return and declaration then within the like time after the date of the allowance of the excuse (t).

Time for presentation of petition alleging illegal practices.

(2) A municipal election petition, complaining of the election on the ground of an illegal practice, and specifically alleging a payment of money or other act made or done since the election by the candidate elected at such election, or by an agent of the candidate, or with the privity of the candidate, in pursuance or in furtherance of such illegal practice, may be presented at any time within twenty-eight days after the date of such payment or act, whether or not any other petition against that person has been previously presented or tried.

45 & 46 Vict. c. 50.

(3) Any election petition presented within the time limited by the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, may, for the purpose of complaining of the election upon an allegation of an illegal practice, be amended with the leave of the High Court within the time within which a petition complaining of the election on the ground of that illegal practice can, under this section, be presented (u).

(4) This section shall apply notwithstanding the illegal practice is also a corrupt practice.

Withdrawal of election petition.

26. (x)—(1) Before leave for the withdrawal of a municipal election petition is granted, there shall be produced affidavits by all the parties to the petition and their solicitors, but the High Court may on cause shown dispense

(s) A petition may be presented for a corrupt practice under the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, s. 87, ante, p. 1538.

(t) Under the Urban District Councillors Election Order, 1898, and Rural District Councillors Election Order, 1898 (App. II., post), an election petition complaining of the election of an urban or rural district councillor on the ground of an illegal practice may be presented at any time within six weeks after the day of election.

(u) A judge who is not on the rota for the trial of parliamentary election petitions cannot make an order giving leave to amend under this section. Such an order ought not to be made ex parte (Shaw v. Reckitt, [1893] 1 Q. B. 779). That question being a question of law, no appeal lies to the Court of Appeal from a decision of a Divisional Court thereon without leave of the Divisional Court (Shaw v. Reckitt, 1893, 2 Q. B. 53; 57 J. P. 805).

ith the affidavit of any particular person if it seems to the court on special rounds to be just so to do.

(2) Each affidavit shall state that, to the best of the deponent's knowledge nd belief, no agreement or terms of any kind whatsoever has or have been ade, and no undertaking has been entered into, in relation to the withdrawal the petition; but if any lawful agreement has been made with respect to ne withdrawal of the petition, the affidavit shall set forth that agreement, nd shall make the foregoing statement subject to what appears from the ffidavit.

(3) The affidavits of the applicant and his solicitor shall further state the round on which the petition is sought to be withdrawn.

(4) If any person makes any agreement or terms, or enters into any under-king, in relation to the withdrawal of an election petition, and such greement, terms, or undertaking is or are for the withdrawal of the election etition in consideration of any payment, or in consideration that the seat all at any time be vacated, or in consideration of the withdrawal of any ther election petition, or is or are (whether lawful or unlawful) not mentioned the aforesaid affidavits, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be able on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for a term not exceeding welve months, and to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

(5) Copies of the said affidavits shall be delivered to the Director of Public rosecutions a reasonable time before the application for the withdrawal heard, and the court may hear the Director of Public Prosecutions or his ssistant or other representative (appointed with the approval of the Attorney-eneral) in opposition to the allowance of the withdrawal of the petition, and all have power to receive the evidence on oath of any person or persons hose evidence the Director of Public Prosecutions or his assistant, or other epresentative may consider material.

(6) Where in the opinion of the court the proposed withdrawal of a etition is the result of any agreement, terms, or undertaking prohibited by is section, the court shall have the same power with respect to the security under section ninety-five of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, where e withdrawal is induced by a corrupt consideration (y). 45 & 46 Vict. c. 50.

(7) In every case of the withdrawal of an election petition, by leave of the ection court such court shall report in writing to the High Court whether, the opinion of such election court, the withdrawal of such petition was the sult of any agreement, terms, or undertaking, or was in consideration of y payment, or in consideration that the seat should at any time be vacated, in consideration of the withdrawal of any other election petition, or for y other consideration, and if so, shall state the circumstances attending e withdrawal.

(8) Where more than one solicitor is concerned for the petitioner or spondent, whether as agent for another solicitor or otherwise, the affidavit all be made by all such solicitors.

27. The trial of every municipal election petition shall, so far as is acticable consistently with the interests of justice in respect of such trial, continued de die in diem on every lawful day until its conclusion. Continuation of trial of election petition.

28.—(1) On every trial of a municipal election petition the Director of ublic Prosecutions shall by himself or by his assistant, or by such presentative as hereinafter mentioned, attend at the trial, and it shall the duty of such Director to obey any directions given to him by the ection court with respect to the summoning and examination of any witness give evidence on such trial, and with respect to the prosecution by him Attendance of Director of Public Prosecutions on trial of election petition, and prosecution by him of offenders.

of offenders, and with respect to any person to whom notice is given to attend with a view to report him as guilty of any corrupt or illegal practice.

(2) It shall also be the duty of such Director, without any direction from the election court, if it appears to him that any person is able to give material evidence as to the subject of the trial, to cause such person to attend the trial, and with the leave of the court to examine such person as a witness.

(3) It shall also be the duty of the said Director, without any direction from the election court, if he thinks it expedient in the interests of justice so to do, to prosecute, either before the said court or before any other competent court, any person who has not received a certificate of indemnity (z) and who appears to him to have been guilty of a corrupt or illegal practice at a municipal election.

(4) Where a person is prosecuted before an election court for any corrupt or illegal practice, and such person appears before the court, the court shall proceed to try him summarily for the said offence, and such person, if convicted thereof upon such trial, shall be subject to the same incapacities as he is subject to under this or any other Act, upon conviction, whether on indictment or in any other proceeding for the said offence; and further, may be adjudged by the court, if the offence is a corrupt practice, to be imprisoned, with or without hard labour, for a term not exceeding six months or to pay a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds, and if the offence is an illegal practice, to pay such fine as is fixed by this Act for the offence:

Provided that in case of a corrupt practice, the court, before proceeding to try summarily any person, shall give such person the option of being tried by a jury.

(5) Where a person is so prosecuted for any such offence, and either he elects to be tried by a jury or he does not appear before the court, or the court thinks it in the interests of justice expedient that he should be tried before some other court, the court, if of opinion that the evidence is sufficient to put the said person upon his trial for the offence, shall order such person to be prosecuted on indictment or before a court of summary jurisdiction as the case may require, for the said offence (a); and in either case may order him to be prosecuted before such court as may be named in the order; and for all purposes preliminary and of and incidental to such prosecution the offence shall be deemed to have been committed within the jurisdiction of the court so named.

(6) Upon such order being made,

(a) If the accused person is present before the court, and the offence is an indictable offence, the court shall commit him to take his trial.

(z) See the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, s. 92, ante, p. 1541.

(a) The evidence which is to satisfy the court before it makes the order means the evidence given during the trial of the petition, and, therefore, a commissioner for the trial of municipal election petitions acted within his jurisdiction in ordering the prosecution of a person to whom he had refused a certificate of indemnity, and who did not appear, without re-hearing the evidence affecting him, and also acted within his jurisdiction in issuing a summons under sub-s. (6), post, for his attendance before a court of summary jurisdiction, for the purpose of being formally committed for trial (R. v. Shellard (1889), 23 Q. B. D. 273; 53 J. P. 821). The commissioner for the trial of municipal election petitions ordered certain persons, prosecuted before him for a corrupt practice committed at a municipal election in Nottingham, to be prosecuted on indictment for the offence at the ensuing assizes at Derby:—Held, that the commissioner had jurisdiction to order the trial at Derby; that his order was sufficient without describing the corrupt practice; that the Derbyshire grand jury could find, and the judge of assize had jurisdiction to try, the indictment; that "Derbyshire, to wit," in the margin of the indictment was sufficient, although the body of it disclosed offences in Nottingham only; that the words "a corrupt practice," in the commissioner's order, were reasonably interpreted "some corrupt practice," and that the prosecution were not precluded from preferring a number of charges of bribery in the indictment (R. v. Ripley; R. v. Campion (1891), 59 L. J. M. C. 122; 55 J. P. 21).

or cause him to give bail to appear, and take his trial for the said offence; and

(b) If the accused person is present before the court, and the offence is not an indictable offence, the court shall order him to be brought before the court of summary jurisdiction before whom he is to be prosecuted, or cause him to give bail to appear before that court; and

(c) If the accused person is not present before the court, the court shall as circumstances require issue a summons for his attendance, or a warrant to apprehend him and bring him before a court of summary jurisdiction, and that court, if the offence is an indictable offence, shall, on proof only of the summons or warrant and the identity of the accused, commit him to take his trial, or cause him to give bail to appear and take his trial for the said offence, or if the offence is punishable on summary conviction, shall proceed to hear the case, or if such court be not the court before whom he is directed to be prosecuted shall order him to be brought before that court.

(7) Any order or act of an election court under this section shall not be subject to be discharged or varied under sub-section six of section ninety-two of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882 (b). 45 & 46 Vict. c. 50.

(8) The Director of Public Prosecutions may nominate, with the approval of the Attorney-General, any barristers or solicitors of not less than ten years standing, one of whom shall, when required, act as the representative for the purposes of this section of such Director, and when so acting shall receive such remuneration as the Treasury may approve. There shall be allowed to the Director and his assistant or representative, for the purposes of this section, such allowance for expenses as the Treasury may approve.

(9) The costs incurred in defraying the expenses of the Director of Public Prosecutions under this section (including the remuneration of his representatives) shall, in the first instance, be paid by the Treasury, and so far as they are not in the case of any prosecution paid by the defendant, shall be deemed to be expenses of the election court, and shall be paid as the expenses of that court are directed by section one hundred and one of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, to be paid; but if for any reasonable cause it seems just to the court so to do, the court shall order all or part of the said costs to be repaid to the Treasury by the parties to the petition, or such of them as the court may direct (c). 45 & 46 Vict. c. 50.

29.—(1) Where upon the trial of a municipal election petition it appears to the election court that a corrupt practice has not been proved to have been committed in reference to the election by or with the knowledge and consent of the respondent to the petition, and that such respondent took all reasonable means to prevent corrupt practices being committed on his behalf, the court may make one or more orders with respect to the payment either of the whole or such part of the costs of the petition as the court may think right as follows: Power to election court to order payment by borough or individual of costs of election petition.

(a) If it appears to the court that corrupt practices extensively prevailed in reference to the said election, the court may order the whole or part of the costs to be paid by the borough (d); and

(b) Ante, p. 1541.

(c) If a petition is utterly unfounded the petitioner may be ordered to pay the costs of the Director of Public Prosecutions (Kennington Election Petition (1886), 54 L. T. 628). This section applies only to the trial of a petition. The costs of the Public Prosecutor cannot be ordered where the petition is withdrawn (Pascoe v. Pulesion (Devonport Election Petition) (1886), 50 J. P. 135; 54 L. T. 733).

(d) That is, by the urban district council for a district not being a borough, or by the rural district council (s. 36, post, p. 1612).

(b) If it appears to the court that any person or persons is or are proved, whether by providing money or otherwise, to have been extensively engaged in corrupt practices, or to have encouraged or promoted extensive corrupt practices in reference to such election, the court may, after giving such person or persons an opportunity of being heard by counsel or solicitor and of examining and cross-examining witnesses to show cause why the order should not be made, order the whole or part of the costs to be paid by that person, or those persons or any of them (e), and may order that if the costs cannot be recovered from one or more of such persons they shall be paid by some other of such persons or by either of the parties to the petition.

(2) Where any person appears to the court to have been guilty of the offence of a corrupt or illegal practice, the court may, after giving such person an opportunity of making a statement to show why the order should not be made, order the whole or any part of the costs of or incidental to any proceeding before the court in relation to the said offence or to the said person to be paid by the said person to such person or persons as the court may direct (e).

(3) The rules and regulations of the Supreme Court of Judicature with respect to costs to be allowed in actions, causes, and matters in the High Court shall in principle and so far as practicable apply to the costs of petition and other proceedings under Part Four of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, and this Act, and the taxing officer shall not allow any costs, charges, or expenses on a higher scale than would be allowed in any action, cause or matter in the High Court on the higher scale, as between solicitor and client.

45 & 46 Vict. c. 50.

MISCELLANEOUS.

General provisions as to prosecution of offences under this Act.

30. Subject to the other provisions of this Act, the procedure for the prosecution of a corrupt or illegal practice or any illegal payment, employment, or hiring committed in reference to a municipal election, and the removal of any incapacity incurred by reason of a conviction or report relating to any such offence, and the duties of the Director of Public Prosecutions in relation to any such offence, and all other proceedings in relation thereto (including the grant to a witness of a certificate of indemnity), shall be the same as if such offence had been committed in reference to a parliamentary election; and sections forty-five and forty-six and sections fifty to fifty-seven (both inclusive), and sections fifty-nine and sixty of the Corrupt and Illegal Practices Prevention Act, 1883, shall apply accordingly (f) as if they were re-enacted in this Act with the necessary modifications, and with the following additions:

46 & 47 Vict. c. 51.

(a) Where the Director of Public Prosecutions considers that the circumstances of any case require him to institute a prosecution before any court other than an election court for any offence other than a corrupt practice committed in reference to a municipal election in any borough (g), he may, by himself or his assistant, institute such prosecution before any court of summary jurisdiction in the county in which the said borough is situate or to which it adjoins, and the offence shall be deemed for all purposes to have been committed within the jurisdiction of such court; and (e) As to the recovery of these costs, see s. 32, post, p. 1611.

(f) Therefore, where a private prosecutor prefers an indictment charging the commission of a corrupt practice the defendant, if acquitted, is entitled to recover from the prosecutor the costs sustained by reason of the indictment (R. v. Lucas, 1900, 1 Q. B. 665).

(g) See s. 36, post, p. 1612.

b) General rules for the purposes of Part Four of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, shall be made by the same authority as rules of court under the said sections (h); and 45 & 46 Vict. c. 50.

c) The giving or refusal to give a certificate of indemnity to a witness by the election court shall be final and conclusive. Section 94 (7).

1. If a person in consequence of conviction or of the report of an election rt under this Act becomes not capable of being elected to or sitting in the use of Commons, or of being elected to or holding any public or judicial e (i), and such person, at the date of the said conviction or report, has n so elected or holds any such office, then his seat or office, as the case be, shall be vacated as from that date. APPLICATION OF ACT TO OTHER ELECTIONS.

Application of this Act and Part IV. of 45 & 46 Vict. c. 50, to other elections.

36.—(1) Subject as hereinafter mentioned, the provisions of this Act and of Part Four of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882 (n), as amended by this Act, shall extend to elections for the offices mentioned in the first column of the First Schedule (nn) to this Act as if re-enacted herein and in terms made applicable thereto, and petitions may be presented and tried, and offences prosecuted and punished, and incapacities incurred in reference to each such election accordingly.

Provided that in the application of the said provisions to any such election:

(a) The area, officer, and rate mentioned opposite to the office in the second, third, and fourth columns of the said Schedule, shall be deemed to be substituted for the borough or ward, town clerk, and borough fund or rate respectively.

(b) The expression "corporate office" in the said provisions shall mean an office mentioned in the said Schedule, and in relation to the election of a guardian of a union includes any such office in the union (o), and "a municipal election" shall mean an election to such office, and the expressions "municipal election court," "municipal election list," and "municipal election petition" shall be construed accordingly.

(c) No corrupt and illegal practices list shall be made for any such election.

(d) Vacancies created by the decision of an election court shall be filled by a new election (p).

(e) A petition relating to the election of a guardian of a union may be tried at any place within the union (q).

(f) Nothing in the said provisions shall render it unlawful to hold a meeting for the purpose of promoting or procuring the election of a candidate to any office mentioned in the said Schedule on any licensed or other premises not situate in an urban sanitary district (r) or in the metropolis (s).

(2) The judges for the time being on the rota for the trial of parliamentary election petitions, or any two of those judges, may annually appoint as many barristers, not exceeding five, as they may think necessary to be commissioners for the trial of election petitions under Part Four of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, and this Act, and shall from time to time assign the petitions (whether relating to a municipal election or to any other election to which this Act extends) to be tried by each commissioner.

Exemption from provisions as to maximum expenses.

37. (o) Hence, if a guardian elected for a parish were incapacitated under s. 3 (2), by reason of the corrupt practices of his agents, he could not during three years be elected for any parish in the union.

(p) Hence a casual vacancy will not happen.

(q) Under the Rural District Councillors Election Order, 1898, rule 26 (6), in App. II., post, a petition relating to the election of a rural district councillor for a parish may be tried at any place within the poor law union in which the parish is situate.

Section 2.

THIRD SCHEDULE.

PART I.

Enactments defining Corrupt Practices—Enactments defining the Offence of Bribery.

The Corrupt Practices Prevention Act, 1854 (17 & 18 Vict. c. 102), ss. 2, 3.

Bribery defined.

S. 2. The following persons shall be deemed guilty of bribery, and shall be punishable accordingly (z):

(1) Every person who shall, directly or indirectly, by himself or by any other person on his behalf, give, lend, or agree to give or lend, or shall offer, promise, or promise to procure or endeavour to procure, any money or valuable consideration to or for any voter, or to or for any person on behalf of any voter, or to or for any other person, in order to induce any voter to vote or refrain from voting, or shall corruptly do any such act as aforesaid on account of such voter having voted or refrained from voting at any election.

(2) Every person who shall, directly or indirectly, by himself or by any other person on his behalf, give or procure, or agree to give or procure, or offer, promise, or promise to procure or endeavour to procure, any office, place, or employment to or for any voter, or to or for any person on behalf of any voter, or to or for any other person, in order to induce such voter to vote or refrain from voting, or shall corruptly do any such act as aforesaid on account of any voter having voted or refrained from voting at any election.

(3) Every person who shall, directly or indirectly, by himself or by any other person on his behalf, make any such gift, loan, offer, promise, procurement, or agreement as aforesaid, to or for any person, in order to induce such person to procure or endeavour to procure the return of any person to serve in Parliament, or the vote of any voter at any election.

(4) Every person who shall, upon or in consequence of any such gift, loan, offer, promise, procurement, or agreement, procure, or engage, promise, or endeavour to procure the return of any person to serve in Parliament, or the vote of any voter at any election.

(5) Every person who shall advance or pay, or cause to be paid, any money to or to the use of any other person with the intent that such money, or any part thereof, shall be expended in bribery at any election, or who shall knowingly pay or cause to be paid any money to any person in discharge or repayment of any money wholly or in part expended in bribery at any election: Provided always, that the aforesaid enactment shall not extend or be construed to (z) It is beyond the scope of the present Work to enter into a detailed discussion of the law relating to bribery and other corrupt practices. For information on this subject the reader is referred to works on the law of elections. One or two decisions may, however, be mentioned.

As to corrupt employment, see Harding v. Stokes (1836), 1 M. & W. 354; 2 M. & W. 233; giving money after election, R. v. Thwaites (1843), 1 El. & Bl. 704; 22 L. J. Q. B. 238.

Y. canvassed M., a voter at a municipal election, for his party, and on M. expressing an intention not to vote, told M. he would be remunerated for loss of time:—Held, that this was bribery (Simpson v. Yeend (1869), L. R. 4 Q. B. 626; 33 J. P. 677).

"In order to make the payment of a rate for the purpose of enabling voters to be registered affect the election, you must prove that it was done corruptly: that it was done thereby to influence their votes, which in my judgment means to induce them to vote for the person on whose behalf the payment was made": per MARTIN, B., in Cheltenham Election (1869), 1 O'M. & H. 63. In order to make a third party responsible for the payment of a rate, it must be proved that he gave authority to the person to do the act. The common law rules of agency, therefore, and not those of election law, apply to this case (Wigan Election (1869), 1 O'M. & H. 190; Ward's Practice at Elections, p. 158).

A single case of bribery by an agent avoids an election (Norwich Election Petition (1886), 54 L. T. 625).

To offer a voter his travelling expenses if he will come and vote for a particular candidate is bribery (Packard v. Collings (1886), 54 L. T. 619).

In an indictment for bribery where the date of the offence, that is of the offer of the bribe, is given in the indictment, the date of the election need not also be alleged, and even if necessary might be inserted by way of amendment (R. v. Yeoman (1905), 2 T. L. R. 266).

extend to any money paid or agreed to be paid for on account of any legal expenses bonâ fide incurred at or concerning any election.

Bribery further defined.

. 3. The following persons shall also be deemed guilty of bribery, and shall be ishable accordingly:

.) Every voter who shall, before or during any election, directly or indirectly, by himself or by any other person on his behalf, receive, agree, or contract for any money, gift, loan, or valuable consideration, office, place, or employment, for himself or for any other person, for voting or agreeing to vote, or from refraining or agreeing to refrain from voting at any election.

2) Every person who shall, after any election, directly or indirectly, by himself or by any other person on his behalf, receive any money or valuable consideration on account of any person having voted or refrained from voting, or having induced any other person to vote or refrain from voting at any election.

The Representation of the People Act, 1867 (30 & 31 Vict. c. 102), s. 49.

Corrupt payment of rates to be punishable as bribery.

. 49. Any person, either directly or indirectly, corruptly paying any rate on behalf ny ratepayer for the purpose of enabling him to be registered as a voter, thereby to luence his vote at the future election, and any candidate or other person, either ctly or indirectly, paying any rate on behalf of any voter for the purpose of icing him to vote or refrain from voting, shall be guilty of bribery, and be punish- accordingly; and any person on whose behalf and with whose privity any such yment as in this section is mentioned is made, shall also be guilty of bribery, and ishable accordingly (a).

Enactment defining the Offence of Personation.

The Ballot Act, 1872 (35 & 36 Vict. c. 33), s. 24.

Personation defined.

. 24. A person shall, for all purposes of the laws relating to parliamentary and hicipal elections, be deemed to be guilty of the offence of personation who, at an tion for a county or borough, or at a municipal election, applies for a ballot paper he name of some other person, whether that name be that of a person living or dead, f a fictitious person, or who, having voted once at any such election, applies at the e election for a ballot paper in his own name (b).

Enactments defining the Offences of Treating and Undue Influence.

The Corrupt and Illegal Practices Prevention Act, 1883 (46 & 47 Vict. c. 51), ss. 1, 2.

What is treating.

. 1. Any person who corruptly by himself or by any other person, either before ing, or after an election, directly or indirectly gives or provides, or pays wholly or part the expense of giving or providing any meat, drink, entertainment, or provision r for any person for the purpose of corruptly influencing that person or any other

(a) See the preceding note.

(b) H. obtained a voting paper signed by B., who was entitled to vote in an election ouncillors, and gave it to F., requesting F. to go with it to the poll and vote for two didates, and stating that F. would run no risk in doing so. F. went and handed in paper, but on being questioned admitted that he was not B., and the vote was not eived:—Held, that H. was properly convicted under 22 Vict. c. 35, s. 9, of inducing o personate a voter. Held, further, that it was sufficient for the conviction to state t H. induced F. to personate B., and that it need not set out the details of the process which F. carried out the personation (Hague v. Brown (1864), 33 L. J. M. C. 81; 28 P. 231).

If a man applies to the presiding officer for a ballot paper in a name other than his name brigin, or in the name by which he is generally known, but in a name which appears the register, and which was inserted by the overseers in the belief that it was the me of the applicant, and for the purpose of putting him on the register, he is entitled vote, and is not a person who "applies for a ballot paper in the name of some other son, whether that name be that of a person living or dead, or of a fictitious person" v. Fox (1887), 16 Cox C. C. 166).

In order to sustain a conviction for personation it is not necessary to state in the ictment, or to prove at the trial, that the presiding officer at the booth where the nce was committed was duly appointed. Semble, the appointment of a presiding cer need not be in writing (R. v. Garvey (1887), 16 Cox C. C. 252 (C. C. R. Ir.)).

person to give or refrain from giving his vote at the election, or on account of such person or any other person having voted or refrained from voting, or being about to vote or refrain from voting at such election, shall be guilty of treating.

And every elector who corruptly accepts or takes any such meat, drink, entertainment or provision, shall also be guilty of treating (c).

What is undue influence.

S. 2. Every person who shall directly or indirectly, by himself or by any other person on his behalf, make use of or threaten to make use of any force, violence, or restraint, or inflict or threaten to inflict, by himself or by any other person, any temporal or spiritual injury, damage, harm, or loss upon or against any person in order to induce or compel such person to vote or refrain from voting, or on account of such person having voted or refrained from voting at any election, or who shall by abduction, duress, or any fraudulent device or contrivance impede or prevent the free exercise of the franchise of any elector, or shall thereby compel, induce, or prevail upon any elector either to give or to refrain from giving his vote at any election, shall be guilty of undue influence.

Enactment defining the Offences of Bribery, Treating, Undue Influence, and Personation.

The Municipal Corporations Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Vict. c. 50), s. 77.

Definitions.

S. 77. "Bribery," "treating," "undue influence," and "personation" include respectively anything done before, at, after, or with respect to a municipal election, which, if done before, at, after, or with respect to a parliamentary election, would make the person doing the same liable to any penalty, punishment, or disqualification for bribery, treating, undue influence, or personation, as the case may be, under any Act for the time being in force with respect to parliamentary elections.

Section 23.

PART II.

Enactments relating to Disqualification of Electors.

The Corrupt and Illegal Practices Prevention Act, 1883 (46 & 47 Vict. c. 51), ss. 37, 38.

Prohibition of disqualified persons from voting.
35 & 36 Vict. c. 60.
45 & 46 Vict. c. 50.

S. 37. Every person who, in consequence of conviction or of the report of any election court or election commissioners under this Act, or under the Corrupt Practices (Municipal Elections) Act, 1872, or under Part IV. of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, or under any other Act for the time being in force relating to corrupt practices at any election for any public office, has become incapable of voting at any election, whether a parliamentary election or an election to any public office, is prohibited from voting at any such election, and his vote shall be void.

Hearing of person before he is reported guilty of corrupt or illegal practice, and incapacity of person reported guilty.

S. 38.—(1) Before a person, not being a party to an election petition nor a candidate on behalf whom the seat is claimed by an election petition, is reported by an election court . . . to have been guilty, at an election, of any corrupt or illegal practice, the court . . . shall cause notice to be given to such person, and if he appears in pursuance of the notice, shall give him an opportunity of being heard by himself and of calling evidence in his defence to show why he should not be so reported (d).

(c) Treating is not the entertainment of equals by equals, but of an inferior by a superior, with the object of securing the goodwill of the inferior (Norwich Election Petition (1886), 54 L. T. 625). Giving a school feast was held not to be treating in the Aylesbury Election Petition (1886), 4 O'M. & H. 59. It must be proved that the voter got his refreshment on account of his having polled or being about to poll (per MANISTY J., in Hargreaves v. Simpson (1878), 4 Q. B. D. 403; 43 J. P. 767).

(d) This section excludes the right of a person charged with any corrupt or illegal practice at a municipal election to be heard by his counsel or solicitor (R. v. Mansel Jones (1889), 23 Q. B. D. 29; 53 J. P. 739). But such a person must have an opportunity of being heard at least by himself (R. v. Mansel Jones (1894), 10 T. L. R. 513). Where after the trial of a municipal election petition the commissioner has reported persons as having been guilty of corrupt practices, the High Court has no jurisdiction to set aside or amend his report on the ground that the notice prescribed by this section was not given to the persons reported (Preece v. Harding (1890), 24 Q. B. D. 119; Wigan Municipal Election Petition, Ex parte Johnson (1894), 38 Sol. J. 386).

5) Every person who, after the commencement of this Act, is reported by any ction court . . . to have been guilty of any corrupt or illegal practice at an election, ll, whether he obtained a certificate of indemnity or not, be subject to the same apacity as he would be subject to if he had at the date of such election been victed of the offence of which he is reported to have been guilty. . . .

6) Where a person who is a justice of the peace is reported by any election court . to have been guilty of any corrupt practice in reference to any election, whether has obtained a certificate of indemnity or not, it shall be the duty of the Director Public Prosecutions to report the case to the Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain, h such evidence as may have been given of such corrupt practice, and where any h person acts as a justice of the peace by virtue of his being or having been mayor a borough, the Lord High Chancellor shall have the same power to remove such son from being a justice of the peace as if he was named in a commission of the ce.

7) Where a person who is a barrister or a solicitor, or who belongs to any profession admission to which is regulated by law, is reported by any election court . . . to e been guilty of any corrupt practice in reference to an election, whether such son has obtained a certificate of indemnity or not, it shall be the duty of the Director Public Prosecutions to bring the matter before the Inn of Court, High Court, or ounal having power to take cognizance of any misconduct of such person in his pro-sion, and such Inn of Court, High Court, or tribunal may deal with such person in e manner as if such corrupt practice were misconduct by such person in his fession.

8) With respect to a person holding a licence or certificate under the Licensing ts (in this section referred to as a licensed person) the following provisions shall ve effect:

(a) If it appears to the court by which any licensed person is convicted of the offence of bribery or treating that such offence was committed on his licensed premises, the court shall direct such conviction to be entered in the proper register of licences:

(b) If it appears to an election court . . . that a licensed person has knowingly suffered any bribery or treating in reference to any election to take place upon his licensed premises, such court . . . (subject to the provisions of this Act as to a person having an opportunity of being heard by himself and producing evidence before being reported) shall report the same: and, whether such person obtained a certificate of indemnity or not, it shall be the duty of the Director of Public Prosecutions to bring such report before the licensing justices from whom or on whose certificate the licensed person obtained his licence, and such licensing justices shall cause such report to be entered in the proper register of licences:

(c) Where an entry is made in the register of licences of any such conviction of or report respecting any licensed person as above in this section mentioned, it shall be taken into consideration by the licensing justices in determining whether they will or will not grant to such person the renewal of his licence or certificate, and may be a ground, if the justices think fit, for refusing such renewal.

Section 21.

Form of Declaration by Candidate as to Expenses.

I, , having been a candidate at the election of councillor for the borough r ward] of , on the day of [and my agents do hereby lemnly and sincerely declare that I have paid] for my expenses at the said ection, and that, except as aforesaid, I have not, and to the best of my knowledge and lief, no person, nor any club, society, or association, has on my behalf, made any yment, or given, promised, or offered any reward, office, employment, or valuable nsideration, or incurred any liability on account of or in respect of the conduct or anagement of the said election.

And I further solemnly and sincerely declare that, except as aforesaid, no money, curity, or equivalent for money, has to my knowledge or belief been paid, advanced, ven, or deposited by anyone to or in the hands of myself, or any other person, for the purpose of defraying any expenses incurred on my behalf on account of or in respect of the conduct or management of the said election.

And I further solemnly and sincerely declare that I will not at any future time make or be a party to the making or giving of any payment, reward, office, employment, or valuable consideration for the purpose of defraying any such expenses as last mentioned, or provide or be a party to the providing of any money, security, or equivalent for money for the purpose of defraying any such expenses.

THE DISUSED BURIAL GROUNDS ACT, 1884.

(47 & 48 VICT. c. 72) (e).

An Act for preventing the erection of Buildings on Disused Burial Grounds.
[14th August 1884.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Disused Burial Grounds Act, 1884.

Interpretation clause.

2. In this Act a "disused burial ground" shall mean a burial ground in respect of which an Order in Council has been made for the discontinuance of burials therein in pursuance of the provisions of the said recited Acts (f).

No buildings to be erected upon disused burial grounds, except for enlargement, etc.

3. It shall not be lawful to erect any buildings upon any disused burial ground, except for the purpose of enlarging a church, chapel, meeting-house, or other places of worship (g).

Savings for buildings already sanctioned.

4. Nothing in this Act shall prevent the erection of any building on a disused burial ground for which a faculty has been obtained before the passing of this Act.

(e) The preamble to this Act, reciting 15 & 16 Vict. c. 85, and 16 & 17 Vict. c. 134, and a few words in s. 3, are repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1898.

(f) For the definition of a burial ground as used in this Act, see the Open Spaces Act, 1887, s. 4, post, p. 1634, which section is to that extent not repealed by the Open Spaces Act, 1906. That definition includes land "set apart for the purposes of interment," even though it has been so set apart in contravention of an Order in Council made under s. 1 of the Burial Act, 1853, and consequently can never be lawfully used for the purposes of interment (Re Bosworth and Gravesend Corporation, [1905] 2 K. B. 426; 69 J. P. 339; following Ward v. Portsmouth Corporation, [1898] 2 Ch. 191; 62 J. P. 820). See note (y) post, p. 1634, and s. 73 (4) of the Housing, Town Planning, etc., Act, 1909, post, p. 2042.

(g) A. agreed to sell to B. a chapel and adjoining ground, in which human remains were interred. Both A. and B. knew of the interments, and also that B. intended to use the ground for building. After the contract was entered into, and before completion, the above Act was passed, rendering building on "disused burial grounds" illegal. It was admitted that the land sold was a disused burial ground within the meaning of the Act: Held, that B. was, nevertheless, bound to complete his contract (Bolesworth v. Davis (1886) 3 T. L. R. 214). A perpetual injunction was granted against a vestry for erecting a barn to stand on a disused burial ground which had been thrown open to the public as an open space (Att.-Gen. v. St. Pancras Vestry (1894), 58 J. P. 22). And see In re Ecclesiastical Commissioners and New City of London Brewery Co.'s Contract, [1895] 1 Ch. 702. The erection of a screen by a local authority for the purpose of preventing an adjoining land-owner, who had built on his land houses overlooking a disused churchyard, from acquiring any right of light, is not a building under this section and cannot be restrained by injunction (Paddington Corporation v. Att.-Gen., [1906] A. C. 1; 70 J. P. 41).

So far as this section relates to churches it only permits buildings to be erected which are in physical communication with the church and enlarge it for the main and primary purpose of religious worship. It would not therefore permit the erection of a separate building to be used as a vestry hall and for Sunday schools and other parochial purposes (London C. C. v. Dundas, [1904] P. 1).

5. Nothing in this Act contained shall apply to any burial ground which has been sold or disposed of under the authority of any Act of Parliament (h). Saving of burial ground sold by Act of Parliament.

THE CANAL BOATS ACT, 1884.

Act to amend the Canal Boats Act, 1877. [14th August 1884.]

1. A certificate of registration granted under the principal Act (k) shall cease to be in force in the event of any structural alterations having been made in the canal boat affecting the conditions upon which the certificate of registration has been obtained. Certificate of registry made void by structural alterations.

2. If default is made in complying with any of the regulations made or to be made by the Local Government Board (kk) and Education Department under the principal Act (l) or this Act, and for the time being in force, the master of the boat with respect to which the default is made, and also the owner of the boat, if in default, shall for each default be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty shillings. Penalty for contravention of regulations under Canal Boats Acts.

3. It shall be the duty of every registration or sanitary authority within whose district any canal, or any part of a canal is situate, to enforce within such district the provisions of the principal Act and this Act, and any regulations made thereunder by the Local Government Board (kk); and every such authority shall, within twenty-one days after the thirty-first day of December in every year, make a report (n) to the Local Government Board (kk) as to the execution of the principal Act and this Act, and of the regulations made thereunder as aforesaid, and as to the steps taken by such authority during the year to give effect to the provisions of the said Acts and regulations. Enforcement of Act by registration and sanitary authority, and report to be made.

4. The Local Government Board (kk) shall in every year present a report to both Houses of Parliament as to the execution of the principal Act and this Act, and the observance of the regulations made by them thereunder, and shall cause inquiries to be made from time to time by an inspector or inspectors to be appointed by them for that purpose. Inquiries and reports by Local Government Board.

Such inspectors shall for the purpose of any inquiry under this Act have, in relation to witnesses and their examination, the production of papers, and (h) This section applies to dispositions made after the Act (In re Ecclesiastical Commissioners and New City of London Brewery Co.'s Contract, [1895] 1 Ch. 702; Att.-Gen. v. London Parochial Charities Trustees, [1896] 1 Ch. 541). Under s. 24 of the Burial Act, 1857, power to let and sell the unconsecrated parts of disused burial grounds was given to the trustees thereof, the proceeds to be applied in discharge of incumbrances and the residence for the benefit of the parish as the vestry should direct. For a decision as to the consent right to direct the application of the proceeds in such a case, see St. George, Hanover Square (Rector and Churchwardens) v. Westminster Corporation, [1910] A. C. 113; 74 J. P. 153. The trustees of a disused chapel and burial ground had applied to the Charity Commissioners for their sanction to the sale of the premises as a building site. It was held that such a sale by order of the Commissioners would not be a "sale disposition under the authority of any Act of Parliament" within the meaning of this section (In re Howard Street Congregational Chapel, Sheffield, [1913] 2 Ch. 690).

inspection of places and matters required to be inspected, similar powers to those which poor law inspectors have under the Acts relating to the relief of the poor for the purposes of those Acts (o), and may enter any canal boat at any time by day (p), and examine the same and every part thereof, and may, if need be, for the purpose of such inquiry detain the boat, but for no longer time than is necessary.

The master of the boat shall, if required by any such inspector, produce to him the certificate of registry, if any, of the boat, and permit him to examine and copy the same, and shall furnish him with such assistance and means as such inspector may require for the purpose of his entry and examination of and departure from the boat in pursuance of this section.

A refusal to comply with the requisition of such inspector under this section shall be deemed to be an obstruction of such inspector.

If such inspector is obstructed in the performance of his duty under this Act, the person obstructing him shall be liable to a fine not exceeding forty shillings.

Power to make regulations as to school certificates, etc.

5. The power to make regulations given to the Local Government Board (pp) by the principal Act and this Act shall include power to the Education Department to make regulations with respect to the form of certificates or pass books as to attendance at school to be used by children in canal boats.

Annual report by Education Department. 33 & 34 Vict. c. 75. 36 & 37 Vict. c. 86. 39 & 40 Vict. c. 79. 43 & 44 Vict. c. 23.

6. The Education Department shall every year report to Parliament as to the manner in which the Elementary Education Acts, 1870 and 1873, 1876 and 1880, are enforced with respect to children in canal boats, and shall for that purpose direct her Majesty's Inspector of Schools to communicate with the school boards and school attendance committees in their district.

Lettering and numbering of canal boats.

7. A canal boat shall not be deemed to be lettered, marked, and numbered in conformity with section three of the principal Act (q), unless it is so lettered, marked, and numbered on both sides of the canal boat, or in some suitable position on the stern of the boat, so that the lettering, marking, and numbering may be plainly visible from both sides of the canal whereon the boat may be.

Application of fines.

8. Every fine recovered under the principal Act or this Act shall be paid in the case of a prosecution by any registration or sanitary authority or person authorised by any such authority to such authority or person, and if paid to such person shall be paid by him to such authority, and shall be applied towards the expenses of executing the principal Act and this Act, any Act to the contrary notwithstanding.

Definition of term "by day."

9. The expression "by day" in the principal Act and this Act shall be deemed to include the hours between six o'clock in the morning and nine o'clock at night.

Amendment of definition of canal boat.

10. If it shall at any time appear to the Local Government Board (pp) on the representation of any registration or sanitary authority or of any inspector appointed under this Act, that the principal Act and this Act ought to apply to any vessel or class of vessels which would be within the definition of canal boat contained in section fourteen of the principal Act, if such vessel or class of vessels were not registered under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, and the Acts amending the same, the Local Government Board (pp) may declare that principal Act and this Act shall apply to such vessel or class of vessels, ough the same may be registered as aforesaid, and thereupon the same l be deemed to be a canal boat or canal boats within the meaning of the ncipal Act and this Act, and the definition contained in section fourteen he principal Act shall be amended accordingly (r).

1. This Act may be cited as the Canal Boats Act, 1884, and shall be strued as one with the Canal Boats Act, 1877, which Act and this Act be cited together as the Canal Boats Acts, 1877 and 1884. Short title and construction of Act. 40 & 41 Vict. c. 60.

THE LOCAL LOANS SINKING FUNDS ACT, 1885.

(48 & 49 VICT. 30) (s).

Act to amend the Local Loans Act, 1875, as regards the Establishment of a Sinking Fund. [22nd July 1885.]

. This Act may be cited for all purposes as the Local Loans Sinking ds Act, 1885. Short title.

. This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland. Limits of Act.

. [Commencement of Act, September 1st, 1885.]

. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Local Loans Act, 1875, y loan borrowed in manner provided by that Act may be discharged by establishment of a sinking fund as therein mentioned, notwithstanding a sinking fund may not have been prescribed by the special Act norising the loan. THE CONTAGIOUS DISEASES (ANIMALS) ACT, 1886.

(49 & 50 VICT. c. 32) (t).

Act to amend the Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act, 1878.
[25th June 1886.]

it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the ice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as ows :

* * * * * *

.—(1) The powers vested in the Privy Council of making General or Special Transfer to Local Government Board of powers of Privy Council under s. 34.

This section amends the definition of canal boat in the Canal Boats Act, 1877, s. 14, p. 1497.

This Act amends the Local Loans Act, 1875, ante, p. 1422. Section 13 of that Act, p. 1426, which provides for the discharge of loans, enacts that such discharge shall ecured by one or more of certain prescribed methods. Of these methods one relates sinking fund, and is in these words : " Where a sinking fund is prescribed, but not rwise [such discharge shall be secured], by the establishment of a sinking fund, and application thereof in manner in this Act mentioned." The amending Act in effect ils the words printed in italics, and enables a loan to be discharged by means of a ing fund, although it has not been prescribed by the special Act authorising the . The preamble to this Act and s. 3 are repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1898. Reference ld be made to s. 4 of the Local Authorities (Financial Provisions) Act, 1921, for the er given to suspend sinking-fund payments in case of money borrowed for revenue ucing works.

) This Act transferred to the L. G. B. (now the Ministry of Health) and sanitary horities, urban and rural, throughout the country, the powers and duties formerly cised by the Privy Council and the local authorities under the Contagious Diseases mals) Act, 1878, respectively, with reference to dairies, cow-sheds, and milk-shops.

Orders under section thirty-four of the principal Act (a), for the purposes in that section mentioned, are hereby transferred to and shall henceforth be excisable by the Local Government Board (aa); every such Order shall have effect as if enacted in this section, and shall be published in such manner as the Local Government Board (aa) may direct, and the said Board (aa) may from time to time alter or revoke any such Order.

(2) For the purposes of the said section (b) and this section, and of any Order in force thereunder (c), the expression local authority, unless the context otherwise requires, in the metropolis has the same meanings as in the principal Act (d), and elsewhere has the same meanings as in the Public Health Act, 1875 (e).

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

(3) Any expenses incurred by a local authority in the metropolis in pursuance of section thirty-four of the principal Act, as amended by this section, shall be defrayed out of the local rate applicable to their expenses under the principal Act (f); and any expenses so incurred by any other

The whole Act, except s. 9, was repealed by the Diseases of Animals Act, 1894. Further and important enactments as to milk and dairies are contained in the Milk and Dairies (Consolidation) Act, 1915, post, p. 2096, and the Milk and Dairies (Amendment) Act, 1922, post, p. 2328. The former Act does not come into operation until September 1st, 1925. When it comes into operation s. 9 of the Act in the text will be repealed, but the Act gives a wide power to the Minister of Health to make milk and dairies orders (see s. 1) and continues orders and regulations then in force until altered or revoked (see s. 21 (3)). The Act of 1922 is now in operation.

(a) Section 34 of the Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act, 1878 (41 & 42 Vict. c. 74), is as follows, substituting the Minister of Health (who has succeeded to the powers of the L. G. B.) for the Privy Council:

"The Minister of Health may from time to time make such general or special Orders as he thinks fit, subject and according to the provisions of this Act, for the following purposes, or any of them:

"(i) For the registration with the local authority of all persons carrying on the trade of cowkeepers, dairymen, or purveyors of milk.

"(ii) For the inspection of cattle in dairies, and for prescribing and regulating the lighting ventilation cleansing drainage and water supply of dairies and cow-sheds in the occupation of persons following the trade of cowkeepers or dairymen.

"(iii) For securing the cleanliness of milk-stores, milk-shops and of milk-vessels used for containing milk for sale by such persons.

"(iv) For prescribing precautions to be taken for protecting milk against infection or contamination.

"(v) For authorising a local authority to make regulations for the purposes aforesaid, or any of them, subject to such conditions (if any) as the Minister of Health prescribes."

Under the above section, which is not repealed by the Diseases of Animals Act, 1894, the Privy Council issued the Dairies, Cow-sheds, and Milk-shops Order of 1885, as to the operation and administration of which see the Appendix, post. See the notes thereto for relevant decisions. Reference should be made to s. 2 of the Milk, etc., Act, 1922, post, p. 2329; and also to s. 7 of the same Act which requires that Orders made after the coming into operation of that Act shall be made with the concurrence of the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries.

(aa) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Minister of Health (Ministry of Health Act, 1919, and Order in Council of June 25th, 1919).

(b) I.e., of 41 & 42 Vict. c. 74, s. 34, in note (a), supra.

(c) Orders in force are are set out in Appendix II., post. The phrase "local authority" will in these Orders have the meaning here assigned to it.

(d) By the 41 & 42 Vict. c. 74, s. 7, "metropolis" had the same meaning as in the Metropolis Management Act, 1855. In the City of London and the liberties thereof the Corporation of London were the local authority; elsewhere in the metropolis the Metropolitan Board of Works were the local authority. Under 57 & 58 Vict. c. 57, which repeals the Act of 1878 (except s. 34), the local authorities in the City of London are the corporation, and outside the city the London County Council.

(e) Therefore outside the metropolis the local authorities will be the councils of boroughs and other urban and rural districts in England and Wales.

(f) By 41 & 42 Vict. c. 74, s. 9, and Sched. II., the local rate in the City of London and the liberties thereof is the consolidated rate; in the rest of the metropolis the metropolitan consolidated rate (now the general rate made under 62 & 63 Vict. c. 14, s. 10). The expenses in question will continue to be paid out of these rates.

l authority shall be defrayed as if they were incurred in the execution of Public Health Act, 1875, and in the case of a rural sanitary authority l be deemed to be general expenses (g).

4) The local authority and their officers (h), for the purpose of enforcing said Orders and any regulations made thereunder (i), shall have the e right to be admitted to any premises as the local authority, within the ning of the Public Health Act, 1875, and their officers have, under ion one hundred and two of that Act, for the purpose of examining o the existence of any nuisance thereon (k); and if such admission is sed the like proceedings may be taken, with the like incidents and con- tences as to orders for admission, penalties, costs, expenses, and other- , as in the case of a refusal to admit to premises for any of the purposes he said section one hundred and two, and as if the local authority tioned in the said Act included a local authority in the metropolis as ned in this section (l).

rovided that nothing in this section shall authorise any person, except h the permission of the local authority under the principal Act, to enter cowshed or other place in which an animal affected with any disease is , and which is situate in a place declared to be infected with such ase (m).

) The like penalties for offences against Orders or regulations made for purposes of section thirty-four of the principal Act as amended by this ion may be imposed by the Local Government Board or local authority

The expenses incurred by an urban authority will be paid out of the general district , as to which see s. 210 of the Public Health Act, 1875, ante, p. 472. The expenses rural authority, as here stated, will be general expenses (see s. 229 of the same Act, p. 510); in other words, they will fall on the district as a whole, and not upon al parts of it.

The officers of the local authority who will have most to do with the administra- of this Act will be the medical officer of health and the sanitary inspector, especially atter. Power is not given for the appointment of an officer for the express purpose rrying the Act and Orders into execution, but as the local authorities may appoint any officers as may be necessary for the purposes of the Public Health Act, 1875, may avoid the difficulty by appointing officers under that Act, and assigning to officers the duties relating to dairies, cowsheds, and milk-shops. It will be remem- l that under s. 190 of the Public Health Act, 1875, ante, p. 453, a rural authority appoint more than one sanitary inspector, and that by s. 2 (2) of the Public Health ers) Act, 1921, ante, p. 1119, an urban authority may also now appoint two or more ary inspectors. The district may, if necessary, be divided for the purposes of the s of several inspectors.

As to the regulations which may be made by a local authority, see the Dairies, etc. r of 1885, Art. 13, post.

Section 102 of the Public Health Act, 1875, ante, p. 188, provides that the local ority or any of their officers shall be admitted into any premises (for the purpose forcing the said Orders and any regulations made thereunder) at any time between hours of nine in the forenoon and six in the afternoon, or in the case of a nuisance ng in respect of any business, then at any hour when such business is in progress or ually carried on.

If admission is refused, the officer may give reasonable notice in writing of his tion to make complaint to a justice. This notice must be given to the person ng custody of the premises. He may then make a complaint on oath before a justice. the justice may by order under his hand require the person having the custody of premises to admit the local authority or their officer during the hours between . and 6 p.m., and if no person having custody of the premises can be found, the e on oath made before him of that fact shall by order under his hand authorise the authority or any of their officers to enter the premises during the hours aforesaid. order remains in force until the work for which the entry was necessary has been . Any person who refuses to obey the order is liable to a penalty not exceeding £5. he Public Health Act, 1875, ss. 102, 103, ante, pp. 188, 189.

) Reference is here made to places declared to be infected by orders under the ases of Animals Act, 1894. Such places can only be entered with the permission of local authority entrusted with the administration of that Act, i.e. in counties the ty councils, and in boroughs the corporations, or the committees appointed by such authorities.

making the same, and such offences may be prosecuted and penalties recovered in a summary manner, and subject to the like provisions, as if such Orders or regulations were byelaws of a local authority under the Public Health Act, 1875, and as if the local authority mentioned in that Act included a local authority in the metropolis as defined in this section (n).

(6) Whereas under the powers of the principal Act the Privy Council have made an Order known as the Dairies, Cowsheds, and Milkshops Order of 1885 (o), and certain authorities have made regulations under that Order, or having effect in pursuance thereof; and it is expedient by reason of the foregoing provisions of this section to make provision respecting such Order and regulations: Be it therefore enacted as follows:

(a) The Dairies, Cowsheds, and Milkshops Order of 1885, and any regulations thereunder, or having effect in pursuance thereof, made by any local authority under the principal Act, other than the local authority of a county, shall be deemed to have been made respectively by the Local Goverment Board and by a local authority under this section; and any such regulations made by the local authority of a county, within the meaning of the principal Act, shall, so far as they extend to the district of any local authority as defined in this section, be deemed to have been made by such local authority (p).

(b) So much of any register kept by the local authority of any county under the said Order as relates to the district of any local authority as defined in this section, or a copy thereof, shall, as soon as may be after the passing of this Act, be delivered to the local authority by the local authority of the county (q).

* * * * * *

(n) By the Public Health Act, 1875, s. 183, ante, p. 440, a local authority may, by their byelaws, impose on offenders against such byelaws penalties not exceeding £5 for each offence, and in the case of a continuing offence a further penalty not exceeding 40*s*. for each day after written notice of the offence from the local authority. The Dairies, Cow-sheds, and Milk-shops Order of 1885 contained no provision as to penalties, and some provision of the kind was necessary if the Order was to be enforced like byelaws under the Public Health Act, 1875. To amend this defect the L. G. B. issued a General Order on November 1st, 1886, whereby a person guilty of an offence against the Order is to be liable to a penalty of £5, and a further penalty of 40*s*. for each day after written notice of the offence from the local authority. It is necessary to observe, however, that this Order does not in any way affect the regulations made by the local authority. These are to be enforced as byelaws, and no penalty can be recovered in respect of breaches of them, except such as may be imposed by the regulations themselves. It is therefore necessary in every case to make provision for penalties for such breaches.

(o) See this Order in the Appendix, post.

(p) Existing regulations made under this Order will thus continue in force, but it will be advisable that they should be reissued, making provision for the imposing of penalties for offences. No such provision was formerly necessary, for by s. 61 of the Act of 1878, any person doing anything in contravention of the regulation of a local authority was guilty of an offence against that Act, and punishable under s. 60 by a penalty not exceeding £20. But under the last preceding sub-section, penalties must be imposed by the local authority as if such regulations were byelaws; in other words, the regulations must themselves provide for penalties, otherwise it is very doubtful whether any penalty could be recovered. Since the issuing of the Order of 1886 (in the Appendix, post) this difficulty no longer exists in connection with penalties for offences against the Order of 1885.

(q) The local register will, so far as it relates to the district of any local authority, be the register of such authority, and will henceforth be kept by such authority. See now the additional register required to be kept by s. 3 of the Milk and Dairies Act, 1922, post.

THE QUARRY (FENCING) ACT, 1887.

(50 & 51 VICT. c. 19.)

An Act to provide for the Fencing of Quarries. [19th July 1887.]

1. This Act may be cited as the Quarry (Fencing) Act, 1887. Short title.

2. [Commencement of Act, January 1st, 1888.]

3. Where any quarry dangerous to the public is in open or uninclosed land, within fifty yards of a highway or place of public resort dedicated to the public, and is not separated therefrom by a secure and sufficient fence, it shall be kept reasonably fenced for the prevention of accidents, and unless so kept shall be deemed to be a nuisance liable to be dealt with summarily in manner provided by the Public Health Act, 1875 (r). Fencing of quarries.

4. In this Act— Interpretation

The term "quarry" includes every pit or opening made for the purpose of getting stone, slates, lime, chalk, clay, gravel, or sand, but not any natural opening.

5. This Act shall not extend to Scotland and Ireland. Extent of Act.

(r) An unfenced quarry which is within this section is, therefore, a nuisance within the meaning of s. 91 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 165. Proceedings may consequently be taken against the owner under that and the succeeding sections. Notice must be given to the owner or occupier under s. 94 requiring the nuisance to be abated by the erection of a proper fence. If the notice is disregarded complaint may be made to justices under s. 96, and the local authority may themselves abate the nuisance and recover the expenses under s. 97. But members of a district council are not liable to a charge of manslaughter in case anyone is killed by falling into an unfenced quarry merely because that council have omitted to exercise their powers under the above-mentioned enactments (R. v. Clerk of Assize of Oxford Circuit, [1897] 1 Q. B. 370; 61 J. P. 197). See also as to the common law obligation on the possessor of a dangerous excavation by the side of the highway to keep it fenced off (Att.-Gen. v. Roe, [1915] 1 Ch. 235).

It should be noticed that this Act applies to quarries which are being worked as well as to those which have ceased to be worked. In this respect it differs from the somewhat similar provisions of the Coal Mines Act, 1911, post, p. 2063, and the Metalliferous Mines Regulation Act, 1872, ante, p. 1389.

As to the repair and enclosing of dangerous places, and the fencing of lands adjoining streets, see ss. 30 and 31 of the P. H. A., 1907, ante, pp. 1038, 1039.

The plaintiff was in the occupation of the surface of a field, and the defendants were in the occupation of a quarry in the same field, which they had enlarged. Both held under the same landlord. The quarry was entirely unfenced. One of the plaintiff's bullocks fell into the quarry and was killed:—Held, that the plaintiff was entitled to recover damages from the defendants for the loss of the bullock (Hawken v. Shearer and Another, W. N. (1887) 89; 56 L. J. Q. B. 284).

A proprietor is under no obligation to fence a disused quarry on his property which is at a distance of upwards 150 yards from the nearest point of the public road. A person on a dark night left the public road, and was found in the morning in a dying state at the bottom of the face of a disused quarry, eighteen feet in height. The quarry was more than 150 yards from the nearest point of the public road. A path, which had served as an access to the quarry when it was in use eight years before, left the public road about 200 yards from the quarry, and continued towards the quarry, which was overgrown with long grass and willows. The path was occasionally used by inhabitants of the district, but, against the remonstrances of the proprietor and his tenant, passed within six yards of the edge of the quarry face. The person who had fallen in was a stranger in the district, and was unable to give any account of how he had reached the spot where he fell. In an action for damages against the proprietor by the representatives of the deceased, a jury found for pursuers. A new trial was granted on the ground that the evidence disclosed no fault on the part of the defender (Prentice v. Assets Co., Ltd. (1890), 17 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) 484).

THE WATER COMPANIES (REGULATION OF POWERS) ACT, 1887.

(50 & 51 VICT. c. 21.)

An Act to limit the Powers of the Water Companies to cut off the Tenant's Water Supply where the Rate is paid by the Landlord. [8th August 1887.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Water Companies (Regulation of Powers) Act, 1887."

Extent of Act.

2. This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland.

Application of Act.

3. This Act shall apply to every water company which is a trading company supplying water for profit (tt), and to which any of the provisions of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, have been or shall be made applicable by any special Act or Provisional Order confirmed by Parliament, and every such special Act or Provisional Order shall be deemed to be amended by this Act, and shall be construed accordingly (u).

Water not to be cut off where the water rate is payable by the owner.

4. Where the owner and not the occupier is liable by law (x) or by agreement with the water company to the payment of the water rate in respect of any dwelling-house or part of a dwelling-house occupied as a separate tenement no water company shall cut off the water supply for non-payment of the water rate (y), but such water rate, without prejudice to the other remedies of the company for enforcing payment thereof from such owner (z), shall, together with interest thereon at the rate of five pounds per centum per annum, computed from the expiration of one month from the time when the same has been claimed by the company until receipt thereof by the company, be a charge on such dwelling-house in priority to all other charges affecting the premises (a); and (without prejudice to such charge) the amount may be

(tt) See Metropolitan Water Board v. Berton, [1921] 1 Ch. 299.

(u) From this section it appears that it does not apply to a local authority supplying water by virtue of the powers contained in the P. H. A., 1875, as such an authority is not a trading company supplying water for profit. The Provisional Order here referred to is an Order obtained under the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870, ante, p. 1328, and the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870, Amendment Act, 1873, ante, p. 1398.

(x) The owner of a house not exceeding £10 rent is liable to pay water rates by virtue of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, s. 72, ante, p. 1253. The words "is liable" refer to a liability at the date when the water rate became due, and if there was at that date an occupier other than the owner, and the owner and not the occupier was liable for the payment of that rate, the section prohibits the water company from cutting off the supply for non-payment of the rate, even after the occupier has given up possession and the premises have become vacant (Metropolitan Water Board v. Bibbey, [1911] 2 K. B. 74; 75 J. P. 322).

(y) The power to cut off the supply of water for non-payment of water rate is given by 10 & 11 Vict c. 17, s. 74, ante, p. 1254.

(z) These remedies are given by the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, s. 74, ante, p. 1254, and the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1863, s. 16, ante, p. 1322. The owner of a block of flats which were respectively of an annual value not exceeding £20 entered into an agreement with a water company for the supply of water to the flats by meter. The owner subsequently mortgaged the premises, and upon his getting into financial difficulties, the mortgagees appointed the defendant to act as receiver of the rents on their behalf. At the date of the defendant's appointment there were arrears owing to the plaintiffs (successors to the company) for water supplied to the flats under the agreement. CHANNELL, J., held that the defendant was not the owner of the premises within the meaning of this section and was not liable as such for the arrears existing at the time of his appointment (Metropolitan Water Board v. Brooks, [1910] 2 K. B. 134; 74 J. P. 233). The Court of Appeal reversed the decision of CHANNELL, J., but not on this ground ([1911] 1 K. B. 289; 75 J. P. 41).

(a) See the notes to the corresponding provisions of s. 257 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 569. The words "in priority to all other charges" appear to be superfluous, as the charge under the Act would affect the property in the hands of a mortgagee. See Birmingham Corporation v. Baker (1881), 17 Ch. D. 782; 46 J. P. 52.

recovered, with the costs incurred, from the owner or from the occupier for the time being in the same manner as water rates may by law be recovered (b): Provided always, that proceedings shall not be taken against the occupier until notice shall have been given to him or left at his dwelling-house to pay the amount due for water rate out of the rent then due or that may thereafter become due from him, and he shall have omitted so to pay such water rate; and provided also, that no greater sum shall be recovered at any one time from any such occupier than the amount of rent owing by him, or which shall have accrued due from him since such notice shall have been given or left as aforesaid, and that every such occupier shall be entitled to deduct from the rent payable by him the sum so recovered from him or which he shall have paid on demand (c).

Penalty on cutting off of supply in contravention of the Act.

5. In the event of any such supply being cut off in contravention of this Act, the company cutting off the same shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for each day during which the water shall remain cut off, which penalty shall be recoverable summarily from the company by, and shall be paid to, the person aggrieved (d).

THE MARKETS AND FAIRS (WEIGHING OF CATTLE) ACT, 1887.

50 & 51 Vict. c. 27) (e).

An Act to amend the Law with respect to weighing Cattle in Markets and Fairs.
[8th August 1887.]

Whereas it is expedient to afford the like facilities for weighing cattle in markets and fairs as are afforded for weighing goods and carts under the Markets and Fairs Clauses Act, 1847, in markets and fairs to which that Act applies (f): 10 & 11 Vict. c. 14.

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Markets and Fairs (Weighing of Cattle) Act, 1887."

Application of Act.

2. This Act, save as is hereinafter provided, shall apply to all markets and fairs in which tolls are for the time being authorised to be taken and actually are taken in respect of cattle by any company, corporation, or person

(b) See note (z), ante, p. 1626.

(c) A landlord gave a tenant notice to quit, and on the tenant continuing to remain in possession gave notice to a water company to cut off the supply, which they did:—Held, that, as the cutting off had not been for non-payment of the water rate, the above Act did not apply (Chelsea Waterworks Co. v. Paulet (1887), 4 T. L. R. 239).

The effect of the above section is, that a purchaser of the freehold of a dwelling-house is liable to a personal action at the suit of the waterworks company to recover arrears of water rate which accrued due before the date of the purchase (East London Waterworks Co. v. Kellerman, [1892] 2 Q. B. 72; 56 J. P. 773).

(d) Although primâ facie the tenant would be the person aggrieved, the landlord may also be "aggrieved" (Metropolitan Water Board v. Bibbey, ante, p. 1626). And see South West Suburban Water Co. v. Hardy (1913), 77 J. P. 283; 109 L. T. 169.

(e) This Act is amended in some important respects by the Markets and Fairs (Weighing of Cattle) Act, 1891, post, p. 1754. In particular its application is extended to auction marts.

(f) The provisions of the Markets and Fairs Clauses Act, 1847, here referred to, are the 10 & 11 Vict. c. 14, ss. 21—30. These provisions are incorporated with the P. H. A., 1875, by s. 167 of that Act, ante, p. 385, and are set out, ante, p. 1216.

and every such company, corporation, or person is in this Act called "the market authority" (b).

Interpretation.

3. In this Act the word "cattle" includes (c) ram, ewe, wether, lamb, and swine.

Accommodation for weighing cattle to be provided.

4. In or near (d) to every market or fair to which this Act applies, the market authority shall provide and maintain sufficient and proper buildings or places for weighing cattle brought for sale within the market or fair, and shall keep therein or near thereto weighing machines and weights for the purpose of weighing cattle, and shall appoint proper persons to have charge of such machines and weights, and to afford the use of such machines and weights to the public for weighing cattle as may be from time to time required.

The market authority shall have the accuracy of such weighing machines and weights tested at least twice every year by the local inspector of weights and measures of and for the county, borough, or place where the market is situate, and the cost of such testing shall be borne by such market authority.

If the market authority fail to comply with the provisions of this section, it shall not be lawful for them to demand, receive, or recover any toll whatever in respect of any cattle brought to the market or fair for sale so long as such failure continues, but this enactment shall not apply till after the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and eighty eight (e).

(b) This Act will, therefore, apply to local authorities which possess or have the control of markets, whether by virtue of the P. H. A. or otherwise, if their tolls include tolls for cattle, and such tolls are actually taken.

(c) See the observations on the word "includes," ante, p. 6, note (b). Its effect is to extend the meaning of the term with reference to which it is used, so that the word "cattle" in this Act will include not only the animals ordinarily described as "cattle," but also the animals enumerated in the section.

(d) Observe that the necessary accommodation need not be actually in the market. It may be near it, i.e., in some convenient place outside, but not far from the market.

(e) It will be necessary for every market authority to which this Act applies (see note (b), supra), to provide the weighing accommodation required by the Act, otherwise tolls for cattle cannot be demanded or taken until the Act is complied with.

The Markets and Fairs (Weighing of Cattle) Act, 1891, s. 2, post, p. 1754, provides that the market authority of every market or fair shall, unless exempted by Order of the Minister of Agriculture, provide and maintain to the satisfaction of the Minister sufficient and suitable accommodation for weighing cattle, and that default of so doing shall be deemed default in complying with the above section.

In December, 1887, the plaintiffs, as the market authority under the above section, took steps to provide a weighing machine for cattle upon a site in their market-place, which, according to the plaintiff's contention, consisted of two long and narrow strips in the market town separated by the highway. The defendants interfered, their contention being that the market-place was not distinct from the highway; and that the entire space upon which the markets were held was a public highway dedicated to the use of the public, subject only to the right of the owner of the soil for the time being, or her lessees, to hold markets thereon, and that the market-place, as a highway, was vested in them, the defendants, as an urban authority, under the P. H. A., 1875, and that the proposed weighing machine would be a public nuisance, and interfere with their rights in such highway, and with the public right of passage thereon: Held, that the above section was an imperative section, and the market authority was not only at liberty, but was bound, to provide a proper weighing machine for their market, which, according to the Act, must be a permanent structure, and not a movable machine:—Held, also, that the defendants were entirely wrong in their contention, and that they must, therefore, be restrained from interfering with the plaintiff (McIntosh v. Romford L. B. (1889), 61 L. T. 185; 5 T. L. R. 643).

A portion of a cattle market was let by the market authority to auctioneers for exclusive use by them as a saleyard, such portion consisting of a covered shed separated from the rest of the market. All animals sold in this yard had to pass through the market gates and to pay toll to the market authority. There were no facilities for weighing cattle in the yard, but a weigh-bridge was provided in the market at which cattle sold in the saleyard could be weighed. It was held that there being within the market facilities for weighing cattle, there were facilities for weighing cattle in or near to the auctioneer's mart to satisfy the requirements of s. 4 (Knott v. Stride (1913), 77 J. P. 222; 109 L. T. 181).

Any person who demands or receives any toll in respect of cattle in any market or fair to which for the time being this Act applies (f), but in which the market authority have not complied with the provisions of this Act, shall be liable on summary conviction (g) to a fine not exceeding five pounds.

Cattle to be weighed at option of seller or buyer.

5. Every person selling, offering for sale, or buying any cattle in a market or fair provided with accommodation for weighing cattle may require such cattle to be weighed, and the tolls payable in respect of the weighing shall be paid by the person requiring the cattle to be weighed to the person authorised by the market authority, to receive the tolls.

Penalty for refusal to weigh cattle or to give ticket, etc.

6. Every person appointed by the market authority to weigh cattle sold in the market or fair, who—

(a) refuses or neglects to weigh the same when required ; or

(b) refuses or neglects to deliver to the seller or buyer a ticket specifying the true weight of the cattle weighed ; or

(c) gives to any person a false ticket or account of any cattle weighed (h) ; shall be liable on summary conviction (g) to a fine not exceeding forty shillings and not less than half a crown.

Penalty for fraud.

7. Every person who knowingly acts or assists in committing any fraud respecting the weighing of any cattle weighed in pursuance of this Act, shall for every such offence be liable on summary conviction (g) to a fine not exceeding five pounds.

Tolls for weighing cattle.

8. The market authority may from time to time (unless otherwise expressly provided by any Act) demand and receive in respect of the weighing of cattle tolls not exceeding the amounts specified in the Schedule to this Act, or such other amounts as may be authorised by the Local Government Board (i) to be taken by the market authority ; and sections thirty-six to forty-one (both included) of the Markets and Fairs Clauses Act, 1847 (k), shall apply to the tolls mentioned in this section, as if this Act were the special Act, and the market authority were the undertakers.

10 & 11 Vict. c. 14.

Power to exempt certain markets and fairs from provisions of Act.

9.—(1) The market authority of any market or fair may at any time apply to the Local Government Board (l) to be exempted from the provisions of this Act on the ground that the sale of cattle at such market or fair is or is likely to be so small as to render it inexpedient to enforce the provisions and maintenance of a place for weighing cattle and of a weighing machine under this Act ; and thereupon the Local Government Board (l) may by Order declare that this Act shall not apply to such market or fair until after the expiration of a time not exceeding three years to be limited by such Order. Any Order made under this section may at any time be wholly or partially rescinded, altered, or extended by any subsequent Order of the Local Government Board (l).

(g) The effect of this provision is that the fine must be recovered pursuant to the S. J. Acts. See the S. J. A., 1879, s. 51 (1), which regulates the application of the S. J. Acts to future Acts. There are no restrictions on the recovery of this fine, and it may be recovered at the instance of a common informer. The informer will not, however, receive any part of the fine, which is payable to the treasurer of the county or borough, as the case may be, as an unappropriated penalty under the S. J. A., 1848, s. 31.

(h) No doubt the same person will be appointed to fulfil the duties imposed by this Act as is appointed to perform the similar duties imposed by the Markets and Fairs Clauses Act, 1847, s. 21, ante, p. 1216. The duty of such person will be to weigh any cattle brought to the market for sale at the request of either the buyer or the seller, and after weighing to deliver a ticket specifying the true weight of the cattle weighed.

(i) Now Minister of Health.

(k) See these sections, ante, p. 1219. They relate, inter alia, to the recovery of the tolls, and require a list of the tolls to be set up in conspicuous places.

(l) The L. G. B. has been superseded by the Minister of Health. The powers of the

(2) This Act shall not apply to any market or fair to which any Order under this section applies so long as it is declared by such Order that this Act shall not apply thereto (m).

THE MARGARINE ACT, 1887.

(50 & 51 VICT. c. 29.)

An Act for the better Prevention of the Fraudulent Sale of Margarine (n).
[23rd August 1887.]

Whereas it is expedient that further provision shall be made for protecting the public against the sale as butter of substances made in imitation of butter, as well as of butter mixed with any such substances:

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Margarine Act, 1887."

2. [Commencement of Act, January 1, 1888.]

Definition.

3. The word "butter" shall mean the substance usually known as butter, made exclusively from milk or cream, or both, with or without salt or other preservative, and with or without the addition of colouring matter.

The word "margarine" shall mean all substances, whether compounds or otherwise, prepared in imitation of butter, and whether mixed with butter or not, and no such substance shall be lawfully sold, except under the name of margarine, and under the conditions set forth in this Act (o).

L. G. B. were transferred to the Board (now Minister) of Agriculture and Fisheries (54 & 55 Vict. c. 70, s. 1, post, p. 1754; and see ss. 2, 4 of that Act as to exemptions by the Minister). Any applications for orders of exemptions should be accompanied by full particulars as to the nature and extent of the sales of cattle in the market, fair, or mart during the previous three years, and as to the amounts of toll levied (Circular Letter of the Board of Agriculture, dated November 25th, 1891).

(m) This section contains the only exception to the application of the Act to local authorities who have markets in which tolls are charged for the sale of cattle.

(n) This Act imposes important powers and duties on medical officers and inspectors of nuisances, and is really supplemental to the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts, 1875, ante, p. 1402, and 1879, ante, p. 1520. See also the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, and the Butter and Margarine Act, 1907, post, pp. 1854, 1960.

It was held that the definition of margarine contained in this section did not authorise the adulteration of margarine with water so as to preclude any conviction under s. 6 of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, for selling to the prejudice of the purchaser margarine not of the nature, substance, and quality demanded (Burton v. Mattinson (1902), 66 J. P. 628; 86 L. T. 770). It was held also that butter blended with milk so that it contains an excess of water did not become margarine within the meaning of this definition. Therefore a vendor of such milk-blended butter could not be convicted under s. 8 of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, for selling margarine containing more than 10 per cent. of butter fat, because the sale of butter blended with milk was lawful if sold as such (Bayley v. Pearks, Gunston and Tee, Limited (1902), 66 J. P. 790; 87 L. T. (N.S.) 67).

The definition of "margarine" as contained in this section has, however, now been superseded by that contained in s. 13 of the Butter and Margarine Act, 1907, post, p. 1964.

4. Every person dealing in margarine, whether wholesale or retail, whether a manufacturer, importer, or as consignor or consignee, or as commission agent or otherwise, who is found guilty of an offence under this Act, shall be liable on summary conviction for the first offence to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds, and for the second offence to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds, and for the third or any subsequent offence to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds (p). Penalty.

5. Where an employer is charged with an offence against this Act he shall be entitled, upon information duly laid by him, to have any other person whom he charges as the actual offender brought before the court at the time appointed for hearing the charge, and if, after the commission of the offence has been proved, the employer proves to the satisfaction of the court that he had used due diligence to enforce the execution of this Act, and that the said other person had committed the offence in question without his knowledge, consent, or connivance, the said other person shall be summarily convicted of such offence, and the employer shall be exempt from any penalty (q). Exemption from penalty.

6. Every person dealing in margarine in the manner described in the preceding section shall conform to the following regulations: Marking of cases.

Every package, whether open or closed, and containing margarine, shall be branded or durably marked "Margarine" on the top, bottom, and sides, in printed capital letters, not less than three-quarters of an inch square (r); which now provides that "(1) for the purposes of the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts and this Act the expression 'margarine' shall mean any article of food, whether mixed with butter or not, which resembles butter and is not milk-blended butter. (2) The above definition shall be substituted for the definition of margarine in the Margarine Act, 1887." This definition includes any substance prepared in imitation of butter although it contains no animal fat and was unknown when the Margarine Act, 1887, was passed (Wilkinson v. Alton (1908), 79 J. P. 252; 99 L. T. 119).

As to the sale of milk-blended butter, see s. 9 of the 1907 Act, post, p. 1963.

(p) This section applies to dealing in margarine-cheese. See preceding note.

As to proceedings, see s. 12, post, p. 1634. And as to punishment by imprisonment, see the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, s. 17 (2), post, p. 1862.

(q) This section is intended to protect a master who had, as in Brown v. Foot, ante, p. 1403, given direct instructions which are disobeyed.

Compare the Bread Act, 1836, s. 13; the Locomotives Act, 1898, s. 13, post, p. 1802, and the Factory and Workshop Act, 1901, s. 141, post, p. 1902. It is doubtful whether the other person, if convicted, can, in the absence of express enactment, as in the Factory and Workshop Act, 1901, s. 141, be ordered to pay costs.

By s. 11 (2) of the Butter and Margarine Act, 1907, post, p. 1964, this section is applied to proceedings under that Act with the substitution of references to that Act for references to the Margarine Act, 1887.

(r) The Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, s. 6, post, p. 1858, amends this section by providing that no other printed matter than the word "Margarine" shall appear "on" the paper wrapper, and it has been held that s. 6 of the Act of 1899 is not repealed by s. 8 of the Margarine and Butter Act, 1907, post, p. 1962, which permits margarine to be described "in" a wrapper by a name combining the word "Margarine" with a fancy or descriptive word approved by the Board (now Minister) of Agriculture and Fisheries (Williams v. Baker, [1911] 1 K. B. 566; 75 J. P. 89). The package, label or wrapper must not describe the contents by any name other than margarine or by a name combining the word "Margarine" with an approved fancy name. This enactment meets the cases of Tanner v. Dyball (1906), 70 J. P. 279; 94 L. T. 539; and Keeloma Dairy Co. v. Jones (1906), 70 J. P. 533; 22 T. L. R. 535. Thus, in Williams v. Baker, supra, it was held to be an offence, on a sale of a kind of margarine called by the approved name of "Karmo," to deliver it to the purchaser in a paper wrapper on which were the printed words "Karmo Margarine." In another case a retail dealer sold by retail a parcel of margarine in a cardboard case bearing on its outside an impression of a cabbage leaf, and the words "Green Leaf Margarine." The cardboard case was wrapped in thin transparent paper upon which was printed "Margarine." The words "Green Leaf Margarine" appeared through this wrapper. The wrapper was fastened at each end by a circular gummed label on which was printed "4*d.* per packet about ½ lb." It was held that the words "Green Leaf" appearing through the transparent wrapper might, and the words printed on the gummed label did constitute a breach of this section as amended by s. 6 of the Act of 1899 (Millard v. Allwood, [1912] 1 K. B. 590; 76 J. P. 139). A dealer and if such margarine be exposed for sale (s), by retail, there shall be attached to each parcel (t) thereof, so exposed, and in such manner as to be clearly visible to the purchaser, a label marked in printed capital letters not less than one-and-a-half inches square, "Margarine"; and every person selling margarine by retail, save in a package duly branded or durably marked as aforesaid, shall in every case deliver the same to the purchaser in a paper wrapper, on which shall be printed in capital letters "Margarine" (u).

Presumption against vendor.

7. Every person dealing with, selling, or exposing or offering for sale, or having in his possession for the purpose of sale, any quantity of margarine (v) contrary to the provisions of this Act (x), shall be liable to conviction for an offence against this Act (y), unless he shows to the satisfaction of the court before whom he is charged that he purchased the article in question as butter (z), and with a written warranty or invoice to that effect, that he had no reason to believe at the time when he sold it that the article was other than butter, and that he sold it in the same state as when he purchased it, and in such case he shall be discharged from the prosecution, but shall be liable to pay the costs incurred by the prosecutor unless he shall have given due notice to him that he will rely upon the above defence (a).

in margarine had in his shop at the back of his counter and in full view of customers several tubs open at the top containing margarine:—Held, that these tubs were packages within the meaning of this section, and that they should have been branded or durably marked as required by this section (McNair v. Horan (1904), 68 J. P. 518; 91 L. T. 555).

(s) The respondent kept margarine for sale in his shop, in a parcel which was not labelled, behind a screen and not in sight of customers. There was no evidence that this was done for the purpose of evading the Act:—Held, that the margarine was not exposed for sale within the meaning of the above section (Crane v. Lawrance (1890), 25 Q. B. D. 152; 54 J. P. 471). The meaning of the words "exposed for sale" is not limited to such an exposure as will enable purchasers to see the margarine itself. Margarine when wrapped in paper so as to be invisible to the purchaser may be exposed for sale within the meaning of the above section (Wheat v. Brown, [1891] 1 Q. B. 418; 56 J. P. 153).

(t) On the defendant's counter was a butt of margarine from which the lid had been removed, but which was branded on the lid bottom and side with the word "margarine." There was no label attached as required by the Act. Defendant's assistant on being asked for one pound of margarine by the prosecutor sliced away that quantity from the margarine in the butt and sold it to him:—Held, that the butt was a parcel and should have been duly labelled (Maguire v. Pater, [1905] 2 I. R. 147). Six separate pounds of margarine, each partially covered with paper, placed together in a shop window in the form of a pyramid, and touching each other, form one parcel within the meaning of this provision, and are sufficiently labelled by a single label placed at the base of the pyramid so as to extend across the whole bottom portion of the three lowest pieces (Parkinson v. McNair (1905), 69 J. P. 399; 93 L. T. 553).

(u) This section does not apply to the sale of margarine spread on bread, and sold in a refreshment-house as bread and butter (Moore v. Pearce's Dining and Refreshment Rooms, Ltd., [1895] 2 Q. B. 657; 59 J. P. 805). As to the sale of marked boxes in brown paper not marked, see Toler v. Bischop (1896), 60 J. P. 9; 65 L. J. M. C. 4).

The section applies to the sale of margarine-cheese (see the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, s. 5, post, p. 1858), and of milk-blended butter (see the Butter and Margarine Act, 1907, s. 9, post, p. 1963).

(v) This section applies to margarine-cheese, and for that purpose must be read with the substitution of "margarine-cheese" and "cheese" for "margarine" and "butter," and provided that all margarine cheese sold or dealt in otherwise than by retail shall either be enclosed in packages marked in accordance with the Margarine Act, 1887, as amended by this Act, or be itself conspicuously branded with the words "margarine-cheese." See the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, s. 5, post, p. 1858.

(a) This provision is similar to that contained in the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, s. 25, ante, p. 1417. The effect of the whole section is to throw on the defendant the burden of disproving intent and knowledge, not to make him liable irrespective of his state of mind (Fitzgerald v. Leonard (1891), 32 L. R. Ir. 675). As to its application to servants of the party purchasing with the warranty, see the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, s. 20 (4), post, p. 1864.

8. All margarine imported (b) into the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and all margarine whether imported or manufactured within the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, shall, whenever forwarded by any public conveyance, be duly consigned as margarine; and it shall be lawful for any officer of her majesty's Customs or Inland Revenue, or any medical officer of health, inspector of nuisances (c), or police constable, authorised under section thirteen of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875 (d), to procure samples for analysis if he shall have reason to believe that the provisions of this Act are infringed on this behalf, to examine and take samples from any package, and ascertain, if necessary by submitting the same to be analysed, whether an offence against this Act has been committed (e). Margarine imported or manufactured. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 63.

9. Every manufactory of margarine within the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland shall be registered by the owner or occupier thereof with the local authority (f) from time to time in such manner as the Local Government Boards of England and Ireland and the Secretary for Scotland respectively may direct, and every such owner or occupier carrying on such manufacture in a manufactory not duly registered shall be guilty of an offence under this Act (g). Registration of manufactory.

10. Any officer authorised to take samples under the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875 (h), may, without going through the form of purchase provided by that Act (i), but otherwise acting in all respects in accordance with the provisions of the said Act as to dealing with samples (h), take for the purposes of analysis samples of any butter, or substances purporting to be butter, which are exposed for sale, and are not marked Margarine, as provided by this Act; and any such substance not being marked shall be presumed to be exposed for sale as butter (l). Power to inspector to take samples without purchase.

11. Any part of any penalty recovered under this Act may, if the Court shall so direct, be paid to the person who proceeds for the same, to reimburse him for the legal costs of obtaining the analysis, and any other reasonable expenses to which the court shall consider him entitled (m). Appropriation of penalties.

(b) As to marking on importation, see the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, s. 1, post, p. 1854. This section now applies also to margarine-cheese. See the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, s. 5, post, p. 1858, and to milk-blended butter. See the Butter and Margarine Act, 1907, s. 9, post, p. 1963.

(c) By s. 12 of the Butter and Margarine Act, 1907, post, p. 1964, except in the administrative county of London, s. 8 of the Margarine Act, 1887, shall have effect as if the words "inspector of weights and measures" were inserted after the word "nuisances."

(d) See this section, ante, p. 1411.

(e) Observe that the power conferred by this section is not, like that given by the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, s. 13, confined to the procuring of samples; the officer may examine and take samples from any package. As to forwarding a portion of any sample taken to the consignor, see the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, s. 10, post, p. 1861.

(f) See the definition of a local authority in s. 13, post, p. 1634.

(g) See s. 4, ante, p. 1631. General Orders as to the registration of manufactories of margarine, dated February 26th, 1900, and December 28th, 1907, have been issued under this section by the L. G. B., and will be found in App. II. The L. G. B. of England has now been superseded by the Minister of Health.

This section has been extended to the premises of wholesale dealers in margarine or margarine-cheese by the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, s. 7 (4), post, p. 1859, and by s. 1 (1) of the Butter and Margarine Act, 1907, post, p. 1960, this section, as amended by s. 7 of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, has been applied to butter factories and places where milk-blended butter is manufactured or dealt in wholesale.

(h) The officers here referred to are those mentioned in the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, s. 13, ante, p. 1411. They include medical officers and inspectors of nuisances.

(i) In other words, the officers need not purchase; they may take samples.

(l) This section now applies also to margarine-cheese. See the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, s. 5, post, p. 1858.

(m) This section applies only as to private prosecutors. As to public prosecutors, see 38 & 39 Vict. c. 63, s. 26, ante, p. 1419. See R. v. Titterton, Ex parte Quelch, [1895] 2 Q. B. 61; 59 J. P. 327. This section and the following one are by s. 11 (2) of the Butter Proceedings.

12. All proceedings under this Act shall, save as expressly varied by this Act, be the same as prescribed by sections twelve to twenty-eight inclusive of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875 (n), and all officers employed under that Act are hereby empowered and required to carry out the provisions of that Act.

Definition of local authority.

13. The expression "local authority" shall mean any local authority authorised to appoint a public analyst under the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875 (o).

THE OPEN SPACES ACT, 1887.

(50 & 51 VICT. c. 32) (p).

An Act for extending certain Provisions of the Metropolitan Open Spaces Acts, 1877 and 1881, with Amendments, to Sanitary Districts throughout England, Wales, and Ireland; and for other purposes.

[23rd August 1887.]

Amendment of 47 & 48 Vict. c. 72.

4. In the Disused Burial Grounds Act, 1884 (q), and in this Act, the expression "burial ground" shall have the same meaning as in the Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, as amended by this Act, and the expression "disused burial ground" shall mean any burial ground which is no longer used for interments, whether or not such ground shall have been partially or wholly closed for burials under the provisions of any statute or Order in Council, and the expression "building" shall include any temporary or movable building.

and Margarine Act, 1907, post, p. 1964, applied to proceedings under that Act with the substitution of references to that Act for references to the Margarine Act, 1887.

(n) Ante, pp. 1410—1420. Consequently, the notification, division, and analysis required by ss. 20 and 21 of the Act of 1875, are conditions precedent to proceedings for an offence against this Act (Smart v. Watts, [1895] 1 Q. B. 219; 59 J. P. 54). When samples have been taken by inspectors under the Butter and Margarine Act, 1907, s. 2, the conditions of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, ss. 12—28, which require that a sample shall be divided, and a part left with the person from whom it was taken, and that a notice shall be given, need not be complied with in order that proceedings for a penalty may go on; nor in such a case does the time limit fixed by the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, s. 19, post, p. 1862, apply (Monro v. Central Creamery Co., [1912] 1 K. B. 578; 76 J. P. 131).

(p) This Act extended to urban and rural sanitary districts, the provisions of the Acts in force in the metropolis relating to open spaces, viz., 40 & 41 Vict. c. 35, and 44 & 45 Vict. c. 34, and this Act was extended by 53 & 54 Vict. c. 15. It is now, however, repealed, except so much of s. 4 as amends the Disused Burial Grounds Act, 1884, ante, p. 1618, by s. 23, and Schedule of the Open Spaces Act, 1906, which also wholly repeals 40 & 41 Vict. c. 35, and 44 & 45 Vict. c. 34, and 53 & 54 Vict. c. 15.

(q) Ante, p. 1618. See In re Ecclesiastical Commissioners and New City of London Brewery Co.'s Contract, [1895] 1 Ch. 702. The Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, as amended by this Act (now consolidated in the Open Spaces Act, 1906, post, p. 1947), defined "burial ground" as any ground whether consecrated or not which has been at any time set apart for the purposes of interment. As to the meaning of the words "set apart," see Re Ponsford and Newport School Board, [1894] 1 Ch. 454. If at the time land was so set apart there was in force an Order in Council prohibiting the opening of any new burial ground in the district so that it could never lawfully be used for the purposes for which it was set apart, such land was, nevertheless, a "disused burial ground" within this definition (Re Bosworth and Gravesend Corporation, [1905] 2 K. B. 426; 69 J. P. 337).

THE PUBLIC WORKS LOANS ACT, 1887.

(50 & 51 VICT. c. 37) (s).

An Act to grant money for the purpose of certain Local Loans; and for other purposes relating to Local Loans. [16th September 1887.]

4. Whereas under section seven of the Public Works Loans Act, 1882 (t), provision may be made for enabling any rating authority as therein defined to charge any fund or rate under their control for the purpose of aiding a public body in raising a loan for the construction of a harbour, pier, or other similar works, and it is expedient to extend the provisions of that section to certain other rating authorities: Be it therefore enacted that the expression "rating authority" as defined in that section shall include: Power for certain local authorities to guarantee harbour loans. 45 & 46 Vict. c. 62.

THE LOCAL AUTHORITIES (EXPENSES) ACT, 1887.

(50 & 51 VICT. c. 72.)

An Act to amend the Law relating to Expenses of Local Authorities. [16th September 1887.]

1. This Act may be cited as the Local Authorities (Expenses) Act, 1887. Short title.

2. In this Act— Definitions

The expression "local authority" has the same meaning as in the Local Loans Act, 1875 (u). 38 & 39 Vict. c. 83.

The expression "district auditor" has the same meaning as in the District Auditors Act, 1879 (x). 42 & 43 Vict. c. 6.

3. Expenses paid by any local authority whose accounts are subject to audit by a district auditor shall not be disallowed by that auditor if they have been sanctioned by the Local Government Board (y). Limitation on power of district auditor.

(s) A list of the other Public Works Loans Acts will be found, ante, p. 1435. The rest of this Act relates to the grant of moneys by Parliament for the year and to purely local matters. Italicised words repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1908.

(t) See this section, ante, p. 1591.

(u) See the definition of "local authority" in the Local Loans Act, 1875, s. 34, ante, p. 1432. The term includes sanitary authorities.

(y) The effect of this provision is to enable the M. of H. to sanction expenses which would otherwise be disallowed by the auditor, without waiting until disallowance and then remitting the surcharge on appeal.

Prior to the Borough Funds Act, 1903, an urban district council could not apply the district rate towards payment of the expenses of opposing a local Bill in Parliament not affecting their own duties, rights, or privileges, without first obtaining the consent of the ratepayers under s. 4 of the Borough Funds Act, 1872 (ante, p. 1392). It was held that the present section did not prevent the Court from intervening to restrain such unauthorised expenditure merely upon a suggestion that application would be made to

THE ELECTRIC LIGHTING ACT, 1888.

(51 & 52 VICT. c. 12) (z).

An Act to amend the Electric Lighting Act, 1882. [28th June 1888.]

Consent of local authority generally required to Provisional Order for supply of electricity.

1. Notwithstanding anything in the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, no Provisional Order (zz) authorising the supply of electricity by any undertakers within the district of any local authority shall be granted by the Board of Trade (zzz) except with the consent of such local authority, unless the Board of Trade (zzz), in any case in which the consent of such local authority is refused, are of opinion that, having regard to all the circumstances of the case, such consent ought to be dispensed with, and in such case they shall make a special report, stating the grounds upon which they have dispensed with such consent. The grant of authority to any undertakers to supply electricity within any area, whether granted by licence or by means of a Provisional Order, shall not in any way hinder or restrict the granting of a licence or Provisional Order to the local authority, or to any other company or person within the same area (a).

Repeal of 45 & 46 Vict c. 56, s. 27. Purchase of undertaking by local authority.

2. Section twenty-seven of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, is hereby repealed, and in lieu thereof the following provisions shall have effect; that is to say, (b)

Where any undertakers are authorised by a Provisional Order or a special the L. G. B. (Att.-Gen. v. Rickmansworth U. D. C. (1902), 66 J. P. 410; 86 L. T. 521). For a case in which an interim injunction was refused, see Att.-Gen. v. East Barnet Valley U. D. C. (1911), 75 J. P. 484, and the other cases cited therewith, ante, p. 547.

The precise intention of this Act will be explained by a quotation from the seventeenth report of the L. G. B. "We may here advert to the Local Authorities (Expenses) Act, 1887, which was passed with the object of diminishing the number of disallowances by the district auditors in the accounts of local authorities. . . . The power of sanction is intended to be used in those cases where the expenditure is incurred bonâ fide but in ignorance of the strict letter of the law, or inadvertently without the observance of requisite formalities, or under such circumstances as make it fair and equitable that the expenditure should not be disallowed by the auditor. . . . We do not regard the Act as intended to supply the want of legislative or other authority for particular expenditure, or classes of expenditure, and as justifying us in giving prospective sanction to recurring expenses." It is, however, presumably under this Act that the Board (now the M. of H.) sanction prospectively expenditure in celebrating such events as Coronations; see e.g., an Order and Circular of April 18th, 1911.

It will be observed that, though an expense may be sanctioned under this Act, it is not legalised.

(zz) Anything which could be effected by a Provisional Order may now be effected by a special Order or (in the case of a joint electricity authority) by an Order, and references in this Act to Provisional Orders now include references to such a special Order or Order except as regards paragraphs (1) to (4) of s. 4 of the Act of 1882 (see s. 26 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, post, p. 2227).

(zzz) Now the Ministry of Transport (see note (h) on p. 1565).

(a) The first part of this section amended s. 4 of the Act of 1882, which enabled the Board of Trade (now Minister of Transport) to authorise any local authority, company, or person to supply electricity within any area without requiring such consents as are required to the granting of a licence. These consents are enumerated in s. 3 of the Act of 1882, and included the consent of the local authority; but save as is provided by the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, q.v. p. 2227, post, the consent of the local authority will now be necessary in every case, unless dispensed with by the Minister of Transport for special reasons. As to the "local authority," see the Schedule to the Act of 1882, and s. 4 (5), post, p. 1639. The latter part of the section provides, in effect, that a licence or Provisional Order shall not confer a monopoly to supply electricity. Cf. Hull Electric Co. v. Ottawa Electric Co., [1902] A. C. 237, but see s. 23 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1909, post, p. 2007, prohibiting competition by unauthorised undertakers: and see now the provisions of the Electricity (Supply) Acts, 1919 and 1922, post, pp. 2227, 2303.

Act to supply electricity within any area, any local authority within whose jurisdiction such area or any part thereof is situated may, within six months after the expiration of a period of forty-two years (c), or such shorter period as is specified in that behalf in the Provisional Order or in the special Act, from the date of the passing of the Act confirming such Provisional Order, or of such special Act, and within six months after the expiration of every subsequent period of ten years (d), or such shorter period as is specified in that behalf in the Provisional Order or in the special Act, by notice in writing require such undertakers to sell, and thereupon such undertakers shall sell to them their undertaking, or so much of the same as is within such jurisdiction, upon terms of paying the then value of all lands, buildings, works, materials, and plant of such undertakers suitable to and used by them for the purposes of their undertaking within such jurisdiction, such value to be in case of difference determined by arbitration: Provided that the value of such lands, buildings, works, materials, and plant shall be deemed to be their fair market value at the time of the purchase, due regard being had to the nature and then condition of such buildings, works, materials, and plant, and to the state of repair thereof, and to the circumstance that they are in such a position as to be ready for immediate working (e), and to the suitability of the same to the purposes of the undertaking, and, where a part only of the undertaking is purchased, to any loss occasioned by severance; but without any addition in respect of compulsory purchase, or of goodwill, or of any profits which may or might have been or be made from the undertaking, or of any similar considerations (f). The Board of Trade (ff) may determine any other questions which may arise in relation to such purchase, and may fix the date from which such purchase is to take effect, and from and after the date so fixed, or such other date as may be agreed upon between the parties, all lands, buildings, works, materials, and plant so purchased as aforesaid shall vest in the local authority which has made the purchase, freed from any debts, mortgages, or similar obligations of such undertakers or attaching to the undertaking, and the powers of such undertakers in relation to the supply of electricity under this Act or such Provisional Order or special Act as aforesaid within such area or part thereof as aforesaid shall absolutely cease and determine, and shall vest in the local authority aforesaid (g).

(c) In the repealed section, this period was twenty-one years.

(d) In the repealed section, this period was seven years.

(e) These words from "and to the circumstance" are an addition to the words of the repealed section. See as to the principle of this addition the judgment of Lord Herschell in the analogous case of the purchase of a water supply undertaking in Stockton and Middlesbrough Water Board v. Kirkleatham L. B., [1893] A. C. 444, at pp. 449, 450; 57 J. P. 772. This case was distinguished in a colonial case, Perth Gas Co., Ltd. v. Perth Corporation, [1911] A. C., at p. 514.

A Provisional Order gave a corporation power to purchase compulsorily the undertaking of an electric lighting company, upon the terms of issuing to the company such an amount of corporation stock as would produce in dividends an annuity of 5 per cent. upon the capital properly expended by the company. By another Provisional Order the power of the corporation to issue irredeemable stock was taken away. The Acts confirming these Orders received the Royal Assent on the same day:—Held, that the stock to be issued to the company was irredeemable stock; that the corporation had no longer, even by implication, power to issue such stock; and that consequently their power of compulsory purchase could not

Power to vary terms of sale contained in last section.

3. Notwithstanding anything in the last preceding section contained, the Board of Trade (gg) may by any Provisional Order to be made by them under the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, if they think fit, vary the terms upon which any local authority may require the undertakers to sell, and upon which the undertakers shall be required to sell to such local authority their undertaking or so much of the same as is within the jurisdiction of such local authority under the said section, in such manner as may have been agreed upon between such local authority and the undertakers.

Restrictions as to placing of electric lines, etc.

4.—(1) Where in any case any electric line or other work may have been laid down or erected in, over, along, across, or under any street, for the purpose of supplying electricity, or may have been laid down or erected in any other position for such purpose in such a manner as not to be entirely enclosed within any building or buildings, or where any electric line or work so laid down or erected may be used for such purpose otherwise than under and subject to the provisions of a licence, order, or special Act, the Board of Trade (gg), if they think fit, may, by notice in writing under the hand of one of the secretaries or assistant secretaries of the Board of Trade (gg), to be served upon the body or person owning or using or entitled to use such electric line or work, require that such electric line or work shall be continued and used only in accordance with such conditions and subject to such regulations for the protection of the public safety and of the electric lines and works of the Postmaster-General (h), and of other electric lines and works lawfully placed in any position and used for telegraphic communication (i), as the Board of Trade (gg) may by or in pursuance of such notice prescribe, and in case of non-compliance with the said regulations, then the Board of Trade (gg) may require such body or person to remove such electric line or work: Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to any electric line or work laid down or erected by any body or person for the supply of electricity generated upon any premises occupied by such body or person to any other part of such premises (k).

(2) Where in any case any electric line or work is used for the supply of electricity in such a manner as to injuriously affect any telegraphic line of the Postmaster-General (h), or to affect the telegraphic communication through any such line, the Postmaster-General may, by notice to be served upon the body or person owning or using or entitled to use such electric line or work, require that such supply be continued only in accordance with such conditions and regulations for the protection of the telegraphic lines of the Postmaster-General and the telegraphic communication through the same as he may by or in pursuance of such notice prescribe, and in default of compliance with such conditions and regulations the Postmaster-General may require that the supply of electricity through such electric line or work shall be forthwith discontinued: Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to the supply of electricity through any electric line or work laid down or erected under and subject to the provisions of any licence, order, or special Act, or which may be used in accordance with any conditions or regulations

(k) This sub-section is limited in its application to wires laid down by any company or person without statutory authority. The Electricity Commission have made regulations under it, and these regulations follow the present Act in this Work. The wires to which this sub-section relates would, apparently, be subject to Part II. of the P. H. A., 1890, ante, p. 826.

prescribed by the Board of Trade (kk) by or in pursuance of any notice given by them under this section.

(3) If any body or person fails to comply with the requirements of any notice which may be served upon them or him under this section, such body or person shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds for every such offence, to be recovered summarily, and any court of summary jurisdiction, on complaint made, may make an order directing and authorising the removal of any electric line or work specified in such notice by such person and upon such terms as they may think fit.

(4) Any notice authorised to be served under this section upon any body or person may be served by the same being addressed to such body or person, and being left at or transmitted through the post to any office of such body or the usual or last known place of abode of such person; and any notice so served by post shall be deemed to have been served at the time when the letter containing the notice would be delivered in the usual course of post, and in proving such service it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter containing the notice was properly addressed and put into the post.

(5) In this section terms and expressions to which by the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, meanings are assigned shall have the same respective meanings, provided that the term "street" shall include any square, court, or alley, highway, lane, road, thoroughfare, or public passage or place whatever, and the expression "telegraphic line" shall have the meaning assigned to it by the Telegraph Act, 1878 (l). 45 & 46 Vict. c. 56. 41 & 42 Vict. c. 76.

(6) Nothing in this section shall apply to any electric line or work of the Postmaster-General, or to any other electric line or work used or to be used solely for telegraphic purposes, except by way of protection, as in this section provided.

5. This Act may be cited as the Electric Lighting Act, 1888; and the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, and this Act shall be read and construed together as one Act, and may be cited together for all purposes as the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 and 1888. Short title.

REGULATIONS PRESCRIBED BY THE ELECTRICITY COMMISSIONERS UNDER SECTION FOUR OF THE ELECTRIC LIGHTING ACT, 1888.

Regulations.

Definitions.

In the following regulations:

The expression "energy" means electrical energy, and for the purposes of the Electric Lighting Act, 1888, and these regulations, electrical energy shall be deemed to be an agency within the meaning of the word "electricity" as defined in the Electric Lighting Act, 1882.

The expression "owner" means any body or person owning or using or entitled to use any electric lines or works, upon whom notice has been served by the Electricity Commissioners requiring that such electric lines or works shall be continued and used only in accordance with these regulations.

The expression "consumer" means any body or person supplied with energy by the owner.

The expression "sub-station" means any premises in which energy is transformed or converted for the purpose of supply to consumers, and which are large enough to admit the entrance of a person after the transforming or converting apparatus is in position, provided that for the purpose of these regulations any place within any such premises which is used solely for some purpose other than such transformation or conversion shall not be deemed to form part of a sub-station.

(l) See the interpretation clauses in the Act of 1882, ss. 31, 32, ante, pp. 1579, 1580. The Telegraph Act, 1878, s. 2, defines a telegraphic line to mean telegraph posts, and any work (within the meaning of the Telegraph Act, 1863), and also any cables, apparatus, pneumatic or other tube, pipe, or thing whatsoever, used for the purpose of transmitting telegraphic messages or maintaining telegraphic communication, and includes any portion of a telegraphic line as defined by that Act. By s. 3 of the Telegraph Act, 1863, the term "work" includes telegraphs and posts.

The expression "overhead line" means any electric line which is placed above ground and in the open air.

The expression "service line" means an electric line through which energy may be supplied or intended to be supplied by the owner to any premises other than the premises where the energy is generated.

The expression "pressure" means the difference of electrical potential between any two conductors through which a supply of energy is given, or between any part of either conductor and the earth; and (a) where the conditions of the supply are such that the pressure at any pair of consumer's terminals does not exceed 250 volts, the supply shall be deemed a low pressure supply.

(b) Where the conditions of the supply are such that the pressure exceeds 250 volts but does not exceed 650 volts, the supply shall be deemed a medium pressure supply.

The expression "neutral point" means that point in a generating or transforming arrangement which is placed symmetrically with respect to the terminal points of the arrangement.

The expression "neutral wire" means a wire directly connected to a neutral point.

Other expressions to which meanings are assigned in the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 and 1888, have the same respective meanings in these regulations.

GENERAL.

Regulations not to imply power to interfere with streets.

(1) Nothing in these regulations shall be deemed to authorise the owner to break up or interfere with any street.

Pressure exceeding 250 volts.

(2) Where the pressure of the supply exceeds 250 volts, all wires, switches and metal work in connection with the supply shall be so enclosed or shall be fixed in such a manner that there shall be no risk of any shock being obtained by inadvertence or in the ordinary handling thereof.

Pressure exceeding 650 volts.

(3) Where the pressure of the supply exceeds 650 volts, the supply shall be subject to such further regulations as the Electricity Commissioners may make, or shall be given on such conditions as they may prescribe.

Insulation test.

(4) The insulation of every electric circuit (whether connected with earth in accordance with these regulations or not) including all machinery and apparatus, forming part of or in connection with that circuit, shall be so maintained that the leakage current shall not exceed one-thousandth part of the maximum current; and suitable means shall be provided for the indication and localisation of leakage. Every leakage shall be remedied without delay. Every such circuit shall be periodically tested for insulation.

Precautions against shock or fire.

(5) In the use or delivery of energy, the owner shall exercise all due precautions so as to avoid the risk of causing electric shock or fire, and shall be responsible for all electric lines, fittings and apparatus belonging to him, or under his control, being maintained in a safe condition.

Protection from lightning.

(6) Any electric line or any support therefor exposed to liability to injury from lightning, shall be efficiently protected against such liability.

Protection of mains.

(7) All mains below ground shall be so laid and protected as to avoid risk of damage by accumulation of gas or leakage of electric current.

Reports of accidents to Electricity Commissioners.

(8) Where any accident by explosion or fire, or any other accident of such kind as to have caused or to be likely to have caused loss of life or personal injury has occurred at any part of any electric line or other works, the owner shall give immediate notice thereof to the Electricity Commissioners.

Precautions against injurious affection by induction.

(9) Every reasonable means shall be employed in the placing and use of electric lines to prevent injurious affection, whether by induction or otherwise, to any electric lines or other works of the Postmaster-General or the telegraphic communication through any such lines.

Notice to Postmaster-General.

(10) (a) The owner on receipt of these regulations shall forthwith serve upon the Postmaster-General a statement containing full particulars of every electric line used for the supply of energy, together with a plan showing the mode and position in which such electric line is laid.

(b) The Postmaster-General, upon consideration of such statement and plan, may serve upon the owner a notice requiring such alteration in the position and mode of laying, or mode of use of such electric line, or compliance with such other conditions as he may think necessary for the due protection of his electric lines or other works, and any failure on the part of the owner to comply with such notice shall be deemed to be a failure to comply with the requirements of the notice of the Electricity Commissioners to which these regulations are annexed.

(c) Any notice required to be served upon the Postmaster-General under these regulations may be served by being addressed to him and left at or transmitted through the post to the General Post Office, London, and any notice required to be served on the owner may be served by being addressed to him and left at, or transmitted through the post to his office or last known place of address.

Overhead Lines for Low Pressure and Medium Pressure Continuous Current Supply and for Low Pressure Alternating Current Supply.

Minimum size of line.

(11) The sectional area of any overhead copper line shall not, except with the consent of the Electricity Commissioners, be less than that of No. 11½ standard wire gauge, corresponding to a weight of 200 pounds per mile.

Maximum intervals between supports.

(12) The interval between any two supports for an overhead line shall not exceed 200 feet, except with the consent of the Electricity Commissioners.

Factors of safety.

(13) Every support for an overhead line shall be of a durable material, and shall be properly stayed against forces due to wind pressure, change of direction, or unequal lengths of span. The factor of safety shall be for overhead lines at least 5, and for wooden poles at least 10, and for iron or steel structures at least 6, taking the maximum possible wind pressure at 25 pounds per square foot. No addition need be made for a possible accumulation of snow.

Attachment of overhead lines.

(14) All overhead lines shall be attached to insulators, and shall be so guarded that they cannot fall away from the support.

Height from ground, etc.

(15) An overhead line shall not in any part thereof be at a less height from the ground than 22 feet, except with the consent of the Electricity Commissioners, and shall not be accessible to any person without the use of a ladder or other special appliance.

Earthed conductors.

(16) Where alternating current at a pressure exceeding 125 volts between any two conductors is used, the middle point of the winding of the transformer on the consumer's side in the case of single-phase supply, or the neutral point in the case of two or three phase supply shall be connected with earth.

Earthed conductors.

(17) Where a medium pressure continuous current supply or where alternating current supply at a pressure exceeding 125 volts between any conductor and earth is used, one conductor consisting of one or two continuous earthed neutral wires shall be carried from pole to pole. The other conductor or conductors shall be arranged in such a manner that in the event of breakage of one of them, it must make contact with the earthed conductor or with wires connected thereto.

Service lines from overhead lines.

(18) Service lines from overhead lines shall be led as directly as possible to insulators firmly attached to some portion of the consumer's premises which is not accessible to any person without the use of a ladder or other special appliance. Every portion of any service line which is outside a building, and is accessible therefrom, shall be efficiently protected by insulating material.

Angle of crossing thoroughfares.

(19) Where an overhead line crosses a street, the angle between the line and the direction of the street at the place of crossing shall not be less than 60 degrees, except with the consent of the Electricity Commissioners, and the spans shall be as short as possible.

Lines crossing metallic substance.

(20) Where an overhead line crosses, or is in proximity to, any other wire or metal, precautions shall be taken by the owner against contact between a conductor which is not connected with earth and any other wire or metal by breakage or otherwise.

Maintenance.

(21) Every overhead line, including its supports and all the structural parts and electrical appliances and devices belonging to or connected with the line, shall be duly and efficiently supervised and maintained as regards both electrical and mechanical conditions.

Disused overhead lines to be removed.

(22) The owner shall remove any overhead line upon ceasing to use it for the supply of energy, unless upon so ceasing he satisfies the Electricity Commissioners that he intends to bring it into use again within a reasonable time.

Overhead lines for other pressures.

(23) Overhead lines for pressures exceeding medium pressure continuous current or low pressure alternating current shall be subject to such further regulations as the Electricity Commissioners may make or such conditions as they may prescribe.

Sub-Stations and Transformers.

Sub-stations and transformers.

(24) Sub-stations shall be established in suitable places and shall be in the sole occupation and charge of the owner and subject to any requirements of the Home Office. Where transformers are used in any other premises (not being sub-stations as defined for the purposes of these regulations) they shall be so guarded and protected as to avoid the risk of causing electric shock.

CONNECTION OF CONTINUOUS CURRENT CIRCUITS WITH EARTH.

Connection of continuous current circuits with earth.

(25) Where the pressure of a supply between the adjacent conductors of a three-wire continuous current system of mains exceeds 125 volts, the intermediate conductor shall be connected with earth, in accordance with the following conditions :

(a) The connection with earth of the intermediate conductor shall be made at one point only on each distinct circuit, namely, at the generating station or sub-station, and the insulation of the circuit shall be efficiently maintained at all other parts.

(b) The current from the intermediate conductor to earth shall be continuously recorded, and if it at any time exceed one-thousandth part of the maximum supply current, steps shall be immediately taken to improve the insulation of the system.

CONNECTION OF ALTERNATING CURRENT CIRCUITS WITH EARTH.

Connection of alternating current circuits with earth.

(26) Alternating current circuits shall be connected with earth in accordance with the following conditions :—

I.—General.

(a) The connection with earth shall be made only where energy is delivered to each circuit, that is to say, at a generating station, sub-station or transformer, and shall, wherever practicable, be made at a neutral point in the circuit and in such a manner as will ensure at all times an immediate and safe discharge of energy.

(b) The connection with earth shall be efficiently maintained, except when it is interrupted by means of a switch or link for the purpose of periodical tests for ascertaining whether any current is passing by means of the connection with earth.

(c) The insulation of the mains shall be efficiently maintained at all other parts.

(d) Tests shall be periodically made to ascertain whether any current is passing by means of the connection with earth, and if at any time the current so passing exceeds one-thousandth part of the maximum supply current of the circuit, steps shall be immediately taken to improve the insulation.

II.—Special.

Separate or three- or four-core mains used for alternating current where the pressure between any two conductors exceeds 125 volts.

The connection with earth shall be made in the case of (a) A single phase supply, at the neutral point on the winding of the transformer;

(b) A two-phase three-wire supply by means of the third wire;

(c) A two-phase four-wire supply at the neutral point on the winding;

(d) A three-phase three-wire or four-wire supply at the neutral point on the star-winding.

CONNECTION OF CONCENTRIC MAINS WITH EARTH.

Connection of concentric mains with earth.

(27) Concentric mains used either for continuous or for alternating current shall be connected with earth by means of the external conductor in accordance with the following conditions :—

(a) The connection with earth shall be made by means of the external conductor.

(b) The connection with earth shall be made only at the point or points where energy is given to each distinct circuit, namely, at a generating station, sub-station, or transformer.

(c) The insulation of the external conductor shall be efficiently maintained at all other parts.

(d) The external conductor shall form a complete metal sheathing round the inner conductor.

(e) The connection with earth shall be efficiently maintained except when it is interrupted by means of a switch or link for the purpose of periodical tests for ascertaining whether any current is passing by means of the connection with earth.

(f) Tests shall be periodically made to ascertain whether any current is passing by means of the connection with earth, and if at any time the current passing by means of the connection with earth exceeds one-thousandth part of the maximum supply current of the circuit, steps shall be immediately taken to improve the insulation.

Nothing in these regulations shall be deemed to be in substitution for regulations made under the Factory and Workshop Act, 1901; the Coal Mines Regulation Act, 1887; and the Metalliferous Mines Regulation Act, 1872.

N.B.—These regulations are prescribed subject to the power of the Electricity Commissioners to prescribe such further or other regulations as they may think expedient.

THE GLEBE LANDS ACT, 1888.

(51 & 52 VICT. c. 20) (m).

An Act to facilitate the sale of Glebe Lands. [7th August 1888.]

1. This Act may be cited as the Glebe Lands Act, 1888. This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland. Short title and extent.

* * * * * *

8.—(1) For the purpose of facilitating the acquisition of land by cottagers, labourers, and others, it shall be the duty of the Land Commissioners (n) in giving their approval of a sale under this Act (o), either to require as a condition thereof that the land or some part thereof shall be offered for sale in small parcels, or to the sanitary authority of a sanitary district for the purposes of the Allotments Act, 1887, or to satisfy themselves that such offer is not practicable without diminishing the price which can be obtained for the glebe land on a sale (p). Supplemental provisions as to sale. 50 & 51 Vict. c. 48.

(2) Before approving of a sale under this Act of glebe land of any benefice, the Land Commissioners (n) shall require such notice of the proposed sale to be given as they think sufficient to give information thereof to the parishioners (q).

(3) The approval of the Land Commissioners (r) of a sale under this Act may be signified in the prescribed manner, and shall be conclusive evidence that the requirements of this Act with respect to the sale have been complied with.

(4) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the provisions of the Settled Land Act, 1882, with respect to the sale of land by a tenant for life shall, so far as circumstances admit, apply to a sale under this Act by an incumbent in like manner as if he were the tenant for life of the land, and accordingly he shall have the like power with respect to contracts as a tenant for life under that Act, and may do all things necessary and proper for carrying into effect a sale under this Act. 45 & 46 Vict. c. 38.

THE RAILWAY AND CANAL TRAFFIC ACT, 1888.

(51 & 52 VICT. c. 25) (s).

An Act for the better regulation of Railway and Canal Traffic, and for other purposes. [10th August 1888.]

1. This Act may be cited as the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1888. This Act shall be construed as one with the Regulation of Railways Act, Short title and construction. 36 & 37 Vict. c. 48.

(m) This Act is included in the present Work only by reason of the provision in s. 8 relating to the sale of some of the land to which it applies to sanitary authorities for the purpose of allotments.

(n) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a), ante, p. 1455.

(o) This refers to a sale of glebe land under the Act.

(p) See Sale of Glebe Land Rules, 1897, rr. 5, 7, and Stat. R. & O., 1897, p. 9.

(r) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See note (a), ante, p. 1455.

(s) This Act confers certain powers of making complaints upon sanitary authorities. See ss. 7, 16, 29, 31, 45 (1), (7). Only such parts of the Act as bear directly upon such complaints have been here inserted. The Act has been extended by the Railway and 1873, and the Acts amending it; and those Acts and this Act may be cited together as the Railway and Canal Traffic Acts, 1873 and 1888.

PART I.

COURT AND PROCEDURE OF RAILWAY AND CANAL COMMISSIONERS.

Establishment of Railway and Canal Commission.

* * * * * *

Provision for complaints by public authority in certain cases.

7.—(1) Any of the following authorities, that is to say—

(a) any of the following local authorities, namely, any harbour board, or conservancy authority, the Common Council of the City of London, any council of a city or borough, any representative county body which may be created by an Act passed in the present or any future session of Parliament, any justices in quarter sessions assembled, the Commissioners of Supply of any county in Scotland, the Metropolitan Board of Works (t) or any urban sanitary authority not being a council as aforesaid, or any rural sanitary authority (u); or may make to the Commissioners any complaint which the Commissioners have jurisdiction to determine (v), and may do so without proof that such authority is aggrieved by the matter complained of, and any of such authorities may appear in opposition to any complaint which the Commissioners have jurisdiction to determine in any case where such authority, or the persons represented by them, appear to the Commissioners to be likely to be affected by any determination of the Commissioners upon such complaint.

Jurisdiction.

Jurisdiction of railway commissioners transferred to the commission.

8. There shall be transferred to and vested in the Commissioners all the jurisdiction and powers which at the commencement of this Act were vested in, or capable of being exercised by the Railway Commissioners, whether under the Regulation of Railways Act, 1873, or any other Act, or otherwise, and any reference to the Railway Commissioners in the Regulation of Railways Act, 1873, or in any other Act (w), or in any document, shall, from and after the commencement of this Act (x), be construed to refer to the Railway and Canal Commission established by this Act.

Jurisdiction of Commissioners under special Acts. 17 & 18 Vict. c. 31.

9. Where any enactment in a special Act—

(a) contains provisions relating to traffic facilities, undue preference, or other matters mentioned in section two of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1854 (y), or

(b) requires a company to which this Part of this Act applies to provide any station, road, or other similar work for public accommodation, or

Canal Traffic Act, 1894. And see also the powers given to local authorities by the Railways Act, 1921. By that Act the jurisdiction of the Railway and Canal Commissioners in respect of certain matters connected with railway rates has been transferred to the Railway Rates Tribunal. See s. 78 of the Act of 1921, which makes provision for applications by public authorities in certain cases.

(u) For an example of a complaint by a local authority, see Maidstone Town Council v. S. E. Rail. Co. and L. C. & D. Rail. Co. (1891), 7 Rail. C. 99. See also West Sussex C. C. v L. B. & S. C. Rail. Co., Times, February 24th, 1892.

(v) As to the complaints which the Commissioners have power to determine, see s. 8 and succeeding section, especially s. 9, and ss. 1 and 4 of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1894. See also Darlaston L. B. v. L. & N. W. Rail. Co., [1894] 2 Q. B. 694; overruling Winsford L. B. v. Cheshire Lines Committee (1890), 24 Q. B. D. 456. See also s. 54, post, p. 1658, as to the costs of local authorities.

(c) otherwise imposes on a company to which this Part of this Act applies any obligation in favour of the public or any individual, or where any Act contains provisions relating to private branch railways or private sidings, the Commissioners shall have the like jurisdiction to hear and determine a complaint of a contravention of the enactment as the Commissioners have to hear and determine a complaint of a contravention of section two of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1854, as amended by subsequent Acts.

Jurisdiction over tolls and rates.

10. Where any question or dispute arises, involving the legality of any toll, rate, or charge, or portion of a toll, rate, or charge, charged or sought to be charged for merchandise traffic by a company to which this Part of this Act applies, the Commissioners shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine the same, and to enforce payment of such toll, rate, or charge, or so much thereof as the Commissioners decide to be legal (yy).

Jurisdiction to order traffic facilities, notwithstanding agreements.

11. Nothing in any agreement, whether made before or after the passing of this Act, which has not been confirmed by Act or by the Board of Trade, or by the Commissioners under the Regulation of Railways Acts, 1873, or this Act, shall render a company to which this Part of this Act applies unable to afford, or shall authorise such company to refuse, such reasonable facilities for traffic as may in the opinion of the Commissioners be required in the interests of the public, or shall prevent the Commissioners from making or enforcing any order with respect to such facilities.

Power to award damages.

12. Where the Commissioners have jurisdiction to hear and determine any matter, they may, in addition to or in substitution for any other relief, award to any complaining party who is aggrieved such damages as they find him to have sustained; and such award of damages shall be in complete satisfaction of any claim for damages, including repayment of overcharges, which, but for this Act, such party would have had by reason of the matter of complaint:

Provided that such damages shall not be awarded unless complaint has been made to the Commissioners within one year from the discovery by the party aggrieved of the matter complained of.

The Commissioners may ascertain the amount of such damages either by trial before themselves, or by directing an inquiry to be taken before one or more of themselves or before some officer of their court.

No damages where rates published under certain conditions.

13. In cases of complaint of undue preference no damages shall be awarded if the Commissioners shall find that the rates complained of have, for the period during which such rates have been in operation, been duly published in the rate books of the railway company kept at their stations in accordance with section fourteen of the Regulation of Railways Act, 1873, as amended by this Act (z), unless and until the party complaining shall have given written notice to the railway company requiring them to abstain from or remedy the matter of complaint, and the railway company shall have failed, within a reasonable time, to comply with such requirements in such a manner as the Commissioners shall think reasonable.

* * * * * *

Power to apportion expenses between railway company and applicants for works.

16.—(1) Where the Board of Trade (zz) or the Commissioners, in the exercise of any power given by any general or special Act, on application order a company to which this Part of this Act applies, to provide a bridge, (yy) See as to the jurisdiction of the commissioners under this section, Ward v. Midland Rail. Co. (1916), 33 T. L. R. 4, affirmed, [1917] 2 K. B, 278, 33 T. L. R. 283.

(z) Section 34 of this Act amends s. 14 of the Act of 1873 as to the place of publication of rates in respect of traffic at places other than stations. Section 14 of the Regulation of Railways Act, 1873, is extended by s. 3 of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1894.

(zz) The powers of the Board of Trade are now vested in the Ministry of Transport (Ministry of Transport Act, 1919).

subway, or approach, or any work of a similar character, the Board of Trade (a) or the Commissioners, as the case may be, may require as a condition of making the order that an agreement to pay the whole or a portion of the expenses of complying with the order shall be entered into by the applicants or some of them, or such other persons as the Board of Trade (a) or Commissioners think fit, and any of the following local authorities, namely, any sanitary authority (b), highway board, surveyor of highways acting with the consent of the vestry of his parish, or any other authority having power to levy rates, shall have power, if such authority think fit, to enter into any such agreement as is sanctioned by the Board of Trade (a) or Commissioners for the purpose of the order.

(2) In such case any question respecting the persons by whom or the proportions in which the expenses of complying with the order are to be defrayed may, on the application of any party to the application, or on a certificate of the Board of Trade (a), be determined by the Commissioners.

(3) In this section the expression "parish" shall have the same meaning as the same expression has in the Acts relating to highways; and the expression "the consent of the vestry of his parish" shall, in any place where there is no vestry meeting, mean the consent of a meeting of inhabitants contributing to the highway rates, provided that the same notice shall have been given of such a meeting as would be required by law for the assembling of a meeting in vestry.

Appeals.

Appeals on certain questions to superior court of appeal.

17.—(1) No appeal shall lie from the Commissioners upon a question of fact (bb), or upon any question regarding the locus standi of a complainant.

(2) Save as otherwise provided by this Act, an appeal shall lie from the Commissioners to a superior court of appeal.

(3) An appeal shall not be brought except in conformity with such rules of court as may from time to time be made in relation to such appeals by the authority having power to make rules of court for the superior court of appeal (c).

(4) On the hearing of an appeal the court of appeal may draw all such inferences as are not inconsistent with the facts expressly found, and are necessary for determining the question of law, and shall have all such powers for that purpose as if the appeal were an appeal from a judgment of a superior court, and may make any order which the Commissioners could have made, and also any such further or other order as may be just, and the costs of and incidental to an appeal shall be in the discretion of the court of appeal, but no Commissioner shall be liable to any costs by reason or in respect of any appeal.

(5) The decision of the superior court of appeal shall be final: Provided that where there has been a difference of opinion between any two of such superior courts of appeal, and superior court of appeal in which a matter affected by such difference of opinion is pending may give leave to appeal to the House of Lords, on such terms as to costs as such court shall determine.

(6) Save as provided by this Act, an order or proceeding of the Commissioners shall not be questioned or reviewed, and shall not be restrained or removed by prohibition, injunction, certiorari, or otherwise, either at the instance of the Crown or otherwise.

Supplemental.

General powers and enforcement of orders.

18.—(1) For the purposes of this Act the Commissioners shall have full jurisdiction to hear and determine all matters whether of law or of fact, and shall as respects the attendance and examination of witnesses, the production and inspection of documents, the enforcement of their orders, the entry on and inspection of property, and other matters necessary or proper for the due exercise of their jurisdiction under this Act, or otherwise for carrying this Act into effect, have all such powers, rights, and privileges as are vested in a superior court: Provided that no person shall be punished for contempt of court, except with the consent of an ex-officio Commissioner.

(2) The Commissioners may review and rescind or vary any order made by them; but, save as is by this Act provided, every decision or order of the Commissioners shall be final.

Costs.

19. The costs of and incidental to every proceeding before the Commissioners shall be in the discretion of the Commissioners, who may order by whom and to whom the same are to be paid, and by whom the same are to be taxed and allowed (d).

Power to make rules.

20.—(1) The Commissioners may from time to time, with the approval of the Lord Chancellor and the President of the Board of Trade, make, rescind, and vary general rules for their procedure and practice under this Act, and generally for carrying into effect this Part of this Act.

(2) All rules made under this section shall be laid before Parliament within three weeks after they are made, if Parliament is then sitting, and if Parliament is not then sitting within three weeks after the beginning of the then next session of Parliament, and shall be judicially noticed, and shall have effect as if they were enacted by this Act (e).

* * * * * *

Company to which Part I. applies.

23. This Part of this Act shall apply to any railway company, and to any canal company, and to any railway and canal company.

PART II.

Traffic (ee).

Revised classification of traffic and schedule of rates.

24.—(1) Notwithstanding any provision in any general or special Act, every railway company shall submit to the Board of Trade a revised classification of merchandise traffic, and a revised schedule of maximum rates and charges applicable thereto, proposed to be charged by such railway company, and shall fully state in such classification and schedule the nature and amounts of all terminal charges proposed to be authorised in respect of each class of traffic, and the circumstances under which such terminal charges are proposed to be made. In the determination of the terminal charges of any railway company regard shall be had only to the expenditure reasonably necessary to provide the accommodation in respect of which such charges are made, irrespective of the outlay which may have been actually incurred by the railway company in providing that accommodation.

(2) The classification and schedule shall be submitted within six months from the passing of this Act, or such further time as the Board of Trade may, in any particular case, permit, and shall be published in such manner as the Board of Trade may direct (f).

(3) The Board of Trade shall consider the classification and schedule, and any objections thereto, which may be lodged with them on or before the prescribed time, and in the prescribed manner, and shall communicate with the railway company and the persons (if any) who have lodged objections, for the purpose of arranging the differences which may have arisen.

(4) If, after hearing all parties whom the Board of Trade consider to be entitled to be heard before them respecting the classification and schedule, the Board of Trade come to an agreement with the railway company as to the classification and schedule, they shall embody the agreed classification and schedule in a Provisional Order, and shall make a report thereon, to be submitted to Parliament, containing such observations as they think fit in relation to the agreed classification and schedule.

(5) When any agreed classification and schedule have been embodied in a Provisional Order, the Board of Trade, as soon as they conveniently can after the making of the Provisional Order (of which the railway company shall be deemed to be the promoters), shall procure a Bill to be introduced into either House of Parliament for an Act to confirm the Provisional Order, which shall be set out at length in the schedule to the Bill.

(6) In any case in which a railway company fails within the time mentioned in this section to submit a classification and schedule to the Board of Trade, and also in every case in which a railway company has submitted to the Board of Trade a classification and schedule, and after hearing all parties whom the Board of Trade consider to be entitled to be heard before them, the Board of Trade are unable to come to an agreement with the railway company as to the railway company's classification and schedule, the Board of Trade shall determine the classification of traffic which, in the opinion of the Board of Trade, ought to be adopted by the railway company, and the schedule of maximum rates and charges, including all terminal charges proposed to be authorised applicable to such classification which would, in the opinion of the Board of Trade, be just and reasonable, and shall make a report, to be submitted to Parliament, containing such observations as they may think fit in relation to the said classification and schedule, and calling attention to the points therein on which differences which have arisen have not been arranged.

(7) After the commencement of the session of Parliament next after that in which the said report of the Board of Trade (f) has been submitted to Parliament, the railway company may apply to the Board of Trade (f) to submit to Parliament the question of the classification and schedule which ought to be adopted by the railway company, and the Board of Trade (f) shall on such application, and in any case may embody in a Provisional Order such classification and schedule as in the opinion of the Board of Trade (f) ought to be adopted by the railway company, and procure a Bill to be introduced into either House of Parliament for an Act to confirm the Provisional Order, which shall be set out at length in the schedule to the Bill.

(8) If, while any Bill to confirm a Provisional Order made by the Board of Trade (f) under this section is pending in either House of Parliament, a petition is presented against the Bill or any classification and schedule comprised therein, the Bill, so far as it relates to the matter petitioned against, shall be referred to a select committee, or if the two Houses of Parliament think fit so to order, to a joint committee of such Houses, and the (f) Under s. 35 the Board of Trade had power to make rules as to the submission and publication of such classification and schedule, and made rules accordingly. See Parl. Papers, 1888 (402), as to railways, and (436) as to canals. The Board of Trade has now, as regards railways, been superseded by the Ministry of Transport.

petitioner shall be allowed to appear and oppose as in the case of a private Bill (g).

(9) In preparing, revising, and settling the classifications and schedules of rates and charges, the Board of Trade (h) may consult and employ such skilled persons as they may deem necessary or desirable; and they may pay to such persons such remuneration as they may think fit and as the Treasury may approve.

(10) The Act of Parliament confirming any Provisional Order made under this section shall be a public general Act, and the rates and charges mentioned in a Provisional Order as confirmed by such Act shall, from and after the Act coming into operation, be the rates and charges which the railway company shall be entitled to charge and make.

(11) At any time after the confirmation of any Provisional Order under this section any railway company may, and any person, upon giving not less than twenty-one days notice to the railway company may, apply in the prescribed manner to the Board of Trade (h) to amend any classification and schedule by adding thereto any articles, matters, or things, and the Board of Trade (h) may hear and determine such application, and classify and deal with the articles, matters, or things referred to therein in such manner as the Board of Trade (h) shall think right (hh). Every determination of the Board of Trade (h) under this sub-section shall forthwith be published in the London Gazette, and shall take effect as from the date of the publication thereof.

(12) Nothing in this section shall apply to any remuneration payable by the Postmaster-General to any railway company for the conveyance of mails, letter bags, or parcels under any general or special Act relating to the conveyance of mails, or under the Post Office (Parcels) Act, 1882. 45 & 46 Vict. c. 74.

(13) Nothing in this section shall apply to any remuneration payable by the Secretary of State for War to any railway company for the conveyance of War Office stores under the powers conferred by the Cheap Trains Act, 1883. 46 & 47 Vict c. 34.

Provisions as in through traffic.

25. (i) Whereas by section two of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1854, it is enacted that every railway company and canal company, and railway and canal company shall, according to their respective powers, afford all reasonable facilities (k) for the receiving and forwarding and delivering of traffic upon and from the several railways and canals belonging to or worked by such companies respectively, and for the return of carriages, trucks, boats, and other vehicles; and that no such company shall make or give any undue or unreasonable preference or advantage to or in favour of any particular person or company, or any particular

(g) The Railway and Canal Traffic (Provisional Order) Amendment Act, 1891, post, p. 1747, provides that every governing body within the meaning of the Borough Funds Act, 1872, ante, p. 1390, and every county council shall be entitled to be a petitioner, and to appear and oppose any Provisional Order made under this section, and to provide or contribute towards providing the expenses of the appearance out of rates under their control, as if the Bill were a local or personal Bill within the meaning of the Borough Funds Act, 1872. The Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1892, post, p. 1761, provides that a Provisional Order may be made, and a Bill to confirm it may be introduced at any time after hearing the parties as provided in sub-s. (4).

Peel dissenting) that the provision of water-closets at railway stations for the use of passengers, free of charge, was not a reasonable facility for forwarding traffic which could be ordered by the Railway and Canal Commissioners under s. 2 of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act. But cloak-rooms are reasonable facilities (Singer Manufacturing Co. v. L. & S. W. Rail. Co., [1894] 1 Q. B. 833).

description of traffic, in any respect whatsoever, or shall subject any particular person or company, or any particular description of traffic, to any undue or unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage in any respect whatsoever; and that every railway company and canal company and railway and canal company having or working railways or canals which form part of a continuous line of railway, or canal or railway, and canal communication (l), or which have the terminus station or wharf of the one near the terminus station or wharf of the other, shall afford all due and reasonable facilities for receiving and forwarding by one of such railways or canals all the traffic arriving by the other, without any unreasonable delay, and without any such preference or advantage or prejudice or disadvantage as aforesaid, and so that no obstruction may be offered to the public desirous of using such railways or canals or railways and canals as a continuous line of communication, and so that all reasonable accommodation may by means of the railways and canals of the several companies be at all times afforded to the public in that behalf:

And whereas it is expedient to explain and amend the said enactment:

Be it therefore enacted, that—

Subject as hereinafter mentioned, the said facilities to be so afforded are hereby declared to and shall include the due and reasonable receiving, forwarding, and delivering by every railway company and canal company and railway and canal company, at the request of any other such company, of through traffic to and from the railway or canal of any other such company at through rates, tolls, or fares (in this Act referred to as through rates) (m); and also the due and reasonable receiving, forwarding, and delivering by every railway company and canal company and railway and canal company, at the request of any person interested in through traffic, of such traffic at through rates: Provided that no application shall be made to the Commissioners by such person until he has made a complaint to the Board of Trade (mm) under the provisions of this Act as to complaints to the Board of Trade (mm) of unreasonable charges, and the Board of Trade (mm) have heard the complaint in the manner herein provided.

Provided as follows:

(1) The company or person requiring the traffic to be forwarded shall give written notice of the proposed through rate to each forwarding company, stating both its amount and the route by which the traffic is proposed to be forwarded; and when a company gives such notice it shall also state the apportionment of the through rate. The proposed through rate may be per truck or per ton:

(2) Each forwarding company shall, within ten days, or such longer period as the Commissioners may from time to time by general order prescribe, after the receipt of such notice, by written notice inform the company or persons requiring the traffic to be forwarded, whether they agree to the rate and route; and if they object to either, the grounds of the objection:

(3) If at the expiration of the prescribed period no such objection has been sent by any forwarding company, the rate shall come into operation at such expiration:

(4) If an objection to the rate or route has been sent within the prescribed period, the matter shall be referred to the Commissioners for their decision:

(5) If an objection be made to the granting of the rate or to the route, the Commissioners shall consider whether the granting of a rate is a due and reasonable facility in the interest of the public, and whether, having regard to the circumstances, the route proposed is a reasonable route, and shall allow or refuse the rate accordingly, or fix such other rate as may seem to the Commissioners just and reasonable (n):

(6) Where, upon the application of a person requiring traffic to be forwarded, a through rate is agreed to by the forwarding companies, or is made by order of the Commissioners, the apportionment of such through rate, if not agreed upon between the forwarding companies, shall be determined by the Commissioners (o):

(7) If the objection be only to the apportionment of the rate, the rate shall come into operation at the expiration of the prescribed period, but the decision of the Commissioners, as to its apportionment, shall be retrospective; in any other case the operation of the rate shall be suspended until the decision is given:

(8) The Commissioners, in apportioning the through rate, shall take into consideration all the circumstances of the case, including any special expense incurred in respect of the construction, maintenance, or working of the route, or any part of the route, as well as any special charges which any company may have been entitled to make in respect thereof:

(9) It shall not be lawful for the Commissioners in any case to compel any company to accept lower mileage rates than the mileage rates which such company may for the time being legally be charging for like traffic carried by a like mode of transit on any other line of communication between the same points, being the points of departure and arrival of the through route (oo).

Where a railway company or canal company use, maintain, or work, or are party to an arrangement for using, maintaining, or working steam vessels for the purpose of carrying on a communication between any towns or ports, the provisions of this section shall extend to such steam vessels, and to the traffic carried thereby.

When any company, upon written notice being given as aforesaid, refuses or neglects without reason to agree to the proposed through rates, or to the (n) The applicants asked the court to allow a through rate of 1*s.* 2*d.* per ton for slack from certain collieries to their works to be forwarded in quantities of not less than 600 tons per week. The mean distance from the collieries to the works by the route proposed was twenty-four miles, while the route by which the traffic was in fact sent was thirty-four miles, and the rate charged by either route was the same, namely, 1*s.* 11*d.* per ton. It was held that in the absence of evidence to show that the proposed rate would afford any benefit to the public, the application must be refused (Brunner, Mond & Co., Ltd. v. Cheshire Lines Committee and L. & N. W. Rail. Co. (1909), 25 T. L. R. 618). See also on this sub-section L. & Y. Rail. Co. v. Hull and Barnsley Rail. Co., 15 Ry. & Can. Traffic Cas. 59.

(o) Where there is an agreed through rate for through traffic over the lines of two railway companies and an agreed apportionment between the two companies which has not been cancelled, the Commissioners have no jurisdiction to make a fresh apportionment of that agreed rate, or of one of the same amount at the instance of one of the companies; the duty and power of apportionment being incidental only to the fixing of reasonable facilities for the conveyance of through traffic from one point to another (Manchester Ship Canal Co. v. L. & N. W. Rail. Co., [1911] 1 K. B. 657). As to through land and sea rates, see Great Southern & Western Ry. v. City of Cork Steam Packet Co., 15 Ry. & Can. Traffic Cas. 67.

route, or to the apportionment, the Commissioners, if an order is made by them upon an application for through rates, may order the respondent company or companies to pay such costs to the applicants as they think fit.

Powers of Commissioners as to through rates.

26. Subject to the provisions in the last preceding section contained, the Commissioners shall have full power to decide that any proposed through rate is just and reasonable, notwithstanding that a less amount may be allotted to any forwarding company out of such through rate than the maximum rate such company is entitled to charge, and to allow and apportion such through rate accordingly (ooo).

Undue preference in case of unequal tolls, rates, and charges, and unequal services performed.

27.—(1) Whenever it is shown that any railway company charge one trader or class of traders, or the traders in any district, lower tolls, rates, or charges for the same or similar merchandise, or lower tolls, rates, or charges for the same or similar services, than they charge to other traders, or classes of traders, or to the traders in another district, or make any difference in treatment in respect of any such trader or traders, the burden of proving that such lower charge or difference in treatment does not amount to an undue preference shall lie on the railway company (p).

(2) In deciding whether a lower charge or difference in treatment does or does not amount to an undue preference, the court having jurisdiction in the matter, or the Commissioners, as the case may be, may, so far as they think reasonable, in addition to any other considerations affecting the case, take into consideration whether such lower charge or difference in treatment is necessary for the purpose of securing in the interests of the public the traffic in respect of which it is made, and whether the inequality cannot be removed without unduly reducing the rates charged to the complainant: Provided that no railway company shall make, nor shall the court, or the Commissioners, sanction any difference in the tolls, rates or charges made for, or any difference in the treatment of, home and foreign merchandise, in respect of the same or similar services (q).

(3) The court or the Commissioners shall have power to direct that no higher charge shall be made to any person for services in respect of merchandise carried over a less distance than is made to any other person for similar services in respect of the like description and quantity of merchandise carried over a greater distance on the same line of railway.

Extension of enactments as to undue preference to goods carried by sea.

28. The provisions of section two of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1854, and of section fourteen of the Regulation of Railways Act, 1873, and any enactments amending and extending those enactments, shall apply to traffic by sea in any vessels belonging to or chartered or worked by any railway company, or in which any railway company procures merchandise to be carried, in the same manner and to the like extent as they apply to the land traffic of a railway company.

Group rates to be chargeable by railway companies.

29.—(1) (qq) Notwithstanding any provision in any general or special Act (r), it shall be lawful for any railway company, for the purpose of fixing the rates to be charged for the carriage of merchandise to and from any place

(ooo) See as to through rates, s. 28 of the Railways Act, 1921.

(p) The effect of this section is not to limit the court in dealing with questions of alleged undue preference to the consideration whether or not the lower charge is necessary in the interests of the public (Liverpool Corn Trade Association v. L. and N. W. Rail. Co., [1891] 1 Q. B. 120. And see Lever Brothers, Ltd. v. Midland Rail. Co. (1909), 25 T. L. R. 491, 768; Holwell Iron Co., Ltd. v. Midland Rail. Co., 1910 1 K. B. 296). on their railway, to group together any number of places in the same district, situated at various distances from any point of destination or departure of merchandise, and to charge a uniform rate or uniform rates of carriage for merchandise to and from all places comprised in the group from and to any point of destination or departure.

(2) Provided that the distances shall not be unreasonable, and that the group rates charged and the places grouped together shall not be such as to create an undue preference (s).

(3) Where any group rate exists or is proposed, and in any case where there is a doubt whether any rates charged or proposed to be charged by a railway company may not be a contravention of section two of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1854, and any Acts amending the same, the railway company may, upon giving notice in the prescribed manner, apply to the Commissioners, and the Commissioners may, after hearing the parties interested and any of the authorities mentioned in section seven of this Act, determine whether such group rate or any rate charged or proposed to be charged as aforesaid does or does not create an undue preference. Any persons aggrieved, and any of the authorities mentioned in section seven of this Act (t), may, at any time after the making of any order under this section, apply to the Commissioners to vary or rescind the order, and the Commissioners, after hearing all parties who are interested, may make an order accordingly.

Power to dock companies and harbour boards to complain of undue preference.

30. Any port or harbour authority or dock company which shall have reason to believe that any railway company is by its rates or otherwise placing their port, harbour, or dock, at an undue disadvantage as compared with any other port, harbour, or dock to or from which traffic is or may be carried by means of the lines of the said railway company, either alone or in conjunction with those of other railway companies, may make complaint thereof to the commissioners, who shall have the like jurisdiction to hear and determine the subject-matter of such complaint as they have to hear and determine a complaint of a contravention of section two of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1854, as amended by subsequent Acts.

Complaints to Board of Trade of unreasonable charges by railway companies.

31.—(1) Whenever any person receiving or sending or desiring to send goods by any railway is of opinion that the railway company is charging him an unfair or an unreasonable rate of charge, or is in any other respect treating him in an oppressive or unreasonable manner, such person may complain to the Board of Trade.

(2) The Board of Trade, if they think there is reasonable ground for the complaint, may thereupon call upon the railway company for an explanation, and endeavour to settle amicably the differences between the complainant and the railway company.

(3) For the purpose aforesaid, the Board of Trade may appoint either one of their own officers or any other competent person to communicate with the complainant and the railway company, and to receive and consider such explanations and communications as may be made in reference to the complaint; and the Board of Trade may pay to such last-mentioned person such remuneration as they may think fit, and as may be approved by the Treasury.

(4) The Board of Trade shall from time to time submit to Parliament reports of the complaints made to them under the provisions of this section, and the results of the proceedings taken in relation to such complaints, together with such observations thereon as the Board of Trade shall think fit.

(5) A complaint under this section may be made to the Board of Trade by any of the authorities mentioned in section seven of the Act (u), in any case in which, in the opinion of any of such authorities, they or any traders or persons in their district are being charged unfair or unreasonable rates by a railway company; and all the provisions of this section shall apply to a complaint so made as if the same had been made by a person entitled to make a complaint under this section.

PART III.

CANALS.

Part II. to extend to canal companies.

36. All the provisions of Part II. of this Act relating to any railway company shall, so far as applicable, apply to every canal company, and to every railway and canal company; and in Part II. of this Act, unless the context otherwise requires, the expression "railway company" shall include a canal company and a railway and canal company, and the expression "railway" shall include a canal, and the expression "rate" shall include tolls and dues of every description chargeable for the use of any canal or by any canal company.

Application of 36 & 37 Vict. c. 48, to canals.

37.—(1) Section fifteen of the Regulation of Railways Act, 1873, shall apply to the terminal charges of a canal company.

(2) The Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1854, as amended by the Regulation of Railways Act, 1873, shall extend to any person whose consent is required to any variation of the rates, tolls, or dues charged for the use of any canal, or by any canal company, in like manner as if such person were a canal company, and the expressions "canal company" and "railway and canal company" in the said Acts and this Act shall be construed accordingly to include such person.

(3) The provisions of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1854, and the Regulation of Railways Act, 1873, with respect to rates, shall apply to tolls and dues of every description chargeable for the use of any canal or by any canal company. And nothing in any agreement, whether made before or after the passing of this Act, and whether confirmed by Act of Parliament or not, and nothing in this Act shall prevent the Commissioners from making or enforcing any order for a through rate or toll which may in their opinion be required in the interest of the public.

(4) Any company allowing traffic to pass from a canal on to any other canal or any railway, or from a railway on to a canal, shall be deemed to be a forwarding company, and the allowing of traffic so to pass shall be deemed to be the forwarding of traffic within the meaning of the above-mentioned Acts.

(5) The provisions of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1854, and of the Regulation of Railways Act, 1873, and of this Act, with respect to through rates, shall extend to any canals which, in connection with any river or other waterway, form part of a continuous line of water communication, notwithstanding that tolls may not be leviable by authority of Parliament upon such river or other waterway.

Powers of Commissioners over canals, tolls, rates, and charges where

38. Where a railway company, or the directors or officers of a railway company, or any of them or any persons on their behalf, have the control over, or the right to interfere in or concerning the traffic conveyed, or the tolls, rates, or charges levied on the traffic of or for the conveyance of merchandise on a canal, or any part of a canal, and it is proved to the satisfaction of the Commissioners that the tolls, rates, or charges levied on the traffic of or for the conveyance of merchandise on the canal are such as are calculated to divert the traffic from the canal to the railway, to the detriment of the canal or person sending traffic over the canal or other canals adjacent to it— a railway company or its officers own or control the traffic of a canal.

(1) The Commissioners may, on the application of any person interested in the traffic of the canal, make an order requiring the tolls, rates, and charges levied on the traffic of or for the conveyance of merchandise on the canal, to be altered and adjusted in such a manner that the same shall be reasonable as compared with the rates and charges for the conveyance of merchandise on the railway:

(2) If within such time as may be prescribed by the order of the Commissioners, the tolls, rates, and charges levied on the traffic of or for the conveyance of merchandise on the canal are not altered and adjusted as required by such order, the Commissioners may themselves by an order make such alterations in and adjustment of the tolls, rates, and charges levied on the traffic of or for the conveyance of merchandise on the canal as they shall think just and reasonable, and the tolls, rates, and charges as altered and adjusted by the order of the Commissioners shall be binding on the company or persons owning or having the control over the traffic of, or the tolls, rates, and charges levied on the traffic of, or for the conveyance of merchandise on the canal.

(3) No application shall be made to the Commissioners under this section until the Board of Trade (uu) have certified that the applicant is a fit person to make the application, and that the application is a proper one to be submitted for the adjudication of the Commissioners; and no order shall be made by the Commissioners under this section unless notice of the application has been served upon such company and persons, and in such manner as the Board of Trade (uu) may direct:

(4) The Commissioners may at any time, upon the application of any company or person affected by any order made under this section, and after notice to and hearing such companies and persons as the Commissioners may by any general rules or special order prescribe, rescind or vary any order made under this section.

* * * * * *

40.—(1) Every canal company shall, before such date as the Board of Trade (v) may prescribe, forward to the Board of Trade true copies, certified in such manner as the Board of Trade direct, of any byelaws or regulations of such company which are in force at the commencement of this Act; and the byelaws of any canal company, copies of which are not forwarded to the Board of Trade as provided by this section, shall from and after the said date cease to have any operation, save in so far as any penalty may have been already incurred under the same (vv). Byelaws of canal companies.

(2) A byelaw or regulation of any canal company hereafter to be made under any power which has before or at the time of the passing of this Act (v) been, or which may hereafter be, conferred on any canal company, shall not have any force or effect until two months after a true copy of such byelaw or regulation, certified in such manner as the Board of Trade direct, has been forwarded to the Board of Trade, unless the Board of Trade before the expiration of such period have signified their appropriation thereof.

(3) The Board of Trade may, at any time after any existing or future byelaws or regulations of a canal company have been forwarded to them, notify to the company their disallowance thereof, or of any of them, and in case such byelaws or regulations are in force at the time of the disallowance, the time at which the said byelaws or regulations shall cease to be in force. A byelaw or regulation disallowed by the Board of Trade shall not after such disallowance have any force or effect whatever, save (as regards any byelaw or regulation which may be in force at the time of the disallowance thereof) in so far as any penalty may have been then already incurred under the same.

(4) The Board of Trade may from time to time make, rescind, and vary such regulations as they think fit with respect to the publication by canal companies of their byelaws and regulations, and with respect to the publication by canal companies of their intention to apply to the Board of Trade for the allowance of any intended byelaws and regulations. Any regulations so made which are for the time being in force, shall have effect as if they had been enacted in this Act.

Canal companies may agree for through tolls, etc.

43.—(1) Any canal company may make and enter into contracts and arrangements with any other canal company or canal companies for the passage over and along their respective canals, or any of them, of boats, barges, vessels, and other through traffic, and, for the use by such traffic, of the wharves, landing places, and other works of any such canal, upon payment of such through tolls, rates, and charges, and subject to such conditions and restrictions as may be agreed upon between such companies; and for the collection and recovery by any one of the companies on behalf of themselves and the other companies interested of the tolls, rates, and charges payable in respect of such through traffic; and for the division and apportionment of the tolls, rates, and charges; and any such contract may contain provisions for the erection and maintenance of or otherwise for providing warehouses, offices, and other buildings and conveniences, and any other provisions for the purpose of carrying into effect any such arrangement, and any company may apply their funds or moneys for the same purpose.

(2) Notwithstanding any enactments providing for the charge of equal tolls, rates, and charges, such through tolls, rates, and charges as above mentioned may respectively be computed at a lower toll or rate per mile than the tolls, rates, or charges charged for the passage over land along the same canals of like traffic, not being through traffic, without necessitating on occasioning any reduction of the last-mentioned tolls, rates, or charges.

(3) Any like contracts and arrangements existing at the passing of this Act shall be, and from the respective dates of the making thereof shall be deemed to have been, as valid as if the same had been made after the commencement of this Act.

Abandonment of canal.

45.—(1) Where, on the application of a canal company, it appears to the Board of Trade (x) that any canal or part of a canal belonging to the applicants (hereinafter referred to as an unnecessary canal) is at the time of making the application unnecessary for the purposes of public navigation, or where, on the application of any local authority (xx), or of three or more owners of lands adjoining or near to any canal or part of a canal, it appears to the Board of Trade that that canal or part of a canal (hereinafter referred to as a derelict canal) has for at least three years previously to the making of the application been disused for navigation, or, by reason of the default of the proprietors thereof, has become unfit for navigation, or that the lands adjoining or near thereto have suffered injury by water that has escaped from the derelict canal, and that the proprietors of the derelict canal decline or are unable to effect the repairs necessary to prevent further injury, the Board of Trade may by warrant signed by their secretary authorise the abandonment by the existing proprietors of such unnecessary canal or such derelict canal, and after the granting of the warrant, and the due publication as required by the Board of Trade of a notice of the granting thereof, the Board of Trade may make an order releasing the canal company or other the proprietors of the unnecessary or derelict canal from all liability to maintain the same canal, and from all statutory and other obligations in respect thereof, or of or consequent on the abandonment thereof.

(2) In the case of an unnecessary canal no warrant of abandonment shall be granted unless the Board of Trade are satisfied—

(a) That it is unnecessary for the purposes of public navigation;

(b) That the application has been expressly authorised by a resolution of a majority of the shareholders of the canal company owning the canal present and voting at an extraordinary or special general meeting of that company;

(c) That such public and other notices of the application have been given as the Board of Trade may require;

(d) That compensation (the amount thereof to be determined in case of difference as the Board of Trade may prescribe) has been made to all persons entitled to compensation by reason of the proposed abandonment of the canal.

(3) In the case of a derelict canal the warrant may be granted on the condition that the canal or any part thereof, with all or any of the powers relating thereto, be transferred to any person, body of persons, or local authority, and where any such condition is imposed the Board of Trade may, if they think fit, frame and embody in a Provisional Order a scheme for the management of the canal or any part thereof.

(4) The Provisional Order may provide for the constitution of a body to manage the canal or any part thereof, for the transfer to that body or any local authority of the canal or any part thereof, and of all or any of the powers relating thereto, for the limitation or discharge of any liabilities affecting the canal or the owners thereof for the time being, and for any other matters which may appear to the Board of Trade to be necessary or proper for carrying this section into effect.

(5) The Board of Trade may submit to Parliament for confirmation any Provisional Order made by it in pursuance of this section, but any such Order shall be of no force unless and until it is confirmed by Act of Parliament.

(6) If while the Bill confirming any such Order is pending in either House of Parliament, a petition is presented against any Order comprised therein, the Bill, so far as it relates to the Order, may be referred to a select committee, and the petitioner shall be allowed to appear and oppose as in the case of private Bills.

(7) In this section the expression "local authority" means any one of the local authorities mentioned in section seven of this Act (y).

(8) For the purpose of giving effect to the provisions of this section, the Board of Trade may require the applicants to furnish any evidence in their possession or under their control relative to the application, and may at the expense of the applicants appoint and send an officer to inspect the canal referred to in the application, and to obtain information and evidence in the neighbourhood thereof relative to the proposed abandonment, and may from time to time make regulations as to the mode of making applications, and the nature and mode of publication of notices, and generally as to the conduct of proceedings.

Definition of "canal company."

46. In this Part of this Act the expression "canal company" shall include a "railway and canal company," so far as relating to any canal of any such last-mentioned company.

PART IV.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Evidence on rating appeals.

48. On any rating appeal (z), and before any court, where it may be material to show the receipts or profits of a railway company or canal company, or railway and canal company, it shall be lawful for the company to prove the same by written statements or returns verified by the affidavit or statutory declaration of the manager or other responsible officer, and any such statements or returns shall be primâ facie evidence of the facts therein stated with respect to such receipts or profits : Provided that the person by whom any such affidavit or statutory declaration is made shall in every case, if required, attend to be cross-examined thereon.

Saving of powers conferred on Commissioners and Board of Trade.

52. The powers and jurisdiction conferred by this Act on the Commissioners or Board of Trade shall be in addition to and not in substitution for any powers and jurisdiction vested in the Commissioners or Board of Trade by any statute.

Proceedings of Board of Trade.

53.—(1) All documents purporting to be rules, orders, or certificates made or issued by the Board of Trade (zz), and to be sealed with the seal of the Board, or to be signed by a secretary or assistant secretary of the Board, or any person authorised in that behalf by the President of the Board, shall be received in evidence, and deemed to be such orders, rules, or certificates without further proof, unless the contrary is shown.

(2) A certificate signed by the President of the Board of Trade that any order made, certificate issued, or act done, is the order, certificate, or act of, the Board of Trade, shall be conclusive evidence of the fact so certified.

Expenses of local authorities.

54.—(1) Where any local authority having power under this Act to make or oppose any complaint to the Commissioners, or the Board of Trade, or to enter into any agreement to pay the whole or a portion of the expenses of complying with an order of the Commissioners or the Board of Trade, or to make any application for the abandonment or acquisition of a canal under this Act, incur any expenses in or incidental to such complaint, opposition, agreement, or application, such expenses may be defrayed out of the rates or funds out of which the expenses incurred by such authority in the execution of their ordinary duties are defrayed, and if such authority is a rural sanitary authority in England, shall be defrayed as general expenses.

(zz) The Board of Trade has now been superseded by the Ministry of Transport (M. of T. Act, 1919).

unless the Local Government Board direct that they shall be defrayed as special expenses (a).

(2) A local authority may enter into any contract involving the payment by themselves and their successors of any expenses authorised by this section to be defrayed.

(3) Where any such local authority have no power to borrow money for the purpose of defraying any expenses authorised by this section, such authority, if other than a surveyor of highways, may, with the consent of the Board of Trade in the case of any harbour board or conservancy authority, and with the consent of the Local Government Board in the case of any other authority, borrow money in manner provided by the Local Loans Act, 1875 (b), on the security of the rates or funds out of which the expenses are authorised to be defrayed, and the prescribed period for the loan shall be such period as the board giving such consent may approve. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 83.

(4) On the request of any board whose consent is required for such loan, the Board of Trade or Commissioners shall certify such particulars respecting the amount of the said expenses and the propriety of incurring the same and of borrowing for the payment thereof as may be requested by such board (c).

THE MORTMAIN AND CHARITABLE USES ACT, 1888.

(51 & 52 VICT. c. 42) (e).

An Act to consolidate and amend the Law relating to Mortmain and to the disposition of Land for Charitable Uses. [13th August 1888.]

PART I.

MORTMAIN.

Forfeiture on unlawful assurance or acquisition in mortmain.

1.—(1) Land shall not be assured to or for the benefit of, or acquired by or on behalf of, any corporation in mortmain, otherwise than under the authority of a licence from her Majesty the Queen, or of a statute for the time being in force (f), and if any land is so assured otherwise than as aforesaid the land shall be forfeited to her Majesty from the date of the assurance, and her Majesty may enter on and hold the land accordingly:

(2) Provided as follows:

(i) If the land is held directly of a mesne lord under her Majesty, that mesne lord may enter on and hold the land at any time within twelve months from the date of the assurance:

(ii) If the land is held of more than one mesne lord in gradation under her Majesty, the superior of those mesne lords may enter on and hold the land at any time within six months after the time at which the right of the inferior lord to enter on the land expires:

(iii) If a mesne lord is at the time when his right of entry accrues under this Act a lunatic or otherwise under incapacity, his right of entry may be exercised by his guardian or the committee of his estate, or by such person as her Majesty's High Court of Justice may appoint in that behalf:

(iv) If the right of entry under this Act is exercised by or on behalf of a mesne lord, the land shall be forfeited to that lord from the date of the assurance instead of to her Majesty.

Power to her Majesty to grant licences in mortmain.

2. It shall be lawful for her Majesty the Queen, if and when and in such form as she thinks fit, to grant to any person or corporation a licence to assure in mortmain land in perpetuity or otherwise, and to grant to any corporation a licence to acquire land in mortmain and to hold the land in perpetuity or otherwise.

(e) The P. H. A., 1875, s. 7, ante, p. 39, provided that local boards and improvement commissioners may hold lands without licence in mortmain for the purposes of that Act. And by s. 85 (5) of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 995, the change of name of an urban sanitary authority shall not affect their identity as a corporate body or derogate from their powers. By s. 24 (7) of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 932, every district council for a rural district may hold land for the purposes of their powers and duties without licence in mortmain. And by s. 7 of the Commons Act, 1899, post, p. 1840, any district council may acquire and hold property in a common regulated by scheme under that Act, without such licence. As to the powers of the corporation of a borough, see the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, s. 107, and Truro Corporation v. Rowe, [1902] 2 K. B. 708; 66 J. P. 821. The powers of a sanitary authority to hold lands for purposes other than those mentioned in these statutes depend upon this statute as amended by the Working Classes Dwellings Act, 1890, the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1891, and the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act Amendment Act, 1892, post, pp. 1680, 1756, 1758.

(f) See note (e), supra.

3. No entry or holding by or forfeiture to her Majesty under this Part of this Act, shall merge or extinguish, or otherwise affect, any rent or service which may be due in respect of any land to her Majesty or any other lord thereof. Saving for rents and services.

PART II.

Charitable Uses.

4.—(1) Subject to the savings and exceptions contained in this Act, every assurance of land, to or for the benefit of any charitable uses and every assurance of personal estate to be laid out in the purchase of land, to or for the benefit of any charitable uses, shall be made in accordance with the requirements of this Act, and unless so made shall be void (g). Conditions under which assurances may be made to charitable uses.

(2) The assurance must be made to take effect in possession for the charitable uses to or for the benefit of which it is made immediately from the making thereof.

(3) The assurance must, except as provided by this section, be without any power of revocation, reservation, condition, or provision for the benefit of the assuror or of any person claiming under him.

(4) Provided that the assurance, or any instrument forming part of the same transaction, may contain all or any of the following provisions, so, however, that they reserve the same benefits to persons claiming under the assuror as to the assuror himself; namely,

(i) The grant or reservation of a peppercorn or other nominal rent;

(ii) The grant or reservation of mines or minerals;

(iii) The grant or reservation of any easement;

(iv) Covenants or provisions as to the erection, repair, position, or description of buildings, the formation or repair of streets or roads, drainage or nuisances, and covenants or provisions of the like nature for the use and enjoyment as well of the land comprised in the assurance as of any other adjacent or neighbouring land;

(v) A right of entry on non-payment of any such rent or on breach of any such covenant or provision;

(vi) Any stipulations of the like nature for the benefit of the assuror or of any person claiming under him.

(5) If the assurance is made in good faith on a sale for full and valuable consideration, that consideration may consist wholly or partly of a rent, rent-charge, or other annual payment reserved or made payable to the vendor, or any other person, with or without a right of re-entry for non-payment thereof.

(6) If the assurance is of land, not being land of copyhold or customary tenure, or is of personal estate, not being stock in the public funds, it must be made by deed executed in the presence of at least two witnesses.

(7) If the assurance is of land, or of personal estate, not being stock in the public funds, then, unless it is made in good faith for full and valuable consideration, it must be made at least twelve months before the death of the assuror, including in those twelve months the day of the making of the assurance and of the death.

(8) If the assurance is of stock in the public funds, then, unless it is made in good faith for full and valuable consideration, it must be made by transfer thereof in the public books kept for the transfer of stock at least six months before the death of the assuror, including in those six months the days of the transfer and of the death.

(g) A domiciled Victorian, who died in June, 1891, bequeathed £10,000 to the mayor and corporation of the city of Canterbury, in England, for the purpose of their buying a suitable piece of land and erecting thereon a free library. Under the law of Victoria the corporation were able lawfully to expend the money as directed by the testator:—Held, that the English Mortmain Act, 1888, only applied in so far as that the assurance of the land must be in accordance with the provisions of the Act, and that the bequest was valid (Canterbury Corporation v. Wyburn, [1895] A. C. 89).

(9) If the assurance is of land, or of personal estate other than stock in the public funds, it must, within six months after the execution thereof, be enrolled in the central office of the Supreme Court of Judicature, unless in the case of an assurance of land to or for the benefit of charitable uses those uses are declared by a separate instrument, in which case that separate instrument must be so enrolled within six months after the making of the assurance of the land (h).

Power to remedy omission to enrol within requisite time.

5.—(1) Where an instrument, the enrolment whereof is required under this part of this Act for the validation of an assurance, is not duly enrolled within the requisite time, her Majesty's High Court of Justice, or the officer having control over the enrolment of deeds in the central office, may, on application in such manner and on payment of such fee as may be prescribed by rules of the Supreme Court, and on being satisfied that the omission to enrol the instrument in proper time has arisen from ignorance or inadvertence, or through the destruction or loss of the instrument by time or accident, and that the assurance was of a nature to be validated under this section, order or cause the instrument to be enrolled.

(2) Thereupon, if the assurance to be validated was made in good faith and for full and valuable consideration, and was made to take effect in possession immediately from the making thereof without any power of revocation, reservation, condition, or provision, except such as is authorised by this Act, and if at the time of the application possession or enjoyment was held under the assurance, then enrolment in pursuance of this section shall have the same effect as if it had been made within the requisite time.

(3) Provided that if at the time of the application any proceeding for setting aside the assurance, or for asserting any right founded on the invalidity of the assurance, is pending, or any decree or judgment founded on such invalidity has been then obtained, the enrolment under this section shall not give any validity to the assurance.

(4) Where the instrument omitted to be enrolled in proper time has been destroyed or lost by time or accident and the trusts thereof sufficiently appear by a copy or abstract thereof or some subsequent instrument, such copy, abstract, or subsequent instrument may be enrolled under this section in like manner and with the like effect as if it were the instrument so destroyed or lost.

(5) An application under this section may be made by any trustee, governor, director, or manager of, or other person entitled to act in the management of or otherwise interested in, any charity or charitable trust intended to be benefited by the uses declared by the instrument to be enrolled.

PART III.

EXEMPTIONS.

Assurances or a public park, elementary school, or public museum.

6.—(1) Parts One and Two of this Act shall not apply (i) to an assurance by deed of land of any quantity or to an assurance by will of land of the (h) See R. S. C., Order LXI., r. 9; Seton on Decrees, 7th ed., pp. 1296, 1297. Form of order to enrol, after the proper time under s. 5, Seton, 7th ed., p. 1293, No. 9. For a case where a claim was made without success for a declaration that an assurance of land need not be enrolled because of a private Act, see In re Verrall, National Trust v. Att.-Gen., [1916] 1 Ch. 100; 80 J. P. 89.

(i) It is provided by the Working Classes Dwellings Act, 1890, post, p. 1680, that Parts I. and II. of this Act shall not apply to gifts of land for dwellings for the working classes.

It is further provided by the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Amendment Act, 1892, quantity hereinafter mentioned for the purposes only of a public park, a schoolhouse for an elementary school (k), a public museum, or an assurance by will of personal estate to be applied in or towards the purchase of land for all or any of the same purposes only.

(2) Provided that a will containing such an assurance, and a deed containing such an assurance and made otherwise than in good faith for full and valuable consideration, must be executed not less than twelve months before the death of the assuror, or be a reproduction in substance of a devise made in a previous will in force at the time of such reproduction, and which was executed not less than twelve months before the death of the assuror, and must be enrolled in the books of the Charity Commissioners within six months after the death of the testator, or in case of a deed the execution of the deed.

(3) The quantity of land which may be assured by will under this section shall be any quantity not exceeding twenty acres for any one public park, and not exceeding two acres for any one public museum, and not exceeding one acre for any one schoolhouse.

(4) In this section,

(i) "Public Park" includes any park, garden, or other land dedicated or to be dedicated to the recreation of the public;

(ii) "Elementary school" means a school or department of a school at which elementary education is the principal part of the education there given, and does not include any school or department of a school at which the ordinary payments in respect of the instruction from each scholar exceed ninepence a week;

(iii) "Schoolhouse" includes the teacher's dwelling-house, the playground (if any), and the offices and premises belonging to or required for a school;

(iv) "Public museum" includes buildings used or to be used for the preservation of a collection of paintings or other works of art, or of objects of natural history, or of mechanical or philosophical inventions, instruments, models, or designs, and dedicated or to be dedicated to the recreation of the public, together with any libraries, reading rooms, laboratories, and other offices and premises used or to be used in connection therewith.

Assurances for certain universities, colleges, and societies.

7. Part Two of this Act shall not apply to the following assurances:

(i) An assurance of land, or personal estate to be laid out in the purchase of land, to or in trust for any of the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, London, Durham, and the Victoria University, or any of the colleges or houses of learning within any of those universities, or to or in trust for any of the colleges of Eton, Winchester, and Westminster, for the better support and maintenance of the scholars only upon the foundations of those post, p. 1758, that the above section, except as therein mentioned, shall apply to any assurance by deed of land to any local authority, for any purposes for which such authority is empowered by any Act of Parliament to acquire land. See s. 164 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 369. By s. 8 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, post, p. 2012, a local authority may accept donations of land or money or other property for any purpose of the Housing Acts, and assurances with respect thereto need not be enrolled under this Act.

As to the enforcement of secret trusts for the benefit of the public, see In re Pitt Rivers, Scott v. Pitt Rivers, [1902] 1 Ch. 403; 66 J. P. 275.

(k) Section 117 of the Education Act, 1921, exempts assurances (as defined by s. 10 of the Mortmain Act in the text) of land or personal estate to be laid out in the purchase of land for educational purposes from any restrictions of the law relating to mortmain and charitable uses, and enacts that the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Acts, 1888 and 1891, and the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act Amendment Act, 1892, shall not apply with respect to any such assurance.

last-mentioned colleges, or to or in trust for the warden, council, and scholars of Keble College :

(ii) An assurance, otherwise than by will, to trustees on behalf of any society or body of persons associated together for religious purposes or for the promotion of education, art, literature, science, or other like purposes of land not exceeding two acres for the erection thereon of a building for such purposes, or any of them, or whereon a building used or intended to be used for such purposes, or any of them, has been erected so that the assurance be made in good faith for full and valuable consideration :

Provided that the trustees of the instrument containing any assurance to which this section applies or declaring the trusts thereof, may, if they think fit, at any time cause the instrument to be enrolled in the central office of the Supreme Court of Judicature.

Substitution of provisions of Act for corresponding repealed enactments.

8. Where by any statute now in force any provision of the enactments hereby repealed is excluded either wholly or partially from application, or is applied with modification, in every such case the corresponding provision of this Act shall be excluded or applied in like extent and manner.

PART IV.

SUPPLEMENTAL.

Adaptation of law to system of land registration. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 87.

9. Any assurance of land which is by this Act required to be made by deed may be made by a registered disposition under the provisions of the Land Transfer Act, 1875, or of any Act amending the same, and any assurance so made shall be exempt from the provisions of this Act as to execution in the presence of witnesses, and as to enrolment in the central office of the Supreme Court.

Definitions.

10. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

(i) "Assurance" includes a gift, conveyance, appointment, lease, transfer, settlement, mortgage, charge, incumbrance, devise, bequest, and every other assurance by deed, will, or other instrument ; and "assure" and "assuror" have meanings corresponding with assurance.

(ii) "Will" includes codicil (l).

(iv) "Full and valuable consideration" includes such a consideration either actually paid upon or before the making of the assurance, or reserved or made payable to the vendor or any other person by way of rent, rent-charge, or other annual payment in perpetuity, or for any term of years or other period, with or without a right of re-entry for non-payment thereof, or partly paid and partly reserved as aforesaid.

Extent of Act.

11. This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland.

Savings for existing customs, etc.

12. Nothing in this Act shall affect the operation or validity of any charter, licence, or custom in force at the passing of this Act enabling land to be assured or held in mortmain.

(l) Sub-s. (iii) was repealed by the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1891, post, p. 1756. It contained the definition of "land." See now s. 3 of that Act, post, p. 1756.

13 (m).—(1) The Acts specified in the Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed from and after the passing of this Act, to the extent specified in the third column of that Schedule: Repeal.

Provided that this repeal shall not affect—

(a) Any enactment not hereby repealed referring to any enactment hereby repealed, except that in lieu of that reference the unrepealed enactment shall be construed as if it referred to the corresponding provisions of this Act; or

(b) The past operation of any enactment hereby repealed, or any instrument or thing executed, done, or suffered before the passing of this Act; or

(c) Any right, obligation, or liability acquired, accrued, or incurred under any enactment hereby repealed; or

(d) Any action, proceeding, or thing pending or uncompleted at the time of the passing of this Act.

(2) Whereas by the preamble to the Act of the forty-third year of Elizabeth chapter four (being one of the enactments hereby repealed), it is recited as follows:

"Whereas landes tenementes rentes annuities p'fittes hereditamentes, goodes chattels money and stockes of money, have bene heretofore given limitted appointed and assigned, as well by the Queenes moste excellent Majestie and her moste noble progenitors, as by sondrie other well disposed p'sons, some for releife of aged impotent and poore people, some for maintenance of sicke and maymed souldiers and marriners, schooles of learninge, free schooles and schollers in univ'sities, some for repaire of bridges portes havens causwaies, churches sea bankes and highewaies, some for educacon and p'fermente of orphans, some for or towardes reliefe stocke or maintenance for howses of correcon, some for mariages of poore maides, some for supportacon ayde and helpe of younge tradesmen, handiecraftesmen and p'sons decayed, and others for releife or redemption of prisoners or captives, and for aide or ease of any poore inhabitantes conc'ninge paymente of fifteenes, settinge out of souldiers and other taxes; whiche landes tenements rents annuities p'fitts hereditaments goodes chattels money and stockes of money nev'theles have not byn imployed accordinge to the charitable intente of the givers and founders thereof, by reason of fraudes breaches of truste and negligence in those that shoulde pay delyver and imploy the same:" and whereas in divers enactments and documents reference is made to charities within the meaning, purview, and interpretation of the said Act:

Be it therefore enacted that references to such charities shall be construed as references to charities within the meaning, purview, and interpretation of the said preamble.

14. This Act may be cited as the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888. Short title.

THE SALE OF HORSEFLESH, ETC., REGULATION ACT, 1889.

(52 & 53 VICT. c. 11.)

An Act to regulate the Sale of Horseflesh for Human Food.

[24th June 1889.]

Whereas it is desirable to make regulations with respect to the sale of horseflesh for human food:

. . . . . .

Signs on horseflesh shops.

1. No person shall sell, offer, expose, or keep for sale any horseflesh for human food (n), elsewhere than in a shop, stall, or place over or upon which there shall be at all times painted, posted, or placed in legible characters of not less than four inches in length, and in a conspicuous position, and so as to be visible throughout the whole time, whether by night or day, during which such horseflesh is being offered or exposed for sale, words indicating that horseflesh is sold there.

Horseflesh not to be sold as other meat.

2. No person shall supply horseflesh for human food to any purchaser who has asked to be supplied with some meat other than horseflesh, or with some compound article of food which is not ordinarily made of horseflesh.

Power of medical officer of health to inspect meat, etc.

3. Any medical officer of health or inspector of nuisances or other officer of a local authority acting on the instructions of such authority or appointed by such authority for the purposes of this Act may at all reasonable times inspect and examine any meat which he has reason to believe to be horseflesh, exposed for sale or deposited for the purpose of sale, or of preparation for sale, and intended for human food, in any place other than such shop, stall, or place as aforesaid, and if such meat appears to him to be horseflesh he may seize and carry away or cause to be seized and carried away the same, in order to have the same dealt with by a justice as hereinafter provided (o).

Power of justice to grant warrant for search.

4. On complaint made on oath by a medical officer of health or inspector of nuisances, or other officer of a local authority, any justice may grant a warrant to any such officer to enter any building, or part of a building other than such shop, stall, or place as aforesaid, in which such officer has reason for believing that there is kept or concealed any horseflesh which is intended for sale, or for preparation for sale for human food, contrary to the provisions of this Act; and to search for, seize, and carry away or cause to be seized and carried away any meat that appears to such officer to be such horseflesh, in order to have the same dealt with by a justice as hereinafter provided (o).

Any person who shall obstruct any such officer in the performance of his duty under this Act shall be deemed to have committed an offence under this Act (a).

Power of justice with reference to disposal of horseflesh.

5. If it appears to any justice that any meat seized under the foregoing provisions of this Act is such horseflesh as aforesaid, he may make such order with regard to the disposal thereof as he may think desirable (b); and the person in whose possession or on whose premises the meat was found shall be deemed to have committed an offence under this Act, unless he proves that such meat was not intended for human food contrary to the provisions of this Act (c).

(n) This Act applies only to the sale of horseflesh for human food.

(o) See s. 5.

(a) For the penalty of this offence, see s. 6.

(b) The order is left to the discretion of the justice. He may order the meat to be destroyed, or he may order it to be sold for the food of dogs or the like.

(c) It will be for the defendant to prove that the meat was not intended for human food.

6. Any person offending against any of the provisions of this Act, for every such offence shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, to be recovered in a summary manner (d); and if any horseflesh is proved to have been exposed for sale to the public in any shop, stall, or eating-house (e) other than such shop, stall, or place as in the first section mentioned, without anything to show that it was not intended for sale for human food, the onus of proving that it was not so intended shall rest upon the person exposing it for sale. Penalty.

7. For the purposes of this Act "horseflesh" shall include the flesh of asses and mules, and shall mean horseflesh, cooked or uncooked, alone or accompanied by or mixed with any other substance. Definition of "horseflesh."

8. For the purposes of this Act the local authorities shall be, in the city of London and the liberties thereof, the commissioners of sewers, and in the other parts of the county of London the vestries and district boards acting in the execution of the Metropolis Local Management Acts, and in other parts of England the urban and rural sanitary authorities (f). . . . Local authorities for purposes of Act.

THE TOWN POLICE CLAUSES ACT, 1889.

(52 & 53 Vict. c. 14.)

An Act to amend the provisions relating to Hackney Carriages of the Town Police Clauses Act, 1847. [24th June 1889.]

Whereas it is expedient to amend the provisions with respect to hackney carriages of the Town Police Clauses Act, 1847, in this Act called the principal Act (g): 10 & 11 Vict. c. 89.

1. This Act may be cited as the Town Police Clauses Act, 1889, and this Act and the Town Police Clauses Act, 1847, may be cited together as the Town Police Clauses Acts, 1847 and 1889 (g). Short title. 10 & 11 Vict. c. 89.

2.—(1) This Act shall be construed as one with the principal Act, and the expression "this Act" in the principal Act shall be construed to mean the principal Act as amended by this Act. Construction of Act.

(2) This Act shall be deemed to be incorporated with the Public Health Act, 1875, by section one hundred and seventy-one of that Act (h). 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

3. The term "omnibus" where used in this Act, shall include— Defining "omnibus."

Every omnibus, char-à-banc, wagonette, brake, stage coach, and other

(d) That is to say, before a court of summary jurisdiction in manner provided by the S. J. Acts. See S. J. A., 1879, s. 51.

(e) The reference to an eating-house, and the definition in s. 7, show that the Act is intended to apply not only to sales of horseflesh as butchers' meat, but to its sale as beef in an eating-house or restaurant.

(f) The remainder of this section relates only to Ireland, and s. 9 relates only to Scotland.

(g) Italicised words repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1908. The Town Police Clauses Act, 1847, in so far as it is incorporated with the P. H. A., 1875, is set out, ante, p. 1280. It is applied to urban districts only, though a rural district council are enabled by s. 276 of the P. H. Act, 1875, ante, p. 613, to apply to the M. of H. for these powers. In reply to a recent application relating to motor omnibuses, the Minister stated that the whole subject of the regulation of these vehicles was being considered by a Committee appointed by the Minister of Transport, and that pending their report they were not confirming byelaws on the subject. See also note (i), post, p. 1668.

carriage plying or standing for hire (hh) by or used to carry passengers at separate fares to, from, or in any part of the prescribed distance (i) ;

but shall not include—

33 & 34 Vict. c. 78.

Any tramcar or tram carriage duly licensed under the provisions of the Tramways Act, 1870, or of any Provisional Order made thereunder and confirmed by Parliament, or under the provisions of any local Act of Parliament :

Any carriage starting from and previously hired for the particular passengers thereby carried at any livery stable yard (within the prescribed distance) whereat horses are stabled and carriages let for hire, the said carriage starting from the said stable yard and being bonâ fide the property of the occupier thereof, and not standing or plying for hire (k) within the prescribed distance :

Any omnibus belonging to or hired or used by any railway company for conveying passengers and their luggage to or from any railway station of that company, and not standing or plying for hire within the prescribed distance (l) :

Any omnibus starting from outside the prescribed distance, and bringing passengers within the prescribed distance, and not standing or plying for hire within the prescribed distance (m).

Extending certain provisions of principal Act to omnibuses.

4.—(1) The several terms "hackney carriages," "hackney coach," "carriages," and "carriage," whenever used in sections thirty-seven, forty to fifty-two (both inclusive), fifty-four, fifty-eight, and sixty to sixty-seven (both inclusive) of the principal Act shall, notwithstanding anything contained in section thirty-eight of that Act, be deemed to include every omnibus (n).

(hh) The "standing for hire" may be on private ground (Birmingham & Midland Motor Omnibus Co., Ltd. v. Thompson, [1918] 2 K. B. 105 ; 82 J. P. 213)..

(i) The prescribed distance means within the urban district (see s. 171 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 393), or rural parish in which the urban powers have been declared to be in force by an order under s. 276 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 613. The council of a rural district near London decided that it was necessary to regulate a line of motor omnibuses which had commenced running in their area, and applied to the L. G. B. for an Order. The Board replied that they had found it necessary to communicate with the Secretary of State in the matter, and that in consequence of his views they were only prepared to confer the desired powers upon the council in respect of so much of their area as lay outside the metropolitan police district.

(k) As to what amounts to standing or plying for hire, reference may be made to the cases cited in the notes to 10 & 11 Vict. c. 89, s. 38, ante, p. 1295. It is important to observe that the words are not, as in the older Act, "standing or plying for hire in a street." An omnibus may, therefore, be standing or plying for hire while it is on private property, such as a railway station. See Clarke v. Stanford (1871), L. R. 6 Q. B. 357 ; 35 J. P. 662 ; Allen v. Tunbridge (1871), L. R. 6 C. P. 481 ; 35 J. P. 695 ; Foinett v. Clark (1877), 41 J. P 359 ; Skinner v. Usher (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 423 ; 36 J. P. 693 ; Curtis v. Embery (1872), L. R. 7 Ex. 369.

(l) It seems to follow from these words that to be within this exception the omnibus must not be allowed to stand about for hire by any one who may desire to use it, for it would then be standing or plying for hire ; and that unless the Act is to apply the omnibus must be hired before it is brought out.

(m) An omnibus coming from one district will not be required to be licensed in another, though used for bringing passengers into the latter, unless it stands or plies for hire in the latter. An omnibus starting from outside the district and going to a point within the district where it waited from fifteen to twenty minutes for the purpose of taking up passengers, parcels, etc., for the return journey, was held not to come within the exception on the ground that it plied for hire within the district (Dewhurst v. Eddles (1893), 57 J. P. 373 ; 9 T. L. R. 494). And an omnibus which sometimes waited on the highway and sometimes commenced the return journey at once was held on the facts to be plying for hire and therefore not within the exception (R. v. Fletcher (1908), 72 J. P. 249 ; 98 L. T. 749).

(n) See these sections, ante. Section 68 of the Act of 1847 is not incorporated, and this is the section giving power to make byelaws for the purpose (inter alia) of fixing the fares

(2) The word "driver" or "drivers" when used in any of the said sections of the principal Act shall be deemed to include every conductor of any omnibus.

(3) For the purposes of sections fifty-four, fifty-eight, and sixty-six of the principal Act, the fare, according to the statement of fares exhibited on any omnibus, shall be deemed to be the fare allowed by the principal Act or authorised by any byelaw under that Act.

Licences may be granted for short periods.

5. Any licence may be granted under the principal Act to continue in force for such less period than one year as the Commissioners may think fit, and shall specify in the licence (o).

Byelaws.

6. The Commissioners may from time to time make byelaws (oo) for all or any of the following purposes, that is to say:

For regulating the conduct (p) of the proprietors, drivers, and conductors of omnibuses plying within the prescribed distance in their several employments, and determining whether such drivers and conductors shall wear any and what badges:

For regulating the manner in which the number of each omnibus corresponding with the number of its licence shall be displayed:

For regulating the number of persons to be carried by such omnibus, and in what manner such number is to be shown thereon:

For regulating the number and securing the fitness of the animals to be allowed to draw an omnibus, and for the removal therefrom of unfit animals:

For securing the fitness of the omnibus and the harness of the animals drawing the same:

For fixing the stands for omnibuses and the points at which they may stop a longer time than is necessary for the taking up and setting down of passengers desirous of entering or leaving the same:

For securing the safe custody and re-delivery of any property accidentally left in any omnibus, and fixing the charge to be made in respect thereof (q).

To provide for the carrying and the lighting of proper lamps for denoting the direction in which the omnibus is proceeding, and promoting the safety and convenience of the passengers carried thereby:

To provide for the exhibition on some conspicuous part of every omnibus of a statement in legible letters and figures of the fares to be demanded, to be paid for hackney carriages. It has been held that there is no power to fix fares with reference to omnibuses and that therefore a local authority is not entitled to refuse the renewal of a licence on the ground that the fares charged are excessive (R. v. Farnborough U. D. C., Ex parte Aldershot District Traction Co., Ltd. (1919), 83 J. P. 290).

(o) See the Town Police Clauses Act, 1847, s. 43, ante, p. 1297.

(oo) The L. G. B. have expressed the view that byelaws cannot be made under these Acts for the purpose of controlling the routes of motor omnibuses, and the Home Office are of opinion that this object cannot be attained by a town council under the Municipal Corporations Acts.

(p) The respondent was summoned for touting for a hackney carriage in a public thoroughfare contrary to a byelaw which provided: "A person shall not in any public thoroughfare in the district tout for a hackney carriage." He stood on a triangular piece of land at a street corner touting for hackney carriages, having received permission from the freeholders of the piece of land to stand on it for the purpose of his business. The piece of land was always open to the public, and the street (including the piece of land) had been declared a public highway. It was held that the fact that the piece of land on which the respondent stood belonged to private persons did not prevent his act from being an offence against the byelaw (Derham v. Strickland (1911), 75 J. P. 300; 104 L. T. 820).

(q) Up to this point there is little difference between the provisions of this section and those of the Town Police Clauses Act, 1847, s. 68, ante, p. 1302. The byelaws under this section do not regulate the hours of employment, but, on the other hand, they may regulate the fitness of the horses and harness. The rest of the section is an addition to the previous law as to hackney carriages.

and received from the persons using or carried for hire in such omnibus (qq) :

To prevent within the prescribed distance—

(a) the owner, driver, or conductor of any omnibus, or any other person on their or his behalf, by touting, calling out, or otherwise, from importuning any person to use or to be carried for hire in such omnibus, to the annoyance of such person or of any other person ;

(b) the blowing of or playing upon horns or other musical instruments, or the ringing of bells, by the driver or conductor of any omnibus, or by any person travelling on or using any such omnibus.

Provided that nothing in this Act contained shall empower the Commissioners to fix the site of the stand of any omnibus in any railway station or in any yard adjoining or connected therewith, except with the consent of the railway company owning such site.

THE ARBITRATION ACT, 1889.

(52 & 53 VICT. c. 49) (r).

An Act for amending and consolidating the Enactments relating to Arbitration.

[26th August 1889.]

REFERENCES BY CONSENT OUT OF COURT.

Submission to be irrevocable, and to have effect as an order of court.

1. A submission, unless a contrary intention is expressed therein, shall be irrevocable, except by leave of the court or a judge, and shall have the same effect in all respects as if it had been made an order of court (s).

Provisions implied in submission.

2. A submission, unless a contrary intention is expressed therein, shall be deemed to include the provisions set forth in the First Schedule to this Act, so far as they are applicable to the reference under the submission (t).

Reference to official referee.

3. Where a submission provides that the reference shall be to an official referee, any official referee to whom application is made shall, subject to any order of the court or a judge as to transfer or otherwise, hear and determine the matters agreed to be referred (u).

(qq) This provision contemplates that the omnibus proprietors will themselves fix the fares, because, so far as fares are concerned, the power to make byelaws is limited to byelaws requiring the exhibition on the omnibus of a statement of the fares to be demanded (R. v. Farnborough U. D. C., Ex parte Aldershot District Traction Co., Ltd., ante, p. 1304).

(r) The reason for the insertion of the above Act in this Appendix is that, by s. 24, it applies to arbitrations under the P. H. A., save in so far as its provisions are inconsistent with those of s. 180 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 426. It also applies to arbitrations with regard to adjustments under s. 68 of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 980. The notes are limited to an indication of the sections which do not apply to such arbitrations and to references to the chief decisions upon the Act. For full notes on the Act, see Yearly Supreme Court Practice, Vol. II.

(s) Where there is an agreement to refer to three arbitrators, one to be appointed by each party and one by the two arbitrators so appointed, the court has no power implied from this section to order a party to appoint an arbitrator (In re Smith and Service and Nelson and Sons (1890), 25 Q. B. D. 545). As to revocation on account of bias, see In re Baring and Doulton (1892), 61 L. J. Q. B. 704 ; Eckersley v. Mersey Docks and Harbour Board, [1894] 2 Q. B. 667 ; In re Haigh and L. & N. W. Rail. Co., [1896] 1 Q. B. 649 ; or of misconduct, In re Brien, [1910] 2 I. R. 84. An appeal from a judge at chambers giving leave to revoke a submission to arbitration lies to the Court of Appeal and not to a Divisional Court (In re Portland U. D. C. and Tilley & Co., [1896] 2 Q. B. 98) ; but see In re Frere and Stanley Taylor & Co. and North Shore Mill Co., Ltd., [1905] 1 K. B. 366.

(t) See the notes to the Schedule, post, p. 1677. This section was held to apply to all submissions, whether made before or after the passing of this Act (In re Williams and Stepney, [1891] 2 Q. B. 257). See French Government v. Owners of S.S. Tsurushima Maru, [1921] 37 T. L. R. 961, where a practice adopted in commercial arbitrations was upheld.

(u) This section cannot apply to arbitrations under the P. H. Acts.

Powers to stay proceedings where there is a submission.

4. If any party to a submission, or any person claiming through or under him, commences any legal proceedings in any court against any other party to the submission, or any person claiming through or under him, in respect of any matter agreed to be referred, any party to such legal proceedings may at any time after appearance, and before delivering any pleadings or taking any other steps in the proceedings, apply to that court to stay the proceedings, and that court or a judge thereof if satisfied that there is no sufficient reason why the matter should not be referred in accordance with the submission, and that the applicant was, at the time when the proceedings were commenced, and still remains, ready and willing to do all things necessary to the proper conduct of the arbitration, may make an order staying the proceedings (x).

(x) A county court judge has jurisdiction under this section to stay any legal proceedings in his court (Morriston Tinplate Co. v. Brooker, Dore & Co., [1908] 1 K. B. 403). The court has a discretion to stay under this section (In re Carlisle, Clegg v. Clegg (1890), 44 Ch. D. 200; Barnes v. Youngs, [1898] 1 Ch. 414; Hodson v. Railway Passengers Assurance, [1904] 2 K. B. 833; Bonnin v. Neame, [1910] 1 Ch. 732). Where arbitration proceedings have proved abortive, the provisions of the section in the text would not be available. In an action brought upon a contract whereby the parties have provided for arbitration as a means of ascertaining the amount due under the contract, if arbitration proceedings have proved abortive it is the duty of the Court to supply the defect by itself ascertaining the amount due (Cameron v. Cuddy, [1914] A. C. 651). In Jureidini v. National Millers, etc. Co., Ltd., [1915] A. C. 499, it was held that the repudiation of a claim under a policy going to the root of the contract precluded the company from pleading the arbitration clause as a bar to an action to enforce the claim. Cf. Woodall v. Pearl Assurance Co., Ltd., [1919] 1 K. B. 593, when Jureidini's case, supra, was distinguished. Where a question arises as to whether a contract containing an arbitration clause is alive or dead, it is in the Judge's discretion to say that it is not a proper question to be submitted to arbitration (Edward Grey & Co. v. Tolme (1914), 31 T. L. R. 137). The fact that an important question of law will have to be considered is not a sufficient reason for refusing a stay (Lock v. Army, etc. Assurance Association, Ltd. (1915), 31 T. L. R. 297). But see Clough v. County, etc. Association, Ltd. (1916), 32 T. L. R. 526. As to what amounts to a step in the proceedings, see Chappell v. North, [1891] 2 Q. B. 252; Brighton Marine Palace Co. v. Woodhouse, [1893] 2 Ch. 486; Ives v. Willans, [1894] 2 Ch. 478; Adams v. Catley (1892), 66 L. T. 687; 40 W. R. 570; Ford's Hotel Co. v. Bartlett, [1896] A. C. 1; Zalinoff v. Hammond, [1898] 2 Ch. 92; County Theatres and Hotels, Ltd. v. Knowles, [1902] 1 K. B. 480; Richardson v. Le Maitre, [1903] 2 Ch. 222); Anglo-Newfoundland Development Co. v. The King, [1920] 2 K. B. 214. Where a receiver is appointed, an order may be made staying all proceedings, except for the purpose of carrying out the order for a receiver (Pini v. Roncoroni, [1892] 1 Ch. 633), or the motion for a receiver may be ordered to stand over till the completion of the arbitration (Zalinoff v. Hammond, supra). Where there is an agreement to refer to three arbitrators, one to be appointed by each party and one by the two arbitrators so appointed, a judge at chambers has jurisdiction to stay under this section (Manchester Ship Canal Co. v. Pearson & Sons, Ltd., [1900] 1 Q. B. 606). Where works are constructed for a local authority under a contract which provides for the reference of disputes thereunder to an officer of the local authority, and the contractor sues the local authority on the contract, the court will not order the action to be stayed on the submission to arbitration, when the contractor charges the arbitrator with unreasonable conduct in relation to the works, and it appears that there is a substantial dispute between the parties as to the conduct of the arbitrator (Blackwell & Co., Ltd. v. Derby Corporation (1911), 75 J. P. 129). And see Freeman & Sons v. Chester R. D. C., [1911] 1 K. B. 783; 75 J. P. 132; Bristol Corporation v. Aird & Co., [1913] A. C. 241; 77 J. P. 209; Doleman & Sons v. Ossett Corporation, [1912] 3 K. B. 257; 76 J. P. 457. See also Monro v. Bognor U. D. C., [1915] 3 K. B. 167; 79 J. P. 286, where an action was brought for fraudulently inducing plaintiff to enter into a contract containing an arbitration clause. The Court held that the dispute was not one "upon or in relation to or in connection with the contract" within the meaning of the arbitration clause, and that the defendants were not entitled to have the proceedings stayed.

A sewerage contract provided that no claim for extras should be allowed unless submitted to the engineers within a given time; that the engineers should be sole judges as to the method of carrying out the works, and the materials to be used in their construction; and that in case of any dispute arising at any time whether during the progress of the works or after completion, as to certain specified matters not including extras, and as to all other matters therein left to the decision of the engineers, their decision should be final

Power for the court in certain cases to appoint an arbitrator, umpire, or third arbitrator.

5. In any of the following cases :

(a) Where a submission provides that the reference shall be to a single arbitrator, and all the parties do not after differences have arisen concur in the appointment of an arbitrator (y) :

(b) If an appointed arbitrator refuses to act, or is incapable of acting, or dies, and the submission does not show that it was intended that the vacancy should not be supplied, and the parties do not supply the vacancy (z) :

(c) Where the parties or two arbitrators are at liberty to appoint an umpire or third arbitrator and do not appoint him (a) :

(d) Where an appointed umpire or third arbitrator refuses to act, or is incapable of acting, or dies, and the submission does not show that it was intended that the vacancy should not be supplied, and the parties or arbitrators do not supply the vacancy (a) :

any party may serve the other parties or the arbitrators, as the case may be, with a written notice to appoint an arbitrator, umpire, or third arbitrator.

If the appointment is not made within seven clear days after the service of the notice, the court or a judge may (b), on application by the party who gave the notice, appoint an arbitrator, umpire, or third arbitrator, who shall have the like powers to act in the reference and make an award as if he had been appointed by consent of all parties.

Power for parties in certain cases to supply vacancy.

6. Where a submission provides that the reference shall be to two arbitrators, one to be appointed by each party, then, unless the submission expresses a contrary contention—

(a) If either of the appointed arbitrators refuses to act, or is incapable of acting, or dies, the party who appointed him may appoint a new arbitrator in his place (c) ;

(b) If, on such a reference, one party fails to appoint an arbitrator, either originally or by way of substitution as aforesaid, for seven clear days after the other party, having appointed his arbitrator, has served the party making default with notice to make the appointment, the party who has appointed an arbitrator may appoint that arbitrator to act as sole arbitrator in the reference, and his award shall be binding on both parties as if he had been appointed by consent (c).

Provided that the court or a judge may set aside any appointment made in pursuance of this section (d).

and binding on all parties. It was held that a claim for extras was not within the scope of the arbitration clause, and consequently that an action by the contractor for the amount of the claim ought to be allowed to proceed (Taylor v. Western Valleys (Monmouthshire) Sewerage Board (1911), 75 J. P. 409).

This section has no application to arbitrations under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 180, ante, p. 426, but it will apply to arbitration clauses in contracts with sanitary authorities. See Nuttall v. Manchester Corporation (1892), 8 T. L. R. 513.

(y) This cannot apply to arbitrations under ss. 179, 180, of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, pp. 425, 426. It seems, however, to be applicable to arbitrations in respect of adjustments under s. 68 of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 980.

(z) This cannot apply. See s. 180 (4)—(7), ante, p. 426. See as to the effect of the clause, In re Wilson and Eastern Counties Navigation and Transport Co., [1892] 1 Q. B. 81.

(a) This cannot apply to arbitrations under the P. H. A., 1875. See s. 180 (7), ante, p. 426.

(b) In ordinary cases this is equivalent to must (In re Eyre and the Corporation of Leicester, [1892] 1 Q. B. 136 ; 56 J. P. 228). See as to procedure under this section, Taylor v. Denny, Mott and Dickson, Ltd., [1912] A. C. 666 ; 76 J. P. 417, and as to appeals from the master and the judge, Miller, Gibb & Co. v. Smith and Tyrer, Ltd., [1916] 1 K. B. 419.

(c) A similar provision is contained in s. 180 (5), ante, p. 426.

(d) An appointment under s. 180 (5) will not, apparently, be made in pursuance of this section, though the effect of the two provisions is similar.

7. The arbitrators or umpire acting under a submission shall, unless the submission expresses a contrary intention, have power— Powers of arbitrator.

(a) To administer oaths to or take the affirmations of the parties and witnesses appearing (e); and

(b) To state an award as to the whole or part thereof in the form of a special case for the opinion of the court (f); and

(c) To correct in an award any clerical mistake or error arising from any accidental slip or omission (f).

8. Any party to a submission may sue out a writ of subpœna ad testificandum, or a writ of subpœna duces tecum, but no person shall be compelled under any such writ to produce any document which he could not be compelled to produce on the trial of an action (f). Witnesses may be summoned by subpœna.

9. The time for making an award may from time to time be enlarged by order of the court or a judge, whether the time for making the award has expired or not (g). Power to enlarge time for making award.

10.—(1) In all cases of reference to arbitration the court or a judge may from time to time remit the matters referred, or any of them, to the reconsideration of the arbitrators or umpire. Power to remit award.

(2) Where an award is remitted, the arbitrators or umpire shall, unless the order otherwise directs, make their award within three months after the date of the order (h).

11.—(1) Where an arbitrator or umpire has misconducted himself, the court may remove him. Power to set aside award.

(2) Where an arbitrator or umpire has misconducted himself, or an arbitration or award has been improperly procured, the court may set the award aside (i).

(e) See s. 180 (12), ante, p. 427.

(f) This provision will apply to an arbitration under s. 180. An appeal lies to the Court of Appeal from a decision of the High Court upon an award stated as a special case (In re Kirkleatham L. B. and Stockton and Middlesbrough Water Board, [1893] 1 Q. B. 375; 57 J. P. 421). See as to stating award in alternative form, i.e. in form of special case under certain conditions and as a final award on non-fulfilment of those conditions, In re Olympia Oil and Cake Co. & MacAndrew, [1918] 2 K. B. 771; 83 J. P. 9, where an arbitrator gives an award in favour of the claimants in the arbitration subject to the opinion of the court on a special case; on the argument of the case the burden is on the respondents to the arbitration who dispute the award, and it is for their counsel to open the case (Cavallotti v. Carruthers & Co. (1916), 33 T. L. R. 101). As to the costs of the special case, see In re Gonty and Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire Rail. Co., [1896] 2 Q. B. 439. Difficulty sometimes arises in determining whether a case is stated under this section or under s. 19. See Owner of S.S. Lord v. Newsum, Sons & Co., Ltd., [1920] 1 K. B. 846; affirmed [1921] 1 K. B. 87, and in H. L. sub-nom. Cogstad v. Newsum, [1921] 2 A. C. 528. As to what is an "accidental slip or omission," see Sutherland & Co. v. Hannevig & Co. (1920), 37 T. L. R. 102.

(g) This section enables the court to enlarge the time beyond the two months limited by s. 180 (9) of the P. H. A., 1875 (Knowles & Sons. Ltd. v. Bolton Corporation, [1900] 2 Q. B. 253).

(h) This section will, apparently, apply to an arbitration under s. 180. The court may, under this section, remit an award upon the ground that fresh evidence has been discovered since the award was made, although the arbitrator does not join in asking the court to remit it. Such evidence need not be strictly legal evidence, though it must be such as may affect the arbitrator's decision (In re Keighley and Durant, [1893] 1 Q. B. 405). Under this section matters may be remitted for reconsideration, although the arbitrator, having made his award, is functus officio (In re Stringer and Riley Brothers, [1901] 1 K. B. 105).

(i) As to misconduct, see In re Kenworthy and Queen Insurance Co. (1893), 9 T. L. R. 181; In re Gregson and Armstrong (1894), 70 L. T. 106; 10 R. 408; In re Palmer & Co. and Hosken & Co., [1898] 1 Q. B. 131; Schofield v. Allen (1904), 116 L. T. Newsp. 239; 48 Sol. J. 176; In re Enoch and Zaretzky, Bock & Co., [1910] 1 K. B. 327; Buerger & Co. v. Barnett (1919), 35 T. L. R. 260. The order setting aside the award is an interlocutory and not a final order (Re Croasdell and Cammell, Laird & Co., [1906] 2 K. B. 569). Leave to appeal from an order of the Divisional Court setting aside an award is not necessary

Enforcing award.

12. An award on a submission may, by leave of the court or a judge, be enforced in the same manner as a judgment or order to the same effect (k).

REFERENCES UNDER ORDER OF COURT (l).

Reference for report.

13.—(1) Subject to Rules of Court and to any right to have particular cases tried by a jury, the court or a judge may refer any question arising in any cause or matter (other than a criminal proceeding by the Crown) for inquiry or report to any official or special referee.

(2) The report of an official or special referee may be adopted wholly or partially by the court or a judge, and if so adopted may be enforced as a judgment or order to the same effect.

Power to refer in certain cases.

14. In any cause or matter (other than a criminal proceeding by the Crown)—

(a) If all the parties interested who are not under disability consent: or,

(b) If the cause or matter requires any prolonged examination of documents or any scientific or local investigation which cannot in the opinion of the court or a judge conveniently be made before a jury, or conducted by the court through its other ordinary officers: or the court or a judge may at any time order the whole cause or matter, or any question or issue of fact arising therein, to be tried before a special referee or arbitrator respectively agreed on by the parties, or before an official referee or officer of the court (n).

(c) If the question in dispute consists wholly or in part of matters of account (m);

Powers and remuneration of referees and arbitrators.

15.—(1) In all cases of reference to an official or special referee or arbitrator under an order of the court or a judge in any cause or matter, the official or special referee or arbitrator shall be deemed to be an officer of the court, and shall have such authority, and shall conduct the reference in such manner, as may be prescribed by Rules of Court (o), and subject thereto as the court or a judge may direct.

(2) The report or award of any official or special referee or arbitrator on any such reference shall, unless set aside by the court or a judge, be equivalent to the verdict of a jury (p).

(Ruf v. Pauwels, [1919] 1 K. B. 660; 83 J. P. 150). An application to set aside an award may be made to a single judge and need not be made to the Divisional Court (The Produce Brokers' Co., Ltd. v. Blyth, Greene, Jourdain & Co., Ltd. (1918), 34 T. L. R. 419).

(k) In some cases this section may also apply, as it affords another remedy in addition to that given by s. 180 (14) of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 427. But an award under s. 150 cannot be enforced under this section (In re Willesden L. B. and Wright, [1896] 2 Q. B. 412; 60 J. P. 708). Summons to enforce an award under s. 12 cannot be served upon a foreigner resident out of the jurisdiction (Rasch & Co. v. Wulfert, [1904] 1 K. B. 118). An appeal from an order of a judge at chambers under this section lies direct to the Court of Appeal, and not to a Divisional Court (Re Colman and Watson, [1908] 1 K. B. 47).

(l) The sections in this part of the Act apply only to references by the court, and not to arbitrations under s. 180 of the P. H. A., 1875. They will, however, apply to actions by or against sanitary authorities.

(m) This applies where the main, although not the only, question in dispute is a matter of account (Hurlbatt v. Barnett, [1893] 1 Q. B. 77).

(n) Where an action has been referred for trial under this section, the court or a judge still retains the power, and the referee or arbitrator has also jurisdiction, to order inspection of property. As a general rule, the most convenient course is to apply to the referee or arbitrator in the first instance (Macalpine v. Calder, [1893] 1 Q. B. 545). An appeal lies to the Court of Appeal (without leave) from an order of the High Court refusing to order a new trial (Munday v. Norton, [1892] 1 Q. B. 403).

(o) See R. S. C., Order XXXVI., rr. 45 et seq.

(p) As to the power of the court under this sub-section, see Darlington Waggon Co. v.

(3) The remuneration to be paid to any special referee or arbitrator to whom any matter is referred under order of the court or a judge shall be determined by the court or a judge (q).

Court to have powers as in references by consent.

16. The court or a judge shall, as to references under order of the court or a judge, have all the powers which are by this Act conferred on the court or a judge as to references by consent out of court.

Court of Appeal to have powers of court.

17. Her Majesty's Court of Appeal shall have all the powers conferred by this Act on the court or a judge thereof under the provisions relating to references under order of the court.

General.

Power to compel attendance of witness in any part of the United Kingdom and to order habeas corpus to issue.

18.—(1) The court or a judge may order that a writ of subpœna ad testificandum or of subpœna duces tecum shall issue to compel the attendance before an official or special referee, or before any arbitrator or umpire, of a witness wherever he may be within the United Kingdom.

(2) The court or a judge may also order that a writ of habeas corpus ad testificandum shall issue to bring up a prisoner for examination before an official or special referee, or before any arbitrator or umpire (r).

Statement of case pending arbitration.

19. Any referee, arbitrator, or umpire may at any stage of the proceedings under a reference, and shall, if so directed by the court or a judge, state in the form of a special case for the opinion of the court any question of law arising in the course of the reference (s).

Costs.

20. Any order made under this Act may be made on such terms as to costs or otherwise, as the authority making the order thinks just (t).

Harding and Trouville Pier and Steamboat Co., [1891] 1 Q. B. 245. As to its effect on costs, see Carr v. Dougherty (1898), 67 L. J. Q. B. 371 ; 14 T. L. R. 237. The sub-section does not apply where an action is stayed and arbitration directed under a submission by the parties (Warburg v. McKerrow (1904), 90 L. T. 644).

(q) As to the right of the arbitrator to recover fees, see Willis v. Wakeley (1891), 7 T. L. R. 604.

(r) This section will apply to arbitrations under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 180, ante, p. 426.

(s) This section will apply to arbitrations under the P. H. A., 1875. See the judgments in Sandgate L. B. v. Keene, [1892] 1 Q. B. 831 ; 56 J. P. 484. Appeal does not lie to the Court of Appeal from the decision of the court on a case stated under this section (In re Knight and Tabernacle Permanent Building Society, [1892] 2 Q. B. 613 ; 55 J. P. 534). As to the power to order a case to be stated, see Tabernacle Permanent Building Society v. Knight, [1892] A. C. 298 ; 56 J. P. 709 ; May v. Mills (1914), 30 T. L. R. 287. In the case of In re Kent C. C. and Sandgate L. B., [1895] 2 Q. B. 43 ; 59 J. P. 456, it was held that the court has power to require an arbitrator appointed by the L. G. B. (now M. of H.) in an arbitration under s. 11 (3) of the L. G. A., 1888, to state a special case under this section. The fact of there being a question of law to be decided was held not sufficient ground for a case to be ordered unless there is some evidence that the arbitrators are going beyond their jurisdiction, or are about to act contrary to law (In re Gray & Co. and Boustead & Co. (1892), 8 T. L. R. 703). But subsequently it was held that a case may be ordered although the arbitrator has expressed no opinion adverse to the applicant (In re Spillers and Baker and Leetham & Sons, [1897] 1 Q. B. 312).

An order of a judge at chambers under this section directing the arbitrator to state a case is not a matter of practice and procedure within s. 1 (4) of the Judicature Act, 1894, and therefore no appeal lies to the Court of Appeal from such an order (Re Frere and Staveley, Taylor & Co. and North Shore Mill Co., [1905] 1 K. B. 366).

See instances of awards which though it was arguable that they were final awards were held to be cases submitted under this section (Re Holland Steamship Co. and British Steam Navigation Co. (1906), 95 L. T. 769 ; Owners of S.S. Lord v. Newsum, ante, p. 1673).

Exercise of powers by masters and other officers.

21. Provision may from time to time be made by Rules of Court for conferring on any master, or other officer of the Supreme Court, all or any of the jurisdiction conferred by this Act on the court or a judge (u).

22. [Penalty for perjury] (x).

Crown to be bound.

23. This Act shall, except as in this Act expressly mentioned, apply to any arbitration to which her Majesty the Queen, either in right of the Crown, or of the Duchy of Lancaster or otherwise, or the Duke of Cornwall, is a party, but nothing in this Act shall empower the court or a judge to order any proceedings to which her Majesty or the Duke of Cornwall is a party, or any question or issue in any such proceedings, to be tried before any referee, arbitrator, or officer without the consent of her Majesty or the Duke of Cornwall, as the case may be, or shall affect the law as to costs payable by the Crown (xx).

Application of Act to references under statutory powers.

24. This Act shall apply to every arbitration under any Act passed before or after the commencement of this Act, as if the arbitration were pursuant to a submission, except in so far as this Act is inconsistent with the Act regulating the arbitration or with any rules or procedure authorised or recognised by that Act (y).

25. [Saving for pending arbitrations.]

26.—(1) [Repeal of enactments in Second Schedule.]

(2) Any enactment or instrument referring to any enactment repealed by this Act shall be construed as referring to this Act.

Definitions.

27. In this Act, unless the contrary intention appears,—

"Submission" means a written agreement to submit present or future differences to arbitration, whether an arbitrator is named therein or not (z).

"Court" means her Majesty's High Court of Justice.

"Judge" means a judge of her Majesty's High Court of Justice.

"Rules of Court" means the rules of the Supreme Court made by the proper authority under the Judicature Acts.

Extent.

28. This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland.

29. [Commencement of Act, January 1, 1890.]

Short title.

30. This Act may be cited as the Arbitration Act, 1889.

(u) See R. S. C., Order LIV., r. 12A, the effect of which is that any application under this Act can be dealt with by a Master, except applications under s. 11 to remove an arbitrator or to set aside the award.

(x) Repealed: see now the Perjury Act, 1911. If the evidence be merely prepared though not used, it is an indictable misdemeanor (R. v. Vreones, [1891] 1 Q. B. 360; 55 J. P. 536).

(xx) See Anglo-Newfoundland Development Co., Ltd. v. The King, [1920] 2 K. B. 214.

(z) The appointment of the arbitrators under s. 180 of the P. H. A., 1875, is to be deemed a submission. See sub-s. (2) of that section, ante, p. 426.

For the construction of this definition, see Caerleon Tinplate Co. v. Hughes (1891), 60 L. J. Q. B. 640; 65 L. T. 118; Baker v. Yorkshire Fire and Life Assurance Co., [1892] 1 Q. B. 144; Aitken v. Batchelor (1893), 62 L. J. Q. B. 193; 68 L. T. 530; Austrian Lloyd Steamship Co. v. Gresham Life Assurance Society, [1903] 1 K. B. 249; Hickman v. Kent, etc. Association, [1915] 1 Ch. 881; Anglo-Newfoundland Development Co., Ltd. v. The King, [1920] 2 K. B. 214; Clements v. Devon Insurance Committee (1918), 82 J. P. 71; Lobitos Oilfields, Ltd. v. Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty (1917), 33 T. L. R. 472. "Future" differences do not include differences arising after the order for arbitration is made; per Lord HALSBURY, C., in London and N. W. and G. W. Joint Rail. Cos. v. Billington, [1899] A. C. 79, at p. 81. But all matters material and incidental to the differences within the submission are within the scope of the arbitration (Midland Rail. Co. v. Loseby, [1899] A. C. 133).

SCHEDULES.

THE FIRST SCHEDULE.

PROVISIONS TO BE IMPLIED IN SUBMISSIONS.

a. If no other mode of reference is provided, the reference shall be to a single arbitrator (a).

b. If the reference is to two arbitrators, the two arbitrators may appoint an umpire at any time within the period during which they have power to make an award (a).

c. The arbitrators shall make their award in writing within three months after entering on the reference, or after having been called on to act by notice in writing from any party to the submission, or on or before any later day to which the arbitrators, by any writing signed by them, may from time to time enlarge the time for making the award (b).

d. If the arbitrators have allowed their time or extended time to expire without making an award, or have delivered to any party to the submission, or to the umpire a notice in writing, stating that they cannot agree, the umpire may forthwith enter on the reference in lieu of the arbitrators (c).

e. The umpire shall make his award within one month after the original or extended time appointed for making the award of the arbitrators has expired, or on or before any later day to which the umpire by any writing signed by him may from time to time enlarge the time for making his award (d).

f. The parties to the reference, and all persons claiming through them respectively, shall, subject to any legal objection, submit to be examined by the arbitrators or umpire, on oath or affirmation, in relation to the matters in dispute, and shall, subject as aforesaid, produce before the arbitrators or umpire, all books, deeds, papers, accounts, writings, and documents within their possession or power respectively which may be required or called for, and do all other things which during the proceedings on the reference the arbitrators or umpire may require (e).

g. The witnesses on the reference shall, if the arbitrators or umpire thinks fit, be examined on oath or affirmation (e).

h. The award to be made by the arbitrators or umpire shall be final and binding on the parties and the persons claiming under them respectively (f).

i. The costs of the reference and award shall be in the discretion of the arbitrators or umpire, who may direct to and by whom and in what manner those costs or any part thereof shall be paid, and may tax or settle the amount of costs to be so paid or any part thereof, and may award costs to be paid as between solicitor and client (g).

THE SECOND SCHEDULE (h).

* * * * * *

(a) This clause does not apply to arbitrations under the P. H. A., 1875, having regard to ss. 179, 180 (7), ante, pp. 425, 426. It seems, however, applicable to arbitrations as to adjustments under s. 68 of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 980.

(b) This clause does not apply having regard to s. 180 (8), (9). As to its construction, see In re Baring Gould and Sharpington Combined Pick and Shovel Syndicate, [1899] 2 Ch. 80.

(c) See s. 180 (8), and the note thereto, ante, p. 426.

(d) This clause does not apply. See s. 180 (9), and the note thereto, ante, p. 427.

(e) These clauses slightly extend the powers conferred by s. 180 (12). As to the application of Schedule I. (f) to an arbitration to which a minister of the Crown is a party, see La Societe des Affreteurs Reunis v. The Shipping Controller, [1921] 3 K. B. 1.

(f) See similar provisions in s. 180 (15), ante, p. 427.

(g) This extends the powers given to the arbitrators by s. 180 (13), ante, p. 427. Where an arbitrator in making his award deals with the costs of the award and his own personal costs, but does not mention the costs of the parties to the reference, the court will not presume that he has exercised his discretion to make no order as to costs, or to leave each side to pay their own costs, but will remit the award to the arbitrator to exercise his discretion in express terms (Re Becker & Co. & Barry Brothers, [1921] 1 K. B. 391).

The amount of the costs must be stated in the award, otherwise the costs of the reference and award, including the arbitrator's fees, are liable to taxation in the ordinary course (In re Prebble and Robinson, [1892] 2 Q. B. 602; 57 J. P. 54). Where taxation is necessary the Taxing Master may reduce the fee charged for the award (Re Frank James & Sons,

THE CUSTOMS AND INLAND REVENUE ACT, 1890.

(53 & 54 VICT. c. 8.)

An Act to grant certain Duties of Customs and Inland Revenue, to repeal and alter other Duties, and to amend the Laws relating to Customs and Inland Revenue. [9th June 1890.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1890.

* * * * * *

Inhabited house duty reduced as respects houses of small annual value.

25.—(1) . . . the duty payable upon an inhabited dwelling-house under the Act of the fourteenth and fifteenth years of her Majesty's reign, chapter thirty-six, at the rate of sixpence for every twenty shillings of the annual value of the house, with the household and other offices, yards, and gardens therewith occupied is, in case such annual value shall not exceed forty pounds, hereby reduced to the rate of twopence, and is, in case such annual value shall exceed forty pounds and shall not exceed sixty pounds, hereby reduced to the rate of fourpence.

(2) . . . the duty payable upon an inhabited dwelling-house under the said Act at the rate of ninepence for every twenty shillings of the annual value of the house with the household and other offices, yards, and gardens therewith occupied is, in case such annual value shall not exceed forty pounds, hereby reduced to the rate of threepence, and is, in case such annual value shall exceed forty pounds and shall not exceed sixty pounds, hereby reduced to the rate of sixpence (i).

Reduction of inhabited house duty in the case of lodging-houses and exemption of houses for artizans' dwellings.

26.—(1) Where any dwelling-house chargeable to inhabited house duty under the said Act of the fourteenth and fifteenth years of her Majesty's reign, chapter thirty-six, at the rate of ninepence, or at the reduced rate of sixpence or threepence, according to this Act, for every twenty shillings of annual value is occupied in any year by a person for the main purpose of letting furnished lodgings therein as a means of livelihood, it shall be lawful [1903] W. N. 99). The award must not be so stated as to exclude the right of the parties to challenge the amount of the fees charged by the arbitrator for his services, as by including them in a lump sum for costs (Re Gilbert and Wright (1904), 68 J. P. 143; 20 T. L. R. 164). If the arbitrators are not to have power over the costs of the award they must be expressly excluded from the submission (Re Walker (1882), 9 Q. B. D. 434), so also as to the costs of negotiating and preparing the submission (Re Autothreptic Co. (1888), 21 Q. B. D. 182). Costs of a special case under s. 19 fall under the provisions of this Schedule unless the court deals with them when the order for a special case is made (Re Knight and Tabernacle Permanent Building Society, [1892] 2 Q. B. 613; 55 J. P. 534). The bill of a solicitor employed by the arbitrator in preparing the award may be taxed under s. 38 of the Solicitors Act, 1843, where the amount has been paid on taking up the award (Re Collyer-Bristow & Co., [1901] 2 K. B. 839). See also generally as to taxation the judgment of FARWELL, L.J., in Re Cannings, Ltd., and Middlesex C. C., [1907] 1 K. B., at p. 57; 71 J. P. 46. Where a whole cause is referred to a special referee for trial, and the referee awards that one of the parties recover against the other the costs of the action, such costs include the costs of the reference (Patten v. West of England Iron, Timber, and Charcoal Co., [1894] 2 Q. B. 159; 58 J. P. 400). As to reviewing taxation, see Malvern U. D. C. v. Malvern Link Gas Co. (1900), 83 L. T. 326. As to the recovery of arbitrators' fees by action, see Llandrindod Wells Water Co. v. Hawksley (1904), 68 J. P. 242; 20 T. L. R. 241; Brown v. Llandovery Terra Cotta Co., Ltd. (1909), 25 T. L. R. 625.

(h) This schedule of enactments repealed (itself repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1908), included 9 Will. 3, c. 15; 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 42, ss. 39—41; the Common Law Procedure Act, 1854, ss. 3—17; the Judicature Act, 1873, ss. 56 (part), 57, 58, 59; the Judicature Act, 1884, ss. 9—11.

(i) Words repealed by S. L. R. A., 1908, or relating to Scotland only are omitted. Under the House Tax Act, 1851, inhabited house duty was charged at 6*d.* in the pound upon houses occupied partly for trade purposes, licensed houses, and farmhouses occupied by a tenant or farm servant. All other houses were charged at 9*d.* in the pound.

for such person before the first day of July (k) to register his name in a list of lodging-house keepers to be kept by the clerk to the Commissioners acting in the execution of the Acts relating to the inhabited house duties, and, after such registration and before the first day of October (k) to make application to the said Commissioners for the reduction of the rate of charge of inhabited house duty from ninepence to sixpence, or for the further reduction of the reduced rate of sixpence to fourpence, or of threepence to twopence, and on due proof of the facts to the satisfaction of the said Commissioners they shall cause the charge or amount for such year to be reduced or amended accordingly.

(2) The assessment to inhabited house duty of any house originally built or adapted by additions or alterations and used for the sole purpose of providing separate dwellings for persons at rents not exceeding for each dwelling the rate of seven shillings and sixpence a week, and occupied only by persons paying such rents (l), shall be discharged by the said Commissioners, provided that a certificate of the medical officer of health for the district in which the house is situate or other medical practitioner appointed as hereinafter provided shall be produced to them to the effect that the house is so constructed as to afford suitable accommodation for each of the families or persons inhabiting it, and that due provision is made for their sanitary requirements. The medical officer of health of a district on request by the person who would be liable to pay the house duty on any house in the district, if the duty were not discharged as aforesaid, shall examine the house for the purpose of ascertaining whether such a certificate can properly be given, and if the house be constructed so as to afford such accommodation and due provision be made as aforesaid, shall certify the same accordingly; provided that the authority, if they are of opinion that the duties which would devolve on the medical officer of health under this section could not be performed by him without interference with the due performance of his ordinary duties, may appoint some other legally qualified medical practitioner having the qualification required for office of medical officer of health of the district to make such examinations and give such certificates as aforesaid (m).

(k) For "the first day of July" read now "the first day of October" (1 Edw. 7, c. 7, s. 13). For "the first day of October" read now "the first day of November" (1 Edw. 7, c. 7, s. 13).

(l) The Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1891, s. 4, substituted for the words italicised the words "where the annual value of each dwelling shall not amount to twenty pounds." It also granted an abatement of duty where the annual value did not exceed £40. That section has, however, been repealed by the Revenue Act, 1903, which now regulates the exemption and abatement: see s. 11 thereof, post, p. 1933. By s. 35 (1) of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, a house occupied for the sole purpose of letting lodgings to persons of the working classes at a charge per head not exceeding sixpence per night enjoys a similar exemption; see that section, post, p. 2025.

The owner of a house built for artizans' dwellings, and used for the sole purpose of separate dwellings, was held entitled to exemption under this sub-section, notwithstanding the existence of a common front door, entrance hall, and staircase to, and the absence of complete structural division of, each separate set of rooms; and notwithstanding that all the doors of each set of rooms opened to the common entrance hall or landing, and that the tenants had the use of a common washhouse on certain specified days (Seaman v. Lee (1899), 68 L. J. Q. B. 593; 63 J. P. 499). But where a building erected for the purpose of providing accommodation for men of the working classes contained separate cubicles, arranged on three landings round a central hall, and on the ground floor there were reading rooms, dining rooms, scullery, lavatories, baths, and washhouses and catering departments, which were used by the occupants in common, and there were also quarters for the superintendent and staff, and each cubicle provided separate accommodation for one man, and a charge of 6*d*. a night was made for the use of it and of the other parts of the buildings, it was held that the cubicles were not "separate dwellings" but merely sleeping places and that therefore the building was not exempt (London C. C. v. Cook, [1906] 1 K. B. 278; 70 J. P. 105). See also Farmer v. Cotton's Trustees, [1915] A. C. 922.

THE WORKING CLASSES DWELLINGS ACT, 1890.

(53 & 54 VICT. c. 16.)

An Act to facilitate Gifts of Land for Dwellings for the Working Classes in Populous Places. [25th July 1890.]

Exemption from 51 & 52 Vict. c. 42, Parts I., II., and 7 & 8 Vict. c. 97, s. 16, of gifts for working classes dwellings.

1. Parts I. and II. of the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888, . . . shall not apply to any assurance, by deed, or will, of land, or of personal estate to be laid out in land, for the purpose of providing dwellings for the working classes in any populous place (n).

Provided as follows:

(i) The quantity of land which may be assured by will under this section shall not exceed five acres; and

19th, 1890, the L. G. B. issued a Circular to medical officers calling attention to the section. The following is the text of the Circular:

I am directed by the Local Government Board to draw your attention to the provisions contained in s. 26 (2) of the Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1890, with respect to the exemption of certain houses from inhabited house duty.

The section provides that the assessment to inhabited house duty of any house originally built, or adapted by additions or alterations, and used for the sole purpose of providing separate dwellings for persons at rents not exceeding for each dwelling the rate of seven shillings and sixpence a week, and occupied only by persons paying such rents, is to be discharged by the Commissioners acting in the execution of the Acts relating to the inhabited house duties, provided that a certificate is produced to them to the effect that the house is so constructed as to afford suitable accommodation for each of the families or persons inhabiting it, and that due provision is made for their sanitary requirements. The certificate is to be obtained from the medical officer of health for the district in which the house is situate, or from some other medical practitioner appointed as hereinafter mentioned.

The Act makes it the duty of the medical officer of health of a district, on request by the person who would be liable to pay the house duty on any house in the district, if the duty were not discharged by the Commissioners, to examine the house for the purpose of ascertaining whether a certificate can properly be given; and if the house is constructed so as to afford suitable accommodation for each of the families or persons inhabiting it, and due provision is made for their sanitary requirements, he must certify the same accordingly.

The Act, however, provides that when the authority by whom the medical officer of health is appointed are of opinion that the duties which would thus devolve on him could not be performed by him without interference with the due performance of his ordinary duties, they may appoint some other legally qualified medical practitioner having the qualification required for the office of medical officer of health of the district, to make the examinations and give the certificates above referred to.

I am directed to add that the Act does not empower a medical officer of health to charge any fee for a certificate under it, nor is he entitled to any remuneration for the discharge of the duties imposed on him by the Act in addition to the salary for the time being assigned to him as medical officer of health.

I am, Sir, Your obedient Servant,
HUGH OWEN,
Secretary.

In a Circular of the same date, the Board, referring to the last paragraph of the above letter, stated that in cases where the remuneration of the medical officer of health was subject to their approval they would be prepared to assent to a reasonable increase of such remuneration, if the local authority should consider that the duties imposed on the officer by the statute were sufficiently onerous to entitle him to such increase. The Board thought that if the local authority appointed some other medical practitioner to perform the duties referred to, it would be competent for them to pay him a suitable salary without any sanction on the part of the Board.

(n) Words relating to Ireland only are omitted from this section. But for this provision land could not have been conveyed, nor could money to be laid out in land have been assured by deed or will for the purpose of working classes dwellings. The above Act creates an exception similar to those created under Part III. of the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888, ante, p. 1662; cf. also the Housing, Town Planning, etc., Act, 1909, s. 8, post, p. 2012. But apparently this is not an Act dealing with charity matters (Re Sutton. Lewis v. Sutton, [1901] 2 Ch. 640; 66 J. P. 39).

(ii) The deed or will containing the assurance must, within six months, in the case of a deed after the execution thereof, or in the case of a will after the probate thereof, be enrolled in the books of the Charity Commissioners, if the land is situate in England or Wales . . .

For the purposes of this Act, the expression "populous place" means the administrative county of London, any municipal borough, any urban sanitary district, and any other place having a dense population of an urban character (o).

Application of Act.

2. This Act shall extend to any assurance by deed made within twelve months before the passing of this Act by a person alive at that passing as if it had been made after the passing, except that the assurance shall be enrolled or registered as aforesaid within six months after the passing of this Act.

Short title and construction.

3.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Working Classes Dwellings Act, 1890.

(2) Expressions used in this Act shall have the same meaning as in the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888 (p).

51 & 52 Vict. c. 42.

THE HOUSING OF THE WORKING CLASSES ACT, 1890.

(53 & 54 VICT. c. 70) (q).

An Act to consolidate and amend the Acts relating to Artizans and Labourers Dwellings and the Housing of the Working Classes. [18th August 1890.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890.

(o) The expression "populous place" may include a part of a rural district which is thickly populated.

(p) See s. 10 of that Act, ante, p. 1664, which contains definitions of the terms "assurance," "will," and "land."

This Act repealed and consolidated with amendments the Acts enumerated in the Seventh Schedule, post, p. 1746. It has been amended and supplemented by the Housing of the Working Classes Acts, 1894, 1900, and 1903, the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, the Housing Act, 1914, the Housing (No. 2) Act, 1914, the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, the Housing (Additional Powers) Act, 1919, and the Housing Act, 1921, post. The Acts of 1890, 1894, 1900, and 1903, and Part I. of the Act of 1909 may be cited together as the Housing of the Working Classes Acts, 1890—1909 (Act of 1909, s. 76 (1)). The Housing of the Working Classes Acts, 1890—1909, and the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, so far as it amends those Acts, may be cited together as the Housing Acts, 1890—1919 (Act of 1919, s. 52), and the Housing Acts, 1890—1919, and the Housing Act, 1921, so far as it amends those Acts, may be cited together as the Housing Acts, 1890—1921 (Act of 1921, s. 11).

This Act does not define the expression "working classes," but the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, Sched. XII. defines it for the purposes of s. 3 of that Act; see also s. 18 of the Settled Land Act, 1882, in notes to s. 74, post, p. 1728. For the meaning of the term generally reference may be made to London C. C. v. Davis (1897), 62 J. P. 68; 77 L. T 693; Crow v. Davis (1903), 67 J. P. 319; 89 L. T. 407. A chauffeur in the employment of a private individual has been held to be a member of the working classes (White v. St. Marylebone B. C., [1915] 3 K. B. 249). Cf. a note as to the term "labouring population" under s 23 of the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1908, post, p. 1973.

PART I (a).

UNHEALTHY AREAS.

Definitions.

2. In this part of this Act—

The expression "this part of this Act" includes any confirming Act (b) and

The expression "the Acts relating to nuisances" means: as respects the County of London and City of London, the Nuisances Removal Acts (c) as defined by the Sanitary Act, 1866, and any Act amending these Acts; and

As respects any urban (d) sanitary district in England the Public Health Acts (e); and in the case of any of the above mentioned areas, includes any local Act which contains any provisions with respect to nuisances in that area.

Application of Part I. of Act.

3. This Part of this Act shall not apply to rural sanitary districts.

Scheme by Local Authority.

Local authority on being satisfied by official representation of the unhealthiness of district to make scheme for its improvement.

4. Where an official representation as hereinafter mentioned (f) is made to the local authority (g) that within a certain area in the district of such authority either—

(a) any houses (h), courts, or alleys are unfit for human habitation, or

(b) the narrowness, closeness, and bad arrangement, or the bad condition of the streets (i) and houses or groups of houses within such area, or the want of light, air, ventilation, or proper conveniences, or any other sanitary defects, or one or more of such causes, are dangerous or injurious to the health of the inhabitants either of the buildings in the said area or of the neighbouring buildings (k);

(a) I.e., ss. 2–28; this part is deemed to include any provisions of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, which supersede or amend its original provisions (ibid., s. 47 (1)). By s. 40 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, Part I. of that Act is to be construed as one with this Act "and any provisions of this Part of this Act which supersede or amend any provisions of the principal Act shall be deemed to be part of that Part of the principal Act in which the provisions superseded or amended are contained, and references in this Part of this Act to the principal Act or to any provision of the principal Act shall be construed as references to that Act or provision as amended by any subsequent enactment, including this Part of this Act."

This Part of the Act consolidated with amendments the Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Improvement Acts (38 & 39 Vict. cc. 36 & 49; 42 & 43 Vict c. 63; 43 Vict. c. 2; 45 & 46 Vict. c. 54, Part I., as amended by 48 & 49 Vict. c. 72).

(b) No "confirming Act" is now necessary in the case of any improvement scheme under Part I. See note to s. 8 (4), post, p. 1686.

(c) These Acts are now repealed and consolidated by the Public Health (London) Act, 1891, which must be regarded as substituted for them in the text.

(d) This Part does not apply to rural districts (s. 3).

(e) A list of the Public Health Acts will be found in 51 & 52 Vict. c. 52, s. 1, ante, p. 789, and in the Short Titles Act, 1896. See also the Public Health Act, 1896, and the Public Health (Ports) Act, 1896, ante, pp. 1003, 1006.

(f) As to the official representation, see the next section.

(g) I.e., outside London the borough or urban district council: see s. 92 and Sched. I., post, p. 1735. As to the appointment of committees for the purposes of the Act, see s. 81 as amended, post, p. 1731. Two or more local authorities may be empowered to act jointly for any purpose of the Housing Acts (Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 38, post, p. 2026).

(h) In this section the word is "houses"; Part II. uses the narrower term "dwelling-house."

(i) The expression "street" has in Part I. (unless the context otherwise requires) the same meaning as in Part II. (see s. 29) and includes any court, alley, street, square or row of houses (Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 48).

(k) The corresponding words in 38 & 39 Vict. c. 36, s. 3, were "that diseases indicating a generally low condition of health amongst the population have been from time to time prevalent in a certain area, and that such prevalence may reasonably be attributed to the

and [that the most satisfactory method of dealing with the evils connected with such houses, courts, or alleys, and the sanitary defects in such area, is an improvement scheme] (l) for the re-arrangement and reconstruction of the streets and houses within such area, or of some of such streets or houses, the local authority shall take such representation into their consideration, and if satisfied of the truth thereof, and of the sufficiency of their resources (m), shall pass a resolution (n) to the effect that such area is an unhealthy area, and that an improvement scheme ought to be made in respect of such area, and after passing such resolution they shall forthwith proceed to make a scheme for the improvement of such area (o).

Provided always, that any number of such areas may be included in one improvement scheme.

Official representation: by whom to be made.

5.—(1) An official representation for the purposes of this Part of this Act shall mean a representation made (p) to the local authority by the medical officer of health of that authority, and in London made either by such officer or by any medical officer of health in London (q).

(2) A medical officer of health shall make such representation whenever he sees cause to make the same; and if [any justice] (r) of the peace acting within the district for which he acts as medical officer of health, or [six] (r) or closeness, narrowness," etc. It is not now necessary that there should have been any diseases actually prevalent in the area if the narrowness, etc., of the streets and houses are dangerous to the health of the inhabitants of the area or of adjoining buildings.

(l) The words within brackets were substituted by s. 22 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, post, p. 2023. The original words were narrower, viz., "That the evils connected with, etc., cannot be effectually remedied otherwise than by an improvement scheme."

(m) As to the power to enter and value premises, see Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 36, post, p. 2026.

(n) A form of resolution will be found in the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 614. A member of the local authority cannot vote upon this resolution if it relates to any dwelling-house, building, or land, in which he is beneficially interested. See s. 88, post, p. 1732.

(o) As to the requisites of the scheme, see s. 6, post, p. 1684. If a representation in London relates to less than ten houses, it must be dealt with under Part II., and in other cases of minor importance it may be so dealt with: see ss. 72, 73, post, p. 1727. A local authority who after receiving an official representation do not make and proceed with a scheme must send a copy of the representation to the Minister of Health (s. 10, post, p. 1687), and in a proper case they may be ordered to make and carry out a scheme: Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 4 (1), post, p. 1929; Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 11, post, p. 2013: see also s. 37 of that Act as to the power of the Minister to call for a report as to any crowded area, and ss. 5 and 6 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, for the wide powers now vested in the Minister of Health as regards defaulting authorities. Where a local authority have passed a resolution that an improvement scheme ought to be made they have, subject to the consent of the Minister of Health, power to acquire in advance land in the area proposed for inclusion in the scheme: see s. 13 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, post, p. 2152.

(p) The representation must be in writing. See s. 79 (2), post, p. 1730 For a form see the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 611.

(q) The representation may be made by any person authorised to act temporarily as medical officer of health (s. 79 (1), post, p. 1730). As to a temporary appointment in case of the illness or absence of a medical officer, see s. 26, post, p. 1698, and see further as to temporary appointments s. 4 of the Public Health (Officers') Act, 1921, ante, p. 1119. As to the appointment of a medical officer of health for the purposes of the Act by the London County Council, see s. 76, post, p. 1730. As to the appointment of medical officers of health in London, see the Public Health (London) Act, 1891, s. 106. As to a medical officer's power to enter premises, see the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 36, post, p. 2026.

(r) The words "any justice" and the word "six" were substituted for "two or more justices" and "twelve" respectively by s. 39, and the second Schedule to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

more persons liable to be rated to the local rate (s) complain to him of the unhealthiness of any area within such district, it shall be the duty of the medical officer of health forthwith to inspect such area, and to make an official representation stating the facts of the case, and whether in his opinion the said area or any part thereof is an unhealthy area or is not an unhealthy area (t).

Requisites of Improvement scheme of local authority.

6.—(1) The improvement scheme of a local authority shall be accompanied by maps, particulars, and estimates (u), and

(a) may exclude any part of the area in respect of which an official representation is made, or include any neighbouring lands, if the local authority are of opinion that such exclusion is expedient or inclusion is necessary for making their scheme efficient for sanitary purposes (x) ; and

(b) may provide for widening any existing approaches to the unhealthy area or otherwise for opening out the same for the purposes of ventilation or health ; and

(c) shall provide such dwelling accommodation, if any, for the working classes displaced by the scheme as is required to comply with this Act (y) ; and

(d) shall provide for proper sanitary arrangements ; [and

(e) may provide for any other matter (including the closing and diversion of highways) for which it seems expedient to make provision with a view to the improvement of the area or the general efficiency of the scheme] (z).

(2) The scheme shall distinguish the lands proposed to be taken compulsorily (a).

(3) The scheme may also provide for the scheme or any part thereof being carried out and effected by [any person having such interest in any property comprised in the scheme as may be sufficient to enable him to carry out and effect the same], under the superintendence and control of the local authority, and upon such terms and conditions to be embodied in the scheme as may be agreed upon between the local authority and such person (b).

(s) The local rate is defined in s. 92 and Sched. I., post, p. 1735.

(t) Where the medical officer is required by any justice or six ratepayers to make a representation, he must do so even if the area is not, in his opinion, an unhealthy area. As to the right of the justice or ratepayers to appeal to the confirming authority, if the medical officer makes default, or if he reports that the area is not unhealthy, see s. 16, post, p. 1690.

For forms of complaint and of official representation made in consequence thereof, see the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., pp. 612, 613.

(u) As to the power to enter and value premises, see the Housing, Town Planning, etc., Act, 1909, s. 36, post, p. 2026.

(x) Repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, ss. 23 (1), 75, Sched. VI. ; efficiency of the scheme from any point of view is now sufficient to justify the exclusion or inclusion.

(y) For the provisions referred to, see s. 11 as amended, post, p. 1688. See also the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 3, post, p. 1928.

(z) Clause (e) was added by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 23 (1), post, p. 2023.

(a) From this it is to be inferred that the scheme must state the property which must be acquired for purposes of the scheme, and distinguish how much of such property is to be acquired compulsorily.

As to sites of ancient monuments or objects of archæological interest, see the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 45, post, p. 2029 ; as to commons, open spaces and allotments, see ibid., s. 73, post, p. 2042 ; and as to land near royal palaces or parks, see ibid., s. 74, post, p. 2042.

(b) By s. 39 and the Second Schedule to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, the words in brackets were substituted for "the person entitled to the first estate of freehold in any property comprised in the scheme, or with the concurrence of such person."

Confirmation of Scheme.

7. Upon the completion of an improvement scheme the local authority shall [forthwith] (c) Publication of notices.

(a) Publish . . . (d) in [a] (e) newspaper circulating within the district of the local authority, an advertisement (f) stating the fact of a scheme having been made, the limits of the area comprised therein, and naming a place within such area or in the vicinity thereof where a copy of the scheme may be seen at all reasonable hours; and

(b) . . . (g) serve a notice on every owner or reputed owner (h), lessee or reputed lessee, and occupier [(except tenants for a month or a less period than a month)] (i) of any lands proposed to be taken compulsorily, so far as such persons can reasonably be ascertained, stating that such lands are proposed to be taken compulsorily for the purpose of an improvement scheme, and in the case of any owner or reputed owner, lessee or reputed lessee, requiring an answer stating whether the person so served dissents or not in respect of taking such lands; Service of notices.

(c) Such notice shall be served—

(i) by delivery of the same personally to the person required to be served, or if such person is absent abroad, or cannot be found, to his agent, or if no agent can be found, then by leaving the same on the premises (k); or,

(ii) by leaving the same at the usual or last known place of abode of such person as aforesaid; or,

(iii) by post (l) addressed to the usual or last known place of abode of such person.

(d) One notice addressed to the occupier or occupiers without naming him or them, and left at any house, shall be deemed to be a notice served on the occupier or on all the occupiers of any such house.

(c) This word was inserted by s. 39 and the Second Schedule to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

(d) The words "during three consecutive weeks in the month of September or October or November" are here omitted in consequence of the Housing, Town Planning, etc., Act, 1919, s. 39 and Second Schedule.

(e) This word was substituted for the words "some one and the same" by s. 39 and Second Schedule to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

(f) Forms of advertisement, of notice to owners and lessees, and of notice to occupiers, prescribed by the Minister of Health, will be found scheduled to the Board's Order of Nov. 19th, 1910, in App. II., post. As to signature of notices, see s. 86 (2), post, p. 1732. As to the power of the Minister to dispense with advertisements and notices, see the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 41, post, p. 2028. Additions to or improvements of the property after publication of the advertisement are not, unless necessary for its maintenance in a proper state of repair, to be included in the assessment of the compensation. See s. 21, post, p. 1692.

(g) Words fixing a time are here omitted in consequence of s. 39 and Second Schedule to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

(h) There is no definition of an owner in this Part of the Act.

(i) The words in brackets were added by s. 39 and Second Schedule to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

(k) The notice can only be left on the premises if the person or his agent cannot be found, except, of course, when the premises are the usual or last known place of abode of such person.

(l) Apparently the service will be good although it is known that the person has left that place (Re Follick (1908), 97 L. T. 645). Service by post is deemed to be effected by properly addressing, prepaying, and posting a letter containing the document, and (unless the contrary is proved) to have been effected at the time when the letter would be delivered in the ordinary course of post (52 & 53 Vict. c. 63, s. 26). Prepayment must be proved (Walthamstow U. D. C. v. Henwood, [1897] 1 Ch. 41; 61 J. P. 23).

Making and confirmation of Provisional (m) Order.

8.—(1) Upon compliance with the foregoing provisions with respect to the publication of an advertisement and the service of notices (n), the local authority shall present a petition . . . (o) to the [Minister of Health], praying that an Order may be made confirming such scheme (p).

(2) The petition shall be accompanied by a copy of the scheme, and shall state the names of the owners or reputed owners, lessees or reputed lessees, who have dissented (q) in respect of the taking their lands, and shall be supported by such evidence as the . . . (r) [Minister of Health] . . . (r) (in this Part of this Act referred to as the confirming authority), may from time to time require.

(3) If, on consideration of the petition and on proof of the publication of the proper advertisements and the service of the proper notices (s), the confirming authority think fit to proceed with the case, they shall direct a local inquiry (t) to be held in, or in the vicinity of, the area comprised in the scheme, for the purpose of ascertaining the correctness of the official representation made as to the area and the sufficiency (u) of the scheme provided for its improvement, and any local objections to be made to such scheme.

(4) After receiving the report made upon such inquiry, the confirming authority may make a Provisional Order (x) declaring the limits of the area comprised in the scheme and authorising such scheme to be carried into execution.

(5) Such Provisional Order (x) may be made either absolutely or with such conditions and modifications of the scheme as the confirming authority may think fit, so that no addition be made to the lands proposed in the scheme to be taken compulsorily (y), and it shall be the duty of the local authority to serve a [notice] (z) of any Provisional Order so made in the manner and upon the persons in which and upon whom notices in respect of lands proposed to

(n) As to the power of the Minister of Health to dispense with advertisement and notices, see Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 41, post, p. 2028.

(o) The S. L. R. A., 1908, has repealed here some words previously rendered obsolete by the Order in Council referred to in the notes to s. 2 (1) of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903.

(p) Printed instructions are annually issued by the Minister of Health as to applications for the confirmation of Improvement Schemes under Part I. of this Act. For the latest, see App. II., post.

For a form of petition, see the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 617, and for a form of statutory declaration as to service of notices, see ibid., p. 620.

(q) As to the owners, etc. "who have dissented," see s. 7 (b), ante, p. 1685.

(r) See note (o) to sub-s. (1), supra.

(s) As to the power of the confirming authority to dispense with advertisements and notices, see Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 41, post, p. 2028.

(t) As to the conduct of inquiries, see s. 85, post, p. 1732.

(u) As to re-housing obligations, see s. 11, post, p. 1688.

(x) The Order of confirmation is no longer a provisional one, but takes effect in all cases without confirmation by Parliament: see the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 24 (1), post, p. 2023, amending s. 5 (2) of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, post, p. 1929. By s. 5 (3) of the last-named Act the making of an Order which takes effect without confirmation by Parliament shall have the same effect as the confirmation of the Order by Act of Parliament, and any reference to a Provisional Order, made under this section (i.e., s. 8 of the Act of 1890), shall include a reference to an Order which so takes effect without confirmation by Parliament.

(y) The local authority should, therefore, consider carefully in the first instance what lands it may be necessary to acquire compulsorily. See s. 6 (2), ante, p. 1684.

(z) The word "notice" was substituted for the word "copy" by s. 39 and Second Schedule to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

be taken compulsorily are required by this Part of this Act to be served (a) . . . (b).

(6) [Confirmation of Order by Act of Parliament] (c).

(7) The confirming authority may make such order as they think fit in favour of any person whose lands were proposed by the scheme to be taken compulsorily for the allowance of the reasonable costs, charges, and expenses properly incurred by him in opposing such scheme (d).

(8) All costs, charges, and expenses (e) incurred by the confirming authority in relation to any Provisional Order (f) under this Part of this Act shall, to such amount as the confirming authority think proper to direct, and all costs, charges, and expenses of any person to such amount as may be allowed to him by the confirming authority in pursuance of the aforesaid power, shall be deemed to be an expense incurred by the local authority under this Part of this Act, and shall be paid to the confirming authority and to such person respectively, in such manner and at such times and either in one sum or by instalments as the confirming authority may order, with power for the confirming authority to direct interest to be paid at such rate not exceeding five pounds in the hundred by the year as the confirming authority may determine, upon any sum for the time being due in respect of such costs, charges, and expenses as aforesaid.

(9) Any order made by the confirming authority in pursuance of this section may be made a rule of a superior court, and be enforced accordingly (g).

9. [Costs connected with confirmation by Parliament] (h).

Inquiry on refusal of local authority to make improvement scheme.

10. Where an official representation is made to the local authority with a view to their passing a resolution in favour of an improvement scheme, and they fail to pass any resolution in relation to such representation, or pass a resolution to the effect that they will not proceed with such scheme, the local authority shall, as soon as possible, send a copy of the official representation, accompanied by their reasons for not acting upon it, to the confirming authority, and, upon the receipt thereof, the confirming authority may direct a local inquiry to be held, and a report to be made to them with respect

(a) I.e., upon the owners or reputed owners, lessees or reputed lessees, and occupiers (except tenants for a month or a less period than a month). See s. 7. ante, p. 1685. For a form of notice for use under this sub-section, see the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 621.

(b) The words "except tenants for a month or a less period than a month" are here omitted in consequence of s. 39 and Second Schedule to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

(c) Repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 75, Sched. VI., post, p. 2042: see note (x), ante, p. 1686.

At a date when a confirming Act was still necessary it was held that persons interested in lands scheduled for compulsory purchase retained all their legal rights in respect thereof until the Act passed, and could maintain an action in respect of a nuisance thereto (Dye v. Patman (1897), 62 J. P. 135; 46 W. R. 200).

(d) The opposition here referred to appears to be the opposition at the local inquiry held under sub-s. (3) The amount allowed will be in the Minister's discretion.

(e) See further as to costs of inquiries, s. 85, post, p. 1732. As to the expenses of the local authority, see ss. 24, 25, post, pp. 1695, 1697. As to enforcing an order for costs, etc., see the next sub-section.

(f) See note (x), ante, p. 1686.

(g) A rule of court is enforced in the same manner as a judgment. See 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110, s. 18. If it is an order for payment of money, it may be enforced like any other judgment against a local authority by mandamus.

(h) Repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 75, Sched. VI., because no confirmation by Parliament is now necessary: see note (x), ante, p. 1686.

to the correctness of the official representation made to the local authority, and any matters connected therewith on which the confirming authority may desire to be informed (i).

Provision of Dwelling Accommodation for Working Classes displaced by Scheme.

Requisites of improvement scheme as to accommodation of working classes.

11.—(1) . . . (k).

(2) . . . (l) a scheme . . . (l) shall, if the confirming authority so require (but it shall not otherwise be obligatory on the local authority so to frame their scheme), provide for the accommodation (m) of such number of those persons of the working classes displaced in the area with respect to which the scheme is proposed in suitable dwellings to be erected in such place or places either within or without the limits of the same area as the said authority on a report made by the officer conducting the local inquiry may require (n).

Execution of Scheme by Local Authority.

Duty of local authority to carry scheme, when confirmed, into execution.

12.—(1) When the confirming Act authorising any improvement scheme of a local authority under this Part of this Act has been passed by Parliament, it shall be the duty of that authority to take steps for purchasing the lands required for the scheme and otherwise for carrying the scheme into execution as soon as practicable [provided that the Local Authority shall not be required to acquire any leasehold interest in any property comprised in a scheme which can be allowed to expire without unduly delaying the execution of the scheme] (o).

If the Minister of Health is satisfied that a scheme ought to have been made for the improvement of the area he may order the local authority to make and carry out a scheme, and such order may be enforced by mandamus. See the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 4, post, p. 1929, and the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 11, post, p. 2013.

By s. 6 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act of 1919 it is enacted that where a representation is made to the Minister of Health as respects any county district that the local authority have failed to exercise their powers under Part I. or Part II. of the Act of 1890, the Minister may direct the county council to instruct the medical officer of health of the county to inspect such district and to make a report to the Minister as to the exercise of the powers aforesaid by the local authority.

See also the drastic power given to the Minister of Health as regards defaulting authorities by s. 5 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, post, p. 2148.

(k) This sub-section made special provision as to the accommodation of working classes by a scheme in London, but now by s. 33 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, the sub-section is repealed and London is placed in the same position as the provinces, as to which see sub-section (2).

(l) Words are omitted here by reason of s. 33 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919. They were consequent on special provision having been made as to London in sub-s. (1) which, as above stated, has now been repealed.

(m) As to providing accommodation, see s. 23, post, p. 1695, and notes.

(n) Re-housing obligations are imposed by the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 3, post, p. 1928, wherever, under the powers given after the passing of the Act by any local Act or Provisional Order, or Order having the effect of an Act, any land is acquired, whether compulsorily or by agreement, by any authority, company, or person, or where after the date of the passing of that Act any land is so acquired compulsorily under any general Act (other than the Housing Acts).

(o) The words in brackets were added by s. 39 and Second Schedule to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

No confirming Act is now necessary; and references to a confirming Act must be read as references to the Order of the Minister of Health approving the scheme (see s. 8 (4), and note thereto, p. 1686, ante).

The provisions for the acquisition of land are contained in s. 20, post, p. 1691.

As to the power of the Minister of Health to compel the carrying out of improvement or

(2) They may sell or let all or any part of the area comprised in the scheme to any purchasers or lessees for the purpose and under the condition that such purchasers or lessees will, as respects the land so purchased by or leased to them, carry the scheme into execution; and in particular they may insert in any grant or lease of any part of the area provisions binding the grantee or lessee to build thereon as in the grant or lease prescribed, and to maintain and repair the buildings, and prohibiting the division of buildings, and any addition to or alteration of the character of buildings without the consent of the local authority, and for the re-vesting of the land in the local authority, or their re-entry thereon, on breach of any provision in the grant or lease (p).

(3) The local authority may also engage with any body of trustees, society, or person, to carry the whole or any part of such scheme into effect upon such terms as the local authority may think expedient, but the local authority shall not themselves, without the express approval of the confirming authority, undertake the rebuilding of the houses or the execution of any part of the scheme, except that they may take down any or all of the buildings upon the area, and clear the whole or any part thereof, and may lay out, form, pave, sewer, and complete all such streets upon the land purchased by them as they may think fit, and all streets so laid out and completed shall thenceforth be public streets, repairable by the same authority as other streets in the district (q).

(4) Provided that in any grant or lease of any part of the area which may be appropriated by the scheme for the erection of dwellings for the working classes the local authority shall impose suitable conditions and restrictions as to the elevation, size, and design of the houses, and the extent of the accommodation to be afforded thereby, and shall make due provision for the maintenance of proper sanitary arrangements (r).

(5) If the local authority erect any dwellings out of funds to be provided under this Part of this Act, they shall, unless the confirming authority otherwise determine, sell and dispose of all such dwellings within ten years from the time of the completion thereof (s).

reconstruction schemes, see s. 13, post, p. 1690; the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 11, post, p. 2013; the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 4, post, p. 1929, and ss. 5 and 6 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, post, p. 2148.

(p) The local authority may themselves clear the area, but they cannot build thereon without the approval of the Minister: see sub-s. (3), infra. They may, however, let or sell to persons who will covenant to clear the site or part thereof, and to rebuild according to the requirements of this section.

As to enforcing the covenants by action for specific performance, see Wolverhampton Corporation v. Emmons, [1901] 1 Q. B. 515.

As to the application of the proceeds of any sale of land, see s. 82, post, p. 1731.

(q) The Act does not contemplate the entire execution of the scheme by the local authority. They may clear the site and make streets, but they are, in general, to leave to third persons the work of rebuilding under conditions such as are mentioned in the preceding and the next sub-sections.

The new streets will be repairable by the authority under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 149, ante, p. 273.

As to trusts for housing purposes, see the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 9, post, p. 2012.

(r) Such an appropriation for working class dwellings may be required under s. 6 (1) (c), ante, p. 1684, and s. 11, ante, p. 1688. See also s. 3 of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, referred to in the notes to the latter section.

(s) This sub-section was repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 75, Sched. VI., post, p. 2042; and by s. 40 thereof it is no longer obligatory on an authority to sell and dispose of any lands or dwellings acquired or constructed by them for any of the purposes of the Housing Acts.

(6) The local authority may, where they think it expedient so to do, without themselves acquiring the land, or after or subject to their acquiring any part thereof, contract with [any person having such interest in any land comprised in an improvement scheme as may be sufficient to enable him to carry out and effect the same] (t) for the carrying of the scheme into effect by him in respect of such land.

Completion of scheme on failure by local authority.

13. If within five years after the removal of any buildings on the land set aside by any scheme authorised by a confirming Act (u) as sites for working men's dwellings, the local authority have failed to sell or let such land for the purposes prescribed by the scheme, or have failed to make arrangements for the erection of the said dwellings, the confirming authority may order the said land to be sold by public auction or public tender, with full power to fix a reserved price, subject to the conditions imposed by the scheme, and to any modifications (x) thereof which may be made in pursuance of this Part of this Act, and to a special condition on the part of the purchaser to erect upon the said land dwellings for the working classes, in accordance with plans to be approved by the local authority, and subject to such other reservations and regulations as the confirming authority may deem necessary.

14. [Notice to occupiers by placards] (y).

Power of confirming authority to modify authorised scheme.

15.—(1) The confirming authority, on application from the local authority, and on its being proved to their satisfaction that an improvement can be made in the details of any scheme authorised by a confirming Act (z), may permit the local authority to modify any part of their improvement scheme which it may appear inexpedient to carry into execution, but any part of the scheme respecting the provision of dwelling accommodation for persons of the working class, when so modified, shall be such as might have been inserted in the original scheme (a).

(2) [Modifications to be laid before Parliament] (b).

Inquiries with respect to Unhealthy Areas.

Inquiry on default of medical officer in certain cases.

16.—(1) Where in any district [complaint has been made] (c) to a medical officer of health of the unhealthiness of any area within that district [by any person or persons competent under the foregoing provisions of this Part of

(t) By s. 39 and the Second Schedule to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, the words in brackets were substituted for the words "the person entitled to the first estate of freehold in any land comprised in an improvement scheme."

(u) See note to s. 12 (1), ante, p. 1688.

(x) As to the modifications which may be made in a scheme, see s. 15, infra.

(y) By the Second Schedule to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, it was provided that this section should be omitted from the Act of 1890 and by s. 50 and the Fifth Schedule to the Act of 1919 the section (s. 14 in the text) was repealed.

(z) See note to s. 12 (1), ante, p. 1688.

(a) The Minister of Health may now under this section permit an authority to modify a scheme, not only by the abandonment of any part of the scheme which it may appear inexpedient to carry out, but also by amending or adding to the scheme in matters of detail: Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 25.

As to what might have been inserted in the original scheme with reference to the provision of dwelling accommodation for persons of the working class, see s. 11, ante, p. 1688.

(b) Sub-section (2), as to laying modifications before Parliament, and as to the necessity in certain cases for confirmation by Parliament, was repealed by the Act of 1909, s. 75, Sched. VI.; even the original order no longer requires such confirmation (see note (x), ante, p. 1686).

(c) These words were substituted for the words "twelve or more ratepayers have complained" by s. 39 and Second Schedule to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

this Act to make such complaint] (d), and the medical officer of health has failed to inspect such area, or to make an official representation with respect thereto, or has made an official representation to the effect that in his opinion the area is not an unhealthy area, such [complainant or complainants as the case may be] (e) may appeal to the confirming authority [and the confirming authority may] (f) appoint a legally qualified medical practioner (g) to inspect such area, and to make representation to the confirming authority, stating the facts of the case, and whether, in his opinion, the area or any part thereof is or is not an unhealthy area. The representation so made shall be transmitted by the confirming authority to the local authority, and if it states that the area is an unhealthy area the local authority shall proceed therein in the same manner as if it were an official representation made to that authority (h).

(2) The confirming authority shall make such order as to the costs of the inquiry as they think just, with power to require the whole or any part of such costs to be paid by the appellants where the medical practitioner appointed is of opinion that the area is not an unhealthy area, and to declare the whole or any part of such costs to be payable by the local authority where he is of opinion that the area or any part thereof is an unhealthy area.

(3) Any order made by the confirming authority in pursuance of this section may be made a rule of a superior court, and be enforced accordingly (i).

17, 18, 19. [Proceedings on inquiries] (j).

Acquisition of Land (k).

20. The clauses of the Lands Clauses Acts, with respect to the purchase and taking of lands otherwise than by agreement shall not, except to the extent set forth in the Second Schedule to this Act, apply to any lands taken Acquisition of land.

(d) These words were added by the above mentioned Act of 1919, s. 39, Sched. II.

(e) These words were substituted for "ratepayers" by the above mentioned Act of 1919, s. 39, Sched. II.

Under s. 5 (2) (as amended), ante, p. 1683, any justice or any six or more ratepayers may complain to the medical officer of health of the unhealthiness of an area. This sub section gives them an appeal if he fails to inspect the area or to make an official representation, or if he makes a representation that the area is not unhealthy. The Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 4 (2) (as amended), post, p. 1929, gives to any six or more ratepayers the same right of appeal. For a form of petition on appeal, see the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 623.

Apart from any appeal the Minister of Health may on his own initiative call for a report as to any crowded area: Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 37, post, p. 2026.

(f) These words were substituted for the words "and upon their giving security to the satisfaction of that authority for costs, the confirming authority shall" by s. 39, and Second Schedule to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

(g) Such an inspection may now be made by any inspector or officer of, or person employed by, the Minister: see s. 26 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, post, p. 2026; and s. 85 of this Act (as to inquiries) will apply accordingly (ibid.).

As to the payment of costs, see the next sub-section.

(h) If the area is found to be unhealthy the representation will become an official representation, upon which the authority must act as provided by s. 4, ante, p. 1682.

(i) The rule of court may be enforced like a judgment of the High Court. See 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110, s. 18.

(j) These sections were repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 75, Sched. VI. Presumably in view of s. 85, post, p. 1732, they were regarded as unnecessary, now that the Minister of Health is the only "confirming authority" under the Act.

(k) As to sites of ancient monuments or objects of archæological interest, commons, open spaces and allotments, and land near royal palaces or parks, see the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, ss. 45, 73, 74, post, pp. 2029, 2042.

An authority may accept gifts of land for any purpose of the Housing Acts (ibid., s. 8).

As to sales by corporate bodies, see s. 74 (2), post, p. 1728.

in pursuance of this Part of this Act, but save as aforesaid the said Lands Clauses Acts, as amended by the provisions contained in the said Schedule (m), shall regulate and apply to the purchase and taking of lands, and shall for that purpose be deemed to form part of this Part of this Act in the same manner as if they were enacted in the body thereof; subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act and to the provisions following (l); that is to say,

(i) This Part of this Act shall authorise the taking by agreement of any lands which the local authority may require for the purpose of carrying into effect the scheme authorised by any confirming Act, but it shall authorise the taking by the exercise of any compulsory powers of such lands only as are proposed by the scheme in the confirming Act to be taken compulsorily: (n)

(ii) In the construction of the Lands Clauses Acts, and the provisions in the Second Schedule to this Act, this Part of this Act shall be deemed to be the special Act, and the local authority shall be deemed to be the promoters of the undertaking; and the period after which the powers for the compulsory purchase or taking of lands shall not be exercised shall be three years after the passing of the confirming Act.

Special provision as to compensation.

21 (o).—(1) Whenever the compensation payable in respect of any (l) By the Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 23, the expression "the Lands Clauses Acts" means, as respects England and Wales, 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18; 23 & 24 Vict. c. 106; 32 & 33 Vict. c. 18; 46 & 47 Vict. c. 15; and any Acts for the time being in force amending the same, e.g., 58 & 59 Vict. c. 11. All these Acts are set out, ante, pp. 1145, 1314, 1593, and post, p. 1791. In a case decided under an earlier Act of which the provisions were substantially identical with this Act, MATHEW, J., said, "I think it was meant that we should turn to the schedule and see how far the Lands Clauses Act was displaced by the schedule, and so far as it was not displaced it was intended that the Lands Clauses Act should be incorporated with the Dwellings Improvement Act." See Wilkins v. Birmingham Corporation (1883), 25 Ch. D. 78, 81. In London C. C. v. Wilson's Executors, [1916] 1 K. B. 837, ATKIN, J., inclined to the view that the clauses of Sched. II. were intended to form a complete code on the purchase and taking of land otherwise than by agreement, and that the provisions of the Lands Clauses Act as to taking land otherwise than by agreement were meant to be excluded entirely, but, feeling himself bound by the opinion of MATHEW, J., he followed his ruling.

Formerly an authority taking premises under this Part of the Act were liable to make good any deficiency in the poor rate occasioned thereby under s. 133 of the Lands Clauses Act, 1845 (St. Leonard, Shoreditch (Vestry of) v. London C. C., [1895] 2 Q. B. 104; 59 J. P. 423; but s. 133 no longer applies to lands acquired by an authority under the Housing Acts (Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 34, post, p. 2025).

(m) The incorporation of the Lands Clauses Acts as modified by the Second Schedule must now be read in the light of the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, post, p. 2195. The last mentioned Act does not give any new power to acquire land but it modifies to a considerable extent the procedure of the Lands Clauses Acts.

(n) References to a "confirming Act," which is no longer necessary, must be read as references to the Order of the Minister of Health approving the scheme (see s. 8 (4), and notes thereto, ante, p. 1686).

The provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts as to the taking of lands by agreement will apply to any lands required for the purposes of the scheme; but no lands may be compulsorily acquired, except in so far as that is expressly authorised by the scheme.

"Land" includes any right over land (s. 93, post, p. 1734).

By s. 13 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, post, p. 2152, power is given to acquire in advance lands in areas proposed for inclusion in improvement schemes.

(o) The provisions of this section have now ceased to apply as respects land included in a scheme under this part of this Act other than land included in such a scheme only for the purpose of making the scheme efficient and not on account of the sanitary condition of the premises thereon or of those premises being dangerous or prejudicial to health, in so far as the provisions of this section are inconsistent with s. 9 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919 (q.v. at p. 2150, post). The last mentioned section contains the substituted provisions. Inasmuch therefore as there may be cases when the provisions lands (p) or of any interests in any lands proposed to be taken compulsorily in pursuance of this Part of this Act requires to be assessed—

(a) the estimate of the value of such lands or interests shall be based upon the fair market value, as estimated at the time of the valuation being made of such lands (q), and of the several interests in such lands, due regard being had to the nature and then condition of the property, and the probable duration of the buildings in their existing state, and to the state of repair thereof, without any additional allowance in respect of the compulsory purchase (r) of an area or of any part of an area in respect of which an official representation has been made, or of any lands included in a scheme which, in the opinion of the arbitrator, have been so included as falling under the description of property which may be constituted an unhealthy area under this Part of this Act; and

(b) in such estimate any addition to or improvement of the property made after the date of the publication in pursuance of this Part of this Act of an advertisement stating the fact of the improvement scheme having been made shall not (unless such addition or improvement was necessary for the maintenance of the property in a proper state of repair) be included, nor in the case of any interest acquired after the said date shall any separate estimate of the value thereof be made so as to increase the amount of compensation to be paid for the lands (s); and of the section in the text will be those which are applicable, such of the notes as may be relevant in those circumstances are retained. The rules for assessing compensation as laid down by the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, do not affect any special provisions as to the assessment of the value of land acquired for the purpose of Part I. of the Act of 1890, or any amending Act if and so far as the provisions thereof are inconsistent with the said rules. See s. 7 of the Act, at p. 2199, post. The provisions of the Act which are not inconsistent must therefore be regarded.

(q) This estimate is not limited to the value set upon the property in the original estimate made for the purposes of ss. 4 and 6 (Dye v. Patman (1897), 62 J. P. 135; 46 W. R. 200).

A brewery company, lessees of a publichouse, had sub-let it for the residue of their term (less ten days), at the same rent as they themselves paid; but their tenant was bound to pay them £200 in each year in which he sold on the premises any malt liquor not bought from them. The house having been taken compulsorily, it was held that the tying covenant was one running with the land and that its value must be taken into account in assessing compensation under this section (Chandler's Wiltshire Brewery Co., Ltd. and London C. C., In re, [1903] 1 K. B. 569; 67 J. P. 119).

Under a local Act a grand jury presented that certain houses were unfit for human habitation and ought to be demolished. The estimate of value was required to be based on the fair market value, due regard being had to the nature and condition of the property and the probable duration of the buildings in their existing state, and to their state of repair, without any additional allowance in respect to the compulsory purchase of the premises. The arbitrator held that the presentment was conclusive as to the premises being unfit for human habitation, and that such fact must be taken into consideration in ascertaining the value of the premises. It was held that this was wrong, and that the claimant was entitled to the market value of the property as producing rent, due regard being had to the terms of the Provisional Order. Semble, per Lopes, L.J., that the presentment was inadmissible as evidence in the inquiry as to the value of the property (Gough v. Liverpool (Mayor, etc. of) (1891), 55 J. P. 789; 65 L. T. 512). Subsequently the arbitrator awarded a sum equal to the market value less thirty per cent. on account of the insanitary condition of the neighbourhood, and the court upheld his award (56 J. P. 357; 8 T. L. R. 247).

(r) In view of the provisions of the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, it is open to doubt whether an allowance may be made for compulsory purchase when land is included in a scheme only for the purpose of making it efficient.

(s) This clause is a re-enactment of 45 & 46 Vict. c. 54, s. 4. In Wilkins v. Mayor, etc. of Birmingham (1883), 25 Ch. D. 78; 48 J. P. 231 (commenced before that Act came into

(2) On the occasion of assessing the compensation payable under any improvement scheme in respect of any house or premises situate within an unhealthy area evidence shall be receivable (u) by the arbitrator to prove—

(1st) that the rental of the house or premises was enhanced by reason of the same being used for illegal purposes or being so overcrowded as to be dangerous or injurious to the health of the inmates; or

(2ndly) that the house or premises are in such a condition as to be a nuisance within the meaning of the Acts relating to nuisances (v), or are in a state of defective sanitation, or are not in reasonably good repair; or

(3rdly) that the house or premises are unfit, and not reasonably capable of being made fit, for human habitation;

and, if the arbitrator is satisfied by such evidence, then the compensation—

(a) shall in the first case so far as it is based on rental be based on the rental which would have been obtainable if the house or premises were occupied for legal purposes and only by the number of persons whom the house or premises were under all the circumstances of the case fitted to accommodate without such overcrowding as is dangerous or injurious to the health of the inmates; and

(b) shall in the second case be the amount estimated as the value of the house or premises if the nuisance had been abated, or if they had been put into a sanitary condition, or into reasonably good repair, after deducting the estimated expense of abating the nuisance, or putting them into such condition or repair, as the case may be; and

(c) shall in the third case be the value of the land, and of the materials of the buildings thereon.

Extinction of rights of way and other easements.

22. Upon the purchase by the local authority of any lands required for the purpose of carrying into effect any scheme, all rights of way, rights of laying down or of continuing any pipes, sewers, or drains on, through, or under such lands, or part thereof, and all other rights or easements in or relating to such lands, or any part thereof, shall (y) be extinguished, and all force), it was held, apart from any such provision, that publication of a requisition under 38 & 39 Vict. c. 36, Sch. s. 6, was analogous to a notice to treat under the Lands Clauses Acts, and that a landowner affected by it could not afterwards change his position, or obtain an increased interest in premises so as to entitle him to increased compensation. In London C. C. v. Wilson's Executors, [1916] 1 K. B. 837, ATKIN, J., intimated that if he had been deciding Wilkins' case, supra, he would have construed the words "as estimated at the time of the valuation being made" as referring to the time of the final and conclusive valuation being made by the arbitrator in case of dispute, and not the date of the requisition, but his lordship accepted the ruling of MATHEW, J., in Wilkins' case. In the London C. C. case, supra, ATKIN, J., held that the date of the advertisement was not the proper date for valuation. With regard to the exception in respect of necessary repairs, see Mills v. East London Union (1872), L. R. 8 C. P. 79; Higgins v. Lord Mayor, etc. of Dublin (1891), 28 L. R. Ir. 484.

(u) Section 29 of the Housing, Town Plannning, etc. Act, 1909, post, p. 2024, makes it clear that an authority may tender evidence under all these three headings although they have taken no steps to remedy the defects or evils disclosed by the evidence.

As to the whole of this sub-section, compare s. 41 (3), post, p. 1711. If the compensation is not agreed it must be assessed by the arbitrator under Sched. II. (7) (as amended), post, p. 1738.

(v) As to such Acts, see s. 2, ante, p. 1682.

(y) The hard and fast rule laid down by this section was found to produce inconvenient results in some cases; and now by s. 27 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, p. 2024, post, a scheme may, with the consent of the persons entitled to any right or easement which would be extinguished by virtue of this section, exclude or modify the application of the section.

The section re-enacted 38 & 39 Vict. c. 36, s. 20. It was held that that section applied the soil of such ways, and the property in the pipes, sewers, or drains, shall vest in the local authority, subject to this provision, that compensation shall be paid by the local authority to any persons or bodies of persons proved to have sustained loss by this section, and such compensation shall be determined in the manner in which compensation for lands is determinable under this Part of this Act, or as near thereto as circumstances admit.

Application of lands for accommodation of working classes.

23. A local authority may, for the purpose of providing accommodation for persons of the working classes displaced [in consequence of] any improvement scheme, appropriate any lands for the time being belonging to them which are suitable for the purpose, or may purchase by agreement any such further lands as may be convenient (z).

Expenses (a).

Formation of improvement fund for purposes of Act.

24.—(1) The receipts of a local authority under this Part of this Act shall form a fund (in this Act referred to as "the dwelling-house improvement fund"), and their expenditure shall be defrayed out of such fund (b).

to ancient lights in buildings adjoining the lands purchased, and that the loss of the right to light was matter for compensation by the authority (Badham v. Morris (1881), 52 L. J. Ch. 237 n.; 45 L. T. 579). That decision was followed in Swanston v. Finn and Metropolitan Board of Works (1883), 52 L. J. Ch. 235; 48 L. T. 634, where it was held that the effect of the section was, that upon the purchase of land under the Act, all easements whatsoever affecting the land became extinguished, but that the authority must pay compensation to persons injured as provided by the section. In that case an authority had taken a house for the purpose of an improvement scheme. The plaintiffs, the owners of an adjoining building, claimed to be entitled to a right to support for it from the house so purchased, and brought an action to restrain the authority from removing the house in such a way as to interfere with such right. It was held that the only right the plaintiffs could have was to receive compensation under the section. In a later case it was again held that the section applied to an easement of light, and that it included cases where a right or easement was in process of being acquired by enjoyment under the Prescription Act at the date of the purchase of the land, and had the effect of extinguishing such inchoate rights as well as rights or easements already acquired over the land; and, therefore, that the owner of a house to which there had been access of light over land purchased under the Act for a period of ten years before and ten years after such purchase, did not gain an easement of light under the Prescription Act by reason of such twenty years' enjoyment. But, semble, such an owner would be entitled to compensation to the extent to which the value of his house might be diminished by the extinction of his inchoate right (Barlow v. Ross (1890), 24 Q. B. D. 381; 54 J. P. 660).

An owner claiming compensation under this section for interference with an easement of light cannot give evidence of loss of trade, or diminution in value of the goodwill of the business carried on on the dominant tenement (In re Harvey and the London C. C., [1909] 1 Ch. 528; 73 J. P. 124).

As to assessment of compensation, see Sched. II. (7) (as amended), post, p. 1738.

(z) The words within brackets have been substituted for the word "by": Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 46, Sched. II.

It may be open to question whether this section would authorise the appropriation of lands acquired for some other specific purpose. See Att.-Gen. v. Hanwell U. D. C., [1900] 2 Ch. 377; Att.-Gen. v. Pontypridd U. D. C., [1906] 2 Ch. 257; 70 J. P. 394. Cf. s. 57 (3), 74 (2), post, pp. 1722, 1728. As to the appropriation of lands by a municipal corporation, see the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, s. 111, and by an education authority, the Education (Administrative Provisions) Act, 1909, s. 5; and see generally the wide powers of appropriation which may be conferred on any local authority by the Minister of Health under the P. H. A., 1907, s. 95, ante, p. 1078.

See also the power to acquire water rights for the purpose of affording a water supply to houses provided or to be provided under a scheme, s. 14 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, post, p. 2153.

(a) The financial provisions of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, under which the State may recoup losses incurred in connection with housing schemes apply to losses arising out of a re-housing scheme occasioned by an improvement scheme, see s. 7 (1) of the Act of 1919, post, p. 2011.

(b) An authority may accept gifts of land, money or property for any purpose of the Housing Acts: Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 8, post, p. 2012.

(2) The moneys required in the first instance to establish such fund, and any deficiency for the purposes of this Part of this Act from time to time appearing in such fund by reason of the excess of expenditure over receipts, shall be supplied out of the local rates or out of moneys borrowed in pursuance of this Act (c).

(3) In settling any accounts of the local authority in respect of any transactions under this Part of this Act, care shall be taken that as far as may be practicable all expenditure shall ultimately be defrayed out of the property dealt with under this Part of this Act; and any balances of profit made by the local authority under this Part of this Act shall be applicable to any purposes to which the local rate is for the time being applicable (d).

(4) Any limit imposed on or in respect of local rates by any other Act of Parliament shall not apply to any rate required to be levied for the purpose of defraying any expenses under this Part of this Act (e).

(5) The local authority may carry to the account of the dwelling-house improvement fund any such money or produce of any property, as is legally applicable to purposes similar to the purposes of this Part of this Act; and in case of doubt as to whether, in any particular case, the purposes are so similar the confirming authority may decide such doubt, and such decision shall be conclusive (f).

It frequently happens that authorities, in carrying out improvement schemes, are compelled to purchase licensed premises which are in excess of the requirements of the district. A method of procedure by which an authority may recover part of the cost of purchasing such houses has been approved by the House of Lords. A corporation acquired, for the purpose of demolishing them, certain licensed houses under an improvement scheme The licensing justices arranged with the corporation to refer the licences in question to the compensation authority under the Licensing Act, 1904, and the corporation thereupon closed the houses and put scavengers into them as caretakers. At the next general annual licensing meeting the scavengers applied for renewals of the licences. Objection was made on behalf of certain brewers to the renewal of the licences on grounds not now material, and the justices themselves objected to the renewals on the ground that the licences were not required. The justices overruled the brewers' objections, and, acting upon their own objections, renewed the licences provisionally and referred them to the compensation authority. It was held that the licensing justices had power, if they thought fit, in the exercise of their honest discretion, to refer the licenses to the compensation authority, and that as they had acted honestly, no objection could be taken to what they had done (Leeds Corporation v. Ryder, [1907] A. C. 420; 71 J. P. 484).

(c) But no deficiency in the fund is to be supplied out of borrowed money unless the deficiency arises in respect of money required for purposes to which borrowed money is, in the opinion of the Minister of Health, properly applicable: Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 30, post, p. 2024.

In the case of an urban authority, the local rate is in most cases the general district rate. See s. 92 and Sched. I., Part III., post, pp. 1733, 1735.

As to the power to borrow money for the purposes of this Part of the Act, see s. 25, post, p. 1697.

As to the application of the proceeds upon the sale of land acquired under the Act, see s. 82, post, p. 1731.

(d) In the case of an urban authority, this balance will be payable into the general district fund. As to accounts and audit, see s. 80, post, p. 1730.

(e) This provision was contained in 38 & 39 Vict. c. 36, s. 22. It seems to be intended to meet cases where, by reason of local Acts, there is some limit to the amount which may be raised by the local Act, either generally or for purposes of improvement, such as those to which this Act applies.

(f) The confirming authority is the Minister of Health. See s. 8, ante, p. 1686.

It is not quite clear what money, etc. is legally applicable to the purposes in this section mentioned, and it will be prudent to obtain the decision of the confirming authority in all cases.

25.—(1) A local authority may, in manner in this section mentioned, borrow such money as is required for the purposes of this Part of this Act on the security of the local rate (g). Power of borrowing money for the purposes of Part I. of the Act.

(2) For the purpose of such borrowing, the London County Council may, with the assent of the Treasury, create consolidated stock under the Metropolitan Board of Works Loans Acts, 1869 to 1871, but all moneys required for the payment of the dividends on and the redemption of the consolidated stock created for the purposes of this Part of this Act shall be charged to the special county account to which the expenditure for the purposes of this Part of this Act is chargeable (h).

(3) For the purpose of such borrowing, the Commissioners of Sewers for the City of London may borrow and take up at interest such money on the credit of the local rates, or any of them, as they may require for the purposes of this Part of this Act, and may mortgage any such rate or rates to the persons by or on behalf of whom such money is advanced for securing the repayment to them of the sums borrowed, with interest thereon, and for the purposes of any mortgages so made by the Commissioners of Sewers, the clauses of the Commissioners Clauses Act, 1847, with respect to the mortgages to be executed by the commissioners shall be incorporated with this Part of this Act; and in the construction of that Act "the special Act" shall mean this Part of this Act; "the Commissioners" shall mean the Commissioners of Sewers; "the clerk of the commissioners" shall include any officer appointed for the purpose by the Commissioners of Sewers by this Part of this Act; and the mortgagees or assignees of any mortgage made as last aforesaid may enforce payment of the arrears of principal and interest due to them by the appointment of a receiver (i).

(4) For the purpose of such borrowing, the urban sanitary authority shall have the same power of borrowing as they have under the Public Health Acts for the purpose of defraying any expenses incurred by them in the execution of those Acts (k).

(g) The acquisition in advance of lands in areas proposed for inclusion in improvement schemes is now a purpose for which money may be borrowed. See s. 13 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, at p. 2152, post.

In the case of an urban authority, the local rate is the general district rate. See s. 92 and Sched. I., Part III., post, pp. 1733, 1735.

(h) By s. 13 (iv) of the London County Council (Money) Act, 1896, "Where the council create consolidated stock for the purpose of any scheme made by the Metropolitan Board of Works, or the council under the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890, or any enactments repealed by that Act, all moneys required for payment of dividends on, and the redemption of all consolidated stock created for such purpose, shall be charged to the special county account to which the expenditure for the purposes of the said Acts is chargeable."

As to the length of loans, see the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 15, post, p. 1931.

(i) The Commissioners of Sewers have now ceased to exist, and their powers are transferred to the Common Council under 60 & 61 Vict. c. cxxxiii.

The clauses of the Commissioners Clauses Act, 1847, referred to are ss. 75, 88. As to appointing a receiver, see ibid., ss. 86, 87.

(k) The borrowing powers of an urban authority are contained in the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 233—243, ante, pp. 521—539. The consent of the Minister of Health will be necessary to any loan.

The maximum period which may be sanctioned for repayment of money borrowed under this or amending Acts has now been increased to eighty years, and as respects money so borrowed, eighty years is substituted for sixty years in the P. H. A., 1875, s. 234: see the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 1 (1). By ibid., s. 1 (2), it is further provided that money borrowed under the Housing of the Working Classes Acts shall not be reckoned as part of the debt of a local authority for the purposes of the limitation on borrowing under s. 234 (2), (3) of the Act of 1875.

(5) The Public Works Loan Commissioners may, on the recommendation of the confirming authority, lend to any local authority any money required by them for purposes of this Part of this Act, on the security of the local rate. Such loan shall be repaid within such period, not exceeding fifty years, as may be recommended by the confirming authority (l).

General Provisions.

Provision in case of absence of medical officer of health.

26. In case of the illness or unavoidable absence of a medical officer of health, the authority, board, or vestry who appointed him may (subject to the approval of the confirming authority) appoint a duly qualified medical practitioner, for the period of six months, or any less period to be named in the appointment (m).

27, 28. [Forms of notices and advertisements : Power to dispense with notices and advertisements] (n).

PART II (o).

UNHEALTHY DWELLING-HOUSES.

Preliminary.

Definitions : "Street."

29. In this Part of this Act, unless the context otherwise requires—

The expression "street" includes any court, alley, street, square, or row of houses (p) :

(l) In the case of an urban authority the local rate is in most cases the general district rate.

See the Public Works Loans Acts referred to on p. 521, ante, and set out, ante, p. 1435 and in note (k) thereto.

The italicised words were repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, post, p. 2010 : see now s. 3 thereof as to the period of, and rate of interest on, any loan made by the Commissioners to a local authority for any purposes of the Housing Acts. As to loans generally, see the preceding sub-section and notes.

(m) The P. H. A., 1875, s. 191, ante, p. 454, provides that in case of illness or incapacity of the medical officer of health a local authority may appoint and pay a deputy medical officer, subject to the approval of the Minister of Health ; and this section was extended to the Commissioners of Sewers (now the Common Council) in the City of London, and to metropolitan district boards and vestries (now metropolitan borough councils) by the L. G. A., 1888, s. 88 (c). The present section, therefore, appears to be superfluous now that the Minister is the "confirming authority" everywhere, unless indeed it contemplates an appointment for purposes of this part only. See further as to temporary appointments, s. 4 of the P. H. (Officers) Act, 1921, ante, p. 1119. As to the powers of a person authorised to act temporarily, see s. 79, post, p. 1730.

(n) These sections were repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 75, Sched. VI., post, pp. 2042, 2047 ; s. 41 of that Act now authorises the Minister of Health to prescribe forms for use under all parts of the Housing Acts and in proper cases to dispense with publication and service of advertisements and notices. For forms prescribed under this Part, see Order of October 10th, 1919, in App. II., post.

(o) This Part of the Act (ss. 29—52) consolidates and amends the Artizans Dwellings Acts (31 & 32 Vict. c. 130 ; 42 & 43 Vict. c. 64 ; 43 Vict. c. 8 ; 45 & 46 Vict. c. 54, Part II. ; 48 & 49 Vict. c. 72). It is deemed to include any provisions of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, which amend or supersede its original provisions (ibid., s. 47 (1)). The Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, has brought within this part of the principal Act the provisions of the Act of 1909 (ss. 14 and 15) relating to conditions implied in the letting of houses and the provisions of the Act of 1919 (s. 28) relating to the obligation to make and keep houses reasonably fit for human habitation : see s. 28 (6) and s. 39 (2) of the Act of 1919, at pp. 2163, 2165, post. This Part of the Act applies both to urban and rural sanitary districts. See Sched. I., post, p. 1735.

(p) This definition of a street is much more restricted than that in the P. H. A., 1875, s. 4, ante, p. 15, being confined to a street in the ordinary sense, i.e., a road, court, etc., with houses built upon or in it. It applies to Part I. of this Act also (Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 48, post, p. 2030).

The expression "dwelling-house" means any inhabited building, and includes any yard, garden, outhouses, and appurtenances belonging thereto or usually enjoyed therewith, and includes the site of the dwelling-house as so defined (q): "Dwelling-house."

The expression "owner," in addition to the definition given by the Lands Clauses Acts, includes all lessees or mortgagees of any premises required to be dealt with under this Part of this Act, except persons holding or entitled to the rents and profits of such premises [under a lease the original term whereof is less than twenty-one years] (r): "Owner."

(q) It may be noted that in Part I. of this Act the wider term "houses" is used.

The italicised words were repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, ss. 48, 75, Sched. VI., post, pp. 2030, 2042, 2047. It had previously been held that they did not prevent the making of a closing order in the case of a dwelling-house which had been uninhabited for five years (Robertson v. King, [1901] 2 K. B. 265; 65 J. P. 453). One house may contain a number of "dwelling houses" in the sense of flats or tenements separately occupied; nevertheless, the whole house may, it would seem, be regarded as a "dwelling-house," and may be closed by one closing order; at the same time, of course, such an order may be confined to one tenement within the house (Kirkpatrick v. Maxwelltown Town Council, [1912] S. C. 288. The last mentioned case was commented on in a later case when a local authority issued a closing order in respect of a tenement containing several separate dwelling-houses and prohibited the use of the said dwelling-house for human habitation "until in our judgment it is rendered fit for that purpose", and when it was held that the order was ultra vires in that it purported to close each of the dwelling-houses in the tenement until all of them were rendered fit for habitation (M'Diarmid v. Glasgow Housing Committee, [1917] S. C. 361).

(r) The owner of an insanitary dwelling to be served with notice under the provision as to closing orders is the owner as here defined (see cases, infra).

By the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, s. 3, the word "owner" is to be understood to mean "any person or corporation who, under the provisions of this or the special Act, would be entitled to sell and convey lands to the promoters of the undertaking." As to such persons, see ibid., s. 7, ante, p. 1148.

The words within brackets were substituted by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 49, post, p. 2030, for the original words "for a term of years, of which 21 years do not remain unexpired." The length of the original term, and not of the unexpired portion thereof, is now the test of whether the lessee is or is not the "owner." The following cases were decided before this alteration in the definition:—

In July, 1886, a tenant held premises as assignee of a lease expiring at Michaelmas, 1886, and was also assignee of a reversionary lease thereof for twenty-one years, commencing on the expiration of the first lease. In that month the vestry, acting under the 31 & 32 Vict. c. 130, caused copies of the reports by their officer of health and surveyor, with a notice of the time and place appointed for their consideration, to be served upon the tenant as being the "owner." In October an order was made for the demolition of the premises. The work required was done by the tenant, who upon its completion applied for and obtained from the vestry a charging order on the premises. It was held that, although the interest of the tenant in the new lease was in law only an interesse termini, he had such an interest in the premises at the time when proceedings were initiated by service of the notice upon him as to make him the "owner" within the meaning of the section. It was held also that the point of time to be looked at in order to determine the ownership for the purposes of the Act was the date of the service of the notice, and not of the making of the order for demolition (R. v. St. Marylebone (Vestry of), Ex parte Berners (1887), 20 Q. B. D. 415; 52 J. P. 534). Cf. also as to an interesse termini, Llangattock (Lord) v. Watney, Coombe, Reid & Co., [1910] A. C. 394; 74 J. P. 194.

Where the person receiving the rents and profits was a leaseholder with less than twenty-one years to run, he was held not to be the person to be served, although s. 32 and Schedules III. and IV. (all now repealed) referred to the P. H. A., 1875, and the Nuisances Removal Act, 1854, for purposes of procedure, and these Acts regard the receiver of the rents and profits as owner (Osborne v. Skinners Co. (1891), 60 L. J. M. C. 156; 39 W. R. 715). This decision was followed in an unreported case, heard before Wright and Collins, JJ., Trin. Sittings, 1892, notwithstanding the repeal by the Public Health (London) Act, 1891, of the Nuisances Removal Acts: see s. 142 (7) of the Public Health (London) Act, 1891.

See s. 47 (1), post, p. 1717, under which an owner, who is not in receipt of the rents, may give notice of his ownership to the authority, thus insuring that notices affecting the property will be sent to him, and s. 47 (2), post, p. 1718, under which any owner may get an order empowering him to enter and execute necessary work, etc., in order to protect his own interests, if the other owners fail to act.

"Closing order."

The expression "closing order" means an order prohibiting the use of premises for human habitation made under the enactments set out in the Third Schedule in this Act (s).

Buildings Unfit for Human Habitation.

Representation by medical officer of health.

30. It shall be the duty of the medical officer of health of every district to represent to the local authority of that district any dwelling-house which appears to him to be in a state so dangerous or injurious to health as to be unfit for human habitation (t).

Representation on householders' complaint.

31.—(1) If [any justice of the peace acting for a district, or any four or more householders in a district] (u) complain in writing to the medical officer of health of that district that any dwelling-house . . . (x) is in a condition so dangerous or injurious to health as to be unfit for human habitation, he shall forthwith inspect the same, and transmit to the local authority the said complaint, together with his opinion thereon, and if he is of opinion that the dwelling-house is in the condition aforesaid, shall represent (y) the same to the local authority, but the absence of any such complaint shall not excuse him from inspecting any dwelling-house and making a representation thereon to the local authority.

(2) If within three months after receiving the said complaint and opinion or representation of the medical officer, the local authority, not being in the administrative county of London, or not being a rural sanitary authority in any other county (z), declines or neglects to take any proceedings to put

(s) This Schedule is repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909: see note to s. 32, post, p. 1701.

(t) "District" includes urban and rural sanitary districts (s. 92, Sched. I., post, p. 1735). As to the power of an authority to appoint committees for the purposes of the Act, see s. 81, post, p. 1731.

The representation by the medical officer must be in writing. See s. 79 (2), post, p. 1730. For a form see the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 624. In London and in a rural district the authority or their clerk must send a copy of the representations, and report further proceedings to the county council and medical officer for the county: see s. 45 and notes thereto, post, p. 1714. See also note to s. 5, ante, p. 1683, as to medical officers generally.

For the definition of a "dwelling-house" see the preceding section.

The premises must be in a state dangerous or injurious to health. Mere want of repair will not necessarily satisfy this condition.

(u) The words in brackets were by s. 39 and Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, substituted for the words "in any district any four or more householders living in or near to any street."

There is no definition of a "householder" in the Act, but the meaning of the word is well understood. It means the resident occupier of a house as distinguished from an owner on the one hand and a lodger on the other.

A parish council can also make a complaint under this section. See the L. G. A., 1894, s. 6 (2), ante, p. 907. See also s. 52, post, p. 1719, as to representations by a county medical officer.

For a form of complaint, see the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 625.

(x) The words "in or near that street" are here omitted by reason of s. 39 and Sched. II. to the above mentioned Act of 1919.

(y) This representation must be in writing. See s. 79 (2), post, p. 1730. For a form see the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 626. As to sending copies, etc., to the county council, see note to s. 30, supra.

(z) This sub-section applies only to urban authorities. As to London and rural districts, see s. 45, post, p. 1714. But as to defaulting authorities generally, see now also the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, ss. 10, 11.

A form of petition for use under this section will be found in the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 627.

this Part of this Act in force, the [justice of the peace or] (a) householders who signed such complaint may petition the [Minister of Health] for an inquiry, and the said [Minister] after causing an inquiry (b) to be held may order the local authority to proceed under this Part of this Act, and such order shall be binding on the local authority.

Closing Order and Demolition.

32, 33. [Making of closing orders and demolition orders] (c).

Execution of an order for demolition and provision as to site.

34.—(1) Where an order (d) for the demolition of a building has been made, the owner (e) thereof shall within three months after . . . the order [becomes operative] (f) proceed to take down and remove the building, and if the owner fails therein the local authority shall proceed to take down and remove the building and shall sell the materials, and after deducting the expenses incident to such taking down and removal, pay over the balance of money (if any) to the owner (g).

(2) Where a building has been so taken down and removed, no house or other building or erection which will be dangerous or injurious to health shall be erected on all or any part of the site of such building; and if any house, building, or erection is erected contrary to the provisions of this section, the local authority may at any time order the owner thereof to abate the same, and in the event of non-compliance with the order, may at the expense of the owner abate or alter the same (h).

Appeal against order of local authority.

35.—(1) Any person aggrieved (i) by an order of the local authority under this Part of this Act, may [if he is not entitled to appeal to the [Minister of

(a) These words were added by s. 39, Sched. II., to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

(b) As to the holding of this inquiry, see s. 85, post, p. 1732.

(c) These two sections and Sched. III., to which they referred, have been repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 75, Sched. VI., post, pp. 2042, 2047. The present procedure for making closing orders and demolition orders is to be found in ss. 17 and 18 of that Act; those sections are to be regarded as included in this Part (i.e., Part II.) of the Act of 1890 (ibid., s. 47 (1)), and any reference in the Housing Acts, to a closing or demolition order is to be read as a reference to an order made under the Act of 1909 (ibid., s. 47 (2)).

(d) I.e. (see preceding note) an order made under the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 18, post, p. 2021.

(e) See the definition in s. 29, ante, p. 1699. There may be several "owners," cf. note to s. 47, p. 1717, post. Notice of the order will have been served on all of them under s. 18 (4) of the Act of 1909. See as to the expenses incurred by an owner, s. 36, post, p. 1702. And see the cases collected at pp. 190, 191, ante, as to the ultimate incidence of the expenses of work done on settled estates.

(f) The words within brackets were substituted by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 46, Sched. II., post, for the original words "service of the order." See ibid., s. 39 (2), as to when an order "becomes operative."

(g) If the amount realised by the sale is not sufficient to cover the expenses incident to the taking down and removal, the deficiency may be recovered from the owner as a civil debt in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts, or under the provisions of the Public Health Act relating to private improvement expenses (Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 9).

(h) The question whether the new building will be dangerous or injurious to health must be decided by the local authority. As to appeal see next section.

The order must be under seal, and authenticated, as provided by s. 86, post. See a form in the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 635.

There is no provision as to recovery of the expense, but probably an action of debt would lie (Com. Dig., tit. Debt (A 9), tit. Action upon Statute (F)).

(i) As to persons aggrieved, see note to s. 253 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 560.

Health] against the Order] (k) appeal against the same to a court of quarter sessions, and no work shall be done nor proceedings taken under any order until after the appeal is determined or ceases to be prosecuted; and section thirty-one (l) of the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879, respecting appeals from courts of summary jurisdiction to courts of quarter sessions shall apply with the necessary modifications as if the order of the local authority were an order of a court of summary jurisdiction.

(2) Provided that—

(a) Notice of appeal may be given within one month after notice of the order of the local authority has been served on such person;

(b) The court shall, at the request of either party, state the facts specially for the determination of a superior court, in which case the proceedings may be removed into that court (m).

Grant of charges by way of annuity to owner on completion of works.

36.—(1) Where any owner (n) has completed in respect of any dwelling-house any works required to be executed by an order of a local authority under this Part (o) of this Act, he may apply to the local authority for a charging order, and shall produce to the local authority the certificate of their surveyor or engineer that the works have been executed to his satisfaction, and also the accounts of and vouchers for the costs, charges, and expenses of the works, and the local authority, when satisfied that the owner has duly executed such works and of the amount of such costs, charges, and expenses, and of the costs of obtaining the charging order which have been properly incurred, shall make an order accordingly, charging on the dwelling-house (p) an annuity to repay the amount.

(2) The annuity charged shall be a sum of six pounds for every one hundred (k) Words within brackets inserted by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 46, Sched. II., post, pp. 2029, 2045. An appeal lies hereunder against an order to abate (s. 34 (2)), an order granting a charge (s. 36 (1)), and an order to abate (s. 38 (10)). An appeal lies to the Minister against a closing order, a refusal to determine a closing order, a demolition order, and apparently an order to pull down obstructive buildings (s. 38 (3)): Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, ss. 17, 18, 49, post, pp. 2017, 2021, 2030. Formerly such appeals lay under this section (cf. R. v. De Rutzen (1892), 9 T. L. R. 41).

It has been held that the right of appeal to Quarter Sessions if applicable at all to anything done under s. 28 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, is not available in respect of a notice served under s. 28 (1) of the last mentioned Act, such a "notice" not being an "order" within the meaning of s. 35 in the text (Ryall v. Cubitt Heath, [1922] 1 K. B. 275).

As to procedure on appeals to the L. G. B. (now to Minister of Health), see Local Government Board v. Arlidge on p. 2026, post.

(m) Ordinarily quarter sessions have full discretion as to stating a special case or not; in this instance they have no discretion. A writ of certiorari is no longer required to bring up the proceedings and case. No appeal lies from the decision of the Divisional Court, unless leave to appeal is given by that court or by the Court of Appeal (57 & 58 Vict. s. 16, ss. 1 (5) and 2).

"Month" means calendar month (52 & 53 Vict. c. 63, s. 3).

Quarter sessions must find the facts. It will be for the High Court to decide what consequences of law or otherwise result from the facts so found.

(n) See the definition of the term "owner" in s. 29, ante, p. 1699. This section enables any person who fulfils the description of an owner, and who executes the necessary works, to obtain an order charging the entire ownership with an annuity to repay the amount. See form of application for charging order in the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 636. See also form of certificate of surveyor or engineer, ibid., p. 637.

(o) See note (o) on p. 1698, ante.

(p) This will be a charge on the house itself, not upon any particular interest therein. It will take precedence of all mortgages and charges other than those excepted by s. 37 (1), infra. Compare the charge on premises created by s. 257 of the P. H. A., 1875; and see the cases decided with reference to that section, ante, p. 568, et seq. For a case under a local Act relating to an improvement charge as to which an apportionment was claimed as between freehold and leasehold interests, see Holborn and Frascati, Ltd. v. London C. C. (1916), 80 J. P. 225; 14 L. G. R. 538.

pounds of the said amount and so in proportion for any less sum, and shall commence from the date of the order, and be payable for a term of thirty years to the owner named in such order, his executors, administrators, or assigns (q).

(3) Every such annuity may be recovered by the person for the time being entitled to it by the same means and in the like manner in all respects as if it were a rent-charge granted by deed out of the dwelling-house by the owner thereof (r).

(4) Charging orders made under this section shall be made according to the Form marked A. in the Fifth Schedule to this Act, or as near thereto as the circumstances of the case will admit (s).

Incidence of charge.

37.—(1) Every charge created by a charging order under this Part of this Act shall be a charge on the dwelling-house specified in the order, having priority over all existing and future estates, interests, and incumbrances, with the exception (t) of quit-rents and other charges incident to tenure (u), tithe commutation rent-charge, and any charge created under any Act authorising advances of public money; and where more charges than one are charged under this Part of this Act on any dwelling-house such charges shall, as between themselves, take order according to their respective dates (x).

(2) A charging order shall be conclusive evidence that all notices, acts, and proceedings by this Part of this Act directed with reference to or consequent on the obtaining of such order, or the making of such charge, have been duly served, done, and taken, and that such charge has been duly created, and that it is a valid charge on the dwelling-house declared to be subject thereto (y).

(q) As to the transfer of the annuity, see s. 37 (5), post, p 1704.

Provision is now made for the redemption of such an annuity by s. 19 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, post, p. 2022.

(r) Under the corresponding provision in 31 & 32 Vict. c. 130, s. 27, it was held that the annuity was recoverable not from the freeholder but from the lessee in possession (Hyde v. Berners (1889), 52 J. P. 453; 5 T. L. R. 406).

The holder of the rent-charge will be entitled to distrain. See Dodds v. Thompson (1865), L. R. 1 C. P. 133. And an action will lie for arrears (Thomas v. Sylvester (1873), L. R. 8 Q. B. 368; Scottish Widows' Fund v. Craig (1882), 20 Ch. D. 208; Booth v. Smith (1883), 47 J. P. 759; 51 L. T. 395; Christie v. Barker (1884), 53 L. J. Q. B. 537; Booth v. Smith (1884), 14 Q. B. D. 318; Searle v. Cooke (1890), 43 Ch. D. 519; Pertwee v. Townsend, [1896] 2 Q. B. 129; Re Herbage Rents, Greenwich, [1896] 2 Ch. 811).

The Conveyancing Act, 1881, s. 44, provides that a rent-charge may be recovered by distress if unpaid for twenty-one days after the time appointed for payment; by entry and receipt of the rents and profits if unpaid for forty days; and in the like case by demise by deed to a trustee for a term of years on trust by mortgage, sale, or demise, for all or any part of the term of the land charged, or any part thereof, or by receipt of the income thereof, or by all or any of those means, or by any other reasonable means to raise and pay the annual sum, and any arrears thereof, and all costs and expenses. See also the Conveyancing Act, 1911, s. 6.

Distress may be barred under the Real Property Limitation Act, 1833, if the rent-charge has not been paid for the statutory period (Jones v. Withers (1896), 74 L. T. 572) If the land falls into the possession of a company which is being wound up, see, as to the right of proof for arrears, Re Blackburn Benefit Building Society, Ex parte Graham (1889), 42 Ch. D. 343.

(s) This Schedule has been repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 75, Sched. VI.; but no new forms have been prescribed under s. 41 of that Act, and the Schedule is therefore still printed, p. 1745, post.

See the next section as to the incidence of the charge, registration, etc.

(t) To these exceptions must now be added charges arising under the Public Health Acts or any local Act authorising a charge for recovery of expenses incurred by a local authority: Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 20, post, p. 2022.

(u) Quit-rents are rents paid in respect of the tenure of an estate in fee simple. They must not be confounded with ground-rents, which are not charges incident to tenure.

(x) See the note to s. 36 (1), ante, p. 1702.

(y) This provision makes the charging order an indefeasible security.

(3) Every such charging order, if it relates to a dwelling-house in the area to which the enactments relating to the registration of land in Middlesex apply or to a dwelling-house in Yorkshire, shall be registered in like manner as if the charge were made by deed by the absolute owner of the dwelling-house (z).

(4) Copies of the charging order and of the certificate of the surveyor or engineer, and of the accounts as passed by the local authority, certified to be true copies by the clerk of the local authority, shall within six months after the date of the order be deposited with the clerk of the peace of the county in which the dwelling-house is situate, and be by him filed and recorded.

(5) The benefit of any such charge may be from time to time transferred in like manner as a mortgage or rent-charge may be transferred. Any transfer may be in the Form marked B. in the Fifth Schedule to this Act, or in any other convenient form (a).

Obstructive Buildings (b).

Power to local authority to purchase houses for opening alleys, etc.

38.—(1) If a medical officer (c) of health finds that any building (d) within his district, although not in itself unfit for human habitation, is so situate that by reason of its proximity to or contact with any other buildings it causes one of the following effects, that is to say,—

(a) It stops [or impedes] (e) ventilation, or otherwise makes or conduces to make such other buildings to be in a condition unfit for human habitation or dangerous or injurious to health; or in any such case, the medical officer of health shall represent (f) to the local authority the particulars relating to such first-mentioned building (in this Act referred to as "an obstructive building") stating that in his opinion it is expedient that the obstructive building should be pulled down.

(b) It prevents proper measures from being carried into effect for remedying any nuisance injurious to health or other evils complained of in respect of such other buildings;

(2) [Any justice of the peace acting for a district, or] (g) any four or more inhabitant householders of a district may make to the local authority of the district a representation as respects any building to the like effect as that of the medical officer under this section (gg).

(z) A question may arise whether charging orders under this Act do not require registration under 51 & 52 Vict. c. 31. See, as to this Act, R. v. Vice-Registrar of the Office of Land Registry (1889), 24 Q. B. D. 178; 54 J. P. 120. But for this sub-section, which, by expressly providing for registry in Middlesex and Yorkshire, may imply that registration is not required elsewhere, it would apparently have been necessary to register under that Act, and it will certainly be prudent to do so. As to compulsory registration, see the Land Transfer Act, 1897, s. 20.

(a) See note to s. 36 (4), ante, p. 1703.
As to redemption of such a charge, see note to s. 36 (2), ante, p. 1703.

(b) This Part of the Act applies to both urban and rural districts.

(c) See note (q) to s. 5 (1), ante, p. 1683. For a decision under a local Act that a house not itself unfit for habitation may be closed because other houses impede ventilation to it, see Hall v. Manchester Corporation, p. 2018, post.

(d) It has been held that a building constructed for and used solely as a cycle maker's and mechanic's workshop was a "building" within this section (Jackson v. Knutsford U. D. C., [1914] 2 Ch. 686).

(e) Words within brackets added by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 46, Sched. II., post, pp. 2029, 2045.

(f) This representation must be in writing. See s. 79, post, p. 1730. See form in the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 639.

(g) The words in brackets were added by s. 39 and Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

(gg) A parish council may also make a representation under this section. See L. G. A., 1894, s. 6 (2), ante, p. 907. See also s. 52, post, p. 1719, as to representations by county medical officers.

For the definition of "district," see s. 92, post, p. 1733.

(3) The local authority on receiving any such representation as above in this section mentioned shall cause a report (h) to be made to them respecting the circumstances of the building and the cost of pulling down the building and acquiring the land, and on receiving such report shall take into consideration the representation and report, and if they decide to proceed, shall cause a copy of both the representation and report to be given to the owner (i) of the lands on which the obstructive building stands, with notice of the time and place appointed by the local authority for the consideration thereof; and such owner shall be at liberty to attend and state his objections, and after hearing such objections the local authority shall make an order either allowing the objection or directing that such obstructive building shall be pulled down, and such order shall be subject to appeal in like manner as an order of demolition of the local authority under the foregoing provisions of this Part of this Act (k).

(4) Where an order of the local authority for pulling down an obstructive building is made under this section and either no appeal is made against the order, or an appeal is made and either fails or is abandoned, the local authority shall be authorised to purchase the lands on which the obstructive building is erected in like manner as if they had been authorised by a special Act to purchase the same; and for the purpose of such purchase the provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts (l), with respect to the purchase and taking of lands otherwise than by agreement, shall be deemed to be incorporated in this Part of this Act (subject nevertheless to the provisions of this Part of this Act) (m), and for the purpose of the provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts this Part of this Act shall be deemed to be the special Act, and the local authority to be the promoters of the undertaking, and such lands may be purchased at any time within one year after the date of the order, or if it was appealed against after the date of the confirmation (n).

(5) The owner of the lands may within one month after notice to purchase the same is served upon him declare that he desires to retain the site of the (h) The section does not say who is to make this report, but in general it will be made by the authority's surveyor. It should be observed that the words of the sub-section are imperative so far as regards obtaining a report. As to the duty in London and rural districts to report representations and complaints to the county council and county medical officer, see s. 45, post, p. 1714, and note thereto. As to compelling an authority to do its duty, see Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, ss. 10, 11, post, pp. 2012, 2013, s. 45 of this Act, post, p. 1714, and ss. 5 and 6 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, post, p. 2148.

See also s. 52, post, p. 1719, as to representations by a county medical officer.

(i) See definition of "owner," s. 29, ante, p. 1699. For forms of notice to owner and of order, see Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 640.

(k) Originally an appeal against a demolition order lay under s. 35, ante, p. 1701, to quarter sessions; it now lies to the Minister of Health under the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 18 (4). Apparently (see ibid., ss. 39, 47) the appeal under this section now lies to the Minister. An interested member must not vote on the resolution (s. 88, post, p. 1732).

As to procedure on appeals to the L. G. B. (now to Minister of Health), see Local Government Board v. Arlidge, on p. 2026, post.

(m) The provisions referred to are those contained in this section, and in s. 41, post, p. 1710.

(n) As to the power of the Minister of Health to compel an authority to give effect to an order under this section, see s. 11 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, post, p. 2013.

A form of notice of intention to purchase site of obstructive building will be found in the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 641. As to compensation to tenants, see s. 78, post, p. 1730.

obstructive building and undertake either to pull down or to permit the local authority to pull down the obstructive building, and in such case the owner shall retain the site and shall receive compensation from the local authority for the pulling down of the obstructive building (o).

(6) The amount of such compensation, and also the amount of any compensation to be paid on the purchase of any lands under this section, shall in case of difference be settled by arbitration in manner provided in this part of this Act (p).

(7) Where the local authority is empowered to purchase land compulsorily, it shall not be competent for the owner of a house [or other building] (q) or manufactory to insist on his entire holding being taken, where part only is proposed to be taken as obstructive, and where such part proposed to be taken can, in the opinion of the arbitrator to whom the question of disputed compensation is submitted, be severed from the remainder of the house [or other building] (q) or manufactory without material detriment thereto, provided that compensation may be awarded in respect of the severance of the part so proposed to be taken in addition to the value of that part (qq).

(8) Where in the opinion of the arbitrator (r) the demolition of an obstructive building adds to the value of such other buildings as are in that behalf mentioned in this section (s), the arbitrator shall apportion (t) so much of the compensation to be paid for the demolition of the obstructive building as may be equal to the increase in value of the other buildings amongst such other buildings respectively, and the amount apportioned to each such (o) "Month" means calendar month (52 & 53 Vict. c. 63, s. 3). The time may be enlarged by a court of summary jurisdiction (s. 47 (3), post, p. 1718). For form of notice see the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 642. As to modes of service, see ss. 49, 87, post, pp. 1718, 1732.

Sub-section (10), post, p. 1707, imposes upon the owner restrictions as to building on the site.

As to the assessment of compensation, see the subsequent sub-sections of this section, and s. 41, post, p. 1710.

The authority may, however, under s. 39, post, p. 1708, decide to carry out a reconstruction scheme and purchase the site.

(p) The provisions of this Part as to arbitration are contained in s. 41, post, p. 1710.

When the amount of any compensation payable under this section has been so settled by arbitration, the arbitrator is to apportion it in such manner as he determines between any persons having an interest in it: Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 28 (1), post, p. 2024. When the amount payable has been otherwise settled, the Minister of Health may, if necessary, appoint an arbitrator to apportion it (ibid., s. 28 (2), post, p. 2024).

(q) Words within brackets added by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 46, Sched. II., post, pp. 2029, 2045.

(qq) This provision creates an exception to s. 92 of the Lands Clauses Act, 1845, which would otherwise apply. That section (see notes thereto, ante, p. 1177) provides that no party shall at any time be required to sell or convey to the promoters a part only of any house, or other building or manufactory, if such party be willing and able to sell and convey the whole thereof. Under the text the owner may be compelled to sell part only, if such part can be severed without material detriment, subject to payment of compensation for severance. For a similar exception in respect of lands taken under Part I. of this Act, see Sched. II. (12), post, p. 1739.

(s) That is, the buildings which by the obstructive buildings were rendered unfit for habitation or injurious to health, etc. See sub-s. (1), ante, p. 1704.

(t) If the amount to be paid for compensation has been settled otherwise than by arbitration under this Act, the Minister of Health may appoint a special arbitrator to make an apportionment under this sub-section: Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 28 (2), post, p. 2024.

other building in respect of its increase in value by reason of the demolition of such obstructive building shall be deemed to be private improvement expenses incurred by the local authority in respect of such building, and such local authority may, for the purpose of defraying such expenses, make and levy improvement rates on the occupier of such premises accordingly; and the provisions of the Public Health Acts relating to private improvement expenses and to private improvement rates shall, so far as circumstances admit, apply accordingly in the same manner as if such provisions were incorporated in this Act (u).

(9) If any dispute arises between the owner or occupier of any building (to which any amount may be apportioned in respect of private improvement expenses) and the arbitrator by whom such apportionment is made, such dispute shall be settled by two justices in manner provided by the Lands Clauses Acts, in cases where the compensation claimed in respect of lands does not exceed fifty pounds (x).

(10) Where the owner retains the site or any part thereof, no house or other building or erection which will be dangerous or injurious to health, or which will be an obstructive building within the meaning of this section, shall be erected upon such site or any part thereof; and if any house, building, or erection is erected on the site contrary to the provisions of this section the local authority may at any time order the owner to abate or alter the said house, building, or erection; and in the event of non-compliance with such order may, at the expense of the owner thereof, abate or alter the same (y).

(11) Where the lands are purchased by the local authority the local authority shall pull down the obstructive building, or such part thereof as may be obstructive within the meaning of this section, and keep as an open space the whole site, or such part thereof as may be required to be kept open for the purpose of remedying the nuisance or other evils caused by such obstructive building, and may, with the assent of the [Minister of Health], and upon such terms as that [Minister] think expedient, sell such portion of the site as is not required for the purpose of carrying this section into effect (z).

(12) A local authority may, where they so think fit, dedicate any land

(u) Private improvement expenses are recovered by means of private improvement rates of such amount as will be sufficient to discharge such expenses with interest at five per cent. per annum, in such period not exceeding thirty years as the local authority may in each case determine. The rates are payable by the occupier, who is allowed to deduct a certain portion of them from the rent. They may be redeemed by any owner or occupier. See ss. 213—215 and 232 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, pp. 493—495, 520. By s. 257 of the same Act, ante, p. 568, the rates may be declared payable by instalments which are recoverable summarily.

For the purposes of this sub-section the above-mentioned provisions of the P. H. A., 1875, are applied to London by s. 46 (1), post, p. 1715.

(x) The procedure is under 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18, ss. 22—24, by summons. The decision of the justices is not an order, and the proceedings need not be taken within six months (R. v. Edwards (1884), 13 Q. B. D. 586; 49 J. P. 117).

(y) The owner may retain the site under sub-s. (5), ante, p. 1705. An obstructive building is described in sub-s. (1), ante, p. 1704.

See form of order in the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 643.

An appeal will lie against the authority's order under s. 35, ante, p. 1701.

No provision is made for the recovery of the expense from the owner, but it will apparently be recoverable as a debt (Com. Dig., tit. Debt (A. 9), tit. Action upon Statute (F.)).

(z) As to the application of the proceeds of the sale, see s. 82 and the note thereunder, post, p. 1731.

acquired by them under the authority of this section as a highway or other public place (a).

Scheme for Reconstruction.

Scheme for area comprising houses closed by closing order.

39.—(1) (aa) In any of the following cases, that is to say—

(a) where an order for the demolition of a building has been made in pursuance of this Part of this Act (b) and it appears to the local authority that it would be beneficial to the health of the inhabitants of the neighbouring dwelling-houses if the area of the dwelling-house of which such building forms part were used for all or any of the following purposes, that is to say, either—

(i) dedicated as a highway or open space, or

(ii) appropriated, sold, or let for the erection of dwellings for the working classes, or

(iii) exchanged with other neighbouring land which is more suitable for the erection of such dwellings, and on exchange will be appropriated, sold, or let for such erection ; or

(b) where it appears to the local authority that the closeness, narrowness, and bad arrangement or bad condition of any buildings, or the want of light, air, ventilation, or proper conveniences, or any other sanitary defect in any buildings is dangerous or prejudicial to the health of the inhabitants either of the said buildings or of the neighbouring buildings, and that the demolition or the reconstruction and rearrangement of the said buildings or of some of them is necessary to remedy the said evils, and that the area comprising those buildings and the yards, outhouses, and appurtenances thereof, and the site thereof, is too small to be dealt with as an unhealthy area under Part I. of this Act (c), the local authority shall pass a resolution to the above effect and direct a scheme to be prepared for the improvement of the said area (d).

(2) Notice of the scheme may at any time after the preparation thereof be served in manner provided in Part I. of this Act with respect to notices of lands proposed to be taken compulsorily under a scheme made in pursuance of that Part of this Act, on every owner or reputed owner, lessee or reputed

(a) The land may be dedicated as a public recreation ground if the local authority think fit. See the provisions of the next section.

(aa) See s. 30 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, for the power thereby given to owners of property to apply to the Court for power to carry out a scheme of reconstruction or improvement.

(b) An order for demolition may be made under the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 18, post, p. 2021, and s. 38 (1), ante, p. 1704.

(c) This provision seems to be independent of those in the preceding sections, which relate to houses unfit for human habitation and obstructive buildings. It may be said to relate to a group of houses as distinguished from an area which might be dealt with under Part I.

(d) By s. 23 (2) of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, a reconstruction scheme may provide for any matter for which an improvement scheme may make provision : as to this see s. 6, ante, p. 1684. Neighbouring lands may be included in the area comprised in the scheme, if the local authority think that such inclusion is necessary for making the scheme efficient, but the provision of s. 41 (2), as to the exclusion of any additional allowance in respect of compulsory purchase, is not to apply in the case of any land so included. See s. 7 of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903.

For forms of resolution, see Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., pp. 644, 645. Interested members must not vote, see s. 88, post, p 1732.

A local authority may be directed to make a scheme under the circumstances mentioned in s. 4 (1) of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, post, p. 1928. See also as to defaulting authorities, the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, ss. 10, 11, post, pp. 2012, 2013, and the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, ss. 5 and 6, post, p. 2148.

lessee, and occupier of any part of the area comprised in the scheme, so far as those persons can reasonably be ascertained (e).

(3) The local authority shall, after service of such notice, petition the [Minister of Health] for an Order sanctioning the scheme, and the [Minister] may cause a local inquiry to be held (f), and, if satisfied on the report of such local inquiry that the carrying into effect of the scheme either absolutely, or subject to conditions or modifications would be beneficial to the health of the inhabitants of the said buildings or of the neighbouring dwelling-houses, may by Order (g) sanction the scheme with or without such conditions or modifications.

(4) Upon such Order being made, the local authority may purchase . . . the area comprised in the scheme as so sanctioned . . . (h)

. . . . . .

(7) The Order may incorporate the provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts (i), and for the purpose of those provisions this Act shall be deemed to be the special Act, and the local authority to be the promoters of the undertaking, and the area shall be acquired within three years after the date of the confirmation of the Order: Provided that the amount of compensation shall, in case of difference, be settled by arbitration in manner provided by this Part of this Act (k).

(8) The provisions of Part I. of this Act [as amended by any subsequent Act] (p) relating . . . (p) to the duty of a local authority to carry a scheme when confirmed into execution (l) [to the power of the [Minister of Health] to enforce that duty (m)] (p), to the completion of a scheme on failure by a local authority (n), and to the extinction of rights of way and other easements (o), shall, with the necessary modifications, apply for the purpose of any scheme under this section in like manner as if it were a scheme under Part I. of this Act.

(9) The [Minister of Health], on being satisfied by the local authority that an improvement can be made in the details of any scheme under this section, may by Order permit the local authority to modify any part of the scheme which it may appear inexpedient to carry into execution . . . (q)

(e) The notices must, therefore, be served in manner provided by s. 7, ante, p. 1685. For form of notice, see Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 646.

As to certain restrictions on compulsory purchase, see note (k), ante, p. 1691.

(g) As to this Order, see the note to s. 85 (2), post, p. 1732.

(h) Such an Order no longer requires further confirmation, even where it authorises compulsory purchase of land: Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 24 (2). To give effect to this change in the law, the greater part of this sub-section, and the whole of sub-ss. (5) and (6) were repealed by ibid., s. 75, Sched. VI.

As to borrowing powers, see s 43, post, p. 1713, and note thereto.

By s. 13 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919 (q.v., post, p. 2152), it was provided that when a local authority have passed a resolution directing a scheme to be prepared, they may, subject to obtaining the consent of the Minister of Health, acquire in advance land in the area proposed for inclusion in the scheme.

(i) See note (m), ante, p. 1692, but s. 133 of the Act of 1845 (as to making good deficiencies in poor rates) will not apply: see note (l), ante, p. 1692.

(n) See s. 13, ante, p. 1690.

(o) See s. 22, ante, p. 1694.

(p) Words within brackets inserted, and certain words omitted, by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, ss. 46, 75, Scheds. II., VI., post, pp. 2029, 2042, 2045, 2047.

(q) The Minister of Health may now permit an authority to modify a scheme not only by abandoning any part of it which it may appear inexpedient to carry out, but also by amending or adding to it in matters of detail; see s. 25 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc.

Provisions for accommodation of persons of the working classes.

40. The [Minister of Health] shall in any Order sanctioning a scheme under this Part of this Act require the insertion in the scheme of such provisions (if any) for the dwelling accommodation of persons of the working classes displaced [in consequence of] the scheme as seem to the [Minister] required by the circumstances (r).

Settlement of Compensation.

Provisions as to arbitration.

41. In all cases in which the amount of any compensation is, in pursuance of this Part of this Act, to be settled by arbitration, the following provisions shall have effect; (namely,) (s)

(1) The amount of compensation shall be settled by an arbitrator to be appointed and removable by the [Minister of Health] (t).

(2) In settling the amount of any compensation—

(a) The estimate of the value of the dwelling-house shall be based on the fair market value as estimated at the time of the valuation being made of such dwelling-house, and of the several interests in such dwelling-house, due regard being had to the nature and then condition of the property and the probable duration of the buildings in their existing state, and to the state of repair thereof, and without any additional allowance in respect of compulsory purchase (u); and

Act, 1909, post, p. 2023. The same Act (s. 75, Sched. VI.) repealed the concluding words of this sub-section as to laying modifications before Parliament and obtaining Parliament's confirmation in certain cases. The decision of the Minister is now final, as in the case of the original scheme. For form of notice of order sanctioning modification, see Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 649.

(r) Words within square brackets inserted by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 46, Sched. II., post, pp. 2029, 2045.

This clause gives an absolute discretion to the Minister to require or dispense with the provision of accommodation for the working classes, according to the circumstances of each case.

With the consent of the Minister, a local authority may, in connection with dwelling accommodation, provide and maintain shops, recreation grounds, or other buildings, or land which, in the opinion of the Minister, will benefit the persons for whom the dwelling accommodation is provided, with power to raise money for the purpose, if necessary, by borrowing (Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 11 (1)).

(s) The provisions of this section have now ceased to apply as respect lands included in a scheme under this Part of this Act, other than land included in such a scheme only for the purpose of making the scheme efficient and not on account of the sanitary condition of the premises thereon, or of those premises being dangerous or prejudicial to health in so far as the provisions of this section are inconsistent with s. 9 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919 (q.v. at p. 2150, post). The last mentioned section contains the substituted provisions. Inasmuch, however, as there may be cases where the provisions of the section in the text will be those which are applicable, the notes are retained. The rules for assessing compensation as laid down by the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, do not affect any special provisions as to the assessment of the value of land acquired for the purpose of Part II. of the Act of 1890, if and so far as the provisions thereof are inconsistent with the said rules. See s. 7 of the Act at p. 2199, post. The provisions of the Act which are not inconsistent must therefore be regarded.

Compensation is to be settled by arbitration in cases within s. 38 (6) and s. 39 (7).

(t) See note under the opening words of this section. The Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, governs the mode of appointment now.

(u) This clause is a repetition of s. 21 (1) (a), ante, p. 1692. See notes thereto. Where under the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 7, neighbouring lands are included in a scheme for the purpose of making it efficient, the provision as to the exclusion of any additional allowance in respect of compulsory purchase does not apply in the case of such neighbouring lands (ibid.).

(b) The arbitrator shall have regard to and make an allowance in respect of any increased value which, in his opinion, will be given to other dwelling-houses of the same owner by the alteration or demolition by the local authority of any buildings (x).

(3) Evidence shall be receivable (y) by the arbitrator to prove—

(1st) that the rental of the dwelling-house was enhanced by reason of the same being used for illegal purposes (z) or being so overcrowded as to be dangerous or injurious to the health of the inmates; or

(2ndly) that the dwelling-house is in a state of defective sanitation, or is not in reasonably good repair; or

(3rdly) that the dwelling-house is unfit, and not reasonably capable of being made fit, for human habitation;

and, if the arbitrator is satisfied by such evidence, then the compensation—

(a) shall in the first case so far as it is based on rental be based on the rental which would have been obtainable if the dwelling-house was occupied for legal purposes (z) and only by the number of persons whom the dwelling-house was under all the circumstances of the case fitted to accommodate without such overcrowding as is dangerous or injurious to the health of the inmates; and

(b) shall in the second case be the amount estimated as the value of the dwelling-house if it had been put into a sanitary condition, or into reasonably good repair, after deducting the estimated expense of putting it into such condition or repair; and

(c) shall in the third case be the value of the land, and of the materials of the buildings thereon.

(4) On payment or tender to the person entitled to receive the same of the amount of compensation agreed or awarded to be paid in respect of the dwelling-house, or on payment thereof in manner prescribed by the Lands Clauses Acts, the owner shall, when required by the local authority, convey his interest in such dwelling-house to them, or as they may direct; and in default thereof, or if the owner fails to adduce a good title to such dwelling-house to the satisfaction of the local authority, it shall be lawful for the local authority, if they think fit, to execute a deed poll in such manner and with such consequences as are mentioned in the Lands Clauses Acts (a).

(5) Sections thirty-two, thirty-three, thirty-five, thirty-six, and thirty-seven of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, shall apply, with any necessary modifications, to an arbitration and to an arbitrator appointed under this Part of this Act (b).

(x) See note (s), ante, p. 1710.

(y) Section 29 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, post, p. 2024, makes it clear that an authority may tender evidence under all these three headings although they have taken no steps to remedy the defects or evils disclosed by the evidence. Compare the provisions of s. 21 (2), ante, p. 1694.

(z) Thus, if the house were used as a brothel, its value must be based on its rental if legally used as a dwelling-house.

(a) The provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts here referred to are contained in 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18, ss. 75—83, ante, pp. 1168—1173.

(b) See these sections, ante, p. 1155. Section 32 gives the arbitrator power to call for books and documents; s. 33 requires the arbitrator to subscribe a declaration before entering upon the reference, such declaration to be annexed to the award when made, but this declaration is now no longer necessary, see the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919; s. 35 requires the arbitrator to deliver the award to the promoters,

(6) The arbitrator may, by one award, settle the amount or amounts of compensation payable in respect of all or any of the dwelling-houses included in one or more order or orders made by the local authority; but he may, and, if the local authority request him so to do shall, from time to time make an award respecting a portion only of the disputed cases brought before him.

(7) In the event of the death, removal, resignation, or incapacity, refusal, or neglect to act of any arbitrator before he shall have made his award, the [Minister of Health] may appoint another arbitrator, to whom all documents relating to the matter of the arbitration which were in the possession of the former arbitrator shall be delivered (c).

(8) The arbitrator may, where he thinks fit, on the request of any party by whom any claim has been made before him, certify the amount of the costs properly incurred by such party in relation to the arbitration, and the amount of the costs so certified shall be paid by the local authority (d).

(9) The arbitrator shall not give such certificate where the arbitrator has awarded the same or a less sum than has been offered by the local authority in respect of such claim before the appointment of the arbitrator, and need not give such certificate to any party where he considers that such party neglected, after due notice from the local authority, to deliver to that authority a statement in writing within such time, and containing such particulars respecting the compensation claimed, as would have enabled the local authority to make a proper offer of compensation to such party before the appointment of the arbitrator (e).

(10) If within seven days after demand the amount so certified be not paid to the party entitled to receive the same, such amount shall be recoverable as a debt from the local authority with interest at the rate of five per cent. per annum for any time during which the same remains unpaid after such seven days as aforesaid (f).

i.e., the local authority (see s. 38 (4)), who must furnish copies to, and permit inspection by, the other parties; s. 36 enables the submission to be made a rule of court; and s. 37 provides that an award shall not be set aside for irregularity or want of form. Moreover, the Arbitration Act, 1889 (see ante, p. 1670), applies, except in so far as it is inconsistent with this Act: see s. 24 thereof.

Note, that this sub-section, together with sub-ss. (7), (8), (10) and (11), are applied by s. 7 of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1900, post, p. 1873, to arbitrations under that section.

(c) See note (s), ante, p. 1710. The provision as to the appointment of another arbitrator is superseded by the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919

(d) The costs are not altogether in the discretion of the arbitrator. See the next sub-section, which corresponds to 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18, s. 34. When the costs are payable to a claimant, the text enables the arbitrator to certify them, instead of leaving them to be taxed under 58 & 59 Vict. c. 11, post, p. 1791. Cf. Sched. II. (29), post, p. 1743.

As to the recovery of the costs, see sub-s. (10), infra.

(e) The offer referred to must have been made before the appointment of the arbitrator. This express provision as to the date of the offer avoids a difficulty which has arisen in many cases. See, for example, In re Gray and N. E. Rail. Co. (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 696.

The claimant need not deliver a statement unless the local authority give him notice to do so.

(f) The costs do not become a debt until seven days after demand. The debt is then recoverable by action in the ordinary way, and will carry interest.

(11) The award of the arbitrator shall be final and binding on all parties (g).

Expenses and Borrowing.

Expenses of local authority.

42.—(1) All expenses incurred by a local authority in the execution of this Part of this Act shall be defrayed by them out of the local rate; and that authority, notwithstanding any limit contained in any Act of Parliament respecting a local rate, may levy such local rate, or any increase thereof, for the purposes of this Part of this Act (h).

(2) Any expenses incurred by a rural sanitary authority under this Part of this Act, other than the expenses incurred in and incidental to proceedings for obtaining a closing order, shall be charged as special expenses on the contributory place in respect of which they are incurred (i).

Provision as to borrowing.

43.—(1) A local authority may borrow for the purpose of raising sums required for purchase money or compensation payable under this Part of this Act in like manner, and subject to the like conditions, as for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the execution by such authority of the Public Health Acts (k).

(2) The Public Works Loan Commissioners may, if they think fit, lend to any local authority the sums borrowed in pursuance of this Part of this Act (l).

Annual account to be presented by the local authority.

44. Every local authority shall every year present to the [Minister of Health], in such form as [he] may direct, an account of what has been done, and of all moneys received and paid by them during the previous year, with a view to carrying into effect the purposes of this Part of this Act (m).

(g) But the award may be stated in the form of a special case under the Arbitration Act, 1889, s. 7 (b), ante, p. 1673), and then an appeal lies from the decision of the High Court thereon to the Court of Appeal. Accidental slips or omissions may be corrected under ibid., s. 7 (c), ante, p. 1673. And apparently the award may be remitted for reconsideration under ibid., s. 10.

(h) As to the local rate, see s. 92, and Sched. I., post, pp. 1733, 1735.

As to the limit to the local rate, see s. 24 (4), and the note thereto, ante, p. 1696.

The financial provisions of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, for the recoupment of losses of a local authority in connection with housing schemes apply to re-housing under a scheme made under this Part of this Act. See s. 7 of the Act of 1919, post, p. 2148.

(i) The expenses of a rural authority in obtaining a closing order will, apparently, be general expenses; all other expenses will be special expenses chargeable upon the particular contributory place. See the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 229, 230, ante, pp. 510, 514.

(k) The borrowing powers of a local authority under the Public Health Acts are contained in ss. 233—243 of the Act of 1875, ante, pp. 521—538. The loan will be on the security of the local rate, with the consent of the Minister of Health.

This power to borrow for "purchase money or compensation" has been extended by the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1894, post, p. 1782, to include any purposes for which an authority are authorised to borrow by a reconstruction scheme.

See the note to s. 25 (4), ante, p. 1697, as to the extended power of borrowing conferred by s. 1 of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, and see this section in extenso, post, p. 1927.

The acquisition in advance of lands in areas proposed for inclusion in improvement scheme is now a purpose for which money may be borrowed, see s. 13 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, post, p. 2152.

(l) As to the period of and rate of interest on loans from the Public Works Loan Commissioners, see the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 3, and the note thereunder, post, p. 2010.

(m) This provision was, no doubt, intended to afford such information to the Minister of Health as might enable the Minister to form an opinion whether each local authority is carrying out the duty imposed upon it by this Part of the Act, and, if necessary, to take steps to enforce the performance of that duty. As to such steps, see the Housing, Town

Powers of County Councils (n).

Powers of county councils.

45.—(1) Where the medical officer of health [sanitary inspector or other officer of the district authority] (o) or any inhabitant house-holders (p) make a representation or complaint, or give information to any vestry or district board in the administrative county of London, or to the local board of Woolwich, or to any rural sanitary authority elsewhere (which vestry, board, or authority is in this Act referred to as the district authority) (q), or to the medical officer of such authority either respecting any dwelling-house being in a state so dangerous or injurious to health as to be unfit for human habitation (r), or respecting an obstructive building (s), and also where a closing order has been made as respects any dwelling-house (t), the district authority shall forthwith forward to the county council of the county in which the dwelling-house or building is situate, a copy of such representation, complaint, information, or closing order, and shall from time to time report to the council such particulars as the council require respecting any proceedings taken by the authority with reference to such representation, complaint, information, or dwelling-house.

(2) Where the county council—

(a) are of opinion that proceedings for a closing order as respects any dwelling-house ought to be instituted, or that an order ought to be made for the demolition of any buildings forming or forming part of any dwelling-house as to which a closing order has been made, or that an order ought to be made for pulling down an obstructive building specified in any representation under this Part of this Act; and

(b) after reasonable notice, not being less than one month, of such opinion has been given in writing to the district authority, consider that such authority have failed to institute or properly prosecute proceedings, or to make the order for demolition, or to take steps for pulling down an obstructive building;

Planning, etc. Act, 1909, ss. 10, 11, post, pp. 2012, 2013, and the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, ss. 5 and 6, post, p. 2148. See also the Act of 1909, s. 37, as to the power of the Minister to call for special reports.

See also as to accounts and audit, s. 80, post, p. 1730.

(n) This provision enables a county council to see that rural authorities fulfil their duties. In case of default, the county council can proceed under the next sub-section; see also the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 10 (3), (4), post, p. 2013, under which in the case of any county district a county council may carry out an order made by the Minister of Health against a defaulting authority.

See also s. 52, post, p. 1719, as to representations by a county medical officer.

By s. 69 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, post, p. 2041, the clerk of a rural district council must also forward a copy of any such representation, complaint or information to the medical officer of health of the county.

See also ss. 5 and 6 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, post, p. 2148.

(o) The words in brackets are inserted in consequence of s. 39 and Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, and s. 3 (1) of the Public Health (Officers) Act, 1921.

(p) Presumably any complaint or representation made by a parish council under the L. G. A., 1894, s. 6 (2), ante, p. 907, must be reported to the county council under this section.

(q) A county council cannot act under this section in any urban district, nor will it be necessary for an urban authority to report to the county council. Vestries and district boards have been superseded by metropolitan borough councils under the London Government Act, 1899, and Woolwich is now a metropolitan borough subject to the general law applying to such boroughs.

Forms for use under this sub-section will be found in the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., at pp. 650, 651.

(r) See ss. 30, 31, ante, p. 1700.

(s) See s. 38 (1), (2), ante, p. 1704.

the council may pass a resolution to that effect, and thereupon the powers of the district authority as respects the said dwelling-house and building under this Part of this Act (otherwise than in respect of a scheme), shall be vested in the county council, and if a closing order or an order for demolition or for pulling down an obstructive building is made, and not disallowed on appeal, the expenses of the council incurred as respects the said dwelling-house and building, including any compensation paid, shall be a simple contract debt to the council from the district authority (u).

(3) Any debt to the council under this section shall be defrayed by the district authority as part of their expenses in the execution of this Part of this Act (x).

(4) The county council and any of their officers shall, for the purposes of this section, have the same right of admission to any premises as any district authority or their officers have for the purpose of the execution of their duties under the enactments relating to public health, and a justice may make the like order for enforcing such admission (y).

Special Provisions as to London.

Application of Part of Act to London.

46. This Part of this Act shall apply to the administrative county of London with the following modifications :

(1) The provisions of the Public Health Acts relating to private improvement expenses and to private improvement rates shall, for the purpose of this Part of this Act, extend to the county and to the city of London, and in the construction of the said provisions, as respects the county of London, any local authority in that county, and as respects the city of London the Commissioners of Sewers, shall be deemed to be the urban authority (z).

(u) Forms for use under this sub-section will be found in the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., at pp. 652, 653.

The district authority (see the preceding sub-section) will have the month after notice within which they may themselves proceed to make a closing order or demolition order, or as the case may be. After the month their powers will pass to the county council, who may put this Part of the Act in operation as if they were the local authority. "Month" means calendar month (52 & 53 Vict. c. 63, s. 3).

The county council are not entitled to charge for the time of their own full-time salaried officers in respect of the proceedings, as, for instance, for the time of their medical officer of health or inspector of nuisances in inspecting the premises, etc. (Durham C. C. v. Easington R. D. C. (1897), 61 J. P. 121).

(x) As to these expenses, see s. 42, ante, p. 1713.

(y) There is no general enactment in the Public Health Acts relating to the entry of officers upon premises for the performance of their duties. There are several express provisions enabling them to enter for specific purposes, and the provision which seems to be indicated in the text is that in s. 102 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 188. That section enables an officer to enter any premises for the purpose of examining as to the existence of any nuisance therein at any time between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. If admission is refused, a justice, upon complaint made to him upon oath, may, by order, authorise the officer to enter. The text may, perhaps, refer to s. 305 of the same Act, ante, p. 639. See now, however, the power of entry given by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 36, post, p. 2026, and as to obstruction see s. 51, post, p. 1719.

As to London, see the Public Health (London) Act, 1891, ss. 10, 115.

(z) In London, a representation made to the county council under Part I. of this Act is, if it relates to only ten houses or fewer, to be dealt with by the borough council under Part II. (s. 72, post, p. 1727), and may be so dealt with in other cases not of general importance to the whole county (s. 73 (b)); conversely some representations to a borough council under Part II. may be ordered to be dealt with under Part I. (s. 72 (a)).

As the Public Health Acts do not apply to the metropolis, it was necessary to apply the provisions mentioned because of s. 38 (8), ante, p. 1706 : see the note thereto. As to the Commissioners of Sewers, see note to s. 25 (3), ante, p. 1697.

(2) The raising of sums required for purchase money or compensation payable under this Part of this Act shall be a purpose for which the London County Council or the Commissioners of Sewers of the city of London, may borrow under Part One of this Act, and a purpose for which a vestry or district board may borrow under the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, and the provisions of Part One of this Act with respect to borrowing, and sections one hundred and eighty-three to one hundred and ninety-one of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, shall apply and have effect accordingly (a).

(3) The London County Council may, if they think fit, lend to a local authority in the administrative county of London the sums borrowed in pursuance of this Part of this Act (b).

(4) [Assent of Secretary of State to certain sales] (c).

(5) Where it appears to the county council, whether in the exercise of the powers of a vestry or district board (d) or on the representation of a vestry or district board or otherwise, that a scheme under this Part of this Act ought to be made (e), the council may take proceedings for preparing and obtaining the confirmation of a scheme, and the provisions of this Act respecting the scheme shall apply in like manner as if they were the vestry or district board, and all expenses of and incidental to the scheme and carrying the same into effect shall, save as hereinafter mentioned, be borne by the county fund.

(6) Where the council consider that such expenses, or a contribution in respect of them, ought to be paid or made by a vestry or district board, they may apply to the [Minister of Health] (f), and the [Minister of Health] (f), if satisfied that, having regard to the size of the area, to the number, position, structure, sanitary condition, and neighbourhood of the buildings to be dealt with, the vestry or district board ought to pay, or make a contribution in respect of, the said expenses, the [Minister of Health] (f) may order such payment or

(a) As to the borrowing powers of the London County Council and the Commissioners of Sewers under Part I., see s. 25 (2), (3), ante, p. 1697.

For the incorporated provisions of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, see Woolrych's Metropolis Local Management Acts, p. 117. Under these sections district boards and vestries were empowered to borrow on mortgage of the rates raised by them under that Act. Vestries and district boards have now been superseded by metropolitan borough councils. As to the transfer to the latter of the above borrowing powers, see the London Government Act, 1899, s. 4.

As to the length of loans, see the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 15, post, p. 1931.

(b) As to the power of the London County Council to lend to local authorities in the metropolis, see 53 & 54 Vict. c. 41, s. 8. As to proof of the power of the local authority to borrow, see 59 & 60 Vict. c. ccxiv, s. 12. A similar clause is contained in all the subsequent Money Acts of the London County Council.

(c) Repealed as spent by the S. L. R. A., 1908; the Secretary of State has no longer any powers under the Act (see note (n) on p. 1928, post).

(d) That is, under s. 45 (2), ante, p. 1714.

(e) The scheme here referred to is a scheme under s. 39, ante, p. 1708. This provision seems to give the London County Council power to initiate or take up such a scheme in any case or under any circumstances. If the scheme affects no more than ten houses, it must be referred to the local authority under s. 72, post, p. 1727; see also s. 73, post, p. 1727, and note (z), ante, p. 1715. See also note (ff) to sub-s. (6), post, p. 1717, as to contributions by Metropolitan Borough Councils.

(f) The words in square brackets were substituted for "Secretary of State" in consequence of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 2 (1), and note thereto, post, p. 1928.

contribution to be made, and the amount thereof shall be a simple contract debt from the vestry or district board to the council (ff).

(7) The county council may, if they think fit, pay or contribute to the payment of the expenses of carrying into effect a scheme under this Part of this Act by a vestry or district board, and if a vestry or district board consider that the expenses of carrying into effect any scheme under this Part of this Act, or a contribution in respect of those expenses, ought to be paid or made by the county council, and the county council decline or fail to agree to pay or make the same, the vestry or district board may apply to the [Minister of Health] (g), and if the [Minister of Health] (g) is satisfied that, having regard to the size of the area, to the number, position, structure, sanitary condition, and neighbourhood of the buildings to be dealt with, the council ought to pay or make a contribution in respect of the said expenses, he may order such payment or contribution to be made, and the amount thereof shall be a simple contract debt from the council to the vestry or district board (gg).

(8) In the application of this section to Woolwich, the local board of health shall be deemed to be a district board, but the raising of any sums required for purchase money or compensation payable under this Part of this Act shall be a purpose for which they may borrow under the Public Health Acts, and the Public Health Acts shall apply accordingly (h).

Supplemental.

Provision as to superior landlord.

47.—(1) Where an owner of any dwelling-house is not the person in receipt of the rents and profits thereof, he may give notice of such ownership to the local authority, and thereupon the local authority shall give such owner notice of any proceedings taken by them in pursuance of this Part of this Act in relation to such dwelling-house (i).

(ff) Metropolitan borough councils (the successors to the vestries and district boards) may agree to make such contributions as are here referred to, and may borrow for the purpose; an Order under this sub-section will only be necessary in cases of disagreement: Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 14, post, p. 1931. Contributions under this or the next sub-section may take the form of a lump sum or of annual payments for a term of years: Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 33, post, p. 2025.

The claim for a contribution will depend, apparently, upon whether the scheme was one properly dealt with under this Part of the Act as distinguished from Part I. (see note (z), ante, p. 1715). If so, the local rate may fairly be required to contribute in relief of the county fund.

(g) See note (f), ante, p. 1716.

(gg) See s. 33 of the Act of 1909 in note (ff), supra. The claim for a contribution will depend to some extent upon whether the area is not one which might, from its extent, etc., have been dealt with under Part I. See the note to the preceding sub-section.

(h) Woolwich has now been brought under the general law applying to metropolitan boroughs, by scheme under the London Government Act, 1899, s. 19.

(i) See the definition of the word "owner" in s. 29, ante, p. 1699. There may be several persons, each having a different interest, all of whom may be included in the term "owner" and all of whom may be affected by proceedings under this Part of the Act, but it is contemplated that the primary liability shall fall upon that owner who is in receipt of the rents and profits. This sub-section enables an owner, who might not be known to be such, to insure that notices affecting the property will be sent to him. He can then protect his interests by, if necessary, getting an order under the next sub-section. A form of notice will be found in the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 654.

As to the effect of this sub-section, see the judgments in Osborne v. Skinners Co., ante, p. 1699.

(2) It it appears to a court of summary jurisdiction (k) on the application of any owner of the dwelling-house that default is being made in the execution of any works required to be executed on any dwelling-house in respect of which a closing order has been made (l), or in the demolition of any building or any dwelling-house or in claiming to retain any site (m), in pursuance of this Part of this Act, and that the interests of the applicant (n) will be prejudiced by such default, and that it is just to make the order, the court may make an order empowering the applicant forthwith to enter on the dwelling-house, and within the time fixed by the order to execute the said works, or to demolish the building or to claim to retain the site, as the case may be, and where it seems to the court just so to do, the court may make a like order in favour of any other owner (o).

(3) A court of summary jurisdiction may in any case by order enlarge the time allowed under any order for the execution of any works or the demolition of a building, or the time within which a claim may be made to retain the site of a building (p).

(4) Before an order is made under this section notice of the application shall be given to the local authority.

Remedies of owner for breach of covenant, etc. not to be prejudiced.

48. Nothing in this Part of this Act shall prejudice or interfere with the right or remedies of any owner for the breach, non-observance, or non-performance of any covenant or contract entered into by a tenant or lessee in reference to any dwelling-house in respect of which an order is made by a local authority under this Part of this Act; and if any owner is obliged to take possession of any dwelling-house in order to comply with any such order, the taking possession shall not affect his right to avail himself of any such breach, non-observance, or non-performance that may have occurred prior to his so taking possession (q).

Service of notices.

49.—(1) Where the owner of any dwelling-house and his residence or place of business are known to the local authority, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the local authority, if the residence or place of business is within the district of such local authority, to serve any notice by this Part of this Act required to be served on the owner, by giving it to him, or for him, to some inmate of his residence or place of business within the district; and in any other case it shall be the duty of the clerk of the local authority to serve the notice by (k) Having regard to s. 20 of the S. J. A., 1879, it appears that an application under this sub-section must be made in open court as defined by that section, and, in most cases, a summons will be necessary. Notice must also be given to the local authority. See sub-s. (4), infra.

(m) See s. 38 (5), ante, p. 1705.

(n) The applicant is an owner other than the owner who has been proceeded against in the first instance, who is generally the owner in receipt of the rent.

(o) See further the wide powers given to an owner by s. 30 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, post, p. 2163.

(p) Italicised words repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, ss. 21, 75, Sched. VI.; see now s. 18 (3) thereof. As to the claim to retain a site, see s. 38 (5), ante, p. 1705.

(q) This section is a re-enactment of 31 & 32 Vict. c. 130, s. 22. Its object is to preserve to a freeholder or lessor his remedies against tenants or lessees on repairing covenants, notwithstanding proceedings under this Part of the Act for closing or demolishing the demised premises, or notwithstanding that he may have intervened under s. 47 (2), or otherwise, under this Part of the Act.

post in a registered letter addressed to the owner at his residence or place of business (r).

(2) Where the owner of the dwelling-house or his residence or place of business is not known to, and after diligent inquiry cannot be found by the local authority (s), then the clerk of the local authority may serve the notice by leaving it, addressed to the owner, with some occupier of the dwelling-house, or if there be not an occupier, then by causing it to be put up on some conspicuous part of the dwelling-house (t).

(3) Notice served upon the agent of the owner shall be deemed notice to the owner (u).

Description of owner in proceedings.

50. Where in any proceedings under this Part of this Act it is necessary to refer to the owner of any dwelling-house, it shall be sufficient to designate him as the "owner" thereof without name or further description (x).

Penalty for preventing execution of Act.

51.—(1) If any person being the occupier of any dwelling-house prevents the owner thereof, or being the owner or occupier of any dwelling-house prevents the medical officer of health, or the officers, agents, servants, or workmen of such owner or officer from carrying into effect with respect to the dwelling-house any of the provisions of this Part of this Act, after notice of the intention so to do has been given to such person, any court of summary jurisdiction on proof thereof may order such person to permit to be done on such premises all things requisite for carrying into effect, with respect to such dwelling-house, the provisions of this Part of this Act (y).

(2) If at the expiration of ten days after the service of such order such person fails to comply therewith, he shall for every day during which the failure continues be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds: Provided that if any such failure is by the occupier, the owner, unless assenting thereto, shall not be liable to such fine (z).

Report to local authority by county medical officer.

52. A representation from the medical officer of health of any county submitted to the county council and forwarded by that council to the local authority of any district in the county, not being a borough as defined by the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, shall, for the purposes of this Part of this Act, have the like effect as a representation from the medical officer of health of the district (a).

(r) But now any notice for an owner under this Part may be sent by post in a registered letter addressed to the owner or his agent at his usual or last-known residence or place of business (Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 13 (1)).

As to the authentication of notices, see s. 86 (2), post, p. 1732.

A notice in "writing" may be partly written and partly printed, lithographed, etc. See 52 & 53 Vict. c. 63, s. 20. As to service by post, see note to s. 7 (c), ante, p. 1685.

(s) See as to this Arlidge v. Hampstead Borough Council, [1916] 1 Ch. 59; 80 J. P. 127.

(t) See note (r), supra.

(u) See s. 13 (1) of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, referred to in note (r), supra. In Ex parte Pilgrove (1892), Times, May 27th, service on the son of the owner, who managed the property for the owner, was held sufficient.

(x) Compare s. 267 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 593. If the owner is known (or believed to be known) there is no reason why his name should not be inserted, adding "or other the owner" in case the information be incorrect.

(y) The provisions of this section are available where a medical officer is prevented from entering a house for the purposes of survey and examination under s. 36 of the Act of 1909. See Arlidge v. Scrase, [1915] 3 K. B. 325.

The order must be made on complaint, and, apparently, the defendant must be summoned.

(z) As to the recovery of the fine, see s. 90, post, p. 1733.

The proviso seems to contemplate a case where an order has been made on an owner, but the subsequent failure to comply with the order is not attributable to the owner, but to the occupier.

(a) This section seems to imply that the medical officer of a county council appointed

PART III.

WORKING CLASS LODGING-HOUSES (b).

Adoption of Part III.

Definition of purposes of Labouring Classes Lodging Houses Acts.

53.—(1) The expression "lodging-houses for the working classes," when used in this Part of this Act, shall include separate houses or cottages for the working classes, whether containing one or several tenements, and the purposes of this Part of this Act shall include the provision of such houses and cottages (c).

(2) The expression "cottage" in this Part of this Act may include a garden of not more than [one acre] (d).

54. [Adoption of this Part of Act] (e).

55. [Provisions relating to adoption] (e).

under the L. G. A., 1888, s. 17, ante, p. 751, may make a representation to his council with reference to unhealthy houses in the county, and not in any borough. If he does so the council must forward the representation to the local authority, who must thereupon take proceedings upon it under s. 38, ante, p. 1704, or under the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, ss. 17, 18, post, pp. 2017, 2021, as the case may be, as if it were a representation made to them by their own medical officer.

See further s. 6 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, p. 2148, post.

(b) The primary object of this Part of the Act is to enable an authority to provide working class lodging-houses; but in connection with any scheme for so doing they may lay out and construct public streets or roads on land acquired or appropriated by them, or may contribute towards the expenses incurred by other persons in so doing: see the Housing, Town Planning, etc., Act, 1919, s. 15, post, p. 2153. Any provision of the Act of 1909 which amends or supersedes a provision of this Part is to be deemed to be a portion of this Part (ibid., s. 47 (1)).

Part I. of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, is to be construed as one with the principal Act (Act of 1890) and any provisions of Part I. of the Act of 1919, which supersede or amend any provisions of the principal Act, are to be deemed to be part of that Part of the principal Act in which the provisions superseded or amended are contained, and references in Part I. of the Act of 1919 to the principal Act or to any provision of the principal Act, are to be construed as references to that Act or provision as amended by any subsequent enactment, including Part I. of the Act of 1919 (see section 40 of the Act of 1919, post, p. 2165). The Act of 1919 placed local authorities under an obligation to submit housing schemes within three months after the passing of the Act, and under the further obligation to thereafter submit further schemes as often as occasion requires.

As to the meaning of the term "working classes," see note to s. 1, p. 1681, ante.

(c) Under s. 11 of the Revenue Act, 1903, in estimating the inhabited house duty for any house solely used, so far as it is used as a dwelling-house, for providing separate dwellings, the value of any dwelling below the annual value of £20 is excluded, and the duty in respect of dwellings of the value of £20, but not exceeding £40 (or £60), is reduced to 3*d.* (or 6*d.*), as the case may be. It is, however, necessary that a certificate as mentioned in s. 26 (2) of the Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1890, to the effect that the accommodation in each dwelling is suitable for the persons occupying it, and that the sanitary condition is satisfactory, should be procured from the medical officer of health or other medical practitioner appointed for the purpose by the local authority. As to the meaning of the term "separate dwellings" in this exemption, see Seaman v. Lee, London C.C. v. Cook, and Farmer v. Cotton's Trustees, cited in the note to s. 26 (2) of the Act of 1890, ante, p. 1679. Under s. 35 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, any house occupied for the sole purpose of letting lodgings to persons of the working classes at a charge not exceeding 6*d.* per night for each person is now exempt from the duty; a similar certificate is required.

(d) This is the definition as amended by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 50; in the original definition the limit was "not more than half an acre, provided that the estimated annual value of such garden shall not exceed three pounds."

(e) Part III. of this Act is now in force universally (Housing, Town Planning, etc., Act, 1909, s. 1): it was previously an adoptive Act, and its adoption in rural districts

Execution of Part III. by Local Authority.

56. Where this Part of this Act has been adopted in any district, the local authority shall have power to carry it into execution (f) (subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act with respect to rural sanitary authorities), and for that purpose may exercise the same powers whether of contract (g) or otherwise as in the execution of their duties in the case of the London County Council under the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, and the Acts amending the same, or in the case of sanitary authorities under the Public Health Acts, or in the case of the Commissioners of Sewers under the Acts conferring powers on such commissioners. Powers of local authority.

57.—(1) Land for the purposes (h) of this Part of this Act may be acquired (i) by a local authority in like manner as if those purposes were purposes of the Public Health Act, 1875, and sections one hundred and seventy-five to one hundred and seventy-eight, both inclusive, of that Act (relating to the purchase of lands) (i), shall apply accordingly, and Acquisition of land.

was subject to the consent of the county council. Consequently all the provisions relating to adoption have been repealed. This Part is now not only in force universally but local authorities are compelled to consider the needs of their districts and to submit schemes for the exercise of their powers and duties, see the Act of 1919, post, p. 2145.

(f) As to the objects of Part III., see p. 1720, note (b), ante.

Adoption is no longer necessary (see preceding note); and the Act now extends to every place for which it had not in 1909 been adopted "as if it had been so adopted."

As to the powers of the Minister of Health, or a county council, to enforce, or in some cases take over, the duties of the local Authority, see ss. 10—13 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, post, pp. 2012—2014, and ss. 5 and 6 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, post, p. 2148.

As to the power of two authorities to unite to carry out the Act, see the Act of 1909, s. 38. Interested members must not vote on resolutions (s. 88, post, p. 1732).

(g) Under 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, s. 149, the London County Council may enter into all such contracts as they may think necessary for carrying that Act into execution. The sections of the P. H. A., 1875, relating to contracts by sanitary authorities, are ss. 173, 174, ante, pp. 397—412. As to the Commissioners of Sewers, see note to s. 25 (3), ante, p. 1697.

(h) By s. 12 (2) of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, it was enacted that the purposes for which land may be acquired under the Part of the Act in the text shall be deemed to include the lease or sale of the land with the objects in the sub-section specified. See the sub-section at p. 2152, post.

A local authority may accept gifts of land, money or other property for any purpose of the Housing Acts (Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 8, post, p. 2012).

As to the power of the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries in agricultural districts and the Local Government Board (now Minister of Health) elsewhere to acquire land and buildings for housing purposes and to make arrangements for housing purposes with any local authority, see the Housing (No. 2) Act, 1914 (4 & 5 Geo. 5, c. 52), post, p. 2090.

(i) See these sections, pp. 412—424, ante. They still apply to purchases by agreement; but, if an authority require compulsory powers, they now obtain such powers, not by a Provisional Order under s. 176, but by an Order under the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 2, post, p. 2010. Sched. I. of that Act as amended by the Housing, etc. Act, 1919, now regulates the procedure, etc.

As to restrictions upon the acquisition of certain classes of lands, see the Act of 1909, ss. 45, 73, 74, post, pp. 2029, 2042.

As to compensation in case of compulsory purchase, see s. 5, of the Housing, etc. Act, 1900.

Notwithstanding the express provision in s. 175 of the P. H. A., 1875, as to the acquisition of lands without the district of an authority, Messrs. Haldane, K.C., and Lawson Walton, K.C., advised the London County Council that they had no power to acquire land for the purpose of providing working class lodging-houses outside their district. They further advised that the council could not acquire land and keep it in their possession, even in their district, with a view to the possible ultimate erection of working class lodging-houses thereon, but with no present intention of so using it. See the Times, August 29th, 1899. But now by the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1900, s. 1, shall for the purposes of this Part of this Act extend to London in like manner as if the Commissioners of Sewers and London County Council respectively were a local authority in the said sections mentioned, and a Secretary of State were substituted for the Local Government Board (k).

(2) The local authority may, if they think fit, contract for the purchase or lease of any lodging-houses for the working classes already, or hereafter to be built and provided (l).

(3) The local authority may . . . (m), with the consent of the [Minister of Health] . . . (n), appropriate, for the purposes of this Part of this Act, any lodging-houses so purchased or taken on lease, and any other land which may be for the time being vested in them, or at their disposal (o).

Local authority may purchase existing lodging-houses.

58. The trustees of any lodging-houses for the working classes for the time being provided in any district by private subscriptions or otherwise, post, p. 1872, an urban authority may, for supplying the needs of their district, establish or acquire lodging-houses for the working classes under Part III. outside their district; and by s. 2 (3) of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, an authority may be authorised by the Minister of Health to acquire land by agreement in anticipation of future requirements under Part III.

An authority acquiring land under this section need no longer make good any deficiency in the rates under s. 133 of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (see Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 34, post, p. 2025).

An Irish district council prior to obtaining a Provisional Order Confirmation Act enabling them to acquire land compulsorily for the purposes of this Part of the Act, and for widening streets, duly deposited plans, one of them being a ground plan of forty-five cottages proposed to be built, showing also a proposed playground and a proposed approach fifty feet wide. The plans were referred to in the Act for the purpose of description, but the Act contained no provision requiring the works to be carried out according to the plans. It was held that the plans were only incorporated in the Act for the purpose of identifying the land to be acquired; that the defendants were, therefore, not bound to adhere to the representation of intention shown on the plan as to the proposed number of cottages, and the playground and approach; and that they could not be enjoined while they kept within the purposes mentioned in the Act (Bradshaw v. Bray U. D. C., [1907] 1 I. R. 152). And see also N. B. Rail. Co. v. Tod (1846), 12 Cl. & F. 722; Att.-Gen. v. G. E. Rail. Co. (1873), L. R. 6 H. L. 367.

(k) Italicised words repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1908, because since 1905 (see note (n) on p. 1928, post) all powers under these Acts originally exercisable (in London) by the Home Secretary have been transferred to the L. G. B. (now Minister of Health).

(l) This sub-section was repealed by s. 50, and Sched. V. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919. It is superseded by s. 12 (1) of the last mentioned Act, which is set out at p. 2152, post.

(m) The words "if not a rural sanitary authority" are here omitted by reason of s. 39 and Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

(n) The words "and if a rural sanitary authority with the consent of the county council of the county in which the land is situate" are here omitted by reason of the above mentioned section, and Schedule of the said Act of 1919. The effect of this and the last mentioned alteration is to transfer from county councils to the Minister of Health the power to consent to houses and land being appropriated by rural authorities for the purposes of Part III.

(o) As to the appropriation of other lands, see s. 23, ante, p. 1695, and notes thereto.

Under s. 111 of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, a municipal corporation may convert corporate land into sites for working men's dwellings. See form of lease in the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. X., p. 664.

See also s. 12 (3) of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, for the power now given to a local authority, subject to the consent of the Minister of Health, to contract for the purchase by or lease to them of houses either already built, or only projected. And see also s. 14 of the same Act which gives a local authority power to acquire water rights in connection with housing schemes.

Where a local authority have agreed to purchase, or have determined to appropriate lands, they may, under the circumstances mentioned in s. 10 (2) of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, enter on the land. See the sub-section at p. 2151, post.

may, with the consent of a majority of the committee or other persons by whom they were appointed trustees, sell or lease the lodging-houses to the local authority of the district, or make over to them the management thereof (p).

Erection of lodging-houses.

59. The local authority may, on any land acquired or appropriated by them, erect any buildings suitable for lodging-houses for the working classes, and convert any buildings into lodging-houses for the working classes, and may alter, enlarge, repair, and improve the same respectively, and fit up, furnish, and supply the same respectively with all requisite furniture, fittings, and conveniences (q).

60. [Sale and exchange of lands] (r).

Management of Lodging-Houses.

61 (s).—(1) The general management, regulation, and control of the lodging-houses established or acquired by a local authority under this Part of this Act shall be vested in and exercised by the local authority.

(2) The local authority may make such reasonable charges for the tenancy or occupation of the lodging-houses provided under this Part of this Act as they may determine by regulations (t).

Management to be vested in local authority.

62 (u).—(1) The local authority may make byelaws (x) for the management, use, and regulation of the lodging-houses, and it shall be obligatory on the local authority, except in the case of a lodging-house which is occupied as a separate dwelling, by such byelaws to make sufficient provision for the several purposes expressed in the Sixth Schedule to this Act.

(2) A printed copy or sufficient abstract of the byelaws relating to the management, use, and regulation of the lodging-houses shall be put up and at all times kept in every room therein (y).

Byelaws for regulation of lodging-houses.

63. [Disqualification of tenants of lodging-houses on receiving parochial relief] (z).

(p) See the two preceding sub-sections and notes thereto.

(q) Under this section the authority may not only provide lodging-houses, which include cottages and gardens (see s. 53, ante, p. 1720), but may furnish them when provided. They may also, with the consent of the Minister of Health, provide shops, recreation grounds, etc., in connection with the lodging-houses (Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 11). As to their power to lay out streets, see note (b), p. 1720, ante.

An authority, instead of themselves building lodging-houses, may also grant leases of land to persons who will carry Part III. into execution by building such houses (see Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, s. 15, post, p. 2153).

(r) This section was repealed by s. 50, and Sched. V. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919. It is superseded by s. 15 of the last mentioned Act, which is set out at p. 2153, post.

(s) This and the next section did not extend to a lodging-house built on land leased under the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1900, s. 5. The last mentioned section has now been superseded by s. 15, of the Housing, etc. Act, 1919, post, p. 2153.

(t) Regulations must not be confounded with byelaws. The latter require confirmation (see s. 84, post, p. 1731); the former do not, and they may be altered from time to time without the consent or approval of any superior authority. See also note (q), supra.

(u) See note (t), supra.

(x) As to the making of byelaws, see s. 84, post, p. 1731. Byelaws must be made for the purposes mentioned in Sched. VI., post, p. 1745, except in the case of a lodging-house occupied as a separate dwelling. It is optional with the local authority to make byelaws for other purposes of management, etc.

(y) The copy or abstract must be hung up in every room, not merely in every separate tenement.

(z) Repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 46.

64. [When lodging-houses are considered too expensive, they may be sold] (a).

Expenses and Borrowing of Local Authorities.

Payment of expenses.

65. All expenses incurred by a local authority in the execution of this Part of this Act shall be defrayed—

(i) In the case of an authority in the administrative county of London, out of the Dwelling House Improvement Fund under Part I. of this Act (b) ;

(ii) In the case of an urban sanitary authority, as part of the general expenses of their execution of the Public Health Acts (c) ;

(iii) [Expenses of rural authority] (d).

Borrowing for purposes of Part III.

66. The London County Council and the Commissioners of Sewers may borrow for the purpose of the execution of this Part of this Act, in like manner and subject to the like conditions as they may borrow for the purposes of Part I. of this Act, and a sanitary authority may borrow for the purpose of the execution of this Part of this Act in like manner and subject to the like conditions as for the purpose of defraying the above-mentioned general or special expenses (e).

Loans to and Powers of Companies, Societies, and Individuals.

Loans by Public Works Commissioners.

67.—(1) (f) In addition to the powers conferred upon them by any other

(a) This section was repealed by s. 50, and Sched. V. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919. It is superseded by s. 15 of the last mentioned Act which is set out at p. 2153, post.

(b) As to this fund, see s. 24, ante, p. 1695. But now by the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1900, s. 3, post, p. 1872, any expenses incurred by the council of a metropolitan borough under Part III. of this Act, whether within or without the borough, are to be defrayed as part of the ordinary expenses of the council, but by s. 41 (2) of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, provision is made for the recoupment by the London County Council of any loss incurred by a metropolitan borough council in carrying out a scheme to which s. 7 of that Act applies. Payments so made by the London County Council are to be deemed to be part of the expenses incurred by them in carrying out a scheme to which that section applies.

(c) See ss. 207, 208 of the Public Health Act, 1875, ante, pp. 469, 472.

(d) This provision has been repealed, and is now replaced by s. 31 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc., Act, 1909, p. 2024, post, which makes the expenses of a rural authority in executing Part III. general expenses chargeable on the whole district, unless the Minister of Health on the application of the council declare them to be either special expenses charged on specified contributory places, or general expenses similarly charged.

"Expenses incurred in the execution of this part of this Act," may now be increased by deficits made by County Councils in connection with the provision of a small holding of not less than half an acre with a cottage thereon. See s. 20 of the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919.

(e) As to the power of the London County Council and the Commissioners of Sewers to borrow for the purposes of Part I., see s. 25, ante, p. 1697. See also, as to the Commissioners of Sewers, note to s. 25 (3), ante, p. 1697.

The power of a metropolitan borough council to borrow for the purposes of Part III. is exercisable in the like manner and subject to the like conditions as their power (see s. 46, ante, p. 1715) to borrow for the purposes of Part II. (Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1900, s. 3, post, p. 1872).

As to the borrowing powers of rural authorities for the purposes of Part III., see Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 31, post, p. 2024.

As to the borrowing powers of authorities generally, see the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 233—243, ante, pp. 521—538, and s. 25 (4), (5), and notes thereto, pp. 1697, 1698, ante.

Italicised words repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 75, Sched. VI.

(f) By s. 19 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, a power to contribute to the costs of public utility societies and housing trusts was conferred. By s. 22 of the same Act local authorities were empowered to grant loans for the improvement of housing accommodation.

By s. 20 (1) of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, the purposes of this sub-section were extended to include the purchase of houses which might be made suitable as houses enactment (g), the Public Works Loan Commissioners may, out of the funds at their disposal, advance on loan to any such body or proprietor as hereinafter mentioned; namely,—

(a) any railway company or dock or harbour company, or any other company, society, or association established for the purpose of constructing or improving, or of facilitating or encouraging the construction or improvement of dwellings for the working classes, or for trading or manufacturing purposes (h) (in the course of whose business, or in the discharge of whose duties persons of the working classes are employed);

(b) any private person entitled to any land for an estate in fee simple or for any term of years absolute, whereof not less than fifty years shall for the time being remain unexpired;

and any such body or proprietor may borrow from the Public Works Loan Commissioners such money as may be required for the purpose of constructing or improving, or of facilitating or encouraging the construction or improvement of dwellings for the working classes.

(2) Such loans shall be made in manner provided by the Public Works Loans Act, 1875 (i), subject to the following provisions:

(a) Any such advance may be made whether the body or proprietor receiving the same has or has not power to borrow on mortgage or otherwise, independently of this Act; but nothing in this Act shall repeal or alter any regulation, statutory or otherwise, whereby any company may be restricted from borrowing until a definite portion of capital is subscribed for, taken, or paid up.

(b) The period for the repayment of the sums advanced shall not exceed forty years.

(c) No money shall be advanced on mortgage of any land or dwellings solely, unless the estate therein proposed to be mortgaged shall be either an estate in fee simple, or an estate for a term of years absolute, whereof not less than fifty years shall be unexpired at the date of the advance.

(d) The money advanced on the security of a mortgage of any land or dwellings solely shall not exceed one moiety (ii) of the value, to be ascertained to the satisfaction of the Public Works Loan Commissioners, of the estate or interest in such land or dwellings proposed to be mortgaged; but advances may be made by instalments from time to time as the building of the dwellings on the land mortgaged progresses, so that the total advanced do not at any time exceed the amount aforesaid; and a mortgage may be accordingly made to secure such advances so to be made from time to time (k).

or the working classes, and to the purchase and development of land by a public utility society.

(g) The commissioners had power under ss. 5, 6 of the Public Works Loans Act, 1879, o lend to the Peabody Trustees in London, and to labourers' dwellings companies, etc. n London and elsewhere, money for the purpose of constructing or improving dwellings or the labouring classes.

(h) As to the power of a railway or trading company to erect dwellings, etc., see s. 58, post, p. 1726.

As to the power of local authorities to promote the formation and extension of public utility societies, see Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, s. 18, post, p. 2154.

(i) See this Act, ante, p. 1435.

(ii) As regards building societies this amount is increased to seventy-five per cent. by s. 4 of Public Works Loans Act, 1922, subject to further security being given. See the section, post.

(k) See, now, as to the italicised words s. 20 (2), and s. 21 of the Housing, etc. Act, 1919, post, pp. 2156, 2157.

(3) For the purpose of constructing or improving or facilitating or encouraging the construction or improvement of dwellings for the working classes, every such body as aforesaid is hereby authorised to purchase, take, and hold land, and if not already a body corporate shall, for the purpose of holding such land under this Part of this Act, and of suing and being sued in respect thereof, be nevertheless deemed a body corporate with perpetual succession (l).

Powers to companies.

68. Any railway company, or dock or harbour company or any other company, society, or association, established for trading or manufacturing purposes in the course of whose business or in the discharge of whose duties persons of the working class are employed, may and are hereby (notwithstanding any Act of Parliament, or charter, or any rule of law or equity to the contrary) authorised at any time to erect, either on their own land or any other land (which they are hereby authorised to purchase and hold for the purpose, and to pay for out of any funds at their disposal), dwellings for the accommodation of all or any of the persons of the working class employed by them (m).

Power to water and gas companies to supply water and gas to lodging-houses.

69. Any commissioners of waterworks, trustees of waterworks, water companies, gas companies, and other corporations, bodies, and persons having the management of any waterworks, reservoirs, wells, springs, or streams of water, and gasworks respectively, may, in their discretion, grant and furnish supplies of water or gas for lodging-houses provided under this Part of this Act, either without charge or on such other favourable terms as they think fit (n).

Inspection of lodging-houses.

70. A lodging-house established in any district under this Part of this Act, shall be at all times open to the inspection of the local authority of that district or of any officer from time to time authorised by such authority (o).

Application of penalties.

71. Any fine for the breach of any byelaw under this Part of this Act, shall be paid to the credit of the funds out of which the expenses of this Part of this Act are defrayed (p).

(l) This clause creates an exception to the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888, s. 1. Compare the provisions of the Working Classes Dwellings Act, 1890, ante, p. 1680. The provision that the body shall be deemed a body corporate for one purpose only is singular. Cf. 59 Geo. 3, c. 12, s. 17; Smith v. Adkins (1841), 11 L. J. Exch. 83; 8 M. & W. 362; Ward v. Clarke (1844), 13 L. J. Exch. 229; 12 M. & W. 747.

(m) This provision is a re-enactment of 29 Vict. c. 28, s. 8. But for it, a company might not have had power to erect dwellings under this Part of the Act. As to the power of a company to borrow, see s. 67 (2), ante, p. 1725.

Cottages built by a railway company for their workmen are not exempt from byelaws as to new buildings by reason of the last clause in s. 157 of the P. H. A., 1875 (M. S. & L. Rail. Co. v. Barnsley Union, ante, p. 352). (n) This is a re-enactment of 14 & 15 Vict. c. 34, s. 39. It will enable a local authority who supply water or gas to give a gratuitous supply to any lodging-houses provided by them, or by any other body or person under this Part of the Act.

PART IV.

Supplemental.

Limit of area to be dealt with on official representation.

72. Where an official representation made to the London County Council in pursuance of Part I. of this Act relates to not more than ten houses, the London County Council shall not take any proceedings on such representation, but shall direct the medical officer of health making the same to represent the case to the local authority under Part II. of this Act, and it shall be the duty of the local authority to deal with such case in manner provided by that Part of this Act (q).

Provisions as to Parts of Act under which reports are to be dealt with in county of London.

73.—(1) In either of the following cases:

(a) Where a medical officer of health has represented to any local authority in the county of London under Part II. of this Act that any dwelling-houses are in a condition so dangerous or injurious to health, as to be unfit for human habitation (r), or that the pulling down of any obstructive buildings would be expedient (s), and such authority resolve that the case of such dwelling-houses or buildings is of such general importance to the county of London that it should be dealt with by a scheme under Part I. of this Act; or

(b) Where an official representation as mentioned in Part I. of this Act has been made to the London County Council (t) in relation to any houses, courts, or alleys within a certain area, and that council resolve that the case of such houses, courts, or alleys is not of general importance to the county of London and should be dealt with under Part II. of this Act; such local authority or council may submit such resolution to [the Minister of Health] (xx), and thereupon the [Minister of Health] (xx) may appoint an arbitrator, and direct him to hold a local inquiry (u), and such arbitrator shall hold such inquiry and report to the [Minister of Health] (xx) as to whether, having regard to the size of the area, to the number of houses to be dealt with, to the position, structure, and sanitary condition of such houses, and of the neighbourhood thereof, and to the provisions of Part I. of this Act, the case is either wholly or partially of any and what importance to the county of London, with power to such arbitrator to report that in the event of the case being dealt with under Part II. of this Act, the London County Council ought to make a contribution in respect of the expense of dealing with the case (x).

(2) The [Minister of Health] (xx), after considering the report of the arbitrator, may, according as to him seems just, decide that the case shall be dealt with either under Part II. of this Act, or under Part I. of this Act, and the medical officer of health or other proper officer shall forthwith make (q) This section applies only to London. An official representation under Part I. is made under s. 5, ante, p. 1683. That under Part II. is made under ss. 30 and 31, ante, p. 1700.

(r) Such a representation is made under s. 30, ante, p. 1700.
(s) As to obstructive buildings, see s. 38, ante, p. 1704.
(t) This official representation is made under s. 5, ante, p. 1683.
(u) As to local inquiries, see s. 85, post, p. 1732.
(x) As to this contribution, see s. 46 (7), ante, p. 1717.
(xx) "The Minister of Health" is substituted for "a Secretary of State" the powers of the Secretary of State have now become vested in the Minister of Health. See note (n), s. 1928, post.

the representation necessary for proceedings in accordance with such decision (y).

Amendment of 45 & 46 Vict. c. 38, as regards erection of buildings for working classes.

74.—(1) The Settled Land Act, 1882, shall be amended as follows:

(a) Any sale, exchange, or lease of land in pursuance of the said Act, when made for the purpose of the erection on such land of dwellings for the working classes, may be made at such price, or for such consideration, or for such rent, as having regard to the said purpose, and to all the circumstances of the case, is the best that can be reasonably obtained notwithstanding that a higher price, consideration, or rent might have been obtained if the land were sold, exchanged, or leased for another purpose (z).

(b) The improvements on which capital money may be expended, enumerated in section twenty five of the said Act, and referred to in section thirty of the said Act, shall, in addition to cottages for labourers, farm servants, and artizans whether employed on the settled land or not, include any dwellings available for the working classes, the building of which in the opinion of the court is not injurious to the estate (a).

(2) Any body corporate holding land may sell, exchange, or lease the land for the purpose of the erection of dwellings for the working classes at such price, or for such consideration, or for such rent as having regard to the said purpose and to all the circumstances of the case is the best that can reasonably be obtained, notwithstanding that a higher price, consideration, or rent might have been obtained if the land were sold, exchanged, or leased for another purpose (b).

Condition to be implied on letting houses for the working classes.

75. In any contract made after the fourteenth day of August one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five for letting for habitation by persons of the working classes a house or part of a house, there shall be implied a condition

(y) The medical officer will accordingly report under s. 5, or under s. 30, according as the decision is to proceed under Part I. or Part II.

(z) The Settled Land Act, 1882, s. 3, enabled a tenant for life to sell or exchange any settled land. Every sale, however, was to be made at the best price that could reasonably be obtained, and every such exchange for the best consideration in land, or in land and money, that could reasonably be obtained (s. 4). By s. 6, a tenant for life was empowered to make building leases for ninety-nine years, mining leases for sixty years, and other leases for twenty-one years. By s. 7, such leases were to reserve the best rent that could reasonably be obtained, regard being had to any fine taken, and to any money laid out or to be laid out for the benefit of the settled land, and generally to the circumstances of the case. The text relaxes these requirements in the case of sales, exchanges, and leases by tenants for life when lands are sold, exchanged, or leased for the purposes of this Act. In such cases it is not the best price or rent which could be obtained, but the best price or rent which could be obtained having regard to the object of the sale, etc., which must be secured by the tenant for life.

As to the meaning of the term "working classes" generally, see note to s. 1, p. 1681, ante. By s. 18 of the Settled Land Act, 1890, the provisions of s. 11 of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1885, and of any enactment which may be substituted therefor (i.e., the text), shall have effect as if the expression "working classes" included all classes of persons who earn their livelihood by wages or salaries; provided that this section shall apply only to buildings of a rateable value not exceeding £100 per annum.

See, now, the wide powers given by s. 31 of the Housing, etc. Act, 1919, post, p. 2164, and by ss. 41 and 65 of the Law of Property Act, 1922.

(a) This provision is now superseded by the one couched in wider terms contained in s. 7 (1) of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, post, p. 2011; and the same section defines the power of a life tenant to erect working class dwellings on the settled land at his own cost without incurring any liability for "waste." See also the "application of capital money" and the "improvements" authorised by ss. 64 and 65 of the Law of Property Act, 1922.

(b) This will apply not only to a municipal corporation, but also to corporate bodies capable of holding lands, such as colleges, hospitals, etc. Without the provision in the text, these bodies, holding their land, as they do, upon trust, could not have sold except at the best market price.

that the house is at the commencement of the holding in all respects reasonably fit for human habitation. In this section the expression "letting for habitation by persons of the working classes" means the letting for habitation of a house or part of a house at a rent not exceeding in England the sum named as the limit for the composition of rates by section three of the Poor Rate Assessment Collection Act, 1869, and in Scotland or Ireland four pounds (c).

(c) The general rule of English law is, that there is no implied covenant by the lessor of a house that it is reasonably fit for habitation (Hart v. Windsor (1843), 12 M. & W. 68; Sutton v. Temple, ibid., 52; Keates v. Earl Cadogan (1851), 10 C. B. 591; Murray Bartram v. Aldous (1886), 2 T. L. R. 237). The law of Scotland seems to be different (Bell's Principles of the Law of Scotland, §§ 1208, 1253; McKimmie's Trustees v. Armour (1899), 2 Fras. 156; Scottish Heritable Co. v. Granger (1881), 8 R. 459; Kippen v. Oppenheim (1847), 10 Dunlop, 242). If, however, in England the contract be induced by an assurance that the drains are in order, specific performance will not be granted (Tofield v. Roberts (1894), 10 T. L. R. 437); and, if there be an express warranty on the point given at the time of the letting, an action for damages will lie for breach of it (De Lassalle v. Guildford, [1901] 2 K. B. 215). Moreover, the general rule in England does not apply to a furnished house. It is an implied condition in the letting of a furnished house that it is reasonably fit for habitation; if it be not, e.g., if it is infested with bugs, the tenant may quit without notice, and an action will not lie for use and occupation (Smith v. Marrable (1843), 11 M. & W. 5; Campbell v. Lord Wenlock (1866), 4 F. & F. 716). H. agreed to rent a furnished house for three months from May 7th, but having, at the beginning of the intended tenancy, discovered that the house was, owing to defective drainage, unfit for habitation, refused to occupy. The lessor repaired the drains, and on May 26th tendered the house in a wholesome condition to H., who refused to occupy or pay any rent. The lessor having sued for rent and for use and occupation, it was held that the state of the house at the beginning of the intended tenancy entitled H. to rescind the contract, and that he was not liable (Wilson v. Finch Hatton (1877), 2 Ex. D. 336; 41 J. P. 583). And see, on the same point, Harrison v. Malet (1886), 3 T. L. R. 58; Bunn v. Harrison, ibid., 146; Charsley v. Jones (1889), 53 J. P. 280; 5 T. L. R. 412. One who has agreed to take a furnished house is not bound to fulfil his contract if the house be infected with measles at the date fixed for the commencement of the tenancy. If in such a case the lessor sue for rent, he must show, to entitle him to succeed, that the house was, in fact, in a fit state for human habitation at the date fixed for the commencement of the term, notwithstanding a previous intimation by the tenant of his intention to repudiate the contract (Bird v. Lord Greville (1884), 1 C. & E. 317, per Field, J.; Dawson v. Clementson (1885), 1 T. L. R. 295; Harrison v. Malet, supra). But a tenant has been held not justified in determining his tenancy of a furnished house because, during the term, a portion of the plastering of the ceilings (which were cracked and fractured at the commencement of the tenancy) fell in one room, and the plastering of the ceilings in other rooms was unsound and liable to fall. On a letting of a furnished house, the implied term that it shall be fit for human habitation only applies to the condition of the premises at the commencement of the tenancy (Maclean v. Currie (1884), 1 C. & E. 361, per Stephen, J.; Sarson v. Roberts, [1895] 2 Q. B. 395; 59 J. P. 451). On the taking of a furnished house, there is no implied warranty by the lessee that the tenant is a fit and proper person to occupy it (Humphreys v. Miller (1916), 32 T. L. R 524, affirmed (1917), 2 K. B. 122).

Implied condition on letting furnished house.

The provision in the text creates an implied warranty similar to that now existing in the case of furnished houses. A tenant has, under it, a right to sue his landlord for damages for injuries caused by the premises not being reasonably fit for human habitation, owing to any defective state of repair (Walker v. Hobbs (1889), 23 Q. B. D. 458; 54 J. P. 199). See also Newman v. Sanger (1899), 63 J. P. 699. And see Stanton v. Southwick (1920), 2 K. B. 642; 84 J. P. 207, as to the circumstances under which the presence of rats will constitute a breach of the statutory covenant.

In the case of any contract made after August 14th, 1903, the section applies notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary (Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 12, post, p. 1930): but it applies only to houses or parts of houses let at the rents mentioned in 32 & 33 Vict. c. 41, s. 3, viz., in the metropolis (inclusive of the city of London), at a rent not exceeding £20; in Liverpool, £13; in Manchester and Birmingham, £10, and elsewhere, £8. Semble, West Ham is situated in the metropolis for the purpose of this limitation by virtue of its local Act (Manning v. Simpson (1898), 62 J. P. 137).

The principle of this section has, however, been now extended by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, ss. 14, 15, post, pp. 2014, 2015. In the case of contracts made after December 3rd, 1909, a similar condition is in general implied if the rent does not exceed in London £40, in boroughs or large urban districts £26, and elsewhere £16 (s. 14); moreover in such cases s. 15 imports also an implied undertaking by the lessor to keep in repair.

Medical officer of health in county of London.

76.—(1) The London County Council may, with the consent of the [Minister of Health], at any time appoint one or more legally qualified practitioner or practitioners, with such remuneration as they think fit, for the purpose of carrying into effect any Part of this Act (d).

(2) Any medical officer of health appointed by the London County Council, and any officer appointed under this section by the London County Council, shall be deemed to be a medical officer of health of a local authority within the meaning of this Act (e).

77. [Power to local authority to enter and value premises] (f).

Compensation to tenants for expense of removal.

78. Where a building or any part of a building purchased by the local authority in pursuance of a scheme under Part I. or Part II. of this Act is not closed by a closing order, and is occupied by any tenant whose contract of tenancy is for less than a year, the local authority, if they require him to give up possession of such building or part for the purpose of pulling down the building, may make to the said tenant a reasonable allowance on account of his expenses in removing (g).

Duties of medical officer of health.

79.—(1) Anything which under Part I. or Part II. of this Act is authorised or required to be done by or to a medical officer of health may be done by or to any person authorised to act temporarily as such medical officer of health (h).

(2) Every representation made by a medical officer of health in pursuance of this Act shall be in writing (i).

Accounts and audit.

80.—(1) Separate accounts shall be kept by the local authority and their officers of their receipts and expenditure under each Part of this Act (k).

By s. 28 of the Housing, etc. Act, 1919, a wider power of securing the carrying out of repairs is given to local authorities. It applies to any house suitable for occupation by persons of the working classes. See the section at p. 2162, post, and Arlidge v. Tottenham U. D. C., [1922] 2 K. B. 719; 86 J. P. 171.

(d) The London County Council must, like every other county council, appoint a medical officer of health under L. G. A., 1888, s. 17, ante, p. 751. Under this section, they may appoint one or more medical officers, whose duties will be limited to carrying into effect any Part of this Act.

As to the meaning of the term "legally qualified medical practitioner," see the note to the L. G. A., 1888, s. 18, ante, p. 752.

"The Minister of Health" has been substituted for "a Secretary of State" as the powers of the Secretary of State have now devolved on the Minister of Health. See note (n) on p. 1928, post.

(e) As to the meaning of the term "local authority," see s. 92, post, p. 1733. Such a medical officer may act under Part II. of this Act, though, for purposes of that Part, the London County Council may not be the local authority.

(f) Repealed. See now the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 36, which gives general powers of entry for purposes of the Housing Acts.

(g) Where a closing order is made, i.e., under the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 17, post, p. 2017, special provision is made for compensation to tenants displaced by it; see ibid., s. 17 (5).

(h) In the case of the illness or incapacity of a medical officer, a local authority may appoint and pay a deputy, with the consent of the Minister of Health. See s. 191 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 454. And as to temporary appointments under Part I., see s. 26, ante, p. 1698. See also s. 4 of the Public Health (Officers) Act, 1921, ante, p. 1119.

(i) "Writing" includes a printed or lithographed document. See Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 20.

(k) But by the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1900, s. 4, post, p. 1873: "Where land acquired by a council under Part III. of the principal Act is appropriated for the purpose of rehousing persons displaced by the council under the powers of any other Part of that Act or of any other enactment, the receipts and expenditure in respect of that land (including all costs in respect of the acquisition and laying out of the land),

(2) Such accounts shall be audited in the like manner and with the like power to the officer auditing the same, and with the like incidents and consequences, as the accounts of the local authority are for the time being required to be audited by law (l).

Power of local authority to appoint committees.

81. For the purposes of this Act, a local authority acting under this Act may appoint . . . (m) so many persons as they may think fit, for any purposes of this Act which in the opinion of such authority would be better regulated and managed by means of a committee: Provided that a committee so appointed shall [consist as to a majority of its members of members of the appointing local authority and shall] (n) in no case be authorised to borrow any money [or] (o) to make any rate, . . . (p), and shall be subject to any regulations and restrictions which may be imposed by the authority that formed it (pp).

Application of purchase money.

82. Where a local authority sell any land acquired by them for any of the purposes of this Act, the proceeds of the sale shall be applied for any purpose, including repayment of borrowed money, for which capital money may be applied, and which is approved by the [Minister of Health] (q).

83. [Rates of loans by Public Works Loans Commissioners] (r).

Application of certain provisions as to byelaws.

84. With respect to byelaws authorised by this Act to be made—

(a) sections two hundred and two and two hundred and three of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, where such byelaws are made by the London County Council, or any nuisance authority in the administrative county of London; and

(b) the provisions of the Public Health Act, 1875, relating to byelaws, where such byelaws are made by a sanitary authority, shall apply to such byelaws, and a fine or penalty under any such byelaw may be recovered on summary conviction (s).

and of any buildings erected thereon, may be treated as receipts and expenditure under that Part or enactment, but shall be accounted for under a separate head."

See also the provision as to separate accounts in the Housing (Assisted Scheme) Regulations in the Appendix, post.

(l) The accounts of a county council will, therefore, be audited by the district auditor under s. 71 of the L. G. A., 1888, whilst those of an urban or rural district council will be audited in manner provided by the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 245—250, ante, pp. 540—550. The accounts of metropolitan borough councils are audited like the accounts of the London County Council, viz., under s. 71 of the L. G. A., 1888 (London Government Act, 1899, s. 14).

(m) The words "out of their own number" are omitted here by reason of s. 39, and Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

(n) These words were added by the last mentioned section and Schedule.

(o) Added by above mentioned section and Schedule.

(p) The words "or to enter into any contract" are omitted here by reason of the above mentioned section and Schedule.

(pp) The acts of a committee appointed under this section do not appear to require confirmation by the authority, unless such condition is imposed when the committee is constituted.

(q) See also s. 15 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, at p. 2153, post.

(r) This section was repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 75, Sched. VI. but, by the Public Works Loans Act, 1914 (4 & 5 Geo. 5, c. 33), it was provided that the repeal should not affect and should be deemed never to have affected loans by the Public Works Loan Commissioners to borrowers other than local authorities, and s. 83 was revived as respects such loans. See now s. 3 of the Act of 1909 and the notes thereunder, post, p. 2010, as to the period of, and rate of interest on, loans from the commissioners to local authorities.

(s) Section 62, ante, p. 1723, authorises the making of byelaws for the management and regulation of lodging-houses.

18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, s. 202, empowers any metropolitan borough council to make

Local inquiries.

85.—(1) For the purposes of the execution of [his] [powers and] duties under this Act the [Minister of Health] may cause such local inquiries to be held as the [Minister sees] fit, and the costs incurred in relation to any such local inquiry, and to any local inquiry which any other confirming authority holds or causes to be held, including the salary or remuneration of any inspector or officer of or person employed by the [Minister] or confirming authority engaged in the inquiry not exceeding three guineas a day, shall be paid by the local authorities and persons concerned in the inquiry, or such of them and in such proportions as the [Minister] or confirming authority may direct, and that [Minister] or authority may certify the amount of the costs incurred, and any sum so certified and directed by that [Minister] or authority to be paid by any local authority or person shall be a debt to the Crown from such local authority or person.

(2) Sections two hundred and ninety-three to two hundred and ninety-six, and section two hundred and ninety-eight of the Public Health Act, 1875, shall apply for the purpose of any order to be made by the [Minister of Health] or any local inquiry which that [Minister] cause[s] to be held in pursuance of any Part of this Act (t).

Orders, notices, etc.

86.—(1) An order in writing made by a local authority under this Act shall be under their seal and authenticated by the signature of their clerk or his lawful deputy.

(2) A notice, demand, or other written document proceeding from the local authority under this Act shall be signed by their clerk or his lawful deputy (u).

Service of notice, etc. on the local authority.

87. Any notice, summons, writ or other proceeding at law or otherwise required to be served on a local authority in relation to carrying into effect the objects or purposes of this Act, or any of them, may be served upon that authority by delivering the same to their clerk, or leaving the same at his office with some person employed there (x).

Prohibition on persons interested voting as 88.—(1) A person shall not vote as member of a local authority or county council or any committee thereof upon any resolution or question which is proposed or arises in pursuance of Part I. or Part II. [or Part III.] of this byelaws, which must be confirmed at a meeting subsequent to that at which they were made and approved by a Secretary of State (now the Minister of Health). Section 203 provides for the publication and evidence of such byelaws.

The provisions of the P. H. A., 1875, as to byelaws, are contained in ss. 182—187, ante, pp. 432—446. Byelaws of a sanitary authority must be confirmed by the Minister of Health.

As to the recovery of penalties, see s. 90, post, p. 1733.

(t) The words "powers and" were inserted, and the words "not exceeding three guineas a day" were repealed, by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, ss. 46, 75, Scheds. II., VI. The other italicised words, though not actually repealed, are spent since the Minister of Health is now the "confirming authority" in London as well as elsewhere.

See the sections referred to and the notes thereunder, ante, pp. 626—629, 632. Local inquiries may be held under this Act under s. 8 (3), ante, p. 1686; s. 31 (2), ante, p. 1700; s. 39 (3), ante, p. 1709; s. 57, ante, p. 1721; and s. 73, ante, p. 1727.

(u) The distinction between an order and a notice or demand should be noticed. Reference to this distinction was made in Ryall v. Cubit Hexth, [1922] 1 K. B. 275. An order must be under seal: a notice need not.

See Arlidge v. Hampstead Borough Council, [1916] 1 Ch. 59; 80 J. P. 127, where it was held that the document served was both an order and notice of the order.

(x) Any such document may also be served upon the local authority by posting it in a registered envelope addressed to the authority or their clerk at their office (Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, s. 13 (2)).

Service by a local authority is specially provided for by s. 7, ante, p. 1685; s. 39 (2), ante, p. 1708; s. 49, ante, p. 1718; and s. 13 (1) of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903, post, p. 1931.

Act, if it relates to any dwelling-house, building, or land in which he is beneficially interested (y). members of local authority.

(2) If any person votes in contravention of this section he shall, on summary conviction, be liable for each offence to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds; but the fact of his giving the vote shall not invalidate any resolution or proceeding of the local authority or county council. (z)

89. Where any person obstructs the medical officer of health, or any officer of the local authority, or of the confirming authority mentioned in Part I. of this Act, [or any person authorised to enter dwelling-houses, premises, or buildings in pursuance of this Act,] in the performance of anything which such officer [authority or person] is by this Act required or authorised to do, [he] shall, on summary conviction, be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds (a). Penalty for obstructing execution of Act.

90. Offences under this Act punishable on summary conviction may be prosecuted and fines recovered in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts (b). Punishment of offences and recovery of fines.

91. All powers given by this Act shall be deemed to be in addition to and not in derogation of any other powers conferred by Act of Parliament, law, or custom, and such other powers may be exercised in the same manner as if this Act had not passed, and nothing in this Act shall exempt any person from any penalty to which he would have been subject if this Act had not passed. Powers of Act to be cumulative.

Provided that a local authority shall not, by reason of any local Act relating to a place within its jurisdiction, be exempted from the performance of any duty or obligation to which such authority are subject under any Part of this Act (c).

92. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires, "district," "local authority," and "local rate," mean respectively the areas, bodies of persons, and rates specified in the table contained in the First Schedule to this Act, . . . (d) Definition of local authority, districts, local rate.

(y) Words within brackets inserted by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 46, Sched. II., post, pp. 2029, 2045.

(z) As to the recovery of this fine, see s. 90, infra. The information may be laid by any person. See the general rule stated by Kay, L.J., in R. v. Stewart, [1896] 1 Q. B. 300, at p. 303; and Kenealy v. O'Keefe, [1901] 2 I. R. 39.

(a) Words within brackets inserted (or substituted) by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 46, Sched. II., post, pp. 2029, 2045; see ibid., s. 36, for the general "power of entry."

As to the recovery of the penalty, see the next section.

As to the meaning of the word "obstructs," see Swallow v. L. C. C., [1916] 1 K. B. 224, 80 J. P. 164.

(b) The fines will be recovered in the metropolis before a police magistrate; elsewhere before a stipendiary magistrate or two justices.

Fines inflicted for breaches of byelaws made under s. 62, ante, p. 1723, are appropriated under s. 71, ante, p. 1726. Other fines are to be paid as directed by 11 & 12 Vict. c. 43, s. 31, or if recovered before a metropolitan police magistrate, as directed by 2 & 3 Vict. c. 71, s. 47.

(c) Compare 53 & 54 Vict. c. 59, s. 10, ante, p. 824, and s. 341 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 666. It is questionable how far the provision that "nothing in this Act shall exempt any person from any penalty to which he would have been subject if this Act had not passed" prevents the operation of the Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 33, which provides that "where an act or omission constitutes an offence under two or more Acts, or both under an Act and at common law, whether any such Act was passed before or after the commencement of this Act, the offender shall, unless the contrary intention appears, be liable to be prosecuted and punished under either or any of those Acts or at common law, but shall not be liable to be punished twice for the same offence."

(d) Words, now spent, repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 75, Sched. VI.

By the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1900, s. 3 (1), post, p. 1872, the expressions

Definitions.

93. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires—

The expression "land" includes any right over land:

The expression "sanitary district" means the district of a sanitary authority:

The expression "sanitary authority" means an urban sanitary authority or a rural sanitary authority:

The expressions "urban sanitary authority" and "rural sanitary authority" and "contributory place" have respectively the same meanings as in the Public Health Act, 1875: (e)

The expression "superior court" means the Supreme Court:

The expression "county of London," except where specified to be the administrative county of London, means the county of London exclusive of the city of London.

PART VII.

REPEAL AND TEMPORARY PROVISIONS.

Repeals.

102. The Acts mentioned in the Seventh Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent in the third column of that Schedule specified.

Provided that: (f)

(1) Where the Labouring Classes Lodging-Houses Acts, 1851 to 1885, have been adopted in any district, that adoption shall be deemed to be an adoption of Part III. of this Act, and this Act shall apply accordingly;

(2) Any officer appointed under any enactment hereby repealed shall continue and be deemed to be appointed under this Act;

(3) Any dwelling-houses acquired by the local authority under the Artizans Dwellings Acts, 1868 to 1885, and vested in them at the commencement of this Act, shall be held by such local authority as if they had been acquired under the provisions of Part III. of this Act, and any land or premises other than dwelling-houses so acquired and held by them at the commencement of this Act shall be held as if the same had been acquired as a site of an obstructive building in pursuance of Part II. of this Act, but may with the consent of the authority authorised by the said Part of this Act to consent to the sale of land so acquired be appropriated for the purposes of Part III. of this Act.

103. [Temporary provisions.]

"district," "local authority," and "local rate" include for the purposes of Part III. a metropolitan borough, the council of the borough, and the general rate of the borough. See, further, the notes to Sched. I.

(e) See ss. 5, 6 and 229 Public Health Act, 1875, ante, pp. 37, 511.

(f) Italicised words repealed by S. L. R. A., 1908.

SCHEDULES.

Sections 54, 92.

FIRST SCHEDULE.

ENGLAND AND WALES.

District.	Local Authority.	Local Rate.
	Throughout Act.
Urban sanitary district –	The urban sanitary authority.	The rate out of which the general expenses of the execution of the Public Health Acts are defrayed.
The city of London –	The [Common Council] (g).	The [general rate] (g).
	(1) For the purpose of Parts I. and III.
The county of London (h) –	The County Council of London.	The county fund and the amount payable shall be deemed to be required for special county purposes.
	(2) For the purposes of Part II.
A parish other than the parish of Woolwich mentioned in Schedule A. to the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, as amended by the Metropolis Management (Amendment) Act, 1885, and the Metropolis Management (Battersea and Westminster) Act, 1887.	The Vestry elected under the Metropolis Management Act, 1855 (i).	The general rate leviable by such vestry or board under the Metropolis Management Act, 1855.
A district mentioned in Schedule B. to the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, as amended by the Metropolis Management (Amendment) Act, 1885, and the Metropolis Management (Battersea and Westminster) Act, 1887.	The Board of Works for the district elected under the Metropolis Management Act, 1855 (k).
Parish of Woolwich – –	The local board of health (l).	The district fund and general district rate.

(g) See s. 39 and Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919. Section 41 (3) of the last-mentioned Act makes provision for joint action by the London County Council and the Common Council, as regards schemes for the purposes of Parts I. and III. of the principal Act.

(h) Upon the creation of Metropolitan borough councils they were given power to adopt Part III. and to exercise the powers thereunder concurrently with the county council and by s. 3 (1) of the Housing Act, 1900, the expressions "district," "local authority," and "local rate" include for the purposes of Part III. a metropolitan borough, the council of the borough, and the general rate of the borough. The position in the county of London as regards Part III. is now regulated by s. 41 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, q.v., at p. 2166, post.

(i) These vestries have now been superseded by metropolitan borough councils, which were set up by the London Government Act, 1899.

(k) These boards of works have also been superseded by metropolitan borough councils.

(l) Woolwich has now become a metropolitan borough under schemes made under the London Government Act, 1899.

FIRST SCHEDULE. ENGLAND AND WALES—continued.

District.	Local Authority.	Local Rate.
(3) For the purposes of Parts II. and III.
Rural sanitary district –	The rural sanitary authority.	The rate out of which the "general" or "special" expenses, as the case may be, of the execution of the Public Health Acts are defrayed.

. . . . . .

Note.

In any case in the United Kingdom where an urban sanitary authority does not levy a borough rate or any general district rate, but is empowered by a local Act or Acts to borrow money and to levy a rate or rates throughout the whole of their district for purposes similar to those or to some of those for which a general district rate is leviable, it shall be lawful for such sanitary authority to defray the expenses incurred in the execution of Part III. of this Act by means of money to be borrowed, and a rate or rates to be levied, under such local Act or Acts.

Section 20.

SECOND SCHEDULE.

PROVISIONS WITH RESPECT TO THE PURCHASE AND TAKING OF LANDS IN ENGLAND OTHERWISE THAN BY AGREEMENT, AND OTHERWISE AMENDING THE LANDS CLAUSES ACTS (m).

Deposit of Maps and Plans (n).

(1) The local authority shall [before making an application for the appointment of an arbitrator as hereinafter mentioned] (o) cause to be made out, and to be signed by their clerk or some other principal officer appointed by them, maps and schedules of all lands proposed to be taken compulsorily, (which lands are hereinafter referred to as the scheduled lands,) together with the names, so far as the same can be reasonably ascertained, of all persons interested in such lands as owners or reputed owners, lessees or reputed lessees, or occupiers [except tenants for a month or a less period than a month] (p).

(2) The maps made by the local authority shall be upon such scale and be framed in such manner as may be prescribed by the confirming authority.

(3) The local authority shall deposit such maps and schedules at the office of the confirming authority, and shall deposit and keep copies of such maps and schedules at the office of the local authority. (q)

(m) This schedule amends the provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts as incorporated by s. 20 with respect to the purchase and taking of land otherwise than by agreement for the purposes of Part I. of the Act. See s. 20, ante, p. 1691. By s. 7 of the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, post, p. 2199, it is provided that the provisions of this schedule as amended by any later Act, except paras. (4), (5), (29), and (31), are to apply to an official arbitrator as they apply to an arbitrator appointed under the schedule. See, however, s. 10 of the same Act, post, p. 2200

(n) As to the maps, etc., which accompany the improvement scheme itself, see s. 6, ante, p. 1684.

(o) The words in brackets were by s. 39 and Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, substituted for the words "as soon as practicable after the passing of the confirming Act."

(p) The words in brackets were added by the last mentioned section and schedule.

(q) The confirming authority is, of course, the Minister of Health: see s. 8 (1), (2), ante, p. 1686, and the notes thereunder.

Appointment of Arbitrator.

(4) After such deposit at the office of the confirming authority as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the confirming authority, upon the application of the local authority, to appoint an arbitrator between the local authority, and the persons interested in such of the scheduled lands, or lands injuriously affected by the execution of such scheme, so far as compensation for the same [is not] made the subject of agreement (r).

Proceedings on Arbitration.

(5) Before any arbitrator enters upon any inquiry he shall, in the presence of a justice of the peace, make and subscribe the following declaration; that is to say,

> "I, A. B., do solemnly and sincerely declare, that I will faithfully and honestly, and to the best of my skill and ability, hear and determine the matters referred to me under the provisions of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890.
>
>
> "Made and subscribed in the presence of ."

And such declaration shall be annexed to the award when made; and if any arbitrator, having made such declaration wilfully act contrary thereto, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor (s).

(6) As soon as an arbitrator has been appointed as aforesaid, the confirming authority shall deliver to him the maps and schedules deposited at their office. [Before applying to the arbitrator to determine the compensation in respect of any particular lands or interest therein, the local authority shall send a notice by post of their intention to the owners or reputed owners, lessees or reputed lessees, so far as they can be reasonably ascertained] (t).

(r) The words "is not" were substitued for the words "has not been" by s. 39 and Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

The provision in the text superseded all the provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts as to the tribunal for assessing compensation. Under those Acts compensation was assessed by a jury or by arbitrators appointed by the parties. See now the provisions of s. 1 of the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, whereby it is provided that questions of disputed compensation in cases which will (generally speaking) include those arising under the Housing Acts shall be referred to an official arbitrator unless the parties agree to refer the question to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, or to an arbitrator agreed upon between them.

The provisions of the schedule in the text as amended by later enactments, except certain paragraphs, apply to an official arbitrator. Paragraph (4) is one of the excepted paragraphs.

As to notice from the local authority before the appointment of the arbitrator requiring particulars from claimants, see Art. 29 (1) (b), post, p. 1744.

(s) This clause resembles 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18, s. 33. The declaration may be made before any justice though not a justice of the locality. See Davies v. South Staffordshire Rail. Co. (1851), 21 L. J. M. C. 52; 15 Jur. 1133. An umpire acting under s. 180 of the P. H. A., 1875, failed to make the declaration and to annex it to his award. One of the parties, on becoming aware of the omission, at once took steps and succeeded in setting aside the award (Ludlow (Mayor of) v. Prosser (1906), 70 J. P. 400; 22 T. L. R. 597). See also Levick v. Epsom and Leatherhead Rail. Co. (1859), 1 L. T. 60.

This paragraph does not affect an official arbitrator appointed under the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, s. 7 (1), post, p. 2199.

(t) The words in brackets were by s. 39 and Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, substituted for the following words, "and the local authority shall publish once in each of three successive weeks the following particulars:

(1) The appointment of the arbitrator; and

(2) The deposit at the office of the local authority of the copies of such maps and schedules as aforesaid, with a description of the situation of such office, and a statement of the time at which such copies may be inspected by any person desirous of inspecting the same.

(7) In every case in which compensation is payable under Part I. of this Act, by the local authority to any claimant, and which compensation has not been made the subject of agreement (in this Act referred to as "a disputed case"), the arbitrator . . . (u) after hearing all such parties interested in each disputed case as may appear before him at a time and place of which notice has been given as in Part I. of this Act mentioned, . . . (x) shall proceed to decide on the amount of compensation to which he may consider the claimant to be entitled in each case (y).

(8) The arbitrator shall give notice to the claimants in disputed cases . . . (z), of a time and place at which the difference between the claimants and the local authority . . . (a) will be decided by the arbitrator.

(9) After the arbitrator has arrived at a decision on all the disputed cases brought before him he shall make an award under his hand and seal, and such award shall be final, and be binding and conclusive. . . . (b) upon all persons whomsoever, and no such award shall be set aside for irregularity in matter of form, but the arbitrator may, and, if the local authority request him so to do, shall from time to time make an award respecting a portion only of the disputed cases brought before him (c).

Such publication shall be made not only by advertisement, but also by placards and handbills affixed in conspicuous places on or near the lands to be taken, and also by leaving a notice thereof at each house proposed to be taken, and also by sending a notice thereof by post to the persons interested in such lands as owners or reputed owners, lessees or reputed lessees, so far as they can be reasonably ascertained."

(u) The words "shall ascertain in such manner as he thinks most convenient the amount of compensation demanded by the claimant, and the amount which the local authority may be willing to pay and" are here omitted by reason of s. 39 and Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

(x) The word "he" is here omitted by reason of the last mentioned section and schedule.

(y) In a case decided on the repealed schedule of 38 & 39 Vict. c. 36, the Metropolitan Board of Works served on the plaintiff, the lessee of property required for an improvement scheme, a notice for him to send in a statement as to the nature of his claim. This was done, but the arbitrator appointed under the Act, through some omission, did not include the plaintiff's interest in his provisional award. The plaintiff subsequently received a two days' notice to attend before the arbitrator that his claim might be considered. He attended accordingly, though under protest, and stated his claim, which was considered by the arbitrator, who altered his provisional award by inserting the amount of compensation awarded by him to the plaintiff in respect of his interest. This was confirmed by the final award. In an action to set aside the award it was held that, notwithstanding the omission of the plaintiff's interest from the provisional award, he was a "person interested" therein within the meaning of the corresponding clause in the schedule to the Act of 1875 (now repealed), that the proceedings of the arbitrator in considering his claim under that clause, and in altering his provisional award, were regular, and that the final award was good (Carr v. Metropolitan Board of Works (1880), 14 Ch. D. 807).

It is not quite clear what notice of time and place is referred to. Probably it is the notice under s. 18 (now repealed, see p. 1691, ante).

Evidence was given before an arbitrator on behalf of the occupier of certain land proposed to be taken as to the value of his interest therein, and evidence was given by the authority valuing his interest at a less sum. The arbitrator inspected the land, and awarded as compensation a sum less than the value suggested by the authority's witnesses. It was held that he was at liberty to do so, and was not confined within the limit of the amounts at which the interest was valued on behalf of the occupier and authority respectively (Crawford v. M'Swiney, [1904] 2 I. R. 15).

(z) The words "by causing such notice to be published or otherwise in such manner as he thinks advisable," are here omitted by reason of s. 39 and Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

(a) The words "in disputed cases as to the amount of compensation to be paid" are here omitted by reason of the last mentioned section and schedule.

(b) A parenthesis containing the words "subject to the provisions concerning an appeal hereinafter contained," is here omitted by reason of s. 39 and Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

(c) As to stating an award as a special case, and as to correction of clerical errors, see the Arbitration Act, 1889, s. 7, ante, p. 1673. An award has been held not conclusive which

(10) Such award as aforesaid shall be deposited at the office of the confirming authority, and a copy thereof shall be deposited at the office of the local authority. [The title in the case of a person claiming a fee simple interest in any lands included in any such award as aforesaid shall commence twenty years previous to the date of the claim except there has been an absolute conveyance on sale within twenty years and more than ten years previous to the claim when the title shall commence with such conveyance. Provided that the local authority shall not be prevented if they think fit from requiring at their own expense any further abstract or evidence of title respecting any lands included in any such award as aforesaid in addition to the title hereinbefore mentioned] (d).

Special Powers of Arbitration.

Power of arbitrator as to apportionment.

(11) The arbitrator shall have the same power of apportioning any rent-service, rent-charge, chief or other rent, payment, or incumbrance, or any rent payable in respect of lands comprised in a lease, as two justices have under the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (e).

Amendment respecting severance of properties.

(12) Notwithstanding anything in section ninety-two (f) of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, the arbitrator may determine that such part of any house, building, or manufactory as is proposed to be taken by the local authority can be taken without material damage to such house, building, or manufactory, and if he so determine may award compensation in respect of the severance of the part so proposed to be taken, in addition to the value of that part, and thereupon the party interested shall be required to sell and convey to the local authority such part, without the local authority being obliged to purchase the greater part or the whole of such house, building, or manufactory.

. . . (g)

Omitted interests.

(13) The amount of purchase money or compensation to be paid in pursuance of section one hundred and twenty-four (h) of the Lands Clauses disregarded the provisions of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, s. 112, as to paying off a mortgagee (Ex parte Strabane D. C., [1910] 1 I. R. 135).

(d) By s. 39 and Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, the words in brackets were inserted in lieu of the following words, viz., "and the local authority shall thereupon publish once in each of three successive weeks notice of the deposit having been made at the office of the local authority of a copy of the award, and a further notice requiring all persons claiming to have any right to or interest in the lands (the compensation to be paid in respect of which is ascertained by such award) to deliver to the local authority on or before a day to be named in such notice (such day not being earlier than twenty-one days from the date of the last publication of the notice), a short statement in writing of the nature of such claim, and a short abstract of the title on which the same is founded; and such statement and abstract shall be paid for by the local authority. Such abstract of title, in the case of a person claiming a fee simple interest in the land, shall commence twenty years previous to the date of the claim, except there has been an absolute conveyance on sale within twenty years, and more than ten years previous to the claim when the abstract shall commence with such conveyance."

As to the publication of notices, see Art. (32), post, p. 1744.

(e) Sections 116 and 119 of the Act of 1845 (see ante, p. 1186) give to two justices power to apportion a rent-service, etc., where part only of the lands charged therewith is required to be taken.

(f) Ante, p. 1177, which provides that no party shall be required to sell or convey a part only of any house or other building or manufactory, if he be willing and able to sell and convey the whole thereof. See the note to s. 38 (7), ante, p. 1706.

(g) Words giving a right of appeal to a jury are here omitted by reason of s. 39 and Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

(h) Ante, p. 1188, which provides, in effect, that promoters shall be entitled to purchase interests in land, the purchase whereof may have been omitted by mistake.

Consolidation Act, 1845, in respect of any estate, right or interest in or charge affecting any of the scheduled lands which the local authority have through mistake or inadvertence failed or omitted duly to purchase or make compensation for, shall be awarded by the arbitrator and be paid, in like manner as near as may be, as the same would have been awarded and paid if the claim of such estate, right, interest, or charge had been delivered to the arbitrator before the day fixed for the delivery of statements of claims.

If the arbitrator is satisfied that the failure or omission to purchase the said estate, right, interest, or charge, arose from any default on the part either of the claimant or of the local authority, he may direct the costs to be paid by the party so in default.

Payment of Purchase Money.

(14) Within thirty days from the delivery of [a statement in writing by any person claiming any right to, or interest in the lands and an abstract of title on which the same is founded] (i) to the local authority, the local authority shall, where it appears to them that any person so claiming is absolutely entitled to the lands, estate, or interest claimed by him, deliver to such person, on demand, a certificate stating the amount of the compensation to which he is entitled under the said award.

(15) Every such certificate shall be prepared by and at the cost of the local authority; and where any agreement has been entered into as to the compensation payable in respect of the interest of any person in any lands, the local authority may, where it appears to them that such person is absolutely entitled, deliver to such person a like certificate.

(16) The local authority shall, thirty days after demand, pay to the party to whom any such certificate is given, or otherwise as herein provided in the cases hereinafter mentioned (k), the amount of moneys specified to be payable by such certificate to the party to whom or in whose favour such certificate is given, his or her executors, administrators, or assigns.

(17) If the local authority wilfully make default in such payment as aforesaid, then the party named in such certificate shall be entitled to enter up judgment against the local authority in the High Court, for the amount of the sums specified in such certificate, in the same manner in all respects as if he had been, by warrant of attorney from the local authority, authorised to enter up judgment for the amount mentioned in the certificate, with costs, as is usual in like cases; and all moneys payable under such certificates, or to be recovered by such judgments as aforesaid, shall at law and in equity be taken as personal estate as from the time of the local authority entering on any such lands as aforesaid.

(18) When and so soon as the local authority have paid to the party to whom any such certificate as aforesaid is given, or otherwise, as herein provided, in the cases hereinafter mentioned, the amount specified to be payable by such certificate to the party to whom or in whose favour the certificate is given, his executors, administrators, or assigns, it shall be lawful for the local authority, upon obtaining such receipt as hereinafter mentioned, from time to time to enter upon any lands in respect of which such certificate is given, and thenceforth to hold the same for the estate or interest in respect of which the amount specified in such certificate was payable.

(19) In every case in which any moneys are paid by any local authority

(i) The words in brackets were by s. 39 and Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, substituted for the words "such statement and abstract as aforesaid." The amendment of this paragraph was necessitated by the amendment in paragraph (10).

(k) Such cases are those provided for by Arts. (20), (21), post, p. 1741.

under this Act for such compensation as aforesaid, the party receiving such moneys shall give to the local authority a receipt for the same, and such receipt shall have the effect of a grant, release, and conveyance of all the estate and interest of such party, and of all parties claiming under or through him, in the lands in respect of which such moneys are paid, provided such receipt has an ad valorem stamp of the same amount impressed thereon in respect of the purchase moneys mentioned in such certificate as would have been necessary if such receipt had been an actual conveyance of such estate or interest, every such receipt to be prepared by and at the cost of the local authority (l).

(20) If it appear to the local authority, from any such statement and abstract as aforesaid, or otherwise, that the person making any such claim as aforesaid is not absolutely entitled to the lands, estate, or interest in respect of which his claim is made, or is under any disability, or if the title to such lands, estate, or interest be not satisfactorily deduced to the local authority, then and in every such case the amount to be paid by the local authority in respect of such lands, estate, or interest as aforesaid shall be paid and applied as provided by the clauses of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, as amended by the Court of Chancery Funds Act, 1872, " with respect to the purchase money or compensation coming to parties having limited interests, or prevented from treating, or not making title " (m).

(21) Where any person claiming any right or interest in any lands refuses to produce his title to the same, or where the local authority have under the provisions of Part I. of this Act taken possession of any lands in respect of the compensation whereof, or of any estate or interest wherein, no claim has been made within one year from the time of the local authority taking possession, or if any party to whom any such certificate has been given or tendered refuses to receive such certificate, or to accept the amount therein specified as payable to him, then and in any such case the amount payable by the local authority in respect of such lands, estate, or interest, or the amount specified in such certificate, shall be paid into the Bank of England, in manner provided by the last-mentioned clauses of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, as amended by the Court of Chancery Funds Act, 1872, and the amount so paid into the said Bank shall be accordingly dealt with as by the said Act provided.

(22) . . . (n)

(23) If from any reason whatever the local authority does not deliver the certificate aforesaid to any party claiming to be entitled to any interest in any lands the possession whereof has been taken by the local authority as aforesaid, then the right to have a certificate according to the provisions

Purchase-money or compensation payable under the Housing Acts by a local authority in respect of any lands or interest of another local authority may, instead of being thus paid into court, be dealt with as the Minister of Health directs: see Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 5.

(n) This paragraph which related to requirements of a further abstract or evidence of title is omitted by reason of s. 39 and Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919. The omission was necessitated by the amendments made in paragraphs (10) and (14).

of this Act may, at the cost and charge of the local authority, be enforced by any party or parties, by application to the High Court, in a summary way by petition, and all other rights and interests of any party or parties arising under the provisions of this Act may be in like manner enforced against the local authority by such application as aforesaid (o).

Entry on Lands on making Deposit.

(24) Where the local authority are desirous, for the purposes of their works, of entering upon any lands before they would be entitled to enter thereon under the provisions hereinbefore contained, it shall be lawful for the local authority, at any time after the arbitrator has framed his award, upon depositing in the Bank of England such sum as the arbitrator may certify to be in his opinion the proper amount to be so deposited in respect of any lands authorised to be purchased or taken by the local authority, and mentioned in such award, to enter upon and use such lands for the purposes of the improvement scheme of the local authority: and the arbitrator shall, upon the request of the local authority at any time after he has framed such award, certify under his hand the sum which, in his opinion, should be so deposited by the local authority in respect of any lands mentioned in such award before they enter upon and use the same as aforesaid, and the sum to be so certified shall be the sum or the amount of the several sums set forth in such award as the sum or sums to be paid by the local authority in respect of such lands, or such greater amount as to the arbitrator, under the circumstances of the case, may seem proper; and, notwithstanding such entry as aforesaid, all proceedings for and in relation to the completion of the award, the delivery of certificates, and other proceedings under Part I. of this Act, shall be had, and payments made, as if such entry and deposit had not been made.

Provided that the local authority shall, where they enter upon any lands by virtue of this present provision, pay interest at the rate of five pounds per centum per annum upon the compensation money payable by them in respect of any lands so entered upon, from the time of their entry until the time of the payment of such money and interest to the party entitled thereto, or where, under the provisions of Part I. of this Act, such compensation is required to be paid into the Bank of England, then until the same, with such interest, is paid into such Bank accordingly; and where under this provision interest is payable on any compensation money the certificate to be delivered by the local authority in respect thereof shall specify that interest is so payable, and the same shall be recoverable in like manner as the principal money mentioned in such certificate (p).

(25) The money so deposited as last aforesaid shall be paid into the Bank of England to such account as may from time to time be directed by any regulation or Act for the time being in force in relation to moneys deposited in the Bank in similar cases, or to such account as may be directed by any

(o) By 47 & 48 Vict. c. 61, s. 13, the provisions of s. 16 of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 134, shall extend to all applications under any Act of Parliament heretofore passed or hereafter to be passed under or by virtue of which the High Court, or any judge thereof, is empowered to make orders in respect of trust funds or any other matters, upon petition presented or motion made in a summary way. Section 16 of 18 & 19 Vict. c. 134, enabled the Master of the Rolls and Vice-Chancellors of the Court of Chancery to make summary orders in respect of the disposition of trust funds and other matters under its jurisdiction upon application at chambers as directed by General Orders. See also R. S. C., Order LV.

(p) The object of this clause is "to entitle the local authority to enter upon land for the purpose of improvement, though the purchase is not completed" (Barnet v. Metropolitan Board of Works (1882), 46 J. P. 469; 46 L. T. 384: per GROVE, J.).

order of the High Court, and remain in the Bank by way of security to the parties interested in the lands which have been so entered upon for the payment of the money to become payable by the local authority in respect thereof under the award of the arbitrator; and the money so deposited may, on the application by petition of the local authority, be ordered to be invested in Bank annuities or Government securities, and accumulated: and upon such payment as aforesaid by the local authority it shall be lawful for the High Court, upon a like application, to order the money so deposited, or the funds in which the same shall have been invested, together with the accumulation thereof, to be repaid or transferred to the local authority, or, in default of such payment as aforesaid by the local authority, it shall be lawful for the said court to order the same to be applied in such manner as it thinks fit for the benefit of the parties for whose security the same shall so have been deposited (q).

Costs of Arbitration.

(28) The salary or remuneration, travelling, and other expenses of the arbitrator, and all costs, charges, and expenses (if any) which may be incurred by the confirming authority in carrying the provisions of Part I. of this Act into execution, shall, after the amount thereof shall have been certified under this Article, be paid by the local authority; and the amount of such costs, charges, and expenses shall from time to time be certified by the confirming authority after first hearing any objections that may be made to the reasonableness of any such costs, charges and expenses by or on behalf of the local authority; and every certificate of the said confirming authority certifying the amount of such costs, charges, and expenses shall be taken as proof in all proceedings at law or in equity of the amount of such respective costs, charges, and expenses, and the amount so certified shall be a debt due from the local authority to the Crown, and shall be recoverable accordingly.

Further, any such certificate may be made a rule of a superior court on the application of any party named therein, and may be enforced accordingly (t).

(29)—(1) It shall be lawful for the arbitrator, where he thinks fit, upon the request of any party by whom any claim has been made before him, to certify the amount of the costs properly incurred by such party in relation to the arbitration, and the amount of the costs so certified shall be paid by the local authority:

Provided that—

(a) The arbitrator shall not be required to certify the amount of costs in any case where he considers such costs are not properly payable by the local authority.

(q) The money does not become payable until the award has been made. The ownership does not pass till after the award. See Barnet v. Metropolitan Board of Works, ante, p. 1742. As to the payment of money out of court under these clauses, see Ex parte Jones (1880), 14 Ch. D. 624.

(t) As to the costs incurred by the confirming authority under Part I., see s. 8 (8), ante, p. 1687; also s. 16 (2), ante, p. 1691.

(b) The arbitrator shall not be required to certify the amount of costs incurred by any party in relation to the arbitration, in any case where he considers that such party neglected, after due notice from the local authority, to deliver to that authority a statement in writing within such time, and containing such particulars respecting the compensation claimed, as would have enabled the local authority to make a proper offer of compensation to such party before the appointment of the arbitrator.

(c) No certificate shall be given where the arbitrator has awarded the same or a less sum than has been offered by the local authority in respect of the claim [not less than fourteen days before the date of the arbitration in that particular case].

(2) If within seven days after demand the amount certified be not paid to the party entitled to receive the same, such amount shall be recoverable as a debt from the local authority with interest at the rate of five per cent. per annum for any time during which the same remains unpaid after such seven days as aforesaid (u).

Miscellaneous.

(30) The arbitrator may call for the production of any documents [other than any formal offer made by the local authority] in the possession or power of the local authority, or of any party making any claim under the provisions of Part I. of this Act, which such arbitrator may think necessary for determining any question or matter to be determined by him under Part I. of this Act, and may examine any such party and his witnesses, and the witnesses for the local authority, on oath, and administer the oaths necessary for that purpose (x).

(31) If any arbitrator appointed in pursuance of Part I. of this Act die, or refuse, decline, or become incapable to act, the confirming authority may appoint an arbitrator in his place, who shall have the same powers and authorities as the arbitrator first appointed; and upon the appointment of any arbitrator in the place of an arbitrator dying, or refusing, declining, or becoming incapable to act, all the documents relating to the matter of the arbitration which were in the possession of such arbitrator shall be delivered to the arbitrator appointed in his place, and the local authority shall publish notice of such appointment in the London Gazette (y).

(32) All notices required by this Schedule to be published shall be published in [a] newspaper circulating within the jurisdiction of the local authority, and where no other form of service is prescribed all notices required to be served or given by the local authority under this Schedule or otherwise upon any persons interested in or entitled to sell lands, shall be served in manner in which notices of lands proposed to be taken compulsorily for the purpose

THE RAILWAY AND CANAL TRAFFIC (PROVISIONAL ORDERS) AMENDMENT ACT, 1891.

(54 & 55 VICT. c. 12) (a).

An Act to remove doubts as to the Powers of Public Bodies in reference to Provisional Order Bills under the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1888.

[11th May 1891.]

Whereas (b)

. . . . . .

Powers of governing bodies and county councils with reference to Bills for confirming provisional orders made under 51 & 52 Vict c. 25, s. 24.

1. Every governing body within the meaning of the Borough Funds Act (c) . . . and every county council shall be entitled to be a petitioner and to appear and oppose any Bill to confirm any provisional order made under section twenty-four of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1888 (d), and to provide or contribute towards providing the expenses of the appearance or opposition of a petitioner out of the funds or rates under their respective control, as if the Bill for confirming such provisional order were a local or personal Bill within the meaning of section two of the Borough Funds Act, . . and the provisions of the said last-mentioned Act . . . shall apply to any such appearance or opposition, and to any expenses incurred or to be incurred in relation thereto : Provided that in the case of a county council no consent of owners and ratepayers shall be required.

Short title.

2. This Act may be cited as " The Railway and Canal Traffic (Provisional Orders) Amendment Act, 1891."

THE MUSEUMS AND GYMNASIUMS ACT, 1891.

(54 & 55 VICT. c. 22.)

An Act to enable Urban Authorities to provide and maintain Museums and Gymnasiums.

[3rd July 1891.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as " The Museums and Gymnasiums Act, 1891."

Extent of Act.

2.—(1) This Act shall extend to any district where the same is adopted as hereinafter provided, but only so far as the adoption extends.

(2) This Act shall not extend to Scotland or the administrative county of London.

(a) This Act amends the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1888, s. 24, ante, p. 1647. Its effect so far as regards sanitary authorities is to enable them to petition against and oppose any Bill confirming any provisional order under that section, subject only to compliance with the requirements of the Borough Funds Acts, 1872 and 1903. Words relating to Scotland or Ireland only have been omitted throughout the Act. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of the S. L. R. A., 1894.

(b) The preamble (repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1908), after referring to the Borough Funds Act, 1872, the L. G. A., 1888, and s. 24 of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1888, recited that doubt had been felt whether governing bodies as defined by the Act of 1872 and county councils had power to apply funds or rates under their control in opposing, or subscribing towards the opposition of, any Bill to confirm a Provisional Order under s. 24 of the Act of 1888, and that it was expedient to remove such doubts.

(c) As amended by the Borough Funds Act, 1903, s. 7 (2), post, p. 1925. See also s. 1 of the Act of 1872, ante, p. 1390. The expression " governing body " does not include a rural authority. See note (g) on p. 1391, ante.

(d) See that section, ante, p. 1647.

Application of Act.

3.—(1) This Act may be adopted by any urban authority (e) for their district either wholly or so far as it relates to museums only or to gymnasiums only.

(2) The adoption shall be by a resolution passed at a meeting of the urban authority, and one month at least before such meeting special notice of the meeting and of the intention to propose such resolution shall be given to every member of the authority, and the notice shall be deemed to have been duly given to a member of it, if it is either—

(a) Given in the mode in which notices to attend meetings of the authority are usually given ; or

(b) Where there is no such mode, then signed by the clerk of the authority, and delivered to the member or left at his usual or last known place of abode in England, or forwarded by post in a prepaid letter, addressed to the member at his usual or last known place of abode in England.

(3) Such resolution shall be published by advertisement in some one or more newspapers circulating within the district of the authority, and by causing notice thereof to be affixed to the principal doors of every church and chapel in the place to which notices are usually fixed, and otherwise in such manner as the authority think sufficient for giving notice thereof to all persons interested, and shall come into operation at a time not less than one month after the first publication of the advertisement of the resolution as the authority may by the resolution fix, and upon its coming into operation the Act shall extend to that district.

(4) A copy of the resolution shall be sent to the Local Government Board (f).

(5) A copy of the advertisement shall be conclusive evidence of the resolution having been passed, unless the contrary be shown ; and no objection to the effect of the resolution, on the ground that notice of the intention to propose the same was not duly given, or on the ground that the resolution was not sufficiently published, shall be made after three months from the date of the first advertisement (g).

Power to provide museum and gymnasium.

4. An urban authority may provide and maintain museums for the reception of local antiquities or other objects of interest, and gymnasiums with all the apparatus ordinarily used therewith, and may erect any buildings, and generally do all things necessary for the provision and maintenance of such museums and gymnasiums (h).

Admission to museum.

5. A museum provided under this Act shall be open to the public not less than three days in every week free of charge, but subject thereto an urban

(e) See the definition of an urban authority in s. 14, post, p. 1751. See also the power of an urban authority to close during the winter months a swimming bath established by them under the Baths and Washhouses Act, 1878, s. 5, and to establish a gymnasium therein, ante, p. 1499.

(f) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Ministry of Health. (See Ministry of Health Act, 1919).

(g) The provisions of the above section as to the adoption of this Act are, with one exception, identical with those of the Infectious Disease (Prevention) Act, 1890, s. 3, ante, p. 807, and the reader is referred to the notes on that section. The exception just mentioned is that in sub-s. (2), which requires the notices to be affixed to church and chapel doors. As to this, see the note to the similar provision in the P. H. A., 1875, Sched. III., r. 4, ante, p. 686.

(h) The L. G. B. informed an urban district council that they were disposed to think that under this Act the council could only provide and maintain a museum to receive such things as are given them from time to time or they are able to collect without expenditure of money. "It appears to the Board, however, that the wider powers of the Public Libraries Act, would enable the council to purchase such objects as can reasonably be regarded as specimens of art and science, including archæological specimens."

authority may admit any person or class of persons thereto as they think fit, and may charge fees for such admission, or may grant the use of the same or of any room therein, either gratuitously or for payment, to any person for any lecture or exhibition, or for any purpose of education or instruction, and the admission to the museum or room the use of which is so granted may be either with or without payment as directed by the urban authority, or with the consent of the urban authority by the person to whom the use of the museum or room is granted.

Admission to gymnasium.

6.—(1) A gymnasium provided under this Act shall be open to the public free of charge for not less than two hours a day during five days in every week.

(2) Subject thereto the urban authority—

(a) may regulate the admission of the public to such gymnasium, either by classes or otherwise as they think fit, and may charge fees for such admission; and

(b) may, for not more than two hours in each day, grant the exclusive use thereof to any person or body of persons for the purpose of gymnastic exercises, for such payment and on such terms and conditions as they think fit.

(3) An urban authority may (for not more than twenty-four days in one year nor more than six consecutive days) close the gymnasium for use as a gymnasium, and grant the use of the same gratuitously or for payment to any person for the purpose of any lecture, exhibition, public meeting, entertainment, or other public purpose, and the admission on such days shall be either with or without payment as directed by the urban authority, or with the consent of the urban authority by the person to whom the use of the same is granted.

Regulations and byelaws.

7.—(1) An urban authority may make regulations (a) for all or any of the following matters, namely,—

(a) For fixing the days of the week or hours of the day, as the case may be, during which the museum or gymnasium is to be open to the public free of charge:

(b) For giving special facilities to students for the use of the museum:

(c) For fixing the fees to be paid for the admission of persons to the museum and for the use thereof either by students or in any other special manner:

(d) For regulating the use of the gymnasium either by classes or otherwise, and fixing the scale of fees to be paid for such use:

(e) For prescribing conditions on which the exclusive use of the museum, or any room therein, or of the gymnasium is granted in any case:

(f) For determining the duties of the instructor, officers, and servants of the urban authority in connection with a museum or gymnasium:

(g) Generally for regulating and managing the museum or gymnasium.

(2) The urban authorities may make byelaws for regulating the conduct of persons admitted to the museum or gymnasium, and may by any such byelaw provide for the removal from the museum or gymnasium of any person infringing any such byelaw by any officer of the urban authority or by any constable.

All the provisions with respect to byelaws contained in sections one hundred and eighty-two to one hundred and eighty-six of the Public Health Act, 1875 (b), and any enactment amending or extending those sections, shall

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

(a) Regulations made by an urban authority need no confirmation. See s. 188 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 446.

(b) See these sections, ante, pp. 432 et seq. These byelaws must be confirmed by the Board of Education. See M. of H. (Public Libraries, etc.) Order, 1920.

apply to all byelaws from time to time made by an urban authority under the powers of this Act.

Closing of museum or gymnasium for repairs.

8. An urban authority may at such time as they think fit close a museum or gymnasium provided by them for repairs, and shall give a fortnight's notice of their intention to close the same by affixing a notice to that effect on the door of the museum or gymnasium, as the case may be, or otherwise as they think fit.

Appointment of officers and servants for museum or gymnasium.

9. An urban authority may appoint and pay such officers and servants as they think fit for the purpose of a museum or gymnasium provided under this Act, and may employ and pay instructors in connection with a gymnasium.

Expenses and borrowing.

10.—(1) The fees and other money received by an urban authority under this Act shall be applied in defraying the expenses of the museum or gymnasium in respect of which they are received.

(2) So far as such expenses are not so defrayed, they shall be defrayed as part of the general expenses of the execution by the urban authority of the Public Health Acts (c).

(3) An urban authority may borrow for the purposes of this Act in like manner and subject to the like conditions as for the purpose of defraying the said general expenses, and for that purpose sections two hundred and thirty-three, two hundred and thirty-four, and two hundred and thirty-six to two hundred and thirty-nine, both inclusive, of the Public Health Act, 1875 (relating to borrowing) (d), and sections two hundred and forty-two and two hundred and forty-three of the same Act (relating to loans by the Public Works Loan Commissioners) (e), as amended by section two of the Public Works Loans Act, 1879 (f), shall apply.

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

42 & 43 Vict. c. 77.

(4) Separate accounts shall be kept of the receipts and expenditure of an urban authority in connection with any museum or gymnasium established under this Act, and such accounts shall be audited in like manner and with the like power to the officer auditing the same, and with the like incidents and consequences as the accounts of the urban authority are for the time being required to be audited by law (g).

(5) The amount expended by an urban authority under this Act shall not in any year exceed the amount produced by the rate of a halfpenny in the pound for a museum, and the like amount for a gymnasium established under this Act.

Acquisition of land.

11.—(1) Land for the purposes of this Act may be acquired by an urban authority in like manner as if those purposes were purposes of the Public Health Act, 1875, and sections one hundred and seventy-five to one hundred and seventy-eight, both inclusive, of that Act (relating to the purchase of land) (gg) shall apply accordingly, but no land shall be so acquired otherwise than by agreement.

(2) An urban authority may, with the consent of the Local Government Board (h), appropriate, for the purposes of this Act, any land which may be for the time being vested in them, or at their disposal.

Power to sell museum or gymnasium in certain cases.

12.—(1) Where it appears to an urban authority that a museum or gymnasium which has been established under this Act for seven years or upwards

(c) See s. 207 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 469. The expenses will generally fall on the general district rate.

(e) See these sections, ante, pp. 537, 538.

(f) See this section, ante, p. 1526.

(g) See the sections of the P. H. A., 1875, relating to audit, ante, p. 540.

is unnecessary or too expensive, they may, with the consent of the Local Government Board (hh), sell the same for the best price that can reasonably be obtained for the same, and shall convey the same accordingly.

(2) Any moneys arising from such sale shall be applied toward the repayment of any money borrowed for the purpose of the museum or gymnasium sold, and, so far as not required for that purpose, shall be applied to any purpose to which capital moneys are properly applicable, and which may be approved by the Local Government Board (hh).

Powers of Act cumulative.

13. All powers given to an urban authority under this Act shall be deemed to be in addition to and not in derogation of any other powers conferred by Act of Parliament, law, or custom, and such other powers may be exercised in the same manner as if this Act had not been passed.

Interpretation.

14. In this Act the expression "urban authority" means an urban sanitary authority under the Public Health Acts, and the expression "district" means an urban sanitary district under those Acts (i).

THE FORGED TRANSFERS ACT, 1891.

(54 & 55 VICT. c. 43) (k).

An Act for preserving Purchasers of Stock from Losses by Forged Transfers.

[5th August 1891.]

Power to make compensation for losses from forged transfer.

1.—(1) Where a company or local authority (l) issue or have issued shares, stock, or securities transferable by an instrument in writing or by an entry in any books or register (m) kept by or on behalf of the company or local authority, they shall have power to make compensation by a cash payment (hh) Now the Board of Education (see M. of H. (Public Libraries, etc.) Order, 1920).

(i) See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 6, ante, p. 37.

(k) This Act has been amended by the Forged Transfers Act, 1892, post, p. 1761. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of the S. L. R. A., 1894.

This Act was occasioned by the decision in Barton v. L. and N. W. Rail. Co. (1889), 24 Q. B. D. 77, where it was held that a company having registered a forged transfer of stock was bound to replace on their register as holder of the stock the name of the stockholder whose signature to the transfer had been forged, leaving the innocent transferee to bear the loss. The Act is merely enabling and not obligatory. At common law there is no liability towards an innocent transferee, but where such transferee again transfers to a third person for value, there may be a liability by estoppel towards such third person. As to estoppel, see In re Bahia and San Francisco Rail. Co. (1868), L. R. 3 Q. B. 584; Balkis Consolidated Co. v. Tomkinson, [1893] A. C. 396; Dixon v. Kennaway & Co., [1900] 1 Ch. 833.

The company or local authority held liable for a loss by a forged transfer may in certain cases have a remedy over against the broker or other person at whose request the forged transfer has been registered. Thus when a broker had innocently induced the Bank of England to transfer consols to a purchaser upon a power of attorney the stockholder's signature to which turned out to have been forged, it was held that he had impliedly warranted that he had the stockholder's authority, and that he was consequently liable to indemnify the bank against the claim of the stockholder for restoration (Starkey v. Bank of England, [1903] A. C. 114). So also where bankers in good faith sent to a corporation a forged transfer of corporation stock with a request to register the stock in the name of the transferees, it was held that the bankers were bound to indemnify the corporation against the liability to the stockholder, whose name had been forged (Sheffield Corporation v. Barclay & Co., [1905] A. C. 392; 60 J. P. 385; see also Bank of England v. Cutler, [1908] 1 K. B. 208).

(l) The expression "local authority" is defined by s. 2, post.

(m) Local authorities keep registers of mortgages under s. 237 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 534. They may keep a register of nominal securities under s. 23 of the Local Loans Act, 1875, ante, p. 1430. But this Act will apply also to shares, stock, or securities transferable by an instrument in writing or by an entry in the books of the local authority.

out of their funds for any loss arising from a transfer of any such shares, stock, or securities, in pursuance of a forged transfer or of a transfer under a forged power of attorney (n).

(2) Any company or local authority (nn) may, if they think fit, provide, either by fees not exceeding the rate of one shilling on every one hundred pounds transferred (o), to be paid by the transferee upon the entry of the transfer in the books of the company or local authority, or by insurance, reservation of capital, accumulation of income, or in any other manner which they may resolve upon, a fund to meet claims for such compensation.

(3) For the purpose of providing such compensation any company may borrow on the security of their property, and any local authority (nn) may borrow with the like consent and on the like security and subject to the like conditions as to repayment by means of instalments or the provision of a sinking fund and otherwise as in the case of the securities in respect of which compensation is to be provided, but any money so borrowed by a local authority shall be repaid within a term not longer than five years. Any expenses incurred by a local authority in making compensation, or in the repayment of, or the payment of interest on, or otherwise in connexion with, any loan raised as aforesaid, shall, except so far as they may be met by such fees as aforesaid, be paid out of the fund or rate on which the security in respect of which compensation is to be made is charged.

(4) Any such company or local authority may impose such reasonable restrictions on the transfer of their shares, stock, or securities, or with respect to powers of attorney for the transfer thereof, as they may consider requisite for guarding against losses arising from forgery.

(5) Where a company or local authority compensate a person under this Act for any loss arising from forgery, the company or local authority shall, without prejudice to any other rights or remedies, have the same rights and remedies against the person liable for the loss as the person compensated would have had.

Definitions.

"Company."

"Local authority."

2. For the purposes of this Act—

The expression "company" shall mean any company incorporated by or in pursuance of any Act of Parliament, or by royal charter.

The expression "local authority" shall mean the council of any county or municipal borough, and any authority having power to levy or require the levy of a rate, the proceeds of which are applicable to public local purposes (p).

Application to industrial societies, etc.

3. This Act shall apply to any industrial, provident, friendly, benefit, building, or loan society incorporated by or in pursuance of any Act of Parliament as if the society were a company.

Application to harbour and conservancy authorities.

4.—(1) This Act shall apply to any harbour authority or conservancy authority as if the authority were a company.

(2) For the purposes of this Act the expression "harbour authority" includes all persons, being proprietors of, or entrusted with the duty or invested with the power of constructing, improving, managing, regulating, maintaining, or lighting any harbour otherwise than for profit, and not being a joint stock company.

(n) "Whether such loss arises, and whether the transfer or power of attorney was forged before or after the passing of this Act, and whether the person receiving such compensation, or any person through whom he claims, has or has not paid any fee or otherwise contributed to any fund out of which the compensation is paid" (see the Forged Transfers Act, 1892, s. 2, post, p. 1761).

(nn) See s. 2, infra.

(o) "With a minimum charge equal to that for twenty-five pounds" (see the Forged Transfers Act, 1892, s. 3, post, p. 1761).

(p) This definition will include all sanitary authorities, urban and rural.

(3) For the purposes of this Act the expression "conservancy authority" includes all persons entrusted with the duty or invested with the power of conserving, maintaining or improving the navigation of any tidal water otherwise than for profit, and not being a joint stock company.

5. [Application to colonial stock.]

6. This Act may be cited as "The Forged Transfers Act, 1891." Short title.

THE HIGHWAYS AND BRIDGES ACT, 1891.

(54 & 55 VICT. c. 63) (q).

An Act to confer further powers on County Councils and other Authorities with respect to Main Roads and other Highways and Bridges.

[5th August 1891.]

1. This Act may be cited as "The Highways and Bridges Act, 1891." Short title.

2. This Act shall not apply to Scotland or Ireland or the county of London. Extent of Act.

3. The council of any administrative county (r), and any highway authority or authorities (s), and the council of any adjoining county, may from time to time make and carry into effect agreements with each other for or in relation to the construction, reconstruction, alteration or improvement (rr), or the freeing from tolls, of any main road or other highway, or of any bridge (including the approaches thereto), wholly or partly situate within the jurisdiction of any one or more of the party or parties to the agreement (t). Agreement between highway authorities for improvement of roads and bridges.

All expenses incurred by any such county council or highway authority, in pursuance of this section, shall be defrayed as part of the expenses incurred in relation to the maintenance, repair, improvement, or enlargement of bridges, main roads, or other highways by such council or highway authority (u), in such proportions as shall be determined by any such agreement as aforesaid, and any powers of borrowing, applicable to the raising of any fund for the payment of any such expenses as aforesaid, shall be applicable accordingly:

Provided that if a highway board (a) think it just that any parish or parishes specially benefited by any construction, reconstruction, alteration, (q) As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of the S. L. R. A., 1894.

(r) See the definition, ante, p. 784.

(rr) It will be observed that the Act does not refer to maintenance. An agreement for a new road or for an improvement of an existing road, may, however, contain provisions for maintenance as a matter incidental to the main object of the agreement.

(s) The expression "highway authority" includes an urban sanitary authority (see ante, p. 253); and a rural sanitary authority. See s. 25 of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 933.

All agreements under this section should be under seal. See generally as to contracts by local authorities the notes to s. 174 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 397.

Where a surveyor of highways for a parish acting under this section entered into an agreement with a county council by which he contracted for himself and his successors as highway authority of the parish to contribute towards the building of a bridge a certain sum payable by two instalments, the second of which was to be payable after the expiration of his year of office, it was held that he had power to make such a contract under this section (Hertfordshire C. C. v. Barnet R. D. C., [1902] 2 K. B. 48; 66 J. P. 531).

(t) This provision will enable an urban authority to make an agreement for the making or improvement of a road outside their district if they think fit. Apart from an agreement under the Act. s. 145 of the P. H. Act, 1875, ante, p. 267, is an obstacle.

(u) In urban districts the expenses will be defrayed out of the general district rate or the highway rate as determined by s. 216 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 496.

(a) This power is now exercisable by rural district councils who have succeeded highway boards in pursuance of s. 25 of the L. G. A., 1894. A rural district council who succeeded surveyors of highways are without such a power, but they may apply to the Ministry of Health for an order under s. 49 of the P. H. A., 1890, ante, p. 859 (if that section is in force in the district), declaring the cost of an improvement to be special expenses, chargeable to a particular contributory place or places. Such applications are not complied with as a matter of course. See notes to the section, and to ss. 25 and 29 of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, pp. 933, 941.

or improvement under this section should bear the expense thereof, or any part of such expense, they may, with the approval of the county council of the county within which their highway district is situate, and with the assent of the inhabitants of such parish or parishes in vestry assembled, charge such expense, or such part thereof as they may think just, exclusively on such parish or parishes.

Power to reduce main road to status of ordinary highway. 41 & 42 Vict. c. 77.

4. Section sixteen of the Highways and Locomotives Amendment Act, 1878, shall apply to any part of a main road in any county, and so much of such section as requires that any order made thereunder shall be provisional, and shall be confirmed as in the said Act mentioned, is hereby repealed, but no such order shall be made in respect of any main road within a municipal borough without the assent of the council of the said borough having been first obtained (b).

5. [Contracts for supply of road material not to disqualify for election to county council.]

Construction of Act. 51 & 52 Vict. c. 41.

6. Words and expressions to which meanings are assigned by the Local Government Act, 1888, have in this Act the same respective meanings, and in this Act the word "highway" includes any public bridle path or footway (c).

THE MARKETS AND FAIRS (WEIGHING OF CATTLE) ACT, 1891.

(54 & 55 VICT. c. 70) (d).

An Act to amend the Markets and Fairs (Weighing of Cattle) Act, 1887.

[5th August 1891.]

50 & 51 Vict. c. 27.

Whereas it is expedient to amend the Markets and Fairs (Weighing of Cattle) Act, 1887 (hereinafter referred to as the principal Act) :

Transfer of powers under 50 & 51 Vict. c. 27, s. 9.

1. As from the passing of this Act the powers under section nine of the principal Act (e) of the Local Government Board as to England and Wales . . . shall be transferred to and vest in the Board of Agriculture (f). . . .

Amendment of 50 & 51 Vict. c. 27, s. 4, as to accommodation for weighing cattle.

2.—(1) The market authority of every market and fair to which the principal Act for the time being applies (g), shall, unless exempted (h) by order of the Board of Agriculture (f) from the requirements of this section, provide and maintain to the satisfaction of the Board sufficient and suitable accommodation for weighing cattle (i).

(b) See this section, ante, p. 1504. The order must be made by the Minister of Transport.

(c) See the interpretation section, ante, p. 783. The latter part of this section was quite unnecessary, for a public bridle path or footway is as much a highway as a carriage road. See R. v. Salop (1810), 13 East, 97.

(d) This Act amends the Markets and Fairs (Weighing of Cattle) Act, 1887, ante, p. 1627. Sections, or words, relating to Scotland or Ireland only are omitted. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of the S. L. R. A., 1894. Italicised words repealed by S. L. R. A., 1908, except where otherwise stated.

(e) The powers here referred to are the powers to exempt certain markets and fairs from the provisions of the Act. See the section, ante, p. 1629.

(f) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. See 3 Edw. 7, c. 31, s. 1, and 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 91.

(g) See s. 2 of the principal Act, ante, p. 1627, as to the market authority and the markets to which the Act applies.

(h) See s. 9 of the principal Act, ante, p. 1629.

(i) In determining the sufficiency and suitability of the accommodation for weighing cattle, the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries will have regard to the following, amongst other considerations, namely—(a) the convenience of the situation of the weighing

(2) Default in complying with the requirements of this section shall be deemed default in complying with the requirements of section four of the principal Act (k).

Statistics as to weight and sale of cattle.

3.—(1) The market authority of every market and fair held in any of the places mentioned in the schedule to this Act shall send to the Board of Agriculture (kk) returns, at such intervals, and in such form and with such particulars as the Board of Agriculture (kk) by order prescribe, showing, so far as the market authority can ascertain the same, the number of cattle entering and the number and weight of cattle weighed at the market or fair, and the price of the cattle sold thereat. Such market authority may, for the purpose of making a prescribed return, cause any cattle which have been sold at the market to be weighed without fee.

(2) The Board of Agriculture (kk) shall publish the returns so sent, or abstracts thereof, or extracts therefrom, in such manner as they think most expedient for the information of the public.

(3) If a market authority wilfully makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall for each offence be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds, or in case of a continuing offence to a fine not exceeding ten pounds for every day during which the offence continues.

(4) If any person makes any false or (l) fraudulent statement in any return made in pursuance of this section he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(5) The Board of Agriculture (kk) may from time to time vary or add to the list of places in the schedule to this Act (m).

Application of Act to auction marts.

4.—(1) An auctioneer shall not, unless exempted by order of the Board of Agriculture (kk) from the requirements of this section, sell cattle at any mart where cattle are habitually or periodically sold, unless there are provided at that mart similar facilities for weighing cattle as are required by the principal Act and this Act in the case of cattle sold at a market or fair to which the principal Act applies (n).

(2) Every auctioneer who in any place from which returns are required to be made under this Act sells cattle at any such mart as aforesaid shall, unless exempted as aforesaid, make the like returns to the Board of Agriculture with respect to cattle entering, weighed, and sold at that mart as are required by this Act to be made by a market authority, and shall be subject to the like penalty for making any false or fraudulent statement in any such return.

(3) If any such auctioneer makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, the auctioneer, or, if he is in the employment of any machine to buyers and sellers; (b) the supply of proper pens for keeping cattle together, both on entering and on leaving the machine; (c) the size of the machine and its capacity for weighing at one and the same time, if required, a sufficient number of cattle, including store as well as fat stock, so as not to unduly delay the business of the market, fair, or auction. In cases where it is proposed to set up new weighing machines, it is desirable to communicate beforehand with the Minister as to the sufficiency of the proposed accommodation (Circular Letter of the Board of Agriculture, dated November 25th, 1891).

(k) Under s. 4 of the principal Act, ante, p. 1628, the only result of default was to make it illegal to take tolls for cattle, and to render any demand of tolls an offence punishable by fine. Under the provision in the text default in providing weighing accommodation will apparently render the market authority liable to a fine whether they demand or receive tolls or not.

(kk) See note (f), ante, p. 1754.

(l) Repealed by the Perjury Act, 1911.

(m) By the Markets and Fairs (Weighing of Cattle) Returns Order of 1905 (Stat. R. & O. 1905, p. 199) the Board of Agriculture and Fisheries so altered the schedule that it is practically superseded, and is therefore omitted.

(n) See Knott v. Stride (1913), 77 J. P. 222; 109 L. T. 181, the facts of which are set out, ante, p. 1628.

person, the person by whom he is employed, shall for each offence be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds, or in case of a continuing offence to a fine not exceeding ten pounds for every day during which the offence continues.

(4) [Commencement of section, January 1, 1892.]

5. [Application to Ireland.]

Construction and short title.

6. This Act shall be construed as one with the principal Act, and may be cited as "The Markets and Fairs (Weighing of Cattle) Act, 1891," and the principal Act and this Act may be cited together as the Markets and Fairs (Weighing of Cattle) Acts, 1887 and 1891.

THE MORTMAIN AND CHARITABLE USES ACT, 1891.

(54 & 55 VICT. c. 73) (o).

An Act to amend the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888, and the Law relating to Mortmain and Charitable Uses. [5th August 1891.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1891."

Extent of Act.

2. This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland.

Definition of "land."

3. "Land" in the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888, and in this Act, shall include tenements and hereditaments, corporeal or incorporeal, of any tenure, but not money secured on land or other personal estate arising from or connected with land; and the definition of land contained in the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888, is hereby repealed (p).

51 & 52 Vict. c. 42.

Meaning of "assurance."

4. In this Act the word "assurance" shall have the same meaning as in the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1898.

Land assured by will for a charitable purpose to be sold.

5. Land may be assured by will to or for the benefit of any charitable use (q), but, except as hereinafter provided, such land shall, notwithstanding anything in the will contained to the contrary, be sold within one year from the death of the testator, or such extended period as may be determined by the High Court, or any judge thereof sitting at chambers, or by the Charity Commissioners.

(o) This Act amends the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888, ante, p. 1660. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of the S. L. R. A., 1894.

(p) This supersedes the definition of "land" in s. 10 of the principal Act, ante, p. 1664. Italicised words repealed as spent by S. L. R. A., 1908. With regard to money secured on land, it may be noted that corporation debenture stock charged on the revenue of all landed and other property of the corporation was held not to be an interest in land under 9 Geo. 2, c. 36, s. 3 (In re Pickard, Elmsley v. Mitchell, [1894] 2 Ch. 88). See also In re Crossley, Birrell v. Greenhough, [1897] 1 Ch. 928: 61 J. P. 390.

Where real estate has been devised to trustees on trust for sale, and the proceeds directed to be paid to a charity, the charity takes no benefit in anything but personal estate arising from land (Re Sidebottom, Beeley v. Waterhouse, [1902] 2 Ch. 389). See also Re Wilkinson, Esam v. Att.-Gen., [1902] 1 Ch. 841; and Re Ryland, Roper v. Ryland, [1903] 1 Ch. 467.

(q) A testator, who died after the passing of this Act, by his will made before the passing of this Act, gave to a charity such part of the residue as may by law be given for charitable purposes, with a separate gift of the remainder to A.:—Held, that the Act applied, and in the absence of a contrary intention the whole of the residue, realty as well as personalty, went to the charity (In re Bridger, Brompton Hospital Governors v. Lewis, [1894] 1 Ch. 297). As to the effect of a special Act on the provision of this section and section 8, post, p. 1757, see In re Verrall, National Trust v. Att.-Gen., [1916] 1 Ch. 100; 80 J. P. 89.

6. So soon as the time limited for the sale of any lands under any such assurance shall have expired without completion of the sale of the land, the land unsold shall vest forthwith in the official trustee of charity lands, and the Charity Commissioners shall take all necessary steps for the sale or completion of the sale of such land to be effected with all reasonable speed by the administering trustees for the time being thereof, and for this purpose the said Commissioners may make any order under their seal directing such trustees to proceed with the sale or completion of the sale of the said land or removing such trustees and appointing others, and may provide by any such order for the payment of the proceeds of sale to the official trustees of charitable funds in trust for the charity, and for the payment of the costs and expenses incurred by the said administering trustees in or connected with such sale, and every such order shall be enforceable by the same means and be subject to the same provisions as are applicable under the Charitable Trusts Act, 1853, and the Acts amending the same, respectively, to any orders of the said Commissioners made thereunder. Land after expiration of time limited for sale to be sold by order of Charity Commissioners. 16 & 17 Vict. c. 137.

7. Any personal estate by will directed to be laid out in the purchase of land to or for the benefit of any charitable uses shall, except as hereinafter provided, be held to or for the benefit of the charitable uses as though there had been no such direction to lay it out in the purchase of land (r). Personal estate by will directed to be laid out in land not to be so laid out.

8. It shall be lawful for the High Court, or any judge thereof sitting at chambers, or for the Charity Commissioners, if satisfied that land assured by will to or for the benefit of any charitable use, or proposed to be purchased out of personal estate by will directed to be laid out in the purchase of land, is required for actual occupation for the purposes of the charity and not as an investment, by order to sanction the retention or acquisition, as the case may be, of such land (s). Power to retain land in certain cases.

9. This Act shall only apply to the will of a testator dying after the passing of this Act. Application of Act.

10. Nothing in this Act contained shall limit or affect the exemptions contained in Part III. of the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888, or apply to any land or personal estate to be laid out in the purchase of land required under any assurance to which such exemptions or any of them apply, or shall exclude or impair any jurisdiction or authority which might otherwise be exercised by a court or judge of competent jurisdiction or by the Charity Commissioners. Saving.

(r) Where a testator devised and bequeathed residuary estate to purchase land for the erection of model dwellings for the poor, it was held that the effect of striking out the direction to purchase land was not to put an end to the whole charitable trust, and that the residuary gift was valid (Re Sutton, Lewis v. Sutton, [1901] 2 Ch. 640; 66 J. P. 39). A gift by a testatrix of "any little money left" for the repair of a churchyard is a valid bequest, and is not limited to the sum of £500 by the Gifts for Churches Act, 1803 (Re Douglas, Douglas v. Simpson, [1905] 1 Ch. 279).

(s) On a summons under this section to sanction retention of land for the purposes of a charity after the expiration of a year from the testator's death, the official trustee and not the commissioners should be made a defendant (Re Church Patronage Trust, Laurie v Att.-Gen., [1904] 1 Ch. 41; 68 J. P. 64). Affirmed on other points, [1904] 2 Ch. 643.

THE MORTMAIN AND CHARITABLE USES ACT AMENDMENT ACT, 1892.

(55 & 56 VICT. c. 11) (t).

An Act to amend the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888.

[20th June 1892.]

Extension of 51 & 52 Vict. c. 42, s. 6.

1. Section six of the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888, except so much of sub-section (2) thereof as provides that an assurance by deed, made otherwise than in good faith for full and valuable consideration, must be executed not less than twelve months before the death of the assuror, shall apply to any assurance by deed of land to any local authority for any purpose or purposes for which such authority is empowered by any Act of Parliament to acquire land (u).

Definitions.

2. For the purpose of this Act "local authority" means any county council, council of a municipal borough, sanitary authority, or any body having power to make a rate for public purposes or by the issue of any precept, certificate or other document to acquire payment from some authority or officer of money which may render necessary the making of any such rate; and "assurance" has the same meaning as in the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888.

Extent of Act.

3. This Act shall not apply to Scotland or Ireland.

Short title.

4. This Act may be cited as "The Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act Amendment Act, 1892."

THE TECHNICAL AND INDUSTRIAL INSTITUTIONS ACT, 1892.

(55 & 56 VICT. c. 29) (x).

An Act to facilitate the Acquisition and Holding of Land by Institutions for Promoting Technical and Industrial Instruction and Training.

[27th June 1892.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Technical and Industrial Institutions Act, 1892."

(4) On any such application the court shall have regard to the circumstances of the settled estate, the wants of the neighbourhood and the interests of the persons entitled in remainder, and the court, if it thinks fit under all the circumstances of the case, may make an order approving the proposed conveyance. Such order, if the court thinks fit, may be made on such terms and conditions, if any, as the court thinks proper; but no such order shall be made if the application is opposed by any person entitled in remainder unless the court is of opinion that the opposition is unreasonable, or the interest of the person opposing so remote that it may properly be disregarded.

Institution to be public.

8. Every institution for which land has been acquired under an exercise of the powers conferred by this Act shall be open generally either to all persons or to all persons within specified limits as to age, qualification, or otherwise, and either without payment or on specified terms as to times of attendance and payment of subscriptions or fees, or otherwise, but so that no preference be given to any person or class of persons within the specified limits.

Site may be sold or exchanged.

9.—(1) Land acquired under the powers of this Act shall not be used otherwise than for the purposes of an institution within the meaning of this Act, but, with the consent of the Charity Commissioners, may be sold or may be exchanged for other land.

(2) The governing body or their trustees may execute conveyances and do all acts necessary to effectuate the sale or exchange.

(3) On a sale, the receipt of the governing body or of the trustees for the governing body shall be sufficient discharge for the purchase money, and such money shall, as soon as convenient, be invested in the purchase of other land.

(4) Land purchased or taken in exchange under this section shall be devoted to the same purposes and be liable to the same incidents as originally were applicable to or affected the land sold or given in exchange.

(5) Money arising by sale may, until reinvested in the purchase of land, be invested in the names of the governing body or of trustees for the governing body in any manner in which trust money is for the time being by law authorised to be invested; and all dividends and income on investments so made and all the resulting income shall be invested in like manner so as to accumulate in the way of compound interest, and be added to capital until the capital is reinvested in the purchase of land.

Parts I. and II. of 51 & 52 Vict. c. 42, and part of 54 & 55 Vict. c. 73, not to apply.

10.—(1) Parts I. and II. of the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888, and so much of the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1891 (e), as requires that land assured by will shall be sold within one year from the death of the testator, shall not apply to conveyances or to assurances by will made under or for the purposes of this Act, . . . (ee).

(2) Any corporate body may acquire and shall be entitled to hold and retain land for the purposes of this Act without any licence in mortmain.

Extent of Act.

THE RAILWAY AND CANAL TRAFFIC ACT, 1892.

(55 & 56 VICT. c. 44) (h).

n Act to amend the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1888.

[27th June 1892.]

Whereas by section twenty-four of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1888, 51 & 52 Vict. c. 25. is provided that after the commencement of the session of Parliament next after at in which the report of the Board of Trade with respect to a classification of affic and schedule of rates and charges has been submitted to Parliament, the oard of Trade may embody in a provisional order such classification and schedule in the opinion of the Board of Trade ought to be adopted, and procure a Bill be introduced to confirm the order, and it is expedient to amend this provision :

1. A provisional order in pursuance of sub-section seven of section twenty- Time for application for provisional order.
ur of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1888, may be made, and a Bill confirm the same may be introduced at any time after hearing the parties provided in sub-section four of the said section.

2. This Act may be cited as "The Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1892." Short title.

(f) This Act amends the Forged Transfers Act, 1891, ante, p. 1751. As to the omission the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of the S. L. R. A., 1894.

(g) The preamble to this section (repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1908), after referring to 1 (1) of the Forged Transfers Act, 1891, recited that it was expedient to remove doubts to the application of that Act to losses and forgeries before its passing.

(h) This Act amends the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1888, s. 24 (7). See the note that section, ante, p. 1649, where the effect of the amendment is stated. As to the ission of the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of S. L. R. A., 1894. Preamble repealed S. L. R. A., 1908.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARIES ACT, 1892.

(55 & 56 VICT. c. 53) (i).

An Act to consolidate and amend the Law relating to Public Libraries.

[27th June 1892.]

ADOPTION OF ACT AND CONSTITUTION OF LIBRARY AUTHORITY.

Extent and application of Act.

1.—(1) This Act shall extend to every library district for which it is adopted.

(2) For the purposes of this Act and subject to the provisions thereof every urban district (k) and every parish in England and Wales which is not within an urban district shall be a library district (l).

. . . . . .

Limitations on expenditure for purposes of Act.

2.—(1) A rate or addition to a rate shall not be levied for the purposes of this Act for any one financial year (m) in any library district to an amount exceeding one penny in the pound (n).

(2) This Act may be adopted for any library district subject to a condition that the maximum rate or addition to a rate to be levied for the purposes of this Act in the district or in any defined portion of the district in any one financial year shall not exceed one halfpenny or shall not exceed three farthings in the pound, but such limitation if fixed at one halfpenny may be subsequently raised to three farthings, or altogether removed, or where it is for the time being fixed at three farthings may be removed.

3 (o). [Proceedings for adoption of Act.]

Act when adopted to be executed by library authority.

4. This Act when adopted for any library district shall be carried into execution, if the library district is an urban district, by the urban authority and, if it is a parish, by the commissioners appointed under this Act (p); and any such authority or commissioners executing this Act are hereinafter referred to as a "library authority" (q).

Constitution of commissioners for executing Act in parish.

5.—(1) Where this Act is adopted for any parish the vestry shall forthwith appoint not less than three nor more than nine voters in the parish to be commissioners for carrying this Act into execution (r).

(i) This Act repeals and consolidates all the previous Acts relating to public libraries, a list of which will be found in the Schedule. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see preceding note. This Act has been amended by the Public Libraries (Amendment) Act, 1893, the Public Libraries Act, 1901, and the Public Libraries Act, 1919, post. See also the Libraries Offences Act, 1898, post, p. 1805.

(k) See the definition of an urban district in s. 27, post.

(l) The next sub-section is repealed by s. 89 of the L. G. A., 1894. See s. 7 of that Act.

(m) This means the period of twelve months for which the accounts of the authority are made up. See s. 27, post.

(n) This section has now ceased to have effect, see s. 4 of the Act of 1919, post.

(o) This section has been repealed by the Act of 1919, 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 93, s. 7, post, which provides that any resolution passed in accordance with the ordinary procedure of the council concerned shall have full effect for purposes of the Act of 1893.

(p) If there is a parish council for the parish, the authority for the execution of the Act is now that council (see the L. G. A., 1894, s. 7 (5), (7); see also s. 53). If there is no parish council, it is still commissioners appointed under this Act, but appointed by the parish meeting under 56 & 57 Vict. c. 73, s. 19 (4), instead of by the vestry. The first thing the library authority has to do is to send notice of the adoption of the Act to the Ministry of Health and Board of Education. See the Public Libraries Act, 1901, s. 8, post, p. 1878, and M. of H. (Public Libraries, etc.) Order, 1920.

(q) In every rural parish the parish meeting have had since 1894, exclusively, the power of adopting this Act. See s. 7 (1) of the L. G. A., 1894. But see now the Act of 1919 under which the County Council may now adopt the Libraries Acts for areas within the county not included in any existing library area.

(r) This sub-section only applies in parishes not having a parish council. As to the qualification of commissioners, see now ibid., s. 2.

(2) The commissioners shall be a body corporate by the name of "The Commissioners for Public Libraries and Museums for the parish of , in the county of ," and shall have perpetual succession and a common seal, with power to acquire and hold lands for the purposes of this Act, without any licence in mortmain (a).

Rotation of commissioners.

6.—(1) The commissioners shall, as soon as conveniently may be after their appointment, divide themselves by agreement, or in default of agreement by ballot, into three classes, one-third or as nearly as may be one-third of them being in each class.

(2) The offices of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of one year, the offices of the second class at the expiration of two years, and the offices of the third class at the expiration of three years from the time of appointment.

(3) The offices of vacating commissioners shall be filled by an equal number of new commissioners to be appointed by the vestry from among the voters in the parish; and every newly elected commissioner shall hold his office for the term of three years from the date when the office became vacant, and no longer, unless re-elected; but a person, on ceasing to be a commissioner, shall, unless disqualified, be re-eligible.

(4) Any casual vacancy among the commissioners, whether arising by death, resignation, incapacity, or otherwise, shall as soon as may be after the occurrence thereof be filled up by the vestry; but the term of office of a commissioner appointed to fill up a casual vacancy shall expire at the date at which the term of office of the commissioner in whose place he is appointed would have expired (b).

Meetings of commissioners.

7. The commissioners shall meet at least once in every month, and at such other times as they shall think fit, at some convenient place; and any one commissioner may summon a special meeting by giving three clear days' notice in writing to each commissioner, specifying therein the purpose for which the meeting is called. Business shall not be transacted at any meeting of the commissioners unless at least two of them are present.

Proceedings of commissioners to be recorded.

8. All orders and proceedings of the commissioners shall be entered in books to be kept for that purpose, and shall be signed by the commissioners or any two of them; and all such orders and proceedings so entered, and purporting to be so signed, shall be deemed to be original orders and proceedings, and such books may be produced and read as evidence of all such orders and proceedings upon any judicial proceeding.

Power to vestries of neighbouring parishes to combine (c).

9.—(1) Where this Act is adopted for any two or more neighbouring parishes, the vestries of those parishes may by agreement (d) combine for any period in carrying this Act into execution, and the expenses of carrying this Act into execution shall be defrayed by the parishes in such proportions as may be agreed on by the vestries.

(2) The vestry of each of the said parishes shall appoint not more than six commissioners in accordance with the provisions of this Act and the com-

(a) The parish council will be a body corporate, with power to hold lands for the purposes of this Act without a licence in mortmain (see the L. G. A., 1894, s. 3 (9)). As to parishes without a parish council, see ibid., s. 19 (7).

(b) This section is now applicable only in parishes not having a parish council.

(c) As to the combination of urban districts, see the Public Libraries (Amendment) Act, 1893, s. 4, post, p. 1771.

(d) The vestries were not corporate bodies, and the only evidence of an agreement between them would be the resolutions appearing on the minutes, but parish councils are corporate bodies and can enter into formal agreements.

missioners so appointed for the several parishes shall form one body of commissioners, and shall act accordingly in the execution of this Act (e).

Power to annex parish to adjoining district.

10. Where the voters in a parish adjoining or near any library district for which either this Act has been adopted, or the adoption thereof is contemplated, consent to such parish being annexed to the said district, such parish, subject to the consent of the library authority of the said district being also given, shall be annexed to and form part of that district for the purposes of this Act; the vestry of such parish shall appoint not more than six commissioners in accordance with the provisions of this Act, and the commissioners so from time to time appointed shall during their respective terms of office be deemed for all the purposes of this Act to be members of the library authority of the said district.

EXECUTION OF ACT.

Provision of libraries, museums, and schools of science and art.

11.—(1) The library authority of any library district for which this Act has been adopted may, subject to the provisions of this Act, provide all or any of the following institutions, namely, public libraries, public museums, schools for science, art galleries, and schools for art, and for that purpose may purchase and hire land, and erect, take down, rebuild, alter, repair, and extend buildings, and fit up, furnish, and supply the same with all requisite furniture, fittings, and conveniences (h).

(2) Where any of the institutions mentioned in this section has been established either before or after the passing of this Act by any library authority under this Act or the Acts hereby repealed, that authority may establish in connexion therewith any other of the said institutions without further proceedings being taken with respect to the adoption of this Act.

(3) No charge shall be made for admission to a library or museum provided under this Act for any library district, or, in the case of a lending library, for the use thereof by the inhabitants of the district; but the library authority, if they think fit, may grant the use of a lending library to persons not being inhabitants of the district, either gratuitously or for payment.

Provision as to acquisition and disposal of land.

12.—(1) For the purpose of the purchase of land under this Act by a library authority the Lands Clauses Acts (i), with the exception of the provisions

(e) See now the L. G. A., 1894, s. 53 (2), as to the compulsory transfer of the powers and duties of any commissioners appointed under this sub-section.

(h) It is now provided by the Act of 1919, 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 93, s. 8, post, that the powers of providing schools for science and schools of art conferred by this section shall cease, without prejudice, however, to the power of maintaining any such school established under this section before the passing of the Act of 1919. A free library, established by a library authority under this Act, is a building which is the property of a literary or scientific institution within r. VI. of 5 & 6 Vict. c. 35, and is, therefore, exempt from assessment to income tax under Sched. A. (Manchester Corporation v. Macadam, [1896] A. C. 500; 61 J. P. 100, practically overruling Andrews v. Bristol Corporation (1890), 61 L. J. Q. B. 715; 56 J. P. 615).

A museum provided under this Act in an urban district may be appropriated under 1 Edw. 7, c. 19, s. 7, post, p. 1877, for the purposes of the Museums and Gymnasiums Act, 1891, ante, p. 1747, thus relieving the library rate from the expense of maintaining it.

The council of a metropolitan borough in which this Act was in force in the course of demolishing some old premises, for the purpose of erecting a free library, made a hole in the wall of an adjoining owner's premises and did damage. In an action for damages brought by the adjoining owner it was held that the Public Authorities Protection Act did not apply (Walsh v. Southwark Borough Council (1908), 72 J. P. 71).

(i) 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18, ante, p. 1145; 23 & 24 Vict. c. 106, ante, p. 1314; 46 & 47 Vict. c. 15, ante, p. 1593. The exception of the provisions relating to the purchase of land otherwise than by agreement, leaves the authority without power to give compensation for injuriously affecting lands. See Ferrar v. London Commissioners of Sewers (1869), L. R. 4 Ex. 227. As to disregard of restrictive covenants, see Kirby v. Harrogate School Board, [1896] 1 Ch. 437; 60 J. P. 182.

elating to the purchase of land otherwise than by agreement, shall be ncorporated with this Act.

(2) The library authority of any library district which is an urban district nay with the sanction of the Local Government Board (ii) appropriate for the urposes of this Act any land which is vested in that authority (k).

(3) A library authority may with the sanction of the Local Government oard (kk) sell any land vested in them for the purposes of this Act, or exhange any such land for other land better adapted for those purposes, and the noney arising from the sale or received by way of equality of exchange shall e applied in or towards the purchase of other land better adapted for the said urposes, or may be applied for any purpose for which capital money may be pplied, and which is approved by the Local Government Board (kk).

(4) A library authority may let a house or building, or any part thereof, any land vested in them for the purposes of the Act, which is not at the me of such letting required for those purposes, and shall apply the rents and rofits thereof for the purposes of this Act.

Power to grant charity land for purposes of this Act.

13.—(1) Any person holding land for ecclesiastical, parochial, or charitable urposes may, subject as hereinafter provided, grant, or convey, by way of gift, le, or exchange, for any of the purposes of this Act any quantity of such land, ot exceeding in any one case one acre, in any manner vested in such person.

(2) Provided that—

(a) ecclesiastical property shall not be granted or conveyed for those purposes without the consent of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners; and

(b) parochial property shall not be so granted or conveyed save by the board of guardians of the poor law union comprising the parish to which the property belongs, or without the consent of the Local Government Board (ll); and

(c) other charitable property shall not be so granted or conveyed without the consent of the Charity Commissioners; and

(d) the land taken in exchange or the money received for such sale shall be held on the same trusts as the land exchanged or sold; and

(e) land situated in the administrative county of London, or in any urban district containing according to the last published census for the time being over twenty thousand inhabitants, which is held on trusts to be preserved as an open space, or on trusts which prohibit building thereon, shall not be granted or conveyed for the purposes of this Act.

(3) Any land granted or conveyed to any library authority under this ction may be held by that authority without any licence in mortmain.

Vesting of property in library authority.

14.—All land appropriated, purchased, or rented, and all other real and personal property presented to or purchased or acquired for any library, museum, gallery, or school under this Act shall be vested in the library authority.

Management of libraries, &c. by library authority or committee.

15.—(1) The general management, regulation, and control (l) of every rary, museum, art gallery, and school provided under this Act shall be sted in and exercised by the library authority, and that authority may ovide therein books, newspapers, maps, and specimens of art and science, d cause the same to be bound and repaired when necessary.

(2) The library authority may also appoint salaried officers and servants, and dismiss them, and make regulations for the safety and use of every library, museum, gallery, and school under their control, and for the admission of the public thereto.

(3) Provided that a library authority being an urban authority may if they think fit appoint a committee and delegate to it all or any of their powers and duties under this section, and the said committee shall to the extent of such delegation be deemed to be the library authority. Persons appointed to be members of the committee need not be members of the urban authority (m).

Power to library authorities to make agreement for use of library.

16.—(1) (n).

(2) The library authority of any library district may with the consent of the voters (o) in the district and of the Charity Commissioners make the like agreement with the governing body of any library established or maintained out of the funds subject to the jurisdiction of the Charity Commissioners, and situate in or near the library district, and, in case of inability, objection, or failure on the part of the governing body to enter into such agreement, the Charity Commissioners may, if they think fit, become party to the agreement on behalf of the governing body.

(3) This section shall apply, with the necessary modifications, to a museum, school for science, art gallery, or school for art in like manner as to a library.

Power to library authority to accept parliamentary grant.

17. Where a library authority accept a grant out of money provided by Parliament from the Department of Science and Art towards the purchase of the site, or the erection, enlargement, or repair, of any school for science and art, or school for science, or school for art, or of the residence of a teacher in any such school, or towards the furnishing of any such school, that authority may accept the grant upon the conditions prescribed by the Department of Science and Art, and may execute any instruments required by that Department for carrying into effect those conditions, and upon payment of the grant shall be bound by such conditions and instruments, and have power and be bound to fulfil and observe the same.

FINANCIAL PROVISIONS.

Expenses of library authority, how defrayed.

18.—(1) The expenses incurred (p) in a library district in and incidental to the execution of this Act, including all expenses in connexion with ascertaining the opinion of the voters in the district, may be defrayed,—

(a) where the library district is a municipal borough, out of the borough fund or borough rate, or a separate rate to be made, assessed, and levied in like manner as the borough rate ; and

(b) where the library district is an urban district other than a borough, out of the rate applicable to the general expenses incurred in the

(m) No qualification is prescribed for these persons. Delegation does not relieve the urban authority from their liability for negligence on the part of those having control of the library (Bungary v. Wellingborough U. D. C. (1903), 67 J. P. 304 n).

(n) This sub-section is repealed by 1 Edw. 7, c. 19, s. 14, and Sched., post, p. 1879, and s. 5 of that Act now makes other provision for library authorities to share the cost of a library by agreement.

(o) In an urban district no consent of the voters is now required (Public Libraries (Amendment) Act, 1893, s. 2, post, p. 1771).

(p) The L. G. B. once stated that in their view if a library authority levy during one year the full rate which they are authorised to levy for library purposes, but do not expend the whole amount, they may, under the Public Libraries Act, 1892, carry forward the balance to the next year's library account and spend it in that year for library purposes, together with the sum which they can raise by another full rate. The Board did not consider, however, that a district council could properly require money to be paid to them over and above their actual expenses with the express object of accumulating it for purposes to be carried out at some future time.

execution of the Public Health Acts (q), or a separate rate to be made, assessed, and levied in like manner as the rate so applicable; and

(c) where the library district is a parish, out of a rate to be raised with and as part of the poor rate, subject, however, to this qualification, that every person assessed to the poor rate in the said parish in respect of lands used as arable, meadow, or pasture ground only or as woodlands or market gardens, or nursery grounds, shall be entitled to an allowance of two-thirds of the sum assessed upon him in respect of those lands for the purposes of this Act (r).

. . . . . .

(3) Where a parish or a part of a parish is annexed in pursuance of this ct to any library district, so much of the said expenses as is chargeable) such parish or part shall be defrayed in like manner as if such parish or art were a separate library district (s).

Borrowing by library authority.

19.—(1) Every library authority, with the sanction of the Local Government Board (ss), and in the case of a library authority being commissioners ppointed for a parish, with the sanction also of the vestry (t) of such parish, ay borrow money for the purposes of this Act on the security of any fund rate applicable for those purposes.

(2) Sections two hundred and thirty-three, two hundred and thirty-four, nd two hundred and thirty-six to two hundred and thirty-nine, both inclusive, the Public Health Act, 1875 (u), relating to borrowing by a local authority all apply, with the necessary modifications, to all money borrowed by any rary authority for the purposes of this Act, as if the library authority were urban authority, and as if references to this Act were substituted in those ctions and in the forms therein mentioned for references to the Public ealth Act, 1875.

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

(3) The Public Works Loan Commissioners may in manner provided by e Public Works Loans Act, 1875 (x), lend any money which may be borrowed a library authority for the purposes of this Act.

38 & 39 Vict. c. 89.

Accounts and audit.

20.—(1) Separate accounts shall be kept of the receipts and expenditure der this Act of every library authority and their officers, and those accounts

Where by mistake a similar abatement was allowed for a iod of three years on lands not used as arable, etc., it was held that the amounts of such tements were recoverable as arrears under 17 Geo. 2, c. 38, ss. 7, 11; R. v. Blenkinsop, 92] 1 Q. B. 43; 56 J. P. 246. See also the note to s. 2 (1), ante, p. 1762. The incidence harge of this rate is not altered by the L. G. A., 1894. See s. 7 (6) of that Act. But proportion of the poor rate levied for the purposes of this Act must be stated in the nand note (ib., s. 11 (5)).

ub-section (2) of this section is repealed by 1 Edw. 7, c. 19, s. 14, and Sched., post, 1879, and by s. 6 of that Act the sanction of the parish meeting is no longer required ually for raising the money for library expenses, subject, however, to the L. G. A., 4, s. 11.

shall be audited in like manner and with the like incidents and consequences, in the case of a library authority being an urban authority, and of their officers, as the accounts of the receipts and expenditure of that authority and their officers under the Public Health Acts (y).

(2) The accounts of the receipts and expenditure of a library authority being commissioners appointed under this Act, and of their officers, shall be audited yearly by a district auditor in like manner and with the like incidents and consequences as in the case of an audit under the Acts relating to the relief of the poor, and those commissioners shall be a local authority within the meaning of the District Auditors Act, 1879 (z).

42 & 43 Vict. c. 6.

(3) The accounts of the receipts and expenditure under this Act of any library authority other than the council of a municipal borough shall be open at all reasonable times to the inspection, free of charge, of any rate-payer in the library district, and any such ratepayer may without charge make copies of and extracts from those accounts ; and if any library authority or any person being a member thereof or employed by them and having the custody of the accounts fails to allow the accounts to be inspected, or copies or extracts to be made, as required by this section, such authority or person shall for each offence be liable on summary conviction in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts to a fine not exceeding five pounds.

PROVISIONS AFFECTING LONDON ONLY.

Application of Act to city of London.

21.—(1) The city of London shall be a library district, and on this Act being adopted for the city, the common council shall be the library authority.

(2) The opinion of the voters in the city of London with respect to any question under this Act shall be ascertained by the mayor on the requisition of the common council.

(3) The expenses incurred in the city of London in and incidental to the execution of this Act, including all expenses in connexion with ascertaining the opinion of the voters, shall be defrayed out of the consolidated rate levied by the commissioners of sewers, or a separate rate to be made, assessed, and levied by those commissioners in like manner as the consolidated rate.

(4) So much of this Act as limits the rate or addition to a rate to be levied in any library district for any one financial year to one penny in the pound shall not extend to the city of London (zz).

22. [Power for district in London to adopt Act] (a).

Power to vestry or district board in London to appropriate land for library, etc.

23. The vestry or district board constituted under the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, for any parish mentioned in Schedule A. or district mentioned in Schedule B. to that Act, as amended by any subsequent Acts, may, if this Act is in force in such parish or district, appropriate with the sanction of the Local Government Board (aa) for the purposes of this Act any land which is vested in such vestry or board.

Saving for Oxford.

25. Nothing in this Act shall interfere with the operation of the Act of he session of the twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth years of the reign of her resent Majesty, chapter one hundred and eight, so far as it relates to the llection of a rate for a public library in Oxford.

Constitution and proceedings of vestry for purposes of Act.

26. For the purposes of this Act the vestry of a parish shall be any body persons acting by virtue of any Act of Parliament as or instead of a vestry, nd, where there is no such body, shall be the inhabitants of the parish in stry assembled, but in the latter case the persons registered as county ectors in respect of the occupation of property situate in the parish, and no her persons, shall be members of the vestry.

Definitions.

27. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

The expression "urban district" means a municipal borough, Improvement Act district, or local government district; and "urban authority" means, as regards each such district, the council improvement commissioners, or local board:

The expression "financial year" means the period of twelve months for which the accounts of a library authority are made up (c):

The expression "overseers" includes any persons authorised and required to make and levy poor rates in a parish, and acting instead of overseers:

The expression "common council" means in relation to the city of London the mayor, commonalty, and citizens, acting by the mayor, aldermen, and commons in common council assembled.

(q) See 55 & 56 Vict. c. 53, s. 20, ante, p. 1767.

(r) See the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, ante, p. 1473, and the Rivers Pollution Prevention (Border Councils) Act, 1898, post, p. 1804. This Act appears to provide for a case like that before the court in Att.-Gen. v. Dorking Union Guardians, ante, p. 67, where it was held that proceedings under the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, could not be taken against a local authority merely because a sewer vested in them polluted a stream, they themselves not having constructed or interfered with the sewer. See the notes to s. 3 of the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, ante, p. 1475, and especially Rochford R. D. C. v. Port of London Authority, ante, p. 1476. The mere fact that a sewer is vested in a local authority under s. 13 of the P. H. A., 1875, does not make the local authority ipso facto liable for the discharge of sewage matter from the sewer into a brook (Waltham Holy Cross U. D. C. v. Lea Conservancy Board (1910), 74 J. P. 253; 103 L. T. 192, which was decided under a special Act; Titterton v. Kingsbury Collieries, Ltd. (1911), 75 J. P. 295; 104 L. T. 569).

(s) As to what sewers are vested in a local authority, see the P. H. A., 1875, s. 13, and the notes to that section, ante, p. 45. See also West Riding Rivers Board v. Linthwaite U. D. C., ante, p. 72.

(t) This Act concerns urban and rural district councils more in their capacity as highway authorities than sanitary authorities. The subject, however, being at the time novel and of considerable public importance, it has been thought as well to include it in this Appendix.

A landowner erected upon his own land by the side of a public road in Scotland a fence of barbed wire, and the road trustees brought an action to have it removed on the ground

(a) For note (a) see next page.

2. In this Act— Interpretation.

The expression "barbed wire" means any wire with spikes or jagged projections; and the expression "nuisance to a highway" as applied to barbed wire, means barbed wire which may probably be injurious to persons or animals lawfully using such highway:

In England and Wales the expression "local authority" means any county council, any urban sanitary authority, any sanitary authority in London, any highway board, and any other local authorities existing, or that may be hereafter created by Parliament, having control over highways (b).

3.—(1) Where there is on any land adjoining a highway within the county or district of a local authority a fence made with barbed wire, or in or on which barbed wire has been placed, and such barbed wire is a nuisance to such highway, it shall be lawful for such local authority to serve (c) notice in Removal of barbed wire where nuisance to highway.

that it was dangerous to persons and cattle lawfully using the road. The fence was placed about three feet from the boundary line between the road and the landowner's property, and stood entirely upon his land:—Held, that the action lay, but upon the defender undertaking so to alter and protect the fence as to remove the danger, the action was dismissed (Elgin Road Trustees v. Innes (1886), 14 Ct. Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) 48). The occupier of certain land adjoining a public footpath fenced it off from the footpath by barbed wire set back nine feet from the path:—Held, that he was liable in damages to a man who tore his clothes on the barbs whilst making way for other persons to pass him on the footpath (Bird v. Frost (1892), 56 J. P. 164). Plaintiff and defendant were adjoining landowners, and defendant was bound to maintain a boundary fence between their lands for their mutual benefit. Defendant caused a gap in the fence to be made up with barbed wire which was placed three feet within his own boundary. Plaintiff afterwards put a mare into his field, and she injured herself on the wire:—Held, that the wire was so placed as to be dangerous to cattle lawfully put by the plaintiff into his field, and that defendant was liable in damages for the injury to the mare (Bennett v. Blackmore (1890), 26 L. J. Newsp. 228; 90 L. T. Journ. 395 (Crediton County Court)). Defendants erected a fence of barbed wire between their railway line and plaintiff's farm. Sheep grazing on plaintiff's farm were injured by coming in contact with the wire:—Held, that the defendants were liable for the damage occasioned to the sheep (M'Quillan v. Crommelin Iron Ore Co. (1892), 26 Ir. L. T. Rep. 15). Lands belonging to plaintiff and defendant, who were adjoining owners, were separated by an old quickset fence. This hedge the defendant dug up and replaced by a new one of young quicks, which he protected by a barbed wire fence of a very severe character, set up with the plaintiff's acquiescence on plaintiff's land. Plaintiff then turned out a mare to graze on his land, and she was injured:—Held, that the defendant was liable (Shipton v. Lucas (1892), 92 L. T. Jo. 297). Defendant put up a barbed wire fence separating his land from a public footpath, and plaintiff was walking along the footpath when a sudden gust of wind blew his coat against the fence and it was torn. No negligence or want of skill or care in the erection of the fence was imputed to the defendant, but the county court judge held that the fence as constructed and placed was dangerous to the public using the footpath and a nuisance. This decision was affirmed on appeal to the High Court (Stewart v. Wright (1893), 57 J. P. 137; affirmed 9 T. L. R. 480). And in an Irish case of Collen v. Ellis (1893), 32 L. R. Ir. 491, it was held that a barbed wire fence by the side of a highway may be an obstruction to the free passage thereof.

A valuable collection and review of the American cases on the subject will be found in 95 L. T. Jo. 419.

Upon similar principles a rotten fence abutting a highway is a nuisance, and if it be the cause of any accident, the owner of the fence is liable (Harrold v. Watney, [1898] 2 Q. B. 320). But a defendant is not liable in respect of a nuisance created on his premises by trespassers (Barker v. Herbert, [1911] 2 K. B. 633; 75 J. P. 481), if he does not, and cannot reasonably be expected to know of its existence. This case was distinguished in Horridge v. Makinson (1915), 84 L. J. K. B. 1294. And see Robbins v. Jones, ante, p. 1264.

(a) This title must not be taken to limit the meaning of the term "highway" as used in the Act. A cul-de-sac may be a highway (Bateman v. Bluck (1853), 18 Q. B. 870; Young v. Cuthbertson (1854), 1 Macq. H. L. Cas. 455).

(b) Italicised words repealed by S. L. R. A., 1908. The remainder of this section only applies to Scotland and Ireland. Highway boards are now superseded by rural district councils under s. 25 of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 933.

(c) As to service of notices, see s. 26 of the Highway Act, 1864. And upon the whole text compare s. 94 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 176.

writing upon the occupier of such land requiring him within a time therein stated (not to be less than one month nor more than six months after the date of the notice) to abate such nuisance.

(2) If on the expiration of the time stated in the notice the occupier shall have failed to comply therewith, it shall be lawful for the local authority to apply to a court of summary jurisdiction (d), and such court, if satisfied that the said barbed wire is a nuisance to such highway, may by summary order (e) direct the occupier to abate such nuisance; and on his failure to comply with such order within a reasonable time the local authority may do whatever may be necessary in execution of the order, and recover in a summary manner the expenses incurred in connexion therewith (f).

Proceedings where local authority is occupier of the land.

4. Where the local authority are the occupiers of the land, proceedings under this Act may be taken by any ratepayer within the district of the local authority, and a notice to the local authority to abate the nuisance shall be deemed to be properly served if it is served upon the clerk of the local authority, and any ratepayer taking proceedings may do all acts and things which a local authority is empowered to do.

Expenses of local authority.

5. Any expenses incurred by a local authority in the execution of this Act shall be defrayed in like manner as the expenses of the local authority incurred in respect of any highways (g).

THE LAW OF COMMONS AMENDMENT ACT, 1893.

(56 & 57 VICT. c. 57.)

An Act to amend the Law relating to Commons. [22nd September 1893.]

Short title of Act.

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as the "Law of Commons Amendment Act, 1893."

Consent of Board of Agriculture essential to inclosure.

2. An inclosure or approvement of any part of a common purporting to be made under the Statute of Merton (h) and the Statute of Westminster the Second (i), or either of such statutes, shall not be valid unless it is made with the consent of the Board of Agriculture (ii).

Conditions of consent.

3. In giving or withholding their consent under this Act, the Board (ii) shall have regard to the same considerations, and shall, if necessary, hold the same inquiries as are directed by the Commons Act, 1876 (k), to be taken into consideration, and held by the Board before forming an opinion whether an application under the Inclosure Acts shall be acceded to or not.

Saving of existing rights.

4. Nothing in this Act shall preclude his Majesty, his heirs and successors, or any person whatsoever whose rights or interests are affected by any inclosure or approvement, from taking any proceedings by way of information, action, or otherwise, for the abatement of such inclosure or approvement, and the protection of such rights and interests.

(d) As defined by s. 13 (11) of the Interpretation Act, 1889.

THE ISOLATION HOSPITALS ACT, 1893.

(56 & 57 VICT. c. 68) (l).

An Act for enabling County Councils to promote the Establishment of Hospitals for the Reception of Patients suffering from Infectious Diseases.

[21st December 1893.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as "The Isolation Hospitals Act, 1893."

Limits of Act.

2. This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland, or to the administrative county of London, or to any county borough, or without the consent of the council of the borough to any borough containing, according to the census for the time being in force, a population of ten thousand persons or upwards, or to any borough containing a less population without the like consent, unless the Local Government Board (ll) by order direct that the Act shall apply to such borough.

County council to provide for establishment of isolation hospitals on application, etc.

3. The council of every county may, on such application being made to them, and proof adduced, as is in this Act mentioned, provide or cause to be provided in any district within their county a hospital for the reception of patients suffering from infectious diseases (in this Act referred to as "an isolation hospital") (m).

Application, by whom to be made.

4.—(1) An application to a county council for the establishment of an isolation hospital may be made by any one or more of the authorities, by this Act defined as local authorities (n), having jurisdiction in the county, or any part of the county; and any such application may be made in pursuance of a resolution passed at a meeting of such authority by a majority of the members assembled thereat, and voting in manner in which votes are required by law to be given at a meeting of the authority. Any such meeting shall be called together by notice given in manner in which notices of the meetings of the authority concerned are required to be given by law, and specifying the object of the meeting to be the making an application to the county council under this Act.

(2) An application for the establishment of an isolation hospital may also be made by any number of ratepayers not less than twenty-five, in any contributory place as defined by this Act (o).

(l) This Act is amended by 1 Edw. 7, c. 8, post, p. 1874. By s. 131 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 238, both urban and rural district councils have power to provide hospitals for the use of the inhabitants of their districts. This Act, by s. 4, enables them to apply to the county council to provide for the establishment of an isolation hospital for their district for persons suffering from infectious diseases. The district for which such a hospital may be provided under this Act is to be fixed by the county council subject to the right of objection by the district council under ss. 8 and 20, post, to the inclusion of their district in the hospital area, or to the subsequent variation of that area. By the amending Act, 1 Edw. 7, c. 8, s. 1, post, p. 1874, a district council or joint board who have provided a hospital under the P. H. A., 1875, may transfer their hospital to the county council for use as an isolation hospital.

(ll) Now the M. of H. See 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 21.

(m) It will be observed that hospitals to be provided under this Act are for infectious cases only. Infectious diseases within the meaning of the Act are defined by s. 26, post, p. 1781. The observations already made as to the provision of hospitals under s. 131 of the P. H. A., 1875, being subject to the limitation that a nuisance must not be thereby created, are equally applicable here.

(n) These are urban and rural district councils. See s. 26, post, p. 1781. They do not, however, include boroughs, save to the extent mentioned in s. 2, supra.

(o) For definition of a contributory place, see s. 26, post, p. 1781.

Application, how made.

5.—(1) The application shall be made by petition, and shall state the district for which the isolation hospital is required, and the reasons which the petitioners adduce for its establishment.

(2) The county council shall, by themselves, or by a committee of their body appointed for that purpose, consider the petition, and, if satisfied by the statements of the petition as originally prepared, or by any amendments made therein, that a primâ facie case is made out for a local inquiry, they shall cause such inquiry to be made as to the necessity for the establishment of an isolation hospital.

Effect of report of medical officer of county.

6. The county council may direct an inquiry to be made by the medical officer of health of the county as to the necessity of an isolation hospital being established for the use of the inhabitants of any particular district in the county, and in the event of such medical officer reporting that such an hospital ought to be established for the use of the inhabitants of a district may take the same proceedings in all respects for the establishment of such hospital as if a petition had been presented by a local authority for the establishment of an isolation hospital for the district named in the report of such medical officer of health (p).

Conduct of local inquiry.

7. The county council shall conduct the local inquiry into the necessity for the establishment of an isolation hospital, and as to the proper site for the hospital, and the district for which it is to be established (in this Act called the "hospital district"), by a committee consisting of such number of their members, either with or without the addition of such other persons, or in such other manner as the council think expedient. All expenses properly incurred by any such committee shall be paid as hereinafter directed. The local inquiry shall be held subject to such regulations and otherwise as the council thinks fit. Due notice of the time and place at which any inquiry is to be held by the county council shall be given in such manner as the county council may think the best adapted to inform any persons interested (q), and such persons may attend and state their case before the members appointed to conduct such inquiry.

Variation of district and appeal.

8.—(1) Every hospital district constituted under this Act shall consist of a single local area, or two or more local areas, as defined by this Act (r).

(2) The county council may vary any proposed hospital district by adding to it or subtracting from it any local area (s). A local area which is already provided with such isolation hospital accommodation as may in the opinion of the county council be sufficient for the reasonable exigencies of such area, shall not, without the assent of the local authority of such area testified by a resolution of such authority, be included in a hospital district under this Act.

(3) If any local authority (t), having jurisdiction within any part of the proposed hospital district, object to the formation of such a district, or to the addition or subtraction thereto or therefrom of any local area within their jurisdiction, such authority may at any time within three months

(p) This section provides an alternative method for putting the county council in motion. The inquiry by the county medical officer of health does not, however, dispense with the local inquiry directed to be held under the preceding section.

(q) These would apparently include the local authorities for the proposed district and the owners of the land proposed to be taken for the site of the hospital, and, probably, also the adjoining owners.

(r) For definition of local area, see s. 26, post, p. 1781.

(s) Compare s. 20, post, as to the alteration of an order for the constitution of a hospital district.

(t) Although, under 1 Edw. 7, c. 8, s. 6, post, p. 1875, the rural district council is now exclusively the local authority for any contributory place, the parish council still has under that section a right of appeal under this sub-section.

from the date of the order appeal to the Local Government Board (u), and the decision of such Board shall be conclusive.

Order as to dismissal of petition or constitution of district.

9. On conclusion of a local inquiry by the county council as to the necessity for the establishment of an isolation hospital, the county council shall make an order (x), either dismissing the petition, or constituting a hospital district (y), and directing an isolation hospital for such district to be established: Provided that the county council shall not take steps for the constitution of a hospital district for one or more contributory places forming a portion of a rural sanitary district within the jurisdiction of the county council, or for one local area, unless the sanitary (z) authority of such place or places, or area, assent to the application, or are proved to the satisfaction of the county council to be unable or unwilling to make suitable hospital accommodation for such place, places, or area.

Hospital committee.

10.—(1) When a hospital district has been constituted, a committee shall be formed by the county council. Any such committee may consist wholly of members of the county council, or partly of [members of the county council] (a) and partly of representatives of the local area or areas in the district, or wholly of such local representatives. The county council shall make regulations for the election, rotation, and qualification, and for all other matters relating to the constitution of any such committee, subject to these qualifications, that where no contribution is made by the county council to the funds of the hospital (b), such committee shall consist, unless the constituent local authorities otherwise desire, wholly of representatives of the local area or local areas of the district, and that if any local authority within the hospital district feels aggrieved by the mode in which any such committee is constituted, it may appeal to the Local Government Board (c), and that Board may modify the constitution of any committee so formed by the county council in such manner as the Board think expedient and just.

(2) A hospital committee shall have all such powers of acquiring land as are hereinafter mentioned (d), also all such other powers of providing a hospital by purchase or otherwise, and managing and maintaining the same when so provided, as the county council may delegate to them: Provided that the county council shall retain to themselves the power of inspecting any such hospital, and of raising money by loan for the purposes of such hospital (e).

(3) A hospital committee shall be a body corporate, having a perpetual succession and a common seal, under such name and style as may be conferred on it by the county council. It shall be capable of acquiring land, by devise, gift, purchase or otherwise, without licence in mortmain.

(4) Where a hospital district is an area wholly or as to the greater part (u) As to appeals to the L. G. B., see s. 24, post.

(x) By 1 Edw. 7, c. 8, s. 7, post, p. 1875, the county council must, as soon as may be, send a copy of the order to the L. G. B. (now the Ministry of Health). For power to vary the order subsequently, see s. 20.

(y) Power to vary the district is given by s. 8, ante, p. 1776. As to payment of expenses where the hospital district consists of more than one local area, see s. 18, post.

(z) Sic. Quære "local authority."

(a) By 1 Edw. 7, c. 8, s. 8, the words "representatives of the county council, whether members of the council or not," are substituted for "members of the county council."

(b) Power to make such contribution is given by s. 21. The constitution of the hospital committee is wholly in the discretion of the county council, providing it contributes to the funds of the hospital, subject only to the right of appeal to the Ministry of Health, and s. 32 (3) of the Interpretation Act, 1889, empowers a county council to rescind regulations (Att.-Gen. v. Derbyshire County Council, [1916] 2 A. C. 283).

(c) Now the Minister of Health. As to appeals to the Minister, see s. 24, post.

thereof under the jurisdiction of any corporate local authority (f), the county council may, if they think fit, invest such local authority with all the powers of a hospital committee under this Act, and thereupon such authority shall be deemed to be the hospital committee for such district, and shall exercise all the powers of such committee under its original corporate name.

Purchase of land for hospital.

11. Subject to any directions given by the county council, a hospital committee may purchase or lease any land, whether within or without the hospital district, for the purpose of erecting thereon an isolation hospital, and may exercise all the powers conferred on a sanitary authority by the provisions of the Public Health Act, 1875, and the Acts amending the same, relating to the purchase of lands. For the purposes of this section the provisions contained in sections one hundred and seventy-five to one hundred and seventy-eight (inclusive), and sections two hundred and ninety-six to two hundred and ninety-eight (inclusive) of the Public Health Act, 1875, shall, so far as consistent herewith, be incorporated with this Act (g).

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

Management of hospital, and regulations.

12. A hospital committee may from time to time make all necessary rules and regulations for the conduct and management of their hospital and the patients therein.

Ambulances to be provided.

13. Every isolation hospital shall be provided with an ambulance or ambulances for the purpose of conveying patients to the hospital, and shall, so far as practicable, be in connexion with the system of telegraphs (h).

Additional hospital accommodation.

14. A hospital committee may, in expectation of or in the event of an outbreak of any infectious disease (i), provide any accommodation in addition to their existing accommodation by hiring, or otherwise acquiring, any buildings, tents, wooden houses, or other places for the reception of patients. A hospital committee may, in addition to, or instead of, providing a central hospital, establish within their district hospitals in cottages or small buildings, or otherwise as they may think expedient. A hospital committee may also before they have established a permanent hospital or hospitals, provide for their district such temporary accommodation as in this section mentioned.

Training of nurses.

15. Subject to any regulations made by the county council, a hospital committee may make arrangements for the training of nurses for attendance on patients suffering from any infectious disease, either inside or outside the hospital, and may charge for the attendance of such nurses outside the hospital; and the expenses of any such nurses, after deducting any profits derived from their services, shall be establishment expenses of the hospital, within the meaning of this Act (k).

Charges for patients.

16.—(1) There shall be charged with respect to every person admitted into the hospital such sum as the hospital committee may think sufficient to defray the expenses in this Act defined as patients' expenses (l) incurred in respect of such person; and there shall be added thereto, in the case of persons brought from beyond the hospital district, such sum as the committee may think fit as a contribution to the structural and establishment expenses.

(f) This will include urban and rural district councils.

(g) See the sections referred to, ante, pp. 412—424, 629—632. As to hiring temporarily a hospital from a district council whilst the committee are building their permanent hospital, see 1 Edw. 7, c. 8, s. 3, post, p. 1875.

(h) As to the provision and use of ambulances generally, see the P. H. A., 1875, s. 123, and notes thereto, ante, p. 231.

(i) For definition of infectious disease, see s. 26, post.

(k) See as to establishment expenses, s. 17, post, p. 1779.

(l) See s. 17, post, p. 1779.

(2) Persons desirous of being provided with accommodation of an exceptional character may be so provided on their undertaking, to the satisfaction of the committee, to pay for the same a sum fixed by the committee, and also to pay for all other expenses incurred in respect of their maintenance in the hospital, and all expenses so incurred in respect of such a patient are in this Act referred to as "special patients' expenses."

Classification of expenses.

17.—(1) The expenses to be incurred in respect of any isolation hospital under this Act shall be classified as structural expenses, establishment expenses, and patients' expenses.

"Structural expenses" shall include the original cost of providing the hospital, including the purchase (if any) of the site, and the furnishing such hospital with the necessary appliances and furniture required for the purpose of receiving patients; also any permanent extension or enlargement of the hospital, or any alteration or repair of the drainage, and any structural repairs; but shall not include ordinary repairs, painting, cleaning, or the renewal or keeping in order of the appliances and furniture, or the supply of new appliances or furniture.

"Establishment expenses" means the cost of keeping the hospital, its appliances and furniture, in a state requisite for the comfort of the patients, also the salaries of the doctors, nurses, servants, and all other expenses for maintaining the hospital in a fit state for the reception of patients.

"Patients' expenses" means the cost of conveying, removing, feeding, providing medicines, disinfecting, and all other things required for patients individually, exclusive of structural and establishment expenses (m).

(2) All expenses incurred by a county council in and about the formation of a hospital district, including the costs of any inquiries, and the expenses of obtaining land and other preliminary expenses, shall be deemed to be structural expenses.

(3) In the case of any doubt arising as to what are structural expenses, establishment expenses, or patients' expenses within the meaning of this Act, the decision of the hospital committee shall be conclusive.

Payment of expenses.

18. All expenses incurred by a county council or by a hospital committee under this Act, with the exception of patients' expenses, and special patients' expenses, shall, when a hospital district consists of a single local area, be defrayed out of the local rate of that area (n). Where the hospital district consists of more than one local area, all the expenses, save as aforesaid, incurred by the hospital committee shall be paid out of a common fund to which all receipts shall be carried, and to which the local authorities (o) in the hospital district shall contribute in such proportions as the county council by their order constituting the district (p) may determine.

Section two hundred and eighty-four of the Public Health Act, 1875 (q), shall apply to the sums to be contributed by the local authorities under this section as if the same were sums to be contributed by component districts and the hospital committee were a joint board under that Act. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

Recovery of patients' expenses.

19.—(1) Patients' expenses (r), in respect of any person who at the time of his reception into the hospital, or at any time within fourteen days previously is or has been in receipt of poor law relief, shall be a debt due to

(2) Patients' expenses, in respect of a non-pauper patient, shall be a debt due to the hospital committee, and recoverable in a summary manner from the local authority of the local area from which the patient is sent, and shall be paid out of the local rate (u).

(3) Where a patient has been brought from a place beyond the hospital district, any additional charges made by the hospital committee in respect of such patient shall be recoverable as if they were part of the patients' expenses.

(4) Special patients' expenses (x) shall be a debt recoverable in a summary manner from the patient, or from the estate of the patient, in respect of whom the expenses have been incurred.

(5) The expenses of the burial of any patient dying in the hospital shall be payable in the same manner in which the expenses of his maintenance are payable.

Power of county council to alter order.

20. A county council may, on the application of a hospital committee, and with the assent of any local authority concerned in such alteration, alter any order made by them for the establishment of a hospital (y).

Power of county councils to contribute to hospitals.

21. A county council may, where they deem it expedient so to do for the benefit of the county, contribute out of the county rate a capital or annual sum towards the structural and the establishment expenses of an isolation hospital, or to either class of such expenses (z).

Power to borrow money.

22. A county council may borrow on the security of the county rate, and in manner provided by the Local Government Act, 1888 (a), any money required for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Act; and any loans so borrowed, and any other money expended by them for the purposes of this Act, together with interest thereon [at the rate of four pounds per centum per annum] (b) shall be repaid to the county council out of the local rate, as in this Act directed (c); and, in the case of a loan, shall be repaid within a period not exceeding that within which the loan is repayable by the county council.

(t) E.g., in the county court. This section removes a difficulty which is not provided for in cases under s. 132 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 244.

(u) For definitions of local area, local authority, and local rate, see s. 26, post. The civil debt procedure will be applicable. It is immaterial whether the patient has been sent to the hospital at the instance of the local authority or not. The local authority have a remedy over under s. 132 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 244.

(x) See s. 16 (2). This sub-section does not give a remedy against any person other than a patient not being the legal personal representative of a deceased patient, such as a parent or guardian or employer. If a parent or guardian or employer can be made liable at all, it must be by virtue of a contract express or implied.

(y) Power to vary the district is given by s. 8 (2).

(z) As to what are structural and establishment expenses, see s. 17, supra. By s. 18 these fall primarily on the local rate. By the amending Act, 1 Edw. 7, c. 8, s. 2, post, p. 1874, the power conferred on a county council by this section is extended to contributions to any hospital provided by a district council or joint board for the reception of patients suffering from infectious disease, subject to the consent of the Ministry of Health in certain cases.

(a) See s. 69 of that Act.

(b) The words in italics are repealed by 1 Edw. 7, c. 8, s. 4, and by that section interest may in all cases be at a rate agreed between the county council and the hospital committee, or in default of agreement, at a rate determined by the Ministry of Health.

(c) Sums required for the contribution of a capital sum under s. 21, supra, are not repayable out of the local rate, but out of the county fund. See 1 Edw. 7, c. 8, s. 2 (2), post, p. 1875.

23. A person shall not by reason of his being admitted into and maintained n an hospital established in pursuance of this Act suffer any disqualification or any loss of franchise or other right or privilege (d). Treatment in hospital not to disqualify

24. Sub-sections one and five of section eighty-seven of the Local Govern- nent Act, 1888 (e), shall apply in every case where the Local Government Board (dd) are authorised to determine any question on appeal to them. Inquiries by Local Government Board.

25. The provisions of sections two hundred and forty-five, two hundred nd forty-seven, two hundred and forty-nine and two hundred and fifty of he Public Health Act, 1875, as amended by the District Auditors Act, 1879, hall apply to the accounts of any hospital committee, and of any officers or ssistants of such committee, and to the audit of such accounts, as if such ommittee were an urban authority other than the council of a borough (f). Audit of accounts.

26. A "local area" means in this Act any one of the following localities, Definitions.
iat is to say, an urban sanitary district, a rural sanitary district, or any ontributory place, or where a local area is included in more than one county, ie part of the area included in each county.

A "contributory place" has the same meaning in this Act as in section vo hundred and twenty-nine of the Public Health Act, 1875 (g).

A "local authority" means in this Act, as respects an urban sanitary strict, the urban sanitary authority; as respects a rural sanitary district, e rural sanitary authority, and in the case of any contributory place being parish, the vestry or other authority in which the powers of the vestry may vested by any Act of Parliament, and in the case of any other contributory ace situated within the district of a rural sanitary authority, such rural nitary authority (h). 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

The "local rate" means, as respects an urban or rural sanitary district or ntributory place, the rate out of which expenses incurred in the execution the Acts relating to public health are directed to be paid, and in the case any contributory place the expenses incurred in the execution of this Act all be deemed to be special expenses (i).

The expression "infectious diseases" in this Act has the same meaning in the Infectious Diseases (Notification) Act, 1889 (k), and the provisions this Act shall apply to the infectious diseases specifically mentioned in t Act, and may be applied to any other infectious disease, by order of the nty council, or any committee to whom they have delegated their powers der this section, in like manner as if such council or committee were a local hority acting under that Act (l). 52 & 53 Vict. c. 72.

THE HOUSING OF THE WORKING CLASSES ACT, 1894.

(57 & 58 VICT. c. 55) (mm).

An Act to explain the provisions of Part II. of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890, with respect to powers of borrowing.

[25th August 1894.]

Borrowing powers under a scheme for reconstruction.

1. For any purpose for which a local authority are, by a scheme for reconstruction duly sanctioned under Part II. of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890, or by the order sanctioning the scheme, authorised to borrow, the authority shall have power and shall be deemed always to have had power to borrow in like manner and subject to the like conditions as they may borrow under section forty-three of that Act for the purpose of raising the sum required for the purchase money or compensation therein mentioned, and sections forty-three and forty-six of that Act shall apply accordingly.

Short title.

2. This Act may be cited as the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 189

(m) This Act amends the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, Schedule I., ante, p. 1453.

(mm) This Act enables an authority to borrow for the general purposes of a reconstruction scheme under s. 39 of the principal Act, ante, p. 1708. PART II.

MASTERS AND SEAMEN.

* * * * * *

Protection of seamen from Imposition.

Seamen's lodging-houses (n).

214.—(1) A local authority hereinafter mentioned (o) whose district includes a seaport may, with the approval of the Board of Trade, make byelaws relating to seamen's lodging-houses in their district, and those byelaws shall be binding upon all persons keeping houses in which seamen (p) are lodged and upon the owners thereof and persons employed therein.

(2) The byelaws shall amongst other things provide for the licensing, inspection, and sanitary conditions of seamen's lodging-houses, for the publication of the fact of a house being licensed, for the due execution of the byelaws, for preventing the obstruction of persons engaged in securing that execution, for the preventing of persons not duly licensed holding themselves out as keeping or purporting to keep licensed houses, and for the exclusion from licensed houses of persons of improper character, and shall impose sufficient fines not exceeding fifty pounds for the breach of any byelaw (q).

(3) The byelaws shall come into force from a date therein named, and shall be published in the London Gazette (r) and in one newspaper at the least circulating in the district, and designated by the Board of Trade.

(4) If the local authority do not within a time in each case named by the Board of Trade make, revoke, or alter, any byelaws under this section, the Board of Trade may do so (s).

(5) Whenever her Majesty in Council orders (t) that in any district or any part thereof none but persons duly licensed in pursuance of byelaws under this section shall keep seamen's lodging-houses or let lodgings to seamen from (n) This section takes the place of s. 48 of the Merchant Shipping (Fishing Boats) Act, 1883, now repealed by this Act.

(o) See sub-s. (7), post, p. 1784.

(p) Defined by s. 742, post, p. 1787.

(q) By s. 680 (2) of this Act, any offence committed or fine recoverable under a byelaw made in pursuance of this Act may be prosecuted or recovered in the same manner as an offence or fine under this Act. By s. 680 (1) (b) an offence under this Act, punishable by fine not exceeding £100, shall be prosecuted summarily in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts. Section 682 gives an appeal to quarter sessions in case the fine inflicted exceeds five pounds; s. 683 limits the time for commencing proceedings to within six months after the commission of the offence; s. 684 gives jurisdiction not only in the place where the offence was actually committed, but also in any place where the offender may happen to be. Sub-section (6) of the present section deals with the application of fines recovered.

(r) See s. 740, post, p. 1787.

(s) This power has not yet been exercised, nor has there been any exercise of the corresponding power under the repealed statute.

(t) No such Order in Council has yet been made, either under the present Act, or under the corresponding provision in the repealed statute.

Section 738 of this Act gives power to revoke, alter, or add to any Order in Council, when made, and provides for the publication of Orders in Council in the London Gazette, or laying them before Parliament, and for their taking effect.

a date therein named, a person acting in contravention of that order shall for each offence be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds (u).

(6) A local authority may defray all expenses incurred in the execution of this section out of any funds at their disposal as sanitary authority (x), and fines recovered for a contravention of this section or of any byelaw under this section shall be paid to such authority and added to those funds.

(7) In this section the expression "local authority" means in the administrative county of London the county council, and elsewhere in England the local authority under the Public Health Acts (y) . . . and the expression "district" means the area under the authority of such local authority.

PART III.

PASSENGER AND EMIGRANT SHIPS.

* * * * * *

3. EMIGRANT SHIPS.

Passage Brokers (z).

Passage broker.

341.—(1) Any person who sells or lets or agrees to sell or let, or is anywise concerned in the sale or letting of steerage passages (a) in any ship proceeding from the British Islands to any place out of Europe not within the Mediterranean Sea shall for the purposes of this Part of this Act be a passage broker.

(2) The acts and defaults of any person acting under the authority, or as an agent, of a passage broker, shall for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be also the acts and defaults of the passage broker.

Passage brokers to enter into bond and obtain licence.

342.—(1) A person shall not act directly or indirectly as a passage broker unless he—

(a) has entered, with two good and sufficient sureties approved by the emigration officer nearest to his place of business, into a joint and several bond (b) to the Crown, in the sum of one thousand pounds; and

(b) holds a licence for the time being in force to act as passage broker.

(2) The bond shall be renewed on each occasion of obtaining a licence, and shall not be liable to stamp duty; it shall be executed in duplicate, and one part shall be deposited at the office of the Board of Trade, and the other part with the said emigration officer.

(3) The emigration officer may, in lieu of two securities, accept the bond of any guarantee society approved by the Treasury.

(u) As to recovery of such fine, see ss. 680—684 of the Act, and as to its application when recovered, see ss. 699, 716.

(x) As to these funds, in the case of an urban sanitary authority, see s. 207 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 469. In a rural district it is not clear whether it is intended that the expenses shall be general or special, i.e., chargeable only to the contributory places comprising the town. See s. 229 of the same Act, ante, p. 510.

(y) That is, presumably, under the P. H. A., 1875, and amending Acts. See the Short Titles Act, 1896.

Words relating to Scotland and Ireland only are here omitted.

(z) The sections under this heading take the place of ss. 66—69, inclusive, and 81 of the Passengers Act, 1855, now repealed by this Act.

By s. 23 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1906, the provisions of Part III. of the principal Act (i.e., this Act) relating to passage brokers shall apply to any person who at any place in the British Isles sells or lets or agrees to sell or let or is anywise concerned in the sale or letting of steerage passages from any place in Europe not within the Mediterranean Sea.

(a) Defined by s. 268. The selling or letting intended by this section is a selling or letting in a named ship of a passage to commence at a definite time for a specified voyage, and therefore that a person who agreed to procure a passage for another, no ship or time being specified, had not acted as a passage broker (Morris v. Howden, [1897] 1 Q. B. 378; 61 J. P. 246).

(b) The form of bond is prescribed by s. 360 and Schedule XIV., post, pp. 1787, 1789.

(4) There shall be exempted from this section—

(a) the Board of Trade, and any person contracting with them or acting under their authority; and (b) any passage broker's agent duly appointed under this Act (c).

(5) If any person fails (d) to comply with any requirement of this section, ıe shall for each offence be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds (e).

Granting of licences to passage brokers.

343.—(1) Application for a licence to act as passage broker shall be made to he licensing authority for the place in which the applicant has his place of ›usiness.

(2) The licensing authority, upon the applicant proving to their satisfaction hat he—

(a) has entered into and deposited one part of such bond as is required by this Act; and

(b) has given to the Board of Trade at least fourteen days' clear notice (f) of his intention to apply for a licence, ıay grant the licence (f), and shall forthwith send to the Board of Trade otice (f) of such grant.

(3) The licensing authority shall be—

(a) in the administrative county of London the justices of the peace at petty sessions;

(b) elsewhere in England, the council of a county borough or county district (g); . . .

Forfeiture of licence.

344.—(1) A passage broker's licence shall, unless forfeited, remain in force ntil the thirty-first day of December in the year in which it is granted, and ›r thirty-one days afterwards.

(2) Any Court (h), when convicting a passage broker of an offence under ıis Part of this Act or of any breach or non-performance of the requirements ıereof, may order that his licence be forfeited and the same shall be forfeited ccordingly.

(3) The Court shall forthwith send to the Board of Trade a notice of any ıch order.

345. [Passage broker's agents.]

346. [List of agents and runners to be exhibited by brokers, and sent to emigra›n officers.]

Emigrant Runners (k).

Emigrant runner.

347. If any person other than a licensed passage broker or his bonâ fide laried clerk, in or within five miles of the outer boundaries of any port (l), r hire or reward or the expectation thereof directly or indirectly conducts,

(c) A passage broker's agent, in order to be duly appointed under this Act, must, under 345, hold an appointment in writing from the passage broker, in the form required by e Act, and countersigned by the emigration officer at the port nearest to the place of siness of the passage broker.

(d) Includes refusal; see s. 742, post, p. 1788.

(e) This fine cannot be sued for and recovered by the licensing authority, but only by e persons authorised under s. 356, post, p. 1787.

(f) A form is prescribed by s. 360 and Schedule XIV.

(g) Under the repealed statutes it was the justices in petty sessions who were the ensing authority, but their powers were transferred to district councils by ss. 27 and 32 the L. G. A., 1894, ante, pp. 940, 943.

The remainder of this section relates to Scotland and Ireland only, and is, therefore, nitted.

(h) Defined by s. 742, post, p. 1788.

(k) The sections under this heading take the place o ss. 75—79, inclusive, and 80 of e Passengers Act, 1855, now repealed by this Act.

(l) Defined by s. 742, post, p. 1788.

solicits, influences, or recommends any intending emigrant (m) to or on behalf of any passage broker, or any owner charterer or master (n) of a ship, or any keeper of a lodging-house tavern or shop, or any money changer or other dealer or chapman, for any purpose connected with the preparations or arrangements for a passage, or gives or pretends to give to any intending emigrant any information or assistance in any way relating to emigration, that person shall for the purposes of this Part of this Act be an emigrant runner.

Emigrant runner's licence.

348.—(1) The licensing authority (o) for passage brokers for the place in which a person wishes to act as an emigrant runner, and to carry on his business, may, upon his application and on the recommendation in writing of an emigration officer, or of the chief constable or other head officer of police in such place (but not otherwise), grant, if they think fit, to the applicant a licence to act as emigrant runner.

(2) The emigrant runner shall, within forty-eight hours after his licence is granted, lodge the same with the nearest emigration officer, and that officer shall—

(a) register the name and abode of the emigrant runner in a book to be kept for the purpose, and number each name in arithmetical order; and

(b) upon receipt of a fee, not exceeding seven shillings, supply to the emigrant runner a badge of such form and description as the Board of Trade approve, but in case of a renewed licence, the officer need only note the renewal and its date in his registry book against the original entry of the emigrant runner's name.

(3) An emigrant runner's licence shall remain in force until the thirty-first day of December in the year in which it is granted, unless sooner revoked by any justice for any offence against this Act or for any other misconduct committed by the holder of such licence, or unless forfeited under the provisions hereinafter contained (q).

(4) When an emigrant runner changes his abode, the emigration officer shall register the change in his registry book.

349. [Renewal of badge.]

Penalties on persons acting without licence or badge, using badge not lawfully issued, or employing unlicensed person.

350.—(1) A person shall not—

(a) act as an emigrant runner without being duly licensed and registered: or

(b) retain or use any emigrant runner's badge not issued to him in manner by this Act required; or

(c) counterfeit or forge any emigrant runner's badge; or

(d) employ as an emigrant runner any person not duly licensed and registered.

(2) If any person acts in contravention of this section, he shall for each offence be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds (r).

351. [Penalties on emigrant runners for certain acts of misconduct.]

352. [Emigrant runner's commission and fees.]

(b) This schedule of Acts repealed (itself repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1908) included two Acts germane to the provisions set out in the text, viz., the Passengers Act, 1855, and the Merchant Shipping (Fishing Boats) Act, 1883.

(c) See the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, ante, p. 1145, and the Acts and enactments referred to in note (f) on that page. Italicised words in s. 1 (2) are repealed by S. L. R. A., 1908.

(d) See 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18, s. 52, ante, p. 1160, which is thus extended to costs of arbitration. The decision of the master cannot be reviewed (Sandback Charity Trustees v. North Staffordshire Rail. Co. (1878), 3 Q. B. D. 1) (and see In re Cannings, Ltd. and Middlesex C. C., [1907] 1 K. B. 51; 71 J. P. 46), nor can it be removed by certiorari (R. v. Goff, [1905] 2 I. R. 121). But when the successful party has to pay the arbitrators and umpire excessive fees in order to obtain delivery of the award, he may recover back from them by action such sum as the Court thinks improperly charged, and in such action the certificate of the Taxing Master under this section is primâ facie evidence of the unreasonableness of the fees (Llandrindod Wells Water Co. v. Hawksley (1903), 67 J. P. 439).

(g) This enactment corresponded to the first part of sub-s. (1) so far as it relates to the taxation of costs of arbitration.

Any work for which the council of a county, borough, district, or parish are authorised to borrow ;

The construction or improvement of any canal ;

Provided that where the repayment of a loan for the construction or improvement of a canal is collaterally secured to the satisfaction of the Public Works Loan Commissioners, the rate of interest on the loan may be three and a quarter per cent. per annum instead of the rate of four per cent. per annum authorised by the Public Works Loans Act, 1892.

THE CLEANSING OF PERSONS ACT, 1897.

(60 & 61 VICT. c. 31.)

An Act to permit Local Authorities to provide Cleansing and Disinfection for Persons infested with Vermin. [6th August 1897.]

Power to local authorities to provide cleansing, etc., for persons infested with vermin.

1. (i) . . . any local authority shall have the power, when in their discretion they shall see fit, to permit any person (k) who shall apply to the said authority, on the ground that he is infested with vermin, to have the use, free of charge, of the apparatus (if any) which the authority possess for cleansing the person and his clothing from vermin. The use of such apparatus shall not be considered to be parochial relief or charitable allowance to the person using the same, or to the parent of such person, and no such person or parent shall by reason thereof be deprived of any right or privilege or be subject to any disqualification or disability (l).

Local authorities may expend any reasonable sum on buildings, appliances, and attendants that may be required for the carrying out of this Act, and any expenses for these purposes may be defrayed out of any rate or fund applicable by the authority for general sanitary purposes (m) or for the relief of the poor.

(h) This Act, so far as material, extends the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, and First Schedule, ante, pp. 1435, 1453.

(i) Immaterial words in s. 1 repealed by S. L. R. A., 1908.

(k) By s. 87 (3) of the Education Act, 1921, where any sanitary authority within the district of a local education authority have provided, or are entitled to use, any premises or appliances for cleansing the person or clothing of persons infested with vermin, they must, if required, allow the local education authority to use such premises and appliances for the purposes of s. 87 ("Cleansing of verminous children") in return for such payment as may be agreed, or settled by the M. of H. in default of agreement.

(l) See now the provision as to disqualifications in s. 9 (1) of the Representation of the People Act, 1918, ante, p. 1094.

(m) In a borough, out of the borough rate or fund ; in an urban district other than a borough, out of the general district rate or fund (see the P. H. A., 1875, s. 207, ante, p. 469) : and in a rural district, out of the poor rate (ibid., s. 229, ante, p. 510).

2. In this Act "local authority" means in England the council of any county borough, the district council of any district, any board of guardians, and in the county of London any sanitary authority as defined in the Public Health (London) Act, 1891 (mm). Definition. 54 & 55 Vict. c. 76.

THE DISTRICT COUNCILS (WATER SUPPLY FACILITIES) ACT, 1897.

(60 & 61 Vict. c. 44) (n).

An Act for giving Facilities for a Pure Water Supply in Rural Districts.

[6th August 1897.]

1. Where any person who is a landowner within the meaning of the Improvement of Land Act, 1864 (o) (in this Act referred to as the principal Act), contributes any money towards the expenses incurred by a district council for the purpose of supplying water to any lands of such landowner, whether together with other lands or not, the amount so contributed may, with the sanction of the Board of Agriculture (oo) given under this Act, be charged on the land of the landowner so supplied with water in the same manner (p), as nearly as may be, and with the like effect as in the case of a charge under the principal Act. Lands may be charged by owners for water supply. 27 & 28 Vict. c. 114.

2. Where the landowner and the district council agree that the contribution shall be payable by half-yearly instalments, the charge under this Act may be Charge to be in favour of district council.

(mm) Sections 3 and 4 relate only to Scotland and Ireland.

(n) As to this Act and its bearing on the law of public health, see s. 51 of the P. H. A., 1875, and notes thereon, ante, p. 119. See also the Limited Owners' Reservoirs and Water Supply Further Facilities Act, 1877, ante, p. 1490, and the Improvement of Land Act, 1899, s. 1 (3).

(o) By s. 8 of that Act, "the word 'landowner' shall mean . . . as to lands in England, the person who shall be in the actual possession or receipt of the rents or profits of any land, whether of freehold, copyhold, customary, or other tenure, except where such person shall be a tenant for life or lives holding under a lease for life or lives not renewable, or shall be a tenant for years holding under a lease or an agreement for a lease for a term of years not renewable, whereof less than twenty-five years shall be unexpired at the time of making any application to the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries, without regard to the real amount of the interest of any person so excepted; and in the case where the person in the actual possession or receipt of the rents or profits of any land shall fall within the above exceptions, then the person who for the time being shall be in the actual receipt of the rent payable by the person so excepted, unless he shall also fall within the above exceptions, shall, jointly with the person who shall be liable to the payment thereof, be deemed for the purposes of this Act to be the owner of such lands; . . . and as to lands in any part of the United Kingdom, the word 'landowner' shall include a corporation, and also such persons as are empowered by the 23rd section hereof." This reference seems to be an obvious mistake for the 24th section, whereby it is provided that all husbands, guardians committees, feoffees, trustees, executors, and administrators, shall respectively have the same rights and powers of making applications and signifying dissents and taking other proceedings under this Act as their respective wives, infants, lunatics and idiots, would have had if free from disability, or as such feoffees, trustees, executors or administrators respectively would have had if the estates or interests of which they shall be such feoffees or trustees, or which shall be vested in them as such executors or administrators, had been vested in them in their own right; but no guardian, committee, feoffee, trustee, executor or administrator, shall be in anywise compelled or obliged to signify a dissent from any application under this Act, or be in anywise responsible for the consequences of such application, or of any charge made in pursuance thereof.

Time limit for charge.

3. A charge under this Act shall not be made for any term exceeding twenty-five years.

Sanctioning of charge by Board of Agriculture (qq)

4. When the supply of water to the lands of the landowner will be beneficial to persons residing or engaged in labour on such lands, the Board (qq) may, if they think fit, sanction the charge, although it may not be shown that the supply of water will effect a direct yearly increase in the value of the lands or be productive of a yearly revenue to the owner of the lands exceeding the yearly amount proposed to be charged thereon (r).

Power of Board of Agriculture (qq) to execute charge.

5. Where the annual sum to be made payable under a charge proposed to be granted by virtue of this Act in respect of the supply of water to any house or houses does not exceed the amount payable at the date of the charge for such water supply by way of water rate or water rent, the Board of Agriculture (qq) may execute the charge upon such information as they think fit to require, and in such case the requirements of the principal Act (s) with respect to matters and proceedings previous to the execution of a charge shall not apply.

Extent of Act.

An Act to grant Moneys for the purpose of certain Local Loans, and to amend the Law respecting the Local Loans Fund and Loans made thereout, and for other purposes relating to Local Loans. [6th August 1897.]

AMENDMENT OF ACTS.

Reduction of interest on future local loans on the security of local rates.

1. The rates of interest at which loans may be made out of the Local Loans Fund on the security of local rates may be fixed by the Treasury, from time to time, having regard to the duration of the loans, and shall be such rates not less than two and three quarters per cent. per annum as in the opinion of the

By s. 81 of the Tithe Act, 1836, a rent-charge in lieu of tithes is recoverable by distress and by s. 82, in default of distress by delivery of the land charged in satisfaction.

Miscellaneous.

12.—(1) The expression "local rate" means any rate levied or assessed, the proceeds of which are applicable to public local purposes, and which is levied on the basis of a valuation of property, and includes any sum which, though obtained in the first instance by a precept, certificate, or other instrument requiring payment from some authority or officer, is or can be ultimately raised out of a rate as before defined. Definitions, repeal, construction, and short title.

(2) The expression "security of a local rate" includes a security guaranteed by any such local rate.

(3) This Act shall be deemed to be a special Act within the meaning of the Public Works Loans Act, 1875. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 89.

(4) [Repeal of Acts in Second Schedule] (v).

(5) This Act may be cited as "The Public Works Loans Act, 1897."

(u) This provision supersedes the provisions of s. 243 of the P. H. A., 1875, repealed by s. 12 (4), and the Second Schedule of this Act. Reference must be made to two later enactments, viz., By s. 4 of the Public Works Loans Act, 1917, it is enacted as follows: "Notwithstanding anything in any other Act the provisions of s. 1 of the Public Works Loans Act, 1897 (which relates to the rates of interest on future local loans on the security of local rates) shall apply to a loan made out of the local loans fund otherwise than on the security of local rates as they apply to a loan made out of that fund on such security, and where under any special Act any loan made out of the said fund is repayable by means of an annuity or rent-charge payable for any period the amount of the periodical payment on account of the annuity or rent-charge, and the redemption value of the loan, shall in the case of a loan made after the commencement of this Act be calculated by reference to the rate of interest payable in respect of the loan as fixed by the Treasury under the said section as amended by this section."

And by s. 4 of the Public Works Loans Act, 1918, it is enacted as follows: "For the purpose of removing doubts it is hereby declared that the power of the Treasury under s. 1 of the Public Works Loans Act, 1897, as amended by s. 4 of the Public Works Loans Act, 1917, to fix rates of interest on loans made out of the local loans fund otherwise than on the security of local rates includes (subject always to the provisions of the said sections) a power to fix rates of interest differing from the rates fixed for loans made out of that fund on the security of local rates, and a power to fix different rates of interest in respect of different loans, and that in fixing the rate of interest the Treasury may take into account the nature and value of the security for the loan."

(v) Sections 3, 12 (4), and Schedule II. are repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1908. They repealed two provisions germane to the matter in the text, viz., s. 3 of the Public Works Loans Act, 1879, and s. 243 of the P. H. A., 1875, from "at the rate of three and a half" down to "loss to the Exchequer."

(w) This removal of the limitation imposed by s. 3 of the Public Works Loans Act, 1879, does not, of course, affect that imposed by s. 234 (2) of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 527.

THE LOCOMOTIVES ACT, 1898.

(61 & 62 VICT. c. 29) (y).

An Act to amend the Law with respect to the use of Locomotives on Highways and with respect to Extraordinary Traffic. [2nd August 1898.]

Provisions as to the weight carried by waggons.

1.—(1) The council of a municipal borough as regards any highway situated in the borough, and the county council (z) as regards any highway situated in their county (z) but not in a borough, may permit any waggons (z) drawn or propelled by a locomotive (z) on the highway to carry weights in excess of those mentioned in section four of the Locomotive Act, 1861 (a).

24 & 25 Vict. c. 70.

(2) If any person without such permission uses any waggon drawn or propelled by a locomotive on any highway to carry weights in excess of those mentioned in section four of the Locomotive Act, 1861, as amended by this Act, or, being the owner of the waggon, permits it so to be used, that person shall be liable for each offence, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

(3) The proviso (b) to section four of the Locomotive Act, 1861, is hereby repealed and in lieu thereof it is enacted as follows:

Provided that the regulation of weight herein mentioned shall not extend to any waggon carrying only one block, plate, cable, roll, vessel of stone or metal, or other single article, being of greater weight than sixteen tons, but the fellies, tires, or shoes of such waggon shall not be less than eight inches in breadth, and any damage arising from the user of any such waggon shall be deemed to be damage caused by excessive weights within the meaning of section twenty-three of the Highways and Locomotives Amendment Act, 1878, as amended by this Act.

41 & 42 Vict. c. 77.

Weight of waggons to be affixed thereon.

2 (c). The weight unloaded of every waggon drawn or propelled by a locomotive shall be conspicuously and legibly affixed thereon, and every owner not having affixed such weight shall be liable for each offence, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding five pounds, and any owner who shall fraudulently affix thereon any incorrect weight shall be liable for each offence, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

Limit to number of waggons.

3.—(1) A locomotive shall not be used on any highway to draw more than three loaded waggons (d) (exclusive of any waggon solely used for

(y) This Act is inserted here as amending the Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878, ante, p. 1501. See also the Locomotives on Highways Act, 1896.

(z) See definition, s. 17, post, p. 1803.

(a) By s. 4 of the Locomotive Act, 1861, certain restrictions are placed on the weights which may be carried on any waggon drawn or propelled by a locomotive, and the maximum weight which is allowed to be borne upon each pair of wheels is fixed at four tons, or two tons to each wheel, an addition of one-sixth to the weight upon each pair of wheels being permitted where the waggon is constructed with springs upon each axle.

By the same section it is unlawful (subject to the regulations in the Act authorised to be made by local authorities) to drive any locomotive through any city, town, or village at a greater speed than two miles an hour. But it was held that this does not apply to a locomotive which is the property of the Crown and is being used by a servant of the Crown acting in obedience to his instruction for Crown purposes (Cooper v. Hawkins, [1904] 2 K. B. 164; 68 J. P. 25).

(b) This proviso rendered inapplicable the restrictions above mentioned where a waggon was carrying certain specified single articles.

(c) Cf. s. 12 of the Locomotive Act, 1861, and s. 7 of the Locomotives Act, 1865. It is not necessary that the name or residence of the owner should be affixed to the waggons. As to the liability of the owner of a locomotive who has let it out to an action for damages caused by the negligence of the hirer, see Smith v. Bailey, [1891] 2 Q. B. 403. See as to the meaning of "waggon," Smith v. Pickering, cited under s. 17 (1), post, p. 1103.

(d) Before this enactment no limit had been placed by law upon the number of waggons carrying water for the locomotive) without the consent, so far as regards highways situated in a municipal borough, of the council of the borough, and, so far as regards highways not so situated, of the county council.

(2) If any person uses a locomotive in contravention of this section, or being an owner of a locomotive permits it to be so used, that person shall be liable for each offence, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

Erection and use of weighing machines.

4.—(1) Road authorities shall have power to erect in their districts machines for weighing locomotives (e) and loaded waggons drawn by them, and shall have power by their servants to require the persons in charge of such locomotives and waggons to proceed thither for the purpose of having such locomotives and waggons weighed: Provided that the road authority making such requirement shall pay for any loss caused by the delay if the weight should be found to be within the limits authorised by law, and that any person in charge of a locomotive who refuses or neglects to comply with any such requirement shall be liable for each offence, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

(2) Where a road authority and the engine owner fail to agree as to the amount of compensation to be paid under this section, the differences between them shall be settled by arbitration under the Arbitration Act, 1889.

52 & 53 Vict. c. 49.

Where a road authority weighs locomotives and waggons under this section, a certificate of weight shall be given which shall exempt such locomotives and waggons from being weighed during the continuance of that journey.

(3) For the purposes of this section the council of any county borough and any district council may borrow under and subject to the provisions of the Public Health Act, 1875 (f).

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

Regulations for locomotives passing on highways (g).

5.—(1) When a locomotive is passing on any highway—

(a) two persons shall be employed in driving (h) or attending to the locomotive; and which might be drawn or propelled by a locomotive. See definition of "waggon" in 17, and Smith v. Pickering, cited thereunder, post, p. 1803. As to attendance, see 5 (1) (c), post, p. 1798.

Persons using a traction engine and trucks on a highway may be indicted for a nuisance they create a substantial obstruction and occasion inconvenience to the public greater an such as would arise from the use of carts and horses (R. v. Chittenden (1885), 49 J. P. 3; 15 Cox, C. C. 725).

(e) As to the limit of weight of locomotives, see s. 28 of the Highways and Locomotives mendment) Act, 1878, ante, p. 1514. That section does not apply to light locomotives, to which see the Locomotives on Highways Act, 1896.

(f) See ss. 233—244, ante, p. 521. Note that this sub-section does not extend to a unty council who can borrow for the like purpose under s. 69 of the L. G. A., 1888, as nended by the County Councils Mortgages Act, 1909.

(g) The regulations prescribed by this section are in addition to those prescribed by 3 of the Locomotives Act, 1865, s. 3 (so far as unrepealed), and those regulations are ted in note (i), post, p. 1798, and are enforceable under the like penalty as that imposed sub-s. (5) of this section. The owner is primâ facie made liable to the penalty, but under 13, post, so is the person in fact committing the offence, and the owner may exempt nself from the penalty on the conviction of the actual offender.

But for contraventions of byelaws under s. 6, post, p. 1799, the person in charge is made ble, not the owner under any circumstances unless actually himself in charge at the time. This section, it will be seen, only applies to locomotives on highways. Section 11 (1) of e Local Government (Emergency Provisions) Act, 1916, substituted for s. 5 (1) of this t, s. 25 (1) of the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1908, as to the construction whereof Morgan v. Ennion (1920), 84 J. P. 205. As to the erection and use of steam engines ar, but not on, highways, see s. 70 of the Highway Act, 1835; s. 6 of the Locomotives t, 1865; the Locomotive Threshing Engines Act, 1894, and Harrison v. Leaper (1862), J. P. 373.

(h) By s. 3 of the Locomotives Act, 1865, the drivers of such locomotives shall give much space as possible for the passing of other traffic.

(b) in the case of any locomotive not being a steam roller another person shall be employed to accompany the locomotive in such a manner as to be able to give assistance to any person with horses (i) or carriages drawn by horses meeting or overtaking the locomotive, and shall give such assistance when required; and

(c) when a locomotive is drawing more than three waggons (k), another person shall be employed for the purpose of attending to the waggons.

Provided that it shall not be necessary in the case of two locomotive ploughing engines (kk) (including their necessary gear) closely following one another, to employ more than five persons in all under the foregoing enactment, but one of these persons shall be employed to accompany the engines, and give assistance in manner thereby required.

(2) So long as the fires of a locomotive are alight, or the locomotive contains in itself sufficient motive power to move it, one person shall remain in attendance while it is on any highway although it is stationary.

(3) The lights required (l) to be carried on a locomotive, whether stationary or passing on any highway, shall be carried between the hours of one hour after sunset and one hour before sunrise during the six months beginning the first day of April in any year, and between sunset and sunrise (m) during the six months beginning the first day of October in any year, and there shall be carried in addition during those hours an efficient red light on the rear of the locomotive, or if it is drawing waggons on the rear of the last waggon fixed in such a manner as to be conspicuous.

(4) Every light carried on a locomotive, or on a waggon drawn by a locomotive, shall be fitted with such shutters or other contrivances as will enable the light to be temporarily screened in an effective manner.

(5) If any of the provisions of this section are not complied with in the case of any locomotive, the owner of the locomotive shall be liable for each offence, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

(i) By s. 3 of the Locomotives Act, 1865, it is further provided (apparently with a view to guard against accidents with horses) that the whistle of the locomotive shall not be sounded for any purpose whatever; nor shall the cylinder taps be opened within sight of any person riding, driving, leading, or in charge of a horse upon the road; nor shall the steam be allowed to attain a pressure such as to exceed the limit fixed by the safety valve, so that no steam shall blow off when the locomotive is upon the road. And every locomotive shall be instantly stopped on the person preceding the same, or any other person with a horse, or carriage drawn by a horse, putting up his hand as a signal to require the locomotive to be stopped.

In reference to this last regulation note that there is now since the repeal of s. 29 of the Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878, by this Act no regulation requiring any of the persons in attendance on the locomotive while in motion to precede the locomotive by any specific distance or at all. The effect of art. 3 of the Heavy Motor Car Order, 1904, is that a vehicle propelled by mechanical power, if it is under five tons in weight unloaded, is a light locomotive within the meaning of the Locomotives on Highways Act, 1896, s. 1 (1). A person cannot therefore be convicted under this section for not having three men in attendance on the locomotive inasmuch as by s. 17 (2) of this Act nothing in this Act is to affect light locomotives within the meaning of the Act of 1896 (Evans v. Nicholl, [1909] 1 K. B. 778; 73 J. P. 154).

As to the liability of the owner of the locomotive in cases where horses damage themselves or carriages, etc., see Jeffery v. St. Pancras Vestry (1894), 63 L. J. Q. B. 618; and for personal injuries, see Watkins v. Reddin (1861), 2 F. & F. 629.

(k) See s. 3, ante, p. 1796.

(kk) See Williams v. Wood (1914), 78 J. P. 221.

(l) By s. 3 of the Locomotives Act, 1865, the person in charge of the locomotive shall provide two efficient lights to be affixed conspicuously, one at each side, on the front of the same. This sub-section, it will be seen, also requires a red light on the rear.

(m) By local time, not by Greenwich mean time. See Gordon v. Cann (1899), 68 L. J. Q. B. 434; 63 J. P. 324.

Restriction of locomotive traffic by byelaw (n).

6.—(1) The council of a county and of any borough containing, according to the census of one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one, a population of ten thousand or upwards, may by byelaw—

(a) prohibit or restrict the use of locomotives on any specified highway in their county or borough on account of the highway being crowded or unfitted for locomotive traffic, or of the inconvenience caused to inhabitants, or of any other reasonable cause; and

(b) regulate the use of locomotives and of waggons drawn by locomotives on any highway; and

(c) prohibit or restrict the use of a locomotive on any specified bridge in their county or borough, if they are satisfied that such bridge is unsuited for locomotive traffic, or that such use would be attended with damage to the bridge (o) or danger to the public.

Provided that the council of any such county or borough may, where their byelaw prohibits the use of locomotives on any highway, give special authority for the use of a locomotive on the highway, if in any case it appears necessary for the purpose of the delivery of goods or for any other particular purpose. Provided also that the council of any such county or borough shall not give any such special authority for the use of a locomotive on any bridge except with the consent of the person liable to the repair of such bridge, and the council of any such county or borough may with such consent give such special authority subject to payment being made by the person applying for such special authority to the person liable to the repair of such bridge of the cost of temporarily strengthening such bridge on each occasion of such use.

(n) This section takes the place of s. 31 of the Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878, repealed by this Act, but as to byelaws made under the repealed enactment, see s. 18 (2), post, p. 1804. In Cadenhead v. Smart (1895), 22 Ct. of Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) (J. C.) 1, it was held under the Scotch enactments corresponding to that enactment that a byelaw prohibiting any waggon attached to any locomotive for carrying more than five tons weight over and above the weight of the waggon from being on any road within the district of the road authority, except on leave granted after special application to the road surveyor, was ultra vires, on the ground that the Act of 1878 was passed for enabling authorities to deal with particular cases on their merits, and not to issue general regulations closing every road and every bridge within the district to locomotive traffic which was permissible under the Act of 1861. See Morgan v. Ennion (1920), 84 J. P. 205, in which the validity of byelaws was upheld.

Light locomotives were exempted from the operation of s. 31 of the Act of 1878, by the Locomotives on Highways Act, 1896. As to byelaws applicable to such locomotives, see s. 1 (1) (a) of that Act.

Byelaws made under the present section may vary the limits of speed laid down by s. 4 of the Locomotives Act, 1865. See as to that section, L. & S. W. Rail. Co. v. Myers (1881), 45 J. P. 731.

As to the non-liability of the Crown, see Cooper v. Hawkins, ante, p. 1796. And see Chare v. Hart (1918), 83 J. P. 54.

The provisions of this section do not affect or destroy the common law liability of a person using a locomotive upon a highway to abstain from using it so as to create a public nuisance. As to how far it is a defence to an action for an injunction to restrain a nuisance that the nuisance was caused by the neglect of the authority to fulfil their duty to keep the road in repair, see Att.-Gen. v. Scott (No. 1), [1904] 1 K. B. 404; 68 J. P. 137. But in order to maintain such an action it must be proved that the nuisance was in fact due to the user of the locomotive (Att.-Gen. v. Scott (No. 2), [1905] 2 K. B. 160; 69 J. P. 109). See also Cavan C. C. and Bailieborough R. D. C. v. Kane Brothers, [1913] 2 I. R. 250. If by the use of an exceptionally heavy locomotive on the highway damage is done to water mains sufficiently strong and well laid to withstand the pressure of the ordinary traffic of the district, the owner of the locomotive is liable for the damage (Chichester Corporation v. Foster, [1906] 1 K. B. 167; 70 J. P. 73).

(o) As to the liability of the owner of the locomotive for damage to any bridge, see s. 7 of the Locomotive Act, 1861. That section, however, does not extend to county bridges (R. v. Kitchener (1874), L. R. 2 C. C. R. 88). In the case of damage to a county bridge, if there is any remedy against the owner of the locomotive, it may be by action or by proceedings under the Bridges Act, 1803, or by mandamus.

(2) If any person in charge of a locomotive (p) acts in contravention of any byelaw under this section, and without any such special authority, he shall be liable for each offence, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding five pounds.

(3) Any byelaw made under this section shall be subject to confirmation by the [Ministry of Transport] (q) and sections one hundred and eighty-four, one hundred and eighty-five, and one hundred and eighty-six of the Public Health Act, 1875 (which relate to the confirmation, printing, and evidence of byelaws), shall accordingly apply to any byelaws under this section as they apply to byelaws made by a local authority under this Act. Provided that, in addition to the notice of intention to apply for confirmation of any byelaw which is required by section one hundred and eighty-four of the said Act, notice of such intention shall in the case of any byelaw made under this section be given in the London Gazette one month at least before making the application.

38 & 39 Vict c. 55.

(4) The [Ministry of Transport] (q) in connexion with the confirmation of any byelaw under this section shall have all proper regard to the necessities of through locomotive traffic, and of persons who own or use locomotives, and shall consider any representations made to them by any local authority concerned, and shall also have regard to the advantage of byelaws being uniform in adjoining areas except where uniformity is, in their opinion, made inexpedient by difference in the circumstances of the areas.

(5) The mayor, aldermen, and commons of the city of London may make byelaws under this section as to the city of London in the same manner as the council of a borough.

(6) For the purpose of byelaws under this section, a borough, the council of which may make such byelaws, shall not form part of the administrative county in which it is situate.

Appeal against restrictions on passing over bridges.

7.—(1) Where the owner of a locomotive is aggrieved by any restriction or prohibition placed, either before or after the passing of this Act, on the passing of locomotives over any bridge (s), either under section six of the Locomotive Act, 1861 (t), or under any byelaw made under this Act, or any enactment repealed by this Act, that owner may appeal to the [Ministry of Transport] (q), and that [Ministry], if they consider that the bridge is sufficient to bear the weight of locomotives, and that there is no other reasonable cause for imposing the restriction or prohibition, may order the restriction

24 & 25 Vict. c. 70.

(p) Note that the person in charge is the proper person to be summoned for a breach of byelaws under this section, and not the owner of the locomotive, unless he was at the time himself in charge.

(q) The powers and duties of the L. G. B. were transferred to the Ministry of Transport by the Ministry of Transport Act, 1919, and the Order in Council made thereunder. See also note (tt), post, p. 1801.

(s) Except the Menai Bridge. See s. 16, post. As to light locomotives on the Menai Bridge, see the Light Locomotives (Menai Bridge) Order, 1897 (Stat. R. & O., 1897, p. 452). The Act does not expressly apply to a "culvert," though it is sometimes difficult to distinguish between a bridge and a culvert.

(t) Section 6 of the Locomotive Act, 1861, prohibits the owner or driver of a locomotive from driving it over a suspension bridge, or over any bridge on which a conspicuous notice has been placed by the authority of the surveyor or persons liable to the repair of the bridge, that the bridge is insufficient to carry weights beyond the ordinary traffic of the district, without previously obtaining the consent of the surveyor of the road, or the bridgemaster in charge of the bridge, or of the persons liable to the repair of the bridge. As to the extent of the liability of a canal company at the present day in respect to a bridge built many years ago, see Sharpness New Docks and Gloucester and Birmingham Navigation Co. v. Att.-Gen., [1915] A. C. 654; and as to a railway company, see Att.-Gen. v. G. N. Rail. Co., [1916] 2 A. C. 356; Lloyd v. Ross, [1913] 2 K. B. 332.

or prohibition to be removed, or, if they consider that it may reasonably be varied in any respect, to be varied.

(2) The authority by whom a restriction or prohibition has been imposed shall comply within a time to be specified in the order with any order of the [Ministry of Transport] (tt) made under this section.

(3) The [Ministry of Transport] (tt) may determine any appeal under this section either as arbitrators or otherwise at their option, and, where they determine any such appeal as arbitrators, section sixty-three of the Local Government Act, 1888, as amended by the Local Government (Determination of Differences) Act, 1896 (a), shall apply for the purpose. 51 & 52 Vict. c. 41. 59 & 60 Vict. c. 9.

(4) An order of the [Ministry of Transport] (tt) under this section with regard to any bridge shall not prevent the imposition of any restriction or prohibition with regard to the bridge at a future time, if the authority having power to impose the restriction or prohibition consider that it is necessary to do so, having regard to any change in the circumstances of the bridge or the traffic, but the imposition of any such restriction or prohibition shall be subject to appeal under this section.

(5) The [Ministry of Transport] (tt) may refuse to consider any appeal under this section with regard to any bridge if the question raised by the appeal has been already considered by them either on the confirmation of a byelaw or under a former appeal.

(6) In the case of any bridge which a railway company is liable to repair, the Board of Trade (tt) shall be substituted for the [Ministry of Transport] (tt), and this section shall be read and construed accordingly.

8. No locomotive shall be taken across any bridge so as to meet or pass any other locomotive upon such bridge, and any person who acts in contravention of this section shall be subject, on summary conviction, to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for every offence. Locomotives not to meet on a bridge.

12.—(1) Section twenty-three of the Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878 (c) (which relates to the recovery of expenses of extraordinary traffic) (c), shall be amended as follows :— Amendments as to proceedings for extraordinary traffic damage.

(a) Expenses under that section shall cease to be recoverable in a summary manner, but may be recovered if not exceeding two hundred and fifty pounds in the county court, and if exceeding that sum in the High Court (d).

(tt) The Local Government Board was superseded by the Ministry of Health, but the powers of that Government Department in relation to bridges have now passed to the Ministry of Transport (Ministry of Transport Act, 1919, and the Orders in Council made thereunder). See now also the right of appeal as to bridges given by s. 11 of the Ministry of Transport Act, 1919. The powers of the Board of Trade in relation to Bridges have also now passed to the Ministry of Transport (Ministry of Transport Act, 1919, and the Orders in Council made thereunder).

(a) Ante, pp. 773, 1002.

(b) This and the two following sections were repealed by s. 20 (3) and Third Schedule to the Roads Act, 1920. See s. 14 of the last-mentioned Act.

(c) Ante, p. 1506. Reference should be made to the notes to that section.

(d) Although less than £250 is recovered in an action brought in the High Court, the Judge may certify for costs on the High Court scale (Chesterfield R. D. C. v. Newton, [1904] 1 K. B. 62 ; 68 J. P. 33). No action lies in the High Court where the amount claimed is less than £250 (Ripon R. D. C. v. Armitage, [1919] 1 K. B. 559 ; 83 J. P. 112). An action lies in the county court to recover expenses of extraordinary traffic not exceeding £250 caused by light locomotives within the meaning of s. 1 of the Locomotives on Highways Act, 1896, as extended by the Heavy Motor Car Order, 1904 (R. v. Judge James and Midland Rail. Co., ex parte Bath R. D. C., [1908] 1 K. B. 958 ; 72 J. P. 67).

(b) Proceedings for the recovery of any expenses incurred after the passing of this Act shall be commenced within twelve months of the time at which the damage has been done, or where the damage is the consequence of any particular building contract, or work extending over a long period, shall be commenced not later than six months after the completion of the contract or work (f).

(c) There shall be substituted for the words "by whose order" the words "by or in consequence of whose order" (g).

(2) [Saving for proceedings already commenced.]

Power of owner of locomotive to exempt himself from fine on the conviction of the actual offender.

13.—(1) Where an offence under any Act or byelaw relating to locomotives on highways for which the owner of a locomotive or waggon is liable to a penalty, has, in fact, been committed by some servant, workman, or other person, that servant, workman, or other person shall be liable to the same penalty as if he were the owner.

(f) When the expenses were recoverable in a summary manner the limitation under s. 11 of the S. J. A., 1848, was applicable; but the time ran from the date of the surveyor's certificate (Pool and Forden Highway Board v. Gunning (1882), 51 L. J. M. C. 49; 46 J. P. 708), which might be given at any time, and comprise expenditure incurred over any number of years previous. See Whitebread v. Sevenoaks Highway Board, [1892] 1 Q. B. 8; 56 J. P. 214. But this enactment now alters the effect of that decision. See the notes to s. 23 of the Act of 1878, ante, p. 1506, and per EVE, J., in Weston-super-Mare U. D. C. v. Henry Butt & Co., [1919] 1 Ch. at p. 21. It would seem, however, that notwithstanding this enactment, the decision in Story v. Sheard, [1892] 2 Q. B. 515; 56 J. P. 760, is still applicable, and that no proceedings can be taken against the executor of the person by or in consequence of whose order the traffic was conducted.

The "completion of the contract" means its completion so far as relates to the work causing the damage which gives rise to the action, not the completion of the contract as between the parties (Lancaster R. D. C. v. Fisher and Le Fanu, [1907] 2 K. B. 516; 71 J. P. 401). Where, therefore, in the case of a contract for the construction of a watertight reservoir, a county court judge found as a fact that the contract was completed not at the date when the water was first let into the reservoir, but at the date when the reservoir was finally rendered watertight, and the action to recover the expenses occasioned by the extraordinary traffic was brought within six months of the latter date, the Court of Appeal held that the whole of such expenses were recoverable at whatever date the damage was caused (Reigate R. D. C. v. Sutton District Water Co. (1909), 78 L. J. K. B. 315; 73 J. P. 161). The words "building contract" mean the contract for the building of any physical construction and the term "completion of the contract" means completion so far as concerns the constructional work comprised therein (Carlisle R. D. C. v. Carlisle Corporation, [1909] 1 K. B. 471; 73 J. P. 121, the facts of which are set out, ante, p. 1510). No action can be brought in any case until the expenses alleged to be extraordinary have been actually incurred (Little Hulton U. D. C. v. Jackson (1904), 2 L. G. R. 986; 68 J. P. 451).

As to the meaning of "particular work extending over a long period," see cases cited, ante, p. 1509, and particularly Norfolk C. C. v. Green (1904), 68 J. P. 223; 90 L. T. 451; and Bromley R. D. C. v. Croydon Corporation, [1908] 1 K. B. 353; 72 J. P. 17.

The Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893, does not apply to an action brought under this section against a public authority to recover expenses of extraordinary traffic, for which the public authority is responsible, where the damage has been done by persons under a contract with the public authority to haul stones for a scheme of public improvement which is being carried out by the public authority (Kent C. C. v. Folkestone Corporation, [1905] 1 K. B. 620; 69 J. P. 125).

(g) See judgment of LOPES, L.J., in Kent C. C. v. Lord Gerard, [1897] 1 Q. B. 351; 61 J. P. 67. The effect of this enactment seems to be to alter the law, so as to make it in accordance with the views of the learned Lord Justice. In Bromley R. D. C. v. Croydon Corporation, supra, a municipal corporation requiring road material for the general purposes of the maintenance and construction of roads within their district, entered into contracts with two contractors, whereby the contractors agreed to supply and deliver to the corporation during the twelve months from March 31st, 1904, to March 31st, 1905, flints and ragstone, in such quantities and numbers at such times, and in such manner as the corporation should from time to time by order in writing direct. Held that the traffic caused by haulage of the stones was in consequence of the orders of the corporation. See also Reigate R. D. C. v. Sutton District Water Co. (1907), 71 J. P. 405; Kent C. C. v. Kent Coal Concessions, Ltd. (1909), 73 J. P. 305; 25 T. L. R. 479; Windlesham U. D. C. v. Seward (1913), 77 J. P. 161.

(2) Where the owner is charged with any such offence, he shall be entitled upon information duly laid by him to have any other person whom he charges as the actual offender brought before the court at the time appointed for hearing the charge, and if, after the commission of the offence has been proved, the owner proves to the satisfaction of the court that he had used due diligence to enforce the execution of the Act, and that the other person had committed the offence in question without the owner's knowledge, consent, or connivance, that other person shall be summarily convicted of the offence, and the owner shall be exempt from any fine (h).

Action of county councils.

14. For the purposes of this Act (i) the council of a county or borough may act through their surveyor or other authorized officer.

Inquiries by inspectors of [Ministry of Transport] (k).

15.—(1) The [Ministry of Transport] (k) may direct any inquiries to be held by their inspectors which they may deem necessary in regard to the exercise of any of their powers under this Act, and the [Ministry] and their inspectors shall for the purposes of any such inquiry have the same powers as they respectively have for the purpose of an inquiry under the Public Health Act, 1875 (kk).

(2) The expenses incurred by the [Ministry of Transport] (k) in respect of inquiries under this Act shall be paid by such authorities and persons, and out of such funds and rates as the [Ministry] may by order direct, and the [Ministry] may certify the amount of the expenses so incurred, and any sum so certified and directed by the [Ministry] to be paid by any authority or person shall be a debt from that authority or person to the Crown (l).

(3) Such expenses may include the salary of any inspector or officer of the [Ministry] engaged in the inquiry, not exceeding three guineas a day.

For the protection of the Menai Bridge.

16. No locomotive to which this Act applies shall be driven over the Menai Bridge when prohibited by notice exhibited thereon by the authority of the Commissioners of her Majesty's Works and Public Buildings, and nothing in section seven of this Act shall have any application to such bridge.

If any person in charge of a locomotive acts in contravention of this section, he shall be liable for each offence, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding five pounds.

Interpretation and saving.

17.—(1) In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

The expression "county" means an administrative county, and includes a county borough;

The expressions "council of a county" and "county council" include the council of a county borough;

In the case of a county borough the expression "chairman" includes the mayor, and the expression "county fund" includes borough fund;

The expression "locomotive" means a locomotive propelled by steam or other than animal power (ll);

The expression "waggon" includes any truck, cart, carriage, or other vehicle (lll);

(h) Compare ss. 140 and 141 of the Factory and Workshop Act, 1901, post, p. 1902, and s. 5 of the Margarine Act, 1887, ante, p. 1631. But it is doubtful whether the actual offender can be made liable to pay costs incidental to the proceeding, there being no enactment to that effect in this Act in terms similar to those of s. 141 (1) (b) of the Factory and Workshop Act, 1901.

(i) To give permission under s. 1, or consent under s. 3, or possibly also, special authority under s. 6; but surely not to make byelaws under s. 6 or grant licences under s. 9.

(k) See note (tt) on p. 1801, ante.

(kk) See s. 296, ante, p. 629, also ss. 20 and 21 of the Poor Law Board Act, 1847.

(lll) A threshing machine and a straw-pressing machine were held to be waggons in Smith v. Pickering, [1915] 1 K. B. 326.

The expression "agricultural locomotive" (m) includes—

(a) any locomotive used solely for threshing, ploughing, or any other agricultural purpose; and

(b) any locomotive, the property of one or more owners or occupiers of agricultural land employed solely for the purposes of their farms, and not let out on hire.

(2) Nothing in this Act shall affect light locomotives within the meaning of the Locomotives of Highways Act, 1896 (n).

59 & 60 Vict. c. 36.

(3) The mayor, aldermen, and commons of the city of London shall have the same powers with regard to the licensing and registration of locomotives in the city of London as the council of a county have in their county, and shall apply as part of their income any fees or other money received in connection with such powers.

18. [Repeal of Acts in schedule] (o).

Repeal.

(2) Provided that such repeal shall not effect any byelaws made under any enactment mentioned in the said schedule, so far as the same relate to preventing the use of locomotives upon bridges, or for a period of twelve months from the passing of this Act any other byelaws made under any such enactment (o), except so far as the same may be repealed or altered by byelaws made under this Act.

(3) (o).

Short title.

REPEALS.

THE RIVERS POLLUTION PREVENTION (BORDER COUNCILS) ACT, 1898.

(61 & 62 VICT. c. 34) (p).

An Act to enable the County Councils on either side of the Border to act together for the Prevention of the Pollution of Rivers. [2nd August 1898.]

Provision for enforcement of 39 & 40 Vict. c. 75 in Border counties.

1. Where a river or tributary thereof is situate partly in England and partly in Scotland (q), the Local Government Board (qq) for England and the Secretary for Scotland, by Provisional Order made on the application of the

(m) This definition was repealed by s. 20 (3) and Third Schedule to the Roads Act, 1920. This repeal was consequent on the repeal of s. 9.

(n) This means that nothing in this Act is to affect light locomotives as distinguished from other vehicles, but it does not mean that light locomotives as far as they have characteristics in common with other vehicles (one of which is that they may cause extraordinary traffic) are not to be dealt with by the new procedure under s. 12 (1), ante, R. v. Judge James and Midland Rail. Co., ex parte Bath R. D. C., [1908] 1 K. B. 958; 72 J. P. 67. And see Evans v. Nicholl, ante, p. 1798.

(o) Sections 18 (1), 21, italicised words in s. 18 (2), and Schedule repealed by S. L. R. A., 1908. Sub-section (3) repealed by s. 20 (3) and Third Schedule to the Roads Act, 1920.

(p) See the Rivers Pollution Prevention Acts, 1876 and 1893, ante, pp. 1473, 1772.

(q) As to rivers wholly in England, see L. G. A., 1888, s. 14 (2), ante, p. 750.

council of any of the counties concerned, may together constitute a joint committee or other body representing all or any of the counties through or by which such river or any specified portion or tributary thereof passes, and may confer on such committee or body all of the powers of a sanitary authority under the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, or such of them as may be specified in the order; and the order may contain such provisions respecting the constitution and proceedings of the said committee or body as may seem proper, and may provide for the payment of the expenses of such committee or body by the counties represented by it, and for the audit of the accounts of such committee or body and their officers. 39 & 40 Vict. c. 75.

2. Section two hundred and ninety-seven of the Public Health Act, 1875 (r) which relates to the making of Provisional Orders by the Local Government Board), shall apply for the purposes of this Act as if the same was herein re-enacted, and in terms made applicable thereto, but with the substitution for the words "Local Government Board" of the words "Local Government Board (rr) for England and Secretary for Scotland." Application of 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55, s. 297.

3. In this Act the term "county" means, as regards England, an administrative county (s), and includes a county borough (t), and means, as regards Scotland, a county or burgh as defined by the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1889. Interpretation of "county." 52 & 53 Vict. c. 50.

THE LIBRARIES OFFENCES ACT, 1898.

(61 & 62 VICT. c. 53) (u).

An Act to provide for the Punishment of Offences in Libraries.

[12th August 1898.]

1. This Act may be cited as "The Libraries Offences Act, 1898." Short title.

2. Any person who, in any library or reading-room to which this Act applies, to the annoyance or disturbance of any person using the same,— Penalty for offences.

(1) behaves in a disorderly manner;

(2) uses violent, abusive, or obscene language;

(r) Ante, p. 629.

(rr) Now Ministry of Health.

(s) Defined by the L. G. A., 1888, s. 100, ante, p. 784.

(u) See the Public Libraries Act, 1892, ante, p. 1762. By s. 15 of that Act, ante, p. 1765, the general management, regulation, and control of libraries under that Act was vested in the library authority, but there was no power to enforce their regulations by any penalty except, perhaps, by expulsion or exclusion from the library. Actual breach of the peace in a library was, and still is, punishable in the ordinary way. It is doubtful, however, whether a library is a public place within the meaning of s. 12 of the Licensing Act, 1872, as to drunk and disorderly persons. Profane swearing, whether in a library or not, would be punishable under the Profane Oaths Act, 1745. Obscene language might be punishable in some cases under byelaws (Mantle v. Jordan, [1897] 1 Q. B. 248; 61 J. P. 309; Brabham v. Wookey (1902), 18 T. L. R. 99; Airton v. Scott (1909), 100 L. T. 393; 73 J. P. 148). A library is probably not a "public place" or "place of public resort" within the meaning of the Vagrancy Act, 1824, s. 4 (as to indecent exhibitions or exposure), or an "open and public place" within the Vagrant Act Amendment Act, 1873, s. 3 (as to gaming in a public place). See Langrish v. Archer (1883), 10 Q. B. D. 44; 47 J. P. 295. And, of course, apart from this Act, remaining in a library after closing hours was a mere trespass, unless some unlawful purpose, sufficient to bring the case within s. 4 of the Vagrancy Act, 1824, could be proved, as to which, see Haynes or Hayes v. Stephenson (1861), 25 J. P. 329; 3 L. T. 296.

(3) bets or gambles;

(4) or who, after proper warning, persists in remaining therein beyond the hours fixed for the closing of such library or reading-room, shall be liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

Application of Act. 56 & 57 Vict. c. 39. 59 & 60 Vict. c. 25.

3. This Act shall apply—

(a) to any library (x) under the Public Libraries Act, 1892; and

(b) to any library or reading-room maintained by a society registered under the Industrial and Provident Societies Act, 1893, or under the Friendly Societies Act, 1896, or by any registered trade union.

Extent of Act.

4. This Act shall not apply to Scotland or Ireland.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHTING (CLAUSES) ACT, 1899.

(62 & 63 VICT. c. 19) (y).

An Act for incorporating in one Act certain provisions usually contained in Provisional Orders under the Acts relating to Electric Lighting.

[9th August 1899.]

Provisions in Schedule to be incorporated in Electric Lighting Orders.

1. The provisions (z) contained in the Schedule to this Act shall be incorporated with and form part of every provisional order made by the [Minister of Transport] after the commencement of this Act under the Electric Lighting Acts, save so far as they are expressly varied or excepted by the order, and shall, subject to any such variations or exceptions, apply, so far as applicable, to the undertaking authorised by the order.

The said provisions shall also, with the necessary modifications, and in particular with the substitution of the words "special Act" for "special order," be incorporated with any special Act, save so far as they are expressly varied or excepted thereby.

45 & 46 Vict. c. 56. 51 & 52 Vict. c. 12. 53 & 54 Vict. c. 13.

The expression "Electric Lighting Acts" means in this Act the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 and 1888, and, so far as respects Scotland, the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 and 1888, and the Electric Lighting (Scotland) Act, 1890.

The expression "special Act" means in this Act any Act passed after the commencement of this Act authorising the supply of electricity for any public or private purposes within any area.

Short title, extent, and commencement.

2.—(1) This Act may be cited as "The Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899."

(2) Except so far as any of the provisions contained in the Schedule to this Act are incorporated with any provisional order made by the [Minister of Transport] under the Electric Lighting Acts extending to the county of London, or with any special Acts so extending, this Act shall not apply to the county of London.

(3) This Act shall come into operation on the first day of October, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

(x) The application of this Act is extended by the Public Libraries Act, 1901, s. 4, post, to any museum, art gallery, or school, provided under the Public Libraries Act, 1892, s. 11, ante, p. 1764.

(y) See the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 and 1888, ante, pp. 1565, 1636, and the Electric Lighting Act, 1909, post. See also the Electricity Supply Acts, 1919 and 1922, post. The powers and duties of the Board of Trade under these Acts were transferred to the Minister of Transport by s. 39 of the Electricity Supply Act, 1919, and the Ministry of Transport (Electricity Supply) Order, 1920, as from 23rd January, 1920.

(z) See note to 45 & 46 Vict. c. 56, s. 6, ante, p. 1568.

SCHEDULE.

1. The provisions of this Schedule are to be read and construed subject in all respects to the provisions of the Electric Lighting Acts, and of any other Acts or parts of Acts incorporated therewith, and those Acts and parts of Acts are in this Schedule collectively referred to as "the principal Act"; and the several words, terms, and expressions to which by the principal Act meanings are assigned, shall have in this Schedule the same respective meanings, provided that in this Schedule— Interpretation.

The expression "the special order" means any provisional order made by the [Minister of Transport] under the principal Act with which the provisions of this Schedule are incorporated and includes those provisions as so incorporated:

The expression "energy" means electrical energy, and for the purposes of applying the provisions of the principal Act to the special order electrical energy shall be deemed to be an agency within the meaning of electricity as defined in the Electric Lighting Act, 1882 (a):

The expression "power" means electrical power or the rate per unit of time at which energy is supplied:

The expression "main" means any electric line which may be laid down by the undertakers in any street or public place, and through which energy may be supplied or intended to be supplied by the undertakers for the purposes of general supply:

The expression "service line" means any electric line through which energy may be supplied or intended to be supplied by the undertakers to a consumer either from any main or directly from the premises of the undertakers:

The expression "distributing main" means the portion of any main which is used for the purpose of giving origin to service lines for the purposes of general supply:

The expression "general supply" means the general supply of energy to ordinary consumers, and includes, unless otherwise specially agreed with the local authority, the general supply of energy to the public lamps, where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, but shall not include the supply of energy to any one or more particular consumers under special agreement:

The expression "area of supply" means the area within which the undertakers are, for the time being, authorised to supply energy under the special order:

The expression "county council" means the county council of the county in which the area of supply is situated:

The expression "consumer" means any body or person supplied or entitled to be supplied with energy by the undertakers:

The expression "consumer's terminals" means the ends of the electric lines situate upon any consumer's premises and belonging to him, at which the supply of energy is delivered from the service lines:

The expression "telegraphic line," when used with respect to any telegraphic line of the Postmaster-General, has the same meaning as in the Telegraph Act, 1878 (b), and any such telegraphic line shall be deemed to be injuriously affected where telegraphic communication by means of that line is, whether through induction or otherwise, in any manner affected: 41 & 42 Vict. c. 76.

The expression "railway" includes any tramroad, that is to say, any tramway other than a tramway as hereinafter defined:

The expression "tramway" means any tramway laid along any street:

The expression "daily penalty" means a penalty for each day on which any offence is continued after conviction therefor:

The expression "Board of Trade regulations" means any regulations or conditions affecting the undertaking made by the [Minister of Transport] under the

(a) See 45 & 46 Vict. c. 56, s. 32, ante, p. 1580.

(b) By s. 2 of the Telegraph Act, 1878, the expression "telegraphic line" means telegraphs, posts, and any work within the meaning of the Telegraph Act, 1863, and also any cables, apparatus, pneumatic or other tube, pipe, or thing whatsoever used for the purpose of transmitting telegraphic messages or maintaining telegraphic communication, and includes any portion of a telegraphic line as defined by this Act. By s. 3 of the Telegraph Act, 1863, the term "work" includes telegraphs and posts.

principal Act or the special order, for securing the safety of the public or for insuring a proper and sufficient supply of energy:

The expression "deposited map" means the map of the area of supply deposited at the [Ministry of Transport] by the undertakers together with the special order, and signed by an assistant secretary to the [Ministry of Transport]:

The expression "plan" means a plan drawn to a horizontal scale of at least one inch to eighty-eight feet, and where possible a section drawn to the same horizontal scale as the plan and to a vertical scale of at least one inch to eleven feet, or to such other scale as the [Ministry of Transport] may approve of for both plan and section, together with such detail plan and sections as may be necessary.

PROVISIONS AS TO UNDERTAKERS.

Description of undertakers.

2.—(1) The undertakers shall be the authority, company, or other person named for that purpose in the special order.

(2) If, in a case where the undertakers are not the local authority, the undertaking or any part thereof is at any time purchased by the local authority in accordance with the special order or the principal Act the local authority shall from the date on which the purchase takes effect be the undertakers in relation to the undertaking or part thereof for the purposes of the special order in lieu of the persons mentioned therein as undertakers.

Undertakers not to purchase other undertakings.

3.—(1) The undertakers shall not purchase or acquire the undertaking of or associate (c) themselves with any company or person supplying energy under any licence, provisional order, or special Act, unless the undertakers are authorised by Parliament to do so (d).

(2) If in contravention of this section the undertakers purchase or acquire any such undertaking, or associate (c) themselves with any such other company or person the [Ministry of Transport] may, if they think fit, revoke the special order upon such terms as they think just.

AREA OF SUPPLY.

Area of supply and prohibition of supply beyond area.

4.—(1) The area of supply shall be the area named for that purpose in the special order.

(2) The undertakers shall not at any time after the commencement of the special order supply energy or (except for the purposes of that order) erect or lay down any electric lines or works beyond the area of supply otherwise than under the authority of Parliament, or under a licence granted by the [Ministry of Transport] under the principal Act (e).

(3) If the undertakers supply energy or erect or lay down electric lines or works in contravention of this section, the [Ministry of Transport] may, if they think fit, revoke the special order on such terms as they think just (f).

(c) This prohibition against "association" does not prohibit undertakers from taking a supply of electricity in bulk from any company or persons authorised to give such a supply: see Electric Lighting Act, 1909, s. 20, post. But see now the provisions of the Electricity Supply Acts, 1919 and 1922, post, as to the creation of electricity districts and the constitution of joint electricity authorities.

(d) See the Electric Lighting Act, 1888, s. 2, ante, p. 1636.

(e) The prohibition does not operate merely in connection with and relation to the particular area in question, but is of universal application, so that the undertakers may be restrained by injunction from carrying on business and supplying energy in any other place whatsoever, however far removed from the area of supply, and although such business is carried on and supply furnished quite independently of any of the special statutory powers of the undertakers (Att.-Gen. v. Metropolitan Electric Supply Co., [1905] 1 Ch. 757; 69 J. P. 169).

Of late years it has become a common practice to include in special Acts of local authorities a section authorising them to supply electricity in bulk to adjoining districts. As to connecting two areas of supply under the London Electric Supply Act, 1908, see Battersea Borough Council v. County of London Electric Supply Co., Ltd., [1913] 2 Ch. 248; 77 J. P. 297, 325.

(f) Energy is supplied at the point where it is consumed. See Gaslight and Coke Co. v. South Metropolitan Gas Co., ante, p. 365. And see note (n), ante, p. 1221.

Security and Accounts (g).

pplication of Money and Purchase of Land, etc., by Local Authority.

7. Where a local authority are the undertakers the following provisions shall have ffect :— Application of money received by local authority as undertakers.

(1) All moneys received by the undertakers in respect of the undertaking except) borrowed money, (b) money arising from the disposal of land acquired for the rposes of the special order, and (c) other capital money received by them in respect the undertaking, shall be applied by them as follows :—

(a) In payment of the working and establishment expenses and cost of maintenance of the undertaking, including all costs, expenses, penalties, and damages incurred or payable by the undertakers consequent upon any proceedings by or against the undertakers, their officers or servants, in relation to the undertaking ;

(b) In payment of the interest or dividend on any mortgages, stock, or other securities granted and issued by the undertakers in respect of money borrowed for electricity purposes ;

(c) In providing any instalments or sinking fund (gg) required to be provided in respect of moneys borrowed for electricity purposes ;

(d) In payment of all other their expenses of executing the special order not being expenses properly chargeable to capital ;

(e) In providing a reserve fund, if they think fit, by setting aside such money as they think reasonable, and investing the money and the resulting income thereof in Government securities, or in any other securities in which trustees are by law for the time being authorised to invest other than stock or securities of the undertakers, and accumulating it at compound interest until the fund so formed amounts to one-tenth of the aggregate capital expenditure on the undertaking.

The reserve fund shall be applicable to answer any deficiency at any time happening in the income of the undertakers from the undertaking, or to meet any extraordinary claim or demand at any time arising against the undertakers in respect of the undertaking, and so that if that fund is at any time reduced it may thereafter be again restored to the prescribed limit, and so on as often as the reduction happens.

The undertakers shall carry the net surplus remaining in any year and the annual ceeds of the reserve fund when amounting to the prescribed limit, to the credit the local rate as defined by the principal Act or at their option shall apply that rplus, or any part thereof, to the improvement of the district for which they are local authority, or in reduction of the capital moneys borrowed for electricity rposes.

Provided always that if the surplus in any year exceed five pounds per centum annum upon the aggregate capital expenditure on the undertaking, the under- kers shall make such a rateable reduction in the charge for the supply of energy in their judgment will reduce the surplus to that maximum rate of profit.

Any deficiency of income in any year when not answered out of the reserve fund ll be charged upon and payable out of the local rate.

(2) All moneys arising from the disposal of lands acquired by the undertakers the purposes of the special order, and all other capital moneys received by them, respect of the undertaking, shall be applied by them as follows :—

(a) In the reduction of the capital moneys borrowed by them for electricity rposes ;

(b) In the reduction of the capital moneys borrowed by them for other than ctricity purposes.

(g) Clauses 5 and 6 relating to security for execution of works and to audit are expressly pplicable where the undertakers are a local authority, because the Electric Lighting , 1882, s. 8, and the schedule to that Act, ante, pp. 1570, 1582, makes special provision the like purposes.

(gg) Payments into the sinking fund may be suspended under s. 2 of Electricity Supply , 1922, whilst the expenditure of the capital monies remains unremunerative (see the tion set out at p. 2304, post).

Purchase and use of lands by local authority.

8. Where a local authority are the undertakers the following provisions shall have effect:—

(1) Subject to the provisions of the special order and the principal Act the undertakers may acquire by purchase or on lease and use any lands for the purposes of the special order (h), and may also for those purposes use any other lands for the time being vested in or leased by them, but subject as to the last-mentioned lands to the approval of the [Minister of Health], and may dispose of any lands acquired by them under the provisions of this section which may not for the being be required for the purposes of the special order: Provided that the amount of land so used by them shall not at any one time exceed in the whole five acres except with the consent of the [Minister of Transport].

(2) The undertakers shall not purchase or acquire for the purposes of the special order ten or more houses which on the fifteenth day of December last before the commencement of the special order, or in the case of the transfer of an undertaking to a local authority before the date of the transfer were occupied either wholly or partially by persons belonging to the labouring class as tenants or lodgers, or except with the consent of the [Minister of Health], ten or more houses which were not so occupied on the said fifteenth day of December but have been or shall be subsequently so occupied.

(3) For the purposes of this section the expression "labouring class" means mechanics, artisans, labourers, and others working for wages, hawkers, costermongers, persons not working for wages, but working at some trade or handicraft without employing others except members of their own family, and persons other than domestic servants whose income does not exceed an average of thirty shillings a week, and the families of any of those persons who may be residing with them.

Incorporation of 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55, s. 265.

9. Where a local authority are the undertakers section two hundred and sixty-five of the Public Health Act, 1875 (i), shall be incorporated with the special order, and in the construction of that section "this Act" shall not mean the Public Health Act, 1875, but shall mean the principal Act and the special order, and the "local authority" shall mean the local authority as such undertakers.

NATURE AND MODE OF SUPPLY.

Systems and mode of supply.

10. Subject to the provisions of the special order and the principal Act, the undertakers may supply energy within the area of supply for all public and private purposes as defined by the said Act, provided as follows:—

(a) The energy shall be supplied only by means of some system approved in writing by the [Minister of Transport], and subject to the [Ministry of Transport] regulations; and

(b) The undertakers shall not, without the express consent of the [Ministry of Transport], and, where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers of the local authority also (k), place any electric line above ground

(h) It is ultra vires for the local authority having acquired land for these purposes to use them for any other though within their statutory powers under other Acts, as, for instance, to use lands acquired for the purposes of the special order as a site for a refuse destructor although connected in such a way with the generating station that the refuse could be used as fuel for the purpose of generating electrical energy (Att.-Gen. v. Pontypridd U. D. C., [1906] 2 Ch. 257; 70 J. P. 394). And see Att.-Gen. v. Bradford Corporation (1911), 75 J. P. 553; 55 Sol. J. 715.

As to the power to acquire land compulsorily, see the Act of 1909, s. 1, post. As to as to the use of the land, see s. 2 of the same Act as amended by s. 15 (3) of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 100, s. 15 (3), post.

(i) Ante, p. 584. See also the Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893, ante, p. 89. As regards the county of London, the corresponding section is s. 121 of the P. H. (London) A., 1891.

(k) See the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, s. 14, ante, p. 1574. A derrick used in putting up a house in one of the streets of Montreal was brought into contact with the overhead wires of the respondent company, with the result that a current of electricity was diverted except within premises in the sole occupation or control of the undertakers, and except so much of any service line as is necessarily so placed for the purpose of supply; and

(c) The undertakers shall not permit any part of any circuit to be connected with earth except so far as may be necessary for carrying out the provisions of the [Ministry of Transport] regulations, unless the connection is for the time being approved by the [Minister of Transport], with the concurrence of the Postmaster-General, and is made in accordance with the conditions, if any, of that approval.

Works.

Additional provisions as to works.

11. The provisions of the special order as to works shall be in addition but subject to those of the principal Act, and in particular those of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, with respect to breaking up streets, incorporated in the principal Act and set out in the Appendix to this Schedule (l).

Powers for execution of works.

12.—(1) Subject to the provisions of the principal Act and the special order, the undertakers may exercise all or any of the powers conferred on them by that Act and order, and may break up such streets not repairable by the local authority and such railways and tramways (if any) as they are specially authorised to break up by the special order, so far as those streets, railways, and tramways may for the time being be included in the area of supply, and be, or be upon, land dedicated to public use: Provided, however, as respects any such railway, that the powers hereby granted shall extend only to such parts thereof as pass across or along any highway on the level.

(2) Nothing in the special order shall authorise or empower the undertakers to break up or interfere with any street or part of a street not repairable by the local authority or any railway or tramway, except such streets, railways or tramways (if any), or such parts thereof, as they are specially authorised to break up by the special order, without the consent of the authority, company, or person, by whom that street, railway, or tramway is repairable, or of the [Ministry of Transport] under section thirteen of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882 (m), and where the [Ministry of Transport] give that consent, the provisions of the special order shall apply to the street, railway, or tramway to which the consent relates as if the undertakers had been specially authorised to break it up by that order (n).

the street and killed the appellant's husband. Held, that the respondents being authorised by the Quebec Act (1901), s. 10, in the alternative to place their wires either overhead or underground were not guilty of negligence in adopting one alternative rather than the other, or in neglecting to insulate or guard the wires in the absence of evidence that such precaution would have been effectual to avert the accident (Dumphy v. Montreal Light, Heat, and Power Co., [1907] A. C. 454). The consent of the local authority is now dispensed with by s. 21 of the Electricity Supply Act, 1919.

(l) See 45 & 46 Vict. c. 56, s. 12; 10 & 11 Vict. c. 15, ss. 6—12, 18—20; 34 & 35 Vict. c. 41, ss. 38—42, 45, and 46. To save space these enactments, having been already fully set out once in this Work, are not repeated here.

By agreement the telegraphs of the Postmaster-General or his licensee may be placed in the trenches, tubes, pipes, or apparatus of an electric company or "person." (See s. 6 of the Telegraph Act, 1892.) In that section the word "person" includes any body of persons corporate or unincorporate (Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 19).

(m) Ante, p. 1573. And see as to the Minister of Transport, clause 21 (3), post.

(n) A company to which the London Electric Supply Act, 1908, applied, had one area of supply north of and one south of the Thames, and wished to connect them by mains running through streets outside either area, which included a bridge belonging to the Corporation as trustees of the Bridge House estates, and repairable by them as trustees and not by any local authority. It was held that s. 4 (3) (B) of the Act of 1908 gave power to the company to break up the intervening streets and bridge for the purpose of laying therein the connecting mains, subject to the consent either of the corporation or of the Board of Trade under s. 13 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, and this sub-section (London Corporation v. County of London Electric Supply Co., [1910] 2 Ch. 208; 74 J. P. 358).

Under ss. 6 and 7 of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, as adapted to electric light undertakings by the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, the undertakers are empowered to break up streets subject to certain restrictions. By s. 13 of the Act of 1882 (which is substantially Street boxes.

13.—(1) Subject to the provisions of the principal Act, and the special order and the [Ministry of Transport] regulations, the undertakers may construct in any street such boxes (o) as may be necessary for purposes in connection with the supply of energy, including apparatus for the proper ventilation of the boxes: Provided that, where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, no such box or apparatus shall be placed above ground, except with the consent of the authority, body, or person, by whom the street is repairable.

(2) Every such box shall be for the exclusive use of the undertakers and under their sole control, except so far as the [Minister of Transport] otherwise order, and shall be used by the undertakers only for the purpose of leading off service lines and other distributing conductors, or for examining, testing, regulating, measuring, directing, or controlling, the supply of energy, or for examining or testing the condition of the mains or other portions of the works, or for other like purposes connected with the undertaking, and the undertakers may place therein meters, switches, and any other suitable and proper apparatus, for any of the above purposes.

(3) Every such box, including the upper surface or covering thereof, shall be constructed of such materials, and shall be constructed and maintained by the undertakers in such manner, as not to be a source of danger, whether by reason of inequality of surface or otherwise.

(4) Where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, they may, with the approval of the [Minister of Transport], prescribe the hours during which the undertakers are to have access to the boxes, and if the undertakers during any hours not so prescribed remove or displace or keep removed or displaced the upper surface or covering of any box without the consent of the local authority, they shall be liable for each offence to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and to a daily penalty not exceeding five pounds: Provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the court are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

Notice of works, with plan, to be served on Postmaster-General and local authority.

14 (o).—(1) Where the exercise of any of the powers of the undertakers in relation to the execution of any works (including the construction of boxes) will involve the placing of any works in, under, along or across any street or public bridge, the following provisions shall have effect:—

(a) One month before commencing the execution of the works (not being repairs, renewals, or amendments of existing works of which the character and repeated in this sub-section) nothing in that Act or in any Act incorporated therewith shall authorise the undertakers to break up any street which is not repairable by the local authority without the consent of the person by whom such street is repairable or the written consent of the Board of Trade. It was held by the Court of Appeal (KENNEDY, L.J., dissentiente) that where there was no person by whom the street was repairable, the section operated as an absolute prohibition against the breaking up of the street by the undertakers, and that therefore where a strip of land adjoining a street repairable by the local authority had been dedicated to the public by the owner and had become part of the street but was not repairable either by the local authority or anyone else, the local authority as undertakers had no power to break up that portion of the street (Andrews v. Abertillery U. D. C., [1911] 2 Ch. 398; 75 J. P. 449).

(o) Such boxes are "buildings, structures, or works" within s. 145 of the London Building Act, 1894, and notice under that section must be served on the district surveyor before they are commenced (Whitechapel Board of Works v. Crow (1901), 65 J. P. 549; 84 L. T. 595). The circumstance that the undertakers are required by their Provisional Order to give notice of the construction of such boxes to the local authority and to the Postmaster-General, and to construct boxes in accordance with plans approved by those authorities, does not relieve the undertakers from the obligation of giving notice to the district surveyor under s. 145 of the Act of 1894 (Charing Cross and Strand Electric Supply Corporation v. Woodthorpe (1903), 67 J. P. 286; 88 L. T. 772). These cases were followed again in County of London Electric Supply Co., Ltd. v. Perkins (1908), 72 J. P. 133; 6 L. G. R. 344.

(o) See further as to the protection and rights of the Postmaster-General, the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 100, s. 22, post.

position are not altered), the undertakers shall serve a notice upon the Postmaster-General and the local authority describing the proposed works, together with a plan (p) of the works showing the mode and position in which the works are intended to be executed, and the manner in which it is intended that the street or bridge, or any sewer, drain, or tunnel, therein or thereunder, is to be interfered with, and shall, upon being required to do so by the Postmaster-General or the local authority, give him or them any such further information in relation thereto as he or they desire.

No part of the month of August shall be included in calculating the above-mentioned period of one month.

(b) The Postmaster-General or the local authority may, in his or their discretion, approve any such works or plan, subject to such amendments or conditions as may seem fit, or may disapprove them, and may give notice of that approval or disapproval to the undertakers.

(c) Where the Postmaster-General or the local authority approve any such works or plan, subject to any amendments or conditions with which the undertakers are dissatisfied, or disapprove any such works or plan, the undertakers may appeal to the [Minister of Transport], and the [Minister of Transport] may inquire into the matter, and allow or disallow the appeal, and may approve any such works or plan, subject to such amendments or conditions as seem fit, or may disapprove them.

(d) If the Postmaster-General or the local authority fail to give any such notice of approval or disapproval to the undertakers within one month after the service of the notice upon them, he or they shall be deemed to have approved the works and plan.

(e) Notwithstanding anything in the special order or the principal Act, the undertakers shall not be entitled to execute any such works as above specified, except so far as they may be of a description and in accordance with a plan which has been approved, or is to be deemed to have been approved, by the Postmaster-General and the local authority, or by the [Minister of Transport], as above mentioned; but where any such works, description, and plan are so approved, or to be deemed to be approved, the undertakers may cause those works to be executed in accordance with the description and plan, subject in all respects to the provisions of the special order and the principal Act.

(f) If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section, they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of the special order or the principal Act) make full compensation to the Postmaster-General and the local authority for any loss or damage which he or they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto, they shall be liable for each default to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and to a daily penalty not exceeding five pounds: Provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalty as aforesaid if the court are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

(2) In the application of this section to a street or public bridge (not within a unty borough) which is repairable by the county council, a reference to the county uncil shall be substituted for a reference to the local authority.

(3) In the application of this section within any area where the undertakers are e local authority, the reference to the local authority and to sewers, drains, or nnels in or under streets or bridges shall not apply, except so far as a reference the county council is substituted for a reference to the local authority.

(4) Nothing in this section shall exempt the undertakers from any penalty or ligation to which they may be liable under the special order or otherwise by v in the event of any telegraphic line of the Postmaster-General being at any ne injuriously affected by the undertakers' works or their supply of energy.

(p) See definition, clause 1, ante, p. 1808. See also Edgware Highway Board v. Colne ley Water Co., and East Molesey L. B. v. Lambeth Waterworks Co., ante, p. 1241.

As to streets not repairable by local authority, railways, tramways, and canals (pp).

15 (pp). Where the exercise of the powers of the undertakers in relation to the execution of any works will involve the placing of any works in, under, along, or across any street or part of a street not repairable by the local authority, including, where the area of supply is not wholly in a county borough, the county council, or over or under any railway, tramway or canal, the following provisions shall have effect (q) unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested:—

(a) One month before commencing the execution of the works (not being repairs, renewals, or amendments of existing works of which the character and position are not altered) the undertakers shall, in addition to any other notices which they may be required to give under the special order, or the principal Act, serve a notice upon the body or person liable to repair the street or part of a street, or the body or person for the time being entitled to work the railway or tramway, or the owners of the canal (as the case may be), in this section referred to as the "owners," describing the proposed works, together with a plan of the works showing the mode and position in which the works are intended to be executed and placed, and shall, upon being required to do so by any such owners, give them any such further information in relation thereto as they desire.

(b) Every such notice shall contain a reference to this section, and direct the attention of the owners to whom it is given to the provisions thereof.

(c) Within three weeks after the service of any such notice and plan upon any owners, those owners may, if they think fit, serve a requisition upon the undertakers requiring that any question in relation to the works, or to compensation in respect thereof, and any other question arising upon the notice or plan, shall be settled by arbitration: and thereupon that question, unless settled by agreement, shall be determined by arbitration accordingly.

(d) In settling any question under this section an arbitrator shall have regard to any duties or obligations which the owners may be under in respect of the street, railway, tramway, or canal, and may, if he thinks fit, require the undertakers to execute any temporary or other works so as to avoid any interference with any traffic so far as may be possible.

(e) Where no such requisition as in this section mentioned is served upon the undertakers, or where after any such requisition has been served upon them any question required to be settled by arbitration has been so settled, the undertakers may, upon paying or securing any compensation which they may be required to pay or secure, cause to be executed the works specified in such notice and plan as aforesaid, and may repair, renew, and amend them (provided that their character and position are not altered), but subject in all respects to the provisions of the special order and the principal Act and only in accordance with the notice and plan so served by them as aforesaid, or such modifications thereof respectively as may have been determined by arbitration as hereinbefore mentioned, or as may be agreed upon between the parties.

(f) All works to be executed by the undertakers under this section shall be carried out to the reasonable satisfaction of the owners, and those owners shall have the right to be present during the execution of the works.

(g) Where the repair, renewal, or amendment of any existing works, of which the character or position is not altered, will involve any interference with any railway or with any tramway over or under which those works have been placed, the undertakers shall, unless it is otherwise agreed between the parties, or in cases of emergency, give to the owners not less than twenty-four hours' notice before commencing to effect the repair, renewal, or amendment, and the owners shall be entitled by their officer to superintend the works, and the undertakers shall conform to such reasonable requirements as may be made by the owners or that officer. The notice shall be in addition to any other notices which the undertakers may be required to give under the special order or the principal Act.

(pp) See further as to the application of this and clauses 16, 19, 20 and 77, post, in relation to the power of placing a line across or along any railway, canal, inland navigation, dock or harbour, the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 100, s. 22, post.

(q) See also Rules iv. and v. of the Electricity Commissioners Rules, ante, pp. 1585, 1586.

(h) If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of the special order or the principal Act) make full compensation to the owners affected thereby for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable for each default to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds and to a daily penalty not exceeding five pounds: Provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalty as aforesaid if the court are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

Street authority, etc., may give notice of desire to break up streets, etc., on behalf of undertakers (qq)

16. Any body or person for the time being liable to repair any street or part of a street, or entitled to work any railway or tramway which the undertakers are empowered to break up for the purposes of the special order, may, if they think fit, serve a notice upon the undertakers stating that they desire to exercise or discharge all or any part of any of the powers or duties of the undertakers as therein specified in relation to the breaking up, filling in, reinstating, or making good any streets, bridges, sewers, drains, tunnels, or other works vested in or under the control or management of that body or person, and may amend or revoke any such notice by another notice similarly served.

Where any such body or person (in this section referred to as the "givers of the notice") have given notice that they desire to exercise or discharge any such specified powers and duties of the undertakers, then so long as that notice remains in force the following provisions shall have effect, unless it is otherwise agreed between the parties interested:—

(a) The undertakers shall not be entitled to proceed themselves to exercise or discharge any such specified powers or duties as aforesaid, except where they have required the givers of the notice to exercise or discharge those powers or duties, and the givers of the notice have refused or neglected to comply with that requisition, as hereinafter provided, or in cases of emergency.

(b) In addition to any other notices which they are required to give under the provisions of the special order or the principal Act, the undertakers shall, not more than four days and not less than two days before the exercise or discharge of any such powers or duties so specified as aforesaid is required to be commenced, serve a requisition upon the givers of the notice stating the time when that exercise or discharge is required to be commenced, and the manner in which any such powers or duties are required to be exercised or discharged.

(c) Upon receipt of any such requisition as last aforesaid, the givers of the notice may proceed to exercise or discharge any such powers or duties as required by the undertakers, subject to the like restrictions and conditions, so far as they are applicable, as the undertakers would themselves be subject to in that exercise or discharge.

(d) If the givers of the notice decline or, for twenty-four hours after the time when any such exercise or discharge of any powers or duties is by any requisition required to be commenced, neglect to comply with the requisition, the undertakers may themselves proceed to exercise or discharge the powers or duties therein specified in like manner as they might have done if such notice as aforesaid had not been given to them by the givers of the notice.

(e) In any case of emergency the undertakers may themselves proceed at once to exercise or discharge so much of any such specified powers or duties as aforesaid as may be necessary for the actual remedying of any defect from which the emergency arises without serving any requisition on the givers of the notice: but in that case the undertakers shall, within twelve hours after they begin to exercise or discharge such powers or duties as aforesaid, give information thereof in writing to the givers of the notice.

(f) If the undertakers exercise or discharge any such specified powers or duties as aforesaid otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of this section, they shall be liable for each offence to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and to a daily penalty not exceeding five pounds: Provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the court are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

(qq) See the note to s. 15, ante, p. 1814.

(g) All expenses properly incurred by the givers of the notice in complying with any requisition of the undertakers under this section shall be repaid to them by the undertakers, and may be recovered summarily.

(h) The givers of the notice may, if they think fit, require the undertakers where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, to give them such security for the repayment to them of any expenses incurred or to be incurred by them under this section as may be determined in manner provided by this Schedule. If the undertakers fail to give any such security within seven days after being required to do so, or in case of difference after the difference has been determined by a court of summary jurisdiction, they shall not be entitled to serve any further requisition upon the givers of the notice requiring them to exercise or discharge any powers or duties under this section until the security has been duly given.

Provided that nothing in this section shall in any way affect the rights of the undertakers to exercise or discharge any powers or duties conferred or imposed upon them by special order or the principal Act in relation to the execution of any works beyond the actual breaking up, filling in, reinstating or making good any such street or part of a street, or any such bridges, sewers, drains, tunnels, or other works, or railway or tramway as in this section mentioned.

As to alteration of pipes, wires, etc., under streets.

17. The undertakers may alter the position (r) of any pipes (except, in a case where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, any pipe forming part of any sewer of the local authority), or any wires being under any street or place authorised to be broken up by them, which may interfere with the exercise of their powers under the principal Act or the special order; and any body or person may in like manner alter the position of any electric lines or works of the undertakers, being under any such street or place as aforesaid, which may interfere with the lawful exercise of any powers vested in that body or person in relation to that street or place (s), subject to the following provisions, unless it is otherwise agreed between the parties interested:

(a) One month before commencing any such alterations the undertakers, or the body or person (as the case may be,) in this section referred to as the "operators," shall serve a notice upon the body or person for the time being entitled to the pipes, wires, electric lines, or works (as the case may be), in this section referred to as the "owners," describing the proposed alterations, together with a plan showing the manner in which it is intended that the alterations shall be made, and shall, upon being required to do so by any such owners, give them any such further information in relation thereto as they may desire.

(b) Within three weeks after the service of any such notice and plan upon any owners those owners may, if they think fit, serve a requisition upon the operators requiring that any question in relation to the works or to compensation in respect thereof, or any other question arising upon such notice or plan as aforesaid shall be settled by arbitration; and thereupon that question, unless settled by agreement, shall be determined by arbitration accordingly.

(c) In settling any question under this section an arbitrator shall have regard to any duties or obligations which the owners may be under in respect of the pipes, wires, electric lines, or works, and may, if he thinks fit, require the operators to execute any temporary or other works, so as to avoid interference with any purpose for which the pipes, wires, electric lines, or works are used so far as possible.

(d) Where no such requisition as in this section mentioned is served upon the operators, the owners shall be held to have agreed to the notice or plan served on them as aforesaid, and in that case, or where, after any such requisition has been served upon them, any question required to be settled by arbitration has been so settled, the operators, upon paying or securing any compensation which they may be required to pay or secure, may cause the alterations specified in such notice and plan as aforesaid to be made, but subject in all respects to the provisions of the principal Act and the special order, and only in accordance with the notice and plan so served by them as aforesaid, or such modifications thereof respectively as may have been determined by arbitration as hereinbefore mentioned or as may be agreed upon between the parties.

(r) See the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, s. 15, ante, p. 1574.

(e) At any time before any operators are entitled to commence any such alterations as aforesaid, the owners may serve a statement upon the operators stating that they desire to execute the alterations themselves, and where any such statement has been served upon the operators, they shall not be entitled to proceed themselves to execute the alterations, except where they have notified to the owners that they require them to execute the alterations, and the owners have refused or neglected to comply with the notification as hereinafter provided.

(f) Where any such statement as last aforesaid has been served upon the operators, they shall, not more than forty-eight hours and not less than twenty-four hours before the execution of the alterations is required to be commenced, serve a notification upon the owners stating the time when the alterations are required to be commenced, and the manner in which the alterations are required to be made.

(g) Upon receipt of any such notification as last aforesaid, the owners may proceed to execute the alterations as required by the operators, subject to the like restrictions and conditions, so far as they are applicable, as the operators would themselves be subject to in executing the alterations.

(h) If the owners decline or, for twenty-four hours after the time when any such alterations are required to be commenced, neglect to comply with the notification, the operators may themselves proceed to execute the alterations in like manner as they might have done if no such statement as aforesaid had been served upon them.

(i) All expenses properly incurred by any owners in complying with any notification of any operators under this section shall be repaid to them by the operators, and may be recovered summarily.

(j) Any owners may, if they think fit, by any statement served by them under this section upon any operators, not being a local authority, require the operators to give them such security for the repayment to them of any expenses to be incurred by them in executing any alterations as above mentioned as may be determined in manner provided by the special order, and where any operators have been so required to give security, they shall not be entitled to serve a notification upon the owners requiring them to execute the alterations until the security has been duly given.

(k) If the operators make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of the special order or the principal Act) make full compensation to the owners affected thereby for any loss, damage, or penalty which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable for each default to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and to a daily penalty not exceeding five pounds: Provided that the operators shall not be subject to any such penalty as aforesaid if the court are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the operators complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

Laying of electric lines, etc., near sewers, etc., or gas or water pipes, or other electric lines.

8.—(1) Where the undertakers require to dig or sink any trench for laying n or constructing any new electric lines (other than service lines) or other works r to which any sewer, drain, watercourse, defence, or work under the jurisdiction ontrol of the local authority, or any main, pipe, syphon, electric line, or other k belonging to any gas, electric supply, or water company has been lawfully ed, or where any gas or water company require to dig or sink any trench for laying n or constructing any new mains or pipes (other than service pipes) or other works near to which any lines or works of the undertakers have been lawfully placed, the undertakers or the gas or water company (as the case may be), in this section referred to as the "operators," shall, unless it is otherwise agreed between the parties interested, or in case of a sudden emergency, give to the local authority or to the gas, electric supply, or water company, or to the undertakers (as the case may be), in this section referred to as the "owners," not less than three days' notice before commencing to dig or sink such trench as aforesaid, and those owners shall be entitled by their officer to superintend the work, and the operators shall conform with such reasonable requirements as may be made by the owners or the officer for protecting from injury every such sewer, drain, watercourse, defence, main, pipe, syphon, electric line, or work, and for securing access thereto, and they shall also, if required by the owners thereof, repair any damage that may be done thereto (ss).

(2) Where the operators find it necessary to undermine but not alter the position of any pipe, electric line, or work, they shall temporarily support it in position during the execution of their works, and before completion provide a suitable and proper foundation for it where so undermined.

(3) Where the operators (being the undertakers) lay any electric line, crossing or liable to touch any mains, pipes, lines, or services belonging to any gas, electric supply, or water company, the conducting portion of the electric line shall be effectively insulated in a manner approved by the [Minister of Transport]; and the undertakers shall not, except with the consent of the gas, electric supply, or water company, as the case may be, and of the [Minister of Transport], lay their electric lines so as to come into contact with any such mains, pipes, lines, or services, or, except with the like consent, employ any such mains, pipes, lines, or services as conductors for the purposes of their supply of energy (t).

(4) Any question or difference which may arise under this section shall be determined by arbitration (u).

(5) If the operators make default in complying with any of the requirements of this section they shall make full compensation to all owners affected thereby for any loss, damage, penalty, or costs which they may incur by reason thereof; and in addition thereto they shall be liable for each default to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and to a daily penalty not exceeding five pounds (x): Provided that the operators shall not be subject to any such penalty if the court are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the operators complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances, or that the default in question was due to the fact that the operators were ignorant of the position of the sewer, drain, watercourse, defence, main, pipe, syphon, electric line, or work affected thereby, and that that ignorance was not owing to any negligence on the part of the operators.

(6) For the purposes of this section the expression "gas company" shall mean any body or person lawfully supplying gas; the expression "water company" shall mean any body or person lawfully supplying water or water power; and the expression "electric supply company" shall mean any body or person supplying energy in pursuance of the principal Act but not in pursuance of the special order.

(7) Where the local authority are themselves the undertakers, the references in this section to the local authority, and to sewers, drains, watercourses, defences, or works under the jurisdiction or control of that local authority, shall not apply.

on of works, the undertakers shall not in any way injure the railways, tunnels, ches, works, or conveniences belonging to any railway or canal (y) company, nor struct or interfere with the working of the traffic passing along any railway or canal.

ying down, and placing their electric lines and other works of all descriptions, and working their undertaking so as not injuriously to affect, whether by induction otherwise, the working of any wire or line used for the purpose of telegraphic, lephonic, or electric signalling communication, or the currents in that wire or line, nether that wire or line be or be not in existence at the time of the laying down or acing of the electric lines or other works.

If any question arises between the undertakers and the owner of any such wire line as to whether the undertakers have constructed, laid down, or placed their ctric lines or other works or worked their undertaking in contravention of this b-section, and as to whether the working of that wire or line or the current therein or is not injuriously affected thereby, that question shall be determined by arbition; and the arbitrator (unless he is of opinion that the wire or line, not having en so in existence at such time as aforesaid, has been placed in unreasonable oximity to the electric lines or works of the undertakers) may direct the under-kers to make any alterations in, or additions to, their system, so as to comply h the provisions of this section, and the undertakers shall make those alterations additions accordingly.

2) Seven days before commencing to lay down or place any electric line, or to any electric line in any manner whereby the work of telegraphic or telephonic electric signalling communication through any wire or line lawfully laid down placed in any position may be injuriously affected, the undertakers shall, unless erwise agreed between the parties interested, give to the owner of the wire or notice in writing specifying the course, nature and gauge of the electric line, l the manner in which the electric line is intended to be used, and the amount l nature of the currents intended to be transmitted thereby, and the extent to l manner in which (if at all) earth returns are proposed to be used; and any owner itled to receive that notice may serve a requisition on the undertakers, requiring m to adopt such precautions as may be therein specified in regard to the laying, ing, or user of the electric line for the purpose of preventing the injurious ction; and the undertakers shall conform with such reasonable requirements nay be made by the owner for the purpose of preventing the communication ugh the wire or line from being injuriously affected as aforesaid.

any difference arises between any such owner and the undertakers with respect he reasonableness of any requirements so made, that difference shall be deter-ed by arbitration.

rovided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to repairs or renewals of electric line so long as the course, nature, and gauge of the electric line, and the unt and nature of the current transmitted thereby, are not altered.

) If in any case the undertakers make default in complying with the requirets of this section, they shall make full compensation to every such owner as esaid for any loss or damage which he may incur by reason thereof, and in addition eto they shall be liable for each default to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, to a daily penalty not exceeding forty shillings: Provided that the undertakers l not be subject to any such penalty as aforesaid if the court are of opinion that ase was one of emergency and that the undertakers complied with the requirets of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances, or that the ult was due to the fact that the undertakers were ignorant of the position of the or line affected thereby, and that that ignorance was not owing to any negligence he part of the undertakers.

) Nothing in this section contained shall be held to deprive any owner of any ing rights to proceed against the undertakers by indictment, action, or other-in relation to any of the matters aforesaid.

COMPULSORY WORKS.

Mains, etc., to be laid down in streets specified in special order and in remainder of area of supply.

21.—(1) The undertakers shall, within a period of two years after the commencement of the special order, lay down suitable and sufficient distributing mains for the purposes of general supply throughout every street or part of a street specified in that behalf in the special order, and shall thereafter maintain those mains.

(2) In addition to the mains hereinbefore specified the undertakers shall, at any time after the expiration of eighteen months after the commencement of the special order, lay down suitable and sufficient distributing mains for the purposes of general supply throughout every other street or part of a street within the area of supply, upon being required to do so in manner provided by the special order.

All such mains as last above mentioned (unless already laid down) shall be laid down by the undertakers within six months after any requisition in that behalf served upon them in accordance with the provisions of the special order has become binding upon them, or within such further time as may in any case be approved by the [Ministry of Transport].

(3) When any such requisition is made in respect of any street not repairable by the local authority, which the undertakers are not specially authorised to break up by the special order, the undertakers shall (unless the authority, or person by whom that street is repairable, consent to the breaking up thereof) forthwith apply to the [Ministry of Transport] under section thirteen of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882 (z), for the written consent of the [Minister] authorising and empowering the undertakers to break up that street, and the requisition shall not be binding upon them if the [Ministry of Transport] refuse their consent in that behalf.

As to laying of electric line under special agreement.

22. Where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, the undertakers shall, twenty-eight days at least before commencing to lay in any street any electric line which is intended for supplying energy to any particular consumer, and not for the purposes of general supply, serve upon the local authority, and upon the owner or occupier of all premises abutting on so much of the street as lies between the points of origin and termination of the electric line so to be laid, a notice stating that the undertakers intend to lay the electric line, and setting forth the effect of this section, and if within that period any two or more of those owners or occupiers require in accordance with the provisions of the special order that a supply shall be given to their premises, the necessary distributing main shall be laid by the undertakers at the same time as the electric line intended for the particular consumer.

If undertakers fail to lay down mains, etc., order may be revoked.

23.—(1) If the undertakers, not being a local authority, make default in laying down any distributing mains in accordance with the provisions of the special order within the periods prescribed in that behalf respectively, they shall be liable for each default to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for each day during which the default continues, and if the [Ministry of Transport] are of opinion in any case that the default is wilful and unreasonably prolonged they may, after considering any representations of the local authority, deal with the special order in manner provided by this section.

(2) If the local authority are themselves the undertakers, and make default in laying down any distributing main in accordance with the provisions of the special order, within the periods prescribed in that behalf respectively, the [Ministry of Transport] may deal with the special order in manner provided by this section.

(3) Where the [Ministry of Transport] are authorised under this section to deal with a special order, they may either revoke the order as to the whole or any part of the area of supply, or, if the undertakers so desire, suffer it to remain in force as to that area or part thereof, subject to such conditions as they think fit to impose, and any conditions so imposed shall be binding on and observed by the undertakers, and shall be of the like force and effect in every respect as though they were contained in the special order: Provided that the [Ministry of Transport] shall not revoke the special order as to part only of the area of supply where the undertakers make a representation that they desire to be relieved of their liabilities as respects the rest of the area of supply, and in that case the [Ministry of Transport] shall not under this section revoke the special order otherwise than as to the whole of the area of supply.

(z) Ante, p. 1573.

Manner in which requisition is to be made.

24.—(1) Any requisition requiring the undertakers to lay down distributing mains for the purposes of general supply throughout any street or part of a street may be made by six or more owners or occupiers of premises along that street or part of a street, or, where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers and have the control and management of the public lamps in that street or part of a street, by the local authority.

(2) Every such requisition shall be signed by the persons making it, or by the local authority (as the case may be), and shall be served upon the undertakers.

(3) Forms of requisition shall be kept by the undertakers at their office, and a copy shall, on application, be supplied free of charge to any owner or occupier of premises within the area of supply and, where necessary, to the local authority, and any requisition so supplied shall be deemed valid in point of form.

Provisions on requisition by owners or occupiers.

25.—(1) Where any such requisition is made by any such owners or occupiers as aforesaid, the undertakers (if they think fit) may, within fourteen days after the service of the requisition upon them, serve a notice on all the persons by whom the requisition is signed, stating that they decline to be bound by the requisition unless those persons or some of them will bind themselves to take, or will guarantee that there shall be taken, a supply of energy for a period of three years at least, of such amount in the aggregate (to be specified by the undertakers in the notice) as will, at the rates of charge for the time being charged by the undertakers for a supply of energy from distributing mains to the ordinary consumers within the area of supply, produce annually such reasonable sum as is specified by the undertakers in the notice: Provided that in the notice the undertakers shall not, without the authority of the [Minister of Transport], specify any sum exceeding twenty per centum upon the expense of providing and laying down the required distributing mains and any other mains or additions to existing mains which may be necessary for the purpose of connecting those distributing mains with the nearest available source of supply.

(2) Where such a notice is served the requisition shall not be binding on the undertakers unless, within fourteen days after the service of the notice on all the persons signing the requisition has been effected, or in case of difference within fourteen days after the delivery of the arbitrator's award, there be tendered to the undertakers an agreement severally executed by those persons or some of them, binding them to take or guaranteeing that there shall be taken a supply of energy for a period of three years at the least of such amount as will in the aggregate at the rates of charge above specified produce an annual sum amounting to the sum specified in the notice or determined by arbitration under this section, nor unless sufficient security for the payment to the undertakers of all moneys which may become due to them from those persons under the agreement is offered to the undertakers (if required by them by such notice as aforesaid) within the period limited for the tender of the agreement as aforesaid.

(3) If the undertakers consider that the requisition is unreasonable, or that, under the circumstances of the case, the provisions of this section ought to be varied, they may, within fourteen days after the service of the requisition upon them, appeal to the [Minister of Transport], and [the Minister] after such inquiry (if any) as [he] think[s] fit, may, by order, either determine that the requisition is unreasonable, and shall not be binding upon the undertakers, or may authorise the undertakers by their notice to require a supply of energy to be taken for such longer period than three years, and to specify such sum or percentage, whether calculated as hereinbefore provided or otherwise, as is fixed or directed by the order, and the terms of the above-mentioned agreement shall be varied accordingly.

(4) In case of any appeal to the [Minister of Transport] under this section, any notice by the undertakers under this section may be served by them within fourteen days after the decision of the [Minister of Transport].

(5) If any difference arises between the undertakers and any persons signing any such requisition as to any such notice or agreement, that difference shall, subject to the provisions of this section and to the decision of the [Minister of Transport] upon any such appeal as aforesaid, be determined by arbitration.

Provisions on requisition by local authority.

26. Where any such requisition is made by the local authority it shall not be binding on the undertakers, unless at the time when the service is effected, or within fourteen days thereafter, there be tendered to the undertakers (if required by them) an agreement executed by the local authority, and binding them to take for a period of three years at the least a supply of energy for lighting such public lamps in the street or part of a street in respect of which the requisition is made as may be under their management or control.

SUPPLY (a).

Undertakers to furnish sufficient supply of energy to owners and occupiers within the area of supply.

27.—(1) The undertakers shall, upon being required to do so by the owner or occupier of any premises situate within fifty yards from any distributing main of the undertakers in which they are, for the time being, required to maintain or are maintaining a supply of energy for the purposes of general supply to private consumers under the special order or the [Ministry of Transport] regulations, give and continue to give a supply of energy for those premises in accordance with the provisions of the special order and of the said regulations, and they shall furnish and lay any electric lines (b) that may be necessary for the purpose of supplying the maximum power with which any such owner or occupier is entitled to be supplied under the special order subject to the conditions following: (that is to say,)—

The cost of so much of any electric line for the supply of energy to any owner or occupier as may be laid upon the property of that owner or in the possession of that occupier, and of so much of any such electric lines as it may be necessary to lay for a greater distance than sixty feet from any distributing main of the undertakers, although not on that property, shall, if the undertakers so require be defrayed by that owner or occupier.

(2) Every owner or occupier of premises requiring a supply of energy shall—

(a) Serve a notice upon the undertakers specifying the premises in respect of which the supply is required and the maximum power required to be supplied, and the day (not being an earlier day than a reasonable time after the date of the service of the notice) upon which the supply is required to commence; and

(b) If required by the undertakers, enter into a written contract with them to continue to receive and pay for a supply of energy for a period of at least two years of such an amount that the payment to be made for the supply, at the rate of charge for the time being charged by the undertakers for a supply of energy to ordinary consumers within the area of supply, shall not be less than twenty per centum per annum on the outlay incurred by the undertakers in providing any electric lines required under this section to be provided by them for the purpose of the supply, and if required by the undertakers give to them security for the payment to them of all moneys which may become due to them by the owner or occupier in respect of any electric lines to be furnished by the undertakers, and in respect of energy to be supplied by them (bb).

(a) See also as to the application of this section to lines across railways, etc., the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, s. 22, post. Undertakers were under a contract to supply light to the inhabitants of a district and to the streets, public places and private property therein, and in order to carry out the undertaking to do certain specified things and to provide everything which might be necessary whether specified or not for the purpose of supplying electric light to the street lamps. In consideration of these requirements the appellants who were consumers were bound to pay "at such rates as will yield to the contractors a return equal to 10 per cent. over the actual cost of generating the light." It was held that the words "generating the light" covered the whole series of operations leading up to the production of light in the lamps and the "actual cost" included depreciation of plant, rent, rates, taxes and insurance (Bulawayo Municipality v. Bulawayo Waterworks Co., Ltd., [1908] A. C. 241).

T. 62. For a case in which undertakers were held liable for injury resulting to a workman owing to a live wire being left upon premises when they had previously disconnected the installation, see Wheeler v. Marylebone Corporation (1910), 32 M. C. C. 223.

(bb) Where an owner who had complied with all the statutory conditions demanded a supply it was held that the undertaker could not successfully set up by way of defence to an information that certain trade unions would not permit the work to be

(3) Provided always, that the undertakers may, after they have given a supply f energy in respect of any premises, by notice in writing, require the owner or ccupier of those premises, within seven days after the date of the service of the otice, to give to them security for the payment of all moneys which may become ue to them in respect of the supply, in case the owner or occupier has not already iven that security, or in case any security given has become invalid or is insufficient; nd in case any such owner or occupier fail to comply with the terms of the notice, he undertakers may, if they think fit, discontinue to supply energy for the premises o long as the failure continues.

(4) Provided also, that if the owner or occupier of any such premises as aforeaid uses any form of lamp or burner, or uses the energy supplied to him by the ndertakers for any purposes, or deals with it in any manner so as to interfere unuly or improperly with the efficient supply of energy to any other body or person y the undertakers, the undertakers may, if they think fit, discontinue to supply nergy to those premises so long as the lamp or burner is so used, or the energy is o used or dealt with.

(5) Provided also, that the undertakers shall not be compelled to give a supply f energy to any premises unless they are reasonably satisfied that the electric lines, ittings, and apparatus therein are in good order and condition, and not calculated o affect injuriously the use of energy by the undertakers or by other persons.

(6) If any difference arises under this section as to any improper use of energy r as to any alleged defect in any electric lines, fittings, or apparatus, that difference hall be determined by arbitration.

Maximum power.

28.—(1) The maximum power with which any consumer shall be entitled to be upplied shall be of such amount as he may require to be supplied with, not exceeding vhat may be reasonably anticipated as the maximum consumption on his premises: Provided that where any consumer has required the undertakers to supply him vith a maximum power of any specified amount he shall not be entitled to alter that naximum except upon one month's notice to the undertakers, and any expenses easonably incurred by the undertakers in respect of the service lines by which nergy is supplied to the premises of that consumer, or any fittings or apparatus f the undertakers upon those premises, consequent upon the alteration, shall be aid by him to the undertakers, and may be recovered summarily as a civil debt.

(2) If any difference arises between any such owner or occupier and the undertakers s to what may be reasonably anticipated as the consumption on his premises or as o the reasonableness of any expenses under this section, that difference shall be letermined by arbitration.

Supply of energy to public lamps.

29. Where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, the undertakers hall, upon receiving reasonable notice from the local authority requiring them to upply energy to any public lamps within the distance of seventy-five yards from any listributing main of the undertakers in which they are for the time being required o maintain a current of energy for the purposes of general supply under the special rder, or the [Ministry of Transport] regulations, give and continue to give a supply f energy to those lamps in such quantities as the local authority may require to be upplied.

Penalty for failure to supply (c).

30.—(1) Whenever the undertakers make default in supplying energy to any wner or occupier of premises to whom they may be and are required to supply nergy under the special order, they shall be liable in respect of each default to a enalty not exceeding forty shillings for each day on which the default occurs.

(2) Where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, and the undertakers make default in supplying energy to the public lamps to which they may be nd are required to supply energy under the special order, the undertakers shall be iable in respect of each default to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each lamp, and for each day on which the default occurs.

done and that they were prevented by force majeure from providing a supply (Hackney B. C. v. Doré, [1922] 1 K. B. 431; 86 J. P. 45).

(c) See Clegg, Parkinson & Co. v. Earby Gas Co., ante, p. 1377. But this section only applies in the case of consumers to whom the undertakers are bound to make a supply. In the case of other consumers supplied by special agreement an action is maintainable for breach of the agreement (Morris and Bastert v. Loughborough Corporation, [1908] 1 K. B. 205; 71 J. P. 521).

(3) Whenever the undertakers made default in supplying energy in accordance with the terms of the [Ministry of Transport] regulations they shall be liable to such penalties as are prescribed by the regulations in that behalf.

(4) Provided that the penalties to be inflicted on the undertakers under this section shall in no case exceed in the aggregate in respect of any defaults not being wilful defaults on the part of the undertakers the sum of fifty pounds for any one day, and provided also that in no case shall any penalty be inflicted in respect of any default if the court are of opinion that the default was caused by inevitable accident or force majeure or was of so slight or unimportant a character as not materially to affect the value of the supply (cc).

PRICE (d).

Methods of charging.

31.—(1) The undertakers may charge for energy supplied by them to any ordinary consumer (otherwise than by agreement)—

(1) By the actual amount of energy so supplied; or

(2) By the electrical quantity contained in the supply; or

(3) By such other method as may for the time being be approved by the [Minister of Transport].

(2) . . . (dd).

(3) Provided also, that before commencing to supply energy through any distributing main for the purposes of general supply, the undertakers shall, if the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, give notice to the local authority, and, if the local authority are themselves the undertakers, by public advertisement, by what method they propose to charge for energy supplied through that main; and, where the undertakers have given any such notice, they shall not be entitled to change that method of charging except after one month's notice of the change has been given by them, if the local authority are not themselves the undertakers to the local authority, and in any case to every consumer of energy who is supplied by them from the main.

Maximum prices.

32.—(1) The prices to be charged by the undertakers for energy supplied by them shall not exceed those stated in that behalf in the special order or in the case of a method of charge approved by the [Minister of Transport], such price as the [Minister of Transport] determine[s] on approving the method.

(2) (e) Provided that if, in a case where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, either the local authority or the undertakers, at any time after the expiration of seven years after the commencement of the special order, make a representation to the [Minister of Transport] that the prices or methods of charge stated in the special order or approved by the [Minister of Transport] ought to be altered, the [Ministry of Transport], after such inquiry as they may think fit, may make an order varying the prices or methods of charge stated in the special order or so approved as aforesaid, or substituting other prices or methods of charge in lieu thereof, and the prices or methods of charge so varied or substituted shall have effect on and after such day as may be mentioned in the order, as if they had been stated in the special order: Provided also that the prices and methods of charge for the time being in force may be altered in like manner at any time after the expiration of any or every period of seven years after they were last altered.

Other charges by agreement.

33. Subject to the provisions of the special order and of the principal Act, and to the right of the consumer to require that he shall be charged according to some one

Where a corporation had made an agreement for the supply of energy for power purposes, an interim injunction was granted to restrain them from discontinuing or curtailing the supply on the ground of the enhanced cost of production consequent on the war (Taylor v. West Bromwich Corporation (1916), 38 M. C. C. 13). And see the note to clause 33, infra.

(dd) Repealed by s. 22 Electricity Supply Act, 1922.

(e) A new sub-section making three years the ordinary period of revision of prices and allowing representations by undertakers, consumers, local authorities not undertakers and in certain cases in the county of London the London County Council has been substituted for this sub-section by s. 22 (2) and Sched. II. Electricity Supply Act, 1922. The new provision is set out at p. 2315, post.

or other of the methods above mentioned, the undertakers may make any agreement with a consumer as to the price to be charged for energy, and the mode in which those charges are to be ascertained, and may charge accordingly (f).

Price to public lamps.

34. Where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, the price to be charged by the undertakers and to be paid to them for all energy supplied to the public lamps, and the mode in which those charges are to be ascertained, shall be settled by agreement between the local authority and the undertakers, and, in case of difference, shall be determined by arbitration, regard being had to the circumstances of the case and the distributing or other mains (if any) which may have to be laid for the purpose, and the prices charged to ordinary consumers in the district.

Electric Inspectors.

Appointment of electric inspectors.

35.—(1) The local authority, so long as they are not themselves the undertakers, and, while the local authority are themselves the undertakers, the [Minister of Health], on the application of any consumer or of the undertakers, may appoint and keep appointed, one or more competent and impartial person or persons to be electric inspectors under the special order (ff).

(2) If, in a case where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, no electric inspector is appointed by the local authority, or the inspection of electric lines and works is imperfectly attended to by the local authority, or the local authority themselves become the undertakers for the purposes of the special order, the [Minister of Transport], on the application of any consumer, or of the undertakers, may appoint and keep appointed, one or more competent and impartial person or persons to be electric inspectors under the special order.

Duties of electric inspectors.

36.—(1) The duties of an electric inspector under the special order shall be as follows:—

(a) The inspection and testing, periodically and in special cases, of the undertakers' electric lines and works and the supply of energy given by them;

(b) The certifying and examination of meters: and

(c) Such other duties in relation to the undertaking as may be required of him under the provisions of the special order or of the [Ministry of Transport] regulations.

(2) The local authority, with the approval of the [Minister of Transport], or the Minister of Transport], if the inspector is appointed by [him], may prescribe the manner in which and the times at which any such duties are to be performed by an electric inspector, and also the fees to be taken by him, and those fees shall be accounted for and applied as may be directed by the local authority or the [Minister of Transport], as the case may be.

Remuneration of electric inspectors.

37.—(1) The local authority may pay to any electric inspector appointed by them under the special order such reasonable remuneration (if any) as they may determine, and that remuneration may be in addition to, or in substitution for, any fees directed to be paid to electric inspectors in respect of their duties under the special order or the [Ministry of Transport] regulations, according as the local authority determine.

(2) Where the local authority are themselves the undertakers, they shall pay to every electric inspector appointed under the provisions of the special order such reasonable remuneration (if any) as may be determined by the [Minister of Transport], and that remuneration may be in addition to, or in substitution for, any fees

(f) If persons who are not entitled to require a supply under the Act make an agreement with the undertakers for a supply of electrical energy, they may bring an action against the undertakers to recover damages for an alleged breach of the agreement, there being no clear words in the statute confining the remedy to proceedings to recover a penalty under clause 30, ante p. 1823 (Morris and Bastert, Ltd. v. Loughborough Corporation, [1908] 1 K. B. 205; 71 J. P. 521). See also Taylor v. West Bromwich Corporation, ante, p. 1824.

See also Bourne & Hollingsworth v. Marylebone B. C. (1909), 72 J. P. 306; 24 T. L. R. 613.

As to stamp duty, see the Electric Lighting Act, 1909, s. 19.

(ff) Where a dispute arises between the undertakers and a consumer as to whether a meter is not in proper order for correctly registering the amount of electricity supplied which dispute is to be determined under clause 57, post, by the inspector appointed under the clause. If no inspector has been appointed, no cause of action arises against the consumer for electricity supplied (Hendon Electric Supply Co. v. Banks (1917), 87 L. J. K. B. 90; 82 J. P. 228).

which are directed to be paid to electric inspectors for services rendered by them under the special order or the [Ministry of Transport] regulations, as may be settled by [the Minister]; and where any such remuneration is settled to be in substitution for fees, any fees payable by any party other than the undertakers, shall, in lieu of being paid to the electric inspector for his own use, be due and paid to him on behalf and for the use of the undertakers, and shall be carried by them to the credit of the local rate.

Notice of accidents and inquiries by [Minister of Transport].

38.—(1) The undertakers shall send to the [Minister of Transport] notice of any accident by explosion, or fire, and also of any other accident of such kind as to have caused, or to be likely to have caused, loss of life, or personal injury which has occurred in any part of the undertakers' works or their circuits, or in connection with those works or circuits, and also notice of any loss of life or personal injury occasioned by any such accident. The notice shall be sent by the earliest practicable post after the accident occurs, or, as the case may be, after the loss of life or personal injury becomes known to the undertakers (g).

If the undertakers fail to comply with the provisions of this sub-section they shall be liable, for each default, to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

(2) The [Minister of Transport] may also, if [he] deem[s] it necessary, appoint any electric inspector or other fit person to inquire and report as to the cause of any accident affecting the safety of the public, which may have been occasioned by or in connection with the undertakers' works, whether notice of the accident has or has not been received from the undertakers, or as to the manner and extent in and to which the provisions of the special order and the principal Act, and of the [Ministry of Transport] regulations, so far as those provisions affect the safety of the public, have been complied with by the undertakers; and any person appointed under this section, not being an electric inspector, shall for the purposes of his appointment have all the powers of an electric inspector under the special order.

TESTING AND INSPECTION.

Testing of mains.

39. On the occasion of the testing of any main of the undertakers reasonable notice thereof shall be given to the undertakers by the electric inspector, and the testing shall be carried out at such suitable hours as, in the opinion of the inspector, will least interfere with the supply of energy by the undertakers, and in such manner as the inspector thinks expedient, but, except under the provisions of an order made in each case in that behalf by the [Minister of Transport], he shall not be entitled to have access to or interfere with the mains of the undertakers at any points other than those at which the undertakers have reserved for themselves access to the said mains: Provided that the undertakers shall not be held responsible for any interruption in the supply of energy which may be occasioned by or required by the inspector for the purpose of any such testing as aforesaid. Provided also that the testings shall not be made in regard to any particular portion of a main oftener than once in any three months, unless in pursuance of an order made in each case in that behalf by the [Minister of Transport].

Testing of works and supply on consumer's premises.

40. An electric inspector, if and when required to do so by any consumer, shall, on payment by the consumer of the prescribed fee, test the variation of electric pressure at the consumer's terminals, or make such other inspection and testing of the service lines, apparatus, and works of the undertakers upon the consumer's premises as may be necessary for the purpose of determining whether the undertakers have complied with the provisions of the special order and the [Ministry of Transport] regulations.

Undertakers, not being local authority, to establish testing stations.

41.—(1) Where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, the undertakers shall at such places, within a reasonable distance from a distributing main, establish at their own cost and keep in proper condition such reasonable number of testing stations, as the local authority think proper and sufficient for testing the supply of energy by the undertakers through the main, and shall place

(g) As to the responsibility of the undertakers, see clause 77, post.

hereat proper and suitable instruments of a pattern to be approved by the [Minister f Transport], and shall connect those stations by means of proper and sufficient lectric lines with the mains, and supply energy thereto for the purpose of the testing.

(2) If any dispute arises between the local authorities and the undertakers as to whether the number of the testing stations and the distance from the main at which hey are established is reasonable or excesssive, or as to any excessive or improper se of energy for the testing, or as to the performance by the undertakers of their uties under this section, that dispute shall be determined by arbitration.

(3) Where the local authority are themselves the undertakers, a court of sum- nary jurisdiction may upon the application of any ten consumers direct the under- akers, at their own cost, to establish at such places, within a reasonable distance rom a distributing main, and keep in proper condition, such reasonable number of esting stations, as the court think proper and sufficient for testing the supply of nergy by the undertakers through the main, and thereupon (h) the undertakers hall establish such testing places, and provide thereat such proper and suitable nstruments of a pattern to be approved by the [Minister of Transport] as the court lirect, and they shall connect those stations by means of proper and sufficient lectric lines with the mains, and supply energy thereto for the purpose of the testing.

Undertakers to keep instruments on their premises.

42. The undertakers shall set up and keep upon all premises from which they upply energy by any distributing mains such suitable and proper instruments of uch pattern and construction as may be approved or prescribed by the [Minister f Transport], and shall take and record, and keep recorded, such observations as he [Minister of Transport] may prescribe, and any observations so recorded shall be eceivable in evidence.

Readings of instruments to be taken.

43.—(1) The undertakers shall keep in efficient working order all instruments which hey are required by or under the special order to place, set up, or keep at any testing tation or on their own premises, and any electric inspector appointed under the pecial order may examine and record the readings of those instruments, and any eadings so recorded shall be receivable in evidence.

(2) Where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, the examina- ions and readings under this section must be made at such times and in such manner s may be directed by the authority by whom the inspector is appointed.

Electric inspector may test undertakers' instruments.

44. Any electric inspector appointed under the special order shall have the right o have access at all reasonable hours to the testing stations and premises of the ndertakers for the purpose of testing the electric lines and instruments of the ndertakers, and ascertaining if they are in order, and in case they are not in order e may require the undertakers forthwith to have them put in order.

Representation of undertakers at testings.

45. The undertakers may, if they think fit, on each occasion of the testing of any nain or service line, or the testing or inspection of any instruments of the under- akers by any electric inspector, be represented by some officer or other agent, but hat officer or agent shall not interfere with the testing or inspection.

Undertakers to give facilities for testing.

46. The undertakers shall afford all facilities for the proper execution of the special rder with respect to inspection and testing and the readings and inspection of instru- nents, and shall comply with all the requirements of or under the special order in hat behalf; and in case the undertakers make default in complying with any f the provisions of this section they shall be liable in respect of each default to a enalty not exceeding five pounds, and to a daily penalty not exceeding one pound.

Report of results of testing.

47.—(1) Every electric inspector shall, on the day immediately following that n which any testing has been completed by him under the special order, make nd deliver a report of the results of his testing to the authority or person by whom e was required to make the testing, and to the undertakers, and that report shall be eceivable in evidence.

(2) If the undertakers or any such authority or person are or is dissatisfied with ny report of any electric inspector, they or he may appeal to the [Minister of Trans- ort] against the report, and thereupon the [Minister of Transport] shall inquire into nd decide upon the matter of the appeal, and [his] decision shall be final and binding n all parties.

(h) There seems to be no right of appeal, even from the refusal of the application by he court of summary jurisdiction.

Expenses of electric inspector.

48.—(1) Save as otherwise provided by the special order or by the [Ministry of Transport] regulations, all fees and reasonable expenses (i) of an electric inspector shall, unless agreed be ascertained by a court of summary jurisdiction, or (where the inspector is appointed by them) by the [Minister of Transport], and shall be paid by the undertakers, and if a local authority are the undertakers may be recovered summarily as a civil debt (j).

(2) Provided that where the report of an electric inspector, or the decision of the [Minister of Transport], shows that any consumer was guilty of any default or negligence, the fees and expenses shall, on being ascertained as above mentioned, be paid by the consumer as the court or the [Minister], by whom the fees are ascertained, having regard to the report or decision, direct, and may be recovered summarily as a civil debt.

(3) Provided also, that in any proceedings for penalties under the special order the fees and expenses of an electric inspector incurred in connection with the proceedings shall be payable by the complainant or defendant as the court direct.

METERS.

Meters to be used except by agreement.

49 (k). The amount of energy supplied by the undertakers to any ordinary consumer under the special order, or the electrical quantity contained in the supply (according to the method by which the undertakers elect to charge), hereinafter referred to as "the value of the supply," shall, except as otherwise agreed (l) between the consumer and the undertakers, be ascertained by means of an appropriate meter duly certified under the provisions of the special order.

Meter to be certified.

50 (k). A meter shall be considered to be duly certified under the provisions of the special order if it be certified by an electric inspector appointed under the special order to be a correct meter, and to be of some construction and pattern, and to have been fixed and to have been connected with the service lines in some manner approved by the [Minister of Transport], and every such meter is hereinafter referred to as a "certified meter": Provided that where any alteration is made in any certified meter, or where any meter is unfixed or disconnected from the service lines, that meter shall cease to be a certified meter unless and until it is again certified as a certified meter under the provisions of the special order.

Inspector to certify meter.

51 (k). An electric inspector, on being required to do so by the undertakers or by any consumer, and on payment of the prescribed fee (m) by the party so requiring him, shall examine any meter intended for ascertaining the value of the supply, and shall certify it as a certified meter if he considers it entitled to be so certified.

Undertakers to supply meters if required to do so.

52. Where the value of the supply is under the special order required to be ascertained by means of an appropriate meter, the undertakers shall, if required by any consumer, supply him with an appropriate meter, and shall, if required, fix it upon the premises of the consumer and connect the service lines therewith and procure the meter to be duly certified under the provisions of the special order, and for those purposes may authorise and empower any officer or person to enter upon the premises at all reasonable times and execute all necessary works and do all necessary acts; provided that previously to supplying any such meter the undertakers may require the consumer to pay to them a reasonable sum in respect of the price of the meter, or to give security therefor, or (if he desires to hire the meter) may require him to enter into an agreement for the hire of the meter as hereinafter provided.

Meters not to be connected or disconnected without notice.

53 (k). No consumer shall connect any meter used or to be used under the special order for ascertaining the value of the supply with any electric line through which energy is supplied by the undertakers, or disconnect any such meter from any such electric line, unless he has given to the undertakers not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing of his intention to do so, and if any person acts in contravention of this section he shall be liable for each offence to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

Consumer to keep his meter in proper order.

54.—(1) Every consumer shall at all times at his own expense keep all meters belonging to him (o), whereby the value of the supply is to be ascertained, in proper order for correctly registering the value, and in default of his so doing the undertakers may cease to supply energy through the meter.

(2) The undertakers shall have access to and be at liberty to take off, remove, test, inspect, and replace any such meter at all reasonable times. Provided that all reasonable expenses of and incident to any such taking off, removing, testing, inspecting, and replacing, and the procuring the meter to be again duly certified where the re-certifying is thereby rendered necessary, shall, if the meter is found to be not in proper order, be paid by the consumer, but if it is found to be in proper order all expenses connected therewith shall be paid by the undertakers.

Power to the undertakers to let meters.

55. The undertakers may let for hire any meter for ascertaining the value of the supply, and any fittings thereto, for such remuneration in money and on such terms with respect to the repair of the meter and fittings, and for securing the safety and return to the undertakers of the meter and fittings, as may be agreed upon between the hirer and the undertakers, or, in case of difference, determined by the [Minister of Transport], and that remuneration shall be recoverable by the undertakers summarily as a civil debt (p).

Undertakers to keep meters let for hire in repair.

56. The undertakers shall, unles the agreement for hire otherwise provides, at all times, at their own expense, keep all meters let for hire by them to any consumer, whereby the value of the supply is ascertained, in proper order for correctly registering that value, and in default of their doing so the consumer shall not be liable to pay rent for the meters during such time as the default continues. The undertakers shall, for the purposes aforesaid, have access to and be at liberty to remove, test, inspect, and replace any such meter at all reasonable times: Provided that the expense of procuring any such meter to be again duly certified, where that re-certifying is thereby rendered necessary, shall be paid by the undertakers.

Differences as to correctness of meter to be settled by inspector.

57. If any difference arises between any consumer and the undertakers as to whether any meter, whereby the value of the supply is ascertained (whether belonging to the consumer or to the undertakers), is or is not in proper order for correctly registering the value, or as to whether that value has been correctly registered in any case by any meter, that difference shall be determined upon the application of either party by an electric inspector or, where the local authority are the consumers, by an inspector to be appointed by the [Minister of Transport], and that inspector shall also order by which of the parties the costs of and incidental to the proceedings before him shall be paid, and the decision of the inspector shall be final and binding on all parties (pp).

Subject as aforesaid, the register of the meter shall be conclusive evidence (q) in the absence of fraud of the value of the supply.

Undertakers to pay expenses of providing new meters where method of charge altered.

58. Where any consumer who is supplied with energy by the undertakers from any distributing main is provided with a certified meter for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the supply and the undertakers change the method of charging for energy supplied by them from the main, the undertakers shall pay to that consumer the reasonable expenses to which he may be put in providing a new meter for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the supply according to the new method of charging, and those expenses may be recovered by the consumer from the undertakers summarily as a civil debt (r).

(o) As to meters hired from the undertakers, see clauses 55, 56, infra.

(p) That is, under ss. 6 and 35 of the S. J. A., 1879.

(pp) If no Inspector has been appointed the undertakers cannot in case of dispute recover the value of electricity consumed. See Hendon Electric Supply Co. v. Banks, ante, p. 1825.

(q) Compare the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, s. 20, ante, p. 1373, as to registers of gas meters.

(r) That is, under ss. 6 and 35 of the S. J. A., 1879.

Undertakers may place meters to measure supply or to check measurement.

59. In addition to any meter which may be placed upon the premises of any consumer to ascertain the value of the supply, the undertakers may place upon his premises such meter or other apparatus as they may desire for the purpose of ascertaining or regulating either the amount of energy supplied to the consumer or the number of hours during which the supply is given, or the maximum power taken by the consumer, or any other quantity or time connected with the supply: Provided that the meter or apparatus shall be of some construction and pattern and shall be fixed and connected with the service lines in some manner approved by the [Minister of Transport], and shall be supplied and maintained entirely at the cost of the undertakers, and shall not, except by agreement, be placed otherwise than between the mains of the undertakers' and consumer's terminals.

MAPS.

Map of area of supply to be made.

60.—(1) The undertakers shall forthwith after commencing to supply energy under the special order cause a map to be made of the area of supply, and shall cause to be marked thereon the line and depth below the surface of all their then existing mains, service lines, and other underground works and street boxes, and shall once in every year cause that map to be duly corrected so as to show the then existing lines. The undertakers shall also, if so required by the [Minister of Transport] or the Postmaster-General, cause to be made sections showing the level of all their existing mains and underground works other than service lines. The said map and sections shall be made on such scale or scales as the [Minister of Transport] prescribe.

(2) Every map and section so made or corrected, or a copy thereof, marked with the date when it was made or last corrected, shall be kept by the undertakers at their principal office within the area of supply, and shall at all reasonable times be open to the inspection of all applicants, and those applicants may take copies of it or any part thereof. The undertakers may demand and take from every such applicant such fee not exceeding one shilling for each inspection of the map, section, or copy, and such further fee not exceeding five shillings for each copy of it, or any part thereof, taken by the applicant, as they prescribe.

(3) The undertakers shall, if required by the [Minister of Transport] or the Postmaster-General, or, where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, by the local authority, supply to them or him a copy of any such map or section and cause that copy to be duly corrected so as to agree with the original or originals thereof as kept for the time being at the office of the undertakers.

(4) If the undertakers fail to comply with any of the requirements of this section they shall for each default be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and to a daily penalty not exceeding two pounds.

NOTICES, ETC.

Notices, etc., may be printed or written.

61. Notices, orders, and other documents under the special order may be in writing or in print, or partly in writing and partly in print, and where any notice, order, or document requires authentication by the local authority, the signature thereof by the clerk or surveyor to the local authority shall be sufficient authentication.

Service of notices, etc.

62.—(1) Any notice, order, or document required or authorised to be served upon any body or person under the special order or the principal Act may be served by being addressed to that body or person, and being left or transmitted through the post to the following addresses respectively:

(a) in the case of the [Minister of Transport], the [Ministry of Transport];

(b) in the case of the Postmaster-General, the General Post Office;

(c) in the case of any county council, the office of that council;

(d) in the case of any local authority, the office of that local authority;

(e) in the case of the undertakers, where the undertakers are not a local authority, the registered office of the undertakers;

(f) in the case of a company having a registered office, at that registered office, and in the case of a company having an office or offices, but no registered office, the principal office of that company;

(g) in the case of any other person, the usual or last-known place of abode of that person.

(2) A notice, order, or document by this Schedule required or authorised to be served on the owner or occupier of any premises shall be deemed to be properly addressed if addressed by the description of the "owner" or "occupier" of the premises (naming the premises) without further name or description.

(3) A notice, order, or document by the special order required or authorised to be served on the owner or occupier of premises may be served by delivering it, or a true copy thereof, to some person on the premises, or, if there is no person on the premises to whom the same can with reasonable diligence be delivered, by fixing it on some conspicuous part of the premises.

(4) Subject to the provisions of the special order as to cases of emergency, where the interval of time between the service of any notice or document under the provisions of the special order and the execution of any works, or the performance of any duty or act, is less than seven days, the following days shall not be reckoned in the computation of that time: that is to say, Sunday, Christmas Day, Good Friday, any bank holiday under and within the meaning of the Bank Holiday Act, 1871, and any Act amending that Act, and any day appointed for public fast, humiliation, or thanksgiving. 34 & 35 Vict. c. 17.

Revocation of Special Order.

63. If the [Minister of Transport], in any case where a local authority are not the undertakers, at any time after the commencement of the special order, have reason to believe that the undertakers have made any default in executing works or supplying energy in accordance with the provisions of that order, and that that default is in consequence of the insolvency of the undertakers, and that by reason of that insolvency the undertakers are unable fully and efficiently to discharge the duties and obligations imposed upon them by that order, the [Minister of Transport] may after such inquiry as they may think necessary, and after considering any representations of the local authority, revoke that order as to the whole or (with the consent of the undertakers) as to any part of the area of supply. Revocation of order where undertakers are insolvent.

64. If in any case where a local authority are not the undertakers, the undertakers at any time after the commencement of the special order represent to the [Minister of Transport] that the undertaking cannot be carried on with profit, and ought to be abandoned, the [Minister of Transport] shall inquire into the truth of the representation, and if upon that inquiry they are satisfied of the truth of the representation they may, if in their discretion they think fit, revoke the special order as to the whole or (with the consent of the undertakers and of the local authority) as to any part of the area of supply. Revocation of order where undertaking cannot be carried on with profit.

65. If in a case where the local authority are themselves the undertakers, the [Minister of Transport], at any time after the commencement of the special order, have reason to believe that the undertakers have made default in executing works or supplying energy in accordance with the provisions of the special order, the [Minister of Transport] may, after such inquiry as they may think necessary, revoke the special order as to the whole or (with the consent of the undertakers) any part of the area of supply upon such terms as the [Minister of Transport] think just. Revocation where local authority are undertakers and works are not executed.

66. In addition to any other powers which the [Minister of Transport] may have in that behalf, they may revoke the special order at any time with the consent and concurrence of the undertakers, and, where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, also of the local authority upon such terms as the [Minister of Transport] think just. Revocation of order with consent.

67. If the [Minister of Transport], in any case where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, at any time revoke the special order as to the whole or any part of the area of supply, under any of the provisions of the special order, the following provisions shall have effect: Provisions where order revoked.

(a) The [Minister of Transport] shall serve a notice of the revocation upon the undertakers and upon the local authority, and shall in that notice fix a date at which the revocation shall take effect, and from and after that date all the powers and liabilities of the undertakers under the special order or this Act, for the supply of energy within such area, or part thereof as aforesaid, shall absolutely cease and determine.

(b) Within two months after the service of the notice by the [Minister of Transport] upon the local authority, the local authority, if they think fit, may by notice in writing require the undertakers to sell, and thereupon the undertakers shall sell, to them so much of the undertaking or such part thereof as aforesaid as is within the district of the local authority, upon terms of paying the then value of all land, buildings, works, materials, and plant of the undertakers suitable to and used by them for the purposes of the undertaking or such part thereof as aforesaid, that value being agreed or estimated in manner directed by the Electric Lighting Act, 1888, in the case of purchases effected by the local authority under section two of that Act (s).

(c) Where any purchase is so effected, the undertaking, or part thereof so purchased, shall vest in the local authority, freed from any debts, mortgages, or similar obligations of the undertakers, or attaching to the undertaking; and the revocation of the special order, as to the whole of the area of supply, or such part thereof as aforesaid, shall extend only to the revocation of the rights, powers, authorities, duties, and obligations of the undertakers from whom the undertaking, or such part thereof as aforesaid, is purchased in relation to the supply of energy within that area or part thereof, and, save as aforesaid, the special order shall remain in full force within that area or part thereof in favour of the local authority, by whom the undertaking or part thereof is purchased as aforesaid.

(d) Where no purchase has been effected under the preceding provisions of this section, the local authority, and any body or person who may be liable to repair any street or part of a street in which any works of the undertaker have been placed, may (subject however to any agreement between the local authority or that body or person and the undertakers providing for the removal of those works by the undertakers) forthwith remove those works with all reasonable care, and the undertakers shall pay to the local authority, or other such body or person as aforesaid, such reasonable costs of the removal, and of the reinstatement of the street or part of a street as may be specified in a notice to be served on the undertakers by the local authority or other body or person, or (if so required by the undertakers, within one week after the service of the notice upon them) as may be determined by arbitration.

If the undertakers fail to pay such reasonable costs as aforesaid within one month after the service upon them of the notice, or the delivery of the award of the arbitrator (as the case may be) the local authority, or other such body or person as aforesaid may, without any previous notice to the undertakers (but without prejudice to any other remedy which they may have for the recovery of the amount), sell and dispose of any such works as aforesaid, either by public auction or private sale, and for such sum or sums and to such person or persons as they may think fit; and may, out of the proceeds of the sale, pay and reimburse themselves the amount of the costs so specified or settled as aforesaid and of the costs of sale and the balance (if any) of the proceeds of the sale shall be paid over by them to the undertakers.

(e) In case the local authority or any body or person may be entitled to compensation for any damage sustained by them by reason or in consequence of the execution of any works within such area, or part thereof as aforesaid, or the exercise of any powers granted by the special order to the undertakers, or for any expenses to which that local authority, body, or person may have been put in removing any works of the undertakers within the area, or part thereof, under the provisions of the special order, that compensation shall be a first charge on any money that may have been deposited or secured by the undertakers under the provisions of the special order in respect of that area, or part thereof, and which may not have been repaid or released by the undertakers, and that money shall be applied rateably in satisfying those claims, and in every such case the amount of compensation to be paid in respect of the various claims and the persons to whom it is to be paid, shall be determined by arbitration.

Provisions where local authority are undertakers and order is revoked.

68.—(1) If the [Minister of Transport], in a case where the local authority are themselves the undertakers, at any time revoke the special order as to the whole or any part of the area of supply, any persons who may be liable to repair any street or part of a street within that area or part thereof in which any works of the undertakers have been placed, may forthwith remove those works with all reasonable care, and the undertakers shall pay to those persons such reasonable costs of the removal as are specified in a notice to be served on the undertakers by those persons, or if so required by the undertakers within one week after the service of the notice upon them as may be determined by arbitration.

(2) If the undertakers fail to pay such reasonable costs as aforesaid within one month after the service upon them of such notice or the delivery of the award of the arbitrator (as the case may be), such persons as aforesaid may without any previous notice to the undertakers (but without prejudice to any other remedy which they may have for the recovery of the amount), sell and dispose of any such works as aforesaid either by public auction or private sale, and for such sum or sums and to such person or persons as they think fit, and may out of the proceeds of the sale pay and reimburse themselves the amount of the costs so specified or determined as aforesaid, and of the costs of sale, and the balance (if any) of the proceeds of the sale shall be paid over by them to the undertakers.

General.

Remedying of system and works.

69.—(1) If at any time it is established to the satisfaction of the [Minister of Transport]—

(a) that the undertakers are supplying energy otherwise than by means of a system which has been approved by the [Minister of Transport] or (except in accordance with the provisions of the special order) have permitted any part of their circuits to be connected with earth or placed any electric line above ground; or

(b) that any electric lines or works of the undertakers are defective, so as not to be in accordance with the provisions of the special order or the [Minister of Transport] regulations; or the [Minister of Transport] may by order specify the matter complained of, and require the undertakers to abate or discontinue it within such period as is therein limited in that behalf, and if the undertakers make default in complying with the order they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds for every day during which the default continues.

(c) that any work of the undertakers or their supply of energy is attended with danger to the public safety, or injuriously affects any telegraphic line of the Postmaster-General.

(2) The [Ministry of Transport] may also if they think fit by the same or any other order forbid the use of any electric line or work as from such date as may be specified in that behalf until the order is complied with, or for such time as may be so specified, and if the undertakers make use of any such electric line or work while the use thereof is so forbidden they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred pounds for every day during which the user continues.

(3) In any case of non-compliance with an order under this section, whether a pecuniary penalty has been recovered or not the [Ministry of Transport], if in their opinion the public interest so requires, may revoke the special order on such terms as they think just.

Publication of regulations.

70.—(1) The [Ministry of Transport] regulations for the time being in force shall within one month after they have come into force, as made or last altered, be printed at the expense of the undertakers, and a true copy thereof, certified by or on behalf of the undertakers, shall be kept by the undertakers at their principal office within the area of supply, and supplied to any person demanding them at a price not exceeding sixpence for each copy, and where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, a like copy shall also be forthwith served upon the local authority.

(2) If the undertakers make default in complying with the provisions of this section they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and to a daily penalty not exceeding five pounds.

Nature and amount of security.

71. Where any security is required under the special order to be given to or by the undertakers, that security may be by way of deposit or otherwise, and of such amount as may be agreed upon between the parties, or as in default of agreement may be determined, on the application of either party, by a court of summary jurisdiction, and that court may also order by which of the parties the costs of the proceedings before them shall be paid, and the decision of the court shall be final and binding on all parties: Provided that where any such security is given by way of deposit the party to whom the security is given shall pay interest at the rate of four per centum per annum on every sum of ten shillings so deposited for every six months during which it remains in their hands.

Proceedings of [Minister of Transport].

72.—(1) All things required or authorised under the special order to be done by, to, or before the [Minister of Transport], may be done by, to, or before the [Minister] or secretary or assistant secretary of the [Ministry].

(2) All documents purporting to be orders made by the [Minister of Transport] and to be sealed with the seal of the [Ministry]; or to be signed by a secretary or assistant secretary of the [Ministry], or by any person authorised in that behalf by the [Minister], shall be received in evidence, and shall be deemed to be those orders without further proof, unless the contrary is shown.

(3) A certificate, signed by the [Minister of Transport], that any order made or act done is the order or act of the [Minister], shall be conclusive evidence of the order or act so certified.

Approval or consent of [Minister of Transport].

73.—(1) Where the special order provides for any consent or approval of the [Minister of Transport], the [Minister] may give that consent or approval subject to terms or conditions, or may withhold [his] consent or approval, as in [his] discretion [he] may think fit.

(2) All costs and expenses of or incident to any approval, consent, certificate, or order of the [Minister of Transport] or of any inspector or person appointed by the [Minister of Transport], including the cost of any inquiry or tests for the purpose of determining whether the same should be given or made, to such an amount as the [Minister of Transport] certify to be due, shall be borne and paid by the applicant therefor.

Provided that where the approval is given by the [Minister of Transport] to any plan, pattern, or specification, they may require such copies of the plan, pattern, or specification as they think fit to be prepared and deposited at their office at the expense of the applicant, and may, as they think fit, revoke any approval so given, or permit the approval to be continued, subject to such modifications as they think necessary.

Notice of approval of [Minister of Transport], etc., to be given by advertisement.

74. Where the [Minister of Transport]—

(1) upon the application of the undertakers, give any approval or grant any extension of any time limited for the performance of any duties by the undertakers; or

(2) in a case where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, revoke the special order upon the application of the local authority or the undertakers as to the whole or any part of the area of supply; or

(3) in a case where the local authority are themselves the undertakers revoke the special order as to the whole or any part of the area of supply, notice that the approval has been given, or the extension of time granted, or the revocation made, shall, if the [Minister of Transport] so direct, be published by public advertisement once at least in each of two successive weeks in some one and the same local newspaper by the undertakers, or, where the application for revocation has been made by the local authority, by the local authority.

Notice of application for extension of time, etc., to be given to local authority.

75. If, in a case where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, any application is made to the [Minister of Transport] to extend any time limited for the performance of any duties by the undertakers, notice of the application shall be served on the local authority by the undertakers, and an opportunity shall be given to the local authority to make representations or objections with reference thereto.

Recovery and application of penalties.

76.—(1) All penalties, fees, expenses, and other moneys recoverable under the special order, or under the [Minister of Transport] regulations, the recovery of which is not otherwise specially provided for, may be recovered summarily in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts.

(2) Any penalty recovered on prosecution by an officer of the local authority, in a case where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, shall, if there is an electric inspector for the time being appointed by the local authority, be paid to that officer and by him to the local authority, and shall be applied in aid of the local rate.

(3) Any penalty recovered on prosecution by any other body or person, or any part thereof, may, if the court so direct, be paid to that body or person.

Undertakers to be responsible for all damages.

77. The undertakers shall be answerable for all accidents, damages, and injuries happening through the act or default of the undertakers, or of any person in their employment, by reason of or in consequence of any of the undertakers' works, and shall save harmless all authorities, bodies, and persons by whom any street is repairable, and all other authorities, companies, and bodies collectively and individually, and their officers and servants, from all damages and costs in respect of those accidents, damages and injuries (t).

As to mortgages.

78. Nothing in the special order shall prevent the undertakers, in a case where a local authority are not the undertakers, from borrowing money on the security of mortgages of the undertaking, or shall make the consent or approval of the [Minister of Transport] necessary to the validity or effect of any such mortgage:

Provided that every mortgage of the undertaking shall be deemed to comprise all purchase money which may be paid to the undertakers in the event of any sale or transfer of the undertaking or any part thereof, under section two of the Electric Lighting Act, 1888, or under the special order, and that any mortgage granted by the undertakers shall not be a charge upon the undertaking, or any part thereof, in the event of the undertaking or that part being sold or transferred as aforesaid, and that every mortgage deed granted by the undertakers shall be endorsed with notice to that effect.

Saving for Postmaster-General.

79. Nothing in the special order shall affect any right or remedy of the Postmaster-General under the principal Act or the Telegraph Acts, 1863 to 1897, and all provisions contained in the special order in favour of the Postmaster-General shall be construed to be in addition to and not in modification of the provisions of those Acts.

Saving rights of the Crown in the aforeshore.

80. Although any shore, bed of the sea, river, channel, creek, bay, or estuary is included in the area of supply, nothing in the special order shall authorise the undertakers to take, use, or in any manner interfere with any portion of that shore or bed of the sea, or of the river, channel, creek, bay, or estuary, or any right in respect thereof belonging to the Queen's most Excellent Majesty in right of her Crown, and under the management of the Board of Trade, without the previous consent in writing of the Board of Trade on behalf of her Majesty (which consent the Board of Trade may give), neither shall anything in the special order contained extend to take away, prejudice, diminish, or alter any of the estates, rights, privileges, powers, or authorities vested in or enjoyed or exercisable by the Queen's Majesty.

Undertakers not exempted from proceedings for nuisance.

81. Nothing in the special order shall exonerate the undertakers from any indictment, action, or other proceedings for nuisance in the event of any nuisance being caused or permitted by them (u).

(t) See Holliday v. National Telephone Co., [1899] 2 Q. B. 392; Solomons v. Stepney Borough Council (1905), 69 J. P. 360; 3 L. G. R. 912. Now see further as to the liability of the undertakers for the negligence of contractors employed by them the cases cited in the notes to the P. H. A., 1875, s. 144, ante, p. 260.

As to the application of this clause to lines across railways, etc., see the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, 9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 100, s. 22, post.

Compare 33 & 34 Vict. c. 78, s. 55, ante, p. 1362, and see notes thereto.

(u) Compare 10 & 11 Vict. c. 15, s. 29, ante, p. 1229; and 34 & 35 Vict. c. 41, s. 9, ante, p. 1370, and see notes thereto. A plaintiff when walking in the public highway passed close to an electric lamp-post beside which was a chamber sunk into the street. As he passed, an explosion took place under ground which caused the metal plate to open and a flash to emanate. It was held that the fact of an explosion having happened was primâ facie evidence of negligence (Farrell v. Limerick Corporation (1912), 45 Ir. L. T. 169). But in England at any rate negligence need not be proved. Thus where a municipal corporation supplied electricity under a provisional order under the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 and 1888, and containing a clause in the terms of this section, it was held Provisions as to general Acts.

82. Nothing in the special order shall exempt the undertakers or their undertaking from the provisions of, or deprive the undertakers of the benefits of, any general Act relating to electricity, or to the supply of, or price to be charged for, energy, which may be passed after the passing of the Act confirming the special order (v).

THE BODIES CORPORATE (JOINT TENANCY) ACT, 1899.

(62 & 63 VICT. c. 20) (x).

An Act for enabling Bodies Corporate to hold Property in Joint Tenancy.

[9th August 1899.]

Power for corporations to hold property as joint tenants.

1.—(1) A body corporate shall be capable of acquiring and holding any real or personal property in joint tenancy in the same manner as if it were an individual; and where a body corporate and an individual, or two or more bodies corporate, become entitled to any such property under circumstances or by virtue of any instrument which would, if the body corporate had been an individual, have created a joint tenancy, they shall be entitled to the property as joint tenants.

Provided that the acquisition and holding of property by a body corporate in joint tenancy shall be subject to the like conditions and restrictions (y) as attach to the acquisition and holding of property by a body corporate in severalty.

(2) Where a body corporate is joint tenant of any property, then on its dissolution the property shall devolve on the other joint tenant.

Short title.

2. This Act may be cited as "The Bodies Corporate (Joint Tenancy) Act, 1899."

that they were liable in damages for an explosion occasioned by a leakage of electricity from one of their mains which generated a gas escaping into the plaintiff's premises in an adjoining street (Midwood v. Manchester Corporation, [1905] 2 K. B. 597; 60 J. P. 348).

The plaintiffs were the owners of electric cables which had been laid under certain public streets. The defendants were the owners of hydraulic mains which had been laid under the same streets under statutory powers. The mains burst in four different places, in each case damaging the plaintiff's cables. No negligence was attributed to the defendants. It was held that the doctrine of Rylands v. Fletcher ((1868), L. R. 3 H. L. 330; 33 J. P. 70) applies not only to cases in which the dangerous thing has escaped from the defendant's land on to the plaintiff's land and done damage there, but also to cases in which the site of the plaintiff's injury was occupied by him only under a licence and not under any right of property in the soil, and that in the absence of statutory authorisation of the nuisance the defendants were liable for the damage caused by the bursting of their mains, notwithstanding that they had not been guilty of any negligence (Charing Cross, West End and City Electricity Supply Co. v. London Hydraulic Power Co., [1914] 3 K. B. 772). Cf. Goodbody v. Poplar Borough Council (1914), 79 J. P. 218; Miles v. Forest Rock Granite Co., Ltd. (1918), 34 T. L. R. 500; Belvedere Fish Guano Co. v. Rainham Chemical Works, Ltd., [1920] 2 K. B. 487; 84 J. P. 185; affirmed, H. L., [1921] 2 A. C. 465.

(v) Clauses 83 and 84 relate to only the application of this Schedule to Scotland and Ireland, and are therefore omitted.

As to the omission of the Appendix, see note (l), ante, p. 1811.

(x) This statute alters the law as it existed ever since Litt. ss. 281, 296, 297; Co. Litt. 182, 189 b., 190; 2 Bla. Com. 184; Bennet v. Holbech (1672), 2 Saund. 316 a.; Law Guarantee and Trust Society v. Bank of England (1890), 24 Q. B. D. 406. But by s. 264 of the Lunacy Act, 1890, it had already been enacted that lands acquired for the purposes of that Act might be conveyed where more than one local authority was interested to all the local authorities interested as joint tenants; and by s. 6 of the National Debt (Stockholders Relief) Act, 1892, that stock [i.e. stock transferable in the books of the Bank of England] may be transferred to and held in the names of an individual and a body corporate, or of two or more bodies corporate, and any such holding shall in its relation to the Bank be deemed a joint tenancy.

THE BATHS AND WASHHOUSES ACT, 1899.

(62 & 63 VICT. c. 29) (a).

An Act to amend the Baths and Washhouses Acts. [9th August 1899.]

Whereas it is expedient to amend the provisions of the Baths and Washhouses Act, 1878, with respect to the use which may be made of baths provided under the Baths and Washhouses Acts, 1846 to 1896 : 41 & 42 Vict. c. 14.

. . . . . .

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as " The Baths and Washhouses Act, 1899," and this Act and the Baths and Washhouses Acts, 1846 to 1896, may be cited together for all purposes as the Baths and Washhouses Acts, 1846 to 1899. Short title.

2. From and after the passing of this Act the following proviso to section five of the Baths and Washhouses Act, 1878 (b), viz.,— Amendment of 41 & 42 Vict. c. 14, s. 5.

" Provided always, that no covered or open swimming bath, when closed, may be used for music or dancing," shall be repealed.

Provided always—

(a) That the commissioners appointed under the Baths and Washhouses Acts, 1846 to 1899, or any other body for the time being acting in the execution of those Acts, which commissioners or other body are hereinafter referred to as " such commissioners," shall, before any such bath is used for music or dancing, obtain such licence as may be required for the use of a place for that purpose under any enactment in force in the area for which such commissioners act, or, if no such enactment is in force, obtains a licence from the county council of the county in which the district of such commissioners is situate (c) :

(b) That no portion of the premises in respect of which the licence is granted be let otherwise than occasionally to any person or persons, corporate or otherwise, and that no money for admission be taken at the doors (d) :

(a) See 9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, ante, p. 1199 ; 10 & 11 Vict. c. 61, ante, p. 1267 ; 41 & 42 Vict. c. 14, ante, p. 1498 ; 45 & 46 Vict. c. 30, ante, p. 1534.

(b) Ante, p. 1499.

(c) The effect of the proviso appears to be that in places to which the provisions of the Disorderly Houses Act, 1751, as to music and dancing apply, viz., places within twenty miles of the cities of London and Westminster, and not within the county of Middlesex, before the bath can be used for music or dancing, a licence must be obtained under that Act, as amended by the L. G. A., 1888 ; that where Part IV. of the P. H. A., 1890, ante, p. 860, is in force a licence must be obtained from the licensing justices ; and that in any other place in an administrative county the county council are empowered to grant the necessary licence, unless there is some special enactment in operation making other provision for the grant of licences for music or dancing.

(d) See Att.-Gen. v. Shoreditch Borough Council (1914), 31 T. L. R. 96, affirmed, [1915] 1 Ch. 154. Possibly if no money is taken at the doors tickets may nevertheless be sold elsewhere and admission refused without a ticket.

In Att.-Gen. v. Walthamstow U. D. C., [1910] 1 Ch. 347 ; 74 J. P. 147, the defendants obtained the requisite licence and let the baths in their district to persons who used them for entertainments comprising music, and at these entertainments money for admission was taken at pay boxes placed on the defendants' land just outside the building. It was held that, there being no provisions in the Act making commissioners responsible for the acts of their lessees, the court could not compel the defendants to take proceedings against their lessees at the risk of a decision that what was done by them was not an unlawful evasion of the Act, and that as the defendants did not claim the right to take money at the doors, or to authorise their lessees to do so, no injunction ought to be granted.

(c) That such commissioners be responsible for any breach of the conditions on which the licence is granted, which may occur during any entertainments given on such premises by their permission.

Licence by county council. 25 Geo. 2, c. 36.

3. In places (e) in which the Disorderly Houses Act, 1751, is in force, a licence under that Act for music or dancing, or for both purposes, may be granted to such commissioners at any annual licensing meeting of the council authorised to grant such a licence, or at any other meeting of such council duly convened with fourteen days' previous notice.

Extent of Act.

4. This Act shall not apply to the administrative county of London (f).

THE COMMONS ACT, 1899.

(62 & 63 VICT. c. 30) (g).

An Act to amend the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1882, and the Law relating to Commons and Open Spaces. [9th August 1899.]

PART I.

REGULATION OF COMMONS.

Power for district council to make scheme for regulation of common.

1.—(1) The council of an urban or rural district (h) may make (i) a scheme for the regulation and management of any common (k) within their district (l) with a view to the expenditure of money (m) on the drainage, levelling, and improvement (n) of the common, and to the making of byelaws (o) and regulations for the prevention of nuisances and the preservation of order on the common.

(2) The scheme may contain any of the statutory provisions for the benefit of the neighbourhood mentioned in section seven of the Commons Act, 1876 (p).

39 & 40 Vict. c. 56.

(3) The scheme shall be in the prescribed (q) form, and shall identify by reference to a plan the common to be thereby regulated, and for this purpose an ordnance survey map shall, if possible, be used.

Procedure for making scheme.

2.—(1) Not less than three months before the making of a scheme under this Part of this Act the council shall give the prescribed (q) notice of their

(e) In the cities of London or Westminster or within twenty miles thereof, but not in the administrative county of Middlesex.

(f) As to the administrative county of London, see the Baths and Washhouses Act, 1896.

(g) See the Commons Act, 1876, ante, p. 1455. See further as to waste lands and commons the provisions of ss. 102 and 103 of the Law of Property Act, 1922. The latter Act comes into force on 1st January, 1925.

(h) As to county boroughs, see s. 13.

(i) As to amending or supplementing schemes, see s. 9.

(k) For definition of "common," see s. 15, post, and as to excepted commons, see s. 14, post.

(l) In a case of a common extending into two or more districts the powers of s. 57 of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 971, might be useful in relation to a joint scheme.

(m) As to expenses, see ss. 5, 11, and 12, post.

(n) This word is not defined, nor is s. 5 of the Commons Act, 1876, ante, p. 1457, expressly incorporated.

(o) As to byelaws, see s. 10, post.

(p) Ante, p. 1457.

(q) See s. 15, post. The Board of Agriculture prescribed a form of scheme, and a form of notice of intention to make such scheme, by Commons Regulations, dated May 1st, 1900 (Stat. R. & O., 1900, p. 29), in Appendix II., post. As to whether the scheme will be conclusive as to the limits and extent of the common, see Cook v. Conservators of Mitcham Common, [1901] 1 Ch. 387.

tention to make it, and shall state thereby where copies of the draft of the neme may be spected. They shall also send to the Board of Agriculture (qq) as soon as ssible a copy of the draft and plan.

(2) During the three months aforesaid any person may obtain copies of e draft on payment of a sum not exceeding sixpence per copy, and may spect the plan at the prescribed place, and may make in writing to the ard of Agriculture (qq) any objection or suggestion with respect to the heme or plan.

(3) After the expiration of the said three months the Board of Agriculture (qq) shall take into consideration any objections or suggestions so ade, and for that purpose may, if they think fit, direct that an inquiry be ld by an officer of the Board.

(4) The Board of Agriculture (qq) may by order approve of the scheme, bject to such modifications, if any, as they may think desirable, and ereupon the scheme shall have full effect.

Provided that if, at any time before the Board have approved of the scheme, ey receive a written notice of dissent either—

(a) from the person entitled as lord of the manor or otherwise to the soil of the common; or

(b) from persons representing at least one-third in value of such interests in the common as are affected by the scheme, d such notice is not subsequently withdrawn, the Board shall not proceed rther in the matter (r).

Management of regulated common.

3. The management of any common regulated by a scheme made by a strict council under this Part of this Act shall be vested in the district uncil.

Provision for delegation of powers of district council to parish council.

4. A rural district council may delegate to a parish council any powers management conferred by this Part of this Act on the district council in ation to any commons within the parish, and thereupon the Public Health ts shall apply as if the parish council were a parochial committee (s).

Power for parish council to contribute to expenses.

5. A parish council may agree to contribute the whole or any portion of e expenses of and incidental to the preparation and execution of a scheme the regulation and management of any common within their parish cluding any compensation paid under this Act), and the provisions of ction eleven of the Local Government Act, 1894 (t), shall apply to the 56 & 57 Vict. c. 73.

qq) The Board of Agriculture has now been superseded by the Minister of Agriculture d Fisheries.

r) Note the differences from an application for regulation under s. 12 (5) of the Commons t, 1876, ante, p. 1464, and note (h) thereon.

s) See P. H. A., 1875, s. 202, ante, p. 467. The power of delegation can only be exered after the scheme is made, as the scheme itself cannot confer rights on a parish council. rural district council may delegate its powers for a specified period, only resuming them such time or under such conditions as it may prescribe. The Board of Agriculture and sheries were of opinion that the power to make byelaws under a scheme is not a power of nagement which can be delegated under this section.

t) This section provides as follows: (1) A parish council shall not, without the consent a parish meeting, incur expenses or liabilities which will involve a rate exceeding threence in the pound for any local financial year, or which will involve a loan. (2) A parish ncil shall not, without the approval of the county council, incur any expense or liability ich will involve a loan. (3) The sum raised in any local financial year by a parish council their expenses (other than expenses under the adoptive Acts), shall not exceed a sum al to a rate of sixpence in the pound on the rateable value of the parish at the commencement of the year, and for the purpose of this enactment the expression "expenses" ludes any annual charge, whether of principal or interest, in respect of any loan. Subject to the provisions of this Act, the expenses of a parish council and of a parish eting, including the expenses of any poll, shall be paid out of the poor rate; and where expenses incurred by the parish council for the purposes of such contribu tion.

Provision for compensation

6. No estate, interest, or right (u) of a profitable or beneficial nature in over, or affecting any common shall, except with the consent of the perso entitled thereto, be taken away or injuriously affected by any scheme unde this Part of this Act without compensation being made or provided for th same by the council making the scheme, and such compensation shall, i case of difference, be ascertained and provided in the same manner as if i were for the compulsory purchase and taking, or the injurious affecting, o lands under the Lands Clauses Acts (x).

Power for district council to acquire property in regulated common.

7. A district council may acquire the fee simple or any estate in or an rights in or over any common regulated by a scheme under this Part of thi Act by gift or by purchase by agreement, and hold the same without licenc in mortmain (y) for the purposes of the scheme, and the expenses thereb incurred by the district council shall be part of their expenses of executin the scheme (z).

Digging of gravel. 39 & 40 Vict. c. 56.

8. Section twenty of the Commons Act, 1876 (which relates to the diggin of gravel) (a), shall apply to any common regulated by a scheme under thi Part of this Act.

Power to amend scheme.

9. The power to make a scheme under this Part of this Act shall includ power to amend or supplement any such scheme.

Provisions as to byelaws.

10. The provisions with respect to byelaws contained in sections one hundre and eighty-two to one hundred and eighty-six, both inclusive, of the Publi Health Act, 1875 (b), and any enactment amending or extending those sections shall apply to all byelaws made in pursuance of a scheme under this Part of thi Act, and any fine imposed by any such byelaw shall be recoverable summaril and be payable to the council in whom the management of the commo is vested.

there is a parish council that council shall pay the said expenses of the parish meetin of the parish; and the parish council, and where there is no parish council the chairma of the parish meeting, shall, for the purpose of obtaining payment of such expenses, hav the same powers as a board of guardians have for the purpose of obtaining contribution to their common fund. (5) The demand note for any rate levied for defraying the expense of a parish council or a parish meeting, together with other expenses, shall state in th prescribed form the proportion of the rate levied for the expenses of the council or meetin and the proportion (if any) levied for the purpose of any of the adoptive Acts.

As to the limits of amount laid down by this section, see R. v. Stoke Parish Counc (1900), 64 J. P. 343; 82 L. T. 198.

An alternative method by which the expenses of promoting a scheme for the regulatio of a common in a rural district can be thrown upon the parish or parishes more particularl benefiting is for the rural district council to apply to the Minister of Health for a "specia expenses" order (see P. H. A., 1875, s. 229, and P. H. A., 1890). The Minister woul probably not issue such an order, however, unless the parish council or councils ha unreasonably refused to contribute.

(u) The right of maintaining a publichouse sign-post in a spot where it had stood fo over forty years was held to be a right of a profitable or beneficial nature within the word of a similar enactment (Hoare v. Metropolitan Board of Works (1874), L. R. 9 Q. B. 296 38 J. P. 535). See generally on this subject Att.-Gen. v. Amhurst (1879), 23 Sol. J. 443 and judgment in full, Hunter on Open Spaces, 2nd ed., App. III., p. 468.

(x) See 8 & 9 Vict. c. 18, s. 68, ante, p. 1164. Sections 25—57 of the same Act, ant pp. 1153—1162, provide for settling cases of disputed compensation.

(y) See note (e), ante, p. 1660.

(z) As to expenses, see ss. 5, 11 and 12. It has been suggested that the power of acqui ing the fee, etc., may be exercised by one council in respect of a common regulated b another council, and that this may be found useful in the case of a common in a rura district near to a town in an urban district.

(a) Ante, p. 1467.

(b) Ante, pp. 432—444. Sections 16 and 17 of the Commons Act, 1876, ante, pp. 1466 1467, do not apply to these byelaws.

11.—(1) All expenses incurred by the Board of Agriculture (bb) in relation a scheme under this Part of this Act, and all expenses of and incidental the preparation and execution of the scheme (including any compensation id under this Act) (c) shall be paid by the district council. Expenses.

(2) All expenses incurred by a district council under this Part of this t shall be treated as part of the expenses of the district council in the ecution of the powers conferred by the Public Health Acts (d).

(3) A district council may for the purposes of this Act borrow money in e manner and subject to the like conditions as they may borrow for defray- g expenses incurred in the execution of the Public Health Acts, and the said ts shall apply accordingly (e).

12. The council of any urban district may, with a view to the benefit of e inhabitants of their district, and subject to the approval of the Local overnment Board (ee), enter into an undertaking with any other council aking or having made a scheme under this Part of this Act to contribute any rtion of the expenses incurred by that council in executing the scheme. Power for urban district council to contribute towards expenses.

13. This Part of this Act shall apply to the council of a county borough like manner as if that council were the council of an urban district. Application to county boroughs.

14. A scheme under this Part of this Act shall not apply to any common nich is or might be the subject of a scheme made under the Metropolitan ommons Acts, 1866 to 1878, or is regulated by a provisional order under e Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1882, or has been acquired, or managed as an en space, under the powers of the Corporation of London (Open Spaces) ct, 1878, or any Act therein referred to, or is the subject of any private or cal and personal Act of Parliament having for its object the preservation the common as an open space (f), or is subject to byelaws made by a parish uncil under section eight of the Local Government Act, 1894 (g). Saving for commons regulated under other Acts. 41 & 42 Vict. c. cxxvii.

15. In this Part of this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,— Definitions.

The expression "common" shall include any land subject to be inclosed under the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1882, and any town or village green (h);

The expression "prescribed" shall mean prescribed by regulations made by the Board of Agriculture (i).

PART II.

Miscellaneous.

16.—(1) Surplus rents arising from field gardens may, in addition to the urposes for which they are now applicable (k), be applied for any of the Surplus rents from field gardens and recreation grounds.

(bb) Now Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries.

(c) See s. 6, ante, p. 1840.

(d) And will, therefore, in an urban district not a borough, be payable out of the general strict rate (see P. H. A., 1875, s. 207, ante, p. 469), and in a rural district out of the ommon fund (ibid., s. 229, ante, p. 510). See, however, note (t), ante, p. 1839.

(e) See P. H. A., 1875, ss. 233 et seq., ante, p. 521.

(ee) Now Minister of Health.

(f) See the Open Spaces Act, 1906, s. 2, post, p. 1947.

(g) This section enables a parish council to exercise with respect to any recreation round, village green, open space, or public walk which is for the time being under their ontrol or to the expense of which they have contributed, powers similar to those of local uthorities under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 164, ante, p. 369, and the P. H. A., 1890, s. 44, nte, p. 857.

(h) As to town or village greens, see the Commons Act, 1876, s. 29, ante, p. 1470, and otes.

(i) See the Commons Regulations, dated May 1st, 1900 (Stat. R. & O., 1900, p. 29), post, pp. 11. For Board of Agriculture now read Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries.

(k) See the Commons Act, 1876, s. 27, ante, p. 1469. The same section regulates the pplication of surplus rents arising from recreation grounds.

purposes for which surplus rents arising from recreation grounds may be applied.

(2) Surplus rents arising from any field garden or recreation ground may be applied towards the redemption of any land tax, tithe rentcharge, or other charge on the garden or ground.

17. [Amendment of 50 & 51 Vict. c. 32 as to open spaces] (l).

Power to modify provisions as to recreation grounds, etc.

18. Any provisions with respect to allotments for recreation grounds, field gardens, or other public or parochial purposes contained in any Act relating to inclosure or in any award or order made in pursuance thereof, and any provisions with respect to the management of any such allotments contained in any such Act, order, or award, may, on the application of any district or parish council interested in any such allotment, be dealt with by a scheme of the Charity Commissioners in the exercise of their ordinary jurisdiction, as if those provisions had been established by the founder in the case of a charity having a founder (m).

Amendment of 8 & 9 Vict. c. 118.

19. Section one hundred and fifty of the Inclosure Act, 1845 (n), shall have effect as if "two successive weeks" were therein inserted instead of "three successive weeks," and as if "one month" were therein inserted instead of "three calendar months."

Amendment of law as to adjournment of meetings.

20. Where notice has been given of any sitting, whether original or by adjournment, to be held by an officer of the Board of Agriculture (nn) under the Metropolitan Commons Acts, 1866 to 1878, that officer may, by notice to be published in such manner as the Board direct, adjourn the sitting without attending for the purpose of the adjournment (o).

Annual report to Parliament. 29 & 30 Vict. c. 122.

21. (p) Section twenty of the Metropolitan Commons Act, 1866, is hereby repealed, and the Board of Agriculture (nn) shall include in an annual report to Parliament a statement of their proceedings under Part I. of this Act and under the Metopolitan Commons Acts, 1866 to 1878, during the year ending the thirty-first day of December then last past, with such particulars as to their proceedings under the last-mentioned Acts as are required by section twenty-one of the Metropolitan Commons Act, 1866 (q).

(l) This section is repealed by s. 23 and the schedule to the Open Spaces Act, 1906, other provision having been made by that Act to the like effect.

(m) See the Charitable Trusts Act, 1853, ss. 54—59.

The Charity Commissioners are of opinion that the restrictive provisions of s. 19 of the Commons Act, 1876 (ante, p. 1467), are not affected by s. 18 of the Commons Act, 1899, and that accordingly the Charity Commissioners are not at liberty to sanction the sale or letting on building lease of any part of an allotment falling within the section first above mentioned. Hunter on Open Spaces, 2nd ed., p. 231, note.

(n) This section relates to notices of divisions of intermixed lands under s. 148 and exchanges of inconvenient allotments under s. 149 of the same Act.

(nn) Now Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries.

(o) For procedure under the Metropolitan Commons Acts, see Hunter on Open Spaces, 2nd ed., pp. 264, 265.

(p) The S. L. R. A., 1908, repealed the italicised words in s. 21, the opening words of s. 23 and Schedule II. The Acts repealed (as having "been made unnecessary by" or being "inconsistent with subsequent enactments") were the Inclosure Acts, 1756 and 1757, the Inclosure (Consolidation) Act, 1801, the Inclosure Act, 1821, the Common Fields Exchange Act, 1834, the Inclosure Acts, 1836 and 1840, and the Inclosure Act, 1845, ss. 121, 122.

(q) By this section the Minister must, in his annual report, set forth in full every scheme certified by him during the year to which the report relates, and state the grounds of his approval, and the objections (if any) made to it and overruled, and all proceedings had in respect of these objections and the grounds on which they were overruled.

22.—(1) A grant or inclosure of common purporting to be made under Restrictions on inclosures under scheduled Acts (qq).
e general authority of any of the Acts mentioned (r) in the First Schedule reto or any Act incorporating the same, or any provisions thereof, shall t be valid unless it is either—

(a) specially authorised by Act of Parliament; or

(b) made to or by any Government Department; or

(c) made with the consent of the Board of Agriculture (rr).

(2) The Board of Agriculture (rr), in giving or withholding their consent der this section, shall have regard to the same considerations, and shall, necessary, hold the same inquiries as are directed by the Commons Act, 39 & 40 Vict. c. 56. 76, to be taken into consideration and held by the Board before forming opinion whether an application under the Inclosure Acts shall be acceded or not.

23. [Repeal of Acts in second Schedule.] (s) Repeal.
This repeal shall not affect the construction or effect of any local and per- ıal Act of Parliament passed before the commencement of this Act, whereby y provisions of the said enactments are intended to be incorporated.

24. This Act may be cited as "The Commons Act, 1899," and shall be Short title. d with the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1882.

THE TELEGRAPH ACT, 1899.

(62 & 63 VICT. c. 38) (t).

An Act to make further Provisions for the Improvement of Telephonic Communication, and otherwise with respect to Telegraphs. [9th August 1899.

* * * * * *

Payment of expenses of exercise of powers under telephone licence.

2.—(1) Where the council of a borough or an urban district are licensed (u) by the Postmaster-General to provide a system of public telephonic communication, they may defray the expenses of exercising the powers conferred by the licence in the case of a borough out of the borough fund or borough rate, and in the case of an urban district not a borough out of the rate out of which the general expenses of the council in the execution of the Public Health Acts are defrayed (v), and may borrow money for the purpose in accordance with the Public Health Acts (x), but in the case of (t) In Att.-Gen. v. Edison Telephone Co. of London (1880), 6 Q. B. D. 244, it was held that the terms "telegrams" and "telegraphs" as used in the Telegraph Acts include telephonic messages and telephones, so that it is necessary for the purpose of setting up telephones and transmitting telephone communications to obtain a licence from the Postmaster-General under s. 5 of the Telegraph Act, 1869, in order to avoid the infringement of his exclusive privilege under s. 4 of that Act. Moreover, the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, whilst it authorises local authorities to undertake the supply of electricity in certain cases for certain purposes, excludes from those purposes "the transmission of any telegram" (s. 3 (4), ante, p. 1566), and contains in s. 35, ante, p. 1580, a special saving for the exclusive privileges of the Postmaster-General. Consequently a licence from him is necessary in all cases where local authorities desire to provide a system of telephonic communication. This Act provides for their expenses when they have obtained such licence. Section 1 relates merely to the grant of public moneys to the Postmaster-General for the purposes of the Telegraph Acts, and is therefore omitted.

(u) Under s. 5 of the Telegraph Act, 1869.

By s. 5 of the Telegraph Act, 1892, (1) Where the Postmaster-General has, either before or after the passing of this Act, licensed any company or person to transmit any telegram within the meaning of the Telegraph Acts, 1863 to 1889, he may by the same or any other licence, authorise such company or person (in this Act referred to as "the licensee") during the time and within the area specified in the licence, to exercise the powers which are conferred on the Postmaster-General by the Telegraph Acts, 1863 and 1878, and by the provisions of this Act relating to provisional orders, or such of those powers as are specified in the licence, and thereupon the enactments conferring those powers or relating to the exercise thereof, including any penal provisions, shall apply accordingly: (2) Provided as follows: —(a) A licensee shall not exercise any powers under the said enactments except in an urban sanitary district or such area adjoining an urban sanitary district as is described in the licence: (b) Notwithstanding anything in the Telegraph Act, 1878, a licensee shall not exercise any powers under the said enactments without the consent, in London of the county council, and in any urban sanitary district outside London of the urban sanitary authority, and elsewhere of the county council, and shall be subject to any terms and conditions which the county council or urban sanitary authority may attach to any such consent, and shall comply with any regulations of such council or authority from time to time in force in relation to telegraphic lines.

The refusal of their consent by the urban sanitary authority under this section is not a "difference" between that body and the Postmaster-General which may be referred to a stipendiary magistrate or county court judge under s. 4 of the Telegraph Act, 1878 (National Telephone Co. v. Tunbridge Wells Corporation (1901), 85 L. T. 368, affirming 65 J. P. 756; 48 W. R. 686). The conditions which the urban authority are entitled to impose must not relate to matters entirely outside the scope of their duty as road authority. For instance, a condition that the wires should not be laid unless the licensees were prepared to provide an improved service at a reduced cost is not within the power of the urban authority to impose (Postmaster-General v. London Corporation (1898), 62 J. P. 380; 78 L. T. 120). But in the case of overhead wires they may impose conditions for securing the public safety (Wandsworth District L. B. v. Postmaster General (1884), 4 Rail. & Can. Cas. 301). The regulations referred to in the latter part of the above section seem to mean byelaws under Part II., ss. 13 et seq. of the P. H. A., 1890, ante, p. 826.

(v) Usually the general district rate. See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 207, ante, p. 469.

Provisions as to existing companies.

3.—(1) Where any existing company have before the passing of this Act, nder a licence from the Postmaster-General, provided a system of public elephonic communication in any exchange area (z), and it is proposed to rant a new licence to a local authority or to another company to provide ublic telephonic communication in the same exchange area, or any part hereof, then, if the existing company consent to it being made a condition f their licence—

(a) that they will not give favour or preference (a) to any person whomsoever within the area specified in the new licence, and will not, within that area, as a condition of giving a service, require from any person the grant of any facility except for the purpose of supplying telephonic communication to that person; and shall be a condition of the grant of the new licence, that where it is proved o the satisfaction of the Postmaster-General that the existing company ave incurred or contracted to incur, in the area specified in the new licence, naterial expenditure in laying down underground wires, and have by agreement with any local authority within that area acquired powers for that urpose, those powers shall continue for the period specified in the new icence for the duration thereof (c), but, subject as aforesaid, on the terms and onditions specified in the agreement (including any provisions thereof for etermination on breach of covenant), except so far as they may be varied y any subsequent agreement with the local authority.

(b) that their charges shall not, within the area specified in the new licence, exceed the maximum rates or fall below the minimum rates authorised in that behalf by the Postmaster-General within that area (b).

(y) Sub-sections (2) and (3) relate to Scotland and Ireland only, and are therefore nitted.

(z) Defined in sub-s. (6).

(a) The allowance of a commission for collecting messages is not a preference (Reuter v. lectric Telegraph Co. (1857), 6 E. & B. 341; 26 L. J. Q. B. 46).

In connection with the subject of charges the following cases should be noted.

A telephone company supplied the use of a telephone wire and apparatus under an reement for three years at a rent payable quarterly. After the expiration of the three ars the parties continued the agreement by mutual consent, but on the last day of a full uarter the company gave the customer notice determining the agreement forthwith id stating their intention to cut off the wire and remove the apparatus, at the same time manding rent up to one day beyond the quarter. This rent was duly paid to and cepted by them, and the customer moved for an injunction to restrain the company om interfering with the wire and apparatus:—Held, that the agreement created the lation of landlord and tenant, and therefore the acceptance of the rent for the extra day as a waiver of the notice to determine the contract, and the injunction was granted eith, Prowse & Co. v. National Telephone Co., [1894] 2 Ch. 147; 58 J. P. 373).

As to stamp duty on the ordinary form of agreement with a customer, see National lephone Co. v. Inland Revenue Commissioners, [1900] A. C. 1; 64 J. P. 420.

(b) Section 2 of the Telegraph Act, 1885, gave the Postmaster-General general power r fixing the sums to be from time to time paid on account of the transmission of teleams, which include telephonic communications.

(c) That is, of the powers, not of the licence (National Telephone Co. v. Kingston-upon-ull Corporation (1903), 68 J. P. 62; 89 L. T. 291). An action by the telephone company ainst the local authority for the purpose of raising the question whether the duration the powers conferred by the agreement was extended is not within the Public Authorities otection Act, 1893, and consequently the defendants succeeding were only entitled to rty and party costs (National Telephone Co. v. Kingston-upon-Hull Corporation (1904), W. R. 26).

(2) Where an existing company is at the passing of this Act under a licence from the Postmaster-General supplying public telephonic communication in any exchange area, a licence to provide a system of public telephonic communication within the same area, or any part thereof, shall not be granted by the Postmaster-General to any person or body other than the council of a borough or urban district, unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the Postmaster-General that the application for the licence is approved by the council of each borough or urban district within which it is proposed by the application to establish a telephonic exchange.

(3) An existing company shall not, without the consent of the Postmaster-General given after the passing of this Act in each case, open an exchange in any exchange area in which they had not, before the passing of this Act, established an effective exchange.

(4) Where a local authority or a new company, under a licence from the Postmaster-General, provides a system of public telephonic communication in the whole or any part of an exchange area in competition with an existing company licensed by the Postmaster-General before the passing of this Act, then, if the existing company consent to it being made a condition of their licence—

(a) that they will not give favour or preference to any person whomsoever within the whole of the exchange area in question, and will not within that exchange area as a condition of giving a service, require from any person the grant of any facility except for the purpose of supplying telephonic communication to that person; and

(b) that their charges shall not within the whole of the exchange area in question exceed the maximum rates and (where the company are empowered by agreement with the local authority to lay underground wires) shall not fall below the minimum rates authorised in that behalf by the Postmaster-General within the area specified in the new licence, the licence of the existing company shall within the whole of the exchange area in question be extended and continue for the period specified in the new licence of the local authority or new company for the duration of such new licence, but, except as varied by this Act, the provisions of the licence of the existing company (including any provisions thereof for determination on breach of convenant) shall remain in force.

(5) If the licence of an existing company is, under the provisions of this section, extended in respect of any exchange area for a period of not less than eight years beyond the term existing at the passing of this Act, the company shall, at the request of any other licensee of the Postmaster-General providing public telephonic communication in the whole or any part of that exchange area, and under such circumstances and on such terms and conditions as may, within six months from the passing of this Act, be prescribed by an order of the Postmaster-General, made with the approval of the Treasury, afford all proper facilities for the transmission of telephonic messages between persons using the system of the company (either in the whole or in part of the exchange area, as the Postmaster-General may prescribe) and persons using the system of such other licensee, provided that the licensee so requiring intercommunication shall in any such case afford similar facilities.

(6) For the purposes of this section the expression "exchange area" means an exchange area as defined by an agreement made by an existing company with the Postmaster-General before the passing of this Act.

THE SMALL DWELLINGS ACQUISITION ACT, 1899.

(62 & 63 VICT. c. 44) (d).

n Act to empower Local Authorities to advance Money for enabling Persons to acquire the Ownership of Small Houses in which they reside.

[9th August 1899.]

Power of local authority to advance money to residents in houses for the purchase of houses.

1.—(1) A local authority (e) for any area may, subject to the provisions this Act, advance money to a resident (f) in any house within the area for ıe purpose of enabling him to acquire the ownership (g) of that house ; rovided that any advance shall not exceed—

(a) [Eighty-five per cent.] (ff) of that which in the opinion of the local authority is the market value of the ownership ; nor

(b) two hundred and forty pounds ; or, in the case of a fee simple or leasehold of not less than ninety-nine years unexpired at the date of the purchase, three hundred pounds (fff) ;

ıd an advance shall not be made for the acquisition of the ownership of a ɔuse where in the opinion of the local authority the market value (h) of the ɔuse exceeds [eight] (ff) hundred pounds.

(2) Every such advance shall be repaid with interest within such period ɔt exceeding thirty years from the date of the advance as may be agreed ɔon.

(3) . . . (i).

(4) The repayment may be made either by equal instalments of principal by an annuity of principal and interest combined, and all payments on ·count of principal or interest shall be made either weekly or at periods not xceeding a half year, according as may be agreed.

(5) The proprietor of a house in respect of which an advance has been made ay at any of the usual quarter days, after one month's written notice, and ı paying all sums due on account of interest, repay to the local authority ıe whole of the outstanding principal of the advance, or any part thereof

(d) The object of this statute is to provide facilities for acquiring small dwellings similar those for acquiring small holdings, as to which see now the Small Holdings and Allotents Act, 1908, s. 19. It may, however, be administered not by county councils only, t by any urban or rural district council who resolve to undertake to act under it subject the provisions of s. 9. It is entirely permissive, no landlord being obliged to sell, nor y local authority absolutely compelled to advance money towards the purchase of any rticular house or class of houses. It is limited to houses of the maximum value of £800.

(e) See s. 9, post.

(f) Who must also be the occupier. See s. 10 (1). As to suspension of the condition residence, see s. 7. The resident, however, if a member of a local authority, would disqualified under s. 46 of the L. G. A., 1894 (ante, p. 952), where that section applies, e exception in that section under sub-s. (2) being expressly limited to cases of loans to d not from the local authority. But as regards advances to officers of the local authority ere would seem to be no disqualification, as s. 193 of the P. H. A., 1875 (ante, p. 456), not applicable.

(ff) 85 per cent. was substituted for " four-fifths," and eight was substituted for " four " s. 49 of the Housing, etc. Act, 1919, post, p. 2168.

(fff) This paragraph was repealed by s. 49 of the Housing, etc. Act of 1919, post, p. 2169.

(g) As to the meaning of ownership, see s. 10 (2), (3). It will be observed that advances n only be made in respect of houses actually erected.

(h) The L. G. B. were advised that this expression means the market value of the eehold of the site and house.

(i) This sub-section which related to the rate of interest was repealed by s. 11 (4) and hedule to the Housing Act, 1921. As regards advances made after 1st July, 1921, s. 5 the Housing Act, 1921, enacted that the rate of interest should be such rate as the inister of Health might, with the approval of the Treasury, from time to time fix. See e Order of the Minister dated 26th August, 1921, in the Appendix, post.

The Public Works Loan Commissioners are authorised to lend the money under s. 9 (7), st.

being ten pounds or a multiple of ten pounds, and where the repayment is made by an annuity of principal and interest combined, the amount so outstanding and the amount by which the annuity will be reduced where a part of the advance is paid off, shall be determined by a table annexed to the instrument securing the repayment of the advance (k).

Procedure for obtaining advance.

2. Before making an advance under this Act in respect of a house a local authority shall be satisfied—

(a) that the applicant for the advance is resident or intends to reside in the house (l), and is not already the proprietor within the meaning of this Act (m) of a house to which the statutory conditions apply; and

(b) that the value of the ownership (n) of the house is sufficient; and

(c) that the title to the ownership is one which an ordinary mortgagee would be willing to accept; and

(d) that the house is in good sanitary condition and good repair (o); and

(e) that the repayment to the local authority of the advance is secured by an instrument vesting the ownership (including any interest already held by the purchaser) in the local authority subject to the right of redemption by the applicant, but such instrument shall not contain anything inconsistent with the provisions of this Act (p).

Conditions affecting house purchased by means of advance.

3.—(1) Where the ownership of a house has been acquired by means of an advance under this Act, the house shall, until such advance with interest has been fully paid, or the local authority have taken possession or ordered a sale under this Act (q), be held subject to the following conditions (in this Act referred to as the statutory conditions), that is to say:

(a) Every sum for the time being due in respect of principal or of interest of the advance shall be punctually paid:

(b) The proprietor of the house shall reside (r) in the house:

(c) The house shall be kept insured against fire to the satisfaction of the local authority, and the receipts for the premiums produced when required by them:

(d) The house shall be kept in good sanitary condition and good repair:

(e) The house shall not be used for the sale of intoxicating liquors, or in such a manner as to be a nuisance to adjacent houses (s):

(f) The local authority shall have power to enter the house by any person authorised by them in writing for the purpose, at all reasonable times, for the purpose of ascertaining whether the statutory conditions are complied with.

(2) The proprietor of the house may with the permission of the local (k) No form is prescribed for this instrument. See further, s. 2 (e), infra.

(l) As to residence, see s. 10 (1), post; and as to intended residence, see s. 7, post.

(m) See s. 10 (3), post.

(n) See s. 10 (2), post.

(o) This condition necessarily implies that the house must be already built.

(p) It must have a table of repayments annexed. See s. 1 (5), ante, p. 1847. The costs in connection with the instrument, etc., seem to be payable by the applicant for the advance. See as to the non-necessity of a reconveyance when the money is paid off, s. 49 of the Housing, etc., Act, 1919, post, p. 2169.

(q) See sub-ss. (2)—(5), and ss. 5 and 6, post.

(r) Subject to the provisions of s. 7, post.

(s) Quære, whether by the instrument vesting the ownership in the local authority, a stricter restriction as to the user of the house could be imposed than that implied by the word "nuisance." See s. 2 (e), supra. The user of the house for trade or for taking in lodgers is not prohibited by the Act, but this condition would exclude offensive trades. See s. 114 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 215, and notes.

uthority (which shall not be unreasonably withheld) (t) at any time transfer s interest in the house, but any such transfer shall be made subject to the atutory conditions (u).

(3) Where default is made in complying with the statutory condition as to sidence, the local authority may take possession of the house (x), or order e sale of the house without taking possession (y).

(4) In the case of the breach of any condition other than that of punctual yment of the principal and interest of the advance, the authority shall, eviously to taking possession or ordering a sale, by notice in writing delivered the house and addressed to the proprietor, call on the proprietor to comply th the condition, and if the proprietor—

(a) within fourteen days after the delivery of the notice gives an undertaking in writing to the authority to comply with the notice; and

(b) within two months after the delivery of the notice complies therewith, all not take possession or order a sale, as the case may be.

(5) In the case of the bankruptcy of the proprietor of the house, or in the se of a deceased proprietor's estate being administered in bankruptcy under ction one hundred and twenty-five of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, the local uthority may either take possession of the house or order the sale of the house thout taking possession, and shall do so except in pursuance of some arrangeent to the contrary with the trustee in bankruptcy (z). 46 & 47 Vict. c. 52.

4.—(1) Where the ownership of a house has been acquired by means of an dvance under this Act, the person who is the proprietor shall be personally ble for the repayment of any sum due in respect of the advance until e ceases to be proprietor, by reason of a transfer made in accordance with is Act (a). Provisions as to personal liability and powers of proprietor.

(2) The provisions of this Act requiring the permission of the local authoy to the transfer of the proprietor's interest in a house under this Act all not apply to any charge on that interest made by the proprietor, so far the charge does not affect any rights or powers of the local authority under is Act.

5.—(1) Where a local authority take possession of a house, all the estate, ght, interest, and claim of the proprietor in or to the house shall, subject in this section mentioned, vest in and become the property of the local uthority, and that authority may either retain the house under their own anagement or sell or otherwise dispose of it as they think expedient. Recovery of possession and disposal of house.

(2) Where a local authority take possession of a house they shall, save hereinafter mentioned, pay to the proprietor (b) either—

(a) such sum as may be agreed upon; or

(b) a sum equal to the value of the interest in the house at the disposal

(t) In the case of landlord and tenant, if licence to assign is unreasonably withheld, e tenant may assign without it (Willmott v. London Road Car Co., Ltd., [1910] 2 Ch. 5; West v. Gwynne, [1911] 2 Ch. 1). But quære whether the same rule would apply re.

Permission is unnecessary for charges not affecting the rights or powers of the local thority. See s. 4 (2), infra.

(u) No special form of transfer is prescribed.

(x) See s. 5, infra.

(y) See s. 6, post, p. 1850.

(z) The trustee in bankruptcy will become the proprietor for the purposes of the Act. e s. 10 (3), post, and s. 38 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1914. If an arrangement is made e condition as to residence may be suspended; see s. 7 (3), post.

(a) As to transfers, see s. 3 (2), ante, p. 1848.

(b) If possession is taken on the bankruptcy of the proprietor, it would seem that der s. 10 (3), post, payment should be made to the trustee.

of the local authority, after deducting therefrom the amount of the advance then remaining unpaid and any sum due for interest; and the said value, in the absence of a sale and in default of agreement, shall be settled by a county court judge as arbitrator, or if the Lord Chancellor so authorises, by a single arbitrator appointed by the county court judge, and the Arbitration Act, 1889, shall apply to any such arbitration.

52 & 53 Vict. c. 49.

(3) The sum so payable to the proprietor if not paid within three months after the date of taking possession shall carry interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum from the date of taking possession.

(4) All costs of or incidental to the taking possession, sale, or other disposal of the house (including the costs of the arbitration, if any) incurred by the local authority, before the amount payable to the proprietor has been settled either by agreement or arbitration, shall be deducted from the amount otherwise payable to the proprietor.

(5) Where the local authority are entitled under this Act to take possession of a house, possession may be recovered (whatever may be the value of the house) by or on behalf of the local authority either under sections one hundred and thirty-eight to one hundred and forty-five of the County Courts Act 1888 (c), or under the Small Tenements Recovery Act, 1838 (d), as in the cases therein provided for, and in either case may be recovered as if the local authority were the landlord and the proprietor of the house were the tenant.

51 & 52 Vict. c. 43.
1 & 2 Vict. c. 74.

Procedure as to ordering sale.

6.—(1) Where a local authority order the sale of a house without taking possession, they shall cause it to be put up for sale by auction, and out of the proceeds of sale retain any sum due to them on account of the interest or principal of the advance, and all costs, charges, and expenses properly incurred by them in or about the sale of the house, and pay over the balance (if any) to the proprietor (e).

(2) If the local authority are unable at the auction to sell the house for such a sum as will allow of the payment out of the proceeds of sale of the interest and principal of the advance then due to the authority, and the costs, charges, and expenses aforesaid, they may take possession of the house in manner provided by this Act, but shall not be liable to pay any sum to the proprietor.

Suspension of conditions as to residence.

7.—(1) An advance may be made to an applicant who intends to reside in a house, as if he were resident, if he undertakes to begin his residence

(c) These sections provide for the recovery of small tenements where the term has expired or been determined by notice to quit (s. 138), or for non-payment of rent (s. 139) for service of the summons (s. 141), for warrants to the high bailiffs (ss. 142, 143), for protection of the judge and other officers (s. 144), and of the landlord (s. 145). The procedure is by plaint and summons, order for possession, and warrant in case of disobedience. The usual time allowed for delivery of possession in cases under s. 138 is fourteen days, but in cases under s. 139 it must not be less than four weeks from the day of hearing. In case of proceedings for possession on breach of the condition as to payment of principal and interest, it would seem that the order for possession must give the time prescribed by s. 139, and, therefore, it may be more speedy to proceed under the Small Tenements Recovery Act, 1838. Moreover, it would seem that if the proprietor pays up all arrears and costs during the prescribed time, he will not be subject to be turned out.

(d) This Act provides for the issue of a warrant by the petty sessions court for giving up possession within a period not less than twenty-one, nor more than thirty, clear days from the date of the warrant (see R. v. Hopkins (1900), 64 J. P. 454). Seven days' notice of the application must be given, and it seems doubtful whether the justices have power to award costs (Stone's Justices' Manual, sub-tit. Landlord and Tenant).

(e) If the sale has been ordered on the bankruptcy of the proprietor, it seems that the trustee becomes proprietor for the purposes of the Act under s. 10 (3), and payment should be made to him.

herein within such period not exceeding six months from the date of the dvance, as the local authority may fix, and in that case the statutory ondition requiring residence (f) shall be suspended during that period.

(2) The local authority may allow a proprietor to permit, by letting or therwise, a house to be occupied as a furnished house by some other person luring a period not exceeding four months in the whole in any twelve months, r during absence from the house in the performance of any duty arising rom or incidental to any office, service, or employment held or undertaken y him, and the condition requiring residence shall be suspended while he permission continues (g).

(3) Where the proprietor of a house subject to statutory conditions dies, he condition requiring residence shall be suspended until the expiration of welve months from the death, or any earlier date at which the personal epresentatives transfer the ownership or interest of the proprietor in the ourse of administration; and where the proprietor of any such house ecomes bankrupt, or his estate is administered in bankruptcy under section ne hundred and twenty-five of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, and in either ase an arrangement under this Act (h) is made with the trustee in bankruptcy, he condition as to residence shall, if the local authority think fit, be suspended luring the continuance of the arrangement.

List of advances.

8.—(1) A local authority shall keep at their offices a book containing a ist of any advances made by them under this Act, and shall enter therein vith regard to each advance—

(i) a description of the house in respect of which the advance is made;

(ii) the amount advanced;

(iii) the amount for the time being repaid;

(iv) the name of the proprietor for the time being of the house; and

(v) such other particulars as the local authority may think fit to enter.

(2) The book shall be open to inspection at the office of the local authority luring office hours free of charge.

Local authorities and rates.

9.—(1) A local authority for the purpose of this Act shall be the council f any county or county borough; and if the council of any urban district ot being a county borough, or of any rural district, pass a resolution under- aking to act under this Act, that council shall, subject in the case of the council f a district containing a population according to the last census for the time eing of less than ten thousand to the consent of the county council, be the ocal authority in that district for the purpose of this Act to the exclusion f any other authority (i): Provided that, if the council of any district are lissatisfied with any refusal (k) or failure of the county council to give their

(f) See s. 3 (1) (b), ante, and s. 10 (1).

(g) Compare the provisions of the House Occupiers Disqualification Removal Act, 1878, . 2, and the Electoral Disabilities Removal Act, 1891, both now repealed by the Repre- entation of the People Act, 1918.

(h) See s. 3 (5), ante. Reference must now be made to the substituted provisions of the Bankruptcy Act, 1914.

(i) Under sub-s. (3), infra, the urban or rural district will, consequently, be freed from ontributing to the expenses of the county council under the Act, but any resolution passed imply with that object, and without any intention on the part of the district council hemselves to act upon their undertaking, would be clearly a breach of duty on their part.

(k) In a case in which a county council refused to give consent to an urban district ouncil whose district did not contain a population of 10,000, taking action under this Act because no applications had been made thereunder, the L. G. B. stated that the mere act of no application having been made to the district council for an advance afforded no ufficient reason for refusing to consider an application for consent to act, inasmuch as pplications for such advances were not likely to be made to a council who had no power o act, and further, that the question whether a particular district council should be llowed to act should be considered with reference to such points as whether the council consent, they may appeal to the Local Government Board (kk) and the Local Government Board (kk) may, if they think fit, give their consent, and the consent so given shall have the same effect as the consent of the county council.

(2) Where the council of an urban or rural district becomes the local authority for the purposes of this Act, all the powers, rights, and liabilities of the county council in respect of advances already made by them under this Act for the purchase of the ownership of any house in the district shall vest in the council of the urban or rural district, subject to the payment by that council to the county council of the outstanding principal and interest of any such advance (l).

(3) All expenses of a local authority in the execution of this Act shall be paid in the case of a county out of the county rate, and in the case of a county borough, out of the borough fund or borough rate, and in the case of any urban or rural district out of any fund or rate applicable to the general purposes of the Public Health Acts (m); but no sum shall be raised in any urban or rural district the council of which becomes a local authority for the purposes of this Act on account of the expenses of a county council under this Act.

(4) If in any local financial year the expenses payable by a council and not reimbursed by the receipts under this Act exceed in a county a sum equal to one halfpenny, and in a county borough or urban or rural district a sum equal to one penny in the pound upon the rateable value of the county, county borough or district, deducting in the case of a county the rateable value of any urban or rural district in the county, the council of which have become a local authority under this Act, no further advance under this Act shall be made by that council, until the expiration of five years after the end of that financial year or if those expenses at that date exceed one halfpenny or one penny in the pound, as the case may be, on the rateable value for the time being, until they fall below such sum.

(5) A local authority may borrow for the purposes of this Act in like manner as they may borrow, in the case of a county council for the purposes of the Local Government Act, 1888, and in the case of the council of a county borough for the purpose of section one hundred and six of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, and in the case of an urban or rural district council for the purpose of the Public Health Acts (n), and those Acts shall apply accordingly with the necessary modifications.

could efficiently administer the Act, and whether in the circumstances of the particular district the balance of advantage would be in favour of allowing the district council instead of the county council to make advances. The nature and character of the actual applications for advances seemed to the Board not to be very intimately connected with the question to be decided.

(kk) The Local Government Board has now been superseded by the Minister of Health.

(l) The intention of the Act is that the district council should make the necessary payments, so as to relieve the county council from further responsibility. The district council ought not to keep the matter outstanding. They may, if necessary, borrow the amount required under sub-s. (5), infra.

(m) As to urban districts, see s. 207 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 469; and as to rural districts, see s. 229, ante, p. 510.

(n) See ss. 234 et seq. of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 527. The particulars required by the Minister of Health in the case of applications for sanction to the borrowing of money by county borough councils and urban and rural district councils will be seen from the forms which are set out in Appendix II., post, tit. "Small Dwellings."

A local inquiry is not usually held unless this is necessitated by the debt of the district (see s. 234 (3) of the P. H. A., 1875). In such circumstances it is advisable to apply for sanction to borrow a round sum in order to avoid repeated inquiries.

Some inconvenience is experienced by some councils owing to the necessity of applying to the Minister of Health for sanction to a loan on each occasion that an advance is required. The L. G. B. (the predecessors of the Minister of Health), however, informed several councils who had experience in the working of the Act that they were prepared id shall not, in the case of an urban or rural district council, be reckoned part of their debt for the purpose of the limitation on borrowing under ction two hundred and thirty-four, sub-section two, of the Public Health ct, 1875 (o). 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

(6) Money borrowed under this Act shall not, in the case of a county uncil, be reckoned as part of the total debt of a county for the purposes section sixty-nine, sub-section two, of the Local Government Act, 1888, 51 & 52 Vict. c. 41.

(7) The Public Works Loan Commissioners may in manner provided by e Public Works Loans Act, 1875, lend any money which may be borrowed r a local authority for the purposes of this Act. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 89.

THE SALE OF FOOD AND DRUGS ACT, 1899.

(62 & 63 VICT. c. 51) (q).

An Act to amend the law relating to the sale of Food and Drugs.

[9th August 1899.]

Precautions against importation of agricultural and other produce insufficiently marked.

1.—(1) If there is imported into the United Kingdom any of the following articles (r), namely :

(a) margarine or margarine-cheese (s), except in packages conspicuously marked "Margarine" or "Margarine-cheese," as the case may require ; or

(b) [adulterated or impoverished butter (other than margarine) or] adulterated or impoverished milk or cream, except in packages or cans conspicuously marked with a name or description indicating that the [butter or] milk or cream has been so treated ; or

(c) condensed separated or skimmed milk, except in tins or other receptacles which bear a label whereon the words "Machine-skimmed Milk" or "Skimmed Milk," as the case may require, are printed in large and legible type ; or

(d) any adulterated or impoverished article of food (t) to which her Majesty may by Order in Council direct that this section shall be applied unless the same be imported in packages or receptacles conspicuously marked with a name or description indicating that the article has been so treated ;

the importer shall be liable, on summary conviction (u), for the first offence to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds, for the second offence to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds, and for any subsequent offence to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds.

(2) The word "importer" shall include any person who, whether as owner, consignor, or consignee, agent, or broker, is in possession of, or in anywise entitled to the custody or control of, the article ; prosecutions for offences under this section shall be undertaken by the Commissioners of Customs and subject to the provisions of this Act this section shall have effect as if it were part of the Customs Consolidation Act, 1876 (x).

39 & 40 Vict. c. 36.

(3) The Commissioners of Customs shall, in accordance with directions given by the Treasury after consultation with the Board of Agriculture (xx), take such samples of consignments of imported articles of food (y) as may be necessary for the enforcement of the foregoing provisions of this section.

(q) See the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, and the Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 1879, ante, pp. 1402, 1520.

(r) This list of articles is enlarged by s. 5 (1) of the Butter and Margarine Act, 1907, post, p. 1962, and the words in clause (b) printed in italics have been repealed. Reference should now be made to s. 8 of the Milk and Dairies (Amendment) Act, 1922, post, p. 2331.

(s) See the Margarine Act, 1887, ante, p. 1630.

(t) See definition, s. 26, post.

(u) No appeal lies to quarter sessions on a question of fact (R. v. Otto Monsted, Ltd., [1906] 2 K. B. 456 ; 70 J. P. 435). The warranty defence does not apply (Kelly v. Lonsdale & Co., [1906] 2 K. B. 486 ; 70 J. P. 441).

As to the maximum fine in certain cases, see s. 5 (2) of the Butter and Margarine Act, 1907, post, p. 1962.

(x) See the Customs Consolidation Act, 1876, ss. 218 et seq., as amended by the Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1879, ss. 11, 12, and 14. Compare the powers of the Commissioners of Customs as to tea under the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, s. 30, ante, p. 1420. Under the Merchandise Marks Act, 1887, ss. 2, 16, the Customs are authorised to detain goods which are marked with a false trade description, but they do not exercise this power unless moved to do so by an informant who is prepared to give them security for any damages that might be recovered from them in respect of damage to the detained goods in the event of the information as to misdescription turning out incorrect. See s. 19, saving rights of action.

(xx) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries.

(y) See definition, s. 26, post.

(4) Where the Commissioners of Customs take a sample of any consignment in pursuance of such directions they shall divide it into not less than three parts, and send one part to the importer and one part to the principal chemist of the Government laboratories, and retain one part.

(5) In any proceeding under this section the certificate of the principal chemist of the result of the analysis shall be sufficient evidence of the facts therein stated, unless the defendant require that the person who made the analysis be called as a witness (z).

(6) If, in any case, the Commissioners of Customs are of opinion that an offence against this section has been committed, they shall communicate to the Board of Agriculture (zz) for their information the name of the importer and such other facts as they possess or may obtain as to the destination of the consignment.

(7) For the purposes of this section an article of food shall be deemed to be adulterated or impoverished if it has been mixed with any other substance, or if any part of it has been abstracted so as in either case to affect injuriously its quality, substance, or nature.

Provided that an article of food shall not be deemed to be adulterated by reason only of the addition of any preservative or colouring matter of such a nature and in such quantity as not to render the article injurious to health (a).

Power for Local Government Board or Board of Agriculture to sample articles of food.

2. (aa)—(1) The Local Government Board (aaa) may, in relation to any matter appearing to that Board to affect the general interest of the consumer, and the Board of Agriculture (zz) may, in addition to any matter appearing to that Board to affect the general interests of Agriculture in the United Kingdom, direct an officer of the Board to procure for analysis samples of any article of food, and thereupon the officer shall have all the power of procuring samples conferred by the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts (b), and those Acts shall apply as if the officer were an officer authorised to procure samples under the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, except that—

(a) the officer procuring the sample shall divide the same into four parts, and shall deal with three of such parts in manner directed by section fourteen of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875 (c), as amended by this Act, and shall send the fourth part to the Board, and

(b) the fee for analysis (d) shall be payable to the analyst by the local authority of the place where the sample is procured.

(z) See the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, s. 21, and notes thereto, ante, p. 1460. In proceedings for an offence under this section as extended by s. 5 of the Butter and Margarine Act, 1907, the certificate of analysis by the principal chemist of the Government laboratories need not follow the form prescribed by s. 18 and the Schedule of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875 (Foot v. Findlay, [1909] 1 K. B. 1; 72 J. P. 494).

This sub-section has been considerably extended and amended by s. 5 (3) of the Butter and Margarine Act, 1907, post, p. 1962. As to notifying the certificate to the importer, see s. 5 (4) of that Act.

(a) If it does render the article injurious to health, the addition may be an offence within the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, s. 3, ante, p. 1402. See also Roose v. Perry & Co. (1900), 44 Sol. Jo. 503.

(aa) The provisions of this section were amended by the Milk and Dairies (Consolidation) Act, 1915, but the operation of the last-mentioned Act has been postponed to 1st September, 1925, by the Milk and Dairies (Amendment) Act, 1922.

(aaa) Now the Minister of Health.

The officers of the Ministers mentioned in the section are also entitled to take proceedings as private individuals in the method prescribed by the Act of 1875; they are not limited in prosecutions at their instance to cases contemplated by this section (Falconer v. Whyte, [1908] S. C. (J.) 40).

(d) The amount will be agreed between the officer procuring the sample and the analyst. See the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, s. 12, ante, p. 1410.

(2) The Board (dd) shall communicate the result of the analysis of any such sample to the local authority, and thereupon there shall be the like duty and power on the part of the local authority to cause proceedings to be taken as if the local authority had caused the analysis to be made (e).

Power for Local Government Board or Board of Agriculture (dd) to act in default of local authority.

3.—(1) It shall be the duty (f) of every local authority entrusted with the execution of the laws relating to the sale of food and drugs to appoint a public analyst (g), and put in force from time to time, as occasion may arise, the powers with which they are invested, so as to provide proper securities for the sale of food and drugs in a pure and genuine condition, and in particular to direct their officers to take samples for analysis.

(2) If the Local Government Board or Board of Agriculture (dd), after communication with a local authority, are of opinion that the local authority have failed to execute or enforce any of the provisions of the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts in relation to any article of food, and that their failure affects the general interest of the consumer or the general interests of agriculture in the United Kingdom, as the case may be, the Board concerned may, by order, empower an officer of the Board to execute and enforce those provisions or to procure the execution and enforcement thereof in relation to any article of food mentioned in the order.

(3) The expenses incurred by the Board (dd) or their officer under any such order shall be treated as expenses incurred by the local authority in the execution of the said Acts (h), and shall be paid by the local authority to the Board on demand, and in default the Board may recover (i) the amount of the expenses with costs from the local authority.

(4) For the purposes of this section an order of the Board (dd) shall be conclusive in respect of any default, amount of expenses, or other matter therein stated or appearing.

(5) Any public analyst appointed under the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts shall furnish such proof of competency as may from time to time be required by regulation framed by the Local Government Board (k).

(l) The following regulations made under this section were published in the London Gazette, August 6th, 1901 :

The Board of Agriculture, in exercise of the powers conferred on them by s. 4 of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, do hereby make the following regulations :—

1. Where a sample of milk (not being milk sold as skimmed, or separated, or condensed milk) contains less than 3 per cent. of milk-fat, it shall be presumed for the purposes of the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts, 1875 to 1899, until the contrary is proved, that the milk is not genuine, by reason of the abstraction therefrom of milk-fat, or the addition thereto of water.

2. Where a sample of milk (not being milk sold as skimmed, or separated, or condensed milk) contains less than 8·5 per cent. of milk-solids other than milk fat, it shall be presumed for the purposes of the Sale of Foods and Drugs Acts, 1875 to 1899, until the con-ormal constituents of genuine milk (m), cream, butter, or cheese, or what ddition of extraneous matter or proportion of water, in any sample of milk ary is proved, that the milk is not genuine, by reason of the abstraction therefrom of ilk-solids other than milk-fat, or the addition thereto of water. to analysis of milk, cream, butter, or cheese.

3. (Repealed as to England and Wales: see regulations of 1912, infra.)

4. These regulations shall extend to Great Britain.

5. These regulations shall come into operation on the 1st of September, 1901.

6. These regulations may be cited as the Sale of Milk Regulations, 1901.

The following further regulations made under this section were published in the London azette, April 22nd, 1902:

The Board of Agriculture in exercise of the powers conferred on them by s. 4 of the Sale Food and Drugs Act, 1899, do hereby make the following regulations:—

1. Where the proportion of water in a sample of butter exceeds 16 per cent. it shall be esumed for the purposes of the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts, 1875 to 1899, until the ontrary is proved, that the butter is not genuine by reason of the excessive amount of ater therein.

2. These regulations extend to Great Britain.

3. These regulations shall come into operation on the fifteenth day of May, one thousand ne hundred and two.

4. These regulations may be cited as the Sale of Butter Regulations, 1902.

The following regulations were made by the Board of Agriculture on June 29th, 1912:

The Board of Agriculture and Fisheries, in exercise of the powers conferred on them y section 4 of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, do hereby make the following egulations:—

1. Where a sample of skimmed or separated milk (not being condensed milk) contains ss than 8·7 per cent. of milk-solids other than milk-fat, it shall be presumed for the urposes of the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts, 1875 to 1907, until the contrary is proved, iat the milk is not genuine, by reason of either the addition thereto of water, or the ostraction therefrom of milk-solids other than milk-fat.

2. Regulation 3 of the Sale of Milk Regulations, 1901, is hereby revoked, but not so as affect the validity of any certificate of analysis given before the commencement of iese regulations or any legal proceedings in respect of any sample to which any such rtificate relates.

3. These regulations shall come into operation on the first day of September, one ousand one hundred and twelve.

4. These regulations shall extend to England and Wales.

5. These regulations may be cited as the Sale of Milk Regulations, 1912.

The following cases have been decided in relation to these regulations: A farmer was harged with selling milk which on analysis proved to be below the standard of quality quired by the regulations. The accused, his mother and servants gave evidence which as believed, but was uncorroborated by neutral testimony, to the effect that the milk ad not been tampered with. The accused was convicted and it was held, on appeal, iat the evidence adduced by him was sufficient without further corroboration to over- me the presumption that the milk had been tampered with, and that the conviction ust be quashed (Lamont v. Rodger, [1911] S. C. (J.) 24). A farmer, charged with selling kimmed milk which was not genuine, inasmuch as it did not contain 9 per cent. of milk- lids as required by s. 3 of the Regulations (1901), objected to the relevancy of the mplaint on the ground that the analyst's certificate produced was unintelligible, that it id not state the "milk"-solids, and did not show that any offence had been committed. he certificate stated as follows:—"Solids not fat: 7·35; Fat: 1·31; Water: 91·34; sh: ·59." It was held that the certificate was quite clear; that the omission of the ord "milk" was of no moment; and that the additional information as to "ash" did ot affect the analysis, which showed a deficiency of solids (Gordon v. Love, [1911] S. C. .) 75). A farmer was charged with selling milk which was not genuine, in that it did ot contain the quantity of milk-fat and solids required by the Regulations (1901). It as proved to the satisfaction of the sheriff-substitute that the milk had not been tam- ered with after having been taken from the cow, but that the deficiency in quality was ue to a method of feeding purposely adopted by the farmer in order to produce quantity f milk rather than quality. The accused was acquitted, and it was held that the decision f the sheriff-substitute was right (Scott v. Jack, [1912] S. C. (J.) 87). The respondent as charged with having consigned to a purchaser milk which was not of the nature, sub- ance or quality contracted to be sold, the milk being deficient in fat to the extent of 6 per cent. of the minimum amount fixed by the Regulations (1901). At the hearing ne facts stated in the information were proved or admitted, and evidence was also given nd admitted that another consignment of the same morning's milk from the same cows owed on analysis 3·1 per cent. fat (being in excess of the said minimum) and that the

(including condensed milk), cream, butter, or cheese, shall for the purposes of the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts raise a presumption, until the contrary is proved, that the milk, cream, butter, or cheese is not genuine or is injurious to health, and an analyst shall have regard to such regulations in certifying the result of an analysis under those Acts (n).

(2) Any regulations made under this section shall be notified in the London and Edinburgh Gazettes, and shall also be made known in such other manner as the Board of Agriculture (nn) may direct.

Extension of Margarine Act, 1887, to margarine-cheese. 50 & 51 Vict. c. 29.

5. The provisions of the Magarine Act, 1887 (o), as amended by this Act, shall extend to margarine-cheese, and shall apply accordingly, with the substitution of "margarine-cheese" and "cheese" for "margarine" and "butter," and provided that all margarine-cheese sold or dealt in otherwise than by retail shall either be inclosed in packages marked in accordance with the Margarine Act, 1887, as amended by this Act, or be itself conspicuously branded with the words "margarine-cheese."

Marking of margarine and margarine-cheese.

6.—(1) Where under this Act (p) or the Margarine Act, 1887 (q), it is required that any package containing margarine or margarine-cheese shall morning's milk from the same cows seven days later showed on analysis a deficiency in fat below such minimum of 3 per cent. only. The justices held that although the sample was not of the nature, substance and quality contracted to be sold, yet the respondent had not tampered with the milk, which was as it came from the cows. The Divisional Court remitted the case to the justices to convict the respondent unless further evidence was given before them bearing upon the question whether or not the difference between the quantities of fat in the two consignments on the day in question was consistent with there having been ordinary milking (Marshall v. Skett (1913), 77 J. P. 173; 108 L. T. 1001). An analyst's certificate showed a less percentage of milk-solids other than milk-fat than that required by the above Regulations as to milk-solids. Held, that the presumption created by the Regulation can only be rebutted by evidence that the seller has neither added water to the milk nor abstracted anything from it; in other words, that he has sold it in the same condition as it was when it came from the cow (Kings v. Merris, [1920] 3 K. B. 566).

See also Edwards' Creameries, Ltd. v. Smith (1922), 86 J. P. 155, as to what amounts to an opportunity of furnishing an explanation before proceedings are instituted. Reference should also be made to Hunt v. Richardson and other cases cited in the notes to s. 6 of the Act of 1875, ante, p. 1406.

The power of making regulations under the above section has been extended by s. 6 of the Butter and Margarine Act, 1907, post, p. 1963.

For regulations made under the P. H. Acts as to the case of preservatives in milk and cream, see p. 1018, ante.

(n) As to certificates, see the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, s. 18, ante, p. 1414, and notes thereto.

The Board of Agriculture issued a circular dated 17th August, 1903, on the analysis of sour milk in relation to the composition of milk when fresh, which will be found printed in 1 L. G. R., Part III., p. 393.

It is desirable that an analyst's certificate should state in terms the standard with reference to the amount of milk-fat in genuine milk, on which the analyst bases his conclusion, but failure to state it does not vitiate the certificate if a simple calculation from the figures given in the certificate makes it apparent that the analyst has proceeded upon the standard laid down by the Sale of Milk Regulations, 1901 (Bayley v. Cook (1905), 69 J. P. 139; 92 L. T. 170). See also as to the sufficiency of a certificate of analysis, Bakewell v. Davis, [1894] 1 Q. B. 296; Jenkins v. Naden (1919), 83 J. P. 154.

A certificate of the analysis of an article sold as butter is invalid if the analyst does not report whether any change has taken place in the constitution of the article; and it is no excuse for non-compliance with the direction to that effect in the prescribed form of certificate that the article proved on analysis to be margarine (Hunter v. Wintrup (1906), 7 F. (J. C.) 22).

Provision as to name and address of person selling milk or cream in a public place.

9. (c) Every person who, himself or by his servant, in any highway or place of public resort sells (cc) milk or cream from a vehicle or from a can or other receptacle shall have conspicuously inscribed on the vehicle or receptacle his name and address, and in default shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two pounds.

(z) See the Margarine Act, 1887, ss. 4 and 5, ante, p. 1631, and notes thereto. Butter-blended with milk so that it contains an excess of water does not become margarine. Therefore a vendor of such milk-blended butter cannot be convicted under this section for selling margarine containing more than ten per cent. of butter-fat. The sale of butter-blended with milk is lawful if sold as such (Bayley v. Pearks, Gunston and Tee, Ltd. (1901), 66 J. P. 790; 87 L. T. 67). But see now the Butter and Margarine Act, 1907, post, p. 1960.

An information was preferred by the respondent against the appellant and another for unlawfully selling to the prejudice of the purchaser mixed butter and margarine which was not of the nature, substance and quality of the article demanded by the purchaser, there being a proportion of 80 per cent. of foreign fat, 15½ per cent. of water, curd and salt, and 4½ per cent. of butter, contrary to the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875. An agent of the respondent acting upon his instructions went to the appellant's shop and asked an assistant for two ounces of butter at 1*s.* 2*d.* per lb. The assistant informed the respondent's agent that the appellant did not sell butter at the shop at the price of 1*s.* 2*d.* per lb., but that he did sell a mixture of butter and margarine at 1*s.* 2*d.* which was very good. The respondent's agent stated to the assistant that she would have two ounces of the mixture, and the same was put up in a wrapper and supplied to her accordingly by the assistant upon payment of 1¾*d.* At the date of the sale the retail price of margarine was 6*d.*, 8*d.*, and 10*d.* per lb., and the retail price of butter was 1*s.* 2*d.* to 1*s.* 6*d.* per lb. The magistrate was of opinion that an offence had been committed on the ground that in view of the proportions of the several ingredients the mixture could be regarded only as a colourable one, and that in describing it as "very good" and selling it at the price named, it was intended to deceive the purchaser by leading him to believe that it contained a substantial proportion of butter, whereas the analysis disclosing only a small percentage of butter-fat showed that it contained no such substantial proportion. He accordingly convicted the appellant. On an appeal to the Divisional Court, it was held (1) that the word "quality" in s. 6 of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, means commercial quality of the article sold and not merely its description; (2) that regard must be had to s. 8 of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, which the magistrate had not before him, and which makes it unlawful to sell any margarine "the fat of which contains more than ten per cent. of butter-fat." Therefore, when considering the amount of butter the purchaser of a mixture of margarine and butter had a right to expect, the law which makes it an offence to sell margarine mixed with more than 10 per cent. of butter must be taken into account, and it was impossible to hold that there was evidence in the present case of a colourable sale. The conviction must therefore be quashed (Anness v. Grivell, [1915] 3 K. B. 685; 79 J. P. 558).

(a) Ante, p. 1632.

(b) See note (s), ante, p. 1859.

(c) This section was repealed by the Milk and Dairies Consolidation Act, 1915 (set out at p. 2096, post), and superseded by ss. 6 and 7 of the last-mentioned Act; but the operation of the last-mentioned Act was postponed until September 1st, 1925, by the Milk and Dairies (Amendment) Act, 1922.

(cc) It would seem that this does not apply to mere delivery of milk from a cart or van in the public street at the houses of regular customers in pursuance of orders received at a central dairy or shop, or given at the customer's house to the man with the cart when he calls. The section seems aimed rather at itinerant vendors who have no fixed place of business, but only a cart or van from which they sell to all-comers in the street. The sale must take place in the highway or place of public resort in order to constitute an offence. Cf. the Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 1879, s. 5, ante, p. 1523, amending the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, s. 17, ante, p. 1413, as to refusing to sell samples of food for analysis.

This section requires the person selling the milk to have his name and address upon the

10. In the case of a sample taken of milk in course of delivery (d), or of margarine or margarine-cheese forwarded by a public conveyance (e), the person taking the sample shall forward by registered parcel or otherwise a portion of the sample marked, and sealed, or fastened up, to the consignor his name and address appear on the can or package containing the article sampled (f). Division of samples taken in course of delivery or transit.

11. (ff) Every tin or other receptacle containing condensed separated or skimmed milk must bear a label clearly visible to the purchaser on which the words "Machine-skimmed Milk" or "Skimmed Milk" (g), as the case may require, are printed in large and legible type (h), and if any person sells or exposes or offers for sale condensed separated or skimmed milk in contravention of this section he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding ten pounds. Provisions as to condensed separated or skimmed milk.

12. The label referred to in section eight of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875 (i), shall not be deemed to be distinctly and legibly written or printed within the meaning of that section unless it is so written or printed that the notice of mixture given by the label is not obscured by other matter on the label: Provided that nothing in this enactment shall hinder or affect the use of any registered trade mark, or of any label which has been continuously in use for at least seven years before the commencement of this Act; but the Comptroller-General of Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks shall not register any trade mark purporting to describe a mixture unless it complies with the requirements of this enactment. Notice of mixtures. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 63.

13. In section fourteen of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875 (k), the words "offer to" and the words "proceed accordingly and shall" shall be repealed. Amendment of 38 & 39 Vict. c. 63, as to samples.

14. The provisions of section three and section four of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 1879 (relating to the taking of samples of milk in course of delivery) (l), shall apply to every other article of food (m): Provided that no samples shall be taken under this section except upon the request or with the consent of the purchaser or consignee. Taking samples in course of delivery. 42 & 43 Vict. c. 30.

rt if the milk is sold from the cart or upon the can if it is sold from the can; and it is t sufficient that it should be upon the one if the milk is sold from the other (Crabtree v. elton (1901), 70 L. J. K. B. 560).

(d) See the Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 1879, s. 3, ante, p. 1521.

(e) See the Margarine Act, 1887, s. 8, ante, p. 1633.

(f) This section meets the difficulty disclosed by Rouch v. Hall (1880), 6 Q. B. D. 17; J. P. 220, and enables the consignor of the milk or margarine to protect himself by taining an analysis on his own account, which he can make use of under s. 22, post, his defence. Section 10 in the text was amended by the Milk and Dairies (Consolidan) Act, 1915, but the operation of the last-mentioned Act has been postponed to September 1st, 1925, by the Milk and Dairies (Amendment) Act, 1922.

(ff) See note (c), ante, p. 1860.

(g) This section does not apply to milk carried round for sale in an ordinary can, but ly to condensed milk (French v. Card (1909), 73 J. P. 389; 101 L. T. 428).

(h) It is not provided that the label shall contain no other matter which might obscure e statutory words. Cf. the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, s. 8, ante, p. 1408, as nended by s. 12 of this Act.

(i) Ante, p. 1408.

(k) Ante, p. 1411. The effect of these repeals is to render division of samples compulsory all cases except in cases within the Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 1879, 3. And even in those cases a division may be necessary under s. 10, supra. Section 13 now repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1908.

(l) Ante, pp. 1521, 1522.

(m) See definition of "food" in s. 26, post.

Amendment of 38 & 39 Vict. c. 63, as to registered parcels.

15. In section sixteen of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875 (n), the words "registered parcel" shall be substituted for the words "registered letter."

Obstruction of officer in discharge of his duties.

16. Any person who wilfully obstructs or impedes (o) any inspector or other officer in the course of his duties under the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts or by any gratuity, bribe, promise, or other inducement prevents or attempts to prevent, the due execution by such inspector or officer (p) of his duty under those Acts, shall be liable, on summary conviction, for the first offence to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds, for the second offence to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds, and for any subsequent offence to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds.

Penalties for offences under the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts.

17.—(1) Where, under any provision of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act 1875, a person guilty of an offence is liable to a fine which may extend to twenty pounds as a maximum (q), he shall be liable for a second offence under the same provision to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds, and for any subsequent offence to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds.

(2) Where, under any provision of the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts, a person guilty of an offence is liable to a fine exceeding fifty pounds, and the offence, in the opinion of the court, was committed by the personal act default, or culpable negligence of the person accused, that person shall be liable (if the court is of opinion that a fine will not meet the circumstances of the case) to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a period not exceeding three months (r).

Articles sold in tins or packets. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 63.

18. Notwithstanding anything in section seventeen of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875 (s), where any article of food or drug is exposed for sale in an unopened tin or packet duly labelled, no person shall be required to sell it except in the unopened tin or packet in which it is contained.

Time for proceeding and regulation as to summons.

19.—(1) When any article of food or drug has been purchased from any person for test purposes, any prosecution under the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts (ss) in respect of the sale thereof, notwithstanding anything contained in (n) Ante, p. 1412. This alteration had been already made since 1891 by the Post Office Act, 1891, s. 11, now repealed by s. 27, post.

(o) This enactment meets the difficulty in Hewson v. Gamble (1892), 56 J. P. 101. See the facts of this case set out, ante, p. 1413, and compare Soutar v. Kerr, cited in the same note. Obstruction may be wilful obstruction, although it involves no actual violence. See Borrow v. Howland (1896), 60 J. P. 391; 74 L. T. 787. But personal mens rea is a necessary ingredient of the offence. Thus, when a manager deliberately, but without the authority of the defendant, broke a bottle while pretending to uncork it, it was held that the defendant could not be convicted of wilful obstruction (Taylor v. Nixon, [1910] 2 I. R. 94). See further as to what amounts to obstruction, Swallow v. London County Council, [1916] 1 K. B. 224.

(p) If the officer corruptly solicit or receive or agree to receive the bribe he may himself be also punishable under the Public Bodies Corrupt Practices Act, 1889, ante, p. 794. See also the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1906.

(q) See the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, ss. 6, 7, 9, 27, ante, pp. 1403, 1408, 1409, 1420.

(r) Imprisonment may also be inflicted under the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, ss. 3 and 4, ante, pp. 1402, 1403, and under s. 11 (1) of the Butter and Margarine Act, 1907, post, p. 1964.

(s) Ante, p. 1413. The object of this section is to protect retailers against a plan said to have been sometimes adopted in order to trip them on a sale of a mixed article. The officer purchasing would ask for a portion only of the contents of the manufacturer's labelled tin or packet because he was aware that the label probably contained sufficient notice of admixture. On being served, if through inadvertence on the part of the tradesman, the officer's attention was not drawn to the label, and no verbal declaration was made, the officer was at once put into a position to prosecute, and instituted proceedings accordingly.

(ss) A prosecution for aiding a person in committing an offence against s. 6 of the Sale ction twenty of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875 (t), shall not be stituted after the expiration of twenty-eight days from the time of the rchase (u).

(2) In any prosecution under the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts (uu) the sum-ons shall state (x) particulars of the offence or offences alleged, and also the me of the prosecutor, and shall not be made returnable in less time than four-en (y) days from the day on which it is served, and there must be served erewith a copy of any analyst's certificate obtained on behalf of the osecutor (z).

Food and Drugs Act, 1875, is a " prosecution under the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts," l the defendant in such a prosecution is entitled, equally with the principal offender, the protection given by the section in the text (Gould & Co., Ltd. v. Houghton (1920), J. P. 93).

t) Ante, p. 1415. Under that section there was only the limit by reference to the J. A., 1848, s. 11, but the Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 1879, s. 10, roduced a special provision which is now repealed, s. 27 of this Act.

u) This was the limit introduced by the Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 79, s. 10, with regard to a purchase of a perishable article for test purposes; now it olies whether the article be perishable or not. The limit, it will be observed, applies only ere the purchase was for test purposes, not for consumption or for re-sale. Under the ealed enactment of the Act of 1879, s. 10, it was held that a summons under s. 27 of Act of 1875 against the original vendor of a perishable article of food for giving a false rranty in writing in respect of it to the purchaser, who purchased it for retailing, need be served within twenty-eight days from the purchase of the food for test purposes m that purchaser (Cook v. White, [1896] 1 Q. B. 284; 60 J. P. 330).

n cases where it applies, this provision as to time cannot be disregarded, and is of the ence of the jurisdiction to try the offence, so that the appearance of the defendant to summons does not waive the objection, even though he does not take the point (Dixon Wells (1890), 25 Q. B. D. 249; 54 J. P. 725).

When samples have been taken by inspectors under s. 2 of the Butter and Margarine t, 1907, the time limit fixed by this section does not apply (Monro v. Central Creamery ., Ltd., [1912] 1 K. B. 578; 76 J. P. 131).

The prosecution is instituted when the information is laid, not when the summons is ved (Beardsley v. Giddings, [1904] 1 K. B. 847; 68 J. P. 222; Brooks v. Bagshaw, 04] 2 K. B. 798; 68 J. P. 514).

uu) See note (ss), ante, p. 1862.

x) The common form of summons under the S. J. A. usually states the name of the osecutor laying the information upon which it is issued. (See S. J. Rules, 1886, Schedule Consolidated Forms, Form No. 2.) It also states shortly the matter of the information, at is, the description of the offence charged, but no objection may, in general, be taken any summons for any alleged defect therein in substance or in form, see the S. J. A., 48, s. 1. The express provisions of the present section are not intended to overrule at general enactment. It is founded on the repealed s. 10 of the Sale of Food and Drugs t Amendment Act, 1879, which was passed at a time when the common form of summons der the S. J. A., 1848, Sched. A., did not state the name of the prosecutor. It is for justices to decide whether the summons sufficiently states the particulars of the offence d they cannot be required to state a case on it (R. v. Wakefield (1890), 54 J. P. 148). e omission of the necessary particulars does not deprive the justices of jurisdiction rimble & Co. v. Preston, [1914] 1 K. B. 270), but merely entitles the defendant to an journment of the hearing in the event of the justices being satisfied that he is prejudiced the omission (Neal v. Devenish, [1894] 1 Q. B. 544; 58 J. P. 246, disapproving Barnes Rider (1893), 62 L. J. M. C. 25; 57 J. P. 473). Such an omission is an informality ich may be waived by the party charged (Grimble & Co. v. Preston, supra, applied in ynes v. Davis, [1915] 1 K. B. 332).

y) Substituted for seven days under the repealed Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amend-nt Act, 1879, s. 10. Fourteen clear days must elapse between the date of the summons d the date of the return, excluding both those dates from the computation (McQueen v. ckson, [1903] 2 K. B. 163; 67 J. P. 353).

z) This is a new requirement (Batt v. Mattinson (1900), 64 J. P. 615; 82 L. T. 800). does not go to the jurisdiction of the justices, and it can be waived by the defendant's vocate cross-examining the witnesses for the prosecution. It is then too late for him take the objection when he is called upon to open his own case (Grimble & Co., Ltd. v. eston, supra). When the copy of the certificate is not served with the summons, d, on objection being taken on this ground at the hearing, the justices adjourn the hear-, they have jurisdiction to issue a fresh summons on the same information resworn, d when the first summons has been served together with the analyst's certificate to take Provisions as to use of warranty or invoice as defence, and proceedings against the warrantor.

20. (1) A warranty or invoice shall not be available as a defence to any proceeding under the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts (a) unless the defendant has, within seven days after service of summons, sent (b) to the purchaser a copy of such warranty or invoice with a written notice stating that he intends to rely on the warranty or invoice, and specifying the name and address of the person from whom he received it, and has also sent a like notice of his intention to such person (c).

(2) The person by whom such warranty or invoice is alleged to have been given shall be entitled to appear at the hearing and to give evidence, and the court may, if it thinks fit, adjourn the hearing to enable him to do so.

(3) A warranty or invoice given by a person resident outside the United Kingdom shall not be available as a defence to any proceeding under the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts, unless the defendant proves that he had taken reasonable steps to ascertain and did in fact believe in the accuracy of the statement contained in the warranty or invoice.

(4) Where the defendant is a servant of the person who purchased the article under a warranty or invoice he shall, subject to the provisions of this section, be entitled to rely on section twenty-five of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, and section seven of the Margarine Act, 1887, in the same way as his employer or master would have been entitled to do if he had been the defendant, provided that the servant further proves that he had no reason to believe that the article was otherwise than that demanded by the prosecutor (d).

38 & 39 Vict. c. 67. 50 & 51 Vict. c. 29.

(5) Where the defendant in a prosecution under the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts has been discharged under the provisions of section twenty-five of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, as amended by this Act, any proceedings under the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts for giving the warranty relied on by the defendant in such prosecution, may be taken as well before a court having jurisdiction in the place where the article of food or drug to the second summons first at the adjourned hearing and to hear and determine the same (Williams v. Letheren (1919), 83 J. P. 159). As to the certificate, see the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, ss. 14, 18, 21, ante, pp. 1411, 1414, 1467. The analyst's certificate must be obtained by every prosecutor whether private or official. It is not sufficient to make use of a certificate obtained in other proceedings even though they arose out of the same transaction (R. (Barry) v. Mahoney, [1909] 2 I. R. 490).

A copy of any certificate obtained by the defendant must be served on the prosecutor three days before the return day under s. 22 (2), post.

Two conflicting certificates in due form will not neutralise each other—the court may choose between them. And if the defendant produces no certificate, yet he may offer evidence to contradict the prosecutor's certificate (Hewitt v. Taylor, [1896] 1 Q. B. 287; 60 J. P. 311). But if the defendant produce no certificate and offer no evidence to contradict the prosecutor's certificate, the justices may act on that and convict—see note (l), p. 1416, ante.

(a) See the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, s. 25, ante, p. 1417, and notes thereto. A warranty is no defence for proceedings under s. 1 of this Act. See Kelly v. Lonsdale, ante, p. 1854.

(b) It is sufficient if it is posted within the required time even if it does not reach the purchaser until after the seven days have elapsed (Retail Dairy Co., Ltd. v. Clarke, [1912] 2 K. B. 388; 76 J. P. 282).

(c) The section means that if the defendant intends to rely on a warranty he must send a copy of the warranty, but if he intends to rely on an invoice, he must send a copy of the invoice. In either case there must be a copy of that which entitled the defendant to believe the article was the same in nature, substance, and quality as the article demanded by the purchaser (Farthing v. Parkinson (1905), 68 J. P. 353; 90 L. T. 783).

The words "within seven days" apply solely to the sending of the written notice to the purchaser, and not to the sending of the notice to the warrantor (Marcus v. Crook, [1914] 3 K. B. 173).

(d) This sub-section overrules the decision in Hotchin v. Hindmarsh, [1891] 2 Q. B. 181; 55 J. P. 775, so far as it decided that a servant could not avail himself of the warrant in defence. The word "otherwise" in this sub section means "other in nature, substance and quality."

hich the warranty relates was purchased for analysis as before a court aving jurisdiction in the place where the warranty was given (e).

(6) Every person (f) who, in respect of an article of food or drug sold by m as principal or agent, gives to the purchaser a false warranty in writing, all be liable on summary conviction, for the first offence, to a fine not ceeding twenty pounds, for the second offence to a fine not exceeding ty pounds, and for any subsequent offence to a fine not exceeding one ndred pounds, unless he proves to the satisfaction of the court that when gave the warranty he had reason to believe that the statements or descrip-ons contained therein were true (g).

Duty of court to send article for analysis. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 63.

21. The justices or court referred to in section twenty-two of the Sale of od and Drugs Act, 1875 (h), shall on the request of either party under at section cause an article of food or drug to be sent to the Commissioners Inland Revenue for analysis, and may, if they think fit, do so without any ch request.

Provisions as to certificates of analysis.

22.—(1) At the hearing of the information in any proceeding under the le of Food and Drugs Acts, the production by the defendant of a certificate analysis by a public analyst in the form prescribed in section eighteen of e Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875 (i), shall be sufficient evidence of the cts therein stated, unless the prosecutor requires that the analyst be called a witness (k).

(e) It had been held that where neither the sale, nor the delivery was made, nor the rranty was given, nor any sample taken in course of delivery, within the jurisdiction of e court before which an information for false warranty was preferred, that court had jurisdiction (R. v. Smith, [1896] 1 Q. B. 596; 60 J. P. 372). The present sub-section ttles the question of jurisdiction. In cases where the sale and delivery take place and e warranty is given outside the jurisdiction of the court proceedings for false warranty nnot be taken unless the person to whom the warranty was given is the person from om the article in question was purchased for analysis (Manners v. Tyler, [1902] 1 . B. 901; 66 J. P. 866).

(f) This includes a joint stock company (Chuter v. Freeth and Pocock, Ltd., [1911] 2 . B. 832; 75 J. P. 430). And see a similar case decided under the P. H. (London) A., 91, s. 47; R. v. Ascanio Puck & Co. and Paice (1912), 76 J. P. 487; 29 T. L. R. 11.

(g) This sub-section remodels the previous law as to false warranty, and accordingly at part of the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, s. 29, which related to that offence is pealed by s. 27, post. It will be seen that the onus is on the defendant to prove that hen he gave the warranty he had reason to believe that the statements or descriptions ntained therein were true. If he proves that, he is entitled to be acquitted (Oatley v. mon (1905), 69 J. P. 163; 92 L. T. 200). Formerly he was entitled to be acquitted if did not at that time know and had no reason to believe they were false (Derbyshire v. ouliston, [1897] 1 Q. B. 772; 61 J. P. 374). The issue which the justices have to deter-ine is not whether the defendants "took steps to see that the milk was all right, but hether they had reason to believe that it was all right"—per Lord Alverstone, C.J., Dairy Supply Co., Ltd. v. Houghton (1912), 76 J. P., at p. 45; 106 L. T. 220.

As to punishment by imprisonment in certain cases, see s. 17 (2), ante.

Proceedings for false warranty must be commenced within six months from the date hen the warranty was given, not from the date when it was first discovered to be false Whitaker v. Pomfret, [1902] 1 K. B. 661; 66 J. P. 408). But when a warranty is given regard to a contract to supply milk for an indefinite future period, and some time hereafter milk is supplied which is not in accordance with the warranty, the time runs om the date of the particular consignment and not from that on which the warranty as given (Thomas, Ltd. v. Houghton, [1911] 2 K. B. 959; 75 J. P. 523).

Where an article of food is sent to a purchaser with a written warranty, proceedings for he falsity of the warranty may be taken under s. 20, sub-s. 6, in the text, before justices aving jurisdiction in the place where the warranty was received by the purchaser, although may have been written and attached to the goods in a place outside their jurisdiction Grimble & Co., Ltd. v. Preston, ante, p. 1863).

(h) Ante, p. 1416.

(i) Ante, p. 1414.

(k) As to the effect of this, see notes to the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, s. 21, nte, p. 1416.

(2) A copy of every such certificate shall be sent to the prosecutor at least three clear days before the return day, and if it be not so sent the court may, if it thinks fit, adjourn the hearing on such terms as may seem proper (l).

23. [Transfer of powers from the Secretary for Scotland to Local Government Board.]

Interpretation of terms.

25. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires—

The expression "margarine-cheese" means any substance, whether compound or otherwise, which is prepared in imitation of cheese, and which contains fat not derived from milk:

The expression "cheese" means the substance usually known as cheese, containing no fat derived otherwise than from milk:

The expression "local authority" means any local authority authorised to appoint an analyst for the purposes of the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts, and the expression "public analyst" means an analyst so appointed (m):

Other expressions have the same meaning as in the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts, and an offence under this Act shall be treated as an offence under those Acts (n):

Definition of "food."

26. For the purposes of the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts the expression "food" shall include every article used for food or drink by man, other than drugs or water, and any article which ordinarily enters into or is used in the composition or preparation of human food; and shall also include flavouring matters and condiments (o).

27. [Repeal of enactments in Schedule] (p).

Short title and commencement. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 63. 42 & 43 Vict. c. 30. 50 & 51 Vict. c. 29.

28. (1) This Act may be cited as the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1899, and the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, and the Sale of Food and Drugs Act Amendment Act, 1879, and the Margarine Act, 1887, and this Act may be cited collectively as the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts, 1875 to 1899, and are in this Act referred to as the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts.

(2) [Commencement of Act, January 1st, 1900] (p).

(l) A copy of any analyst's certificate obtained on behalf of the prosecutor must be served with the summons, under s. 19 (1), ante, so that the Act in effect provides for an exchange of certificates.

(m) See the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, s. 10, ante, p. 1410, and the L. G. A., 1888, ss. 3 (x.), 38, 39.

(n) This clause, however, does not import the definition of margarine from s. 3 of the Margarine Act, 1887, so as to render it unlawful to sell milk-blended butter otherwise than under the name of margarine (Bayley v. Pearks, Gunston & Tee, Ltd., ante, p. 1630).

(o) By the Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875, s. 2, the term "food" was defined merely to include every article used for food or drink by man other than drugs or water, and it was held that baking powder was not food (Warren v. Phillips (1881), 44 J. P. 61; James v. Jones, [1894] 1 Q. B. 304; 58 J. P. 230). The present sub-section appears to overrule those decisions. It was also held that chewing gum is not food (Shortt v. Smith (1895), 59 J. P. 213; 11 T. L. R. 326; Bennett v. Tyler (1900), 64 J. P. 119; 81 L. T. 787), and it seems that these decisions still hold good. The principle seems to be that food must in every case be a substance, eaten or drunk so as to be received into the stomach and capable thereby of affording nourishment to some extent.

THE BURIAL ACT, 1900.

(63 & 64 VICT. c. 15) (r).

n Act to amend the Law relating to Burial Grounds. [10th July 1900.]

Consecration.

1.—(1) The burial authority for any burial ground (s) may, if they think , apply to the bishop to consecrate any portion of the burial ground approved that behalf by the Secretary of State.

(2) If the burial authority do not make the application within a reasonable ne after a request in that behalf, and the Secretary of State is satisfied that reasonable number of the persons for whom, or within the area for which, e burial ground is provided desire that a portion of it be consecrated, and at the consecration fees have been paid or reasonably secured, the Secretary State may make the application in respect of an approved portion of the rial ground, and the bishop may consecrate accordingly, and it shall be e duty of the burial authority to make such arrangements as may be cessary for the consecration (t).

(r) This being one of the Burial Acts, it is strictly outside the scope of the present rk, except so far as it affects the powers and duties of urban and rural councils who ovide and maintain cemeteries under the powers of the Public Health (Interments) t, 1879.

(s) The expression "burial authority" is defined by s. 11, post. It includes a local thority maintaining a cemetery under the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, ante, 711.

For a form of petition, see Enc. of Forms and Precedents, vol. 3, p. 125, Form No. 24.

(t) The local authority had previously a discretion as to whether they should apply r consecration. See the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847, s. 23, ante, p. 1273. The text actically gives an appeal against the refusal of the local authority to make the application.

Chapels.

2.—(1) A burial authority may at their own cost erect on any part of their burial ground, which is not consecrated or set apart for the exclusive use of any particular denomination, any chapel which they consider necessary for the due performance of funeral services, but any chapel so erected after the passing of this Act shall not be consecrated or reserved for the exclusive use of any denomination.

(2) A burial authority may at the request and cost of the residents within their district belonging to any particular denomination, erect, furnish, and maintain a chapel for funeral services according to the rites of that denomination on the ground appropriated to their use.

(3) Where such a request is made and the estimated costs are tendered to the burial authority or reasonably secured, then, if the burial authority refuse to grant the request or fail to give effect to it within a reasonable time, a Secretary of State may, if he thinks fit, by order in writing, require the burial authority to erect, furnish, and maintain, or to give facilities for erecting, furnishing, and maintaining, such a chapel in accordance with directions given in the order, and the burial authority shall comply with the order.

(4) Subject to the provisions of this section the obligation of a burial authority to build a chapel within the consecrated part of a burial ground provided under the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, shall cease (u).

42 & 43 Vict. c. 31.

Fees.

3.—(1) Every burial authority shall submit to the Secretary of State a table of fees to be received by them in respect of services rendered by any minister of religion or sexton, and the Secretary of State may approve the table with or without modifications. Provided that such fees shall be of the same amount in respect of burial service in the consecrated and the unconsecrated parts of a burial ground (v).

(2) If the burial authority fail to submit such a table on being requested to do so by the Secretary of State, he may make a table of fees.

(3) The fees fixed by the table shall be payable to and collected by the burial authority, together with the other fees payable to them, and shall be paid by the burial authority to the minister or sexton in such manner as may be agreed on, or as in default of agreement may be directed by the Secretary of State (x).

(4) Subject to the provisions of this section, no fee shall be payable to any incumbent of a parish in respect of any right of exclusive burial, or the erection of a monument, or any other matter whatsoever, in any burial ground maintained by a burial authority, except for services rendered by him (y), and this enactment shall apply to any such fee which is by law or

It seems that the persons who make the request of the Secretary of State under this section must themselves pay or secure the consecration fees. A table of those fees will be found in Mr. Brooke Little's work on the Burial Acts (3rd ed.), p. 739.

(u) This section has an important effect on the powers and duties of a local authority who have provided a cemetery under this Act of 1879. They are no longer bound to build a chapel on the consecrated portion of the cemetery as formerly under s. 25 of the Cemetery Clauses Act, 1847, ante, p. 1274. And they cannot erect a chapel on the consecrated portion (see sub-s. (1) of this section) except at the cost of residents under sub-s. (2).

(v) As to fees in respect of a burial service before, at, or after cremation, see s. 12 of the Cremation Act, 1902, post, p. 1916.

(x) In a cemetery provided by a local authority under th e Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, it appears that no fees were payable to an incumbent under the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847, s. 52. Such fees will now be payable under s. 7, post, according to the table fixed as stated in the text.

(y) Thus no fees can be due in respect of burials of non-conformists in consecrated ground conducted without any service in respect of burial being rendered by the incumbent (Williams v. Briton Ferry Burial Board, [1905] 2 K. B. 565; 69 J. P. 313).

stom payable to the churchwardens of any parish or to trustees or other rsons for any parochial purpose, or for the discharge of any debt or liability, like manner as it applies to fees payable to an incumbent.

Provided as follows :

(i) Where, at the passing of this Act, fees other than for services rendered are payable in respect of any matter arising in any burial ground attached to or used for the purposes of a parish, and laid out and used before the passing of this Act (z), the like fees shall continue to be paid during the incumbency of the person who, at the passing of this Act, is the incumbent of the parish, or during a period of fifteen years from the passing of this Act, whichever is longer, or if the fees are not paid to the incumbent, or to any person claiming through or under him, then during the said period of fifteen years, and shall be applicable to the like purposes as heretofore, and the burial authority shall collect and pay these fees in like manner as the fees to be paid for services rendered ;

(ii) The Ecclesiastical Commissioners may at the request and subject to the approval of the incumbent, or other person interested, agree with any burial authority for such payment, periodical or otherwise, as may be thought equitable in commutation of the fees other than those claimed for services rendered, and an agreement so approved shall be binding on the persons for the time being interested, and the burial authority may make accordingly any payment so agreed upon. Where the fees are paid to an incumbent, or to any person claiming through or under him, the Ecclesiastical Commissioners shall apply the commutation money in the first instance to such compensation of the existing incumbent as they may deem equitable, regard being had to all the circumstances of the case ; and the residue, if any, for the augmentation of the benefice (a).

(5) No fee, other than fees payable to a sexton for services rendered by im, shall be paid to any clerk or other ecclesiastical officer in respect of nterments in a burial ground maintained by a burial authority. Provided hat any clerk or other ecclesiastical officer who at the passing of this Act s entitled to fees in respect of interments in any such burial ground may pply to the burial authority for compensation for the pecuniary loss caused o him by the foregoing enactment, and the burial authority shall receive nd consider the application, and pay to him such sum of money as equitable ompensation for his loss and in such manner as may be agreed on, or in efault of agreement may be directed by the Secretary of State (b).

(z) An addition to a burial ground purchased before the passing of this Act, although aid out and adapted for burial purposes, but not consecrated nor actually used until fter the passing of the Act, was held not to come within this proviso (Young v. Kingston-n-Thames, etc. Joint Burials Committee, [1906] 1 K. B. 338 ; 70 J. P. 107). But where efore the passing of the London Government Act, 1899, separate burial grounds had been rovided for parishes which after the passing of that Act were united by a scheme made in ursuance of that Act into one parish, it was held that the rector of one of these parishes as not entitled to fees other than for services actually rendered in respect of interments n these burial grounds, after the passing of the Burial Act, 1900, in respect of which he as not before the passing of this Act entitled (Anderson v. Wandsworth Borough Council, 1908] W. N. 118).

(a) These provisions cannot apparently apply in the case of a cemetery provided by local authority ; for, as already stated, no fees were payable to incumbents under the ublic Health (Interments) Act, 1879, or, consequently, under s. 52 of the Cemeteries lauses Act, 1847.

(b) A clerk might be appointed in a cemetery under the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847, s. 34, ante, p. 1275, but he was paid by stipend, not by fees, and the provision in the ext does not appear to apply to such a clerk.

(6) For the purposes of this section, a burial authority may borrow in like manner and subject to the like conditions as they may borrow for the provision of a burial ground (c).

(7) The provisions of this section, except those as to collection, shall apply to any fixed annual sum substituted for fees in pursuance of section thirty-seven of the Burials Act, 1852 (d), in like manner as they apply to fees.

Transfer of powers to [Ministry of Health] (cc).

4. The powers and duties of the Secretary of State under or referred to in the enactments in the First Schedule to this Act shall be transferred to the [Ministry of Health] (cc), and those enactments shall have effect as if any reference therein to a Secretary of State were a reference to the [Ministry of Health] (cc) (e).

Inquiries by Secretary of State.

5.—(1) The Secretary of State may, if he thinks fit, appoint any person to inquire into any matter relating to the consecration of any part of a burial ground, or the building of any chapel therein, or the fixing, varying, or commutation of or compensation for any fees payable to ministers of religion, ecclesiastical officers, and sextons in connection therewith.

(2) The Secretary of State may make such order as he thinks just as to the payment by the burial authority or other parties of the whole or any part of the costs of the inquiry, including the remuneration and expenses hereinafter mentioned. Any such order may direct payment to be made to the Exchequer or other parties, and may be enforced as if it were an order of the High Court.

(3) The Secretary of State may assign to any person appointed under this section such remuneration not exceeding five guineas a day as he may think fit, and a suitable allowance for expenses, and the remuneration and allowance so assigned shall, except so far as otherwise provided, be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament.

Protection of unconsecrated burial ground.

6. Unconsecrated ground which is maintained by a burial authority and set apart for the purposes of burial (f) shall not be applied to any other purpose except by leave of the [Ministry of Health] (cc).

(c) In the case of a local authority the borrowing powers depend on ss. 233, 234 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, pp. 521, 527.

(cc) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Ministry of Health (Ministry of Health Act, 1919). Speaking generally, all questions relating to sanitation, and to the constitution, powers, and finances of burial authorities, are now matters for the Ministry of Health, whilst matters affecting the interests of the church and other religious denominations and their officers are referred to the Secretary of State, whether such matters arise in connection with burial grounds under the Burial Acts or with cemeteries under the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879.

(d) This section enables a vestry with the consent of the bishop to substitute a fixed payment for fees payable to the incumbent, clerk, and sexton and other persons and bodies under the Act of 1852.

(e) The transfer hereby effected related principally to the following matters :—

The closing of burial grounds and the prohibition of the opening of new ones.

The approval of new burial grounds, and of additions to existing grounds.

The adoption of the Burial Acts and the constitution, powers, and areas of burial authorities.

The inspection and regulation of burial grounds.

Certain provisions as to the borrowing powers and expenses of burial authorities.

Fees other than Ecclesiastical Fees to be taken by burial authorities.

The purchase, sale, and letting of land.

The sanitary regulation of vaults and places of burial.

The grant of licences for interment in closed burial grounds.

The Secretary of State remains the central authority regarding the consecration of burial grounds, the allotment of parts thereof for the use of particular denominations, the building of chapels, and the removal of human remains; and new functions are entrusted to him by this Act, with respect to the fixing, varying, or commutation of, or compensation for, fees payable to ministers of religion, ecclesiastical officers, and sextons.

(f) As to what is meant by "set apart for the purposes of burial," see Re Ponsford

7. The incumbent of any ecclesiastical parish situate wholly or partly thin the area for which a burial ground is provided under the Public Health nterments) Act, 1879, shall, with respect to his own parishioners, and rsons dying in his parish, be under the same obligation to perform funeral vices in that burial ground as he is to perform funeral services in a burial ound provided under the Burial Acts, and the power of the burial authority appoint a chaplain for a burial ground provided under the Public Health nterments) Act, 1879, shall cease, and where there is no chaplain for a burial ound so provided, burials in the consecrated part of the ground shall be gistered in like manner, and subject to the like provisions as burials in e unconsecrated part (g). Obligation of incumbent as to burial. 42 & 43 Vict. c. 31.

8. The notice to be given of intention to bury in a burial ground main- ned by a burial authority shall be given at such time and to such person the burial authority may direct, and so much of section one of the Burial ws Amendment Act, 1880, as requires forty-eight hours' notice to be ven in any such case shall be repealed (h). Notice of intention to bury. 43 & 44 Vict. c. 41.

9. The provisions of section seven of the Burial Act, 1853, as to allotment the unconsecrated part of a burial ground, and the Burial Laws Amendment t, 1880, as amended by this Act, shall apply to burial grounds provided der the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, as if the burial authority re a burial board (i). Application of certain provisions of Burial Acts to cemeteries under 42 & 43 Vict. c. 31.

10. Section fifteen of the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847 (relating to boundary nces), shall not apply to a burial ground provided under the Public Health nterments) Act, 1879. Boundary fences. 10 & 11 Vict. c. 65.

11. In this Act the expression "burial authority" shall mean any burial ard, any council, committee, or other local authority having the powers d duties of a burial board, and any local authority maintaining a cemetery der the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, or under any local Act. Meaning of burial authority. 42 & 43 Vict. c. 31.

12. [Repeal of Acts in Schedule II] (l). Repeal.

13.—(1) This Act may be cited as "The Burial Act, 1900," and may be ed and shall be construed with the Burial Acts, 1852 to 1885. Short title and commencement.

A., 1875, and s. 95 of the P. H. A., 1907. Difficult estions arise from time to time as to whether pieces of unconsecrated land vesting in rial authorities which it is proposed to devote to other purposes are "set apart for the rposes of burial," and as to the precise statutory provisions governing the proposed propriation. In such cases it is advisable to consult the Ministry of Health in the matter. d see St. George's, Hanover Square (Rector and Churchwardens) v. Westminster Corporation, 910] A. C. 225; 74 J. (h) For a form of notice, see Enc. of Forms and Precedents, Vol. III., p. 147, Form o. 38.

(i) The Burials Act, 1853, s. 7, provides that in all cases in which any burial board shall ovide a new burial ground, that new burial ground shall be divided into consecrated d unconsecrated parts in such proportions, and the unconsecrated part thereof shall be lotted in such manner and in such portions as may be allowed by one of her Majesty's incipal Secretaries of State. The application of this section to a cemetery provided by a al authority takes away from such authority the unfettered discretion which they rmerly had under the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847, s. 35, ante, p. 1275.

THE HOUSING OF THE WORKING CLASSES ACT, 1900.

(63 & 64 VICT. C. 59.)

An Act to amend Part III. of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890.

[8th August 1900.]

Exercise of powers outside district.

1. Where any council, other than a rural district council, have adopted Part III. of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890 (in this Act referred to as "the principal Act,") they may, for supplying the needs of their district, establish or acquire lodging houses for the working classes under that Part outside their district (m).

2. [Adoption of Part III. of principal Act by rural district council] (n).

Provisions as to metropolitan borough councils.

3.—(1) Any expenses incurred by the council of a metropolitan borough under Part III. of the principal Act, whether within or without the borough, shall be defrayed as part of the ordinary expenses of the council, and in that Act the expressions "district," "local authority," and "local rate" shall, for the purposes of Part III. of the Act, include a metropolitan borough, the council of the borough, and the general rate of the borough (o).

(2) Where the council of a metropolitan borough adopt Part III. of the principal Act, the power of the council to borrow for the purposes of that Part shall be exerciseable in the like manner and subject to the like conditions

(m) Note that this section applies only to urban authorities. It was passed in consequence of the opinion of counsel referred to in the notes to s. 57 of the principal Act: ante, p. 1721.

(n) Repealed, because Part III. of the principal Act now applies to all districts without any adoption; Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, ss. 1, 75, Sched. VI.

THE ISOLATION HOSPITALS ACT, 1901.

(1 EDW. 7, c. 8) (x).

An Act to amend the Isolation Hospitals Act, 1893. [26th July 1901.]

Transfer by local authority of hospitals for use as isolation hospitals. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

1.—(1) Any local authority (including a joint board) within the meaning of the Public Health Act, 1875, which has provided under that Act (y), or any local Act, a hospital for the reception of the sick, may, with the sanction of the Local Government Board (z), and with the consent of the council, transfer (a) it to the council of the county within which the hospital, or any part of the district of the authority, is situate.

(2) The Local Government Board (z) may give their sanction under this section subject to such terms and conditions as they think fit, but shall not give their sanction unless they are satisfied that hospital accommodation sufficient for the needs of the district has been or will be provided.

(3) Any money paid to a local authority on any such transfer shall be applied as the Local Government Board (z) direct, either in repayment of any loan of the local authority, or for any other purpose for which capital moneys may properly be applied.

56 & 57 Vict. c. 68.

(4) Any hospital transferred under this section shall be appropriated to a district formed under the Isolation Hospitals Act, 1893 (in this Act referred to as the principal Act) (b), and may be adapted as an isolation hospital, and any hospital so appropriated shall be treated as if it had been originally established under that Act for the district.

(5) The expenses incurred by a county council in, or incidental to, the transfer of any hospital under this Act shall be defrayed as structural expenses incurred by a hospital committee within the meaning of section seventeen of the principal Act (c).

Contribution to hospitals provided by local authority.

2.—(1) The power conferred on a county council by section twenty-one of the principal Act (d) to contribute to the expenses of an isolation hospital, is hereby declared to include the power to contribute, in manner provided by that section, to any hospital provided by a local authority (including a joint board) within the meaning of the Public Health Act, 1875, for the reception of patients suffering from infectious disease whether within the area of the county council or not, but the consent of the Local Government Board (z) shall be required to an annual contribution under this section by the county council to a hospital, the cost of providing which, or of any permanent extension or enlargement of which, has been defrayed otherwise than out of borrowed money.

(x) See the Isolation Hospitals Act, 1893, ante, p. 1775, which is amended in various particulars by this Act. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of the S. L. R. A., 1894.

(y) Urban and rural district councils are enabled by s. 131 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 238, to provide hospitals for their districts. Moreover, under ss. 279—284 of the same Act, ante, pp. 616—619, districts can be combined for hospital purposes by means of provisional orders made by the Ministry of Health, and confirmed by Parliament, and where this course is adopted the hospital is provided by a joint board constituted in accordance with the Act.

(z) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Ministry of Health (Ministry of Health Act, 1919).

(a) Previously to this enactment, there was some doubt as to the extent of the power of a district council or joint board who had provided a hospital under the P. H. A., 1875, to transfer their hospital to the county council. Now it may be done in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

(b) I.e., by order of the county council under s. 9 of that Act, ante, p. 1717.

(c) Ante, p. 1779, and see s. 18 of the same Act, ibid.

(d) Ante, p. 1780.

(2) A county council may borrow, in manner provided by section twenty-o of the principal Act (e), any sum required for the contribution of a capital m under section twenty-one of that Act, as amended by this Act, but sums borrowed shall not be repayable to the county council out of the local rate, directed by section twenty-two of that Act (f).

Power of hospital committee to contract for hospital accommodation.

3.—(1) The hospital committee of any hospital district under the principal t may make and give effect to agreements for the use of any hospital or rt of a hospital, or for the reception into any hospital of the sick of their strict, upon payment of such annual or other sums as may be agreed upon (g).
(2) Any expenses incurred by a hospital committee under this section shall defrayed under the principal Act (h) as structural, establishment, or tients' expenses, in such proportions as the committee direct.

Rate of interest.

4.—(1) The interest to be paid in pursuance of section twenty-two of the incipal Act (i) on any money repayable to a county council shall be interest such a rate as may be agreed upon between the county council and the spital committee concerned, or, in default of agreement, determined by e Local Government Board (k).
(2) In section twenty-two of the principal Act (l), the words "at the rate four pounds per centum per annum" are hereby repealed.

Amendment of 56 & 57 Vict. c. 68, s. 8 (3), as to appeals.

5. On any appeal against any order including any area in a hospital district der sub-section three of section eight of the principal Act (m), the Local overnment Board (k) may by their decision confirm, disallow, or modify the der as they think fit.

Amendment of definition of local authority.

6.—Notwithstanding anything in section twenty-six of the principal t (a), the rural district council shall, to the exclusion of any other authority, the local authority in the case of any contributory place. But the parish uncil shall have the same right of appeal to the Local Government Board (k) nder sub-section three of section eight of the principal Act as a local authority.
(2) Any liability which immediately before the passing of this Act attached the local authority in respect of a contributory place, being a parish, shall transferred to and discharged by the rural district council (b).

Copies of orders to be sent to Local Government Board (k).

7. The county council shall, as soon as may be, send a copy of any order ade by them under section nine of the principal Act (c) to the Local Govern-ent Board (k).

(e) Ante, p. 1780.
(f) Instead of being repayable out of the local rate, sums so borrowed will be repayable t of the county fund, so that the expense will ultimately fall upon the whole of the unty, and justly so, for the county council are only empowered to make the contribution here they deem it expedient so to do for the benefit of the county.
(g) This enactment meets the difficulties formerly experienced by hospital committees nder the principal Act in hiring temporarily a hospital from a district council whilst e committee were themselves erecting a permanent hospital, and also owing to the ant of power on the part of a hospital committee to send patients from their district the hospitals of other authorities, and pay for them when the circumstances rendered is desirable, for example, in the case of an epidemic where the committee's hospital as full.
(h) See ss. 17 and 18 of that Act, ante, p. 1779.
(i) Ante, p. 1780.
(k) See note (z) on p. 1874.

Representatives of county council on hospital committees.

8. In section ten of the principal Act (which deals with the constitution of hospital committees) (d) "representatives of the county council, whether members of the council or not," shall be substituted for "members of the county council."

Short title.

9. This Act may be cited as "The Isolation Hospitals Act, 1901," and this Act and the principal Act may be cited together as the Isolation Hospitals Acts, 1893 and 1901.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARIES ACT, 1901.

(1 EDW. 7, c. 19) (e).

An Act to amend the Acts relating to Public Libraries, Museums, and Gymnasiums, and to regulate the Liability of Managers of Libraries to Proceedings for Libel. [17th August 1901.]

AMENDMENT OF PUBLIC LIBRARIES ACTS, 1892 AND 1893.

Short title and construction. 55 & 56 Vict. c. 53. 56 & 57 Vict. c. 11.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Public Libraries Act, 1901," and shall be construed as one with the Public Libraries Act, 1892 (hereinafter referred to as the principal Act), and the Public Libraries (Amendment) Act, 1893, and those Acts and this Act may be together cited as the Public Libraries Acts, 1892 to 1901.

Qualification of library commissioners.

2.—(1) Any commissioners appointed for a library district under the principal Act (f) may be either voters in the district or persons who, though not voters, would, if the district were a rural parish having a parish council, be qualified for election as parish councillors.

56 & 57 Vict. c. 73.

(2) Section forty-six of the Local Government Act, 1894 (g), relating to disqualifications for election to, or membership of, certain authorities, shall have effect as if a library authority, being a body of commissioners appointed under the principal Act, were one of the authorities mentioned in that section.

Power to library authority to make byelaws.

3.—(1) A library authority may make byelaws (h) for all or any of the following purposes relating to any library, museum, art gallery, or school, which by virtue of the principal Act or this Act is under their control, that is to say:

(a) for regulating the use of the same and of the contents thereof, and for protecting the same and the fittings, furniture, and contents thereof from injury, destruction or misuse;

(d) Ante, p. 1777.

(e) See the Public Libraries Act, 1892, and the Public Libraries (Amendment) Act, 1893, ante, pp. 1762, 1771. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of the S. L. R. A., 1894. Reference should be made to the Public Libraries Act, 1919. Under s. 1 of that Act power is given to county councils to adopt the Public Libraries Acts, and where a county council become the library authority for any area the power of adoption of the council of a district comprised in that area is to cease. Section 2 of the same Act enables a district council to relinquish to a county council its powers and duties under the Public Libraries Acts. Section 3 provides for the reference and delegation of library powers to education committees.

(f) See s. 5 (1) of that Act, ante, p. 1762.

(g) Ante, p. 952.

(h) The power of making byelaws conferred by this section is not in substitution for the power of making regulations conferred by s. 15 of the Public Libraries Act, 1892, ante, p. 1765, which is still retained. Such regulations do not require confirmation by the Ministry of Health, but are not enforceable by penalties. In ordinary cases, however, regulations are sufficient for the attainment of the objects for which they are made; and it is not anticipated that library authorities will be desirous of making byelaws except where experience has shown them to be required.

(b) for requiring from any person using the same any guarantee or security against the loss of, or injury to, any book or other article ;

(c) for enabling the officers and servants of the library authority to exclude or remove therefrom persons committing any offence against the Libraries Offences Act, 1898 (i), or against byelaws. 61 & 62 Vict. c. 53.

(2) All byelaws under this section shall be made subject and according to he provisions respecting byelaws contained in sections one hundred and ighty-two to one hundred and eighty-six of the Public Health Act, 1875 (k), nd those sections shall apply as if the expression " local authority " therein ncluded in every case a library authority. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

(3) All offences and penalties under any such byelaw may be prosecuted nd recovered in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts (l).

Extension of 61 & 62 Vict. c. 53.

4. The Libraries Offences Act, 1898 (m), shall apply to any museum, art allery or school provided under the Public Libraries Act, 1892.

Power to library authorities to make agreements for use of library.

5.—(1) The library authorities of two or more library districts may agree o share, in such proportions and for such period as may be determined by he agreement, the cost of the purchase, erection, repair and maintenance f any library building in one of those districts, and also the cost of the urchase of books and newspapers for such library, and all other expenses onnected with the same, and may also agree as to the management and use f the library, and as to the interchange, hire and use of books and newspapers elonging to such authorities respectively (n).

(2) This section shall apply, with the necessary modifications, to a museum, chool for science, art gallery or school for art in like manner as to a library.

Amendment of 55 & 56 Vict. c. 53, s. 18, as to expenses in parishes.

6. In a library district, being a parish, the sanction of the parish meeting r vestry shall not be required annually (o) for raising the sums from time to ime due from the parish for defraying the expenses incurred by the library uthority, and those sums shall be paid by the overseers on the order of the brary authority. But in any parish in a rural district the sanction of the arish meeting shall be required in the year one thousand nine hundred and leven, and in every tenth year thereafter : Provided that nothing in this ection shall affect the operation of section eleven of the Local Government ct, 1894 (p). 56 & 57 Vict. c. 73.

Application of 54 & 55 Vict. c. 22, to museum provided under principal Act.

7. An urban authority for whose district the Museums and Gymnasiums ct, 1891 (q), has been adopted, either wholly or so far as it relates to museums nly, may appropriate for the purposes of that Act a museum provided for

(i) Ante, p. 1805.

(k) Ante, pp. 432—444. The power to confirm, allow or disallow byelaws hereunder is ow transferred to the Board of Education, see Order in Council, 17th May, 1920.

(l) Defined by the Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 13 (10).

(m) This Act originally extended only to libraries and reading rooms. See s. 2, ante, 1805.

(n) This provision is in substitution for s. 16 (1) of the Public Libraries Act, 1892, hich is repealed by s. 14, and Sched., post, and any library authority, including an urban uthority or a parish council, may enter into an agreement as contemplated by the section ith any other library authority whether commissioners or other. Moreover, the agreeent may relate to a museum, school for science or art, or art gallery as well as to a library.

(o) This was formerly necessary under the Public Libraries Act, 1892, s. 18 (2), ante, 1767, as affected by s. 7 (3) of the L. G. A., 1894.

(p) See ante, p. 1839, note (t).

The adoptive Acts in the above section include the Public Libraries Acts. As to a andamus to levy a rate exceeding 3*d.* in the £, see R. v. Stoke Parish Council (1900), J. P. 343 ; 82 L. T. 198.

And the limit of rate prescribed by s. 2 of the principal Act, ante, p. 1762, is also unffected by the text.

(q) See that Act, ante, p. 1747.

the district under the principal Act, and thereupon the Museums and Gymnasiums Act, 1891, shall apply to the museum, as if it were provided under that Act (r).

Notice to Local Government Board (rr).

8. On the adoption of the principal Act for any library district, the library authority shall forthwith give notice in writing of such adoption to the Local Government Board (rr). The library authority of every district in which the Act has already been adopted shall give the like notice within three months after the passing of this Act.

Definition of "voter." 56 & 57 Vict. c. 73.

9. In any library district every person who is a parochial elector within the meaning of the Local Government Act, 1894 (s), shall be a voter for the purposes of the principal Act and this Act; and parochial electors shall for all the purposes of the principal Act, be substituted for county electors (t).

10. . . . (u).

EXTENT OF ACT.

Act not to apply to Scotland.

11. This Act shall not apply to Scotland.

APPLICATION OF ACT TO IRELAND.

12. [Application of certain provisions to Ireland. Repealed and replaced by the Public Libraries (Ireland) Act, 1902 (2 Edw. 7, c. 20).]

Application to London of 54 & 57 Vict. c. 22 and 56 & 57 Vict. c. 11.

APPLICATION OF THE MUSEUMS AND GYMNASIUMS ACT, 1891, AND PUBLIC LIBRARIES (AMENDMENT) ACT, 1893, TO LONDON.

13. The Museums and Gymnasiums Act, 1891 (x), and the Public Libraries (Amendment) Act, 1893 (y), shall extend to the administrative county of London, and for the purpose of such extension shall be modified as follows:

The expression "urban authority" shall include the common council of the city of London (z) and a metropolitan borough council, and the expression "district" or "urban district" shall include the city of London and a metropolitan borough;

Any expenses incurred by the common council of the city of London or by a metropolitan borough council under the Museums and Gymnasiums Act, 1891, so far as they are not defrayed by fees and other money received under the said Act, shall be defrayed in the manner in which expenses incurred by that council under the principal Act are payable (a).

(r) The effect will be to enable the library rate to be relieved from the expense of maintaining it.

(rr) Now the M. of H. Notice must also be given to the Board of Education, see Order in Council, 17th May, 1920.

(s) For "parochial electors" now read "local government electors." See Representation of the People Act, 1918, and see note (a) under s. 20 of the Local Government Act, 1894, ante, p. 923. The expression "local government elector" when used with reference to a parish in an urban district, or in the county of London or any county borough, means any person who would be a local government elector of the parish if it were a rural parish (ib., s. 75 (2)).

(t) The definition of the expression "votor" in s. 27 of the principal Act is consequently repealed.

(u) This section was repealed by s. 11 and the Schedule to the Public Libraries Act, 1919. That Act repealed s. 2 of the Public Libraries Act, 1892, and other enactments relating to the limitations on the rate.

(x) Ante, p. 1747.

(y) Ante, p. 1771.

(z) As to the city of London, see s. 21 of the principal Act, ante, p. 1768.

(a) See s. 10 of the Museums and Gymnasiums Act, 1891, ante, p. 1750.

REPEAL.

14. The Acts mentioned in the schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that schedule. Repeal.

SCHEDULE. Section 14.

Session.	Short Title.	Extent of Repeal.
54 & 55 Vict. c. 22 .	The Museums and Gymnasiums Act, 1891.	In section two, the words " or the administrative county of London."
55 & 56 Vict. c. 53 .	The Public Libraries Act, 1892.	Section three, in so far as it is inconsistent with this Act. Sub-section one of section sixteen. Sub-section two of section eighteen, and in sub-section three of the same section the words " but the sanction of the vestry shall not be required for raising the sums from time to time due from the parish for meeting those expenses." THE FACTORY AND WORKSHOP ACT, 1901.

(1 EDW. 7, c. 22) (b).

Act to consolidate with Amendments the Factory and Workshop Acts.

[17th August 1901.]

PART I.

HEALTH AND SAFETY.

(i) Health.

—(1) The following provisions shall apply to every factory as defined his Act (d), except a domestic factory (e): Sanitary conditions of factory (c).

) It must be kept in a cleanly state;

) It must be kept free from effluvia rising from any drain, watercloset, earth closet, privy, urinal, or other nuisance;

It must not be so overcrowded while work is carried on therein as to be dangerous or injurious to the health of the persons employed therein (f);

This Act has been amended by the Factory and Workshop Act, 1907, post, p. 1967. those sections of this Act which bear upon the duties of sanitary authorities are here t. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see the S. L. R. A., 1894, s. 4.

This section reproduces 41 & 42 Vict. c. 16, ss. 3 and 23, as amended by 54 & 55 c. 75, ss. 3 and 5, and 58 & 59 Vict. c. 37, ss. 1 and 24.

See s. 149, post. As to tenement factories, see s. 87, post, and as to laundries, see actory and Workshop Act, 1907, ss. 3 and 4, post, p. 1967.

Defined by s. 115, post. See also s. 111 (5), post.

See s. 3, post, as to overcrowding.

(d) It must be ventilated in such a manner as to render harmless, so far as is practicable, all the gases, vapours, dust or other impurities generated in the course of the manufacturing process or handicraft carried on therein, that might be injurious to health (g).

38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

(2) The provisions of section ninety-one of the Public Health Act, 1875 (h), with respect to a factory, workshop or workplace not kept in a cleanly state, or not ventilated, or overcrowded, shall not apply to any factory to which this section applies.

(3) For the purpose of securing the observance of the requirements in this section as to cleanliness in factories, all the inside walls of the rooms of a factory, and all the ceilings or tops of those rooms (whether those walls, ceilings, or tops are plastered or not), and all the passages and staircases of a factory, if they have not been painted with oil or varnished once at least within seven years, shall (subject to any special exceptions made in pursuance of this section) be limewashed once at least within every fourteen months, to date from the time when they were last limewashed; and, if they have been so painted or varnished, shall be washed with hot water and soap once at least within every fourteen months, to date from the time when they were last washed.

(4) Where it appears to the Secretary of State that in any class of factories or parts thereof the provisions of this section with respect to limewashing or washing are not required for the purpose of securing therein the observance of the requirements of this Act as to cleanliness, or are by reason of special circumstances inapplicable, he may, if he thinks fit, by special order (i) grant to that class of factories or parts thereof a special exception that the said provisions shall not apply thereto.

(5) A factory in which there is a contravention of this section shall be deemed not to be kept in conformity with this Act.

Sanitary condition of workshops and workplaces. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

2.—(1) The provisions of section ninety-one of the Public Health Act, 1875 (k), with respect to a factory, workshop or workplace not kept in a cleanly state, or not ventilated, or overcrowded, shall apply to every factory, workshop and workplace, except any factory to which the last preceding section applies.

(2) Every workshop and every workplace within the meaning of the Public Health Act, 1875, must be kept free from effluvia arising from any drain, watercloset, earthcloset, privy, urinal or other nuisance, and, unless so kept, shall be deemed to be a nuisance liable to be dealt with summarily under the law relating to public health.

(3) Where, on the certificate of a medical officer of health or inspector of nuisances, it appears to any district council that the limewashing, cleansing or purifying of any such workshop or of any part thereof is necessary for the health of the persons employed therein, the council shall give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of the workshop to limewash, cleanse or purify the same or part thereof, as the case may require.

(4) If the person to whom notice is so given fails to comply therewith within the time therein specified, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten shillings for every day during which he continues to make default, and the council may, if they think fit, cause the workshop or part to be limewashed, cleansed, or purified, and may recover in a summary manner the expenses incurred by them in so doing from the person in default.

(g) See s. 7, post, as to means of ventilation.
(h) Ante, p. 165.
(i) Defined by s. 156, post. See Order dated November 2nd, 1903 (Stat. R. & O. Rev. 1904, vol. 4, tit. Factory & Workshop, p. 1), and s. 161 (2), post.
(k) Ante, p. 165.

(5) This section shall not apply to any workshop or workplace to which the ıblic Health (London) Act, 1891, applies. 54 & 55 Vict. c. 76.

3.—(1) A factory shall, for the purposes of this Act, and a workshop shall, r the purposes of the law relating to public health, be deemed to be so over- owded as to be dangerous or injurious to the health of the persons employed erein, if the number of cubic feet of space in any room therein bears to the ımber of persons employed at one time in the room a proportion less than ʏo hundred and fifty or, during any period of overtime, four hundred cubic et of space to every person (l). Overcrowding of factory and workshop.

(2) Provided that the Secretary of State may, by special order (m), modify is proportion for any period during which artificial light other than electric ght is employed for illuminating purposes, and may, by like order, as regards y particular manufacturing process or handicraft, substitute for the said ures of two hundred and fifty and four hundred respectively any higher ures, and thereupon this section shall have effect as modified by the order.

(3) Where a workshop or workplace, not being a domestic workshop (n), occupied by day as a workshop and by night as a sleeping apartment, the cretary of State may, by special order (o) modify the proportion of cubic t of space prescribed by this section and substitute therefor any higher ures, and thereupon this section shall have effect as modified by the ler.

4) There shall be affixed in every factory and workshop a notice specifying number of persons who may be employed in each room of the factory or rkshop by virtue of this section.

4.—(1) If the Secretary of State is satisfied that the provisions of this t, or of the law relating to public health in so far as it affects factories, rkshops and workplaces, have not been carried out by any district council, may, by order, authorise an inspector to take, during such period as may be ntioned in the order, such steps as appear necessary or proper for enforcing se provisions. Power of Secretary of State to act in default of local authority (p).

2) An inspector authorised in pursuance of this section shall, for the pose of his duties thereunder, have the same powers with respect to work- ps and workplaces as he has with respect to factories, and he may, for that pose, take the like proceedings for enforcing the provisions of this Act f the law relating to public health, or for punishing or remedying any ult, as might be taken by the district council; and he shall be entitled ecover from the district council all such expenses in and about any proceed- as he may incur and as are not recovered from any other person (q).

It had been found by experience previous to the passing of the Factory and Work- Act, 1895, s. 1, from which this enactment is taken, that the limits here prescribed ded a good general working rule, and the then Home Secretary so stated in the House mmons before the passing of that Act.

.) Defined in s. 156, post. See Order dated 30th December, 1903, as to certain bake- es (Stat. R. & O. Rev., 1904, vol. 4, tit. Factory and Workshop, p. 4).

Defined by s. 115, post.

Defined by s. 156, post. See Order dated 17th January, 1902, as to workshops as sleeping places (Stat. R. & O. Rev., 1904, vol. 4, tit. Factory and Workshop, p. 4).

This section reproduces and extends the Factory and Workshop Act, 1891, s. 2, t as to laundries, as to which see s. 103 (1) (d), post.

does not appear how the Secretary of State is to be satisfied of the default, but no t opportunity will be given to the district council alleged to be in default, to answer ase against them before any order under this section is made.

provisions of this section should be compared with those of s. 299 of the P. H. A., ante, p. 632, and the differences noted.

There are no provisions as to recovery of these expenses like those contained in of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 635. It would seem, therefore, that in order to recover

Powers of inspector as to sanitary defects in factory or workshop remediable by sanitary authority (r).

5.—(1) Where it appears to an inspector that any act, neglect or default in relation to any drain, watercloset, earthcloset, privy, ashpit, water supply, nuisance or other matter in a factory or workshop is punishable or remediable under the law relating to public health, but not under this Act, that inspector shall give notice in writing of the act, neglect or default, to the district council in whose district the factory or workshop is situate, and it shall be the duty of the district council to make such inquiry into the subject of the notice, and take such action thereon, as seems to that council proper for the purpose of enforcing the law, and to inform the inspector of the proceedings taken in consequence of the notice.

(2) An inspector may, for the purposes of this section, take with him into a factory or a workshop a medical officer of health, inspector of nuisances or other officer of the district council.

(3) Where notice of an act, neglect or default is given by an inspector under this section to a district council, and proceedings are not taken within one month for punishing or remedying the act, neglect or default, the inspector may take the like proceedings for punishing or remedying the same as the district council might have taken, and shall be entitled to recover from the district council all such expenses in and about the proceedings as the inspector incurs and as are not recovered from any other person and have not been incurred in any unsuccessful proceedings (qq).

Temperature in factories and workshops (t).

6.—(1) In every factory and workshop adequate measures (s) must be taken for securing and maintaining a reasonable temperature in each room in which any person is employed; but the measures so taken must not interfere with the purity of the air of any room in which any person is employed.

(2) The Secretary of State may, by special order (u), direct, with respect to any class of factories or workshops, that thermometers be provided, maintained and kept in working order, in such place and position as may be specified in the order.

(3) A factory or workshop in which there is any contravention of this section, or of any order under this section, shall be deemed not to be kept in conformity with this Act.

Ventilation (x).

7.—(1) In every room in any factory or workshop sufficient means of ventilation shall be provided, and sufficient ventilation shall be maintained.

(2) The Secretary of State may, by special order (y), prescribe a standard of sufficient ventilation for any class of factories or workshops, and that them, the inspector must bring his action on the statute against the defaulting district council and prove his case in the ordinary way.

(qq) See note (q) on p. 1881.

(r) This section reproduces the Factory and Workshop Act, 1878, s. 4, as amended by the Factory and Workshop Act, 1891, s. 2, and the Factory and Workshop Act, 1895, s. 3. An inspector has power to make such examination and inquiry as may be necessary to ascertain whether the enactments for the time being in force relating to public health are complied with so far as respects a factory or workshop, and the persons employed therein. (3) A factory in which there is a contravention of the provisions of this ection shall be deemed not to be kept in conformity with this Act, and a orkshop in which there is a contravention of the provisions of this section all be deemed to be a nuisance liable to be dealt with summarily under ie law relating to public health.

(4) If the occupier of a factory or workshop (including a cotton cloth ctory in which humidity of the atmosphere is artificially produced) alleges iat the whole or part of the expenses of providing the means of ventilation quired by this Act ought to be borne by the owner (b), he may, by com- aint, apply to a court of summary jurisdiction, and that court may make ch order concerning the expenses or their apportionment as appears to e court to be just and equitable under the circumstances of the case, gard being had to the terms of any contract between the parties (c).

Drainage of floors (cc).

8.—(1) In every factory or workshop or part thereof in which any process carried on which renders the floor liable to be wet to such an extent that e wet is capable of being removed by drainage, adequate means shall be ovided for draining off the wet.

(2) A factory in which there is a contravention of the provisions of this ption shall be deemed not to be kept in conformity with this Act, and a rkshop in which there is a contravention of the provisions of this section all be deemed to be a nuisance liable to be dealt with summarily under e law relating to public health.

Sanitary conveniences in factories and workshops (d).

9.—(1) Every factory and workshop must be provided with sufficient l suitable accommodation in the way of sanitary conveniences, regard ng had to the number of persons employed in, or in attendance at, the tory or workshop, and also where persons of both sexes are, or are intended be, employed or in attendance, with proper separate accommodation for sons of each sex.

(2) The Secretary of State shall, by special order (e), determine what is icient and suitable accommodation within the meaning of this section.

(3) A factory or workshop in which there is a contravention of this section ll be deemed not to be kept in conformity with this Act.

(4) This section does not apply to the administrative county of London, o any place where section twenty-two of the Public Health Acts Amend- 53 & 54 Vict. c. 59. t Act, 1890, is in force (f).

two and in which more than forty persons are employed and every workshop of which the construction was not commenced before the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and ninety-six and in which more than forty persons are employed must be furnished with a certificate from the district council of the district in which the factory or workshop is situate that the factory or workshop is provided with such means of escape in case of fire for the persons employed therein as can reasonably be required under the circumstances of each case, and if the factory or workshop is not so furnished it shall be deemed not to be kept in conformity with this Act; and it shall be the duty of the council to examine every such factory and workshop and, on being satisfied that the factory or workshop is so provided, to give such a certificate as aforesaid. The certificate must specify in detail the means of escape so provided.

(2) With respect to all factories and workshops to which the foregoing provisions of this section do not apply and in which more than forty persons are employed (h), it shall be the duty of the district council of every district from time to time to ascertain whether all such factories and workshops within their district are provided with such means of escape as aforesaid and, in the case of any factory or workshop which is not so provided, to serve on the owner (i) of the factory or workshop a notice in writing specifying the measures necessary for providing such means of escape as aforesaid and requiring him to carry them out before a specified date, and thereupon the owner shall, notwithstanding any agreement with the occupier, have power to take such steps as are necessary for complying with the requirements (k); and, unless the requirements are complied with, the owner shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one pound for every day that the non-compliance continues.

(3) In case of a difference of opinion between the owner (i) of the factory or workshop and the council under the last foregoing sub-section, the difference shall, on the application of either party, to be made within one month after the time when the difference arises, be referred to arbitration, and thereupon the provisions of the First Schedule to this Act shall have effect, and the award on the arbitration shall be binding on the parties thereto, and the notice of the council shall be discharged, amended or confirmed in accordance with the award.

(4) If the owner (i) alleges that the occupier of the factory or workshop ought to bear or contribute to the expenses of complying with the requirements, he may apply to the county court having jurisdiction where the factory or workshop is situate, and thereupon the county court, after hearing the occupier, may make such order as appears to the court just and equitable under all the circumstances of the case (l).

provisions of the Factory and Workshop Act, 1891, s. 7, as amended by the Factory and Workshop Act, 1895, ss. 10 and 11. It seems to extend to movable as well as to fixed fire-escapes. As to the application of this section to the administrative county of London see s. 153.

(h) Adjoining houses let on separate leases by the same owner to the same tenant, who occupied them as one set of manufacturing premises, although in one of them less than forty persons were employed, more than forty being employed in the other, were held to have been rightly dealt with as a single factory under this section (*Re Tubbs and London C. (5) For the purpose of enforcing the foregoing provisions of this section, an inspector may give the like notice and take the like proceedings as under the foregoing provisions of this Act with respect to matters punishable or remediable under the law relating to public health but not under this Act, and those provisions shall apply accordingly (m).

(6) The means of escape in case of fire provided in any factory or workshop shall be maintained in good condition and free from obstruction, and if it is not so maintained the factory or workshop shall be deemed not to be kept in conformity with this Act.

(7) For the purposes of this section the whole of a tenement factory or workshop shall be deemed to be one factory or workshop, and the owner shall be substituted for the occupier (n).

(8) All expenses incurred by a district council in the execution of this section shall be defrayed—

(a) In the case of an urban district council, as part of their expenses of the general execution of the Public Health Act, 1875 (o); and

(b) In the case of a rural district council, as special expenses incurred in the execution of the Public Health Act, 1875 (p); and those expenses shall be charged to the contributory place in which the factory or workshop is situate.

Byelaws for means of escape from fire.

15. Every district council shall, in addition to any powers which they possess with reference to the prevention of fire (r), have power to make byelaws providing for means of escape from fire in the case of any factory or workshop, and sections one hundred and eighty-two to one hundred and eighty-six of the Public Health Act, 1875 (s), shall apply to any byelaws so made.

Doors of factory or workshop to open from inside (t).

16.—(1) While any person employed in a factory or workshop is within the factory or workshop for the purpose of employment or meals, the doors of the factory or workshop, and of any room therein in which any such person is, must not be locked or bolted or fastened in such a manner that they cannot be easily and immediately opened from the inside.

(n) "Tenement factory" is defined by s. 149, post. This sub-section does not meet the defect in the previous Acts disclosed by London C. C. v. Lewis, [1900] 69 L. J. Q. B. 7; 64 J. P. 39, where the upper floors of a building were "factories" within the meaning of the Acts, but the first floor and basement were not and were let to other tenants, and it was held that the owner of the whole building could not be required to provide as a means of escape in case of fire for the persons employed in such factories, a staircase which would encroach on the lower floors of the building. See also London C. C. v. Brass (1902), 17 T. L. R. 504, where it was held that a notice to provide means of escape specifying works that would involve a trespass, was held not sufficient to justify a conviction for non-compliance; and see Toller v. Spiers and Pond, Ltd., ante, p. 1884.

Power to make order as to unhealthy or dangerous factory or workshop (u).

18.—(1) A court of summary jurisdiction may, on complaint by an inspector, and on being satisfied that any place used as a factory or workshop or as part of a factory or workshop is in such a condition that any manufacturing process or handicraft carried on therein cannot be so carried on without danger to health or to life or limb, by order, prohibit the use of that place for the purpose of that process or handicraft, until such works have been executed as are, in the opinion of the court, necessary to remove the danger.

(2) Provided that proceedings shall not be taken under this section in case where proceedings might be taken by or at the instance of any district council under the provisions of the law relating to public health, unless the inspector is authorised to take proceedings under the foregoing provisions of this Act (x) with respect to the enforcement of sanitary provisions in workshops or with respect to matters punishable or remediable under the law relating to public health but not under this Act.

(3) If there is any contravention of an order under this section, the occupier of the place shall be liable to a fine not exceeding forty shillings a day during the contravention.

PART II.

EMPLOYMENT.

* * * * * *

Supplemental.

Power to impose sanitary requirements as condition of special exceptions (y).

58.—(1) Where it appears to the Secretary of State—

(a) That the adoption of any special means or provision for the cleanliness or ventilation of a factory or workshop is required for the protection of the health of women, young persons or children employed, in pursuance of an exception under this part of this Act, either for a longer period than is otherwise allowed by this Act or at night; or

(b) That the adoption of a special provision as to the total number of hours of employment in each week, the periods of employment and the intervals between such periods is required for the protection of the health of any women or young persons employed in pursuance of such an exception at night, he may, by special order (z), direct that the adoption of the means or provision shall be a condition of such employment.

(u) This section reproduces 58 & 59 Vict. c. 37, s. 2.

(x) See ss. 4 and 5, ante, pp. 1881, 1882.

(y) This section reproduces the provisions of the Factory and Workshop Act, 1878, s. 63, as amended by the Factory and Workshop Act, 1895, s. 14 (3).

(z) Defined by s. 156, post. See Order dated 20th December, 1882, as to fish-curing shops made under s. 43 of the Factory and Workshop Act, 1878 (Stat. R. & O. Rev., 1904, vol. 4, tit. Factory and Workshop, p. 6). See also Order dated 15th April, 1884, as to workrooms in connection with drapers' actual establishments in the Boroughs of Manchester and Salford (ibid., p. 8), and Order dated 27th April, 1887, as to factories and workshops for the manufacture of straw hats and bonnets (ibid., p. 9).

By another Order dated the 20th December, 1882 (ibid., p. 31) (App. II., post), it was imposed as a condition of the employment in any factory or workshop mentioned in Part III. of Schedule III. of the Act of 1878 of any young person or woman in pursuance of an exception under s. 53 of that Act that there shall be a cubic space of at least 400 feet for every young person and woman so employed.

So far as factories are concerned, s. 1 of the Act of 1895, superseded the provisions of this last-mentioned Order. In the case of workshops, however, the effect of that section

(2) If it appears to the Secretary of State that the adoption of any such means or provision is no longer required or is, having regard to all the circumstances, inexpedient, he may, by special order, rescind the order directing the adoption, without prejudice to the subsequent making of another order.

Power to rescind orders as to special exceptions (a).

59. Where an exception has been granted or extended under this Act by an order of the Secretary of State and it appears to the Secretary of State that the exception is injurious to the health of the women, young persons or children employed in, or is no longer necessary for the carrying on of the business in, the class of factories or workshops or parts thereof to which the exception was so granted or extended, he may, by special order, rescind the grant or extension, without prejudice to the subsequent making of another order.

Notices, registers, etc., relating to special exceptions (b).

60.—(1) An occupier of a factory or workshop, not less than seven days before he avails himself of any special exception made by or in pursuance of this Act, shall serve (c) on the inspector for the district, and affix in his factory or workshop notice of his intention so to avail himself and, whilst he avails himself of the exception, shall keep the notice so affixed.

(2) Before the service of the notice on the inspector, the special exception shall not be deemed to apply to the factory or workshop and, after the service of the notice on the inspector, it shall not be competent in any proceeding under this Act for the occupier to prove that the exception does not apply to his factory or workshop, unless he has previously served on the inspector for the district notice that he no longer intends to avail himself of the exception.

(3) The notice so served and affixed must, except as otherwise provided by this Act, specify the hours for beginning and end of the period of employment and the times to be allowed for meals to every woman, young person and child, where they differ from the ordinary hours or times.

(4) An occupier of a factory or workshop shall enter in the prescribed (d) register and report to the inspector for the district the prescribed (d) particulars respecting the employment of a woman, young person or child in pursuance of a special exception; and, in the case of employment overtime, he shall also cause a notice containing the prescribed (d) particulars respecting the employment to be kept affixed in the factory or workshop during the prescribed (d) time, and he shall send the report required by this subsection to the inspector not later than eight o'clock in the evening on which any woman, young person or child is employed overtime in pursuance of the exception.

(5) Where the occupier of a factory or workshop avails himself of a special exception made by or in pursuance of this Act and a condition for availing himself of that exception (whether specified in this Act, or in an order of the Secretary of State made under this Act) is not observed in that factory or workshop, then

(a) If the condition relates to the cleanliness, ventilation or overcrowding is not to supersede the Order, but to give the local sanitary authority a co-ordinate power to deal with overcrowding under the law relating to public health. See now s. 3 of the present Act. The Order therefore remains in full force as to workshops, and the conditions which it imposes as to the working of overtime in workshops are enforceable by the factory inspectors.

(a) This section reproduces the Factory and Workshop Act, 1878, s. 64.

(b) This section reproduces the Factory and Workshop Act, 1878, s. 66, as amended by the Factory and Workshop Act, 1891, s. 14, with the addition of the amendment embodied in sub-s. (6).

(d) Defined by s. 156, post.

of the factory or workshop, the factory or workshop shall be deemed not to be kept in conformity with this Act; and

(b) In any other case a woman, young person or child employed in the factory or workshop, in alleged pursuance of the exception, shall be deemed to be employed contrary to the provisions of this Act.

(6) Where an occupier of a factory or workshop has served on an inspector a report, in pursuance of this section, of his intention to employ any persons overtime by virtue of a special exception, the report shall, unless withdrawn, be primâ facie evidence, in any proceedings under this Act, that the occupier has in fact employed persons overtime in accordance with the report.

PART V.

SPECIAL MODIFICATIONS AND EXTENSIONS.

(i) Tenement Factories.

Duties of owner of tenement factory (e).

87.—(1) The owner (d) (whether or not he is one of the occupiers) of a tenement factory (f) shall, instead of the occupier, be liable for the observance and punishable for non-observance of the following provisions of this Act, namely, the provisions with respect to—

(i) the cleanliness, freedom from effluvia, overcrowding and ventilation of factories, contained in section one of this Act, including, so far as they relate to any engine-house, passage or staircase or to any room which is let to more than one tenant, the provisions with respect to limewashing and washing of the interior of a factory;

(ii) the fencing of machinery and penal compensation for neglect to fence machinery in a factory, except so far as relates to such parts of the machinery as are supplied by the occupier;

(iii) the notices to be affixed in a factory with respect to the period of employment, times for meals and system of employment of children;

(iv) the prevention of the inhalation of dust, gas, vapour or other impurity, so far as that provision requires the supply of pipes or other contrivances necessary for working the fan or other means for that purpose; and

(v) the fixing of an abstract and notices in a factory.

Provided that any occupier may affix in his own tenement the notice with respect to the period of employment, times for meals and system of employment of children, and thereupon that notice shall, with respect to persons employed by that occupier, have effect in substitution for the corresponding notice affixed by the owner.

(2) The provisions of this Act with respect to the power to make orders in the case of dangerous premises shall apply in the case of a tenement factory as if the owner were substituted for the occupier.

(3) In the case of any tenement factory or class of tenement factories used wholly or partly for the weaving of cotton cloth, the owner shall, if the Secretary of State by order so directs, be substituted for the occupier for the purpose of the requirements of section seven and section ninety-four of this Act or of any order of the Secretary of State with respect to ventilation.

(d) Defined by s. 156, post.

(e) This section reproduces 58 & 59 Vict. c. 37, s. 24, with certain amendments.

(f) Defined by s. 149, post. Note the omission of the former provision as to occupiers paying a rent in excess of £200 a year.

(4) Where, by or under this section, the owner of a tenement factory is substituted for the occupier with respect to any provisions of this Act, any summons, notice or proceeding, which for the purpose of any of those provisions is by this Act required or authorised to be served on or taken in relation to the occupier, is hereby required or authorised (as the case may be) to be served on or taken in relation to the owner.

(ii) Cotton Cloth and other Humid Factories.

* * * * * *

94. In every cotton cloth factory the following regulations (i) for the protection of health shall have effect, viz. : Regulations for the protection of health.

(1) The water used for the purpose of producing humidity shall either be taken from a public supply of drinking water or other source of pure water or shall be effectively purified to the satisfaction of the inspector before being introduced in the form of steam into the factory, and all ducts for the introduction of humidified air shall be kept clean.

(2) The pipes for the introduction of steam into a cotton cloth factory in which the temperature is seventy degrees Fahrenheit or over shall, so far as they are within the shed, be as small both in diameter and length as is reasonably practicable and shall be effectively covered with non-conducting material to the satisfaction of the inspector, so as to minimise the amount of heat thrown off by them into the shed.

(3) In the case of a cotton cloth factory in which humidity of the atmosphere is produced by any artificial means whatsoever (except by gas used for lighting purposes only), the arrangements for ventilation shall be such that during working hours in no part of the cotton cloth factory shall the proportion of carbonic acid (carbon dioxide) in the air be greater than nine volumes of carbonic acid to every ten thousand volumes of air.

(4) Unless some other method certified by the inspector to be equally satisfactory is adopted, the outside of the roof of every cotton cloth factory shall be whitewashed every year before the thirty-first day of May, and such whitewash shall be effectively maintained until the thirty-first day of August.

(5) In every cotton cloth factory erected after the second day of February one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight, a sufficient and suitable cloak room, or cloak rooms, shall be provided for the use of all the persons employed therein, and shall be ventilated and kept at a suitable temperature.

95. If in the case of any cotton cloth factory there is a contravention of or non-compliance with any of the foregoing provisions with regard to cotton cloth factories, the inspector shall give notice in writing to the occupier (l) of the factory of the acts or omissions constituting the contravention or non-compliance and, if those acts or omissions or any of them are continued or not remedied or are repeated within twelve (m) months after the notice has Penalties for non-compliance (k).

(i) Under the Factory and Workshop (Cotton Cloth Factories) Act, 1911, the Secretary of State may make regulations which when made shall be substituted for the provisions in the text.

(k) This section reproduces the Cotton Cloth Factories Act, 1889, s. 13.

(l) As to the liability of the owner in certain cases, see s. 87 (3) and (4), ante.

been given, the occupier of the factory shall be liable, for the first offence, to a fine not less than five pounds and not exceeding ten pounds and, for every subsequent offence, to a fine not less than ten pounds and not exceeding twenty pounds.

Application of foregoing provisions to other humid factories (n).

96. The foregoing provisions of this Act with respect to cotton cloth factories shall apply to every textile factory in which atmospheric humidity is artificially produced by steaming or other mechanical appliances and in which regulations under Part IV. of this Act with respect to humidity are not for the time being in force, but subject to the following qualifications, namely :

(a) The Secretary of State may, by special order, modify the provisions of the Fourth Schedule to this Act with respect to the maximum limits of humidity ;

(b) The reading of the thermometer between seven and eight o'clock in the forenoon shall not be required ; and

(c) Section ninety-four, respecting regulations for the protection of health in cotton cloth factories, shall not apply ; and

(d) The regulations in section ninety-two distinguished as (b), (c), (d), and (e), which are required to be observed with reference to the employment of thermometers, shall not apply to cotton spinning mills.

(iii) Bakehouses.

Sanitary regulations for bakehouses (o).

97.—(1) It shall not be lawful to let or suffer to be occupied or to occupy any room or place as a bakehouse, unless the following regulations are complied with :

(a) A watercloset, earthcloset, privy or ashpit must not be within or communicate directly with the bakehouse ;

(b) Every cistern for supplying water to the bakehouse must be separate and distinct from any cistern for supplying water to a watercloset ;

(c) A drain or pipe for carrying off fæcal or sewage matter must not have an opening within the bakehouse.

(2) If any person lets or suffers to be occupied or occupies any room or place as a bakehouse in contravention of this section he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding forty shillings, and to a further fine not exceeding five shillings for every day during which any room or place is so occupied after a conviction under this section.

Penalty for bakehouse being unfit on sanitary grounds (p).

98.—(1) Where a court of summary jurisdiction is satisfied, on the prosecution of an inspector or a district council, that any room or place used as a bakehouse is in such a state as to be on sanitary grounds unfit for use or occupation as a bakehouse, the occupier of the bakehouse shall be liable to a fine not exceeding, for the first offence, forty shillings and, for any subsequent offence, five pounds.

(2) The court of summary jurisdiction, in addition to or instead of inflicting a fine, may order means to be adopted by the occupier, within the time named in the order, for the purpose of removing the grounds of complaint.

(n) This section reproduces the Factory and Workshop Act, 1895, s. 31, with certain amendments. It is here inserted simply for the purpose of showing that the application of s. 94 of this Act to other humid factories other than cotton cloth factories is excluded. A special order, dated 24th December, 1898, made under the corresponding provisions of s. 31 of the Factory and Workshop Act, 1895, now repealed, is in force with regard to factories where the spinning of merino, cashmere, and wool by the French or dry process is carried on.

(o) This section reproduces the Factory and Workshop Act, 1883, s. 15, as amended by the Factory and Workshop Act, 1895, s. 27 (2).

(p) This section reproduces the Factory and Workshop Act, 1883, s. 16.

The court may, on application, enlarge the time so named; but, if after the expiration of the time as originally named or enlarged by subsequent order the order is not complied with, the occupier shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one pound for every day that the non-compliance continues.

Limewashing, painting, and washing of bakehouses (q).

99.—(1) All the inside walls of the rooms of a bakehouse, and all the ceilings or tops of those rooms (whether those walls, ceiling or tops are plastered or not) and all the passages and staircases of a bakehouse must either be painted with oil or varnished or be limewashed, or be partly painted and varnished and partly limewashed; and

(a) where the bakehouse is painted with oil or varnished, there must be three coats of paint or varnish and the paint or varnish must be renewed once at least in every seven years and must be washed with hot water and soap once at least in every six months; and

(b) where the bakehouse is limewashed, the limewashing must be renewed once at least in every six months.

(2) A bakehouse in which there is a contravention of this section shall be deemed not to be kept in conformity with this Act.

Provision as to sleeping places near bakehouses (r).

100.—(1) A place on the same level with the bakehouse and forming part of the same building may not be used as a sleeping place, unless it is constructed as follows; that is to say,

(a) is effectually separated from the bakehouse by a partition extending from the floor to the ceiling; and

(b) has an external glazed window of at least nine superficial feet in area, of which at the least four and a half superficial feet in area are made to open for ventilation.

(2) If any person lets or occupies or continues to let or knowingly suffers to be occupied any place contrary to this section, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding, for the first offence, twenty shillings and, for any subsequent offence, five pounds.

Prohibition of underground bakehouses (s).

101.—(1) An underground bakehouse shall not be used as a bakehouse unless it was so used at the passing of this Act (t).

(2) Subject to the foregoing provision, after the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and four an underground bakehouse shall not be used unless certified by the district council to be suitable for that purpose (u).

(3) For the purpose of this section an underground bakehouse shall mean a bakehouse any baking room of which is so situate that the surface of the floor is more than three feet below the surface of the footway of the adjoining street or of the ground adjoining or nearest to the room. The expression "baking room" means any room used for baking or for any process incidental thereto.

(4) An underground bakehouse shall not be certified as suitable unless the district council is satisfied that it is suitable as regards construction, light, ventilation and in all other respects.

(q) This section reproduces the Factory and Workshop Act, 1878, s. 34, as extended by Factory and Workshop Act, 1895, s. 27.

(r) This section reproduces the Factory and Workshop Act, 1878, s. 35, as extended by Factory and Workshop Act, 1895, s. 27.

(s) The first sub-section of this section reproduced the Factory and Workshop Act, 1878, s. 27 (3), but the rest was new.

(t) Premises which have been long used as an underground bakehouse, although vacant at the passing of this Act, may, if the owner was then seeking a tenant for them as a bakehouse, be considered to be used as a bakehouse within the meaning of this sub-section (Verzerhof v. Wilkins, [1898] 1 Q. B. 641; 62 J. P. 247).

(u) This sub-section absolutely prohibits the use of underground bakehouses after January, 1904, unless certified as structurally suitable for the purpose by the local authority (Evans v. Gallon (1904), 68 J. P. 537; 2 L. G. R. 1004).

(5) This section shall have effect as if it were included among the provisions relating to bakehouses which are referred to in section twenty-six of the Public Health (London) Act, 1891.

54 & 55 Vict. c. 76.

(6) If any place is used in contravention of this section, it shall be deemed to be a workshop not kept in conformity with this Act.

(7) In the event of the refusal of a certificate by the district council, the occupier of the bakehouse may, within twenty-one days from the refusal, by complaint apply to a court of summary jurisdiction, and, if it appears to the satisfaction of the court that the bakehouse is suitable for use as regards construction, light, ventilation and in all other respects, the court shall thereupon grant a certificate of suitability of the bakehouse, which shall have effect as if granted by the district council.

(8) Where any place has been let as a bakehouse, and the certificate required by this section cannot be obtained unless structural alterations are made, and the occupier alleges that the whole or part of the expenses of the alterations ought to be borne by the owner, he may by complaint apply to a court of summary jurisdiction, and that court may make such order concerning the expenses or their apportionment as appears to the court to be just and equitable, under the circumstances of the case, regard being had to the terms of any contract between the parties; or in the alternative the court may, at the request of the occupier, determine the lease (x).

Enforcement of law as to retail bakehouses by sanitary authorities (y).

102. As respects every retail bakehouse, the provisions of this Part of this Act shall be enforced by the district council of the district in which the retail bakehouse is situate, and not by an inspector; and for the purposes of this section the medical officer of health of the district council shall have and may exercise all the powers of entry, inspection, taking legal proceedings and otherwise of an inspector (z).

In this section the expression "retail bakehouse" means any bakehouse or place, not being a factory, the bread, biscuits or confectionery baked in which are sold, not wholesale, but by retail, in some shop or place occupied with the bakehouse.

(1) The occupier of every factory and workshop and every contractor

(x) Compare s. 7 (4), ante, and s. 14 (4). The jurisdiction of the High Court in an action on a covenant in a lease by the lessee to pay expenses under this section is excluded by this sub-section (Stuckey v. Hooke, [1906] 2 K. B. 20; 70 J. P. 393). As to whether the court of summary jurisdiction in making an apportionment can disregard a covenant by the tenant to pay outgoings, etc., see Goldstein v. Hollingsworth, [1904] 2 K. B. 578; 68 J. P. 383; Morris v. Beal, [1904] 2 K. B. 585; 68 J. P. 542, and Stuckey v. Hooke, supra (per Moulton, L.J.). Cf. Monro v. Lord Burghclere (1917), 82 J. employed by any such occupier in the business of the factory or workshop shall—

(a) keep in the prescribed (d) form and manner and with the prescribed particulars lists showing the names and addresses of all persons directly employed by him, either as workmen or as contractors, in the business of the factory or workshop outside the factory or workshop and the places where they are employed; and

(b) send to an inspector such copies of or extracts from those lists as the inspector may from time to time require; and

(c) send on or before the first day of February and the first day of August in each year copies of those lists to the district council of the district in which the factory or workshop is situate (e).

(2) Every district council shall cause the lists received in pursuance of this section to be examined and shall furnish the name and place of employment of every outworker included in any such list whose place of employment is outside its district to the council of the district in which his place of employment is.

(3) The lists kept by the occupier or contractor shall be open to inspection by any inspector under this Act and by any officer duly authorised by the district council, and the copies sent to the council and the particulars furnished by one council to another shall be open to inspection by any inspector under this Act.

(4) This section shall apply to any place from which any work is given out and to the occupier of that place and to every contractor employed by any such occupier in connexion with the said work, as if that place were a workshop.

(5) In the event of a contravention of this section by the occupier of a factory, workshop or place or by a contractor, the occupier or contractor shall be liable to a fine not exceeding forty shillings and, in the case of a second or subsequent offence, not exceeding five pounds (ee).

Employment of person in unwholesome premises (f).

8.—(1) If the district council within whose district is situate a place in which work is carried on for the purpose of or in connexion with the business of a factory or workshop give notice in writing to the occupier of the factory or workshop or to any contractor employed by any such occupier that that place is injurious or dangerous to the health of the persons employed therein, and if the occupier or contractor, after the expiration of one month from the date of the notice, gives out work to be done in that place, and the place is found by the court having cognisance of the case to be so injurious or dangerous, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

(2) This section shall apply in the case of the occupier of any place from which any work is given out as if that place were a workshop.

(3) This section shall not apply except in the case of persons employed in such classes of work as the Secretary of State may specify by special order (g).

(d) Defined by s. 156, post.

(e) Together with the provisions of the following sub-section and sub-s. (3), this provision will enable the district council to perform their new duties under s. 108, infra.

(f) See the Order dated 20th January, 1913 (Stat. R. and O., 1913, p. 160).

(g) This section reproduces the Factory and Workshop Act, 1895, s. 5, but with this difference, that the execution of the law is now made the duty of the district council, and not of the inspector. And see note (i), post, p. 1894.

(h) Defined by s. 156, post. See the Home Work Order of the 23rd May, 1907, in App. post, and Home Office Circular dated 4th October, 1906 (4 L. G. R., Part III., p. 129).

Making of wearing apparel where there is scarlet fever or small-pox (h).

109. If the occupier of a factory or workshop or of any place from which any work is given out or any contractor employed by any such occupier causes or allows wearing apparel to be made, cleaned or repaired in any dwelling-house or building occupied therewith whilst any inmate of the dwelling-house is suffering from scarlet fever or small-pox then unless he proves that he was not aware of the existence of the illness in the dwelling-house and could not reasonably have been expected to become aware of it he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

Prohibition of home work in places where there is infectious disease.

110.—(1) If any inmate of a house is suffering from an infectious disease to which this section applies, the district council of the district in which the house is situate may make an order forbidding any work to which this section applies to be given out to any person living or working in that house or such part thereof as may be specified in the order, and any order so made may be served on the occupier of any factory or workshop or any other place from which work is given out or on the contractor employed by any such occupier (i).

(2) The order may be made notwithstanding that the person suffering from an infectious disease may have been removed from the house (k), and the order shall be made either for a specified time or subject to the condition that the house or part thereof liable to be infected shall be disinfected to the satisfaction of the medical officer of health (l) or that other reasonable precautions (m) shall be adopted.

(3) In any case of urgency the powers conferred on the district council by this section may be exercised by any two or more members of the council acting on the advice of the medical officer of health.

(4) If any occupier or contractor on whom an order under this section has been served contravenes the provisions of the order, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

(5) The infectious diseases to which this section applies are the infectious diseases required to be notified under the law for the time being in force in relation to the notification of infectious diseases (n), and the work to which this section applies is the making, cleaning, washing, altering, ornamenting, finishing and repairing of wearing apparel and any work incidental thereto and such other classes of work as may be specified by special order (o) of the Secretary of State.

Application of Act to domestic factories and workshops (p).

111. The application of this Act to domestic factories and domestic workshops (q) shall be subject to the following provisions :

(1) The regulations with respect to the hours of employment of women young persons and children shall not apply to any such factory or workshop, and in lieu thereof the following regulations shall be observed therein :

(a) A young person or child shall not be employed in the factory or workshop except during the period of employment hereinafter mentioned ; and

(b) The period of employment for a young person shall, except on Saturday, begin at six o'clock in the morning and end at nine o'clock in the evening and shall, on Saturday, begin at six o'clock in the morning and end at four o'clock in the afternoon; and

(c) There shall be allowed to every young person for meals and absence from work during the period of employment not less, except on Saturday, than four hours and a half and, on Saturday than two hours and a half; and

(d) The period of employment for a child on every day either shall begin at six o'clock in the morning and end at one o'clock in the afternoon or shall begin at one o'clock in the afternoon and end at eight o'clock in the evening, or, on Saturday, at four o'clock in the afternoon; and for the purpose of the provisions of this Act respecting education such child shall be deemed, according to circumstances, to be employed in a morning or afternoon set; and

(e) A child shall not be employed before the hour of one in the afternoon in two successive periods of seven days, nor after that hour in two successive periods of seven days; and a child shall not be employed on Saturday in any week before the hour of one in the afternoon if on any other day in the same week he has been employed before that hour, nor after that hour if on any other day of the same week he has been employed after that hour; and

(f) A child shall not be employed continuously for more than five hours without an interval of at least half an hour for a meal.

) The requirement as to making certain entries and reports when a woman, young person or child is employed in pursuance of an exception shall not apply except so far as may be prescribed from time to time by the Secretary of State.

) The provisions of this Act with respect to certificates of fitness for employment shall apply to a domestic factory as if it were a workshop and not a factory.

The following provisions shall not apply to a domestic factory or to a domestic workshop, namely:

a) the provisions as to meal hours being simultaneous and as to prohibition of employment during meal times;

b) the provisions as to affixing notices and abstracts and as to specifying certain matters in notices so affixed;

c) the provisions as to holidays;

d) the provisions as to notices of accidents;

e) the provisions as to means of ventilation (s), the drainage of floors (t), and thermometers (u);

f) the provisions as to the keeping of a general register (x).

The provisions of section one of this Act (relating to the sanitary condition of a factory) shall not apply to a domestic factory (z).

omestic factories and domestic workshops also are, however subject to the proof ss. 91 et seq. of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 165.

Dangerous processes in domestic factories and workshops.

112. If any manufacture, process or description of manual labour, which in pursuance of this Act has been certified by the Secretary of State to be dangerous (b), is carried on in a domestic factory or workshop, all the provisions of this Act shall apply, as if the place were a factory or workshop other than a domestic factory or workshop.

Abstracts for domestic factories and workshops.

113. The Secretary of State shall give notice of the provisions of this Act relating to domestic factories and workshops by the publication of the prescribed (c) abstract or otherwise, as he thinks fit.

Non-application of Act to certain domestic workshops (d).

114.—(1) The exercise in a private house or private room by the family dwelling therein or by any of them (e) of manual labour by way of trade or for purposes of gain in or incidental to any of the following handicrafts; namely—

(i) straw plaiting, or
(ii) pillow-lace making, or
(iii) glove making,

shall not of itself constitute the house or room a workshop within the meaning of this Act.

When it is proved to the satisfaction of the Secretary of State that, by reason of the light character of the handicraft carried on in any private house or private room by the family dwelling therein, or by any of them, it is expedient to extend the provisions of this sub-section to that handicraft, he may, by special order (c) extend the same accordingly. Part Two of this Act shall apply so far as circumstances admit, as if the order were an order extending an exception.

(2) The exercise in a private house or private room by the family dwelling therein or by any of them of manual labour for the purposes of gain in or incidental to any of the following purposes, namely—

(i) the making of any article or part of any article ; or
(ii) the altering, repairing, ornamenting (g) or finishing of any article ; or
(iii) the adapting for sale of any article, shall not of itself constitute that house or room a workshop (h), where the labour is exercised at irregular intervals, and does not furnish the whole or principal means of living to the family.

Definitions of "domestic factory" and "domestic workshop" (i).

115. The expressions "domestic factory" and "domestic workshop" mean a private house, room or place which, though used as a dwelling, is, by reason of the work carried on there a factory or a workshop, as the case may be, within the meaning of this Act (k) and in which neither steam, water

(b) By s. 79 of this Act, where the Secretary of State is satisfied that any manufacture, machinery, plant, process, or description of manual labour, used in factories or workshops, is dangerous or injurious to health, or dangerous to life or limb, either generally or in the case of women, children, or any other class of persons, he may certify that manufacture, machinery, plant, process, or description of manual labour, to be dangerous.

Under the corresponding provisions of the Factory and Workshop Act, 1891, s. 8, the Secretary of State has certified various processes as dangerous, but there is no express provision that such certificates remain in force under this Act.

(c) Defined by s. 156, post. No such order has as yet been made.

(d) This section reproduces 41 & 42 Vict. c. 16, ss. 97, 98.

(e) The labour must be exercised only by members of the family living in the house, straw plaiting and lace-making schools are not within the section. See Beadon v. Parrott (1871), L. R. 6 Q. B. 718 ; 39 J. P. 647.

PART VIII.

Administration.

(i) Inspection.

* * * * * *

19.—(1) An inspector shall, for the purpose of the execution of this Act, e power to do all or any of the following things ; namely,— Powers of inspectors (l).

a) To enter, inspect and examine at all reasonable times, by day and night, a factory and a workshop and every part thereof, when he has reasonable cause to believe that any person is employed therein, and to enter by day any place which he has reasonable cause to believe to be a factory or workshop ; and

b) To take with him in either case a constable into a factory or workshop in which he has reasonable cause to apprehend any serious obstruction in the execution of his duty ; and

c) To require the production of the registers, certificates, notices and documents kept in pursuance of this Act, and to respect, examine and copy the same ; and

d) To make such examination and inquiry as may be necessary to ascertain whether the enactments for the time being in force relating to public health and the enactments of this Act are complied with, so far as respects the factory or workshop and the persons employed therein ; and

e) To enter any school in which he has reasonable cause to believe that children employed in a factory or workshop are for the time being educated ; and

f) To examine, either alone or in the presence of any other person, as he thinks fit, with respect to matters under this Act, every person whom he finds in a factory or workshop or such a school as aforesaid or whom he has reasonable cause to believe to be or to have been within the preceding two months, employed in a factory or workshop, and to require every such person to be so examined and to sign a declaration of the truth of the matters respecting which he is so examined ; and

g) To exercise such other powers as may be necessary for carrying this Act into effect.

The occupier of every factory and workshop, his agents and servants, furnish the means required by an inspector as necessary for an entry, tion, examination, inquiry or the exercise of his powers under this relation to that factory or workshop.

If any person wilfully delays an inspector in the exercise of any power this section or fails to comply with the requisition of an inspector in nce of this section or to produce any certificate or document which he ired by or in pursuance of this Act to produce or conceals or prevents empts to conceal or prevent a woman, young person or child from appearing before or being examined by an inspector, that person shall be deemed to obstruct an inspector in the execution of his duties under this Act:

Provided that no one shall be required under this section to answer any question or to give any evidence tending to criminate himself.

(4) Where an inspector is obstructed in the execution of his duties under this Act, the person obstructing him shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds; and where an inspector is so obstructed in a factory or workshop, other than a domestic factory or a domestic workshop, the occupier of that factory or workshop shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five, or where the offence is committed at night twenty, pounds; and, where an inspector is so obstructed in a domestic factory or a domestic workshop, the occupier shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one pound or, where the offence is committed at night, five pounds; and, in the case of a second or subsequent conviction under this section in relation to a factory within two years from the last conviction for the same offence, a fine not less than one pound shall be imposed for each offence.

Right of inspector to conduct proceedings before magistrates (m).

120. An inspector, if so authorised in writing under the hand of the Secretary of State, may, although he is not a counsel or solicitor or law agent, prosecute, conduct or defend before a court of summary conviction or justice, any information, complaint or other proceeding arising under this Act or in the discharge of his duty as inspector.

Certificate of appointment of inspector (n).

121. Every inspector shall be furnished with the prescribed certificate of his appointment and, on applying for admission to a factory or workshop, shall, if so required, produce the said certificate to the occupier.

(iii) Local Authorities.

Powers of local authorities and their officers.

125. For the purpose of their duties with respect to workshops and workplaces under this Act and under the law relating to public health, the district council and their officers shall, without prejudice to their other powers, have all such powers of entry, inspection, taking legal proceedings or otherwise as an inspector under this Act (p).

(iv) Special Orders.

Provisions as to special orders of Secretary of State (q).

126. The following provisions shall apply to such orders made by the Secretary of State in pursuance of this Act as are in this Act referred to as special orders:

(1) The order shall be under the hand of the Secretary of State and shall be published in such manner as the Secretary of State thinks best adapted for the information of all persons concerned and shall come into operation at the date of its publication or at any later date mentioned in the order :

(2) The order may be temporary or permanent, conditional or unconditional and, whether granting or extending an exception or prohibition or directing the adoption of any special means or provision or rescinding a previous order or effecting any other thing, may do so either wholly or partly :

(3) The order shall be laid as soon as may be before both Houses of Parliament and, if either House of Parliament, within the next forty days after the order has been so laid before that House, resolves that the order ought to be annulled, it shall, after the date of that resolution, be of no effect, without prejudice to the validity of anything done in the meantime under the order or to the making of a new order :

(4) The order, while it is in force, shall, so far as is consistent with the tenor thereof, apply, as if it formed part of the enactment which provides for the making of the order.

(v) Notices, Registers and Returns.

Notice of occupation of factory or workshop (r).

127.—(1) Every person shall, within one month after he begins to occupy a factory or workshop, serve on the inspector for the district a written notice containing the name of the factory or workshop, the place where it is situate, the address to which he desires his letters to be addressed, the nature of the work, the nature and amount of the moving power therein and the name of the person or firm under which the business of the factory or workshop is to be carried on.

(2) In the event of a contravention of this section by the occupier of a factory or workshop, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds.

(3) Where an inspector receives notice in pursuance of this section with respect to a workshop, he shall forthwith forward the notice to the district council of the district in which the workshop is situate.

* * * * * *

General registers (s).

129.—(1) In every factory and workshop there shall be kept a register, called the general register, showing in the prescribed form the prescribed particulars as to—

(a) the children and young persons employed in the factory or workshop ; and

(b) the lime-washing of the factory or workshop ; and

(c) every accident occurring in the factory or workshop of which notice is required to be sent to an inspector ; and

(d) every special exception of which the occupier of the factory or workshop avails himself ; and

(e) such other matters as may be prescribed.

(2) Where any entry is required by this Act to be made in the general register, the entry made by the occupier of a factory or workshop on his behalf shall, as against him, be admissible as primâ facie evidence of the facts therein stated, and the failure to make any entry so required with respect to the observance of any provision of this Act shall be admissible as primâ facie evidence that that provision has not been observed.

(3) The register shall at all reasonable times be open to inspection by the certifying surgeon of the district.

(r) This section reproduces the Factory and Workshop Act, 1878, s. 75, as extended by the Factory and Workshop Act, 1891, s. 26, and amended by the Factory and Workshop Act, 1895, ss. 41, 44 (1).

(s) This section reproduces the Factory and Workshop Act, 1878, s. 77, as amended by the Factory and Workshop Act, 1895, ss. 15 and 43, with amendments.

(4) The occupier of a factory or workshop shall send to an inspector such extracts from the general register as the inspector from time to time requires for the execution of his duties under this Act.

(5) If in any factory or workshop any requirement of this section is not complied with, the occupier shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds.

* * * * * *

Registers of workshops.

131. Every district council shall keep a register of all workshops situate within their district.

Report of medical officer of health on administration of Act (u).

132. The medical officer of health of every district council shall, in his annual report to them, report specifically on the administration of this Act in workshops and workplaces, and he shall send a copy of his annual report or so much of it as deals with this subject to the Secretary of State.

Miscellaneous Provisions.

Notice by medical officer of health of employment of woman, young person or child in workshops(x).

133. Where any woman, young person or child is employed in a workshop in which no abstract of this Act is affixed as by this Act required, and the medical officer of the district council becomes aware thereof, he shall forthwith give written notice thereof to the inspector for the district.

Certificate of birth in case of young person under 16 and children.

134. Where the age of any young person under the age of sixteen years or child is required to be ascertained or proved for the purposes of this Act or for any purpose connected with the employment in labour or elementary education of the young person or child, any person shall on presenting a written requisition in such form and containing such particulars as may be from time to time prescribed by the [Minister of Health], and on payment of a fee of sixpence, be entitled to obtain a certified copy under the hand of a registrar or superintendent registrar of the entry in the register, under the Births and Deaths Registration Acts, 1836 to 1874, of the birth of that young person or child; and such form of requisition shall on request be supplied without charge by every superintendent registrar and registrar of births, deaths, and marriages.

PART IX.

LEGAL PROCEEDINGS.

Fine for not keeping factory or workshop in conformity with Act (y).

135.—(1) If a factory or workshop is not kept in conformity with this Act, the occupier (z) thereof shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten pounds, and, in the case of a second or subsequent conviction in relation to a factory within two years from the last conviction for the same offence, not less than one pound for each offence.

(2) The court of summary jurisdiction, in addition to or instead of inflicting a fine, may order certain means to be adopted by the occupier within the time named in the order, for the purpose of bringing his factory or workshop into conformity with this Act. The court may, on application

(u) This section was new. As to the annual report of the medical officer of health, see the General Orders of the L. G. B. (now Minister of Health), set out in Appendix III, post.

(x) This section reproduces the Factory and Workshop Act, 1891, s. 3 (3).

(y) This section reproduces the Factory and Workshop Act, 1878, s. 81, as amended by the Factory and Workshop Act, 1891, s. 28.

(z) In the case of a tenement factory the owner is under s. 87, ante, made liable for certain offences instead of the occupier. The occupier may also, under s. 141, post, exempt himself on conviction of the actual offender. As to the time within which proceedings must be taken, see s. 146, post.

enlarge the time so named, but if, after the expiration of the time as originally named or enlarged by subsequent order the order is not complied with, the occupier shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one pound for every day on which the non-compliance continues.

Fines in case of death or injury (b).

136. (a) If any person is killed or dies or suffers any bodily injury or injury to health, in consequence of the occupier (c) of a factory or workshop having neglected to observe any provision of this Act or any regulation made in pursuance of this Act, the occupier of the factory or workshop shall be liable (d) to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds and, in the case of a second or subsequent conviction in relation to a factory within two years from the last conviction for the same offence, not less than one pound for each offence ; and the whole or any part of the fine may be applied for the benefit of the injured person or his family or otherwise, as the Secretary of State determines :

Provided as follows :

(a) In the case of injury to health the occupier shall not be liable under this section, unless the injury was caused directly by the neglect (e) :

(b) The occupier shall not be liable to fine under this section if an information against him for not observing the provision or regulation to the breach of which the death or injury was attributable has been heard and dismissed previous to the time when the death or injury was inflicted (f).

Forgery of certificates, false entries, and false declarations (g).

139. If any person—

(a) forges or counterfeits any certificate for the purposes of this Act (for the forgery or counterfeiting of which no other punishment is provided) ; or

(b) gives or signs any such certificate, knowing the same to be false in any material particular ; or

(c) knowingly utters or makes use of any certificate so forged, counterfeited or false as aforesaid ; or

(d) knowingly utters or makes use of, as applying to any person, a certificate which does not so apply ; or

(e) personates any person named in a certificate ; or

(f) falsely pretends to be an inspector ; or

(g) wilfully connives at the forging, counterfeiting, giving, signing, uttering, making use, or personating as aforesaid ; or

(h) wilfully makes a false entry in any register, notice, certificate or document required by this Act to be kept or served or sent ; or

(a) See the case of R. v. Taylor, in the notes to s. 146, post, p. 1903.

(b) This section reproduces the Factory and Workshop Act, 1878, s. 82, as amended by the Factory and Workshop Act, 1895, s. 13, with the further amendments embodied in the proviso.

(c) In the case of a tenement factory the owner is, under s. 87, ante, made liable instead of the occupier.

(d) Notwithstanding the penalty imposed by this section, an action for damages will also lie in respect of personal injuries received by a workman through a breach by the employer of his statutory duty to fence ; and in such action the defence of common employment is not applicable (Groves v. Lord Wimborne, [1898] 2 Q. B. 402).

(e) In the case of bodily injury it was held in Blenkinsop v. Ogden, [1898] 1 Q. B. 783, that contributory negligence was no answer to a complaint under the Factory and Workshop Act, 1878, s. 82.

(f) It appears to make no difference whether the information was dismissed on the merits or not.

(g) This section reproduces the Factory and Workshop Act, 1878, s. 85.

(i) wilfully makes or signs a false declaration under this Act; or

(j) knowingly makes use of any such false entry or declaration, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, with or without hard labour.

Fine on person actually committing offence for which occupier is liable (h).

140. Where an offence for which the occupier of a factory or workshop is liable under this Act to a fine has in fact been committed by some agent, servant, workman or other person, that agent, servant, workman or other person shall be liable to the like fine as if he were the occupier.

Power of occupier to exempt himself from fine on conviction of the actual offender (i).

141.—(1) Where the occupier of a factory or workshop is charged with an offence against this Act, he shall be entitled, upon information duly laid by him, to have any other person whom he charges as the actual offender brought before the court at the time appointed for hearing the charge; and if, after the commission of the offence has been proved, the occupier of the factory or workshop proves to the satisfaction of the court—

(a) that he has used due diligence to enforce the execution of this Act; and

(b) that the said other person had committed the offence in question without his knowledge, consent or connivance, that other person shall be summarily convicted of the offence, and the occupier shall be exempt from any fine. The person so convicted shall, in the discretion of the court, be also liable to pay any costs incidental to the proceedings.

(2) When it is made to appear to the satisfaction of an inspector at the time of discovering an offence—

(a) that the occupier of the factory or workshop has used all due diligence to enforce the execution of this Act; and

(b) by what person the offence has been committed; and

(c) that it has been committed without the knowledge, consent or connivance of the occupier and in contravention of his orders, the inspector shall proceed against the person whom he believes to be the actual offender without first proceeding against the occupier of the factory or workshop.

* * * * * *

Limit to cumulative fines (k).

143. A person shall not be liable, in respect of a repetition of the same kind of offence from day to day, to any larger amount of fines than the highest fine fixed by this Act for the offence, except—

(a) where the repetition of the offence occurs after an information has been laid for the previous offence; or

(b) where the offence is one of employing two or more persons, contrary to the provisions of this Act.

Prosecution of offences and recovery and application of fines (l).

144.—(1) All offences under this Act shall be prosecuted and all fines under this Act shall be recovered, on summary conviction, before a court of summary jurisdiction in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts.

(2) A summary order may be made for the purposes of this Act by a court of summary jurisdiction in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts.

(l) This section reproduces 41 & 42 Vict. c. 16, s. 89, with the amendment embodied in sub-s. (5).

(3) All fines imposed in pursuance of this Act shall, save as otherwise expressly provided for by this Act (m), be paid into the Exchequer.

(4) Where a proceeding is taken before a court of summary jurisdiction with respect to an offence against this Act alleged to be committed in or with reference to a factory or workshop the occupier of the factory or workshop, and the father, son or brother of the occupier of the factory or workshop shall not be qualified to act as a member of the court (n).

(5) A person engaged in, or being an officer of any association of persons engaged in, the same trade or occupation as a person charged with any offence under this Act shall not act as a justice of the peace in hearing and determining the charge (n).

Appeal to quarter sessions (o).

145. If any person feels aggrieved by a conviction or order made by a court of summary jurisdiction on determining an information or complaint under this Act, he may appeal therefrom to quarter sessions.

Limitation of time and general provisions as to summary proceedings (p).

146. The following provisions shall have effect with respect to summary proceedings for offences and fines under this Act:

(1) The information shall be laid within three months after the date at which the offence comes to the knowledge of the inspector for the district within which the offence is charged to have been committed, or, in case of an inquest being held in relation to the offence, then within two months after the conclusion of the inquest, so, however, that it be not laid after the expiration of six months from the commission of the offence (q):

(2) It shall be sufficient to allege that a factory or workshop is a factory or workshop within the meaning of this Act, without more:

(3) It shall be sufficient to state the name of the ostensible occupier of the factory or workshop or the title of the firm by which the occupier employing persons in the factory or workshop is usually known:

(4) A conviction or order made in any matter arising under this Act,

(m) See s. 136, ante.

(q) On January 21st, the fact that certain machinery was unfenced, in contravention of s. 10, ante, came to the knowledge of the inspector of the district. On July 31st, in consequence of the machinery still being unfenced, a person suffered bodily injury. On October 24th, an information was laid charging that on July 31st the defendant's factory was not kept in conformity with the Act whereby a person suffered bodily injury. The magistrate dismissed the information on the ground that it was out of time, inasmuch as it had not been laid within three months of January 21st. It was held that ss. 135 and 136 create separate and distinct offences; that the offence with which the defendants were charged was the offence under s. 136; and that, that offence having been committed on July 31st, the information had been laid in time (R. v. Taylor, [1908] 2 K. B. 237; 72 J. P. 238). In May, 1905, and again on March 12th, 1908, an inspector visited the respondents' factory, and found that the flywheel of an engine was not fenced as required by s. 10 (1), ante. He again visited the factory on July 1st, 1908, and found that the flywheel was still unfenced. On July 22nd, 1908, he laid an information against the respondents under s. 135, ante, for that the factory was on July 1st, 1908, not kept in conformity with the Act in that the flywheel was not securely fenced as required by s. 10. It was held that the information had been laid within three months after the date at which the offence charged in the information came to the knowledge of the inspector within s. 146 (Verney v. Mark Fletcher & Sons, Ltd., [1909] 1 K. B. 445; 73 J. P. 131). In the case of an inquest being held, the information is in time if it is laid within three months after the offence has come to the knowledge of the inspector, or within two months after the conclusion of the inquest, whichever period is the longer, provided it is laid within six months after the commission of the offence (Boydel v. Levant Mine Adventurers, [1916] 1 K. B. 692; 80 J. P. 151).

either originally, or on appeal, shall not be quashed for want of form, and a conviction or order made by a court of summary jurisdiction, against which a person is authorised by this Act to appeal, shall not be removed by certiorari or otherwise, either at the instance of the Crown or of any private person, into a superior court, except for the purpose of the hearing and determination of a special case (r).

Evidence of employment.

147.—(1) If a person is found in a factory or workshop, except at meal times, or while all the machinery of the factory or workshop is stopped, or for the sole purpose of bringing food to the persons employed in the factory or workshop between the hours of four and five o'clock in the afternoon, he shall, until the contrary is proved, be deemed for the purposes of this Act to have been then employed in the factory or workshop :

Provided that the yards, playgrounds, and places open to the public view, schoolrooms, waiting rooms, and other rooms belonging to the factory or workshop in which no machinery is used or manufacturing process carried on, shall not be taken to be any part of the factory or workshop within the meaning of this enactment ; and this enactment shall not apply to a domestic factory or workshop.

(2) Where a young person or child is, in the opinion of the court, apparently of the age alleged by the informant, it shall lie on the defendant to prove that the young person or child is not of that age.

(3) A declaration in writing by a certifying surgeon for the district that he has personally examined a person employed in a factory or workshop in that district, and believes him to be under the age set forth in the declaration, shall be admissible in evidence of the age of that person.

(4) A copy of a conviction for an offence against this Act, purporting to be certified under the hand of the clerk of the peace having the custody of the conviction to be a true copy shall be receivable as evidence, and every such clerk of the peace shall, on the written request of an inspector and payment of a fee of one shilling, deliver to him a copy of the conviction so certified.

Service of notices and documents, etc. (s).

148. Any notice, order, requisition, summons and document required or authorised to be served or sent for the purposes of this Act—

(a) may be served and sent by post or by delivering the same to or at the residence of the person on or to whom it is to be served or sent or (where he is the owner of a factory or workshop) by delivering the same or a true copy thereof to his agent or (where he is the occupier of a factory or workshop) by delivering the same or a true copy thereof to his agent or to some person in the factory or workshop ; and

(b) where it is required to be served on or sent to the occupier of a factory or workshop, shall be deemed to be properly addressed if addressed to the occupier of the factory or workshop at the factory or workshop with the addition of the proper postal address, but without naming the person who is the occupier.

PART X.

Supplementary.

(i) Application and Definitions.

Factories and workshops to which Act applies (t).

149.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, the following expressions have in this Act the meanings hereby assigned to them; that is to say:

The expression "textile factory" (u) means any premises wherein or within the close or curtilage of which steam, water or other mechanical power is used to move or work any machinery employed in preparing, manufacturing or finishing or in any process incident to the manufacture of cotton, wool, hair, silk, flax, hemp, jute, tow, china-grass, cocoa-nut fibre or other like material, either separately or mixed together, or mixed with any other material, or any fabric made thereof:

Provided that print works, bleaching and dyeing works, lace warehouses, paper mills, flax scutch mills, rope works and hat works shall not be deemed to be textile factories:

The expression "non-textile factory" means—

(a) any works, warehouses, furnaces, mills, foundries or places named in Part One of the Sixth Schedule to this Act; and

(b) any premises or places named in Part Two of the said schedule wherein or within the close or curtilage or precincts of which steam, water or other mechanical power is used in aid of the manufacturing process (x) carried on there; and

(c) any premises wherein or within the close or curtilage or precincts of which any manual labour is exercised by way of trade or for purposes of gain in or incidental to any of the following purposes, namely—

(i) the making of any article or of part of any article; or

(ii) the altering, repairing, ornamenting or finishing (y) of any article; or

(iii) the adapting for sale (z) of any article, and wherein or within the close or curtilage or precincts of which (t) This section reproduces the Factory and Workshop Act, 1878, s. 93, as amended by the Factory and Workshop Act, 1891, s. 31.

(u) On this definition reference may be made to the following cases decided under repealed Acts, viz., Taylor v. Hickes (1862), 12 C. B. (N.S.) 152; 31 L. J. M. C. 242; Howarth v. Coles (1862), 12 C. B. (N.S.) 139; 31 L. J. M. C. 262; Haydon v. Taylor (1864), 4 B. & S. 519; 33 L. J. M. C. 30; Whymper v. Harney (1865), 18 C. B. (N.S.) 243; 34 L. J. M. C. 113.

(x) Rags were purchased and then sorted by hand. In some cases they were first dusted by a shaker driven by electric power. They were then sold wholesale. It was held that this did not constitute a manufacturing process (Paterson v. Hunt (1909), 73 J. P. 496; 101 L. T. 571). These words do not necessarily refer to something being produced, but to the business carried on; a laundry which is carried on for the purpose of gain and in which mechanical power is used for driving the machines, is a non-textile factory (Owner v. Cottenham Sanitary Steam Laundry Co., Ltd. (1910), 74 J. P. 219; 102 L. T. 571). Premises in which carpets are beaten by the aid of mechanical power are a "factory" inasmuch as carpet beating is a "manufacturing process" (Johnston v. Lalonde Brothers and Parham, [1912] 3 K. B. 218; 76 J. P. 379).

(y) As to finishing of cotton fabrics, see Howarth v. Coles, supra, finishing of bricks, Squire v. Stanley (1901), 65 J. P. 467; 84 L. T. 535.

(z) As to adapting for sale of bottled beer, see Law v. Graham, [1901] 2 K. B. 327; 65 J. P. 501; Hoare v. Truman, Hanbury and Buxton, Ltd. (1902), 71 L. J. K. B. 380; 66 J. P. 342; and of bonbons, Fullers v. Squire, [1901] 2 K. B. 209; 65 J. P. 660. See further as to the expression "non-textile factory," Keith Ltd. v. Kirkwood (1914), S. C. (J.) 150, and as to "factory," Vines v. Inglis, [1915] S. C. (J.) 18.

steam, water or other mechanical power is used in aid of the manufacturing process carried on there :

The expression "factory" means textile factory and non-textile factory or either of those descriptions of factories :

The expression "tenement factory" means a factory where mechanical power is supplied to different parts of the same building occupied by different persons for the purpose of any manufacturing process or handicraft, in such manner that those parts constitute in law separate factories ; and for the purpose of the provisions of this Act with respect to tenement factories, all buildings situate within the same close or curtilage shall be treated as one building (a).

The expression "workshop" means—

(a) any premises or places named in Part Two of the Sixth Schedule to this Act, which are not a factory ; and

(b) any premises, room or place, not being a factory, in which premises, room or place or within the close or curtilage or precincts of which premises any manual labour is exercised by way of trade or for purposes of gain in or incidental to any of the following purposes, namely—

(i) the making of any article or of part of any article ; or

(ii) the altering, repairing, ornamenting or finishing of any article ; or

(iii) the adapting for sale of any article, and to or over which premises, room or place the employer of the persons working therein has the right of access or control :

The expression "workshop" includes a tenement workshop.

The expression "tenement workshop" means any workplace in which, with the permission of or under agreement with the owner or occupier, two or more persons carry on any work which would constitute the workplace a workshop if the persons working therein were in the employment of the owner or occupier.

(2) A part of a factory or workshop may, with the approval in writing of the chief inspector, be taken for the purposes of this Act to be a separate factory or workshop (aa).

(3) A room solely used for the purpose of sleeping therein shall not be deemed to form part of the factory or workshop for the purposes of this Act.

(4) Where a place situate within the close, curtilage or precincts forming a factory or workshop is solely used for some purpose other than the manufacturing process or handicraft carried on in the factory or workshop, that place shall not be deemed to form part of the factory or workshop for the purposes of this Act, but shall, if otherwise it would be a factory or workshop, be deemed to be a separate factory or workshop and be regulated accordingly.

(5) A place or premises shall not be excluded from the definition of a factory or workshop by reason only that the place or premises is or are in the open air (b).

(6) The exercise by any young person or child in any recognised efficient school, during a portion of the school hours, of any manual labour for the purpose of instructing the young person or child in any art or handicraft

(a) A building in which the mechanical power employed in the different parts of the building occupied by different persons is derived from separate sources situated upon those parts respectively is not "a tenement factory," inasmuch as mechanical power is not "supplied to" the different parts (Brass v. London C. C., [1904] 2 K. B. 336 ; 68 J. P. 365). See also Toller v. Spiers and Pond, Ltd., ante, p. 1884.

(aa) See London C. C. v. Leyson (1914), 78 J. P. 91 ; 110 L. T. 200.

shall not be deemed to be an exercise of manual labour for the purpose of gain within the meaning of this Act.

Application to Crown factories and workshops (c).

150.—(1) This Act applies to factories and workshops belonging to the Crown; but in case of any public emergency the Secretary of State may, by order, to the extent and during the period named by him, exempt from this Act any factory or workshop belonging to the Crown or any factory or workshop in respect of work which is being done on behalf of the Crown under a contract specified in the order.

(2) A factory or workshop belonging to or in the occupation of the Crown shall not be excluded from the operation of this Act by reason only that it is not carried on by way of trade or for the purpose of gain.

(3) The powers conferred by this Act on a district council or other local authority shall, in the case of a factory or workshop belonging to or in the occupation of the Crown, be exercised by an inspector under this Act.

Power to treat separate branches as separate factories or workshops (d).

151. The Secretary of State may, by special order (e), direct, with respect to any class of factories or workshops, that different branches or departments of work carried on in the same factory or workshop shall, for all or any of the purposes of this Act, be treated as if they were different factories or workshops.

* * * * * *

Application of Act to London.

153.—(1) In the application to the administrative county of London of the section of this Act relating to the means of escape from fire, the London County Council shall take the place of the district council, and their expenses in the execution of that section shall be defrayed as part of their expenses in the management of the London Building Act, 1894.

(2) In the application to the administrative county of London of the section of this Act, giving power to make byelaws providing for means of escape from fire, the reference to a district council shall be construed as a reference to the London County Council.

(3) The power of the London County Council under section one hundred and sixty-four of the London Building Act, 1894, to make byelaws with respect to the means of escape from fire in buildings exceeding sixty feet in height shall extend to all factories and workshops whether exceeding sixty feet in height or not.

(4) Subject as aforesaid, references in this Act to a district council and the district thereof shall, as regards the city of London, be construed as references to the Court of Common Council and the city, and, as regards any other part of the administrative county of London, as references to the council of a metropolitan borough and the metropolitan borough.

Application of Act to county boroughs (f).

154. References in this Act to a district council and the district thereof shall be construed as including references to the council of a county borough and the county borough.

Saving for existing powers of district councils (g).

155. The powers conferred by this Act on district councils shall be in addition to, and not in substitution for, any other powers which they may possess.

(c) This section is taken from the Factory and Workshop Act, 1878, s. 93, with amendments embodied in sub-ss. (2) and (3).

(d) This section reproduces the Factory and Workshop Act, 1895, s. 39.

(e) Defined by s. 156, post. See also s. 126, ante.

(f) This section does not alter the law. County boroughs and county borough councils were sanitary districts and authorities respectively within the meaning of the repealed statutes.

(g) Cf. s. 341 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 666, and s. 10 of the P. H. A., 1890, ante, p. 824.

General definitions (h). 38 & 39 Vict. c. 13.

156.—(1) In this Act unless the context otherwise requires,—

"Bank holiday."
The expression "bank holiday" means a holiday under the Holidays Extension Act, 1875:

"Child."
The expression "child" means a person who is under the age of fourteen years, and who has not, being of the age of thirteen years, obtained the certificate of proficiency or attendance at school mentioned in Part III. of this Act:

"Machinery."
The expression "machinery" includes any driving strap or band:

"Mill-gearing."
The expression "mill-gearing" comprehends every shaft, whether upright, oblique or horizontal, and every wheel, drum or pulley, or other appliance by which the motion of the first moving power is communicated to any machine appertaining to a manufacturing process.

"Night."
The expression "night" means the period between nine o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the succeeding morning:

"Owner."
The expression "owner" has the meaning given to it by section four of the Public Health Act, 1875 (i):

"Parent."
The expression "parent" means a parent or guardian of, or person having the legal custody of, or the control over, or having direct benefit from the wages of, a young person or child:

"Prescribed."
The expression "prescribed" means prescribed for the time being by the Secretary of State:

"Process."
The expression "process" includes the use of any locomotive:

"Special order."
The expression "special order" means an order which is subject to the provisions of section one hundred and twenty-six of this Act (k) with regard to special orders of the Secretary of State:

"Week."
The expression "week" means the period between midnight on Saturday night and midnight on the succeeding Saturday night:

"Woman."
The expression "woman" means a woman of the age of eighteen years and upwards:

"Young person."
The expression "young person" means a person who has ceased to be a child and is under the age of eighteen years:

(2) For the purposes of this Act, employment shall be deemed to be continuous unless interrupted by an interval of at least half an hour.

(3) The factories and workshops named in the Sixth Schedule to this Act are in this Act referred to by the names therein assigned to them.

(4) References in this Act to regulations made under this Act shall be construed as including references to special rules established or requirements made under any previous Act.

"Men's workshops" (l).

157. The following provisions of this Act shall not apply to men's workshops—that is to say, workshops conducted on the system of not employing any woman, young person or child therein:

(iii) Repeal, etc.

161. The Acts specified in the Seventh Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed as from the dates and to the extent in that schedule mentioned ; Repeal of Acts.
Provided that—
(1 All notices affixed in a factory or workshop in pursuance of any enactment hereby repealed shall, so far as they are in accordance with the provisions of this Act, be deemed to have been affixed in pursuance of this Act ; and
(2) All orders and all special rules and requirements made or having effect under any enactment hereby repealed shall continue to have effect as if they had been made under this Act ; and nothing in this Act shall be construed as altering the mode of making such special rules or requirements whilst the power to make them continues in force ; and
(3) All inspectors, sub-inspectors, certifying surgeons, officers, clerks and servants appointed in pursuance of any enactment hereby repealed shall continue in office and shall be subject to removal and have the same powers and duties as if they had been appointed in pursuance of this Act ; and
(4) All certificates of fitness for employment granted in pursuance of any certificate hereby repealed shall have effect as if granted in pursuance of this Act, and all registers kept in pursuance of any enactment hereby repealed shall, until otherwise directed by the Secretary of State, be deemed to be the registers required by this Act.

162. This Act shall come into operation on the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and two. Commencement of Act.

163. This Act may be cited as " The Factory and Workshop Act, 1901." Short title.

(u) In Seal v. Alexander, [1912] 1 K. B. 469 ; 76 J. P. 156, it was held that in view of the exception contained in thus sub-section, no offence was committed by the occupier of a men's workshop who failed to furnish written particulars under s. 116, ante, of the rate of wages paid to an outworker paid by the piece and engaged in making up wearing apparel given out to him from the workshop, notwithstanding the fact that the provisions of s. 107, ante, had been applied by order to this class of work, and that s. 107 is not in Part VII. of the Act.

Section 14.

PROVISIONS AS TO ARBITRATIONS.

(1) The parties to the arbitrations are in this schedule deemed to be the owner o the factory or workshop on the one hand and the district council on the other hand

(2) Each of the parties to the arbitration may, within fourteen days after the dat of the reference, appoint an arbitrator.

(3) No person shall act as arbitrator or umpire who is employed in, or in th management of, or is interested in, the factory or workshop to which the arbitratio relates.

(4) The appointment of an arbitrator must be in writing, and notice of the appoint ment shall be forthwith sent to the other party to the arbitration, and the appoint ment shall not be revoked without the consent of that party.

(5) The death or removal of, or other change in, any of the parties to the arbitra tion shall not affect the proceedings under this schedule.

(6) If within the said fourteen days either of the parties fails to appoint a arbitrator, the arbitrator appointed by the other party may proceed to hear an determine the matter in difference, and in that case the award of the single arbitrato shall be final.

(7) If before an award has been made any arbitrator appointed by either part dies or becomes incapable to act or for seven days refuses or neglects to act, th party by whom that arbitrator was appointed may appoint some other person t act in his place; and, if he fails to do so within seven days after notice in writin from the other party for that purpose, the remaining arbitrator may proceed to hea and determine the matter in difference, and in that case the award of the sing arbitrator shall be final.

(8) In either of the foregoing cases where an arbitrator is empowered to ac singly, on one of the parties failing to appoint, the party so failing may, before t single arbitrator has actually proceeded in the arbitration, appoint an arbitrato who shall then act as if no failure had occurred.

(9) If the arbitrators fail to make their award within twenty-one days after t day on which the last of them was appointed, or within such extended time (if an as has been appointed for that purpose by both arbitrators under their hands, t matter in difference shall be determined by the umpire appointed as hereinaft mentioned.

(10) The arbitrators, before they enter on the matter referred to them, sha appoint by writing under their hands an umpire to decide on points on which the may differ.

(11) If the umpire dies or becomes incapable of acting before he has made h award or refuses to make his award within a reasonable time after the matter h been brought within his cognizance, the persons or person who appointed such umpi shall forthwith appoint another umpire in his place.

(12) If the arbitrators refuse or fail, or for seven days after the request of eith party neglect, to appoint an umpire, then on the application of either party a umpire may be appointed by the chairman of the quarter sessions within the juri diction of which the factory or workshop is situate.

(13) The decision of every umpire on the matters referred to him shall be final.

(14) If a single arbitrator fails to make his award within twenty-one days aft the day on which he was appointed, the party who appointed him may appoi another arbitrator to act in his place.

(15) Arrangements shall, whenever practicable, be made for the matters in diffe ence being heard at the same time before the arbitrators and the umpire.

(16) The arbitrators and the umpire or any of them may examine the parties a their witnesses on oath and may also consult any counsel, engineer or scientif person whom they think it expedient to consult.

(17) The payment, if any, to be made to any arbitrator or umpire for his servi shall be fixed by the Secretary of State and, together with the costs of the arbit tion and award, shall be paid by the parties or one of them, according as the awa may direct. Such costs may be taxed by a master of the Supreme Court or Scotland, by the auditor of the Court of Session, and the taxing officer shall, on the written application of either of the parties, ascertain and certify the proper amount thereof. The amount, if any, payable by the Secretary of State shall be paid as part of the expenses of inspectors under this Act. The amount, if any, payable by the occupier of the factory or workshop may, in the event of nonpayment, be recoverable in the same manner as fines under this Act (b).

"Pit banks."

50 & 51 Vict. c. 58. 35 & 36 Vict. c. 77.

(27) "Pit-banks," that is to say, any place above ground adjacent to a shaft of a mine, in which place the employment of women is not regulated by the Coal Mines Regulation Act, 1887, or the Metalliferous Mines Regulation Act, 1872, whether such place does or does not form part of the mine within the meaning of those Acts.

(28) Dry cleaning, carpet beating and bottle washing (l) works.

(f) See Coles v. Dickinson (1864), 16 C. B. (N.S.) 604; 33 L. J. M. C. 235.

(g) This is an addition to the old list of non-textile factories. A workhouse is a public building within the meaning of this clause (Mile End Old Town Guardians v. Hoare, [1901] 2 K. B. 483; 67 J. P. 395).

(h) Amended by the inclusion of laundries under s. 1 of the Factory and Workshop Act, 1907, post, p. 1967.

(i) See Palmer's Shipbuilding and Iron Co. v. Chaytor (1869), L. R. 4 Q. B. 209.

(k) See Kent v. Astley (1869), L. R. 5 Q. B. 19; Redgrave v. Lee (1874), L. R. 9 Q. B. 35.

CREMATION ACT, 1902 (m).

(2 EDW. 7, c. 8.)

An Act for the regulation of the burning of Human Remains, and to enable Burial Authorities to establish Crematoria. [22nd July 1902.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Cremation Act, 1902.

Definitions.

2. In this Act—

The expression "burial authority" (n) shall mean any burial board, any council, committee, or other local authority having the powers and duties of a burial board, and any local authority maintaining a

(m) This Act is inserted as applicable under the P. H. (Interments) A., 1879, ante, p. 711. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see S. L. R. A., 1894, s. 4.

(n) This definition is taken from s. 11 of the Burial Act, 1900.

42 & 43 Vict. c. 31.

cemetery under the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, or under any local Act;

The expression "crematorium" shall mean any building fitted with appliances for the purposes of burning human remains, and shall include everything incidental or ancillary thereto.

3. [Application to Scotland.]

Burial authority may provide for cremation.

4. The powers of a burial authority to provide (o) and maintain burial grounds or cemeteries, or anything essential, ancillary, or incidental thereto, shall be deemed to extend to and include the provision and maintenance of crematoria (p):

Provided that no human remains shall be burned in any such crematorium until the plans and site thereof have been approved by the Local Government Board (pp) and until the crematorium has been certified by the burial authority to the Secretary of State to be complete, built in accordance with such plans and properly equipped for the purpose of the disposal of human remains by burning (q).

Site of crematorium.

5. No crematorium shall be constructed nearer to any dwelling house than two hundred yards, except with the consent, in writing of the owner, lessee, and occupier of such house, nor within fifty yards of any public highway, nor in the consecrated part of the burial ground of any burial authority (r).

Donations of land.

6. A burial authority may accept a donation of land for the purposes of a crematorium, and a donation of money or other property for enabling the authority to acquire, construct, or maintain a crematorium.

Regulations as to burning.

7. The Secretary of State shall make regulations (s) as to the maintenance and inspection of crematoria and prescribing in what cases and under what conditions the burning of any human remains may take place, and directing the disposition or interment of the ashes (t), and prescribing the forms of the notices, certificates, and declarations to be given or made before any such burning is permitted to take place, such declarations to be made under and by virtue of the Statutory Declarations Act, 1835, and also regulations as to the registration of such burnings as have taken place. A copy of such regulations shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament, if Parliament be then sitting, or, if not, then within three weeks after the beginning of the next ensuing Session of Parliament; and, after such regulations have lain for forty days before Parliament, then, unless within such forty days

5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 62.

(o) This will include power to borrow for the purpose of providing a crematorium.

(p) The effect is to make it necessary to obtain for the provision of a crematorium, for any expenditure for that purpose, or for the acquisition or appropriation of any land for that purpose, the same sanction that would be required by the local authority in the case of the provision of a burial ground or cemetery.

(pp) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Minister of Health (Ministry of Health Act, 1919).

(q) Apart from this provision the burning of human remains may under certain circumstances amount to a public nuisance. See R. v. Price (1884), 12 Q. B. D. 247. See also Williams v. Williams (1881), 20 Ch. D. 659; 46 J. P. 726. And it is a misdemeanour to burn a dead body with intent to prevent an inquest (R. v. Stephenson (1884), 13 Q. B. 331; 49 J. P. 486).

(r) See s. 10 of the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847, ante, p. 1271, and notes thereto.

(s) Regulations were made on 31st March, 1903, but they were revoked by later regulations dated 26th April, 1920. See App. II., post. Breach of these regulations punishable under s. 8, infra.

(t) Such interment of ashes is not a burial within the prohibitions against burial in church under the Church Building Act, 1818, the P. H. Acts, or the Burial Act, 1853, s. 25, and therefore a faculty may issue for allowing such interment in a church (Re Kerr, [1897] P. 284). There is nothing in rule 16 of the Regulations of the 26th April, 1920, to prevent such interment.

ddress has been presented by one or other of the Houses praying His Majesty o withhold his assent from such regulations or any part thereof, such regula-ons shall have the same effect as if they were enacted in this Act (u). All tatutory provisions (x) relating to the destruction and falsification of registers f burials, and the admissibility of extracts therefrom as evidence in courts nd otherwise, shall apply to the register of burnings directed by such regula-ons to be kept, and the Stamp Act, 1891 (y), shall apply to a register under 54 & 55 Vict. c. 39.
his Act as if it were a register of burials.

8.—(1) Every person who shall contravene any such regulation as aforesaid, Penalties for breach of regulations, &c. r shall knowingly carry out or procure or take part in the burning of any uman remains except in accordance with such regulations and the provisions f this Act, shall (in addition to any liability or penalty which he may otherise incur) (z) be liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding fty pounds. Provided that any person aggrieved by any conviction may ppeal therefrom to quarter sessions (a).

(2) Every person who shall wilfully make any false declaration or (b) epresentation, or sign, or utter any false certificate, with a view to procuring he burning of any human remains, shall (in addition to any penalty or iability which he may otherwise incur) (c) be liable to imprisonment with or ithout hard labour not exceeding two years.

(3) Every person who with intent to conceal the commission or impede he prosecution of any offence (d), procures or attempts to procure the remation of any body, or with such intent makes any declaration or gives ny certificate under this Act, shall be liable to (e) conviction on indictment o penal servitude for a term not exceeding five years.

9. The burial authority may demand payment of any such charges or Fees.
ees for the burning of human remains in any crematorium provided by hem as may be authorised by any table approved by the Local Government Board (ee), and such charges or fees, and any other expenses properly incurred n or in connection with the cremation of a deceased person, shall be deemed o be part of the funeral expenses of the deceased (f).

(u) Consequently no question can arise as to whether any such regulations are ultra vires. See Institute of Patent Agents v. Lockwood, [1894] A. C. 347.

(x) See s. 15 of the Burial Act, 1857, ss. 36 and 37 of the Forgery Act, 1861, as amended by the Forgery Act, 1913.

(y) See ss. 1, 64, and Schedule I. of that Act, which impose a stamp duty of one penny on every certified copy from any register of burials subject to certain exemptions.

(z) This refers to the liability to conviction on indictment for a misdemeanour. See R. v. Price and R. v. Stephenson cited in the note to s. 4, ante.

(a) In accordance with the provisions of s. 31 of the S. J. A., 1879, set out in the notes to s. 269 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 602.

(b) Repealed by Perjury Act, 1911.

(c) See note (x) to s. 7, as to falsification of registers.

(d) How does such a person where the "offence" is a felony differ from an accessory after the fact? In such a case is he punishable still as an accessory after the fact or only under this statute? Is a wife punishable under this statute where she would not be punishable as an accessory after the fact? Compare the history of the law with regard to the punishment of the receiver of stolen goods.

(e) Sic. According to the common form "to" should be "on."

(ee) Now the Minister of Health (see note (pp) on p. 1914, ante).

(f) This section appears to be of general application and to enable the burial authority to enforce payment against any person against whom they might enforce payment of charges or fees under s. 34 of the Burial Act, 1852.

As to the liability of executors for funeral expenses, see Ambrose v. Kerrison (1851), 10 C. B. 776; 20 L. J. C. P. 135; Brice v. Wilson (1834), 3 N. & M. 512; 3 L. J. K. Saving for coroners. 50 & 51 Vict. c. 71.

10. Nothing in this Act shall interfere with the jurisdiction of any corone under the Coroners Act, 1887, or any Act amending the same, and nothing i this Act shall authorise the burial authority or any person to create or permi a nuisance (g).

Incumbent not to be obliged to perform burial service.

11. The incumbent of any ecclesiastical parish shall not, with respect t his parishioners or persons dying in his parish, be under any obligation t perform a funeral service before, at, or after the cremation of their remain within the ground of a burial authority, but, upon his refusal so to do, an clerk in Holy Orders of the Established Church not being prohibited und ecclesiastical censure, may, with the permission of the bishop and at th request of the executor of the deceased person, or of the burial authority or other person having charge of the cremation or interment of the cremate remains, perform such service within such ground (h).

Fees may be fixed.

12. In any table of fees respecting burials to be made or approved by th Secretary of State (i), a fee may be fixed in respect of a burial service before at, or after cremation, and if no fee is fixed, the fee, if any, fixed in respe of a burial service shall apply.

Application of 10 & 11 Vict. c. 65, ss. 52 and 57.

13. Sections fifty-two and fifty-seven of the Cemeteries Clauses Ac 1847 (k), and any similar provisions in any local and personal Act authorisin the making of a cemetery, shall apply to the disposition or interment of th ashes of a cremated body as if it were the burial of a body.

Repeal of local Acts.

MIDWIVES ACT, 1902.

(2 EDW. 7, c. 17.)

An Act to secure the better training of Midwives and to regulate their practice (l).
[31st July 1902.]

1.—(1) From and after the first day of April one thousand nine hundred and five, any woman who not being certified (m) under this Act shall take or use the name or title of midwife (either alone or in combination with any other word or words), or any name, title, addition, or description implying that she is certified under this Act, or is a person specially qualified to practise midwifery, or is recognised by law as a midwife (n), shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds (o). Certification.

(2) From and after the first day of April one thousand nine hundred and ten, no woman shall habitually and for gain attend women in childbirth otherwise than under the direction of (oo) a qualified medical practitioner unless she be certified under this Act; any woman so acting without being certified under this Act shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding ten pounds (o), provided this section shall not apply to legally qualified medical practitioners (p), or to any one rendering assistance in a case of emergency.

(3) No woman shall be certified under this Act until she has complied with the rules and regulations to be laid down (q) in pursuance of this Act.

(4) No woman certified under this Act shall employ an uncertified person as her substitute (r).

(l) This Act has been amended by the Midwives Act, 1918, and by s. 16 (1) of that Act it is provided that the Act of 1918 shall be construed with the Act of 1902 and that the two Acts may be cited together as the Midwives Acts, 1902 and 1918. See the Act of 1918, post, p. 2134.

(m) The absence of the name of the defendant from the midwives' roll under s. 6, post, p. 1920, is by s. 7 primâ facie evidence that she is not certified. Cf. s. 27 of the Medical Act, 1858, s. 29 of the Dentists Act, 1878, and s. 9 of the Veterinary Surgeons Act, 1881.

(n) Cf. s. 3 of the Dentists Act, 1878, s. 1 of the Pharmacy Act, 1868, and s. 40 of the Medical Act, 1858. Note that the Act contains no provision as to the meaning of "title, addition, or description" similar to that contained in s. 26 of the Medical Act, 1886. Mens rea is not a necessary part of the offence, as in the case of an offence against s. 40 of the Medical Act, 1858, as to which see Hunter v. Clare, [1899] 1 Q. B. 635; 63 J. P. 308; or of an offence against s. 3 of the Dentists Act, 1878. In this respect s. 1 of the Pharmacy Act, 1868, and s. 16 of the Veterinary Surgeons Act, 1881, resemble the text. The title, etc., need not include either the word "certificated" or the word "midwife" so long as it implies special qualifications to practise midwifery.

(o) As to prosecutions, see s. 13, post, and as to right of appeal, see s. 14, post.

(oo) As to the meaning of this expression, see Davis v. Morris, [1923] W. N. 139.

(p) See also s. 16, post.

(q) By the Central Midwives Board under s. 3, post, see Orders in Council dated August 12th, 1903, and April 24th, 1907, confirming rules.

(r) An unregistered assistant of a registered chemist who sells poison in the absence of and on behalf of such chemist is liable to a penalty under s. 1 of the Pharmacy Act, 1868.

(5) The certificate under this Act shall not confer upon any woman any right or title to be registered under the Medical Acts (s) or to assume any name, title, or designation implying that she is by law recognised as a medical practitioner, or that she is authorised to grant any medical certificate (t), or any certificate of death or of still-birth (u), or to undertake the charge of cases of abnormality or disease in connection with parturition.

Provision for existing midwives.

2. Any woman who, within two years fron the date of this Act coming into operation, claims to be certified under this Act, shall be so certified provided she holds a certificate in midwifery from the Royal College of Physicians of Ireland, or from the Obstetrical Society of London, or the Coombe Lying-in Hospital and Guinness's Dispensary, or the Rotunda Hospital for the Relief of the Poor Lying-in Women of Dublin, or such other certificate as may be approved by the Central Midwives Board, or produces evidence, satisfactory to the Board, that at the passing of this Act, she had been for at least one year in bonâ fide practice as a midwife, and that she bears a good character (uu).

Constitution and duties of the Central Midwives Board.

3. On the passing of this Act the Lord President of the Council shall take steps to secure the formation of a Central Midwives Board (x), which shall consist of—

(1) Four registered medical practitioners, one to be appointed by the Royal College of Physicians of London, one by the Royal College of Surgeons of England, one by the Society of Apothecaries, and one by the Incorporated Midwives Institute; and

(2) Two persons (one of whom shall be a woman) to be appointed for terms of three years by the Lord President of the Council; and

(3) One person to be appointed for a term of three years by the Association of County Councils, one person to be appointed for a term of three years by the Queen Victoria's Jubilee Institute for Nurses, and one person to be appointed for a term of three years by the Royal British Nurses Association.

After two years from the commencement of this Act, the members appointed under sub-section (1) shall retire, but shall be eligible for reappointment annually. Any vacancy occurring by resignation or death shall be filled up in the case of a member appointed under sub-sections (1) and (3) by the body which appointed such person, and in the case of a member appointed under sub-section (2) by the Lord President of the Council; members appointed under sub-sections (2) and (3) shall, on the termination of the period for which they have been appointed, be eligible for re-appointment for a like period.

The word "employ" as used in this sub-section is not confined to employment for payment. The certified midwife contravening this provision will be liable to indictment as for a misdemeanour in contravening an Act of Parliament, but not to summary proceedings. She might also be removed from the midwives' roll under s. 3 V., post (Re Felsmann (1907), 71 J. P. 269; 97 L. T. 548).

(s) See s. 40 of the Medical Act, 1858.

(t) See s. 28 of the Medical Act, 1858.

(u) As to the punishment of persons forging death certificates, etc., see s. 40 of the Births and Deaths Registration Act, 1874, as amended by the Forgery Act, 1913.

(uu) See s. 10 of the Midwives Act, 1918, as to reciprocal treatment of midwives certified in other parts of His Majesty's dominions.

(x) The Board was accordingly constituted under this section, and notice thereof duly given in the London Gazette, November 25th, 1902. By s. 1 of the Midwives Act, 1918, provision was made for the revision of the constitution of the Board. By s. 4 of the same Act provision was made for payment of expenses of members, and s. 5 requires the Board to make an annual report.

The duties and powers of the Board shall be as follows :—

I. To frame rules (y)—

(a) regulating their own proceedings ;

(b) regulating the issue of certificates and the conditions of admission to the roll of midwives ;

(c) regulating the course of training and the conduct of examinations, and the remuneration of the examiners ;

(d) regulating the admission to the roll of women already in practice as midwives at the passing of this Act :

(e) regulating, supervising, and restricting within due limits the practice of midwives (yy) ;

(f) deciding the conditions under which midwives may be suspended from practice (yyy) ;

(g) defining the particulars required to be given in any notice under section ten of this Act ;

II. To appoint examiners ;

III. To decide upon the places where, and the times when, examinations shall be held ;

IV. To publish annually a roll of midwives (z) who have been duly certified under this Act ;

V. To decide upon the removal from the roll of the name of any midwife for disobeying the rules and regulations from time to time laid down under this Act by the Central Midwives Board, or for other misconduct (a), and also to decide upon the restoration (b) to the roll of the name of any midwife so removed ;

VI. To issue and cancel certificates.

And generally to do any other act or duty which may be necessary for the due and proper carrying out of the provisions of this Act.

Rules framed under this section shall be valid only if approved by the Privy Council : and the Privy Council, before approving any such rules, shall take into consideration any representations which the General Medical Council (c) may make with respect thereto (cc).

Appeal from decision of Midwives Board.

4. Any woman thinking herself aggrieved by any decision of the Central Midwives Board removing her name from the roll of midwives may appeal (d) therefrom to the High Court of Justice within three months after the notification of such decision to her ; but no further appeal shall be allowed.

Fees and expenses.

5. There shall be payable by every woman presenting herself for examination or certificate such fee as the Central Midwives Board may, with the (yy) See as to medical assistance in case of emergency, s. 14 of the Midwives Act, 1918, post, p. 2136.

(yyy) This power has been extended by s. 6 of the Midwives Act, 1918, q.v., post, at p. 2135. See also the same section for a provision authorising the payment of compensation.

(z) See s. 6, post.

(a) This would apparently justify removal for the employment of an uncertified substitute in contravention of s. 1 (4), ante. Misconduct is not limited to misconduct in relation to her duties as a midwife (Stock v. Central Midwives Board, [1915] 3 K. B. 756 ; 79 J. P. 397). Misconduct might include any offence against the criminal law. Cf. Re Weare, [1893] 2 Q. B. 439 ; 58 J. P. 6. See further as to offences by midwives, s. 8 of the Midwives Act, 1918, post, p. 2135. See as to the payment of expenses of midwives required to appear before the Board, s. 7 of the Midwives Act, 1918, post, p. 2135.

approval of the Privy Council, from time to time determine, such fee not to exceed the sum of one guinea. All such fees paid by midwives in practice at the passing of this Act and by candidates for examination shall be paid to the Central Midwives Board. The said Board shall devote such fees to the payment of expenses connected with the examination and cetificate, and to the general expenses of the Board. The Board shall, as soon as practicable after the thirty-first day of December in each year, publish a financial statement made up to that date, and showing the receipts and expenditure, including liabilities of the Board during the year, which statement shall be certified as correct by an accountant who shall be a member either of the Institute of Chartered Accountants or of the Incorporated Society of Accountants. The Board shall submit a copy of such statement to the Privy Council, and if the statement shows any balance against the Board and such balance is approved by the Privy Council, the Board may apportion such balance between the councils of the several counties and county boroughs . . . (dd) and may recover from the councils the sum so apportioned (e).

Midwives roll.

6. There shall be a roll of midwives containing—

(1) The names of those midwives who have been certified under section two of this Act.

(2) The names of all other midwives who have been certified under this Act.

The entry on the roll shall in every case indicate the conditions in virtue of which the certificate was granted.

Appointment of secretary and supplemental provision as to certificate.

7. The Central Midwives Board shall, with the previous sanction of the Privy Council, appoint a secretary and such other officers as may be required, and every person so appointed shall be paid such salary as the Privy Council may approve, and shall be removable at the pleasure of the Board. The secretary shall be charged with the custody of the roll.

A copy of the roll of midwives purporting to be printed by the authority of the Board or to be signed by the secretary to the Board, shall be evidence in all Courts that the women therein specified are certified under this Act: and the absence of the name of any woman from such copy shall be evidence until the contrary be made to appear, that such woman is not certified under this Act: Provided always, that in the case of any woman whose name does not appear in such copy, a certificate under the hand of the secretary of the entry of the name of such woman on the roll shall be evidence that such woman is certified under this Act (ee).

Local supervision of midwives.

8. Every council of a county or county borough throughout England and Wales shall, on the commencement of this Act, be the local supervising authority over midwives within the area of the said county or county borough. It shall be the duty of the local supervising authority—

(1) To exercise general supervision over all midwives practising within their area in accordance with the rules to be laid down under this Act.

(dd) Certain words omitted here were repealed by the Midwives Act, 1918. By s. 2 of that Act it is provided that the approval by the Privy Council of any balance against the Central Midwives Board shown in any financial statement made under the section in the text shall be, and shall be deemed always to have been, binding and conclusive as to the amount of the balance to be apportioned, and any apportionment between the several counties and county boroughs shall be in proportion to the population of those counties and county boroughs according to the returns of the last published census for the time being.

(e) As to payment of expenses of county and county borough councils, see s. 15, post, p. 1922.

(ee) By s. 3 of the Midwives Act, 1918, the following paragraph was added to this section: "A certificate purporting to be signed by the Secretary of the Board that the name of a woman whose name appears in the roll of midwives has been removed from the roll and of the date of such removal shall be evidence that such woman is not certified under this Act, and of the date as from which she ceased to be so certified."

(2) To investigate charges of malpractice, negligence, or misconduct, on the part of any midwife practising within their area, and should a primâ facie case be established, to report the same to the Central Midwives Board.

(3) To suspend any midwife from practice, in accordance with the rules under this Act (f), if such suspension appears necessary in order to prevent the spread of infection.

(4) To report at once to the said Board the name of any midwife practising in their area convicted of any offence (g).

(5) During the month of January of each year to supply the secretary of the Central Midwives Board with the names and addresses of all midwives who, during the preceding year, have notified their intention to practise within their area, and to keep a current copy of the roll of midwives, accessible at all reasonable times for public inspection.

(6) To report at once to the Central Midwives Board the death of any midwife or any change in the name or address of any midwife in their area, so that the necessary alteration may be made in the roll.

(7) To give due notice of the effect of the Act, so far as practicable, to persons at present using the title of midwife.

The local supervising authority may delegate, with or without any restrictions or conditions as they may think fit, any powers or duties conferred or imposed upon them by or in pursuance of this Act, to a committee appointed by them, and consisting either wholly or partly of members of the council, and the provisions of sub-sections one and two of section eighty-two of the Local Government Act, 1888 (h), shall apply to every committee appointed under this section and to every council appointing the same, and women shall be eligible to serve on any such committees (hh).

9. [Delegation of powers to district councils] (i).

10. Every woman certified under this Act shall, before holding herself out as a practising midwife or commencing to practise as a midwife in any area, give notice in writing of her intention so to do to the local supervising authority . . . (ii), and shall give a like notice in the month of January in every year thereafter during which she continues to practise in such area. Notification of practice.

Such notice shall be given to the local supervising authority of the area within which such woman usually resides or carries on her practice, and the like notice shall be given to every other local supervising authority . . . (ii)

(f) See the Rules dated April 24th, 1907, 5 L. G. R. 185. See hereon s. 6 (2) of the Midwives Act, 1918, as to the payment of compensation.

(g) This seems to include any offence though unconnected with the duties of a midwife as such. Cf. note (a) to s. 3 V., ante, p. 1919.

(h) These sub-sections provide for the quorum, proceedings, and area of jurisdiction of committees, their place of meeting, the casting vote of the chairman, their reports to the council, and its approval of their actions.

(hh) Local supervising authorities may now contribute to the training of midwives (see s. 11 of the Midwives Act, 1918, post, p. 2136). Local supervising authorities must now be notified when the name of a woman is removed from the roll of midwives (s. 13 of Midwives Act, 1918, post, p. 2136).

(i) This section, which gave power to delegate powers and duties to district councils, was repealed by the Midwives Act, 1918, but in s. 12 of the last-mentioned Act there is a proviso that where at the commencement of that Act any powers or duties have been delegated, such delegation shall not be affected unless on the representation of the county council concerned the Minister of Health otherwise directs.

(ii) Words repealed by the Midwives Act, 1918, are here omitted in consequence of the repeal by the same Act of s. 9 of the Act of 1902.

within whose area such woman at any time practises or acts as a midwife within forty-eight hours at the latest after she commences so to practise or act.

Every such notice shall contain such particulars as may be required by the rules under this Act (k) to secure the identification of the person giving it; and if any woman omits to give the said notices or any of them, or knowingly or wilfully makes or causes or procures any other person to make any false statement in any such notice she shall on summary conviction (l) be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds (ll).

11. [Penalty for obtaining a certificate by false representation] (m).

Penalty for wilful falsification of the roll.

12. Any person wilfully making or causing to be made any falsification in any matter relating to the roll of midwives shall be guilty of a misdemeanour (n), and shall be liable to be imprisoned with or without hard labour for any term not exceeding twelve months.

Prosecution of offences.

13. Any offences under this Act punishable on summary conviction may be prosecuted by the local supervising authority (o).

The expenses of any such prosecution shall be defrayed by the council of the county or county borough in which the prosecution takes place.

Appeal.

14. Where any woman deems herself aggrieved (p) by any determination of any court of summary jurisdiction under this Act, such woman may appeal therefrom to the court of quarter sessions (q).

Expenses of local supervising authority.

15. Any expenses under this Act payable by the council of a county or county borough (r) shall be defrayed out of the county fund or out of the borough fund or borough rate, as the case may be.

Act not to apply to medical practitioners.

16. Nothing in this Act respecting midwives shall apply to legally qualified medical practitioners.

Extent of Act and action by English Branch Council.

17. This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland.

. . . (s).

Definitions.

18. In this Act—

The term "midwife" means a woman who is certified under this Act unless the context otherwise requires.

"Central Midwives Board" means the Board constituted under this Act for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this Act.

Short title and commencement.

19. This Act may be cited as the Midwives Act, 1902. It shall, except as otherwise provided by this Act, come into operation on the first day of April one thousand nine hundred and three.

(k) See Form XII. in the Appendix to the Rules.

(l) The local supervising authority may prosecute under s. 13, infra.

(ll) Notification must now be given of a change of address (see s. 9 of Midwives Act, 191 post, p. 2136).

(m) See now the Perjury Act, 1911, which repealed this section.

(n) On indictment. Any member of the public may prosecute. See R. v. Stewa [1896] 1 Q. B. 300; 60 J. P. 356; Kenealy v. O'Keeffe, [1901] 2 I. R. 39; Connor v. Bulk [1902] 2 I. R. 569; Allman v. Hardcastle (1903), 67 J. P. 440; 89 L. T. 553.

(o) As to the local supervising authority, see s. 8, ante, p. 1920.

(p) This does not include any other woman than the woman who was convicted by the court of summary jurisdiction. See cases collected in the notes to s. 253 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 559.

(q) For procedure, see s. 31 of the S. J. A., 1879.

(r) See note (i), ante, p. 1921, and s. 13.

(s) Words here omitted were repealed by the Midwives Act, 1918. The repealed words provided that the General Medical Council should act by the English Branch Council, but by s. 15 of the Act of 1918 it is provided that the General Medical Council may, for the purposes of section 3 of the principal Act [i.e. the Act of 1902] act through their Executive Committee instead of through the English Branch Council.

BOROUGH FUNDS ACT, 1903 (t).

(3 Edw. 7, c. 14.)

An Act to amend the Borough Funds Act, 1872. [11th August 1903.]

1. No expense in relation to the promotion of a Bill in Parliament shall be charged by the council of a borough or urban district under the Borough Funds Act, 1872, unless the requirements contained in the First Schedule to this Act have been observed (u).

Withdrawal of Bill, or part, in case of adverse poll.

2.—(1) If the result of a poll under this Act, or the decision of a meeting of electors when final, is against the promotion of the Bill, or of a part or parts, or clause or clauses, of the Bill, the council shall forthwith take all necessary steps to withdraw the Bill or the part or parts, or clause or clauses (as the case may be), against which the poll has resulted or the decision of the meeting has been given (x).

(2) In the case of equality of votes on any question of promotion, that question shall be deemed to be decided against the promotion (y).

Expense of promoting Bills.

3. Where a Bill, or a part or parts, or clause or clauses of a Bill, is or are withdrawn, no further expense shall be incurred by the council, or mayor or chairman, in or about the promotion of the Bill, or part or parts, or clause or clauses, so withdrawn, but, subject as aforesaid, all costs, charges, and expenses incurred by the council, or mayor or chairman, in or as incidental to the preparation and promotion of the Bill up to and inclusive of its deposit in Parliament and withdrawal (if withdrawal), and in or as incidental to the holding of a meeting or the taking of a poll under this Act, shall, when taxed by a taxing officer of one of the Houses of Parliament (z), and allowed under the Borough Funds Act, 1872 (a), be charged on and payable out of such one or more of the public funds or rates under the control of the council and, if more than one, then in such proportions) as the council, having regard to the nature and objects of the Bill, may determine to be just and proper.

35 & 36 Vict. c. 91.

Saving for special Acts.

4. Nothing in this Act shall extend or be construed to alter or affect any (t) See the Borough Funds Act, 1872, ante, p. 1390. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of the S. L. R. A., 1894. This Act makes various changes in the procedure attendant upon the promotion of or opposition to a Bill in Parliament on the part of the council of a borough or other urban district.

(u) This section it will be noted is limited to the councils of boroughs and urban districts. It does not extend to county councils, who may therefore promote Bills without the consent of the electors, and subject only to the approval of the Minister of Health under s. 4 of the Act of 1872, as affected by s. 8 of this Act. See note (i), ante, p. 1391.

This section is limited further to expenses in relation to promoting a Bill. It is not necessary to obtain any consent of owners and ratepayers for opposing, see sect. 7 (1), post, but the approval of the Minister of Health must be obtained. The onus of showing statutory authority for payments made by a public body lies on the body making such payments (R. v. Newell, [1911] 2 I. R. 573).

(x) As to putting the resolutions to a meeting so as to deal with parts or clauses separately, see clause 6 of the First Schedule.

The promoting council may withdraw the Bill or any part or parts or clause or clauses at any time before a poll where a poll is demanded at the meeting. Provision in such case for notice to the returning officer, and for notice that no poll will be taken, is contained in Articles 5 and 6 of the Borough Funds Acts (Polls) Order, 1903, set out in Appendix II., post.

(y) The president of the meeting has no casting or second vote, nor has the returning officer in case of a poll. But the sub-section has no application to the decision of questions of promotion in debate at the council, which is governed by the standing orders of the council itself.

SCHEDULES.

FIRST SCHEDULE.

Regulations for Meeting and Polling of Electors.

35 & 36 Vict. c. 91.

1. Where the council of a borough or urban district have resolved, in accordance with the provisions of the Borough Funds Act, 1872, to promote a Bill in Parliament, and the Bill has been deposited, notice shall be given by placards and by advertisement in some local newspaper circulating in the borough or district in two successive weeks stating—

(a) the title of the Bill; and

(b) a brief statement of the objects of the Bill;

(c) that the Bill has been deposited, and the date on which it was first deposited in either House; and

(d) that copies of the Bill may be inspected and purchased at a place within the borough or district specified in the notice, between the hours of ten in the forenoon and five in the afternoon, on every week day for fourteen days after the date of the first advertisement, and that extracts may be taken free of charge; and

(e) That a public meeting of electors will be held on a day named, not being less than fourteen nor more than twenty-eight days after the first advertisement of the notice, for the purpose of considering the question of the promotion of the Bill, and indicating the resolutions which will be submitted to the meeting.

2. The first advertisement under these regulations must be made within seven days from the first deposit of the Bill in either House, and the placards giving notice under these regulations must be posted within the same time.

(i) Ante, p. 1392.

(j) Ante, p. 1747.

(k) Now Minister of Health. The powers referred to are those of approval of promotion and opposition (s. 4); of authorising examination and allowance of costs (s. 6); and of directing a local inquiry (s. 7), ante, pp. 1392, 1393.

3. A public meeting of electors shall be held in accordance with the notice, and the mayor or chairman, or, in the event of his being unable or unwilling to preside, any person appointed by the council to perform that duty, shall be president of the meeting; but, if neither the mayor or chairman, nor the person so appointed, is present within ten minutes after the time appointed for the meeting, the meeting shall choose an elector present at the meeting to be president of the meeting.

4. The president of the meeting may, with the consent of the majority of the electors present, adjourn the meeting for not more than seven days.

5. On opening any such meeting the president of the meeting, or a member or officer of the council, shall give such explanation of the Bill with reference to which the meeting is held as he thinks expedient.

6.—(a) The question of the promotion of the Bill shall be put by the president to the meeting either by a single resolution in favour of the promotion of the whole Bill or by separate resolutions in favour of the promotion of any part or parts or clause or clauses of the Bill, but together covering the promotion of the whole Bill, and the meeting shall decide for or against any such resolution.

(b) The president shall explain to the meeting the resolution or resolutions he proposes to put to the meeting, and the question of the promotion of the Bill shall be put in the manner proposed;

Provided that, if, before any such resolution is put, the meeting decide to request the president to put separately any resolution or resolutions in favour of the promotion of any part or parts or clause or clauses of the Bill not proposed by him to be put separately, he shall put such further or other resolution or resolutions to the meeting as will, consistently with the provisions of this schedule, give effect to that request.

7. Unless a poll is required in manner provided by this schedule, with respect to any resolution for promotion put to the meeting, the decision of the meeting on that resolution, as declared by the president of the meeting, shall be final.

8. A poll may be required with respect to any such resolution by not less than one hundred electors, or one-twentieth in number of the electors, whichever may be the less, and, if the decision of the meeting on the resolution is against the resolution by the council.

9. A requisition for a poll by electors must be in writing signed by the person making it, and must be delivered to the mayor or chairman within seven days after the date of the meeting, or any adjournment thereof.

10. A requisition for a poll by the council must be authorised by a resolution of the council, and a copy of the resolution must be delivered to the mayor or chairman within seven days after the meeting or any adjournment thereof. Provided that, if the regulations governing the meetings of the council do not permit of an ordinary meeting of the council being held within the said seven days, the time for the delivery of a copy of the resolution shall be within three days after the date on which an ordinary meeting of the council can first be held subsequently to the date of the meeting of the electors or any adjournment thereof.

11. The mayor or chairman shall proceed to take the opinion by poll of the electors on the resolution to which any requisition relates, unless a poll is rendered unnecessary by the withdrawal of the requisition for a poll or by a resolution of the council withdrawing the Bill, or the part or parts or clause or clauses to which the resolution with reference to which the poll is required relates.

12. The polls on any number of resolutions may be taken at the same time and by means of the same voting paper.

13. The mayor or chairman shall count, or cause to be counted, the votes given at a poll under this schedule, and shall as soon as practicable declare the result.

14. The decision of the mayor or chairman on any question arising in respect of any voting paper shall be final.

15. Where the mayor or chairman is unable or unwilling to perform any duty or do any act or thing with respect to a poll under this schedule, the council shall appoint some other person to perform the duty or do such act or thing.

16. Subject to the provisions of this schedule the poll shall be taken in accordance with such regulations as may be prescribed by the Local Government Board (kk), and the Local Government Board (kk) may prescribe forms for requisitions, voting papers notices, and other documents under this schedule, and those forms, or forms to the like effect, shall be used (l).

SECOND SCHEDULE.

ENACTMENTS REPEALED AS TO ENGLAND.

Session and Chapter.	Short Title.	Extent of Repeal.
35 & 36 Vict. c. 91 .	The Borough Funds Act, 1872.	In section four, the words from "Provided further" to the end of the section. In section five, the words "or one of her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State, as the case may be," and the words "or Secretary of State." In section six, the words "by one of her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State, or" and the words "as the case may be." In section seven, the words "or one of her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State." In section eleven, the words "or the metropolitan area as defined by the Metropolis Management Act, 1855."

THE HOUSING OF THE WORKING CLASSES ACT, 1903.

(3 EDW. 7, c. 39.)

An Act to amend the Law relating to the Housing of the Working Classes.

[14th August 1903.]

General Amendments of Law.

Maximum term for repayment of loans.

1.—(1) The maximum period which may be sanctioned as the period for which money may be borrowed by a local authority for the purposes of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890 (in this Act referred to as "the principal Act") or any Acts amending it, shall be eighty years, and as respects money so borrowed eighty years shall be substituted for sixty years in section two hundred and thirty-four of the Public Health Act, 1875.

(2) Money borrowed under the principal Act or any Acts (including this Act) amending it (in this Act collectively referred to as the Housing Acts) shall not be reckoned as part of the debt of the local authority for the purposes of the limitation on borrowing under sub-sections two and three of section two hundred and thirty-four of the Public Health Act, 1875 (m).

Transfer of powers and duties of Home Office to [Minister of Health].

2.—(1) His Majesty may by Order in Council assign to the [Minister of Health] any powers and duties of the Secretary of State under the Housing Acts, or under any scheme made in pursuance of those Acts, and the powers of the Secretary of State under any local Act, so far as they relate to the housing of the working classes, and any such powers and duties so assigned shall become powers and duties of the [Minister of Health].

(2) Section eleven of the Board of Agriculture Act, 1889, shall apply with respect to the powers and duties transferred under this section as it applies with respect to the powers and duties transferred under that Act, with the substitution of the [Minister of Health] for the Board of Agriculture and of the date of the transfer under this section for the date of the establishment of the Board of Agriculture (n).

(m) The borrowing sections of the Housing Acts are ss. 25, 43, and 66 of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890, and s. 1 of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1894. The M. of H. now allow a term of eighty years for the repayment of loans for the purchase of sites for working-class dwellings, and sixty years for loans for the dwellings themselves. The Ministry also entertain applications for sanction to reborrow the outstanding balances of loans sanctioned for a shorter period prior to the present Act, if it is shown that reborrowing is practicable.

As to the period for loans in the metropolis, see s. 15, post, p. 1931.

Rehousing obligations when land is taken under statutory powers.

3. Where, under the powers given after the date of the passing of the Act by any local Act or Provisional Order or Order having the effect of an Act, any land is acquired, whether compulsorily or by agreement, by any authority, company or person, or where after the date of the passing of this Act any land is so acquired compulsorily under any general Act (other than the Housing Acts), the provisions set out in the Schedule to this Act shall apply with respect to the provision of dwelling accommodation for persons of the working class (o).

Amendments as to Schemes.

Provisions on failure of local authority to make a scheme.

4.—(1) If, on the report made to the confirming authority on an inquiry directed by them under section ten of the principal Act, that authority are satisfied that a scheme ought to have been made for the improvement of the area to which the inquiry relates or of some part thereof, they may, if they think fit, order the local authority to make such a scheme, either under Part I. of the principal Act or, if the confirming authority so direct, under Part II.

(n) By an Order in Council, dated February 27th, 1905, "all the powers and duties of the Secretary of State under the Housing Acts or under any scheme made in pursuance of those Acts, and the powers of the Secretary of State under any local Act, so far as they relate to the housing of the working classes" were transferred to the L. G. B. as from March 1st, 1905. Consequently they now vest in the Minister of Health.

By the Board of Agriculture Act, 1889, s. 11:

"(1) In the construction and for the purposes of any Act of Parliament, judgment, decree, order, award, deed, contract, or other document passed, or made before the establishment of the Board of Agriculture, but so far only as may be necessary for the exercise of the powers or the discharge of the duties by this Act, or any Order in Council made in pursuance thereof, transferred to that Board, the name of that Board shall be substituted for the Privy Council, Land Commissioners for England, Inclosure Commissioners for England and Wales, Copyhold Commissioners, Tithe Commissioners for England and Wales, or other Commissioners or Government department, as the case may require, and anything authorised or required to be done by, to, or before an Assistant Commissioner of any of the above-named Commissioners may be lawfully done by an officer of the Board of Agriculture for the time being assigned for that purpose.

"(2) Where anything has been commenced by or under the authority of the Privy Council, Land Commissioners, or other Government department, before the transfer to the Board of Agriculture of any powers or duties by or in pursuance of this Act, and such thing is in relation to the powers or duties so transferred, such thing may be carried on and completed by or under the authority of the Board of Agriculture.

"(3) Where at the time of the transfer of any powers or duties by or in pursuance of this Act, any legal proceeding is pending, to which the Privy Council, Land Commissioners or other Government department are parties, and such proceeding has reference to the powers and duties transferred by or in pursuance of this Act, the Board of Agriculture shall be substituted in such proceeding for the Privy Council, Land Commissioners, or other Government department, and such proceeding shall not abate by reason of such substitution."

(o) Compare ss. 11, 40 of the principal Act, pp. 1688, 1710, ante.

Prior to the passing of this section it was necessary under the Standing Orders of Parliament to embody in every private Bill or Provisional Order which proposed to authorise the acquisition of houses occupied by persons belonging to the labouring classes (as defined by the Standing Orders) a special clause with regard to the taking of such houses. The effect of the section is to make the provisions contained in the Schedule to the Act, post p. 1932, as to the provision of dwelling accommodation for persons of the working class apply to every case where under powers given, after the date of the Act, by any local Act or Provisional Order or Order having the effect of an Act, any land is acquired whether compulsorily or by agreement by any authority, company, or person, or where after the date any land is acquired compulsorily under any general Act other than the Housing Acts of that Act, and to do all things necessary under the Housing Acts for carrying into execution the scheme so made, and the local authority shall accordingly make a scheme or direct a scheme to be prepared as if they had passed the resolution required under section four or section thirty-nine of the principal Act, as the case may be, and do all things necessary under the Housing Acts for carrying the scheme into effect.

Any such order of the confirming authority may be enforced by mandamus (p).

(2) Any [six] or more ratepayers of the district shall have the like appeal, under section sixteen of the principal Act, as is given to the [six] or more ratepayers who have made the complaint to the medical officer of health mentioned in that section (q).

5. . . . (r).

Amendment of procedure for confirming improvement scheme.

(2) The order of a confirming authority under sub-section four of section eight of the principal Act shall, notwithstanding anything in that section, take effect without confirmation by Parliament (s)—

. . . . . .

(3) For the purposes of the principal Act, the making of an order by a confirming authority, which takes effect under this section without confirmation by Parliament, shall have the same effect as the confirmation of the order by Act of Parliament, and any reference to a Provisional Order, made under section eight of the principal Act, shall include a reference to an order which so takes effect without confirmation by Parliament (t).

6. [Power to modify schemes in certain cases] (x).

Amendments as to scheme of reconstruction.

7. Where a scheme for reconstruction under Part II. of the principal Act is made, neighbouring lands may be included in the area comprised in the scheme, if the local authority under whose direction the scheme is made are of opinion that that inclusion is necessary for making their scheme efficient, but the provision of sub-section two or section forty-one, as to the exclusion of any additional allowance in respect of compulsory purchase, shall not apply in the case of any land so included (y).

Amendments as to Closing Orders, Demolition, etc.

8. [Amendment of procedure for closing orders] (z).

(p) See ss. 4, 10, 39 of the principal Act, ante, pp. 1682, 1687, 1708. See also the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, ss. 10, 11, post, pp. 2012, 2013.

(q) "Six" was substituted for "twelve" by s. 39 and Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919.

See s. 16 of the principal Act, ante, p. 1690.

(r) The first sub-section made an amendment in s. 7 of the Act of 1890, but amendments made in the last-mentioned section by Sched. II. to the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, have superseded the amendment made by the sub-section in the text which was accordingly repealed by s. 50 and Sched. V. to the Act of 1919.

(s) Words limiting the generality of this provision, and requiring confirmation by Parliament if land was to be acquired compulsorily, and in certain other cases, were repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, ss. 24 (1), 75, Sched. VI., post, pp. 2023, 2042, 2048, and are omitted. The Order of the Minister of Health is now final in all cases.

(t) The L. G. B. issued Instructions (dated June, 1910) as to applications to them for the confirmation of improvement schemes under Part I. of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890. See App. II., post.

See ss. 8 (4)—(6), (8), 12 (1), 13, 15 (1), (2), and 20 of the principal Act and the notes thereunder.

(x) Repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 75, Sched. VI. It related to modifications made by the L. G. B. in order to stave off opposition to a confirming Act (now no longer necessary). As to the general powers to modify schemes, see ss. 15, 39 (9) of the principal Act and s. 25 of the Act of 1909.

(y) See ss. 39 (1), 41 (2), of the principal Act, ante, pp. 1708, 1710.

(z) Repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 75, Sched. VI., post, p. 2042, that Act having recast the procedure for making closing orders (see ibid., s. 17).

Power to recover cost of demolition.

9. Where the amount realised by the sale of materials under section thirty-four of the principal Act is not sufficient to cover the expenses incident to the taking down and removal of a building, the local authority may recover the deficiency from the owner of the building as a civil debt in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts, or under the provisions of the Public Health Acts relating to private improvement expenses (a).

Recovery of possession from occupying tenants in pursuance of closing orders.

10. Where default is made as respects any dwelling-house in obeying a closing order in the manner provided by sub-section three of section thirty-two of the principal Act, possession of the house may be obtained (without prejudice to the enforcement of any penalty under that provision), whatever may be the value or rent of the house, by or on behalf of the owner or local authority, either under sections one hundred and thirty-eight to one hundred and forty-five of the County Courts Act, 1888, or under the Small Tenements Recovery Act, 1838, as in the cases therein provided for, and in either case may be obtained as if the owner or local authority were the landlord.

Any expenses incurred by a local authority under this section may be recovered from the owner of the dwelling-house as a civil debt in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts (b).

Miscellaneous.

Powers in connection with provision of dwelling accommodation or lodging-houses.

11.—(1) Any power of the local authority under the Housing Acts, or under any scheme made in pursuance of any of those Acts, to provide dwelling accommodation or lodging-houses, shall include a power to provide and maintain, with the consent of the [Minister of Health], and, if desired, jointly with any other person, in connection with any such dwelling accommodation or lodging-houses, any building adapted for use as a shop, any recreation grounds or other buildings or land which, in the opinion of the [Minister of Health], will serve a beneficial purpose in connection with the requirements of the persons for whom the dwelling accommodation or lodging-houses are provided, and to raise money for the purpose, if necessary, by borrowing (c).

(2) The [Minister of Health] may, in giving their consent to the provision of any land or building under this section, by Order apply, with any necessary modifications, to such land or building any statutory provisions which would have been applicable thereto if the land or building had been provided under any enactment giving any local authority powers for the purpose.

Condition in contracts for letting houses for the working classes.

12. Section seventy-five of the principal Act (which relates to the condition to be implied on letting houses for the working classes) shall, as respects any contract made after the passing of this Act, take effect notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary, and any such agreement made after the passing of this Act shall be void (d).

(a) See s. 34 (1) of the principal Act, ante, p. 1701, and the note thereunder.

As to the recovery of civil debts by summary proceedings, see P. H. A., 1875, s. 251, and note (b) thereto, ante, p. 551. As to private improvement expenses, see ibid., ss. 213—215, 232, 257, ante, pp. 493—496, 520, 568.

(b) Italicised words repealed by the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 75, Sched. VI. Closing orders are now made under s. 17 of that Act (post, p. 2017), and s. 32 referred to in the text is itself repealed.

Proceedings by a local authority to obtain possession under the powers of the Housing Acts, are not affected by the Increase of Rent, etc. Act, 1915, or any Act amending that Act. See s. 35 of the Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1919, post, p. 2164. Owners, however, still remain subject to the restrictions of the Increase of Rents, etc. Acts.

(c) See ss. 11, 40, 59 of the principal Act, ante, pp. 1688, 1710, 1723, and the notes thereto.

This section has been held to empower a local authority, with the consent of the Minister to provide a beer house on a building estate developed by the authority under the Housing Acts (Conron v. London County Council, [1922] 2 Ch. 283; 20 L. G. R. 131).

(d) See s. 75, of the principal Act, ante, p. 1728, and the notes thereto.

Service of notices.

13.—(1) Any notice required to be served under Part II. of the principal Act upon an owner shall, notwithstanding anything in section forty-nine of that Act, be deemed to be sufficiently served if it is sent by post in a registered letter addressed to the owner or his agent at his usual or last known residence or place of business (e).

(2) Any document referred to in section eighty-seven of the principal Act shall be deemed to be sufficiently served upon the local authority if addressed to that authority or their clerk at the office of that authority and sent by post in a registered letter (f).

Special Provisions as to London.

Agreements between London County Council and metropolitan borough councils.

14. The council of a metropolitan borough may, if they think fit, pay or contribute towards the payment of any expenses of the London County Council, under sub-section five of section forty-six of the principal Act, in connection with a scheme of reconstruction, and borrow any money required by them for the purpose under sub-section two of the said section; but an order under sub-section six shall not be necessary, except in cases of disagreement between the county council and the council of the borough (g).

Provisions consequential on extension of period for repayment of loans.

15. For the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Act as to the maximum period for which money may be borrowed, eighty years shall be substituted for sixty years in section twenty-seven of the Metropolitan Board of Works (Loans) Act, 1869, and such sum as will be sufficient, with compound interest, to repay the money borrowed within such period, not exceeding eighty years, as may be sanctioned by the London County Council, shall be substituted for two pounds per cent. in section one hundred and ninety of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855.

16. [Substitution of Secretary of State for Local Government Board] (h).

Supplemental.

Short title and extent.

17.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1903; and the Housing of the Working Classes Acts, 1890 to 1900, and this Act, may be cited together as the Housing of the Working Classes Acts, 1890 to 1903.

(2) This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland (i).

SCHEDULE.

Sections 3, 16.

(1) If, in the administrative county of London or in any borough or urban district or in any parish not within a borough or urban district, the undertakers have power to take under the enabling Act working-men's dwellings occupied by thirty or more persons belonging to the working class, the undertakers shall not enter on any such dwellings in that county, borough, urban district or parish, until the [Minister of Health] [has] either approved of a housing scheme under this Schedule or [has] decided that such a scheme is not necessary.

For the purposes of this Schedule a house shall be considered a workingman's dwelling if wholly or partially occupied by a person belonging to the working classes; and for the purpose of determining whether a house is a working-man's dwelling or not, and also for determining the number of persons belonging to the working classes by whom any dwelling-houses are occupied, any occupation on or after the fifteenth day of December next before the passing of the enabling Act, or, in the case of land acquired compulsorily under a general Act without the authority of an order, next before the date of the application to the [Minister of Health] under this Schedule, for [his] approval of or decision with respect to a housing scheme, shall be taken into consideration.

(2) The housing scheme shall make provision for the accommodation of such number of persons of the working class as is, in the opinion of the [Minister of Health], taking into account all the circumstances, required, but that number shall not exceed the aggregate number of persons of the working class displaced; and in calculating that number the [Minister of Health] shall take into consideration not only the persons of the working class who are occupying the working-men's dwellings which the undertakers have power to take, but also any persons of the working class who, in the opinion of the [Minister of Health], have been displaced within the previous five years in view of the acquisition of land by the undertakers.

(3) Provision may be made by the housing scheme for giving undertakers who are a local authority or who have not sufficient powers for the purpose power for the purpose of the scheme to appropriate land or to acquire land either by agreement or compulsorily under the authority of a Provisional Order, and for giving any local authority power to erect dwellings on land so appropriated or acquired by them, and to sell or dispose of any such dwellings and to raise money for the purpose of the scheme as for the purposes of Part III. of the principal Act, and for regulating the application of any money arising from the sale or disposal of the dwellings; and any provisions so made shall have effect as if they had been enacted in an Act of Parliament.

(4) The housing scheme shall provide that any lands acquired under the scheme shall, for a period of twenty-five years from the date of the scheme, be appropriated for the purpose of dwellings for persons of the working class, except so far as the [Minister of Health] dispense[s] with that appropriation, and every conveyance, demise or lease of any such land shall be endorsed with notice of this provision, and the [Minister of Health] may require the insertion in the scheme of any provisions requiring a certain standard of dwelling-house to be erected under the scheme, or any conditions to be complied with as to the mode in which the dwelling-houses are to be erected.

(5) If the [Minister of Health] [does] not hold a local inquiry with reference to a housing scheme, [he] shall, before approving the scheme, send a copy of the draft scheme to every local authority, and shall consider any representation made within the time fixed by the [Minister] by any such authority.

(6) The [Minister of Health] may, as a condition of [his] approval of a housing scheme, require that the new dwellings under the scheme, or some part of them, shall be completed and fit for occupation before possession is taken of any working-men's dwellings under the enabling Act.

(7) Before approving any scheme the [Minister of Health] may, if [he] think fit, require the undertakers to give such security as the [Minister] consider[s] proper for carrying the scheme into effect.

(8) The [Minister of Health] may hold such inquiries as [he] think[s] for the purpose of [his] duties under this Schedule, and sub-sections one and five of section eighty-seven of the Local Government Act, 1888 (which relate to local inquiries), shall apply for the purpose and, where the undertakers are not a local authority, shall be applicable as if they were such an authority.

(9) If the undertakers enter on any working-men's dwelling in contravention of the provisions of this Schedule, or of any conditions of approval of the housing scheme made by the [Minister of Health], they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five hundred pounds in respect of every such dwelling: Any such penalty shall be recoverable by the [Minister of Health] by action in the High Court, and shall be carried to and form part of the Consolidated Fund. Penalty for entry in contravention of Schedule.

(10) If the undertakers fail to carry out any provision of the housing scheme, the [Minister of Health] may make such order as [he] think[s] necessary or proper for the purpose of compelling them to carry out that provision, and any such order may be enforced by mandamus. Enforcement of scheme.

(11) The [Minister of Health] may, on the application of the undertakers, modify any housing scheme which has been approved by [him] under this Schedule, and any modifications so made shall take effect as part of the scheme. Modification of scheme.

(12) For the purposes of this Schedule— Definitions.

(a) The expression "undertakers" means any authority, company or person who are acquiring land compulsorily or by agreement under any local Act or provisional order or order having the effect of an Act, or are acquiring land compulsorily under any general Act; "Undertakers."

(b) The expression "enabling Act" means any Act of Parliament or order under which the land is acquired; "Enabling Act."

(c) The expression "local authority" means the council of any county district, or, in London, the council of any metropolitan borough, in which in any case any houses in respect of which the re-housing scheme is made are situated, or in the case of the city the common council; "Local authority."

(d) The expression "dwelling" or "house" means any house or part of a house occupied as a separate dwelling; "Dwelling" or "house."

(e) The expression "working class" includes mechanics, artisans, labourers, and others working for wages; hawkers, costermongers, persons not working for wages, but working at some trade or handicraft without employing others, except members of their own family, and persons other than domestic servants whose income in any case does not exceed an average of thirty shillings a week, and the families of any of such persons who may be residing with them. "Working class."

PART III.

TAXES.

11 (l).—(1) Where a house, so far as it is used as a dwelling-house, is used for the sole purpose of providing separate dwellings,— Inhabited house duty on houses let in tenements or flats.

(a) The value of any dwelling in the house which is of an annual value below twenty pounds shall be excluded from the annual value of the house for the purposes of inhabited house duty; and

(l) As to this section generally and the meaning of the term "separate dwellings," see 26 (2) of the Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1890, and notes thereto, p. 1679, ante. For a similar exemption in the case of working-class lodging houses, see Housing, Town Planning, etc. Act, 1909, s. 35.

(b) The rate of inhabited house duty in respect of any dwelling in the house of an annual value of twenty pounds but not exceeding forty pounds shall be reduced to threepence; and

(c) The rate of inhabited house duty in respect of any dwelling in the house of an annual value exceeding forty pounds but not exceeding sixty pounds shall be reduced to sixpence.

(2) The provisions of this section as respects dwellings of an annual value not exceeding forty pounds shall not take effect with regard to any such dwelling unless such a certificate as to accommodation and sanitary condition is produced to the General Commissioners as defined by section five of the Taxes Management Act, 1880, as is mentioned in sub-section (2) of section twenty-six of the Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1890, and the provisions of that sub-section as to the certificate shall apply for the purpose.

ALKALI, ETC., WORKS REGULATION ACT, 1906.

(6 EDW. 7, c. 14) (m).

An Act to consolidate and amend the Alkali, etc., Works Regulation Act 1881 and 1892. [4th August 1906.]

PART I.

ALKALI WORKS AND ALKALI WASTE.

Condensation of muriatic acid gas in alkali works.

1.—(1) Every alkali work (n) shall be carried on in such manner as to secure the condensation, to the satisfaction of the chief inspector (o), of the muriatic acid gas evolved in such work, to the extent of ninety-five per centum, and to such an extent that in each cubic foot of air, smoke, or chimney gases, escaping from the works into the atmosphere, there is not contained more than one-fifth part of a grain of muriatic acid (p).

(2) The owner (n) of any alkali work (n) which is carried on in contravention

(m) This Act repeals and re-enacts with amendments the Alkali, etc., Works Regulation Act, 1881, the L. G. B.'s Provisional Order Confirmation (Salt Works) Act, 1884, passed under s. 10 of the Act of 1881, and the Alkali, &c., Works Regulation Acts, 1892.

(n) Defined by s. 27, post.

(o) See ss. 10—14, post, as to inspection, and s. 25, post, as to determination of questions by chief inspector.

(p) As to calculation of acid, see s. 16, post.

his section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding in the case of the first nce fifty pounds, and in the case of every subsequent offence one hundred nds (q).

).—(1) In addition to the condensation of muriatic acid gas as aforesaid owner (r) of every alkali work (r) shall use the best practicable ns (r) for preventing the escape of noxious or offensive gases (r) by the flue of any apparatus used in any process carried on in the work, and preventing the discharge, whether directly or indirectly, of such gases the atmosphere, and for rendering such gases where discharged harmless inoffensive, subject to the qualification that, on the basis of the amount cid gas per cubic foot, no objection shall be taken under this section by nspector to any muriatic acid gas in the air, smoke, or gases discharged the atmosphere by a chimney or other final outlet where the amount uch acid gas in each cubic foot of air, smoke, or gases so discharged s not exceed the amount limited by the last preceding section (s). Prevention of discharge of noxious and offensive gas in alkali works.

) If the owner of any alkali work fails, in the opinion of the court having nizance of the matter, to use such means, he shall be liable to a fine not eding in the case of the first offence twenty pounds, and in the case of every sequent offence fifty pounds, with a further sum not exceeding five pounds very day during which any such subsequent offence has continued (t).

).—(1) Every work of whatever description in which any liquid containing er acid or any other substance capable of liberating sulphuretted rogen (u) from alkali waste or drainage therefrom is produced or used shall arried on in such manner that the liquid shall not come in contact with li waste, or with drainage therefrom, so as to cause a nuisance. Separation of acids and other substances from alkali waste and drainage therefrom.

) The owner of any work which is carried on in contravention of this ion shall be liable to a fine not exceeding in the case of the first offence pounds, and in the case of every subsequent offence one hundred pounds, a further sum not exceeding five pounds for every day during which such subsequent offence has continued (t).

) On the request of the owner of any such work as is mentioned in section the sanitary authority of the district in which such work is situate l, at the expense of such owner, provide and maintain a drain or channel carrying off such liquid as aforesaid produced in such work into the sea nto any river or watercourse into which the liquid can be carried without ravention of the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, as amended any subsequent enactment (x); and the sanitary authority shall for the ose of providing any such drain or channel have the like powers as they e for providing sewers, whether within or without their district, under Public Health Act (y). 39 & 40 Vict. c. 75.

As to recovery of fines, see ss. 17, 18, post. The owner may be discharged on proof ust the actual offender, s. 20, post.

Defined by s. 17, post.

This clause introduces considerable amendments of s. 4 of the repealed Act of 1881. extended to all escapes from the exit flue of any apparatus used in any process carried the work, and to every discharge of noxious or offensive gases, whether directly or ectly, into the atmosphere, subject to the qualification mentioned.

See note (q), supra.

) The inclusion of works in which any liquid containing any substance other than capable of liberating sulphuretted hydrogen from alkali waste is produced or used new feature. Section 5 of the repealed Act of 1881 was limited to works in which was produced or used.

) See ss. 16 and 32 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, pp. 55, 94.

eference may also be made to St. Helen's Chemical Co. v. St. Helen's Corporation 5), 1 Ex. D. 196; 40 J. P. 471, where the owners were held liable for a nuisance ed by the evolution of noxious gases in a sewer consequent upon the discharge into the r of muriatic acid and sulphur.

(4) Compensation (z) shall be made to any person for any damage sustained by him by reason of the exercise by a sanitary authority of the powers conferred by this section, and such compensation shall be deemed part of the expenses to be paid by the owner making the request to the sanitary authority under this section.

Deposit or discharge of alkali waste.

4.—(1) Alkali waste shall not be deposited or discharged without the best practicable means (a) being used for effectually preventing any nuisance arising therefrom (b).

(2) Any person who causes or knowingly permits any alkali waste to be deposited or discharged in contravention of this section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding in the case of the first offence twenty pounds, and in the case of every subsequent offence fifty pounds, with a further sum not exceeding five pounds for every day during which any such subsequent offence has continued (c).

Prevention of nuisance from alkali waste already deposited or discharged.

5. Where alkali waste has been deposited or discharged, either before or after the commencement of this Act, and complaint is made to the chief inspector that a nuisance is occasioned thereby, the chief inspector (d), if satisfied of the existence of the nuisance, and that it is within the power of the owner or occupier of the land to abate it, shall serve a notice on such owner or occupier requiring him to abate the nuisance; and, if such owner or occupier fails to use the best practicable and reasonably available means for the abatement thereof, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds, and, if he does not proceed to use such means within such time as may be limited by the court inflicting such fine, he shall be liable to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day after the expiration of the time so limited during which such failure continues.

PART II.

SULPHURIC ACID, MURIATIC ACID, AND OTHER SPECIFIED WORKS.

Condensation of acid gases in sulphuric acid and muriatic acid works.

6.—(1) Every sulphuric acid work as defined in paragraph (1) of the First Schedule to this Act shall be carried on in such manner as to secure the condensation, to the satisfaction of the chief inspector (d), of the gases of sulphur or of sulphur and nitrogen which are evolved in the process of the manufacture of sulphuric acid in that work, to such an extent that the total acidity of those gases in each cubic foot of residual gases after completion of the process, and before admixture with air, smoke, or other gases, does not exceed what is equivalent to four grains of sulphuric anhydride.

(2) Every muriatic acid work as defined in paragraph (8) of the First Schedule to this Act shall be carried on in such manner as to secure the condenstion to the satisfaction of the chief inspector (d) of the muriatic acid gas evolved in such work, to such extent that in each cubic foot of smoke, or chimney gases escaping from the work into the atmosphere there is not contained more than one-fifth part of a grain of muriatic acid (f).

(3) The owner of any sulphuric acid work or of any muriatic acid work

(z) The amount will be ascertainable under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 308, ante, p. 642.

(a) Defined by s. 27, post.

(b) As to the discharge of solid matter in suspension into any navigable water, United Alkali Co. v. Simpson, ante, p. 1480.

(c) As to recovery of fines, see ss. 17, 18, post.

(d) See s. 27, post.

(e) "The best practicable means" are defined by s. 27, post. The addition of the words "and reasonably available" introduces an element of uncertainty as to what that definition is to be adhered to. But probably the intention of the Act is that it is subject to the court deciding also the question of reasonable availability for itself.

(f) As to calculation of acid, see s. 16, post.

ch is carried on in contravention of this section shall be liable to a fine exceeding in the case of the first offence fifty pounds, and in the case of ry subsequent offence one hundred pounds.

Prevention of discharge of noxious or offensive gas in scheduled works.

.—(1) The owner of any work specified in the First Schedule to this (hereinafter referred to as a scheduled work) shall use the best practicable ns for preventing the escape of noxious or offensive gases (h) by the exit of any apparatus used in the process carried on in the work, and for pre- ting the discharge, whether directly or indirectly, of such gases into the osphere (i), and for rendering such gases where discharged harmless and ffensive, subject to the qualification that, on the basis of the amount cid gas per cubic foot, no objection shall be taken under this section by inspector—

a) To any muriatic acid gas in the air, smoke, or gases discharged into the atmosphere by a chimney or other final outlet, where the amount of such acid gas in each cubic foot of air, smoke, or gases so discharged does not exceed the amount limited by the last preceding section :

b) To any acid gases in the air, smoke, or gases discharged into the atmosphere by a chimney or other final outlet receiving the residual gases from any process for the concentration or distillation of sulphuric acid, where the total acidity of such acid gases (including those from the combustion of coal) in each cubic foot of air, smoke, or gases so discharged does not exceed what is equivalent to one grain and a half of sulphuric anhydride (j).

2) If the owner of any such work fails, in the opinion of the court having nizance of the matter, to use such means, he shall be liable to a fine not eeding in the case of the first offence twenty pounds, and in the case of ry subsequent offence fifty pounds, with a further sum not exceeding five nds for every day during which any such subsequent offence has continued.

Provisional Order to prevent discharge of noxious or offensive gas in cement and smelting works.

3.—(1) An inspector may inquire whether, in any works in which minous deposits are treated for the purpose of making cement (herein- er called cement works) or in any works in which sulphide ores, including ulus, are calcined or smelted (hereinafter called smelting works) (l), ans can be adopted at a reasonable expense for preventing the discharge m the furnaces or chimneys of such works into the atmosphere of any xious or offensive gas (h) evolved in such works, or for rendering such gas here discharged harmless or inoffensive.

(2) Where it appears to the Local Government Board (ll) that such means n be adopted at a reasonable expense, the Board (ll) may by Order require e owners of such works to adopt the best practicable means for the purpose, d may by the Order limit the amount or proportion, in the case of cement rks or smelting works, of any noxious or offensive gas which is to be per- tted to escape from such works into the chimney or into the atmosphere, d may also by the Order extend to such works such provisions of this Act lating to scheduled works as they think fit.

(3) An Order made under this section shall be provisional only, and shall t be of any validity until confirmed by Parliament, but when so confirmed

(h) Defined by s. 27, post.

(i) This clause introduces amendments of s. 9 of the repealed Act of 1881 similar to se introduced by s. 2 as regards s. 4 of the same Act, and it also amends the qualifica- n so as to effect a very considerable alteration of the standard of pollution.

(j) As to the application of this sub-section in certain cases, see s. 26, post.

(l) These works are for the first time brought within the scope of this legislation. melting works are to a certain extent exempted from the provisions of the P. H. A., 875. See s. 334 of that Act, ante, p. 663.

Salt works, on the other hand, which were partially exempted from the provisions of e repealed Act of 1881 by the Act of 1892, are not mentioned at all in this Act.

(ll) Now the Ministry of Health (Ministry of Health Act, 1919).

shall have full effect, with such modifications as may be made therein Parliament; and the expression "this Act" when used in this Act shall deemed to include an Order so confirmed, so far as is consistent with tenor of that Order.

(4) The Board (ll) shall take such steps as they may think fit for giving not to persons interested of the provisions of any Order made by them under t section before any Bill for confirming the same is introduced into Parliament

(5) An order made under this section may impose fines for a breach of provisions of like amount as any fines imposed by this Act for offences agai this Act.

(6) An Order made under this section may be repealed, altered, or amended any subsequent Order made under this section, and confirmed by Parliament (m).

PART III.

(i) REGISTRATION OF WORKS.

Registration of works and stamp duty.

9.—(1) An alkali work, a scheduled work, a cement work, or a smelti work (n) shall not be carried on unless it is certified to be registered.

(2) The work shall be registered in a register containing the prescrib particulars, and the register shall be conducted and the certificates issued the prescribed manner (o).

(3) A certificate of registration, if issued at a time when a previous cer ficate is in force, shall be in force for one year after the time when th certificate ceases to be in force, and if issued at a time when no previo certificate is in force shall be in force until the following first day of April.

(4) An application for a certificate of registration of a work may, in the c of the first registration of that work, be made at any time, and an applicati for any subsequent certificate in respect of that work shall be made in th month of January or February.

(5) A certificate of registration shall be issued on application being ma in the prescribed manner (o) by the owner of the work, if the conditions registration are complied with, and one of the conditions (p) in the case of t first registration of an alkali or scheduled work, or the registration of such work if the work has been closed for a period of twelve months previous shall be that the work is at the time of registration furnished with su appliances as appear to the chief inspector or, on appeal, to the Local Gover ment Board (ll) to be necessary in order to enable the work to be carried in accordance with such of the requirements of this Act as apply to the wo

Provided that the Local Government Board (ll) may dispense with the la mentioned condition in the case of works erected before the commenceme of this Act which were not before the commencement of this Act required

(6) There shall be charged upon every such certificate a stamp duty of fi pounds in the case of an alkali work, and of three pounds in the case of an other work, and the Commissioners of Inland Revenue shall issue stamp forms of certificate for the purpose (q).

(7) Written notice of any change which occurs in the ownership of a wo or in the other particulars stated in the register shall within one month aft

(o) Prescribed means prescribed by the Ministry of Health. See s. 25, post.

(p) This condition and the proviso which follows are new.

(q) The Acts relating to stamp duties are not expressly applied as by s. 13 of the repea Act of 1881, but they are nevertheless applicable. By s. 47 of the Finance Act, 19
"five pounds" and "three pounds" are increased respectively to "ten pounds" a ch change be sent by the owner to the Local Government Board (qq), and e register and the certificate shall be altered accordingly in the prescribed nner (r) without charge and without the issue of a new certificate. If such tice is not sent as so required the work shall not be deemed to be certified be registered.

(8) The owner of a work which has been carried on in contravention of s section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds (s).

(ii) Inspection.

Appointment of inspectors.

10.—(1) The Local Government Board (qq) shall, with the approval of the easury as to numbers and salaries or remuneration, appoint such inspectors nder whatever title they may fix) as the Board (qq) think necessary for the ecution of this Act, and may assign them their duties and award them their aries or remuneration, and shall constitute a chief inspector, and may ulate the cases and manner in which the inspectors are to execute and form the powers and duties of inspectors under this Act, and may remove ch inspectors.

(2) Notice of the appointment of every such inspector shall be published the London Gazette, and a copy of the Gazette shall be evidence of the pointment.

(3) The salaries or remuneration of the inspectors, and such expenses of execution of this Act as the Treasury may sanction, shall be paid out of neys provided by Parliament.

(4) A person holding the office of chief inspector or inspector shall not be ployed in any other work except with the sanction of the Local Government ard (qq).

(5) In the case of the illness or other unavoidable absence of the chief spector, the Local Government Board (qq) may appoint any other inspector act as his deputy, and the inspector so appointed shall, whilst so acting, ve all the powers by or under this Act conferred on the chief inspector.

Disqualification of certain persons for inspectors.

11. A person who

(a) acts or practices as a land agent (t); or

(b) is engaged or interested directly or indirectly in any work to which this Act applies, or in any patent for any process or apparatus carried on or used in any such work, or in any process or apparatus connected with the condensation of acid gases, or with the treatment of alkali waste, or with preventing the discharge into the atmosphere or rendering harmless or inoffensive any noxious or offensive gas, or otherwise with any of the matters dealt with by this Act; or

(c) is employed in or about or in connexion with any work to which this Act applies, or in any other chemical work for gain, ll be disqualified to act as an inspector under this Act.

Inspection of works.

12.—(1) For the purpose of the execution of this Act, an inspector may at reasonable times by day and night without giving previous notice, but so not to interrupt the process of the manufacture,

(a) enter and inspect any work to which, in the opinion of the Local Government Board (u) any of the provisions of this Act applies; and

(s) This fine is recoverable under s. 17, post, but is not subject to the three months' limitation thereby imposed.

(t) This is a term of no very definite meaning. A person who manages the landed estate of another is a land agent in common parlance, and such a person is doubtless referred to here, though there are persons in other positions who are called land agents.

(u) Under the repealed statute the opinion of the L. G. B. (now the Ministry of Health) is not referred to. The Minister's opinion is now conclusive for this purpose.

(b) examine any process causing the evolution of any noxious or offensi gas (v) and any apparatus for condensing any such gas, or othe wise preventing the discharge thereof into the atmosphere, or f rendering any such gas harmless or inoffensive when discharge and

(c) ascertain the quantity of gas discharged into the atmosphere, condens or otherwise dealt with; and

(d) enter and inspect any place where alkali is treated or deposited, where any liquid containing either acid or any other substance capable of liberating sulphuretted hydrogen from alkali waste drainage (x) therefrom; and

(e) apply any such tests and make any such experiments, and general make all such inquiries, as seem to him to be necessary or proper f the execution of his duties under this Act (y).

(2) The owner of any such work shall, on the demand of the chief inspect furnish him within a reasonable time with a sketch plan, to be kept secr of those parts of such work in which any process causing the evoluti of any noxious or offensive gas or any process for the condensation of su gas or for preventing the discharge thereof into the atmosphere, or f rendering any such gas harmless or inoffensive when discharged is carried

(3) The owner of every such work and his agents shall render to eve inspector all necessary facilities for entry, inspection, examination, a testing in pursuance of this Act.

(4) Every owner of a work in which such facilities are not afforded to inspector as are required by this Act, or in which an inspector is obstructed the execution of his duty under this Act, and every person wilfully obstructi an inspector in the execution of his duty under this Act, shall be liable conviction under the Summary Jurisdiction Acts (z) to a fine not exceedi ten pounds.

Annual report to Local Government Board (zz).

13. The chief inspector shall, on or before the first day of March in eve year, make a report in writing to the Local Government Board (zz), of t proceedings of himself and of the other inspectors under this Act, and a co of such report shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament (a).

Additional inspector on application of sanitary authorities.

14.—(1) If any sanitary authority apply to the central authority (b) an additional inspector under this Act, and undertake to pay a proporti of his salary or remuneration, not being less than one half, the Local Gove ment Board (zz) may (if they see fit), with the sanction of the Treasury, appo an additional inspector under this Act, to reside within a convenient dista of the works he is required to inspect; and such inspector shall have the sa powers and be subject to the same power of removal and to the same regu tions and liabilities as other inspectors under this Act.

(2) The proportion of salary or remuneration aforesaid shall be paid

(v) Defined by s. 27, post.

(x) This is an extension of the corresponding provisions of s. 16 of the repealed Ac 1881.

(y) This clause is new. Under the repealed statute there was power simply to inq into all matters which tended to show compliance or non-compliance with the Act which seemed necessary or proper for the execution of his duties, but no specific powe apply tests or make experiments.

(z) The application of the summary process for recovery of this fine is new.

(zz) Now the Ministry of Health (Ministry of Health Act, 1919).

(a) It was thought unnecessary in this section to re-enact that the other inspectors sh furnish the chief inspector with a detailed account of the number of inspectors of w in their district, and the recorded escapes of acid gases from such works during the ceding year, having regard to the general powers which the Ministry of Health as succes to the L. G. B. possess under s. 10, ante, p. 1939.

(b) That is, the Ministry of Health. See s. 27, post, p. 1945.

prescribed times into the Exchequer, and shall be a debt due from the itary authority to the Crown (c).

(iii) Special Rules.

5.—(1) The owner of an alkali work or of a scheduled work may, with sanction of the central authority (d), make special rules for the guidance his workmen who are employed in or in connexion with any process causing evolution of any noxious or offensive gas, or in or in connexion with the densation or other treatment of that gas, and may annex fines to any lation of such rules, so that the fine for any offence do not exceed two nds. Power of owners of works to make special rules.

(2) A printed copy of the special rules in force under this section in any k shall be given by the owner of that work to every person working or ployed in or about that work who is affected thereby.

(3) Any fine incurred under this Act in respect of an offence against a cial rule may be recovered in accordance with the Summary Jurisdiction s.

(iv) Procedure.

6. In calculating the proportion of acid to a cubic foot of air, smoke, or es, for the purposes of this Act, such air, smoke, or gases shall be calculated the temperature of sixty degrees of Fahrenheit's thermometer, and at a ometric pressure of thirty inches. Provision as to calculation of acid.

7. The following regulations shall have effect with respect to the recovery ines for offences under this Act other than fines recoverable summarily :— Recovery of fines for offences against Act in county court.

(1) Every such fine (e) shall be recovered by action in the county court having jurisdiction in the district in which the offence is alleged to have been committed :

(2) The action shall not be brought without the sanction of the central authority, nor by any person other than the chief inspector or such other inspector as the Local Government Board (f) may in any particular case direct, nor, except as respects a fine for the contravention of the provisions of this Act as to the registration of works (g), after the expiration of three months from the commission of the offence (h), and for the purposes of such action the fine shall be deemed to be a debt due to such inspector (i) :

(3) The plaintiff in any action for a fine under this Act shall be presumed to be an inspector authorised under this Act to bring the action, until the contrary is proved by the defendant (j) :

) The effect is that the debt is recoverable by an immediate extent of the property e local authority in case of default of payment on demand.

) That is, the Minister of Health. See s. 27, post, p. 1945.

) The word "fine" seems hardly applicable to a sum which is to be recovered by l proceedings. It is equivalent here to "penalty." This Act provides for maximum not for fixed penalties, and does not point out who is to decide the proper amount. fine is to be claimed as a debt, and it seems that the inspector should sue for the ximum amount, the judge of the court giving judgment for the amount he shall deem icient.

f) Now Ministry of Health.

g) This exception was new. The fine in such case is a sum not exceeding £50, see s. 9 (8), ante.

h) The offence may be continuing, or there may be a separate offence for every day it ontinued. See for continuing offences, ss. 2 (2), 3 (2), 4 (2), 7 (2), ante, and ss. 1 (2),), ante, and 18, post.

i) As to the application of the fine, see s. 19, post. There is no express provision for costs of the inspector, but as he will be acting officially, it is presumed that the costs ar as not recovered from the defendant will be paid by the Treasury.

j) It will therefore not be necessary for the inspector to produce the Gazette which ording to s. 10 (2) will be evidence of his appointment.

(4) The court may, on the application of either party, appoint a pers to take down in writing the evidence of the witnesses, and m award to that person such remuneration as the court thinks jus and the amount so awarded shall be deemed to be costs in the actio

(5) If either party in any action under this Act feels aggrieved by t decision or direction of the court in point of law, or on the merits or in respect of the admission or rejection of any evidence, he m appeal to the High Court:

(6) Subject to the provisions of this section, all the enactments, rul and orders relating to proceedings in actions in county courts, a to enforcing judgments in county courts, and to appeals shall ap as if the action related to a matter within the ordinary jurisdict of the court.

Further provisions as to recovery of fines in county court.

18.—(1) In any proceeding under this Act in relation to a fine for offence other than an offence against a special rule (m)—

(a) It shall be sufficient to allege that any work is a work to which Act applies, without more; and

(b) It shall be sufficient to state the name of the registered or ostens owner of the work, or the title of the firm by which the employe persons in such work is usually known.

(2) A person shall not be subject to a fine under this Act for more than offence in respect of the same work or place in respect of any one day.

(3) Not less than twenty-one days before the hearing of any proceed against an owner (n) to recover a fine under this Act for failing to secure condensation of any gas to the satisfaction of the chief inspector, or for fai to use the best practicable means (n) as required by this Act, an inspe shall serve on the owner (n) proceeded against a notice in writing stating the case requires, either the facts on which such chief inspector founds opinion, or the means which such owner has failed to use, and the m which, in the chief inspector's opinion, would suffice, and shall produce a c of such notice before the court having cognisance of the matter.

(4) A person shall not be liable under this Act to an increased fine in res of a second offence, or in respect of a third or any subsequent offence, u a fine has been recovered within the preceding twelve months against person for the first offence, or for the second or other offence, as the may be.

Application of fines.

19. All fines recovered under this Act, other than those recov summarily (o), shall be paid into the Exchequer.

Discharge of owner on conviction of actual offender.

20. The owner (n) of a work in which an offence under this Act other an offence against a special rule has been proved to have been comm shall in every case be deemed to have committed the offence, and sha liable to pay the fine, unless he proves to the satisfaction of the court b

(l) This appears to signify the effect of the facts proved in evidence, but the term t in common use is indefinite, and may perhaps be considered to include the amount penalty.

(m) As to special rules, see s. 15, ante.

(n) Defined by s. 27, post.

(o) Fines recovered summarily include all fines in respect of offences against a s rule under s. 15, ante, or for obstruction under s. 12 (4), ante. The fines so rec not being appropriated, must be paid to the county or borough treasurer und S. J. A., 1848, s. 31, and the Criminal Justice Administration Act, 1851, s. 11.

Receipts for fines whether recovered in the County Court, or summarily, are ex from stamp duty (see the Revenue Act, 1898, s. 8; amending the Stamp Act, Schedule I.).

ich any proceeding is instituted to recover such fine, that he has used due gence to comply with and to enforce the execution of this Act, and that offence in question was committed, without his knowledge, consent, or nivance, by some agent servant or workman, whom he shall charge by ne as the actual offender ; in which case such agent servant or workman ll be liable to pay the fine, and proceedings may be taken against him for recovery thereof and of the costs of all proceedings which may be taken ier against himself or against the owner under this Act :

Provided that it shall be lawful for the inspector to proceed against the son whom he believes to be the actual offender, without first proceeding inst the owner, in any case where the inspector is satisfied that the owner used all due diligence to comply with and to enforce the provisions of this , and that the offence has been committed by that person without the wledge, consent, or connivance of the owner (p).

Service of notices.

1. Any notice, summons, or other document required or authorised for purposes of this Act to be delivered to or served on or sent to the owner any work, may be served by post or by delivering the same to the owner t his residence or works ; and the document shall be deemed to be properly dressed if addressed to the registered address of an owner, or, when required be served on or sent to the owner of any works, if addressed to the owner he works at the works, with the addition of the proper postal address, but hout naming the person who is the owner (q).

Complaint by sanitary authority in cases of nuisances.

2.—(1) Where complaint is made to the central authority (r) by any itary authority (r), on information given by any of their officers, or any inhabitants of their district, that any work to which this Act applies is ried on (either within or without the district) in contravention of this , or that any alkali waste is deposited or discharged (either within or hout the district) in contravention of this Act, and that a nuisance is asioned thereby to any of the inhabitants of their district, the central hority shall make such inquiry into the matters complained of, and after inquiry may direct such proceedings to be taken by an inspector as they nk fit and just.

(2) The sanitary authority (r) complaining shall, if so required by the tral authority, pay the expense of any such inquiry (s).

Actions in case of contributory nuisance.

3.—(1) Where a nuisance arising from the discharge of any noxious or nsive gas (r) or gases is wholly or partially caused by the acts or defaults he owners (r) of several works to which any of the provisions of this Act plies, any person injured by such nuisance may proceed against any one more of such owners, and may recover damages from each owner made a endant in proportion to the extent of the contribution of that defendant the nuisance, notwithstanding that the act or default of that defendant uld not separately have caused a nuisance (t).

(2) This section shall not authorise the recovery of damages from any endant who can produce a certificate from the chief inspector that in the rks of that defendant the requirements of this Act have been complied with l were complied with when the nuisance arose.

(v) MISCELLANEOUS.

Expenses of sanitary authorities.

24. Any expenses incurred by a sanitary authority (u) under this Act shall be defrayed as general expenses incurred by the authority in the executi of the Public Health (x).

Determination of questions by chief inspector.

25. In determining any matter which under this Act is to be determin by the chief inspector, the chief inspector may found his opinion on fa disclosed by his own examination, or by an examination by any oth inspector.

Temporary provision as to the over-heat pan process.

26.—(1) For a period of three years after the commencement of this A paragraph (b) of section seven of this Act shall apply, where the process for t concentration of sulphuric acid is that known as the over-heat pan proc as if in that paragraph two grains of sulphuric anhydride were substitu for one grain and a half of sulphuric anhydride.

(2) For the purposes of this section "the over-heat pan process" mea the process in which the concentration of sulphuric acid is effected by passage of the heated gases resulting from the combustion of fuel over surface of the acid.

Interpretation of terms.

27.—(1) In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires—

The expression "alkali work" means every work for—(a) the manufacture of sulphate of soda or sulphate of potash, or

(b) the treatment of copper ores by common salt or other chlori whereby any sulphate is formed, in which muriatic acid gas is evolved :

The expression "noxious or offensive gas" includes the following ga and fumes :—

Muriatic acid ;
Sulphuric acid ;
Sulphurous acid, except that arising solely from the combustion of co
Nitric acid and acid-forming oxides of nitrogen ;
Sulphuretted hydrogen ;
Chlorine, and its acid compounds ;
Fluorine compounds ;
Cyanogen compounds ;
Bisulphide of carbon ;
Chloride of sulphur ;
Fumes from cement works ;
Fumes containing copper, lead, antimony, arsenic, zinc, or t compounds ;
Fumes from tar works :

The expression "owner" includes any lessee, occupier, or any other pe carrying on any work to which this Act applies :

The expression "best practicable means," where used with respect the prevention of the escape of noxious and offensive gases, has refer not only to the provision and the efficient maintenance of applia adequate for preventing such escape, but also to the manner in w such appliances are used and to the proper supervision, by the owne any operation in which such gases are evolved :

The expression "prescribed" means prescribed by the Local Gov ment Board (xx) :

(u) Defined by s. 27, infra.

(x) That is if an urban district council out of the general district fund or rate. the P. H. A., 1875, s. 207, ante, p. 469 ; and if a rural district council, then as ge expenses under s. 229 of the same Act, ante, p. 510.

(xx) For note (xx) see p. 1945.

'he expression "Local Government Board" means the Local Government Board established by the Local Government Board Act, 1871 (xx) : 34 & 35 Vict. c. 70.

'he expression "central authority" means as regards England the Local Government Board (y) :

'he expression "sanitary authority" means any local authority entrusted with the execution of the Public Health Act :

'he expression "the Public Health Act" means as regards England the Public Health Act, 1875, or in the case of London the Public Health (London) Act, 1891 (y) ; and includes any enactment amending those Acts. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55. 54 & 55 Vict. c. 76.

OPEN SPACES ACT, 1906.

(6 EDW. 7, c. 25) (a).

n Act to consolidate Enactments relating to Open Spaces. [4th August 1906.]

LOCAL AUTHORITIES.

Local authorities.

1. Each of the following bodies shall be a local authority for the purposes this Act, namely—

The council of any county, of any municipal or metropolitan borough, or of any district:

The common council of the city of London:

Any parish council invested with the powers of this Act by an order of the council of the county within which the parish is situate.

POWER TO TRANSFER OPEN SPACES AND BURIAL GROUNDS TO LOCAL AUTHORITIES.

Power of trustees under local Act to transfer open spaces to local authority or admit other persons to enjoyment thereof (b).

2.—(1) Where an open space (c) is, in pursuance of a local or private ct of Parliament, placed under the care and management of trustees or her persons (in this section referred to as trustees), with a view to the reservation and regulation thereof as a garden or open space, the trustees ay, in pursuance of a special resolution (d), and with the consent, signified y a special resolution (d), of the owners (c) and occupiers (c) of any houses hich front upon the open space, or of which the owners and occupiers are able to be specially rated for the maintenance of the open space—

(a) convey, for or without any consideration, to any local authority, their estate or interest in the open space or, if they have no such estate or interest, transfer to any local authority the entire care and

(a) This Act repeals and consolidates with amendments the whole of the previous gislation on the subject except so much of s. 4 of the Open Spaces Act, 1887, as amends he Disused Burial Grounds Act, 1884, ante, pp. 1634, 1618.

(b) This section reproduces s. 2 of the Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, as extended y the Open Spaces Act, 1887.

(c) Defined by s. 20, post.

(d) As to special resolutions and consents, see s. 8, post.

management of the open space, to the end that the space may be preserved for the enjoyment of the public; or

(b) grant, for or without any consideration, to any local authority any term of years or other limited interest in or any right or easement over the open space; or

(c) make any agreement with any local authority for the opening to the public of the open space and the care and management thereof by the local authority, either at all times or at any specified time or times; or

(d) notwithstanding anything in the Act or any instrument under which the trustees are constituted or act, admit persons not owning, occupying, or residing in any house fronting on the open space to the enjoyment of the open space, either at all times or at any specified time or times, and regulate the admission of such persons thereto on such terms and conditions as the trustees think proper.

(2) Where the freehold of the open space and the freehold of all or the greater part of the houses round the open space are vested in the same person the powers conferred by this section shall not be exercised without the consent of that person.

(3) Any such conveyance, transfer, grant, or agreement shall be made if the trustees are a corporation, by an instrument under the common seal of the trustees, and if the trustees are not a corporation, by an instrument under the hands and seals of any five of the trustees, or of all the trustees if for the time being they are less than five in number.

(4) Any conveyance, transfer, grant, or agreement under this section shall be deemed a good execution of the trusts, powers, and duties imposed or conferred upon the trustees by the Act or instrument under which they are constituted or act, and where the trustees convey their entire interest in, or transfer the entire care and management of, the open space they shall, on the execution of the conveyance or transfer, be relieved and discharged from all trusts, powers, and duties under the Act or instrument or otherwise with reference to the open space.

(5) The trustees shall hold any purchase money or rent paid for or in respect of the open space in trust for the benefit of the persons or class of persons for whose benefit the open space was previously preserved and managed by the trustees, or, as the case may be, for the benefit of the object to which any rates previously imposed in respect of the open space had been applied, and such persons or class of persons shall be discharged either absolutely, or, if the grant was for a term of years or other limited interest during the continuance of that interest, from any special rate or other obligation previously imposed on them in respect of the open space.

Transfer to local authority of spaces held by trustees for purpose of public recreation (e).

3.—(1) Where any land is held by trustees (not being trustees elected or appointed under any local or private Act of Parliament) upon trust for the purposes of public recreation, the trustees may, in pursuance of a special resolution (f), transfer the land to any local authority by a free gift absolutely or for a limited term, and, if the local authority accept the gift, they shall hold the land on the trusts and subject to the conditions on and subject to which the trustees held the same, or on such other trusts and subject to such other conditions (so that the land be appropriated to the purposes of public recreation) as may be agreed on between the trustees and the local authority with the approval of the Charity Commissioners.

(2) Subject to the obligation of the land so transferred being used for (e) This section reproduces s. 3 of the Open Spaces Act, 1890.

(f) See s. 8, post.

ne purposes of public recreation, the local authority may hold the land as nd for the purposes of an open space under this Act.

Transfer by charity trustees of open space to local authority (g).

4.—(1) Where an open space is vested in trustees, other than such as e mentioned in the foregoing provisions of this Act, for any charitable urpose and as part of their trust estate, and it appears to the majority of ne trustees that the open space is no longer required for the purposes of neir trust, or may with advantage to the trust be dealt with under this ection, the trustees may, in pursuance of a special resolution (h), and where ne open space is subject to the Charitable Trusts Acts, 1853 to 1894 (i), ith such authority or approval (j) as is required by those Acts for a sale f the open space, and in other cases in pursuance of an order of the court o be obtained as hereinafter provided, convey or demise the open space o any local authority on such terms as they may agree, and the local authority hall thenceforth be entitled to hold the same as an open space on the terms nd under the conditions specified in the conveyance or demise, or on such erms or under such conditions as may be so authorised or approved, or s the court may from time to time order, as the case may be.

(2) The court for the purposes of this section shall be either the High ourt or the county court of the district in which the whole or any part of ne open space is situate.

(3) An order of the court for the purposes of this section may be made pon application by the trustees, in manner directed by rules of court, nd the court, before making any order, may direct such inquiries to be made, uch consents to be obtained, and notice to be given to such persons, as to he court seem expedient, and may make such order thereon as in the iscretion of the court appears proper.

Transfer to local authority by owners of open spaces subject to rights of user (l).

5.—(1) Where any open space (m) is subject to rights of user for exercise nd recreation in the owners (m) or occupiers (m), or both, of any houses round or near the same, whether the rights are secured by covenant or not, he owner of the open space may, with the consent, signified by a special esolution (h), of such owners or occupiers, or both, as the case may require,—

(a) convey to any local authority his estate or interest in the open space in trust for the enjoyment of the public; or

(b) grant to any local authority in trust as aforesaid any term of years or other limited interest in or any right or easement over the open space; or

(c) make an agreement with any local authority for the opening to the public of the open space and the care and management thereof by the local authority either at all times or at any specified times:

nd thereupon the owner shall be discharged from any liability to any person ntitled to any right of user in respect of any act done in accordance with the consent so given.

(g) This section reproduces s. 4 of the Open Spaces Act, 1890.

(h) See s. 8, post.

(i) These Acts are as follows: the Charitable Trusts Acts, 1853; 1855; 1860; 1862; 869; 1887, and the Charity Trusts (Recovery) Act, 1891.

(j) The authority or approval required seems to be that of the Charity Commissioners nder s. 24 of the Charitable Trusts Act, 1853.

(l) Sub-ss. (1) and (2) of this section are taken from s. 3 of the Metropolitan Open Spaces ct, 1881, as extended by the Open Spaces Act, 1887.

Sub-s. (3) is taken from s. 2 of the Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1877, as extended by the Open Spaces Act, 1887.

(m) Defined by s. 20, post.

(2) Where any person has any term of years or other limited interest in any such open space this section shall apply to him with reference to that interest in like manner as it applies to the owner of the open space.

(3) Where any open space is used as a place of exercise and recreation for the inhabitants of certain houses, and the property and right of user is vested in one or more persons as owners or occupiers of the houses, those owners and occupiers (if any) may convey to a local authority in trust for the public a right to enter upon, use, and enjoy the open space subject to such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon.

Transfer of disused burial grounds to local authority (o).

6. The owner (n) of any disused burial ground (n) may convey the burial ground to, or grant any term of years or other limited interest therein to, or make any agreement with, any local authority for the purpose of giving the public access to the burial ground, and preserving the same as an open space accessible to the public and under the control of the local authority, and for the purpose of improving and laying out the same.

Power of corporation &c., to convert land for open space (p).

7.—(1) Any corporation (other than a municipal corporation) or persons having power, either with or without the consent of any other corporation or persons, to sell any land may, but with the like consent (if any), convey, for or without any consideration, to any local authority that land, or any part thereof, for the purpose of the same being preserved as an open space for the enjoyment of the public under this Act, and may so convey the same with or without conditions, and the local authority may accept the land for that purpose, and, if conditions are imposed, subject to such conditions.

(2) Where a corporation having power under this section to convey land are themselves a local authority, this section shall enable the authority to appropriate their land as an open space for the enjoyment of the public, and shall, with the necessary modifications, apply to the appropriation in like manner as it applies to the conveyance.

(3) Every parish council shall be a local authority for the purposes of this section.

Special resolutions and consents (q).

8.—(1) A resolution shall for the purposes of this Act be a special resolution (q) when it has been—

(a) passed by a majority of at least two-thirds of the persons present at a meeting summoned as hereinafter provided; and

(b) confirmed by another resolution passed by a majority of at least two-thirds of the persons present at a meeting summoned as hereinafter provided and held after an interval of not less than one month from the first meeting.

(2) A meeting of trustees for the purposes of this Act shall be summoned by a notice stating generally the object of the meeting, which notice shall be left at, or sent by post, at least one month before the date of the meeting, to the last known or usual place of abode of each trustee.

(3) A meeting of owners and occupiers of houses under this Act shall be summoned by a notice stating generally the object of the meeting, which notice shall be left at, or sent through the post to, each of such houses, at least one month before the date of the meeting, and shall be inserted as an advertisement at least three times in any two or more papers circulating in the neighbourhood.

(4) If at any meeting of trustees or of owners and occupiers under this Act a resolution with respect to an open space is rejected, no meeting of the trustees, or, as the case may be, the owners or occupiers, shall be called or held with the same object and with respect to the same open space until the expiration of three years from the date of the rejection.

(5) A meeting of owners or occupiers of houses for the purposes of this Act shall not be held between the first day of August in one year and the thirty-first day of January in the following year.

Powers of Local Authorities with respect to Open Spaces and Burial Grounds.

Power of local authority to acquire open space or burial ground (r).

9. A local authority may, subject to the provisions of this Act,—

(a) acquire by agreement and for valuable or nominal consideration by way of payment in gross, or of rent, or otherwise, or without any consideration, the freehold of, or any term of years (s) or other limited estate or interest in or any right or easement in or over, any open space or burial ground (t), whether situate within the district of the local authority or not; and

(b) undertake the entire or partial care, management, and control of any such open space or burial ground, whether any interest in the soil is transferred to the local authority or not; and

(c) for the purposes aforesaid, make any agreement with any person authorised by this Act or otherwise to convey or to agree with reference to any open space or burial ground, or with any other persons interested therein.

Maintenance of open spaces and burial grounds by local authority (u).

10. A local authority who have acquired any estate or interest in or control

(r) This section is taken from the first paragraph of s. 5 of the Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, as extended by the Open Spaces Act, 1887.

(s) Where a vestry acquired the residue of a term of twenty-six years in an open space by assignment of the lease creating the term, it was held that they were "owners" within the meaning of s. 250 of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855 (St. Mary Islington Vestry v. Cobbett, [1895] 1 Q. B. 369).

On the other hand, in London C. C. v. Wandsworth Borough Council, [1903] 1 K. B. 797; 67 J. P. 215, the Court of Appeal held that the county council were not owners of a common vested in them by statute as a public recreation ground, and overruled the case of Fulham Vestry v. Minter, [1901] 1 K. B. 501; 65 J. P. 180, where it had been held that the vestry were owners of an open space acquired by them under the powers conferred by the Open Spaces Acts, 1877 and 1881.

(t) Defined by s. 20, post.

(u) This section is taken from the second paragraph of s. 5 of the Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, as amended by s. 7 of the Open Spaces Act, 1890, and extended by the Open Spaces Act, 1887.

But there is also an important amendment here introduced for the first time by the omission of the words "free from buildings," which occurred in the original enactment. These words had given rise to considerable litigation in the case of Paddington Borough Council v. Att.-Gen., [1906] A. C. 1; 70 J. P. 41, where it was held that the local authority were entitled, notwithstanding those words, to prevent by the erection of a screen or other suitable means anything which might interfere with the free use by the public of the open space, and to prevent the acquisition of an easement of light or other adverse right over such space by an adjoining owner. The effect of the omission of these words, over any open space or burial ground (v) under this Act shall, subject to any conditions under which the estate, interest, or control was so acquired—

(a) hold and administer the open space or burial ground in trust to allow, and with a view to, the enjoyment thereof by the public as an open space within the meaning of this Act and under proper control and regulation and for no other purpose; and

(b) maintain and keep the open space or burial ground in a good and decent state, and may inclose it or keep it inclosed with proper railings and gates, and may drain, level, lay out, turf, plant, ornament, light, provide with seats, and otherwise improve it, and do all such works and things and employ such officers and servants as may be requisite for the purposes aforesaid or any of them.

Special provisions as to management of burial grounds and removal of tombstones.

11.—(1) A local authority shall not exercise any of the powers of management under this Act with reference to any consecrated burial ground (v) unless and until they are authorised to do so by the licence or faculty of the bishop (x).

(2) The playing of any games or sports shall not be allowed in any burial ground in or over which a local authority have acquired any estate, interest, or control under this Act, except that—

(a) in the case of a consecrated burial ground, the bishop by licence or faculty; and

(b) in the case of any burial ground which is not consecrated, the persons from whom the local authority have acquired the estate, interest, or control in or over the same may expressly sanction any such use of the burial ground, and may specify any conditions as to the extent or nature of such use (y).

(3) In the case (z) of any disused burial ground (a), at least three months before removing or changing the position of any tombstone or monument, a local authority shall—

(a) prepare a statement sufficiently describing by the name and date appearing thereon the tombstones and monuments standing or being in the ground, and such other particulars as may be necessary, and shall cause this statement to be deposited with the clerk of the local authority, and to be open to inspection by all persons; and

(b) insert an advertisement of the intention to remove or change the position of such tombstones and monuments three times at least in some newspaper circulating in the neighbourhood, and by that advertisement give notice of the deposit of the statement hereinbefore described, and of the place at which and the hours within which the same may be inspected; and

(c) place a notice in terms similar to the advertisement on the door of the church (if any) to which the burial ground is attached, and deliver

"free from buildings," is to leave the local authority clearly at liberty to erect on an open space buildings conducive to the public enjoyment of the open space as such, but presumably (see s. 20), such buildings should not occupy more than one-twentieth of the whole area.

or send by post a notice to any person known or believed by the local authority to be a near relative of any person whose death is recorded on any such tombstone or monument.

(4) In the case of a consecrated ground, no tombstone or monument shall be removed or its position changed without a licence or faculty from the bishop, and no application for such licence or faculty shall be made until the expiration of one month at least after the appearance of the last of such advertisements as aforesaid:

Provided that on an application for a licence or faculty nothing shall prevent the bishop from directing or sanctioning the removal or change of position of any tombstone or monument, if he is of opinion that reasonable steps have been taken to bring the intention to effect such removal or change of position to the notice of some person having a family interest in the tombstone or monument.

(5) A licence or faculty for the purposes of this section may be granted by the bishop of the diocese within which the consecrated burial ground is situate on the application of the local authority who have acquired any estate, interest, or control in or over the burial ground, and may be granted subject to such conditions and restrictions as to the bishop may seem fit (b).

Powers over open spaces and burial grounds already vested in local authority.

12. A local authority may exercise all the powers given to them by this Act respecting open spaces and burial grounds transferred to them in pursuance of this Act in respect of any open spaces and burial grounds of a similar nature which may be vested in them in pursuance of any other statute, or of which they are otherwise the owners (c).

Provision for compensation.

13. No estate, interest, or right of a profitable or beneficial nature in, over, or affecting an open space or burial ground shall, except with the consent of the person entitled thereto, be taken away or injuriously affected by anything done under this Act without compensation being made for the same; and such compensation shall be paid by the local authority by whom the estate, interest, or right is taken away or injuriously affected, and shall, in case of difference, be ascertained and provided in the same manner as if the same were compensation for lands purchased and taken otherwise than by agreement of injuriously affected under the Lands Clauses Acts (d).

Power of county councils as to public walks or pleasure grounds.

Byelaws (f).

15.—(1) A local authority may, with reference to any open space or burial ground in or over which they have acquired any estate, interest, or control under this Act, make byelaws for the regulation thereof, and of the days and times of admission thereto, and for the preservation of order and prevention of nuisances therein, and may by such byelaws impose penalties recoverable summarily for the infringement thereof, and provide for the removal of any

(3) The trustees or other persons having the care and management of any open space, who in pursuance of this Act admit to the enjoyment of the open space any persons not owning, occupying, or residing in any house fronting thereon, shall have the same powers of making byelaws as are conferred on a committee of the inhabitants of a square by section four of the Town Gardens Protection Act, 1863 (h), and that section shall apply accordingly.

26 & 27 Vict. c. 13.

Power of local authorities to act jointly.

16. Any two or more local authorities may jointly carry out the provisions of this Act and may make any agreement on such terms as may be arranged between them for so doing and for defraying the expenses of the execution of this Act, and any local authority may defray the whole or any part of the expenses incurred by any other local authority in the execution of this Act (i).

Expenses of local authorities.

17. The expenses of a local authority incurred in the execution of this Act may be defrayed—

(a) in the case of a county council, out of the county fund (k) ;

(b) in the case of a metropolitan borough council, as expenses of that council ;

(c) in the case of the council of a municipal borough or urban district, as part of the general expenses incurred in the execution of the Public Health Acts (l) ;

(d) in the case of a rural district council, as special expenses incurred in the execution of the Public Health Acts, and such expenses shall in accordance with the provisions of those Acts be charged to the contributory place, or apportioned among the contributory places on account of which the expense was incurred (m) ;

Borrowing.

18. A local authority may borrow for the purposes of this Act in the case of a county council as for the purposes of the Local Government Act, 1888; in the case of a metropolitan borough council as for the purposes of the Metropolis Management Acts, 1855 to 1893; in the case of a municipal borough or urban or rural district council as for the purposes of the Public Health Acts (n); and in the case of a parish council as for the purposes of the Local Government Act, 1894.

Supplemental.

Savings.

19. This Act shall not apply to—

(a) the royal parks; nor

(b) any land belonging to His Majesty in right of His Crown or of His Duchy of Lancaster; nor

(c) any garden, ornamental ground, or ornamental land for the time being under the management of the Commissioners of Works or of the Commissioners for the time being acting under the Crown Estate Paving Act, 1851; nor 14 & 15 Vict. c. 95.

(d) any metropolitan common within the meaning of the Metropolitan Commons Acts, 1866 to 1898; nor (e) any land belonging to either of the honourable Societies of the Inner Temple and Middle Temple.

Definitions.

20. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

The expression "open space" (o) means any land, whether inclosed or not, on which there are no buildings or of which not more than one-twentieth part is covered with buildings, and the whole or the remainder of which is laid out as a garden or is used for purposes of recreation, or lies waste and unoccupied:

The expression "common council of the city of London" means the mayor, aldermen, and commons of the city of London in common council assembled:

The expression "owner" (p)—

(a) used in relation to an open space (not being a burial ground), means any person in whom the open space is vested for an estate in possession during his life or for any larger estate;

(b) used in relation to a house, includes any person entitled to any term of years in the house;

(c) used in relation to a burial ground, means the person in whom the freehold of the burial ground is vested whether as appurtenant or incident to any benefice or cure of souls or otherwise:

The expression "occupier" (q), used in relation to a house, means the person rated to the relief of the poor in respect of the house:

The expression "burial ground" (r) includes any churchyard, cemetery, (n) See ss. 233—244 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, pp. 521—539.

(o) This definition differs slightly in wording from that contained in s. 1 of the Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, as amended by s. 2 of the Open Spaces Act, 1887, and s. 7 of the Open Spaces Act, 1890, but the effect appears to be the same.

(p) This definition is taken from Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, ss. 1, 2, and 3.

(q) This definition is taken from Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, ss. 2 and 3.

(r) This definition is taken from Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, s. 1.

The site of a church where intra-mural burial has taken place was held not to be ground which had been set apart for purposes of interment under the repealed definition (Re Ecclesiastical Commissioners and New City of London Brewery Company's Contract, [1895] 1 Ch. 702). But that definition was held to include ground set apart though never actually or other ground, whether consecrated or not, which has been at any time set apart for the purpose of interment:

The expression "disused burial ground" (s) means any burial ground which is no longer used for interments, whether or not the ground has been partially or wholly closed for burials under the provisions of a statute or Order in Council:

The expression "building" (s) includes any temporary or movable building (t).

Repeal.

23. The Acts mentioned in the schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that schedule:

Provided that—

(a) Nothing in this repeal shall affect the validity or operation of any byelaw made under any enactment so repealed, but all such byelaws shall continue in force as if made under that Act, and may be revoked and altered accordingly; and

(b) Nothing in this repeal shall affect any order of a county council under any enactment repealed investing a parish council with the powers of the Open Spaces Acts, 1877 to 1890, and every parish council in respect of which such an order has before the commencement of this Act been made, shall be deemed to be a parish council invested with the powers of this Act by an order of the council of the county within which the parish is situate.

Commencement of Act.

24. This Act shall come into operation on the first day of January nineteen hundred and seven.

PART II.

STAMPS.

Reduction of duty on loan capital issued for the purpose of the conversion or consolidation of existing capital. 62 & 63 Vict. c. 9.

10.—(1) Where it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioners that the loan capital issued (d) by any local authority, corporation, company or body of persons, in respect of which a statement has, after the commencement of this Act, been delivered to the Commissioners under section eight of the Finance Act, 1899 (e), has been wholly or partly applied for the purpose of the conversion or consolidation of then existing loan capital, that authority, corporation, company, or body of persons, as the case may be, shall be entitled to repayment in respect of the duty charged on the statement so delivered at the rate of two shillings for every hundred pounds of the capital to which the statement relates which is so shown to have been applied for the purpose of the conversion or consolidation of then existing loan capital; but this section shall not apply to any duty payable in respect of a mortgage or marketable security which has been paid on any trust deed or other document securing the loan capital which has been issued.

(2) If it is represented to the Commissioners by any such local authority, corporation, company, or body of persons that loan capital about to be issued by them is to be applied, in whole or in part, for the purpose of the conversion or consolidation of existing loan capital, the Commissioners may postpone the time for the delivery of the statement and the payment of duty under section eight of the Finance Act, 1899 (e), until the capital has been issued or until such other time as the Commissioners think fit for the purpose of enabling the payment and repayment of the duty to take place as one transaction.

ants, be charged on and paid out of the Consolidated Fund or the growing oduce thereof, but in the case of grants which are payable during the ntinuance of any temporary Act only so long as that Act is continued.

(2) The proceeds of the local taxation (customs and excise) duties (h), and the duties on local taxation licences (i) (including any duty charged under b-section (1) of section eight of the Locomotives on Highways Act, 1896 (k),) 59 & 60 Vict. c. 36. ayable under any Act in force at the commencement of this Act into any cal taxation account, shall, instead of being paid into that account, be paid to the Exchequer, and there shall be paid into any such local taxation count out of the Consolidated Fund or the growing produce thereof a sum ual to the amount which would have been paid into that account as the oceeds of the duties if this Act had not passed (l).

(3) Where under this section or under any other enactment the amount any sum paid into any local taxation account is made to depend on the oceeds of the duties on local taxation licences, those proceeds shall be lculated, in the event of any alteration of the rate of duties, as if the duties re at the rate in force at the commencement of this Act:

Provided that, if in any year owing to any alteration in the rate of duties e rate of any such duty is higher than the rate in force at the commencement this Act, and the proceeds of that duty in that year as so calculated are ss than the average proceeds of the duty for the three years ending the irty-first day of March nineteen hundred and seven, the proceeds of the ity instead of being calculated as aforesaid shall be deemed to be the nount of those average proceeds, and the Commissioners of Inland Revenue all give their certificates as to the sums ascertained to be the proceeds of ose duties accordingly.

(4) In this section the expression "proceeds of duties" includes sums certained to be the proceeds of the duties, and any reference in any enact- ent to the duties or proceeds of the duties referred to in this section shall, far as relates to the distribution of or mode of dealing with those duties proceeds, be construed as a reference to the sums to be paid in lieu thereof der this section.

th respect to the payment of such moneys into the local taxation account. All pay- nts into it were for the future to be made out of the Consolidated Fund. The actual nounts to be paid in were to be the same as if the Act had not passed, subject to the ovisions of sub-s. (3) as to the sum to be paid into the account in respect of the duties local taxation licences in the event of an alteration in the rate of these duties. No eration was made in the law relating to payments out of the local taxation account, d the L. G. B. and Ministry of Health have continued to make these payments to the uncils in accordance with the existing arrangements. The section no longer applies to ose duties which are now collected by councils under s. 6 of the Finance Act, 1908, st, p. 1972.

(g) I.e., the first and fifth items referred to in the preceding note.

(h) See note (f), supra.

(i) See note (f), supra; in 1908 the duty of collecting some of these duties was trans- red to the councils of counties and county boroughs, see Finance Act, 1908, s. 6, post, 1972. Under s. 4 of the Licensing Act, 1904, "monopoly value" payments were to be alt with in the same way as the duties on "local taxation licences": s. 87 (1) of the nance (1909–10) Act, 1910, directed them to be paid into the Exchequer; see also 14 (3) of the Licensing (Consolidation) Act, 1910.
